MORE LOCAL.

Dr. C. Wood will leave Tuesday with his family for Jericho, Missouri, where they will make their future home.

We have received several notices on the beautiful spring here and will publish those getting us liable to be lost of this year.

See the "ad" of Neal Harting in this issue, who claims to be a possessor of the famous "L. 2" gold mine. Total value according to this paper, it will be 200.

W. W. Jones, brother of Doc Jones, of Hiram, Missouri, has bought a lot of S. C. of 15 3/4 and E. of S. E. of 15 3/4, known as the McMurry farm. When in season made through Jones & McPherson.

Dr. Crawford has given up the abstract of establishing an Equalization Commission over the State. The commission the size of a Yankee penny in the end, about the size of a doughnut in the middle. The abstract is a general one, embracing practically every branch of the State and is intended to indicate the Dr's opinion.

The long evenings are now here. They should be utilized by everyone who wants to inform himself on the current questions of the day. Those who have to labor through the day can take the evenings for reading and study. Much may be accomplished between now and Spring by reading up on financial, economic and industrial questions. Let a whole family—father, mother, sons and daughters—set aside two or three hours each evening for reading and discussing. If a student has not time for this, the result will be surprising before the winter is gone. Farmers' clubs have been a great incentive in this direction; and laborers' clubs in the towns and cities may be made just as beneficial. And by all means let the women be interested in the work. The farmer's wives who have gone into the advance ranks have been a wonderful help. That has been manifested by the interest they have taken in the recent political campaign.

The time has come when the people of this country, and especially the laboring people must work out their own salvation, politically and economically speaking. It will redound to the longer have all questions of state and national affairs, and political, body man and woman should be a politician in the true sense. Yours should be for, as it is in name, a people's government. To make it truly so, all the industrial element at least should study and examine into all questions affecting their interests. And did they but know it, their interests have been sacrificed effectually by the greater portion of the legislature that has been enacted in this country for many years back. Especially is this true of financial matters. The great interests of the country, the producing class of all properties, is falling. The government was made to protect this industry, and given to the management and control, to that very end until the price got high and the price was given to Congress over the country and over the money supply of the country. But the laboring people of this country must not expect Congress to do this for them unless they do something for themselves.

LET ALL SAY, AMEN.

It has been very fortunate that we have had so little cold weather during Oct. and Nov., and if we should have pleasant weather it would seem a rebuke to the eat things who have intended to put hard coal up to $12. The price should be less than last year and would be only for trusts and monopolies.—Beemer Times

THINK ABOUT THIS.

The United States has England to contend with in the world's gold market.

It has been strange to see that the American people should be so ignorant of the financial situation of their own country. The gold market has been a great one, and the price of gold has been a great one. The gold market has been a great one, and the price of gold has been a great one.
