PHOTOGRAPH BUTTONS.

Trouble They Give to the Curious Persons Who Wear Them.

"Do you remember which it was that fell to have your monogram on both buttons?" asked the girl who is always wondering about things that she should not. "Well, that nearly drove me mad because I used to get crossed trying to make out those tangled-up messes of letters. Now, I'm having just the same sort of bother over photograph buttons. Yesterday I was out with a young man who wore one of those, and he kept on trying to make me look at the picture on his button. Of course I wanted to see it, but I didn't like to, for I knew he was anxious for me to see it, and I felt as if I ought to make up. I let him do that. But I didn't like to, for I always felt so uncomfortable if I tugged at his button-hole and pulled his coat open. It was all I could do to keep from taking that girl to tell me all about it. Anyhow, it's my opinion that when people wear things that are up close they should also wear explanations. Under all these buttons should be pasted appologies such as 'This is my Aunt Lucy,' or 'This is my cousin Jerusha's baby,' or 'My third engagement.' I wouldn't stand three." —Chicago Record.

Scotland's Strange Birds.

From the small island of St. Kilda, of Scotland, 30,000 young gannets and an immense number of eggs are annually collected, and although this island lays only one egg per annum and in four years is absolutely its majority its numbers do not diminish. Obviously such birds must reach a great age or they would long ago have been exterminated.

English farthings are no longer likely to be mistaken for half-sovereigns, for now they are minted one only of a different size and design but each of a different color, being a dull bronze.

Under Sealed Orders.

The custom of having warships sail "under sealed orders" has arisen from the desire of maritime powers to prevent their plans from becoming known to the enemy.

In the American navy such orders come from the President, and are delivered to the commander of a ship or squadron by a confidential messenger who knows nothing of their contents.

Sometimes they are in a pocket that can be sealed with the official seal of the Navy Department, and the package cannot be opened until the time marked on it, which is usually several hours after the hour of leaving port.

By this precaution the newspapers are prevented from disclosing prospectively, movements which may be of the greatest importance, and the officers of a navy are entrusted with the control of such movements is concerned.

Sailing under sealed orders is now the common naval practice in time of war.

The Spider's Thread.

An eminent naturalist says that every thread of what we call the spiders web is made up of about 3,000 separate fibres. It is plain of this thread were required it would cost nearly $6,000 a yard or a full yard to furnish it. The owner of this statement does not inform us how long the thread would be, but it is safe to say that it would reach several times around the world.

Closer for the World.

The two little islands of Zanzibar and Pemba furnish four-fifths of the clove consumed by the world.

Marriage.

The white hair gets all the happiness out of marriage that the better half puts in.

After a man quits a job, he tells around that it was necessary to take three men to do his work.

"What an idea I have been!" he turned and walked to the piano. "What an artistical conception! I was going back by the first train."

He turned to go, but before him stood a magnificent woman. Why it her expression or was it her fairy dust in which lay all her succulent charms so loved to portray?

Her regal head, her beautiful face, had the dignity of a queen. As she stalked he thought of the royalty of princes, of the majesty of the pomp of the beautiful Western country of her adoption that is romance, mountains valley broke the silence.

"Has the jubilee forgotten to the tune of the orchestra?"

He was now her long as speak. He opened his arms and clasped her to his heart. Pride lighted a flame.

Does Your Head Ache?

Are your nerves weak? Can't you sleep well? Pain in your back? Good appetite? Appetite poor? Digestion bad? Dizzy or sleepy? These are some signs of poisoning.

From what poisons? From poisons that are always found in constipated bowels.

Get the poisons out of the bowels and removed from the body each day, so nature can do her work. Poisons containing substances are safe to be absorbed into the blood, and keep causing suffering and permanently ruining severe cases.

There is a common sense cure.

AYER'S PILLS

They daily assist in easy and natural movement of the bowels.

You will find it is the use of

The republican electors of the state of Nebraska are requested to meet in their respective counties on the [illegible] day August, [illegible] at 10 o'clock a. m. and select delegates to the republican state convention to be held at Lincoln, Neb., on Wednesday, August 20, 1902, at 10 o'clock a. m. for the purpose of nominating candidates for the following offices:

1. Governor.
2. Lieutenant governor.
3. Secretary of state.
4. Auditor of public accounts.
5. Treasurer.
6. State school land commissioner.
7. Commissioner of public lands and buildings.

Also to transact such other business as may properly come before the convention.

The general provisions are entitled to the following number of delegates in the several counties based upon the vote cast for Hon. Joe Sumner, judge in 1900, each precinct being entitled to one delegate at large and one for each fifty votes and majority fraction thereof.

[illegible]

It is expected that the different precincts select the members of the central committee to represent them during the coming year as the precinct committee.

HE THANKS HIS ARMY

SHAFTER ISSUES AN ADDRESS TO HIS MEN.

The Victory Was Due to Their Valor —Touching Appealing Obsequies with Wonderful Pomp and Ceremony —Absconding Banker Captured.

Shafter Thanks the Army.

Headquarters Fifth Army Corps, Santiago, July 17, 1898.—Soldiers of the Fifth Army Corps: Your commander desires to express his admiration of your conduct during the battles of the 1st and 2d instant. Your valor has given us the position from which we can now dictate the terms of peace to our foe. Your patient endurance of the privations and hardships incident to your advance and your subsequent labors in the trenches have been the admiration of your commander. The country you have given to your flag and your country is a priceless possession. The hearts of your countrymen are your monument. Your dead comrades will be mourned and your living ones will be honored and cherished forever. Your country will not forget the service you have rendered it, nor the glory you have added to its name. I am proud to be your commander. (Signed) W. R. SHAFTER, Major General Commanding.

Obsequies Were Impressive.

Washington, July 18.—The remains of the officers and men who were killed in the battle of San Juan were buried with military honors at Arlington today. The ceremonies were impressive and were witnessed by a large number of people. The bodies were taken from the morgue in this city to the cemetery in a long procession of army wagons, preceded by a military escort. The procession was formed at the morgue at 10 o'clock and was a mile and a half in length. The bodies were placed in the vault in the cemetery, where they will remain until they are claimed by their relatives. The ceremonies were conducted by Chaplain Pierce of the army, who read the burial service. The following officers were buried: Colonel Jeffers, Lieutenant Colonel Bell, Major Wood, Captain Taylor, Captain Mills, Captain Wheeler, Captain Ward, Captain Kennedy, Captain Ayres, Captain Mesnil, Captain Dorst

Attempts to Kill His Wife.

Charles Tolliver, a well known charterer of Nebraska City, attempted to kill his wife by shooting at her with a rifle recently. Mrs. Tolliver, was found in the house, bleeding from the effects of a wound in the left side of the head. Tolliver, who had been drinking, left the house and was found in the yard. The bullet had lodged in the wall of the house. The man was taken to the county jail. The woman was not expected to live.
