DIED.

THOMPSON—On Saturday death entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] Thompson and claimed as his own their daughter Erlea, aged 20 years. The immediate cause of death was measles and in the passing of this young lady a family circle is broken. Now sorrow reigns where a few short days ago all was joy. The funeral was held from the Baptist church in this city on Monday, Rev. Theobald conducting the services. The sympathies of a vast circle of friends will be extended to the bereaved parents, brothers and sisters in their time of great bereavement, yet we are assured there is but one that can give a consolation that is lasting.

TALL SYCAMORE DEAD

EX-SENATOR EXPIRES SUDDENLY IN WASHINGTON.

Mr. Voorhees Had Been in Poor Health for Several Years—The Mississippi River Passes All Previous Marks at New Orleans.

Ex-Senator Voorhees Dead.

Daniel W. Voorhees, ex-United States senator for Indiana, died at 8 o'clock Saturday morning at his home in Washington. He has been in poor health for several years, suffering from rheumatism of the heart. His friends therefore expected to hear of his death suddenly. Last reports, however, were that he was showing signs of improvement. His death, therefore, while not entirely unexpected, came with a shock.

Daniel Voorhees was 70 years old, and prior to his retirement from public life on March 4 last he was for many years one of the most picturesque figures in the senate. He was born in Ohio, but was taken by his parents in his infancy to a pioneer home in the Wabash valley of Indiana, with which, under the sobriquet of the "Tall Sycamore of the Wabash," his name has since been associated throughout a long and honorable political career. The funeral was held Monday at Terre Haute, Indiana.

THE HIGHEST EVER KNOWN.

Mississippi River Passes All Previous Marks at New Orleans.

Advices from New Orleans Monday state that the Mississippi River gauge fluctuates between 18 and 18.2 feet. This brings the record up to .1 of a foot higher than given by any official data supplied. The river is certainly booming, and in spots the water washes over the "apron" of the levee, making extensive deposits of mud. The authorities, however, deny any additional apprehensions, and are successful in combatting any inroads made by the river, rapidly applying temporary barriers of sacks filled with earth, and such other devices as appear most expedient. In the adjoining parishes of St. Bernard and Plaque Mine the levees suffer most from wave washes, but the officials charged with the duty of maintaining the embankments in good shape are straining every nerve to keep out the water. The present dry weather is a godsend, and the rain soaked levees are drying quickly, facilitating improvements. In spite of the rising river the situation can be described as satisfactory.

ANOTHER PEARL BRYAN CASE

Boys passing through some woodland five miles northwest of Mt. Vernon, Ill., Monday, found a woman's head lying near the public road leading from Mt. Vernon to Riverview. They reported their discovery and a party was organized for a search for the body. It was found 200 yards from the spot where the head lay, with the flesh stripped from the bones, both the trunk and head being so badly decomposed as to make recognition impossible.

The testimony at the inquest went to prove that the body was that of a woman who was in that locality early last November. She refused to divulge her name, but said her home was in Carmi, Ill., and that she was going to St. Louis. The theory is that another Pearl Bryan murder has been committed. It is said a suspected party left the country about the date of the woman's disappearance.

GYMNASTIC FESTIVAL.

Immense Attendance Expected at the Coming St. Louis Event.

St. Louis is busily preparing for the members and visitors who will attend the twenty-seventh festival of the North American Gymnastic Union, which is to be held there May 8 to 11. Probably 10,000 members of the various gymnastic unions of the country will be in attendance, and it is thought that nearly 100,000 visitors will be in the city during the week. The fair grounds have been rented for this year's festival and most of the exercises will be held in the big field within the race track. The Central Passenger Association has granted a rate of one fare for the round trip from all points in its territory.

Illinois Central Earnings.

The gross receipts of the Illinois Central from traffic for the month of March were $1,780,141, an increase of $1,330 over the same month of last year. For the eight months ended March 1, 1897, the excess of receipts over operation and taxes was $4,-739,139, a decrease of $280,547 for the receipts in excess of the expenses during the same period of the preceding fiscal year.

Colorado Shooting Affray.

A shooting affray occurred at McEnany's Hall, Altman, Colo., Monday evening, in which Jack Cox instantly killed Bob [illegible] and wounded Harry Miner and [illegible]. [illegible] and was then shot fatally.

Durrant to Die June 11.

Theodore Durrant was for a second time on Saturday, sentenced to be hanged for the murder of Blanche Lamont in San Francisco. The execution is fixed for June 11.

Seized by the British.

A dispatch from Cape Town announces that the British have seized Inyack Island, at the entrance of Delagoa Bay, and a squadron of warships from that port will proceed there to take possession of the island and proclaim it British territory.

Ashland Wilkes Sold for $7,500.

At the horse sale in Lexington, Ky., recently, Ashland Wilkes, a famous trotting stallion 16 years old, and sire of John R. Gentry, 2:00½, was sold to Brook Curry, Lexington, for $7,500. He sold at a private sale a year ago for $5,000.

MONETARY REFORMERS.

Indianapolis Conference Committee Asks Aid.

The executive committee of the Indianapolis monetary reform convention has asked further aid of the commercial organizations of the country. Blank copies of a petition are being sent out from Indianapolis to the secretaries of boards of trade and other commercial organizations, and also to all who attended the convention as delegates.

The petition is addressed to the senators and representatives and urges the necessity of reform in the national currency and banking legislation. A letter accompanying this petition is signed by H. H. Hanna, chairman. This letter says:

"The members of the senate and house of representatives need proof of public demand for legislation upon the lines the Indianapolis monetary convention instructed the executive committee to urge. To secure to the president at this extra session authority to appoint a commission a hard, quick push must be put into the work. If the action is not taken at the present extra session an important opportunity will be lost."

MOODY ON INGERSOLL.

Famous Evangelist Noncommittal About Pope Bob.

Dwight L. Moody, who is in St. Louis, was asked Friday what he thought of Robert G. Ingersoll, who is billed to lecture in that city.

"Why don't you ask me what I think of Corbett?" asked the evangelist, in a slightly soured tone.

"I never saw Ingersoll in my life. I don't know a thing about him. He does not interest me in the least."

"So he's going to lecture on 'Truth,' is he?" continued Mr. Moody. "Well, that's what I have been preaching for thirty years. I preached it last night in my sermon on 'Sowing and Reaping.' That is the truth, and you cannot get away from it. You go to Ingersoll when he gets here and show him my sermon on 'Sowing and Reaping.' If he denies anything in it let me know. I'd just like to see what he'd say about it."

HOPEFUL OF ANNEXATION.

Hawaii Will Send a Special Commissioner to Washington.

W. A. Kinney of Honolulu has been selected to go to Washington as an annexation commissioner. Attorney General Smith and A. S. Hartwell of Hawaii are in Washington in the interests of closer political union. What they have accomplished the home government only knows, and its officials decline to give out anything. H. A. Sprechles, who controls the Spreckelsville plantation, has discharged every white man on the place, with the exception of two, and has put Japanese in the places of the dismissed men. No attempt to replace Japanese is made on the reservation. There has been no new developments in the celebrated Japan immigration trouble.

SPAIN IN HARD LINES.

She Has Another Revolution on Her Hands.

Dr. J. Julio Henna, president of the Porto Rican revolutionary committee in New York city, has received private information from a committee in the island of Porto Rico to the effect that that country had taken up arms against the Spanish government, the uprising having taken place in Yauco and Adjuntas. The news of the uprising, it was asserted, [illegible] at a meeting of the committee held on the 8th, had been also reported in New York by a well known banking firm in Wall Street, which has close business connections with the leading banking house in Porto Rico.

Fusion Death to Populism.

Lee Vincent has resigned the chairmanship of the Populist party of Oklahoma. He was a leader in arranging fusion by which a delegate to congress and a free silver legislature was elected last fall. He declares fusion to be the only means by which Democracy swallows Populism.

Ask the Government for Work.

Hundreds of unemployed workingmen gathered in front of the Parliament buildings in Toronto the other day and asked the Ontario government to provide work for them so that they could keep their wives and children from starvation.

Nashville Invites King of Greece.

The executive committee of the Centennial Exposition at Nashville, Tenn., has adopted a resolution inviting the King of Greece and the royal family to visit the exposition, and expressing sympathy with Greece in her present strait.

Leaves a Fortune to the Church.

By the will of the late Miss Winifrede Martin, who died at the Hotel Altamont, Baltimore, April 6, nearly, if not quite, $1,-000,000 is bequeathed to various Catholic churches and charities in Maryland and California.

Electric Light Plant Burns.

A fire of supposed incendiary origin destroyed the large plant of the Electric Illuminating Company in Bellefonte, Pa., with all its contents. As a result the entire city will be in darkness for some time.

No Free Library for St. Louis.

The measure providing for a tax for a free library building in St. Louis was lost at the polls. A two-thirds vote was necessary. The vote was 17,000 short of that number.

Appointed a U. P. Director.

The president has appointed John T. [illegible] of Nebraska a government director of the Union Pacific Railroad. He succeeds J. Nelson, whose term has expired.

TORNADO IN ALABAMA

SEVERAL LIVES REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN LOST.

The Town of Arlington, Ga., Hit by Another Twister—Statistics of Commercial and Financial Failures for the First Quarter of 1897.

Tornado in Alabama.

Telegrams from Ozark, Ala., and Valdosta, Ga., covering the ill fated town of Arlington, Ga., show that this section was visited Saturday by another tornado ascending the Apalachicola Valley and sweeping northward with terrific force to the confluence of the Chattahoochie and the Flint Rivers, where it divided, in one direction going toward Ozark, where timbers were uprooted and houses blown to pieces. Several lives were lost, among them Mrs. Powers, who was caught beneath the falling timbers of her house and crushed. Her husband was unable to save her and was himself badly hurt, but he rushed off through the blinding rain and intense darkness for assistance. The rest of the family were rescued, among them a baby three weeks old, whom the mother protected at the loss of her own life.

The second section of the tornado was deflected upon the Flint and, having made across south Georgia and passing through Arlington where but a few weeks ago three children were killed in the ruins of their school house. Reaching Valdosta, the storm became tornadical in fury and trees were [illegible] down in every part of the city.

SNUB THE POWERS AGAIN.

Notes of Warning Make No Visible Effect on the Hellenes.

The identical notes of warning delivered by the representatives of the powers to M. Skouzes, the Greek minister of foreign affairs, have had very little appreciable effect. A complete calm characterizes the whole city of Athens, although placards have been posted in many places strongly advocating war. The evening newspapers censure the Cabinet for war.

The Sultan of Turkey, it is said, has addressed an autograph letter to the czar expressing his extreme satisfaction at the energy which the czar has displayed in getting the powers to adopt the principle of the integrity of Turkey. The sultan hopes that neither Russia nor the other powers will abandon that attitude. He solemnly affirms his profound deference to Europe and his extreme desire to conform to its wishes and counsels, and adds that he considers the expression of desire on the part of the powers as legitimate and dictated by a sentiment of genuine friendship for the Ottoman people, their sovereign and empire.

THE WEEK IN TRADE.

Statistics of Commercial and Financial Failures for the Quarter.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: Out of 4,301 failures, with liabilities of $60,252,581 in the first quarter, 71 banking concerns covered more than a fifth of the amount, $12,774,591, and 3,965 failures, with liabilities of $57,477,990, of nearly three-fifths, are classified according to branches of business, leaving only 347 [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] of the liabilities, $1,999,661, in branches of [illegible]. INSURED FOR $1,000,000.

Mrs. Stanford Takes Out the Largest Life Policy Ever Issued.

Mrs. Leland Stanford signed the contract Friday in San Francisco by which her life is to be insured for $1,000,000. The policy is said to be the largest ever issued and was written by a company of New York. By the terms of the contract Mrs. Stanford is to pay an annual premium of $75,000 and upon her death $1,000,000 will be paid by the company to the Leland Stanford, Jr., University. Should she live ten years and continue her annual payment of premiums the university will receive at her death $1,000,000 instead of $1,-000,000.

Opening Grant's Casket.

The work of opening the steel casket containing the remains of the late Gen. Grant was begun Friday. The outer case, which enclosed the casket, is fastened by 150 bolts, the heads of which are nearly countersunk. The [illegible] will have to be drilled through and pounded down before the case can be opened. It was estimated by the men in charge that the work would take about three days to perform. The public will not be given an opportunity to view the removal of the casket. That will include many vaults of [illegible] and a [illegible] which will not be made public.

Bids Asked for Torpedo Boats.

Proposals were invited by the secretary of the navy Saturday for the construction of three 20-knot torpedo boats. The boats must be completed within [illegible] months of contract. The bidders are left ample scope for original ideas, as the department prescribes in its circulars only the [illegible] outlines of the vessels. [illegible] [illegible] has appropriated $800,000.

Australian Ball Tossers Arrive.

The Australian baseball players, on a tour of the world, have arrived at San Francisco. They will play the opening game with the Olympics next Sunday.

King of Siam Is Coming.

The king of Siam has started on his visit to Europe and the United States.

Gen. Grant was the youngest man ever elected President of the United States. He was only 47 years [illegible] weeks after his inauguration.

BIG KNOXVILLE FIRE.

Wholesale District Swept by Largest Blaze in the City's History.

The most disastrous fire in the history of Knoxville, Tenn., occurred Thursday morning. The entire block between Union and Reservoir Streets, on Gay Street, except one building, the largest and handsomest block in the city, is a mass of ruins. The loss is $1,000,000. Four people were killed and nine were less seriously injured. The fire started in the wholesale store of the McNulty Grocery Company and spread rapidly, despite every effort of the fire department. Telegrams were sent to Chattanooga, and the engines from that city rendered valuable service.

The heaviest losers are: Briscoe & Co., wholesale dry goods; Sterchi Bros., wholesale furniture; Mechanicsville City Hat Company; A. P. Lasper Dry Goods Company; Haines & Co., wholesale shoes; S. B. Newman & Co., printers; Cullen, Newman & Co., printers; Woodruff & Co., wholesale hardware; Hessinger, Doyle & Co., wholesale hats and shoes; Sanford, Chamberlain & Albers, wholesale drugs; McNulty Grocery Company and Knox Hotel. Many smaller establishments, including three livery stables, were also burned out. A dynamite explosion in Woodruff's store was shattered every window on the street.

WHEAT TAKES A TUMBLE.

Break of Three Cents in the May Option at Chicago.

The downward movement which has prevailed in the Chicago wheat pit for the past three or four weeks culminated Friday in a drop of 3½ cents in the May option, which sold at 68¼ cents, and a 3 cent break in July, which closed at 68¾ cents. The loss was within ⅛ cent of the lowest point of the day. The selling was apparently [illegible] out of the market. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the world's visible supply [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].

Bank in Bad Shape.

Developments have come to light which strengthen the belief that the affairs of the Globe Savings Bank, which failed Monday in Chicago, are in much worse condition than the directors are willing to admit. In addition to the $140,000 cash belonging to the University of Illinois that [illegible] the [illegible] of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] value of $60,000, also the property of the University of Illinois, are missing.

Bryan Given a Mud Call.

Hon. W. J. Bryan was insulted at St. Augustine, Fla., by the crowd in the plaza from which he was speaking. Nearly 100 men and women were provided with [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and many of them were [illegible], but none fatally. Mr. Bryan was [illegible] up into the [illegible] and escorted to a [illegible] [illegible], where he expressed [illegible] that he had received no injuries of a serious character.

Gen. Fullerton's Body Found.

A dispatch received by the Baltimore and Ohio officials at Washington from Cleveland says that the body of Gen. Joseph S. Fullerton of Washington, has been found in the river, eight miles below the scene of the [illegible] wreck, in which he was killed about three weeks ago.

No Sectarian Garb in Schools.

The house of representatives at St. Paul, Minn., by a vote of 60 to 22 passed a bill prohibiting sectarian instructors from wearing of sectarian garb in the public schools and providing for fine and imprisonment for violation.

Solves the Mystery.

AMENDMENT IS LOST.

Canvass Shows that It Lacks Many Votes.

The recount of the ballots cast for the constitutional amendment relating to an increase in the number of judges of the supreme court has been finished and the legislative commission finds that the amendment failed to receive a sufficient number of votes to make it a part of the constitution of the state.

The legislative commission found, according to its recount, that the amendment had received 97,664 affirmative votes or an increase of 15,960 over the number of votes returned to the state canvassing board last November. The commission finds that 81,-[illegible] votes were cast against the amendment, or [illegible] votes less than returned last November. DAILY REPORT OF WHAT IS BEING DONE

Many Measures of More or Less Importance Being Introduced at the Present Session of the Golden Rod Legislature.

Tuesday.

The senate convened at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning and the journal was read and approved. Senator Hall moved that the senate do now adjourn, but before the question was put Senator Mallory moved that the senate do now adjourn until 2 o'clock p. m. Senator Hall said he did not wish to be obstructive in the matter of adjournment, but he had a number of bills to introduce and he wished to have them in the hands of the printer. Senator Mallory said he had a number of bills to introduce and he wished to have them in the hands of the printer. Senator Hall said he would withdraw his motion to adjourn. WAYNE REPUBLICAN.

[illegible] CUNNINGHAM, - Editor and Publisher.

The legislature adjourned Saturday.

Ex-Senator Voorhees of Indiana died in Washington, April 10.

Congress on April 7 appropriated [illegible] to aid the southern flood sufferers.

The Dixon creamery claims to have netted its patrons 26 cents per pound for butter during the month of March.

Senator Allison is of the opinion that the tariff bill will be disposed of by the senate on or before June 1.

The Newcastle Times don't take much stock in the report of an extension of that branch of the C., St. P., M. & O. Ry.

Wallace's Farmer claims that Iowa has lost during the last year from 2,000,000 to 2,500,000 hogs from cholera.

Great Britain proposes to spend $115,000,000 on her navy this year. She is bound to hold her position as mistress of the seas.

The maximum rate case is now being considered by the supreme court of the United States and a decision is daily expected.

It now looks as though war in the Transvaal country in South Africa between the British and Boers cannot be averted.

The legislature of Arkansas will be called in extra session on April 25 for the purpose of considering the giving of aid to the flood sufferers.

The Missouri has broken into Florence Lake near Omaha and flooded the bottoms surrounding from 200 to 300 houses in north Omaha.

Germany is kicking about the discrimination of our new tariff bill against their sugar. Let them take their hands off our pork or else take their medicine.

Don't neglect the cow even though farm work rushes you. She's your best friend and returns your greatest profits when given the most careful attention.

A nice feed of meal in the stable will prove a much more profitable way of inducing the cows to "come up" in the evening than sending the dog after them. Shoot the dog.

Senator Wolcott of Colorado, Charles J. Paine of Mass., and ex-Vice President Stevenson of Illinois have been appointed as commissioners to an international monetary conference.

No democrat ought to criticise any republican tariff legislation. They had their innings and the country is a living example of what they know about such matters.

The "Iowa," the new battle ship, on her trial trip on the 5th averaged 17 knots per hour and won her builders, the Cramps, a premium of $200,000, her contract speed being 16 knots per hour.

It is claimed that the number of cattle in the United States are very [illegible] million head short of five and six years ago and authorities in the business think the industry will be very profitable for several years.

How about the drying up of the lakes of Iowa, Minnesota, and the Dakotas that we heard so much about a couple of years ago. They are now about like the average populist, filled until they leak at every crevasse.

Sheriff Borowsky of Dakota county lately brought back to that county from New Mexico D. W. Wiley charged with disposing of mortgaged property. The chances are strongly in favor of Wiley serving a sentence for the crime charged.

Robert Kneebs, the American horseman imprisoned in Germany for "ringing," was released last Thursday and the confiscated mare "Bethel" or Nellie Kneebs is to be sold at auction by the German government.

Greek irregulars have invaded Turkish territory and considerable fighting is reported. It now looks as though a declaration of war will be made by Turkey and in all probability the powers will find themselves unable to stop it until either Greek or Turk is whipped.

The newspaper boys in this section of the state are having considerable fun because lightning recently missed the saloon men and newspaper people and hit an inoffensive preacher in our city. They have evidently forgotten that "whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth."

The Spanish minister to this country declares that General Rivera, the wounded Cuban general lately captured by the Spanish, has not been court martialed and sentenced to be shot. The newspaper correspondents have told us he was to be shot. There's lots of liars in this world.

It is generally believed that President McKinley will revoke Cleveland's order consolidating different pension agencies throughout the country. Investigation discloses the fact that instead of it being an economical move than order would if carried out cause increased expenditure of public moneys.

A friend said to us the other day "Why don't you roast the legislature." In our youth we were taught that if we could say nothing good of the dead to refrain from speaking ill of them and later in life we have learned that a fellow never kicked anything sooner but what he quickly wished he hadn't done it.

Western Nebraska and Kansas are very thoroughly soaked and every "boomer" in that much abandoned country sets out to work the "suckers." Everyone of us would like to see the sections named have and sustain prosperous communities, but experience has taught observing people that they must be fed [illegible].

There is quite a revival of the annexation talk of Hawaii with the United States. It would seem as though it would be a pretty good thing for the United States to annex not only the Hawaiian islands but also Cuba. They are both islands that would be of immense benefit to us and especially in case of war. While we are not seeking war and long never to have one on our hands there is no way an annexation [illegible] as to be thoroughly prepared for it.

A good democrat said to us a few days ago "The legislature hasn't done anything but talk that I have been able to find out." In this our friend was mistaken. He probably forgot about the time, efforts and money expended in putting out the republican officers of Douglas county and the recount farce, and then there were the bills for their salaries to stop the pay of the adjutant General from $1800 to $1200 per year and the lights in the senate hall. It's been a busy winter at Lincoln.

That was a pretty play that Bryan made when he telegraphed his congratulations to Carter Harrison on his success in the Chicago election and in the telegram asserted, a wrong public that the elections in Chicago, Detroit, Cincinnati and other cities indicate a decided change in public sentiment since November. Nobody of sound sense believes that these elections had anything to do with public sentiment on national issues. They had local issues and local fights and Bryan is simply depending on the ignorance of the general public to create a little capital for "Billy."

The democratic legislature of the great State of Nebraska made quite a record during its life but when summed up its work is not found to be of the kind that will prove particularly beneficial to the interests of the people of the state. About [illegible] of the acts introduced will become laws and few of these are of interest to any outside of certain communities. The work certainly won't reflect any credit upon the overwhelming majority of the body. Of course the regular appropriation bills passed, then there was the relevant bill, the one appropriating $100,000 for the trans-Mississippi exposition, that, several others that legalize the acts of county officials, others that are for the relief of counties in the matter of costs in state cases. Then there are several that provide appropriations for additional state institutions. Laws reducing live stock charges at stock yards, another directing John M. Thurston to vote for free coinage of silver, one requiring the signatures of husband and wife on chattel mortgages on household goods, the charter bills of Omaha and Lincoln, the authorization of the organization of hail insurance companies, the bill dealing with deficiency judgments. Very few bills are of general interest and the history of this corpse when fairly written will not be one to be very proud of.

WHAT IS MONEY?

The following is part of the synopsis printed by the Milton (Wis.) Journal of an excellent address by President Whitford of Milton college before the farmers' convention at a recent meeting at Milton. It contains some very lucid statements of money and of the power of governments to fix values:

First.—Two separate and distinct values are assigned to money, one being the intrinsic or market value of the article used; the other the legal or face value, indicated by the stamp or device pressed upon the article. In some well known instances what is popularly called money has only one of those values.

Second.—The common practice of tribes and nations in selecting such articles or commodities for money is to adopt two kinds or grades of them, one having greater market value according to its weight, for use in the larger exchanges in trade; the other having lesser value, for the smaller exchanges. This practice furnishes the first essential condition for a system of bimetallism.

Third.—Only that money is born and widely and permanently used which is made of precious metals, very generally gold and silver. Other and perishable commodities are finally abandoned or held redeemable in these metals.

Fourth.—The market value of these metals, not their face value, constitutes the original and [illegible] quality by reason of which they are almost universally are used as basis of primary money. Government of custom can add a quality and inherent, but temporary, to such metals and other articles used as a medium of exchange. But the real measure thus declared to be effective and lasting must be the one established by the laws of trade, and by the edicts of government.

Fifth.—Government itself cannot fix or control the market value of any article or commodity, which [illegible] [illegible] So it cannot make fiat money, nor compel the people to circulate it a great length of time or many of any sort.

Sixth.—Any kind of such money whose market value is less than their face value always seek equal financial [illegible] with all coins or other money whose market value is greater according to their weight, unless the former are redeemable in the latter. Whenever a coin shows even a slight inferiority of its market value to its face value, it tends at once to remove out of use every coin whose [illegible] value [illegible] equivalent.

Seventh.—Gold has been adopted by the principal civilized nations as primary money or the standard of values because of its greater market value, its less weight for a given sum of money and its least fluctuation in market value of any of the precious metals.

Eighth.—Coins like silver, whose market value is less than their face value can be kept circulating at the same time with gold coins even in largest [illegible] only and only by being redeemable in the same denominations with the gold. The same is true of paper money, which has no appreciable market value.

Weyler's Paper Promises.

That "Uncle sakes" should rejoice over the fact that all their paper money is promises [illegible]. "If greenbacks put down the rebellion in the United States, why shouldn't they prove effective weapons against Cuban rebels?" inquires General Weyler, who is flooding the [illegible] of Cuba with [illegible] engraved pieces of paper on one side of a piece of paper and a picture of a well developed tobacco plant on the other side.

The experiment is bound to be successful, for the notes are made legal tender in the widest way. Any shopkeeper who refuses to accept these promises for their face value is subject to heavy punishment in jails where confinement means almost certain death. Of course under the circumstances the notes are accepted. Weyler, however, forgot to decree that prices should not be raised, and the Cuban shopkeepers are mean enough to try to defeat the experiment by raising prices. So far they have only doubled prices, but each one is trying to see how high he can put prices, and the end is not in sight.

Come to think of it, high prices, constantly growing higher, have defeated all past experiments with paper money. Perhaps Weyler, by correcting this little defect, may yet demonstrate that Greenbackers are right and that cheap money, by proper legislation, can be made just as good as money made from costly metals. What a boon plenty of money would be to mankind! Success to Weyler's experiment and death to the traitor who tries to prevent its success by raising prices or by refusing to accept Weyler's handsome promises!

Two Republican Suggestions to Congress.

The retirement from circulation of United States notes is a step to be taken in our progress toward a safe and stable currency which should be accepted as the policy and duty of the government and the interest and security of the people.—President R. B. Hayes to His Annual Message to Congress Dec. 6, 1880.

The several forms of our paper money offer, in my judgment, a constant embarrassment to the government and to a safe balance in the treasury. Therefore I believe it necessary to devise a system which * * * will prevent a remedy for those arrangements which, temporary in their nature, might well in the years of our prosperity have been displaced by wiser provisions.—President William McKinley in His Inaugural Address March 4, 1897.

Two Colored Lies.

One of the Chinese coins is called a "li." Had the result of the election in the United States been different last November, our largest silver coin would have been a "lie."

TREES IN THE STREETS.

A Society in New York Has to Remedy the Abuses.

Without doubt the Tree Planting association of New York has undertaken a most beneficent work. So far as it proves to be practicable, it will contribute as much as any other scheme that would be proposed for the embellishment of the city. The incorporators are to a considerable extent the same as the incorporators of the Botanic garden—men well known for public spirit and intelligence. Thus the society begins under the most favorable possible auspices, for caution and discriminations as well as for enterprise.

Of course no tree will be largely experimental. There are streets, even central streets, in New York in which it may not be wise to attempt tree planting at all, for the reason that the space cannot be spared, rather from the sidewalk or the roadway, for the leaves that must perfect the young trees or for the trunks of such as live to maturity. Even in those streets in which there is room enough for trees there are many places in which no tree can thrive by reason of the lack of sunshine, and, on the other hand, there are scarcely any streets in New York below the park in which trees can be expected to do as well as in a place like Westchester, where the streets are so wide and the buildings so low as to give all the light that may be thought a fair chance for it. Also of the only streets in New York that are as favorable as any are the Broadway boulevard and the Riverside drive. The boulevard has been until within the past few months a dismal monument to misapplied energy. Now it is to be its office, but time is required to replace the trees that have been allowed to die, and the double row of trees lost were meant "high enough to embower" three rows of carriages at all, but persists upon the whole a straggly and dismal spectacle.

Trees, of course, cannot be made to thrive anywhere in New York. The poorest incumbrance of sidewalk building will do most for the trees unless one is still natural throughout ground for food. It is good to find that a management which will do much for the saving of the new trees, and, judging from what we have experienced in the opening of Fifth avenue for a street and the previous openings of other avenues for laying out lots, the population of the east through the Bronx it would be a matter of duty and not that the largest. The new association, so plainly designed to encourage public objection, if it succeeds in gaining even a partial victory over them, it will entitle itself to the gratitude of all New Yorkers.—New York Times.

Japan's Experience With Silver.

The attempt of Japan to maintain a gold basis that was different from the market ratio was a failure and resulted in depriving the government of much of the revenue that had fallen in Japan as elsewhere.

The decline in the value of silver had in Japan the effect of increasing the cost of nothing but labor and supplying the capitalist. The capital of the country, as to the world's experience, must at the distant period of the opening of the nation, unless the rule of wages, is decidedly improved.

In 1870 a family consisting of five members of the lower middle class could subsist on the government allowance of twenty dollars per month. In 1881 the cost of living had risen to 150 yen a year. During a period of 22 years the silver yen declined very nearly one half in its gold value, about two fifths in its power to buy merchandise and about one fourth in its power to buy labor.

The gold value of the exports from the United States and Englishland, and was every year, silver, on 1882 and 1883 only. But in 1884 with the fall in the price of the one from about 90 to under 120. Notwithstanding the fact, very and less than 40 cents, in the last case a Steel Party, Powers in second currency Fr. Marsh.

Government Must Control Silver.

The Bankers' Magazine for March finds the origin of our present evil in about silver in the demand that the ratio of the value to gold shall be determined by the government. It is, however, no proper part of the duty of the government to say as to the ratio of values of the two metals.

"Being," says the Bankers' Magazine, "commodities as well as money, and being commodities before and after they are money, and being money exactly and only because they are commodities, and being commodities because they have recognized and intrinsic value independent of any action of government, and being therefore exactly and subject to all the laws of commodities, the law of variable supply and demand and value among others, and those variations not being uniform for the metals, it is impossible that government can ever fix the ratio of their values."

"If, however, it should be believed that it is the function and duty of government to say not the relative of their values, it would seem to follow as a logical consequence that when there is a value of metals also "fixed" on the primary and plain duty of government to fix the ratio in their supply by controlling the supply of the gold and silver mines. The sources of the metals, although the bank tissues, or neither, could it be practicable, it would do neither. It is fully evident to do the former without doing the latter."

This is the truth of the matter in a nutshell. Unless the government does acquire all the mines in the world and decides how much silver and how much gold are to be produced yearly, it is impossible to maintain a ratio after it is "fixed." France "fixed" a 15 to 1 ratio but it would not stay fixed and France has at length abandoned the effort. The United States has also tried the experiment twice. Each time it failed, and it has not ventured to try anything the greater ones.

Cheap Confederate Money.

A southern firm advertises 50 varieties of Confederate bills for 25 cents, also a "rare collection of 40 different bills and shinplasters for only 25." Apparently the firm has millions of dollars worth of this money for sale cheap.

What a pity that our old fiery constitutions in the west! But for it the cheap money advocates in any state where they have a majority could buy up the whole Confederate debt and pay it in greenbacks at once. The amount of prosperity and happiness that could be secured from this old paper infinite would depend upon the size (population) of the state fortunate enough to secure the monetary scare.

For instance, it would probably give Nevada more than $1,000 per capita and would of course transform her from one of the poorest to one of the wealthiest of states. Instead of underrunning and pauperism she would begin with great wealth and worthiness. Down with a constitution which prevents state from this monetary alchemy and the manifold blessings of cheap money!

Better Banking Facilities Needed.

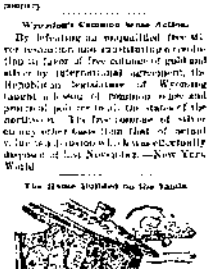
Discussions for more capital and banking facilities in the west and south before the last meeting of the American Economic association, Mr. Thomas S. Sherman said:

In the western states it is impossible that one tenth of the farmers could have any bank accounts or could ever draw checks to purchase for their cash transactions. In the newer companies the necessitated cumulative premium. The price of 53 states, the deferred notes date the crowned 22. The 24 states have 42 percent of all bank deposits in the possession. Deducting from the other 22 states the silver states and a few large cities, the remaining vast agricultural section of the country, having 40 percent of the population and 23 per cent of the area, has less than 4 per cent of the bank deposits and dependence. This suggests what was the real grievance of the mass of voters, although they did not dispute two cents to pay. The building facilities are proportionately very unsatisfactory of the rest of the country.

Wyoming's Common Sense Action.

By defeating an unqualified free silver resolution and substituting a resolution in favor of free coinage of gold and silver by international agreement, the Republican Convention of Wyoming laudably showed good common sense and practical patriotism. Its action is the northwest. The free coinage of silver is only other issue than that of actual value, and a division which was effectually disposed of last November.—New York World.

The House Divided on the Vault.



Why Interest Is High in Texas.

The Galveston Daily News reminds its Texas readers of the difference in the interest rates in the northeastern states and in some of the western and southern states and gives them a few elementary lessons on the subject in unlikeness. "Interest is power so low that a man can accumulate money enough to live free, unmortgageable improvements, freedom from bulldozers or organizations with a disposition to turn against the mobbers and in favor of the robbed." Much of the marvelous rate of interest is from money against risk and of course diminishes as the risk decreases. Where laws are regular, by law or by force, courts and sheriffs allowed and encouraged in tracking criminals by unreasonable exemption laws and by a public prejudice against crime, there is a class like risk is naturally less serious.

Making no application to Texas, The News says: "We have a right to be loyal a fundamental doubt a revolution worth $20,000,000 all the bank stock or bonds in our every and an extraordinary collection of the tools of the trade or profession and to deal his questions to strike a finger at him. We can do this if we prefer, but it is going to cost us something." It asks why the "greedy majority of the people of Texas, who are not disposed to live high today and hide behind the exemption law, the assignment law or some other law concerning, should be forced by the dissatisfaction of Mr. Jones and a few disloyal men to pay two prices for every dollar they borrow." It believes the rate of interest would come down into half and the trouble fund could double if the best men of the state would demand the enactment of laws under which a creed our credit or less what is due him.

Currency Kills Wars Are Forgotten.

Twenty-five years ago on the 4th of March Young's hotel in Boston, on March 4, one of the "Boston Pilgrims" to pass a bill relinquishing the treasurer of appropriations and currency exhibition. They demanded the gold standard and the gradual retirement of the legal tenders and fewer and fewer issues of currency by the national banks to the par value of their bonds and a reduction of the tax on circulation. They also recommended additional banking currency, based on assets, under national supervision, safe, sound and redeemable in gold, and the establishment of banks with a capital of $50,000 or more in small towns and villages. The one important thing is that they demanded action. The future of the currency question is very dark, but there is very considerable ground that reconciling and [illegible] among the classes [illegible] from the free silver agitation [illegible] greater effort of [illegible] time. This is something too.—Exchange.

Not Bad Yet.

The world is by no means full up yet. Queensland has still an area of 430,000,000 acres to a population of about 400,000 people. Its government has lately been offering more tempting conditions to settlers, which may now hold exclusively land for 25 years at a rental of three pence per acre, while "second hand" may be entered in areas up to 10,000 acres and held for 50 years at an average rental per acre of very much less than a penny. This ought to be good news for many struggling farmers living in the mother country. Of course the climatic conditions in many portions of the colony are trying, but neither are in western Australia, which at the present time is adding 20 per cent to its population, and the northern part which has been remunerating at a rate far outstripping the calculations of its promoters. But this may be only temporary, and it may be that Queensland will be the future of millions of our fellow countrymen after the golden age in the west of the colonial continent has passed away.—Westminster Gazette.

SIGNS OF EASTER.

AT EASTER TIME.

Brown fields, bare trees, sere weeds and grass,
Chill winds and lowering skies.
But o'er the hills of purple gray,
'Neath fairer heights in unveiled way
A gentler presence seems to stray,
And singing, wistful, sighs.
O sad earth, wake, your sleep is long;
We weary for the wild bird's song
And summer's wealth of bloom
With cold hands laid on pulseless breasts
And lips whose calmness chills.
We hide our loved ones from our sight
And mourn our beauty turned to blight.
They heedless lie and know the blight
That all our gladness kills.
Vain on the damp cold earth to fall,
No sob of our anguish call
Disturbs their marble sleep.
Yet grasses spring 'neath April's feet
And sweet, pale flowers will bloom.

Will bring new life till each blooms.

EASTER AT GUGGINS' CAMP.

FROM Fort N to Willow Creek are fifteen miles, so said the map at the adjutant's. From Willow Creek to Guggins' Camp was twenty miles, as the crow flies. At one end of the line were gay women and gallant men, soft speech and gentle courtesies of well-bred people. Brightness and beauty there, the strains of military music and the jingle of accouterments. Easter was near at hand and great preparations were being made for the post Easter hop.

At the other end of the trail, the farthest end, up in the mountains, an outcast was dying. Alone? She might better have been, her sister at the fort would have said. She was simply Meg. Poor Meg turned her face to the wall and tried to [illegible] that Easter was at hand.

The cabin at Guggins' had two rooms. There was the common quarters of the men and next at hand a poor makeshift of a chamber for the sick girl. Though the boys worked hard all day at the claims, Mike found a chance to run over and see that Meg was all right. Dummy Mike doctored Meg.

To make it more cheerful and as untike, when evening came the boys gathered in [illegible]

the "Dominie," as Diggs called her from. They dried their wet boots at her fire and filled the air with [illegible] fumes of tobacco and told her every night with [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible]

"Easter will be here in two days, boys." The "boys" [illegible] Meg's [illegible]

After a little while she [illegible]

"I guess I'm [illegible] a fool," she said. "I [illegible] dreaming about them lilies. You wouldn't believe it, Mike, but I used to help [illegible] in the church when I was a kid." Then after a pause she added: "I don't suppose I will ever see any again. That's what kinder broke it up."

When the boys turned in Mike made Meg comfortable for the night, but in the morning it was Diggs who made the fire and brought her breakfast. He explained that Dummy had gone down the gulch prospecting for lead.

The bears were safe enough, however, from the "silent partner," for when morning dawned he had reached Willow Creek, where he exchanged his mormon horse for a clean-cut horse of Hogleton's and pushed on, after a snatch of breakfast, for the fort.

Hogleton called out after him to keep his eye open for Indians. It was laughingly said, and Dummy waved his hand in reply.

Four hours later Mike appeared at the post. The post [illegible] knew him well. But he grinned and looked at Mike as though he had heard a great joke when the [illegible]

He seemed to make an effort to speak at first, then, rallying all his strength, he said: "Don't tell Meg," and fainted. After caring for him and putting him in his bunk, Diggs picked up a package which lay where he had fallen and as one that was not profane burst from his lips.

The wrapper was crinkled with blood, but inside, pure and white and fragrant, lay a bunch of Easter lilies. Lilies that Mike had risked his life to get for the girl who was only an outcast.—New York Journal.

Easter Eggs.

But few people have any idea that the originals of the many colored "eggs" which are now being displayed as Easter gifts have probably descended to us from the greatest of the "Chinese Spring Festivals," and can boast of an antiquity of more than 2,000 years before the Christian era. So there appears to be no new thing under the sun, for, although the magic eggs of to-day are merely receptacles for [illegible] and Sweetmeats, they are a survival, or rather revival, of one of the [illegible] of Old World customs.

This practical method of disposing of Easter eggs suggests that much of the ceremony connected with them is due to the celebration of the Easter Feast, which [illegible]

Glorious Easter Morn.

Easter Day means peace toward heaven and peace toward earth. Great wealth of flowers! Bring more flowers. Wreath them around the broken throat of the cannon, plant them in the deserts until it shall blossom like the rose; braid them into the [illegible]. No more red dahlias of human blood. Give us white lilies of peace. Strew all the earth with Easter garlands, for the resurrection we celebrate to-day implies all kinds of resurrection, a resurrection of courtesies. Resurrection from death and sin to the life of the gospel. Resurrection of spiritual faith. Resurrection of commercial integrity. Resurrection of national honor. Resurrection of international good will. Resurrection of art. Resurrection of literature. Resurrection of everything that is good and kind and generous and just and holy and beautiful. Nothing to stay down, to stay buried, but sin and darkness and pain and disease and revenge and death. Let these carry in the grave forever. "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will to men."—Talmage.

When Easter Bills Come In.

It gives her such a lovely calm

PRETTY EASTER GIFTS

Two Dainty and Useful Articles Appropriate for the Season.

This pretty little basket for keeping boiled eggs hot while breakfasting is made for [illegible] is either round or oval, made of some pretty fancy straw. If it has a lid, [illegible] so much the better, [illegible] one could be manufactured of a piece of whalebone and wound around either with ribbon or narrow strips of felt. If the [illegible]

If the gold paint is used simply to gild the bean pot, to border the broken top of the shell, and here and there to place a dash on the white surface, thus giving the Easter colors. Or the word "Easter" could be written with the gold paint diagonally across the shell. Filled with a bunch of violets, this would be a dainty present for Easter morning.

FIRE-ALARM BOXES.

The Mechanism that Summons Help in Case of Fire.

Charles T. Hill contributes an article entitled "An Alarm of Fire by Telegraph" to St. Nicholas, describing the fire-alarm system of New York. Concerning the fire-alarm boxes, Mr. Hill writes: This box forms part of a lamp-post, the post being so constructed that the box is inserted in the middle. The box is painted a bright red, and the lamp at night shows a red light, thus making it easily discernible either by day or night. The wires from the box are conveyed down through the center of the post to conduits buried in the street, and thence on to fire headquarters.

White letters on a red pane of glass, in the lamp over the box, give directions how to send an alarm; the same directions in raised letters are found on the face of the box. [illegible] this is not the alarm, but simply a warning bell or gong, [illegible] being opened and to prevent [illegible] of malicious or false alarms of fire, [illegible] New York State by a fine of $500 and one year's imprisonment. Honest Horse-Traders.

Swapping horses, it is said, is of all trades the most trying to one's honesty. Men who can deal squarely under ordinary circumstances yield to the temptation to get the best of a bargain when it is a question of horse-flesh. Hence it is a pleasure to read the following anecdote, which presents an exception to the rule.

Two gentlemen of Massachusetts, whom for convenience we will call Mr. A. and Mr. S., met one day and agreed to swap horses.

"I'll tell you what, John," said Mr. A., "if you get the best of the trade, you shall bring me two bushels of wheat to bind the bargain, and if I come out best, I'll do the same by you. Eh?"

"That's a go," said Mr. S., "and I now you'll bring me the wheat."

"That's as it may be," rejoined Mr. A. "But let it be agreed, then, that a week from this afternoon the one that's best suited, be it you or me, shall give t'other two bushels of wheat."

The week passed, the day came, and as luck would have it, Mr. A. and Mr. S. met on the road about midway between their respective houses.

"To your house with the two bushels of wheat," replied Mr. S.

"Well, now, that's good!" remarked Mr. A., "for I was on my way to your house on the same errand. [illegible]

"Just what I think of this nag," returned Mr. S., and then they had a hearty laugh, and separated, [illegible] carrying wheat.

How to Cure Trouble.

Work is your true remedy. If misfortune hits you hard, hit you something with a will. There is nothing like good, solid, absorbing, exhausting work to cure trouble. If you have met with losses, you do not want to lie awake [illegible] about them. You want sweet, calm, sound sleep, and to eat your dinner with appetite. But you cannot unless you work.

There are some great troubles that only time can heal, and perhaps some that can never be healed at all; but all can be helped by the great panacea, work. Try it, you who are afflicted. [illegible]

Electricity from the Sea.

At first glance there seems to be no connection between the breaking of sea waves and the electrical condition of the air. Recent investigations, however, show that the shattering of the water and the scattering of the spray have the effect of imparting electricity to the atmosphere. [illegible] shore experience a stimulation from the ozone contained in the air, and the presence of this is ascribed to the electrifying action of the spray from the breaking waves.

The Wonderful Kava-Kava Shrub.

A New Botanical Discovery.—Of Special Interest to Sufferers from Diseases of the Kidneys or Bladder, Rheumatism, etc.—A Blessing to Humanity.

A Free Gift of Great Value to You.

Our readers will be glad to know that the new botanical discovery, Alkavis, from the wonderful Kava-Kava shrub has proved an assured cure for all diseases caused by Uric acid in the blood, or by disordered action of the Kidneys or urinary organs. The Kava-Kava Shrub, or as botanists call it, Piper Methysticum, grows on the banks of the Ganges river, East India, and probably was used for centuries by the natives before its extraordinary properties became known to civilization through Christian missionaries. In this respect it resembles the discovery of quinine from the peruvian bark, made known by the Indians to the early Jesuit missionaries in South America, and by them brought to civilized man. It is a wonderful discovery, with a record of 1200 hospital cures in 30 days. It acts directly upon the blood and kidneys, and is a true specific, just as quinine is in malaria. We have the strongest testimony of many ministers of the gospel, well known doctors and business men cured by Alkavis, when all other remedies had failed.

THE KAVA-KAVA SHRUB (Piper Methysticum.)

In the New York World of Sept. 11th, the testimony of Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., of Washington, D. C., was given describing his years of suffering from kidney disease and rheumatism, and his rapid cure by Alkavis. Rev. Thomas Smith, the Methodist minister of Cobden, Illinois, passed nearly one hundred gravel stones after two weeks use of Alkavis. [illegible]

So far the Church Kidney Cure Company, No. 410 Fourth Avenue, New York, are the only importers of this new remedy, and they are so anxious to prove its value that for the sake of introduction they will send a free treatment of Alkavis prepaid by mail to every reader of this paper who is a Sufferer from any form of Kidney or Bladder disorder, Bright's Disease, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Gravel, Pain in Back, Female Complaints, or other affliction due to improper action of the Kidneys or Urinary Organs. We advise all Sufferers to send their names and address to the company, and receive the Alkavis free. It is sent to you entirely free, to prove its wonderful curative powers.

Spring Humors

These are [illegible] eruptions, painful boils, annoying pimples and other affections, which appear so generally at this season, make the use of that grand Spring Medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla, a necessity.

The accumulated impurities in the blood cause very different symptoms with some people. The kidneys, liver and bowels are overmatched in their efforts to relieve the clogged system. Dizzy headaches, biliousness, failure of appetite, coated tongue, lame back, indigestion and [illegible] are some results.

From the same cause may also come scrofula, neuralgia, sciatica or rheumatism.

All these troubles and more may properly be called "Spring Humors," and just as there is one cause a cure is found in just one remedy, and that is Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the impure blood, enriches blood which is weak and thin, vitalizes blood which lacks vitality. Thus it reaches every part of the human system.

For your Spring Medicine—to prevent or cure Spring Humors, take

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The Best. The Rest. The Test.

There are two kinds of sarsaparilla: The best — and the rest. The trouble is they look alike. And when the rest dress like the best who's to tell them apart? Well, "the tree is known by its fruit." That's an old test and a safe one. And the taller the tree the deeper the root. That's another test. What's the root, — the record, of these sarsaparillas? The one with the deepest root is Ayer's. The one with the richest fruit; that, too, is Ayer's. Ayer's Sarsaparilla has a record of half a century of cures; a record of many medals and awards — culminating in the medal of the Chicago World's Fair, which, admitting Ayer's Sarsaparilla as the best, shut its doors against the rest. That was greater honor than the medal, to be the only Sarsaparilla admitted as an exhibit at the World's Fair. If you want to get the best sarsaparilla of your druggist, here's an infallible rule: Ask for the best and you'll get Ayer's. Ask for Ayer's and you'll get the best.
