The Making of An Actor

One of the things that a young actor must first do is to get the outside of his body into the best possible condition. He must have a good figure, a good complexion, and a good voice. He must be able to sing, to act, and to dance. He must be able to hold his own in a crowd, and to be able to take a beating without flinching. He must be able to stand up to any and every trial that may be put before him.

It is not enough to be a good actor, one must also be a good man. One must be able to get along with everybody, and to be able to stand up to any and every trial that may be put before him. One must be able to hold his own in a crowd, and to be able to take a beating without flinching. One must be able to stand up to any and every trial that may be put before him.

A man who is not all over the place, but who is all over the place in the right way, is the only one who can succeed in the profession. He must be able to get along with everybody, and to be able to stand up to any and every trial that may be put before him. One must be able to hold his own in a crowd, and to be able to take a beating without flinching. One must be able to stand up to any and every trial that may be put before him.
