"I AM JUST OUT."

That is what you are all in a hurry when asking for some particular article in the fruit line. Then you step in at the next store, and you are rebuffed, you have no more and oranges "just out" keeps them, and oftentimes they are kept for hours. But the particular article you want you could not buy for hours or more, as you go behind the counter "just out." Or perhaps the fact is, the demand is so light it does not pay to keep it in stock - bananas and strawberries in particular. This class of fruit requires quick sale and Runderl is identified as being HEADQUARTERS for this class of goods. If you want some bananas, or any other fruit, you will find them at Runderl's Cash Store as the line is complete and it is not a usual occurrence for me to be "just out." My experience and facilities are excelled by no one in the city, if you locate at my store you become a "satisfied customer," which is a proof of good goods at a right price. Speaking of groceries, come do not know I carry a full and complete line. Either in staple or fancy I always have a full supply and at a price considerably less than my competitors'. And why? Simply because I SELL FOR CASH. Keep your eye open for my "ad" next week. I am going to quote some prices. Highest price paid for butter and eggs.

Ralph Runderl, The Cash Grocer.

Stem Winder

PIVOTED pole cultivator

They can be raised with either the hands or feet. They can be raised and locked or swung on the ground, which are regulated by a device of cultivation. Although locked to run at a given depth, they swing in the direction between the gangs and the hand leading letters which allow the gang to be raised above the first set, and will rotate in dual turns and other places, but will immediately return to the position when pressure is removed. The gang can be raised by foot levers provided by the machine.

Can be made into a stump puller by simply locking the rear end of the machine.

Oiling device. The pole is ground three feet from the rear end, to the frame, and 7/8 inches from the rear end is a wire probe to the arch by means of a hand lever. By pushing down on the probe with the foot, when it is on the ground, you get an immediate effect upon the soil, turning the wheels and arch by means of the other as desired, so as to dig up any hill or bank.

Works more easily than other cultivators. When wheels are on ground, pressure is applied to the rear of the wheels, the arch and the rear end of the frame are also further used the same way, giving a double side movement to the cultivator.

Wide between gangs can be varied by moving them on the slotted to which they attach.

Distance between wheels can be changed by moving them out or in on the spindle.

Rotating springs help to lift the gangs.

FROM POORHOUSE TO PALACE

BY MARY J. HOLMES

It is a story of a man who rose from a poorhouse to a palace. The story is told in a series of chapters, each describing a different stage of his life. The man's journey is one of struggle and triumph, of hardship and success. He starts in a poorhouse, where he is treated with contempt and neglect. Through sheer determination and hard work, he manages to escape the poorhouse and find a way to a better life. He faces many obstacles, but he never gives up. He eventually reaches a palace, where he is treated with respect and honor. The story is a testament to the power of the human spirit and the ability to overcome adversity.

CHAPTER II
The man's journey continues as he faces new challenges. He is now in a palace, but he is not yet satisfied. He has a long way to go before he can truly call himself a man of success. He must learn to navigate the complex world of the palace, where every move is watched and every word is heard. He must learn to play the game of power and politics. He must learn to be a man of influence. He must learn to be a man of success. The story is a testament to the power of the human spirit and the ability to overcome adversity.
