HIDDEN TERROR

CHAPTER IV

Bendinell dropped petulant, the young girl resting in nonchalance in the hollow of his shoulder. "Be good and I'll tell you what Mabel Grey thinks the boy she loves is such a dunce."

"Here and a scarecrow! In the times honor, and despite her terror, Mabel was more conscious than those were two figures inside the rough shelter. Something terribly wrong had happened to Mabel. Why should her father, a country gentleman, be here with the best circle not to everybody that he was going abroad?

The affrighted girl could only listen eyes and ears, waiting for what might come next. And yet she heard the name that was with her father spoke.

"I see you what is to, Chandford," he began when the other interrupted impatiently.

"Are you not mad to address me by that name?" said he. "I do not know you, and it everything until I take up my authority." he said.

"Oh," responded his companion, with a sneering laugh. "Pshaw! Pshaw! Well, if I haven't better luck—the thing that the lawyers are not quite happens, so very little. Tapell mentioned that plain as ever, and yet I learned from that gaol, Chandford Fillies. We are here, I suppose."

"I suppose," said I shall not linger, I'm coming you." Ear running, so we can enjoy quiet. I will go at eleven sharp for to-morrow."

And without more conversing they separated.

Mabel Swaphill nodded and shook back into the room behind the hand kissed when she perceived the figure of her father emerge from the angle. A broad, brightness was a smile on her face, and, creeping out from the shadow of the door made with startling step like a thief in the dark. The Squire into the meadow where he waited along in the darkness pass till he was lost to view.

If was some two minutes before the boy, during the consideration of her, Cold lost time to her friend, and that deep man, it might be, has for 30 to go water for me in a hurry without disappointing other and that she dared not do.

"I must sit up the same old house till my father I dared not there Jones." Mabel, "Ah, I think I ought to be ready before, and I must go in when we meet. Do you know, Mabel, that I am all right, I am all right, I am all right,

REPUBLICAN PUBLISHING CO. Subscription Price $1.00 per year.

The cost in receipts for Harvest from January 1st to June 25, were $4,000,000.14.

Lincoln is trying to get Sheridan's remains to their city of the population of the state of Nebraska and be buried in the Capitol grounds.

The Sioux City packing houses killed and packed 1,000,000 hogs in seven days, a week in June recently. Nebraska and Dakota counties, 31, and the settlers are the driving organizing force that will wipe out the Hayes.

The long gold of an American great Chicago packing house stands at June 25 for an average of 50 cents per day in wages, the pay ranging $1.50 and the dollar being 85 per day. The average wage in Europe for same labor is two marks and 1 pfennig the cent, which is equal to 50 cents in the dollar.

Dakota and Lincoln are each trying to get up a regiment for the First Nebraska and of taking the rest of the state to meet. The people of the state feel that there is nothing too good for the boys who have so delightfully upheld their own and Nebraska's honor on the field of strife, but at the same time most of us fully recognize that the cities getting up the regiments are prompted by other motives than those of boosting patriotism and think they will do well to foot the bills. No attraction will draw so many people to these cities as the boys of the First Nebraska and when people are to town on occasions of this kind the strings to the pocketbook are not drawn very tightly and here is where our city cousins expect to profit by our going—so let them foot the bills of getting the attractions.

The St. James Gazette has started Johnny Bull with the assertion that Spelerka is swarming with Chicagoans who are there for the purpose of starting out a fleet of bloody privateers to prey on British commerce under letters of marque that will be granted by Don Paul in case war is declared between the Transvaal republic and her Sovereign Queen Victoria.

Capt. Dreyfus Has Arrived.

Rennes, France, July 9. Capt. Dreyfus landed at Quiberon and was transported by train to Rennes under a strong escort of gendarmes. There he entered a hack accompanied by the chief of police of the police department and was driven to Rennes, where twenty-five gendarmes waited his entrance into the town. The trip from the train occupied a wagon and followed the usual route to the prison of Rennes. The party arrived at the prison without incident. A large crowd assembled and witnessed the arrival in a sullen and without demonstration.

Paris, July 9. It is generally assumed here that Capt. Dreyfus, escorted from the prison Saint Malo, of Quiberon, and immediately proceeded to Rennes. It is also said that the government had advices from the Azores, when the Sagas passed there, that the health of Dreyfus was so precarious it was necessary to explain the delay in the arrival of the prisoner at Quiberon.

TROUBLES IN CUBA.

Highway Robbery and Murder in Province of Matanzas.

The Havana papers devote considerable space to the recent outbreak at Matanzas. According to the Diario de la Marina, Matanzas has had its share of late years of bandit incursions, accompanied by robbery and violence. The author of the murder of Colonel Ortiz, a clerk in the employ of Gen. Wilson, governor of the consolidated department of Matanzas and Santa Clara, has since died under an avowed treason to confess to the murder of Matanzas he was implicated.

Steamer Margaret Olwill Sinks with a Loss of Nine Persons.

Toledo, July 10. In the heavy northeast gale Wednesday night the steamer Margaret Olwill, laden with stone from Kelly's Island to Cleveland, foundered in Lake Erie off Huron, Ohio. Nine persons were lost. Four members of the crew were picked up by passing steamers and brought into port. From the report of the survivors the Olwill's cargo of stone shifted within the vessel was shifting in the trough of the sea. Seeing the danger, the captain ordered the rudder lashed and allowing her to fall off into the trough. As the helpless craft rose on top of a heavy sea the stone slid to leeward, the steamer listed heavily and sank in the deep water. The drowned members of the crew were Frank Boating, on the outside of Lake Erie, bringing to tons of stone. Three members were saved by a rubber life preserver thrown to them by the mate of a passing steamer. The steamer was about 20 years old and was one of the most famous of the lake fleet. The Hospital Bids

The city council met in special session in the city hall on Wednesday evening and opened the several bids for building the contemplated hospital works recently. There bids were filed as follows: R. A. Kuykendall & Co., Omaha, $2,000; Ferdinand Brown, West Point, $1,850; G. P. Eckert, West Point, $1,340.

The bid of the Omaha man was accepted and he was so notified by the city clerk. Work will begin upon the structure as soon as the necessary bonds are filed.—West Point Republican.

Reward of Merit.

We never more fully demonstrated this in the practice of Dr. J. G. Chase the eye specialist from Sioux City. The doctor stopped at the Hotel Boyd last Wednesday morning remaining until Saturday evening, and his rooms were crowded continuously. Patients coming from all quarters in the country. The doctor has been coming to Wayne all this year and his remarkable practice is conclusive evidence of the satisfaction he gives patients. They number into the hundreds now and will recommend the doctor in higher terms.

His next visit to Wayne will be July 26th and 27th inclusive.

Sunstroke Carbolic Acid and Gas.

John Hoehne's baby, aged 21 months, got hold of a bottle of carbolic acid Wednesday morning and died a few minutes from the bottle. Mr. Hoehne being in the field at work hurried to the house with the team and blundered into the buggy and ran the team five miles to town. The child was taken to Dr. Bowell's office almost lifeless. Dr. Bowell was called in and the doctor washed out the child's stomach and administered hypodermic of nitro glycerine and strychnia and succeeded in getting the babe from under the poisonous effects of the acid, but the corrosive effects on the mouth, throat and stomach were left to contend with and at 12:30 p. m. the little sufferer gave up the unequal struggle for life.

The father and mother are simply heartbroken over this sudden and untimely bereavement. If there is a more touching sight than a mother weeping over her dead babe we have never seen it. Who can tell the depth of a mother's love?

The funeral occurred from the residence of Mrs. Hoehne this Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Schroeder officiated.—Wayne Herald.

The Bridge Building Contract

We have up to this present time seen no notice in either of the official papers of the county wherein the board of Commissioners have asked for plans for the repairing and construction of bridges for the ensuing year and we are of the opinion that the present contract expires or will in a very short time. It is hardly possible that we are in error in this matter, but think not and we of the opinion that the matter has escaped the attention of our commissioners and we only desire to call their attention to it. And we think they should have sufficient time to allow a competitive bidding in this matter. It seems from the additional tax levy for the repairs of the bridges that the board anticipated the enormous expenditure coming on. We and some others have to know why the time for some days yet. The county owes us the bridges but we cannot for the next year at the very low price we have been paying for them. We hope the board will not be induced for and the contract renewed without competitive bidding regardless of any personal influence.

A Vision of the Reaper

On Wednesday afternoon one of the branch trains was doing its work in the vicinity of this place. Mr. Kaiser, who is the brakeman, attempted to step on the broken beam of the locomotive while the engine was maneuvering thus and effected his footing, and was right from work under the wheels or he has lost his arm and all the other accompaniments of the unfortunate. He was taken to the Dr. Morgan hospital and was summoned when the boy was discovered that he was in a condition to be moved to the Hospital, the company gave the injured boy a special car and the surgeons from St. Paul at 8 o'clock this afternoon performed a amputation just where the arm is which was done by Wright, Gill of this place and Tomlinson of Wayne. Gill assisted by Dr. Hanks and Frazer of Emerson. Consequent on such very unfortunate accident the patient is doing well and was taken to the hospital at Sioux City to be cared for as he desires. The injured man is personally a fellow of good age, his home at present being with his mother at Hinsdale. He had only been on the branch one about a week and had gone for a few days prior to that on the night freight between Sioux City and Norfolk. He came here from Omaha N. Y. and he has not been employed as brakeman or railroad for considerable time. He has relatives in the county Cedar county, Dixon, Wayne and Wakefield. It is known that he has a very poor estate, but much better than nothing at all.

Cards will be Higher.

The board of commissioners here made the last levy for the year and the county levy is 8 mills same as last year. The increase in our mill tax is for the county general and bridge fund and the bond fund, one than last year covering the bonds issued for matadine improvements last year the total assessed valuation was $7,722,000 and the levy for county purposes was 17 mills which yielded a revenue of $131,174 and this year levy on the valuation of $7,900,000 will produce $133,300 or an increase of $2,126 more than last year levy. And when the commissioners report to us the total amount of warrants for to sell we yet in evidence. We have not desired to look the amount the last few years but presumed from the increase in the tax the aggregate of the indebtedness of the county in half of our money across so right this so some of the funds have interested. Wayne county taxpayers are not sluggards, but they do not believe in the levy of a dollar of tax that is unnecessary in but a good many have been in a and be well up some of the bond amounts of delinquent personal taxes instead of allowing them to remain behind for years and mostly in many cases from the entirely and they the burden of the taxpayers to be increased when the delinquent is allowed to escape paying his share of the burden until the property has vanished, and while enjoying the fruits of government will also registered not contribute a cent toward its maintenance.

Cutberson Crematorium.

Harpersper Illustrator in a new way the old rhyme that, "When the devil was sick the devil a monk would be, but when he got well the devil a monk was he." In the days of a Cleveland administration Mr. Hammerer moved towards and sought to secure protection for his wagon. But having failed to get as much as he desired he denounced the tariff as "the mother of trusts."

"If the Devil Came to Congress," is the title of Jerry Simpson's forthcoming book. If the devil comes to congress most assuredly he will find no cheap demagogue missing.

"What is the matter, he is," remarked a certain windy gay, as we passed down the other side of the street. We did not know that we heard him and that, to a certain extent, we believed his statement. In times past, we had spoken of this editor's town as the liveliest settlement under heaven's sun. We felt, despite the fact that we knew he lived in it. We referred to his brother as a lost soul, which we would have been a seer the facts had we referred to the deceased as the once best poker player in the community. In writing up a concern, we called his deadly drink fiend, pop-eyed natural incubus, a bright-eyed urchin no thought of harm. When his big footed, pie-faced, old maid sister, married a man so cleanlighted that he couldn't tell her from a gander, yeah, we remarked, about the best lady and accomplished young lady. Once we called his brother-in-law who owned a few rusty bolts of sullen, and a barrel of moth-eaten prunes, an opulent merchant, and to use the old adage, we then turned the Mississippi upon our unfortunate leading legal light, when we only knew that he was a skilled game pettifogger that made his whole an business consisted of being a thief in that. Yes, where we refer now to the many months we have written in a long course of country journalism, we see the Pecos, he now that we have had considerably that always in behalf of humanity and in favor of those people who are unfortunate than we are ourself.

Cowardly Words in Mistake.

The country of the Little Sugarcreek is an straight in any part of the Democratic ranks. It is the country of Jerry Simpson, the Lion and notwithstanding the 20 thousand majority given with the democratic ticket in the county in the last election, the Democrats in the country and, notwithstanding all the same the leaders of the Sugarcreek country, and
