The Minstrel Show.

The entertainment at the opera house last evening by Wayne's colored Georgia minstrels was full of fun and merriment for a good, big house. The DEMOCRAT "woman" says "every performance revealed some new phase of the grotesque "make up" or the ludicrous movements and gestures of the performers which brought forth storms of applause." One citizen reports it as being "rocky," meaning on the rough house order. A school teacher says it was "shocking" and "scandalous;" while our worthy critic, Tom Coyle, says it was the best show ever given by local talent. The writer was not there, but we believe Tom must be correct for his report tallies with the first given, and we are not fool enough to dispute her word. The cake walk seems to have taken the cake and the solos by Mrs. Blair, Freda Ellis, Katie Weber and Prugh were good and had to be uncured. The show made $70 clear of expenses and was a whole lot better worth the money than the transient fakers.

Farms and City Loans.

F. M. Sreen & Co. have just completed arrangements whereby they are enabled to place farm loans at the very lowest rates. They make a 6 per cent loan optional payments of $100 or any multiple of $100 at any interest payment with no extra commission, or will make a 5 per cent loan with reasonable cash commission. On sums of $3,000 will make special rates. We are able to make a few city loans at present at 8 per cent individual money and represent a building and loan association that makes favorable loans. We're here to do a reasonable commission business and respectfully invite you to investigate our easy payment plan at low rates of interest.

WAYNE COUNTY INSTITUTE.

Wayne, Nebr., June 5-10, 1899.

The teachers gathered this year in greater numbers and with more enthusiasm than ever before. The Institute was one of the best ever held in the county, the attention and interest very encouraging. The weather was very favorable, making the work that much more pleasant. The conductor, Miss C. M. White engaged three of the best institute instructors in the state. Viz: J. F. Saylor, Lincoln; J. M. Pile, Wayne; U. S. Conn, Wayne.

Prof. Saylor's work was along the line of History, Elementary Science, Pedagogy, and Psychology. He asked all teachers to equip themselves with pencil and note book on the first morning after which it was unnecessary for all were eager to take advantage of his wide experiences. He presented his subjects in such a manner that he held the entire attention and confidence of the teachers. He also delivered two lectures during the week one on Tuesday evening and one on Friday evening which were highly appreciated by those present.

Prof. Pile's subjects were Arithmetic, Civics, Geography and Penmanship. It is useless to say anything about Prof. Pile's work here he is so well known. Everyone knows what a thorough and competent instructor he is.

Prof. Conn's subjects were Grammar and Reading. He is also well known as he has been instructor in institute work for several years.

On Wednesday evening Prof. Davison gave a lecture on "New Mexico and Her People," which was an intellectual feast enjoyed by the teachers and a large number of the citizens of Wayne. Thursday morning Prof. Davison talked to the teachers on the agricultural department of the state university.

At the close of the Institute the teachers extended a vote of thanks to the instructors for the good work they had accomplished. No examinations were held at the close of the institute this year, probably another reason the teachers were all so jubilant. A TRACHER.

HELL AT HERMAN.

Tuesday's Twister Takes the Town Topsy-Turvy.

AN AWFUL LOOKING WRECK.

The DEMOCRAT man, in company with T. W. Moran, J. R. Coyle, Hugh O'Connell, L. C. Titworth and Will Rickabaugh, went down to Herman Wednesday afternoon to view the work of the Tuesday evening cyclone, and such a sight as met our optics no pen can properly portray. Herman was a prosperous little town of about 500 souls, 55 miles south of Emerson and some 35 this side of Omaha; what it is today is quite another story—simply a large field of kindling wood, rubbish and heaps of all imaginable truck from babies' bonnets to threshing machines; making a conglomeration that no human agency could devise or concoct.

The first glimpse a person gets of the place sends the cold shivers chasing up the spinal column, and a complete vision forces out the ejaculation, "THIS IS HELL," and the conservative and not profane belief that all theimps of Hades, marshaled by a most able and relentless commander, had gotten in their work in a complete and diabolical manner.

When the report first came to this town that Herman was wiped off the face of the earth, people here were loth to believe it, but such is a fact. It is true two or three small buildings are still standing on the outskirts of the town site, also the roots of the hotel, a mountain of ice where the ice-house stood, and the school house which is over 40 rods out of town. Getting off the train at a portion of the depot platform the first noticeable freak of the elements is a number of empty beer kegs piled up on end on the walk; these the wind could not budge, but the depot buildings, with all the freight, wires, iron safe, etc., are completely gone, fragments only being found blocks away. Another remarkable thing was the taking up in the air of a 38 ton standpipe, similar to the one here in Wayne, and laying it gently down upon an immense pile of debris. A grand piano that had belonged in a large two-story residence was carried two or three blocks and over the hotel and set down right side up and comparatively uninjured, in the middle of the street. A heavy safe went spinning like a top, and a big cook stove hung out on the stump of a tree. Talk about blowing the spokes out of a wagon wheel we saw a brand new wagon gear, all complete except that every spoke had been pulled out of the hub. At another point we picked up the rim of a wheel. Some of the escapes from death were miraculous, and some of the deaths due to sheer stupidity. The residents of the town saw the cyclone full twenty minutes before it hit them. It first appeared on a large hill or elevation about a mile to the west, and was moving to the north and east. As it reached lower ground, north of Herman, it swung round and ran like a living monster straight for the little city. People in town saw it lick up the Hopkins home, about a quarter of a mile away, and in from two to four minutes it had made mince meat of Herman and passed away south, just missing by a few feet the school-house. After passing over a hill it dipped down and copped out a barn, then quit business. The Hopkins family had timely warning but the old folks, 72 and 80 years old, refused to seek refuge in the cellar, the younger members staid with them, and five met an awful death. The writer saw one cellar which had belonged to a big house, in which eight persons had escaped with slight hurts; it was half full of brick and rubbish. George Coyle said he had just eaten supper at the hotel and walked out on the street for a smoke. He says he had 20 minutes time to "hunt a hole." The first cave he applied to for admission was jammed full and he found a niche in a little bit of a place occupied by four or five others. It was only a few feet deep and had a log and mud roof. The wind forced the roof in and flying timbers pierced through it but the inmates, packed like sardines in a box, were only bruised. Many animals were killed but the carcasses had been all removed Wednesday evening.

But one man in the town, section boss John Larson, carried any tornado insurance, he having $1000 on his home. The fatalities are 12, with a number more injured.

Thousands of people from Omaha and surrounding towns were looking at the ruins Wednesday and the trains hardly afforded standing room. It is a sight to attract the keenest interest but one the writer sincerely hopes our people will never have to put on exhibition as a local attraction.

With 4,000 more fat offices taken from the merit system and added to the spoils rule of the administration President McKinley sees brighter prospects for his personal advancement in 1900.

Sheldon Sun: Down in Mexico the other day seven negroes were lynched, and humanity cries out in anguish. In the Philippines the United States army is knocking the niggers' over like blackbirds in a corn field, all for humanity's sake. Burn a rag.

Sioux City Tribune: If one preacher sends blessing and congratulations to his prize-fighter son and another assails the Sioux City brewery the whole preacher account will probably stand about even. They must be regarded as other men—very human.

The Chicago Tribune says that not a single republican newspaper of national reputation is defending the president's civil service order. The Chicago Tribune, the New York Tribune and the Chicago Times-Herald have condemned it unsparringly, as have others.

Binks—After Aguinaldo capitulates he ought to have a snap. Jinks—Why? I should think his people would hang him. Birks—Not at all. All he'll have to do will be to summon a Court of Inquiry, let it examine his conduct of the war and then give him a magnificent coat of whitewash. Aggy reads the papers and is up to all Algerian precedents.—The Verdict.

J. A. Edmiston in four years as chief oil inspector turned into the state treasury $9,736.75 after paying all expenses of the office. A judgment was recently rendered against Mr. Hilton, the last republican inspector, for $5,000 which he appropriated to his own use. There seems to be a vast difference between the two inspectors so far as benefits accruing to the state are concerned.

The Verdict: Bryan says that all Trusts are bad, and that the Democracy must fight them all, and not any particular class of them, if it is to be successful in an anti-trust campaign. He is quite right; it is the system that is wrong. The Trust is the most pestiferous flower that has grown from the dunghill of class legislation. It must be extirpated root, stem and branch, and it is pleasing to observe that the opinion of the Democracy the country over is inclining that way.

There was a great uproar down at Arbor Lodge the other day, says the Nebraska Independent. A telegram came saying; "Cleveland is dead." J. Sterling was prostrated with grief. Shortly after a messenger boy appeared with an apology from the Western Union saying that the last word of the dispatch had been left off by mistake and it should read: "Cleveland is dead drunk." Then J. Sterling was happy again and sat down and wrote an editorial about Bryan-robby.

troileum motor is a kilometre in 57.35 seconds, and for a petroleum carriage, 1 minute and 3 seconds. The automobile has given the tally-ho a black eye in Paris. One no longer is "quite the thing" if one hasn't his own automobile, and it is an interesting spectacle to see the confidence with which women "tool" their electric or petroleum-driven motors through the maze of carriages in the Champs Elysee and the Bois.—The Verdict.

Let's see, sees the World Herald, Lieutenant Lang of the regular army was charged with occupying a room in a second-rate boarding house with a woman not his wife, He was charged with conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman, and on trial was found guilty and sentenced to dishonorable discharge from the army. Within an hour after the findings were submitted to the president they were approved and sentenced executed. But Captain Carter, who stole $1,500,000, was tried convicted and sentenced to discharge, fine and imprisonment—well, that's another story. Carter has a pull. His bondsmen are being released at the rate of $50,000 a month, while the president is looking for "time" in which to review the findings, and the president has been looking for that time for nearly fifteen months. Moral. Steal a million and stand in.

At the recent session, at Mansfield, Ohio, of the synod of the Reformed Presbyterian church, comments the Plainview News, a resolution was passed denouncing all secret societies as immoral and in direct opposition to christianity. The Presbyterian synod has shown itself to be composed of members whose prejudices predominate. It is inexplicable how any body of men presumed to possess an average amount of intelligence, can pass such a nonsensical resolution. There was a time when a certain well defined prejudice existed against secret societies; people who were not members imagined that all sorts of dark schemes aimed at the world at large emanated from the secret recesses of the lodge room. But the world has progressed, and the superstition and witchcraft which prevailed in the past have been dispelled by the light of a more modern intelligence and reason.

The Chicago Tribune comments regretfully on the fact that "sordid commercialism" has seized upon all kinds of sports in this country, nearly all of which are now controlled by professional gamblers and blacklegs. Says the Chicago newspaper: "The commercial and gambling spirit has invaded and ruined every kind of sport. Horse racing was once a harmless and legitimate pastime—until it fell into the hands of the professional blacklegs. The races are now run by the same men who run faro banks and by the same methods. Prize fighting long ago fell into the same disrepute. Baseball has of recent years gone to its ruin by this fatal road. Today the clubs are shamelessly swapping players, maintaining "farms," and abandoning themselves with cynical frankness to the commercial spirit. There is not a rag of true sporting instinct left in the professional ball ring, on the race course, or in the prize fight as these are conducted in the United States today. Only the young and credulous imagine them to be anything but the commercial or gambling devices they are."

Impulsive as are the American people there is one tail of trouble they don't care about trying to wag for others. We refer to the cyclone's tail.

Mark Hanna has finally taken water. He sailed for Europe Wednesday.

An exchange remarks that the cold weather has prevented a straw hat trust. There has always been a string on the straw hat.

THE VERDICT.
Hanna's just beginning to discover that Ohio republicans are an ungrateful lot. They refuse to obey his orders blindly, absurdly maintaining that they are quite capable of managing the affairs of the party in the state as Hanna himself. What is the use of having a political machine if one must use all his resources in keeping it copiously greased with a golden lubricator?

Senator Platt says that McKinley has deserved a second term not only of his party but of the people. It is apparent that the "Easy Boss" has a greedy eye already upon some of those four thousand jobs made available for partisan purposes by the president's by the curtailment of the powers of the Civil Service Commission.

The report of the Embalmed Beef committee appears to have been taken by Alger in the spirit in which it was written, for one finds him contracting with one of the offensive members of the Chicago "Big Four" for beef to be supplied to the troops in Cuba and the Philippines. This is a better sort of whitewash for the Beef Trust than even its most sanguine friends could have expected. The advantages of the Trust pull with the Government departments were never more profitable than at present.

From first to last there stood forth at the St. Louis meeting one over-powering truth: The party's next nominee will be Bryan. No man denied, none hesitated to declare this fact. On every lip it had exultant concession or assertion. The sentiment of the gathering flowed strong, deep, rippleless for Bryan. Democracy to its last corner and its latest name may make up its mind to it. Bryan is foreordained. One loses party time and party step who takes the future otherwise. Platforms may be pared and issues modified or rearranged to point some newer precedence or sequence, but Bryan for President is sure.

To regular Democrats: Would you be fox in your hour of politics and help your cause by indirection? Then bring to your enterprise some sly hypocrisy. Stir up the Reform Club to some mugwumpery. Beguile them to some third party effort and lead them to Cleveland as their man. He is ready and pants for notice of this sort. If the mugwumps would name Cleveland, that vast egotist would run the best he might. And in partial fashion, he'd split McKinley's support. Cleveland wouldn't suck one drop of blood from Bryan's strength. But he'd drain McKinley of his banks and of a Back Bay list in Massachusetts to begin with Edward Atkinson. Cleveland couldn't carry a State. But he'd put more than one into the power of the regular Democracy. Cleveland would take mugwumps and money which are else to go to the Republicans. Do you doubt the Banks and their certainty to follow Cleveland were named? Have no misgivings, friend; the greatest idiot in the world of politics is a Bank. Cleveland would call round him the lean Toxy vote—the treason vote. And it would all be gales and winds to swell and fill the Bryan sails.

Bryan will be Democracy's next candidate for the White House. Nine of every ten New York City Democrats are for him. They want him, demand him. Do you doubt it? Go among your folk and be convinced. Bryan is the local choice and hope. And he is bound to come. What then should be your course? Be sagacious in your day, wise in your generation. You can lead your people for Bryan and for no one else besides. No name but his will bring them to your back. Stand out for Bryan and old-time thousands will come around your standards on the world. Make some other name your war-shout and you put arms in the hands of your enemies. It isn't silver. The party's rank and file hold Bryan the poor man's candidate. There's the secret. They are for him, for that they're for themselves. And of all the names on the party roster, there's none to supplant, none to so much as shake the supremacy of Bryan in the great common heart of the Democracy. This is not written to laud Bryan at any cost to other party great men. It but records the truth, as all who will, with eyes and ears to see and hear, may find and know it. Don't take The Verdict's word. Step forth and ask the one question of Bryan of the next ten Democrats you meet.

A GREAT TRUTH.
All organized living things, whether belonging to the animal or vegetable kingdom contain within themselves the germs of death and decay.
Germs of disease are often generated within the human system through imperfect digestion of food, producing various poisons which scientists have denominated Acidosis. A stomach weakened by abuse, gorged with over eating or over burdened with hot bread, too rich or greasy foods or those too highly seasoned, becomes weakened and fails to digest the food. A heavy, sodden mass is accumulated in the stomach to ferment as the first step in its decay, giving off foul gases to distend the stomach, and poison the blood, until it becomes thin, weak and lacking in the red corpuscles so necessary to perfect health.
The over distended stomach presses upon the heart, and the latter organ is also disturbed through sympathy, the same system of nerves being distributed to both organs. Thus palpitation and irregular action of the heart with its attendant shortness of breath, result, and in time, disease of the heart itself is established.
The poisons generated from undigested, fermenting and decaying food in the stomach becloud the brain, causing headaches, and pain in the eyes.
Being absorbed into the blood these poisons reach every part and organ of the system. The kidneys are thereby poisoned, causing Bright's disease and diabetes. Eri-tinger through the skin, troublesome skin diseases often show themselves.
Every organ and every nerve, depending as they do for their nourishment and renewal upon the stomach, weak digestion shows itself not alone in loss of appetite and flesh, but also in nervousness, debility, bad complexion and many other derangements.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures and regulates the stomach; stimulates the digestive juices; invigorates the torpid liver; promotes intestinal strength; clears bilious poisons and diseased germs out of the circulation; gives the blood-making glands keen assimilative power, and furnishes Nature with the fresh, abundant nutrition out of which she manufactures firm flesh, strong muscles, clear skin, healthy lung tissue and nerve-fiber, and gives sound, enduring, active energy to the whole system.
Fitz lost the fight. His wife wasn't present at the riagade.

Two of our young men saw an advertisement stating that for one dollar an apparatus would be sent called "the little beer thief" designed especially for the vest pocket. The money was sent and in return the boys received a large wooden faucet. The boys are not telling any person of their purchase, however.

Some of the fellows who have been laboring so zealously and secretly the past few weeks in an effort to "sweat" the DEMOCRAT man out of town, are already beginning to "perspire" quite freely although the weather has not become so hot as it may. "Be sure your sin will find you out," if even the Lord (?) is on "Jim's side."

Norfolk Times-Tribune: A young man at Beatrice took a girl out for a ride and she fell out of the buggy and bedrove a mile or two before he missed her. You can bet your last penny that such a thing would never happen in this section. The wheels might drop off, the shafts pull out, the horse drop dead, or the buggy disappear entirely and not be missed, but the girl—never.

A Jefferson county farmer hired a very inexperienced boy out of the reformatory to help about the place. One morning he told the lad to go and salt the calf in the pasture. The boy took about a quart of salt, rubbed it all over the calf, working it into the hair. A gang of colts in the pasture scented the salt and got after the calf. They licked the hair off the calf's back and tried to lick the hide off too. The farmer tried to catch the calf and wash it off but the creature thinking he wanted to lick it too, kept out of his way. The boy, calf and farmer are all unhappy. The colts are the only ones who got any fun out of it.—Ulysses Dispatch.

The Columbus Times says the maddest man in Platte county lives at Humphrey. He attended a social, and during the evening the ladies inaugurated a hugging bee, the proceeds to go to the Sunday school. Prices were graded according to the person hugged. For instance, for hugging a young, inexperienced girl, the bidder had to give up 10 cents, married women brought 15 cents, and widows a quarter.

Well the man was blindfolded, and, giving up 15 cents, he said he would take a married woman. After he had hugged 15 cents' worth the bandage was removed from the eyes, and lo and behold! he had been hugging his own wife. Then he kicked and wanted his 15 cents back.

A good audience greeted Alby Heywood and his Peerless Company at the Grand Opera House last night and was excellently entertained. Alby Heywood's splendid impersonations were the best and most laughable that the people ever had the pleasure of seeing. His parody on "The Raven," and "Silly Billy," took the audience by storm and he was repeatedly called back. The musical portion of the programme was admirably sustained by others of the company. The fair artist Miss Flora Drescher, has reached almost perfection on her instrument. The flute solo by Dewey Heywood was also very fine.—Topeka (Kan.) Capital.

At the Wayne opera house tomorrow night.

In the west part of this county lives a queer character, a Norwegian farmer. Five years ago, he says, he had a revelation, the Lord forbidding him to lie down to rest for five years; and since then he has not been known to take rest in any other than sitting position. The five years are now passed, but he says that in the meantime he once mistreated his horses, and the Lord then again revealed himself and added another two years to the five and during these the farmer must continue to sit up. A few months ago one of his daughters died when he went to the nearest town and rustled around for a dry goods box wherein to place the corpse. Being informed as to the circumstances the town people forced him to take out a coffin which, however, he refused to pay for.—Wanna Gazette.

Some of the more advanced physiologists now claim that the back lobes of the brain are the seat of the highest intellectual faculties, a theory which is in direct opposition to that of the phrenologists and to popular opinion as well, the latter being of the high forehead and of superior interior intelligence. To the large hind head has been attributed an unusual degree of animalism. Dr. C. Blapham, an anthropologist of high repute throughout Europe, has given arguments in favor of the posterior lobes in a recent issue of the paper which shows that man, of all creatures, has the most highly developed posterior lobes and that the ablest men and races have them in the highest perfection.

The Metropolitan railway of Paris is about to begin the construction of thirty-three and one-half miles of underground electric roads, consisting of two lines east and west and two lines north and south, with a circular line through several of the principal boulevards. It is expected that the part of the work will be completed before the exposition of 1900. Seven-tenths of the work will be underground and the remainder about equally divided between viaducts and open trenches. The grades reach 4 per cent, and some of the curves have a radius of 275 feet. It is expected to complete the first three lines by the year 1900 and the remainder five years later. The expense will be about $40,000,000.

About 1,000,000 feet of Maine birchwood will be sent to England and Scotland this year, the largest ever. The wood is cut in small logs in winter, sawed at mills near the forest in spring and piled up for seasoning until warm weather, about the middle of June. Then the bars are bundled and sent to Bangor by rail, where they are generally loaded into stevedores by the European market. It has been one of the most important industries in northern and eastern Maine, and its expected revival is welcomed by all classes, from woods laborers to sleeping merchants.

The Fush, a Spanish satirical journal printed in Madrid, has been indulging in a unique inquiry among its readers, who are asked to propound a meet punishment for Mr. Sagasta after his mismanagement of the year. Answers have been pouring in week after week. No. 52, premising that there is nothing so terrible as ingratitude, suggests that the premier should be sentenced to a table flanked by soldiers repatriated from Cuba. These should be armed with bayonets and instructed to prod him whenever he should show a sign of sleeping.

A curious marriage has taken place at Newcastle, Eng. For the third time a lady named Maling has been before the altar in the character of a bride, and there has been something remarkable in each of her three engagements. Her first husband was a Quaker, her second a Roman Catholic and her present is a Protestant. Her husband was twice her age. At 16 she married a gentleman at 32, at 30 she took one at 60 and now, at 42, she is united to a gentleman of 84.

Miss Ellen Burdett, a young American woman, is said to have purchased the Pompeian palace in the Curia Reine, Paris, built by Prince Jerome Bonaparte forty years ago with the intention of turning it into a restaurant during the Paris exposition, where American visitors may find American cooking. The decorations are to be preserved as much as possible and the waitresses, all of them pronounced brunettes, will be dressed in ancient Pompeian costume.

Wagner, Bulow and Liszt were students and lived together at Leipzig. The first named was unable to stand cold as well as his two friends and continually made demands on the slender joint purse for fuel money. On one occasion Bulow and Liszt refused to purchase wood as he demanded and left him alone for a time. When they returned they found him hard at work at his own table, nearly all the other furniture having been burned in the stove.

The duke of Veragua, who visited Chicago during the world's fair, and who was the recipient of much attention as a descendant of Christopher Columbus, is now a ruined nobleman, his annuity of $20,000 from the Cuban government having, of course, been cut off. Numerous speculative and business enterprises in which he was interested have also failed, and the duke is emphatically a busted grande.

General Ellwell S. Oris, while on an Indian campaign, once received this authentic letter, dated simply, "Yellowstone. I want to see you and we are doing traveling on this road? You scare the buffalo away. I want to hunt in this place. I want you to turn back from here. If you don't I will fight you again. I want you to leave what you have got here and turn back from here. I am your friend—Sitting Bull."

"Gang Warily" is the motto of the earl of Perth, oldest of British peers, and he has apparently followed it, being 92 years old. He is hereditary duke of Lennox, and is also Duc de Meillon and Comte de Lussan in France. High, however, in his honors, he has not a seat in the house of lords, his peerage being Scotch.

Flour is said to be scarce on the island of Guan. The inhabitants, it seems, will be obliged to get along with eggs, chickens, pigs, yams, sweet potatoes, corn, bananas, coconuts, bread, fruit, and such as penson, wild turkey, plover and vegetable relishes until the next ship comes in.

CLEVELAND STREET-CAR STRIKE

Few Cars Running—Violence of Strikers. Cleveland, O., June 14.—After a quiet Sunday, with no attempt made to run cars, the struggle between the street railway company and its employees was resumed this morning in a lively fashion. At noon cars were running at irregular intervals. The first car left the Lake View barns at 10 o'clock, guarded by deputies and manned by imported men. It was greeted with jeers and some missiles were thrown. A few hundred people awaited its arrival down town at the square. It was allowed to depart without any demonstration beyond hoots and jeers. When the second car came along it was stopped and the motorman induced to leave. He was given an ovation. A strong force of police finally charged the crowd on Euclid avenue. Thousands of cars were held up by this and innumerable wagons block the tracks. Trolley ropes were cut and cars otherwise delayed. Women took a prominent part in the rioting at the Nickel Plate crossing, hurling volleys of stones at the cars.

The state arbitration commission met at 11 o'clock and the company strikers were present, but the company's representatives failed to appear. The company has not announced that it will reject arbitration, but it is given out unofficially that it will not be represented before the commission.

He said that his family desire his retirement for social reasons, and also that the governor wishes to show the members of the present republican legislature and others that are said to be obstructing the course of his taxation legislative measures at Lansing that the republican party in Michigan and Wayne county cannot carry an election without the prestige of the Pingree name and his personal influence.

"This afternoon, in conversation about the next election, he said: 'Well, I shall not be a candidate for office, you can bet on that.'"

BY DAD.

The editor of an Iowa exchange attended a society wedding, and he must be an auctioneer or a postmaster and independently rich, for he thus reports it: "Miss Nellie McCormack of Pringham played the wedding march and did it well, because she is our lovely niece, but we'd rather have heard the soul-stirring pig's grunt at the potatoe hole." Of the ladies present, he says, "Some were dressed clean up to and including the neck and some were not. Whether they feared to sweat their collars down, were short of material, or thought this manner of dressing attractive, we do not know. Dear ladies, let us take you into our confidence and tell you something which you are evidently ignorant of. When you expose bare shoulders and a large patch of your back you don't charm anyone. Raw skin drawn over bones is not attractive."

"The Lord was in the fight: he was with Jim and of course Jim won." That is what Rev. Jeffries stated to a newspaper correspondent when told that his son Jim had whipped the champion, Fitzsimmons. And the public is quick to deride the reverend gentleman for his sacrilegious utterance; but it isn't so very naughty of him. Jim was his own flesh and blood, and though pugilism was not of the old man's liking he was "all wrapped up" in his son. Jeffries' sin was not half as bad as the doings of some other preachers I have known, and the "chickens are coming home to roost."

The other day, while in Sioux City, I saw on the street a man whom I had gone to school with down there twenty-five years ago, when we were both reading McGuffey's. At that time his folks were wealthy and belonged to the bon ton of the town. Turning to another party I inquired what the young man, who was luxuriously clothed, was doing now and received the reply that he was a vagrant; and then my informant ran over the names of half a dozen families, the most prominent during the '70s and '80s, whose male progeny are now vagrants under the city's police regulations, and I thought, by dad, it's a good thing, after all old boys, that your folks were poor as skin-flint and that you put in all those cold, hungry, hard years on the old homestead, and are nothing now but a damp fool country editor.

Some of the DEMOCRAT's readers have been inquiring for another report from the "devil." Beat's what Peter has been doing the past two weeks.

Say, you town chaps who are hankering for an all summer's visit among the rustic ruralities, don't do it. I've been there and know whereof I speak. It's real funny for about 24 hours, or until you call the hogs to feed about the third time. Then the poetic dream disappears and in its place comes rheumatic pains, stiff joints, an empty feeling under the hand of your overalls and a gummy sensation between your toes, while the pure country air is over-laden with big juicy scents that would make the Wayne stock yards want to move up on Main street. Town life is good enough for me, henceforth, and a half-hour's hoeing in a 6x8 foot garden the only reminder I need to bring me to a realization that I am well off.

The newspapers announce that parties are now endeavoring to buy up all the breweries in the country. Most of the Wayne sports are mighty well pleased if they can buy it by the glass, these days of cyclones and bonny-wedder.

A citizen suggests that the town authorities at once proceed to have a public cyclone cave dug on Main street. The suggestion is a good one, and the city might also sell concession, an amount to cover the cost. A pipe line from the cave to a good saloon, for instance, would be a boon to the protected public these rainy nights, and if we can't have something of that sort most of us will stay by the cellar that contains a case.

A month or more ago we were told by the administration that the poor Filipinos were heat in the dirt; they were anxious to give up the fight, what was left of them. But there must have been a screw loose in McKinley's admirable rigging for the Americans are now having losses than ever before, and there is no telling how many more of our boys will bite the dust before

President McKinley's appointees in the Philippines are secure from annoyance.

The operator of the machine, at the opera house Tuesday evening, had inserted the slide showing the college girls as they get out of bed in the morning, and how they were having a little battle with the pillows. The fight had proceeded to a delicate situation when he suddenly shut her off. Atty. Burdick had had his eyes glued on the performance, and as it proceeded to disappear he suddenly jumped and grabbed the operator by the arm in an endeavor to get just one extra peep by looking through the machine. There were some of "the boys" in the gallery also, and not even cigars would keep their fool mouths shut.

After a fellow, has visited the awfully extermination scenes at Herman he is loth to believe that there is any undue show of heroism in staying on earth when a cyclone is twisting its tail above ground. I'd rather crawl in a hole 400 times per year and be known as a gold-darned coward, than go through the excruciating, bone-racking ordeal of a taral screw-driving cyclone.

The saddest feature of the Fitzsimmons licking is in the fact that Gentleman Jim Corbett has another opportunity to show his meanness and dirty disposition.

Most any fool is capable of asking questions, but the editor of the Republican must not feel sad and discouraged if all of his queries remain unanswered. The DEMOCRAT will be quizzing him and another fine-haired duke, in a few weeks, about a little piece of work, that will for a time detract his attention from the county treasurer's fees.

CARROLL NEWS.

O. O. Whited is having his 20,000 bushels of corn at this place shelled. Thos. Sundahl is doing the work.
Commissioner Carroll was looking after county business at Wayne Thursday.
The German church was dedicated last Sunday; a large number of people were present and several excellent sermons were preached, several ministers from abroad being present. Their minister deserves much praise for the success he has made in getting such a good building erected and seems to have everything working in harmony.
Victor Staarm, the only son of Carl Staarm died last Sunday morning; Victor was aged 8 years and was an exceptionally bright boy and the pride of his parents. The funeral was held in the German church, Monday, the German preacher preaching the funeral services.
Rev. Jones and Mr. Acton will each commence the erection of dwellings soon. We predict for Carroll a population of 500 within a year.

Robert Gardner of Laurel is taking a vacation and is spending most of the time in Carroll.
Gust Bobberg returned from Chicago Wednesday. He was at Blair at the time the cyclone struck Herman and assisted in caring for the injured and says he never saw anything so horrible in his life and never wants to witness such an affair again.

Sent Warning and Was Hurt.

With last night's tornado in sight of Herman, Neb., Depot Agent George Coyle, of that place, coolly ticked off to Paul C. Winters in Sioux City an announcement of the town's approaching doom and a warning that the storm was coming this way. Even before the message was fairly finished the sound of the instrument died away as the wires went down before the force of the wind.

Mr. Winters was formerly agent at Herman. He is now operator for the Omaha road's stockyards office with his headquarters in a little shed about half a block west of Steuben street in the railroad yards. He is an old friend of Agent Coyle and heard his call at 6:30 last evening.

"Cyclone coming," clattered the instrument. "Will strike town. Look-out. Coming your way."

Then the ticking stopped. Mr. Winters made repeated efforts to obtain more news, but the wires were down and, try as he would, Tekamah was as far as he could reach. He waited at the office until late in the evening for more particulars. But none came. This morning's press reports mention Coyle among the injured in the storm.—Sioux City Tribune.

BACK ON OLD GROUND.

Chicago Record: Fighting in Luzon has gone back to the province of Cavite, south and southwest of Manila, in the territory made familiar to the public a little more than a year ago, when Aguinaldo's men were swarming around the Spanish force in that province. Paranaque and Las Pinas are small and unimportant towns on the narrow neck of land that lies between Laguna de Bay and Manila Bay. The Zapote river, mentioned in Mr. McCutcheon's dispatch to the Record yesterday, was the scene of the fiercest fight that took place between the Filipinos and the Spaniards, and perhaps the memories of the victory they then won may have led the natives to show unusual boldness in their attack upon Gen. Wheaton's men last Saturday.

The isthmus along which Gen. Lawton advanced toward Bacoor contains so much impenetrable morass that no one but a native can travel through it except on the road that follows the general course of the Manila bay shore. That any of our men succeeded in crossing from the lagoon to the bay coast is an evidence of their indomitable will and energy.

But the possession of this territory by our troops means nothing in the way of strategic advantage. It is the poorest part of Cavite province. The region that has supplied Aguinaldo with men, money and food lies to the southwest. Even if the town of Bacoor should be occupied, the loss to the Filipinos would be trifling. It is situated close to the water and can easily be made untenable by our gun boats.

But if our troops could go back to Imus and San Francisco de Malabon and Noyaleta, and hold these and other towns in the interior of Cavite province, the native cause would suffer seriously.

It appears from the Record's special cable dispatches, however, that it will be difficult, if not impossible, for Gen. Otis to spread his troops over such a wide area without risk of having small garrisons overpowered by a sudden concentration of natives. It was in this way that they defeated the Spaniards. Knowing all the bypaths through the tropical undergrowth and swamps, the Filipinos are able to gather in great force at a given point, while our men can move only over the well-beaten roads.

These are some of the considerations that call for an ample force in the Philippines if we intend to put down the resistance of the natives.
