THE FATAL MURDER

CHARLOTTE M. BRAEME.

CHAPTER XXV. (Continued.)

A pretty girl, with a face that was almost perfect in its beauty, she was looking at him with a smile that was as bright as the sun. He looked at her with a look that was as deep as the sea. They were standing in the garden, and the flowers were in full bloom. The air was sweet and fragrant, and the birds were singing in the trees. It was a beautiful day, and they were both enjoying it very much.

She was the daughter of a noble family, and he was the son of a noble family. They were both of noble birth, and they were both of noble mind. They were both of noble heart, and they were both of noble soul. They were both of noble spirit, and they were both of noble fate.

They were both of noble blood, and they were both of noble lineage. They were both of noble descent, and they were both of noble ancestry. They were both of noble pedigree, and they were both of noble lineage.

Are you Willing?

To run the risk of annoyance and discomfort certain to be found in all ready made clothing, to save a dollar or two on the price?

Isn't it better to pay that small difference and get exactly what you want. Here you can select not only the cloth and pattern, but have the style you prefer, the pockets of the kind and number you like, and generally get what you order, while so ready-made clothing you don't have these advantages and have to take what you get.
