A peculiar thing about these week-stand companies is that they always put on their poorest play the first night. VILLIERS 13169 (8081) COLMAR 24734 (43789)

Foaled March 28, 1889; imported in 1890; sire, Briard, 5317 (1630); dam, Rose, 5697. Villiers is a jet black; weights over a ton, and for many years stood at the head of the stud of Dunham, Fletcher & Coleman, the famous Illinois importers and breeders. As an individual he is without doubt one of the grandest horses that was ever in the United States; as a producer of the best there is in horse flesh he is easily at the top. He will make the season of 1901 at the barn of his owners in Wayne.

Is a deep iron gray, foaled April 4, 1890; imported by Dunham, Fletcher & Coleman in 1900; sire, Navarin, (42555), dam, Miel, 23002. Colmar is certainly a splendid type of the Percheron family, being only three years old yet weighing a ton. He is an animal with splendid action and abundance of life and good disposition. We believe that in Colmar we are offering to the breeders of this section of the state of Nebraska a horse they will appreciate and we have faith to believe that he will prove himself a noble sire.

WARDEN NEED NOT ACT AS EXECUTIONER

Nebraska Capital Punishment Law Gives Him Authority to Appoint a Hangman.

ALL EXECUTIONS AT THE 'PEN'

New Law Does Away With Public Hangings—Democratic Committee Meeting—Annual Convention of Stock Growers.

Lincoln, Neb., April 17.—The conviction of Dinmore and Rice for murder has caused many inquiries to be made at the state house relative to the law which provides for the execution of death penalties within the walls of the state penitentiary...

Contrary to general impression, the law does not require the warden himself to manipulate the gallows. It requires him to superintend the making of all arrangements for a hanging, but authorizes him to appoint some 'suitable and competent person' to act for him and under his direction as executioner.

Whenever the warden shall deem the presence of a military force necessary to execute the provisions of the act he is directed to communicate to the governor, who is authorized to call out so much of the military force as in his judgment may be necessary for the occasion.

SALES $75,000 ISN'T ENOUGH. Land Commissioner Talks of Appropriation for Penitentiary.

Lincoln, Neb., April 17.—Land Commissioner Follmer is authority for the statement that the appropriation of $75,000 made by the legislature for the reconstruction and refitting of the burned portion of the penitentiary will not nearly cover the expense to be incurred for that purpose.

The estimate of rebuilding alone, as made by a competent architect, said Mr. Follmer, is $100,000 for a fireproof structure, and will be increased by $100,000 in addition to this to cover the cost of the new cell house, which, at $312 each, will cost $55,000.

It might be of interest to note, while considering the probability of a big deficiency to be incurred by the state board as a result of the penitentiary reconstruction, that the legislature is always reliable and that it is possible, where the inclination exists, to do the work at a much lighter expense than their figures would indicate to be necessary.

On October 26, 1892, when Lorenz Crouse was governor and A. D. Benzler warden of the penitentiary, the large prison shop building, erected at a cost of $400,000, was destroyed by fire. As the next session of the legislature was not to convene for fourteen months, the then governor undertook the responsibility of rebuilding the burned building without waiting for an appropriation from the legislature.

The World-Herald takes a shot at the Omaha police by saying: "It is a wise scoundrel who knows how to work his game in safety. It was easier to kidnap a child and escape in safety than it was to earn an honest dollar by hauling clean ashes in Omaha."

The heaviest man in America, if not in the world, is Lee Trickey of Glenwood, Wis., who tips the beam at 560 pounds. A few years ago he weighed 710, but has fallen away to the former figure. Trickey follows the occupation of teamster for a living, having a 125-pound wife to support. He is a light eater.

Mrs. Carrie Nation now says, in regard to her management of Concord: "I have not made a success of managing my own state or town or in having officials elected who are competent to run the Kansas towns. Until I succeed in cleansing Kansas of her sin and wickedness, I do not feel like desiring to go into rum-soaked Nebraska." That means that Carrie will never be able to get in her work on Nebraska.

The Chicago Chronicle says: At the recent election the city of Concord, Neb., elected a full temperance ticket. Incredible as it may appear, all the candidates signed the following pledge before being nominated: "We pledge ourselves to use all honorable means to secure the services of Mrs. Carrie Nation as our sole adviser in our official duties and to adopt no ordinance or measures of importance relative to the town's government without receiving Mrs. Nation's approval." There is actually talk in the place that smoking on the streets is to be prohibited and that drunkenness shall be punished by ducking or whipping.

The Ohio women living in San Francisco have made reply to their sisters of the temperance persuasion at home who recently wrote to them asking that no wine be used at the banquet planned for Mrs. McKinley when she visits the Pacific coast in a few days. The reply was quite as sensible as the request was impertinent. It was a dignified setting forth of the fact that what the women of California ate or drank was in no way the business of the women of Ohio. It would seem after all these years that the advocates of temperance would learn the point of good breeding, beyond which suggestions of personal conduct are not to be tolerated.—Chicago Chronicle.

The annual spring cyclones are only waiting for Carrie Nation to get through smashing Kansas.

An editor newly married asks—What is the difference between a honeycomb, a honeymoon and a pretty girl? A honeycomb is a small cell, a honeymoon is a big sell and a pretty girl is a damsel.

An Iowa exchange positively refuses to publish obituary poetry at any price. It says: "Our reasons for this are that it is something that interests only the family of the subject of the verses, and that the lines that to you are sweetly sorrowful, are the objects of ridicule to many who read them and do not know or care of the depth of your grief. There cannot be too much respect shown for the dead and the publication of obituary poetry compels many people who would otherwise be respectful, to make light remarks about the memory of the dead."

The boxelder bugs, those red winged little fiends that insist upon flying into one's mouth or ear or crawling down his collar, or getting into any other of the most disagreeable places possible are again beginning to appear. During the winter they hid under the bark of the trees and in the cracks of buildings steadily multiplying until this year they will probably be thicker than air particles. The pesky little things made their appearance two years ago and now they have multiplied until on a warm day they will almost cover a sidewalk or a tree trunk. If you never tasted one of them you won't escape doing so this season.

There is one town in Nebraska that has achieved the climax of dampboohishness. That town is Concord, though we never before heard of it. At the election Tuesday there was one ticket in the field standing on the platform that the policy of the town should be dictated by Carrie Nation and that nothing affecting its moral status should be done without her approval. Unreasonable as it may appear that ticket was elected by an almost unanimous vote, and its up to Carrie now. How so many virulent cranks came to be congregated in a town by the name of Concord, the Lord only knows, but having so congregated it seems meet and proper that they should be governed by the queen of cranks. This freak lifts the town out of the obscurity which has enveloped it; but there are some things worse than obscurity.—Fremont Tribune.

The editor of the Central City Democrat was taking desperate chances for an editor when he wrote:

"From sudden death Good Lord deliver us," so fervently pray thousands of devout worshippers every Sunday. But why? Why should one prefer a lingering death of pain and sickness before the final exit. Why not prefer leaving this world at its best, to step promptly into the glories of the next. Why should one prefer to accumulate a long experience of suffering with its consequent peevishness and bad temper rather than to spread his wings as does the butterfly going at once from a state of health to one of perfect happiness. I don't believe that prayer is well considered. I don't believe I'll ever use it. Rather will I pray "Good Lord, when my time of work on earth is ended grant my departure with the least possible delay."

GALLANT CONDUCT.

Ithica Democrat: Aguinaldo is captured.

The president sends congratulations for "gallant conduct" to Funston.

And the next day we read Funston's own story of the capture.

The first step was forgery, the last murder, all between was falsehood and deceit. But war transmutes these crimes into "gallant conduct."

Lacuna, the name of an insurgent general, is signed to a letter which goes to Aguinaldo telling him that pursuant to orders reinforcements are to be sent to him.

Seventy-eight Macabebes and four ex-insurgent officers are hired to do what Benedict Arnold did, and they are more successful.

Twenty wear insurgent uniforms, the others the dress of Filipino laborers.

In the jungle, on the march to the insurgents' camp, food gives out.

Starvation threatens. A messenger is sent ahead telling Aguinaldo that reinforcements are coming, that help is needed, and that American prisoners have been taken. He sends supplies and with the supplies this message, "Treat the prisoners kindly."

Such were the words that Funston reports from the man whom we have been describing as a "cruel, corrupt, treacherous, hybrid rascal."

After refreshing themselves with the food sent from Aguinaldo's camp the company press forward and finally reach Palanan.

Aguinaldo's household troops, fifty men in neat uniforms of blue and white and wearing straw hats, are lined up to receive the new comers.

But, we are told, Aguinaldo's aide seemed to be watching the company suspiciously. Suddenly the order is given. "Now Macabebes, go for them."

The hiring traitors fire, they fill with lead the breasts of the men who a few hours ago had sent them succor in the wilderness.

With a "hail master!" they have betrayed their former chief into the hands of his enemies.

Were ever men hired to do a more infamous act? And yet was not this hiring an important part of Funston's "gallant conduct?"

But Aguinaldo was not slain and "Fighting Bob" Evans is not satisfied. He criticises, "I would not have caught him alive," he says "it sounds rather brutal but the easiest way to have taken Aguinaldo would have been to have taken him dead."

Did somebody say that war was hell?

Over $700,000.00 is the present estimate of the army steal in Manila.

Indiana's new governor, Durbin, will undoubtedly surrender Kentucky's fugitive from justice, W. S. Taylor, and that the latter will have to take his medicine like the other assassins.

Admiral Sampson has just received another bunch of prize money. It was for services rendered during the bombardment of Matanzas. The Matanzas bombardment netted one dead mule.

Friday night three special trains carried 500 soldiers from Chicago to Omaha over the Illinois Central. They are on their way to the Philippines. What's the rip now? We supposed the cruel war was over.

GLUTTONY

Is more common than we may think, if we define gluttony as eating beyond the body's need of sustenance and beyond the stomach's capacity for digestion and assimilation of food. That is a fair definition, and it fastens the name glutton on many a person, who would resent the term as an insult. The fact of this gluttony is marked by its consequences. The overloaded stomach becomes diseased. The popular term for the condition is "weak" stomach. The "weak" stomach fails in furnishing adequate nutrition for the body, and soon the "weakness" spreads from the stomach to other organs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the perfect assimilation of food, by which alone the health and strength of the body is maintained.

"Your medicine helped me so much that I cannot praise it too highly," writes Mrs. C. L. Brooks of Poland, Androscoquin Co., Me. "The first evening I took it; I was suffering everything with indigestion, and my stomach was so bloated that it seemed as though it must burst. My husband said he was going for the doctor, but I said if he would get me a bottle of the Golden Medical Discovery I would try that. I had not taken it long when I felt relieved, and have not had a touch of indigestion or stomach trouble since. I had been sick for four years, and less than four bottles cured me. Some people that knew me before I began to take the Golden Medical Discovery tell me that they never saw such a change in any one, and they also say they don't see how I can do such large washings as I do now, when I had not done a washing for so long."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure biliousness.

CONGRESSMAN BOTKIN

The Well-Known Kansas Statesman, Cured of Catarrh of the Stomach by Pe-ru-na,

AFTER TWENTY-FIVE YEARS' SUFFERING

More Evidence of Interest to the Millions of Catarrh Sufferers in the United States.

HON. J. D. BOTKIN, CONGRESSMAN-AT-LARGE FROM KANSAS.

In a recent letter to Dr. Hartman, Congressman Botkin, of Winfield, Kan., whose fame is a national one, says of Peruna:

My Dear Doctor:—It gives me pleasure to certify to the excellent curative qualities of your medicines—Peruna and Manalini. I have been afflicted more or less for a quarter of a century with catarrh of the stomach and constipation. A residence in Washington has increased these troubles. A few bottles of your medicine have given me almost complete relief, and I am sure that a continuation of them will effect a permanent cure. Peruna is surely a wonderful remedy for catarrh affections. —J. D. Botkin, Congressman-at-Large.

CONGRESSMAN BOTKIN is one of the most influential and best known men in the State of Kansas. Whatever he says on any subject will be accepted by the people as the truth. So famous a remedy as Peruna could not have well escaped the attention of so famous a man. He not only has heard of the remedy, but he has used it and is standing of an affliction of nearly five years standing. Peruna is the one internal remedy that cures chronic catarrh. It cures catarrh wherever located. This is a fact that the people are rapidly finding out, but there still a large multitude who need to know it.

Mr. Frank Richter, of Winona, Minn., says in a letter to the Peruna Medicine Company: "As a remedy for catarrh I take pleasure in recommending Peruna for catarrh of the stomach. I know what it is, and I am afflicted with this awful disease and consider it my duty to say a word in behalf of the remedy which gave me such relief. Peruna cured me, and I know it will cure any one else who suffers from this disease. It gives me great pleasure to testify to the curative effects of this medicine. Peruna is well tested and frequently used, and for catarrh of the stomach it is unsurpassed."

"My catarrh was principally located in my head and stomach. I tried many remedies without success. I tried several doctors, but they were unable to cure me. I read of Peruna in the papers and five bottles cured me."—Frank Richter.

The gastric juice is secreted by the mucous follicles of the stomach. When this juice is normal it digests (dissolves) the food without producing any disturbance whatever. If, however, the gastric juice is not normal, digestion causes many disagreeable symptoms. This condition is known as indigestion. Peruna will cure this.

Mrs. Selma Tanner, Athens, O., writes: "I cannot find words to express my thanks for your kind advice. I never once thought I had catarrh of the stomach. I commenced taking Peruna as you directed. My stomach continued to hurt me for about two weeks after I began the medicine, and then it stopped. I now have a good appetite while before I was nearly starved."—Mrs. S. E. Linn.

Mr. L. O. Marble, of Geneva, Neb., writes: "I do not believe that my catarrh is entirely cured. I have not any trouble with my stomach for a long time. I am as well as one of my age could expect (seventy years). I have had a doctor for it for years and got very little better, but thanks to you and your Peruna and Manalini I believe I am well of it. I can eat anything now and it does not hurt me, and Peruna is the only thing I have ever found that will cure the catarrh. I believe it is the only cure for catarrh, and hope every one troubled with catarrh will try Peruna cured."—L. O. Marble.

If you do not desire prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address: Dr. Hartman, president of the Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

A Stand-Off.

Boston Transcript:—Misses—I am sorry to say that your former employers do not speak of you in the highest terms.

Applicant—Perhaps not; but then, you know, the girls who have lived here don't have much to say in your favor. So it seems to be about a stand-off between us. I take as much risk as you do.

Illustrating His Subject.

Cleveland Plaindealer:—"No, you can't see Mr. Blankblank this week during office hours."

"Yes, he's a public official, isn't he?"

"Yes, and he's engaged in the public services."

"May I ask what he's doing?"

He's writing a magazine article on "How Can We Improve the Officeholder's Neglectful Treatment of the Public."

Smalltalk in Their Professions.

Indianapolis Press:—"Were you ever taken for a minister?" asked the sourette.

"No," said the leading man with the spiritual face, "but I have been treated like one."

"Why?"

"I have sometimes been compelled to wait six or seven months for my salary."

Certainly Not.

Chicago Tribune:—"Mr. Meeker, are you carrying any life insurance?"

"Certainly not. Mrs. Meeker carries the life insurance. I merely look after the payment of the premiums."

Wanted to Be Sure.

Indianapolis Sun:—"Marie," said the merchant to his stenographer, "come up and call on my wife tomorrow night."

"Yes, Mr. Mudge," hesitatingly answered Marie, "but are you sure she will be out of town?"

MARTHA-MOTHER.

BY MARY MARSHALL PARKS.

Although she made no complaint, her heart was slowly breaking, for she had lost her husband's affections. All the thought, all the care, all the tenderness which should have been hers he lavished on a black hole in the ground which he called the Emily K.

Not that mine operating was his occupation. He was only a very excellent and well paid bookkeeper for Smith & Smith, dealers in mining supplies, but his capital enough for a salary that was not needed by his family for the bare necessities was absorbed by the Emily K. or some other queer and insatiable creature.

"James," his wife said to him one night, "I wish Louise could begin her music now. The teacher that boards across the street says she has wonderful talent and she'll give her lessons for half price and let her practice over there."

"Half price!" said the man sharply. "I can pay the professor as much as I make a big strike. We'll be cutting the finest kind of shingles. See here!" and he drew from his pocket a handful of gold pieces.

"Louise shall have her lessons. She shall go to Boston to study. Just wait a little."

A week later he came home with a haggard face.

"Drowned out!" he said huskily. "The water has beat us in spite of all we could do. Curse the luck! If we only had capital enough for a steam pump. We were nearly there."

"But you might not have struck it, anyway, James."

"Couldn't," he helped it. Martha, he replied impatiently. "Haven't I told ye the mining experts all say the rich vein they're workin' in the Wild Goose runs straight into our lot?"

He walked the street in a dazed, irregular stride and there was a feverish glare in his eyes.

"We'll have to go back to the Little Letty," he said at last, with a sigh that was half a sob. "It ain't near as good a prospect. Some fellows were talking today about a new prospect down on the tract where the Republic Zinc company made their big strike. I must go back down and see 'em about it. I don't want any supper."

As he left the house a tall, handsome girl came into the room.

"Did you ask pa about my new dress?" she inquired anxiously.

"I just couldn't, honey," said the mother deprecatingly. "He's all worked up over the Emily K. and the water has got in and he's talkin' about a new prospect."

The girl's face paled with disappointment. "I won't go to the party," she said passionately. "It's the first time Harry ever asked me, but I won't go with him in that old, faded dress. The girls at school all laugh at it, and he's so particular and the water's so shabby I'm ashamed to ask him here. I hate the Emily K. and all the rest of 'em."

"You can't hate 'em any worse than I do, but I can't get anything. 'Taint like your pa was ugly about it. He never refuses a thing—jest says wait a little. I'm as well as one of my age ever should strike it. He's spent his money like water. I hate to see you children going without things, but the change of all to me is the way it's changed your pa. He's had a hard time as he was before he got this mining fever—the best—the kindest—"

"Oh, mother, don't cry," wailed the girl, "let me go to the party for you; but, oh, what shall we do? What shall we do?"

Many times during the sorrowful years that followed did the heart-sick woman echo her daughter's despairing words. Day by day she saw her husband grow more infatuated, more indifferent to her welfare, more oblivious to every care that pressed not in some way connected with mining.

The boys ran away from home to escape the pinching and dreariness and all care and grief for the same reason married hastily and unthinkingly. At last she was left alone, utterly alone, for her husband had no thought of anything but the shifting will of the wisp that he had chosen for so many years. When disaster overtook his children he seemed more startled than grieved and the shock he might have felt when a telegram announced his eldest daughter's mortal illness was neutralized by his frantic anxiety over water in the Bessie B.

The woman was sitting one evening in the dark, her head on her hand, when she remembered her daughters had hated so when her husband stumbled on the steps. For one moment she thought he was intoxicated, and so he was—but not with wine.

"Mother!" he cried with a hysterical sob. "We've struck it at last—struck it rich! I've got the vein of solid gold—same one 'at runs up the hill. Big Four. We'd 'd tell you, Martha. I told you you'd a rich woman, mother. Rich as a queen. You can have her jewels now, and Teddy."

He stopped with a jerk. His jaw dropped and his hand went unsteadily to his head. The light that had been blinding him for years had suddenly gone out.

"Teddy!" he faltered again, swaying until he felt the support of the wall behind him.

Teddy was the boy who had been shot by the Indians. And Louise—Louise was lying under the sod in far away Dakota with her day-old baby in her arms. She died calling for the mother who could not come to her because it had taken a month's salary in advance to fight the water in the Bessie B.

The old man looked at his wife with scared eyes, but there was no response to his appeal. The fire of love had gone out long before for the lack of fuel, and after the first glare of amazement at his wild speech she had ceased to look at him or heed him. Her aching heart had long before been beside a grave that she had never seen, and the desolate man tottered out on the little porch. It was a quiet street, but the horse head, by a queer twist, had been placed on the porch. The man turned and looked at it with a thrill of awe. "I mean to do right by ye, mother."

"Never mind, Jamie, lad. Never mind, honey. I knew it all the time," she sobbed happily. For out of the wreck of her ruined life sweetest, husband and child had come back to her empty arms.

Machinery and Transportation

Splendid Exhibits to Be Seen at the Pan-American Exposition

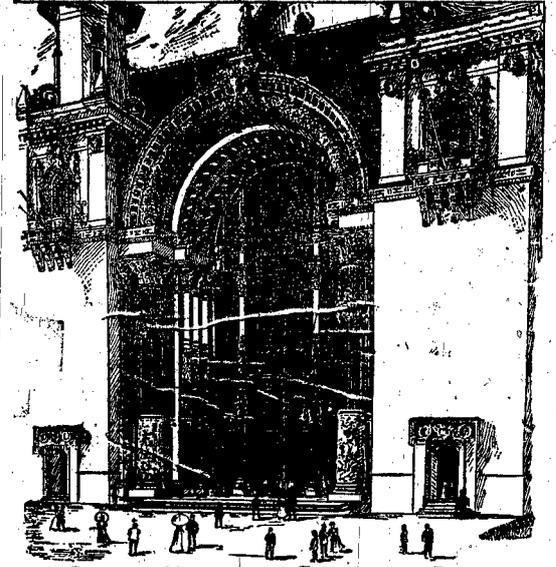

THE machinery and transportation features of the Pan-American exposition promise to be of superior interest. The inventive Yankee has for a hundred years been particularly active in producing machinery. Every year adds new laurels to his well decorated brow, and he can but marvel at his own progress. In recent years he has been particularly active in producing automatic machinery. It is said that with the first steam engines it was necessary to have a boy work the eccentrics. One day a particularly bright boy who preferred play to work threw himself out of a job by fixing the eccentrics to work automatically. American inventive genius has been building more and more of the latest patterns of the class of machinery in question. Roadmaking is a subject of universal interest and importance, and how to construct good roads at a reasonable expense is puzzling many minds. The hope is in machinery of the right kind. The most improved order will be exhibited here.

The evolution of devices for developing power will be illustrated with a completeness never before attempted. The newest types of steam and gas engines will be shown, together with their accessories.

Factory machinery is constantly undergoing improvement and brand new inventions are every little while given to the world. Some are so wonderful in their mechanism as to seem almost human. This feature of the machinery exhibit will be abounding in interest for all visitors.

The transportation exhibit will be no less interesting. The world was never before on wheels to the extent that it is to-day. With our own country gridironed with railways and every other country destined to be likewise marked with the steel tracks of ambitious commerce, the transportation exhibits will attract the visitors as those of no other exposition ever did.

ENTRANCE MACHINERY AND TRANSPORTATION BUILDING, PAN-AMERICAN EXPOSITION.

A class of machines that will feed themselves and perform their intricate work without other attention than starting and stopping.

The machinery exhibits will include the most modern agricultural machinery and appliances. There has been remarkable progress in this one direction during recent years, and the saving of time and expense by the new machinery produced must be recognized and taken advantage of by wideawake agriculturists. At this exposition will be assembled all

Devoted to Acetylene Gas

The Building in Which This New Wonder Will Be Displayed at the Pan-American

ACETYLENE has found a wide field of usefulness. The bright white light of the new gas illuminates the streets and buildings of many towns and villages. Its use in isolated dwellings and factories is extensive and constantly increasing. It is preferred in many instances in cities for lighting public buildings and dwellings. At Niagara Falls there is the largest calcium carbide plant in the world, that of the Union Carbide company. It is from this calcium carbide that acetylene gas is generated.

mounted by groups of statuary. The various roofs of the building are hip roofs; the main roof being terminated by a cresting with large letters forming the word "Acetylene." The letters and ornaments of the panel add much to the attractiveness of the building.

On either side of the two main entrances are large ornamental pedestals and vases.

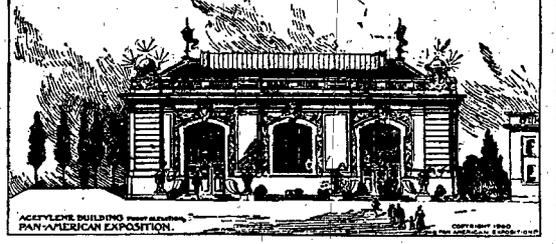

The interior of the building consists of one large open floor space and a small, dark room.

The windows are divided by transoms and mullions and portions of the sash are pivoted or hinged to open for ventilation.

Both the exterior and the interior of the building will be brilliantly illuminated by means of acetylene gas piped to numerous jets.

The exterior will be covered with staff and artistically colored to conform to the other exposition buildings in appearance. Beautiful translucent effects will be produced as a part of the lighting scheme.

The elegant Ohio State building is to be illuminated with acetylene gas. It will have a total of 650 jets, of which number 150 will be within the structure, and the balance will serve to set forth the exterior attractiveness of the edifice, with its splendid architecture, rich colorings and magnificent statuary, after Old Sol has sunk in the western horizon.

There will be a very complete acetylene exhibit at the Pan-American exposition. A special building of splendid proportions and design has been erected for this purpose. It is situated on the southwest corner at the crossing of the Mall and the Midway, and directly across the grand canal, to the west, from the Machinery and Transportation building. It is an L-shaped structure, the main part being 41 1/2 by 101 feet, and the wing 59 1/2 by 65 feet. Its height is 40 feet.

The north or entrance front faces the Mall. The walls are pierced by broad windows, above a high base, the arches of all openings being segmental in form. The fall is crowned with a decorated frieze and cornice, surmounted by an ornamental balustrade. The corner pedestals of the main cornice balustrade are sur-

SEEK WAS PUZZLED.

Rich English Baroness Passed on With Mysterious Word.

St. Louis, Mo., April 15.—The Baroness Burdett-Coutts was once shopping in Paris, and whenever she went from one department to another she was escorted by a clerk, who handed her over to another attendant, saying: "Two ten." Struck by the peculiarity of the oft-repeated cabalistic words, the baroness asked the proprietor as she left the establishment:

"My boy, what does 'two ten' mean?" "I noticed that each clerk repeated it to the other?"

"Oh, it is nothing," replied the man. "It is just a password they are in the habit of exchanging." But the baroness was not satisfied. When the porter, a mere lad, brought home her purchases, she said to him:

"My boy, would you like to earn 5 francs?" Of course he would be charmed.

"Then tell me what 'two ten' means, and I will give you 5 francs. The man looked at her in astonishment. "Don't you know, madam? Why, it means 'keep your eye on her ten fingers!'"

That solved the mystery. The richest and most generous woman in England had been taken for a shoplifter.

When a man tries to use a party line telephone he first yells "Hello." Then when he hangs up the receiver he reverses the syllables.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER.

The Wife and Mother-in-Law of Mr. Charles Keys.

Clarissa, Minn., April 15.—(Special.)—No family in this vicinity is better known or more universally respected, than Mr. Charles Keys, the local school teacher, and his estimable wife, and mother-in-law. For a long time Mrs. Keys has been in ill health. Recently, however, she has found a cure for her ailments in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I cannot speak too highly of Dodd's Kidney Pills, or of what they have done for me," said Mrs. Keys.

"My life was miserable, my back always ached, also my head. I was troubled with Neuralgia in the head and face, and suffered extreme pain, but thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills, all those aches and pains have vanished like the morning dew, and it now seems that life is worth living," considers Dodd's Kidney Pills a God-send to suffering humanity. They may rightly be named the Blixir of Youth.

"While speaking of my own case and the wonderful benefit I have received; I might also add that my mother, who is now an old lady of 74 years and who lives with me, has been troubled more or less with aches and pains, as is natural with one of her advanced age. When she saw what Dodd's Kidney Pills had done for me she commenced to use them herself, and she says that they have done her more good than any other medicine she has ever tried."

"This testimony is given in the hope that others who may be afflicted as we were may see and read it, and be benefited by it."

What Mrs. Keys states in her letter can be verified by reference to any of her many friends in this neighborhood. Dodd's Kidney Pills have already a wonderful reputation in Todd County. Nothing has ever cured Bright's Disease, Diabetes or Dropsy but Dodd's Kidney Pills.

A Reassurance.

"No," answered the bard. "I'm glad to have such convincing proof that somebody has read them."

BY DAD.

A couple of old timers were heard rebuking ancient Wayne history, the other day. Said one, "The only reason I have for believing there is a hell is because some such place should be provided for those Presbyterians who hired an old man to peddle the news about town that Rev. Baker was a drinking man." "Oh, I don't know about that," answered the other. "Where, then, would you send the soul of a church man who would steal a poor milkman's watch?"

The Methodists are going to get a little nearer Heaven than the Presbyterians. The spire on the new M. E. church will be the tallest in the city.

Last Monday when I told Jas. Britton the Presbyterians had gone to advertising to get a crowd out to their revival meetings he simply asked, "When are they going to hold them?" "All next week," I replied. "Good," answered James, "they tried to run up against one of my show weeks before and the Lord burned them out; I didn't think they would try it again."

Sam Davies says he is even with John Kate, now. Last fall, when the campaign waxed hot, Sam stopped John on the street, wishing to speak to him. "Oh, go on with you!" said Kate, "I've no time to talk to people who are half deaf!" Kate evidently had forgotten the incident for yesterday he hurriedly stopped Sam on some business deal and the latter shouted out: "Oh, go on! I don't mind talking to people who can't hear good but I don't get time to talk to men who can't hear at all!"

An exchange says the following letter, written by a woman in Kansas, has been received by the Philadelphia police department: "Chief Police, will you see the woman whose name is in the enclosed advertisement, I will settle with her for $500. She has a medicine which she says will remove hair from the face. I sent her one dollar and got a bottle of the medicine. I had some fuz on my face. I used the medicine and it burned my face and now I have got a heavy beard the doctors say I will have whiskers now all my life. If she will give $500 I will let it and say nothing against the woman."

You have all heard the stories about the black cat, the black man, the boar black pig or the black plague, but here's a new one, entitled the black skirt. It was left at this office as "paid matter," but it contains such a world of hidden meaning that is visible that we print it "free gratis." The person who took the black skirt from the line Saturday evening, April 13, will save herself some trouble by returning the skirt at once. You are known.

She wasn't a very bad girl, it appears, but she wanted a black skirt. This one, it would seem, hung on the backyards line. It was so easy to step into the yard, just as the shades of night were falling, and jerk off the skirt, roll it up and carry it home, never thinking that the owner was looking on all the time and too completely shocked to even remonstrate against the stealing of her black skirt. Yes, "you are known," old girl, and you just better fetch that black skirt home to-onct.

A most laughable incident occurred in Mines jewelry store yesterday. John Kate and A. J. Ferguson got into an altercation over the dots in the Omaha Bee. It seems some one had told Mr. Kate that Mr. Ferguson was very hard of hearing, and in telling how he could win the prize 2 Johns fairly thundered out his words. Seeing Mr. F. didn't appear to catch on very well John put his mouth to the colonel's ear and yelled. With a very white face the colonel rushed up to Mr. Mines and nervously said, "Say that man is crazy, aint he?"

And now, by dad, it's Editor Cunningham's turn to take a fall into district court. Eph was so damned happy with his slug-headed write-up of my troubles in court that I can't refrain from saying that between libeling Frank Northrop and trying to escape just obligation will be an easy matter for public opinion to decide betwixt and between.

At the trial of "Hooky" Johnson, the kidnaper, in Pierre, he drew a fine of $50 and 60 days in jail; Johnson won't play hooky with his son again.

A traveling man at the depot, last night, was giving Norfolk the right of way. He said it was nothing but a tin-horn town of the poorest calibre.

Rev. Montgomery, at the Presbyterian meeting held at Hartington, was elected a Nebraska delegate to the Biyearly National Assembly to be held at Philadelphia about May 25.

A member of the firm of Marshall Bros., of Arlington, was in town Monday superintending the delivery of a mammoth stock of nursery and fruit trees sent out by that firm. The Arlington nursery is doing the business for the tree and fruit growers of this county. They sell the best of stock and do a square business and are meeting with the success they deserve. It is a home institution selling stock adapted to the soil and climate of the state. When you want forest trees, fruit trees or vines drop Marshall Bros. a card for catalogues. You can depend upon getting honest and reasonable treatment.

Everyone will deeply sympathize with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Goll in the overwhelming affliction they have gone through the past week. Their little 3-year-old daughter, Elsie, fell into a bonfire last Saturday afternoon and died Sunday at 2 p. m. from the burns received. Mrs. Goll was seriously burned about the hands in trying to save her little one. The tragedy is one that might frequently happen considering the reckless manner Wayne people have in allowing babies to play with bonfires, as is done all over the city. The funeral services were held Tuesday from the German Lutheran church.

The Republican appears to be very suspicious of the doings of its own party in this county. It's none of the DEMOCRAT'S bag of prunes, but in the light of last year's political events it ought to be pretty well understood among republicans that it is absolutely necessary to consult Ephriam upon all matters pertaining to the republican organization or the individual doings of its members. Editor E. Cunningham is the party boss, that fact was clearly demonstrated at your last county convention. The Herald and John T. Bressler cut no more figure than a flea in a Kansas cyclone. The Republican's note of warning to make no "deals" without its approval should be explicitly obeyed by all the small suckers in Hanna's local pond.

Do the people of Wayne ever notice the miserable accommodations given this town by the railroad company? Just gaze upon that out house stuck right in front of the front door to the ladies' waiting room, and if you have occasion to examine it you'll wonder what the company keeps it there for unless it is expected that the ladies and children can hide somewhere behind it. It is always locked up, and if there are passengers so unfortunate as to become aware of this fact, they will run over to it, try its two or three doors, take a look in the coal house and then walk mournfully back to the platform, being all the time under the gaze of a miscellaneous lot of people who would necessarily have to "look" for wild geese not to notice the indecency of the situation. If the C. St. P. M. & O. has any regard whatever for the demands of the occasion it will have this old closet jerked out of its unseemly location and decent accommodations provided for its patrons.

Are Well Liked.

G. Harrison, a horse trainer of Whiting, was here Tuesday and rented the V. Smith property on 5th street and will move his family here next week. This is the first fruits of the organization of a jockey club in Mapleton. He will bring a nice string of horses with him to train on the Mapleton track.—Mapleton Press.

We are only too sorry to state that the above item is true. Mr. Harrison could not secure sufficient horses to work on the local track and special inducements were made to secure him at Mapleton where he has been promised quite a number. Mr. Harrison is a gentleman as well as a good horseman and his family is held in high esteem and while the people of Whiting very much regret that their departure is necessary Mr. Harrison states that he is very reluctant to depart, as they appreciate the friendliness of our people and would prefer to stay but it is a business proposition that impels him to make the change. Mr. Harrison will leave this week and his family will probably leave next week. Our loss is the gain of Mapleton and the best wishes of their friends will follow them.—Whiting Herald.

BRENNA AND PLUM CREEK.

A little rainstorm now and then will never hurt a fellow, providing he has, of course, a stylish umbrella. William Eschenbiermer from Altona, was at the county seat Saturday. Geo. Peters and wife spent Sunday with Henry Rath and family. M. E. Whitney marketed hogs Saturday. Fred Jensen from Altona was at the county seat Monday. John Johnson and C. W. Worth were on the market with hogs Monday.

Mrs. T. B. Hughes visited friends in Plum Creek Monday.

The Plum Creekers seemed to have the lucky number on the Hi Hi bitters and cigars last Saturday.

James Finn shipped his fat cattle last Saturday.

Oscar Berkheimer was on the market with hogs Tuesday.

Chas. Lund is having one of his houses moved on the place occupied by Thos. Snyder.

Mrs. Stubbs and daughter, Lulu were at the county seat Wednesday.

HOSKINS.

Harrison Grey of Sioux City was calling on Hoskins friends Monday.

Fred Shroeder Sr. will visit Germany in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Zeimer visited at Winside Sunday.

It looks as though Hoskins would have two saloons, a town of about 200 inhabitants and two saloons. Well, by Mark Hanna, wouldn't that set you thinking.

Milton Becklund is improving rapidly.

Charles Ohlund and Emmet Wilson are building an addition to the Lutheran parsonage.

The assessor is making his rounds. P. N. Peterson looks out for his spotted property.

Last week Libbie Baker visited over night with her husband at Wayne.

The Republican correspondent seems to worry a lot over Stanton county affairs, including the smallpox. Bega ought to turn it down as the town board here have the republican correspondent.

The new section hand, Mr. Applequist, has moved into the Maas residence.

Mrs. Ray Gleason was calling on Hoskins friends last week.

Gus Shroeder shipped hogs to Omaha Tuesday.

He kindly said he would see her home, she didn't say he shouldn't.

She made a home run and left Mr. —, and he couldn't catch her, no he couldn't.

Pete Kautz is at Stanton this week.

Mrs. Peterson goes to -Sioux City tomorrow and will visit her brother at Hubbard before returning.

Rev. Butler went home for a visit last week, the pulpit was to be filled by a Norfolk preacher but he failed to appear. The large congregation were almost repaid for the loss of a sermon by the beautiful music rendered by the choir, and it is only fair to say that Hoskins seldom gets to hear anything like it. The duets were of the same order, and everyone went home satisfied, scarcely regretting the sermon.

The Hoskins correspondent to the Winside Tribune seems to have gone into the poultry business rather heavy and the feathers seem to fly over something. If he then referred to had a head like the Tribune's correspondent it would have dropped off long ago. As for an ex saloon keeper stepping on a chick, he seems to be treading on one of another brood, just now. Here is success to the increase and hoping the poultry business may prove remunerative.

We understand that C. M. Craven has bought the photograph business here from Mr. Johnson.

This week seems to have been an unlucky one for Winside. Last Monday morning as J. H. Prescott was pulling a pin in the coupling of a freight car which was being set in near the elevator the bumpers caught his hand crushing his thumb so part of it had to be taken off. On Wednesday Herbert Lound was mixing chemicals for Dr. Muirhead when they exploded blowing a hole through the roof of the building and burning Heber on the face and hands. It was feared at first that his eyes were put out but later he was able to see and although his eyes were badly burned he will not lose his sight.

J. C. Mitchell and wife arrived Tuesday and took possession of the Carter stock of goods. Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell come to Winside highly recommended and will no doubt give satisfaction in their line of business.

Mrs. Dr. Muirhead was called to Troy, Iowa, Monday by a telegram announcing the death of her father. She returned Thursday accompanied by her mother who will stay for some time.

Court meets May 15th. Among other cases of public interest will be the LaCroix vs Leisenring matter which promises to be a decidedly prominent and fierce legal battle. The Cassell case also comes up again. County Attorney Welch who was counsel for Cassell in the previous trials, will be barred from taking part in this matter. Atty's Northrop and Wilbur will prosecute and Judge Barnes of Norfolk will defend. Then there is a civil suit or suits against Editor Cunningham, which of course, will tickle us newspaper men, seeing Eph is always so happy when the rest of us are in hot water. From what the DEMOCRAT can learn Bro. Cunningham left a lot of debts when he left the state of Iowa. These have been put into judgments and the holders are now going to see what they can do with that sort of a dead-beat. The amount involved is something like a thousand dollars.

The DEMOCRAT would be just as pleased as the Republican or Herald to state that there were now no cases of small pox at the College, and that the quarantine was about to be raised, but such are not the facts. There are still cases of small pox at the College, and, according to city physician Leisenring the quarantine will not be raised for a week and maybe not then as more cases may possibly develop. It has been discovered by this time that misrepresentation does not pay half as well as the truth in regard to the small pox cases.

South Omaha, Neb., Apr. 17, 1901. Receipts of cattle for the past week were moderate, up till yesterday when we had a big run over 4000 cattle and buyers took advantage of the break and-pounded prices some but on the whole they have been well maintained. Today we had another fairly liberal run, 3000 and prices are fully steady and in some cases stronger. It does not look as though cattle are going to sell any lower and we think the tendency is upward. There will be an occasional day like yesterday when they will sell off but the outlook is good. Butcher stock is selling higher in proportion than steers. Stockers and feeders are in light supply and the demand being light prices have not changed much.
