White Hand

A Tale of the Early Settlers of Louisiana.

BY AUSTIN G. BURDICK

Several times had I been surprised to see the old man looking at me about the same time as he had seen me and that I could not get up. The old man had a thin, but muscular body, and his eyes were full of fire. He was a man of the old school, and his manners were those of a gentleman. He had a long, thin nose, and a high forehead. He was a man of the old school, and his manners were those of a gentleman.

MASSAN'S PROVERBS.

King Massan, who lived, was wont to say: "When a man is poor, he is not a man." "A man's worth is not in his money, but in his honesty." "A man's worth is not in his money, but in his honesty." "A man's worth is not in his money, but in his honesty."

Don and Dan. "I have heard that you are a man of the old school, and your manners are those of a gentleman. He had a long, thin nose, and a high forehead. He was a man of the old school, and his manners were those of a gentleman."

COOKING CORN FOR WINTER.

New Nebraska Farmers Prepare Their Immense Crops for the Table of the Consumer in Many States.

Nebraska know many of the methods of preparing the corn for winter use. The corn is the chief product, but the farmers are not satisfied with the usual method of cooking it. They are now preparing it in a way that will keep it for a long time, and it will be as good as when it was first cooked.
