I notice an article which recently appeared in the Wayne papers, signed by E. R. Surber, an article which I think would cause a smile to pass over the countenance of anyone who is familiar with the facts and results of followers of old line companies in this and other states. He begins the article with a statement that it is absolutely impossible for him to prove in form.

We are not taking up the attack made upon fraternal orders by this apparently young man in business experience. We will pass that over, believing that the fraternal order people are capable and able to defend themselves in this matter. Suffice it to say that we are strong supporters of fraternal insurance, and for a man to put out an article of this kind in this day and age, when they have been so thoroughly tested, when the benefits derived from them have been such a wonderful blessing to the widows and orphans of our country, seems to me a most ridiculous proposition to present on his part.

can give that any stock insurance company with headquarters outside this state will not leave the state immediately after issuing you a policy, and thus leave you helpless, and at their mercy for one penny of returned premium or loss that may have been sustained, unless you go into the federal courts to recover same. Ask your young friend to explain to you what possible good the capital stock of an insurance company can do you to secure the payment of your loss and then ask yourself whether you desire to insure in a company when your only hope of realizing from their capital stock is when they break up or quit business, and then you can only get what is left after the receiver's pay is extracted. The greatest advantage of a capital stock company to you, if advantage it may be called, is to take your money for dividends to apply to the capital stock, and for nothing else and the larger the capital stock is, the larger the demand is upon you—as you well realize. Far better it would be for the assured to have this capital stock in a reserve fund, that can be called upon to pay losses. The taking of one dollar from their capital stock can have but one result. It would impair their stock and throw them into the hands of the receiver until it was replaced. So you see you cannot touch one penny of their capital stock to meet the payment of a single indebtedness of that company, without causing the death of the company.

When these questions can be satisfactorily answered to you then consent to consider stock insurance, but until then simply consider an article of that kind as coming from a young man who is inexperienced and has little knowledge of what he is talking. W. B. LYNCH, Secretary.

Sunday Observance

Norfolk is enjoying quite a row over the demands of a few "more holy than thou" fellows that there be no Sunday ball playing. A gentleman of that city writes the Daily News the following letter upon the subject which the DEMOCRAT believes is the correct interpretation of the "evil." The man of the world admires and respects a sincere churchman and he is an object for emulation to all people, but when he gives evidences of bigotry they are up in arms and their feelings are repulsed. A man who would stop a base ball game or a horse race on Sunday exhibits the same spirit as the worldly man who would destroy a church or otherwise disturb a religious meeting—a desire to force another to his way of thinking, and neither would have the sanction of a fair minded man. He does not grant the same liberty of action to his fellow man that he demands for himself. The demand to "remember the Sabbath day and keep it holy" is a command to christians but does not give them license to force such commands on others. It has the respect of many who do not pretend to observe it nor will they be made to observe it against their wishes. Then there are differences of opinion as to how the day may be kept holy. Because one person believes that the day should be spent in prayer and meditation and another in some other manner of observance is no cause why the one should force the other to observe it in his way. It would appear ridiculous for a Methodist to say to a Lutheran, you shall not hold your missionfest on Sunday—that is not keeping the day holy; and it would appear strange for an Episcopalian to say to a Methodist, you shall not hold your camp meeting on Sunday—"Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy." The person who considers Sunday as his day of rest should not be prevented from enjoying such rest and it would be peculiar indeed for the clerk or other person of sedentary occupation to be forced to believe that his rest means that he should keep to his home or a place of worship. When he has been in confinement during the entire week his mode of rest would assuredly be to get out in the air and sunshine and if he wishes amusement at the same time why should it be forbidden him because he does not believe exactly as you do? To force a strict Sunday observance is a relic of the blue laws, when everybody was compelled to attend church all day Sunday and forced to remain awake. It is not a true conception of liberty to bind a person to any certain sort of Sunday observance. Nor will they be bound. The average man of the world will be convinced by argument much more quickly than he will be driven.

INSURANCE

Relative to the article in the Wayne Republican signed by W. B. Lynch, will say that the statements and inferences contained therein coming as they do from the secretary of an insurance association, would make a horse laugh if he could read them. A smile would hardly express it. The article indicates that he does not know that the stock insurance companies he speaks of as falling and retiring from the state reinsured their risks in other substantial companies with the exception of the Omaha companies. The exception shows that the insurance laws controlling Nebraska companies are somewhat defective and companies organized under the present laws of the state are no better. To anyone acquainted with the laws of Nebraska, the calamity cry of "companies retiring from the state leaving the policy holders helpless" is ridiculous in the extreme. Every policy holder is sure of a return of his pro-rate premium or a guarantee of another first-class company. The inference that a capital stock cannot be touched to pay losses is equally ridiculous with the balance of the article. Moreover the writer evidently does not know that dividends of a stock company arise from the investment of the capital stock. In all legal companies there is always a legal reserve for contingencies, which means losses. Who ever realized $1 from the Mutual Hail Insurance company of Omaha except the promoters of the company? They were a blessed Mutual company and extracted $65,000 from the farmers of Nebraska. They were organized under Nebraska laws. Where do the policy holders of the old Farmers Union of Grand Island receive anything in return for their confidence in the Mutual? Who gives the policy holders of the thousands of failed Mutuals any further insurance on their old policies? Not my friend from Lincoln. Who would entrust his money to a bank which, when it wanted to re-pay a deposit or note, passed around the hat and kept its patrons waiting from 90 days to 6 months? My friend of Lincoln must think the farmers of Wayne county an ignorant class to submit such propositions to them and because we live in Northeast Nebraska and not in the vicinity of Lincoln we are mentally deficient. I am willing to admit that I am young, not yet having passed my 25th year, but that is far better than second childhood, which alone could have prompted such an article as appeared in the Wayne Republican. I am no apologist for fake insurance of any kind. There are three so-called "1873" companies, that if managed correctly, will endure the test of time. The others will follow the fate of their predecessors. When my friend of Lincoln can guarantee you a limit to your liability as to rate, and can relieve you of assessments except to a certain amount, then consider Mutual insurance. Other wise, consider his outburst of recent date as puerile sentiment and not as business. E. R. SURBER. Since writing the above I wish to submit the following: "The State Insurance company of Des Moines took care of its business in Nebraska after it ceased writing new business. Its policies were continued in force. A year after they withdrew from Nebraska they paid a loss to a resident of Wayne and paid it more promptly than nine-tenths of the Mutual losses are paid. They then paid back the unearned premium, and cancelled the policy. Some time later the company took up their policies and paid the policy holders their full unearned premium. Mr. C. W. Wagner of this county was one of said policy holders." The above is vouched for by a prominent citizen of Wayne. Mr. Lynch is entirely wrong in his estimate and inference as to the State of Des Moines and the Home fire of Omaha, since I myself adjusted and paid a loss for latter within three months. Knowing he is wrong relative to these, it is reasonable to suppose he is also, in regard to the others. E. R. SURBER.

Old Settlers' Association An Old Settlers' Association was organized in the city last Thursday that promises to be one of the important features hereafter in the affairs of Wayne county. A constitution was adopted and a temporary organization perfected which will be made permanent at the annual meeting which is fixed for the third Thursday in August of each year. The constitution provides that all persons locating in Wayne county prior to the first day of January 1880, are admitted as "Pioneers," and all subsequent to that date and residing in the county ten years or longer come in as "Old Settlers." Also that an annual picnic be held on the third Thursday in August of each year, at which time shall also be held the regular meetings of the association. Already the association has taken steps for the annual picnic this year which will be held on the 15th of August in the grove of Mr. Bressler one and a half miles northwest of Wayne which is now being fitted up for that purpose. We understand that this grove is being arranged permanently for the use of gatherings of this kind and no expense is to be spared to make it one of the most pleasant resorts of the kind in this locality. A cordial invitation is extended to everybody to attend these annual picnics and all persons eligible to membership in the association are requested to come and sign the constitution and attend the first annual meeting which will be held sometime during the day of the picnic. Associations of this kind have proven a great success in other counties of the state and there is no reason why Wayne should not keep pace with its neighbors and men who have built up this splendid county get together at least once a year and talk over early days. Don't forget that everybody is invited to the picnic where you will be entertained with a splendid program which will appear in full in next week's papers.

Market Reports. July 31, 1901. Receipts of cattle are coming some lighter and market for the week is from 25 to 30c higher on the best cattle. The rains have stopped a good deal of the light thin stock from coming and has thus hazned conditions materially. On the best beef cattle the trading is active at prices fully 35c to 40c higher than a week ago and everything is sold in good season. Cows and butcher stock not in very liberal supply and market has advanced along with beef steers. The business in the stocker and feeder division has livened up since the ram and on what receipts are coming, though light, market is unevenly higher on any decent class of cattle. Receipts of hogs have also lightened up and the quality coming is better than last week from the fact that all light thin hogs are pretty well held out of shipment and yards are not overloaded with that class. Today, with about 10,000 on sale, market opened 2 1/2c to 5c higher, closed slow and weak. Range $5.40 to $5.80, with bulk $5.57 to $5.60. The average of the market is still but a dimp lower than last Wednesday and 10c to 15c above Monday. Sheep receipts are liberal, market slow, 10 to 15c lower on sheep and about steady on lambs. Rev. McCluskey Declines.

Rev. McCluskey has written the Presbyterian church here that he will not become its pastor, but remain in the Missouri Presbytery. It appears that those members of the church who opposed Mr. McCluskey drew up the call extended to him, and instead of giving him a respectable invitation to come here and preach the gospel, sent him the minutes of the local meeting, showing the vote as divided between him and the other candidate. It seems some church people are just as mean in their religious work as in their week day avocations. W. C. Bonham came back from Pender last night. S. R. Theobald got home from the west last evening. E. F. Crane of Wakefield drew one of the good farms in Oklahoma. Mrs. T. B. Heckert and children have gone to Red Oak, Ia., on a visit. J. W. McGinty yesterday moved into the Kass cottage which he purchased. Mrs. F. L. Neely and L. P. Orth and wife left yesterday on the excursion to Denver. The town is full of telephone men. Two drayloads of wire came in yesterday for the new lines. Miss Goldie Brookings writes from Tekamah that she will take her vacation trip, at the Bee's expense, to Buffalo. Yesterday was one of the worse days yet experienced, a hot wind and over a hundred in the shade. The corn crop is now practically worthless. There may be a little corn but most of it will run to cobs. F. B. Wells, manager of the P. elevator company and a nephew of Frank Peavey, was here from Minneapolis yesterday looking over Marcus Kroger's doings, which he found very satisfactory. A Mr. Grant from Omaha was here yesterday to superintend the building of the city's water reservoir, work upon which is to commence at once. A new dynamo has been purchased and will be here September 1st, the old one having been sold to Omaha parties. Birch Clark, Wayne county's noted sleeper, is again startling the people north of town with his abnormal slumbers. Clark lives with his father on the Henry Bush place eleven miles north of town. A few years ago he was taken with sleeping spells of from 24 to 48 hours duration. The last week or two he has again got into these somnolent fits, having slept continually the past week. When awakened he rolls over and goes to sleep again. Mrs. Dan Underwood was an arrival from Oregon this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Underwood left Wayne ten years ago. They lived on the place now occupied by A. Wilker. Mr. Underwood died last January and his widow is now here looking after property interests. The old lady doesn't at all like Nebraska air, says she can't get enough of it for breathing purposes and that North-eastern Oregon is the greatest health giving country under the sun.

Childs has consented to stand for the nomination of county judge provided the democrats tender him the nomination unani mously. A. P. made one of the best police judges Wayne ever had. No prejudice, politics, friendship nor religion cut any figure with him in court. His court docket was a clean record and the DEMOCRAT doubts if there is even an attorney in the county who is much better posted on practical common sense law calculations than in Childs. He will give Judge Hunter the hottest race the judge ever had for the money and will win out by seven-teen lengths.

Wayne 4, Stanton 11.

Stanton Register: The ball game Friday afternoon between Wayne and the Stanton second nine was as pleasant a game as has been played on our ground this year. Wayne was out-classed from the start but everyone of the Wayneites did their level best all the time, the first three innings the score being 3 to 1 in favor of the College city boys. Then Adams of Stanton went into the box and after that Wayne only got one score. Stanton made 10 scores in the last six innings. It was a good game well worth seeing. The score was as follows: Wayne 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 Stanton 0 1 0 4 0 1 3 2 *11

W. S. GOLDIE, Editor and Publisher.
Subscription, $1.50 PER YEAR; IF PAID IN ADVANCE, $1.00.

Clyde T. Ecker, the Carrie Nation editor of Concord, was in town Saturday. Clyde is only a notch or two in the rear of Eli Perkins as a famous liar.

An Omaha elocutionist was giving a lesson to a class and reciting for their benefit "How Christmas Came," when she toppled over from the extreme heat.

Wonder how much of the Bartley swag the World-Herald got? It is the only democratic paper in the state that commends Gov. Savage for paroling the big thief.

An Emporia, Kan., clergyman says that "the present atmospheric conditions are a punishment of Almighty God for the coldness, lukewarmness and indifference of our people in religious matters." As the perspiration oozes from his polished and thoughtful brow just as it does from the more worldly hides of his flock we must draw the inference that he isn't a very hot number in religious matters himself.

Coal to carry an ocean liner across in five days costs $9,600. The new turbine engine, passing the steam around the fins spirally, will give a speed of four days, it is claimed, with oil fuel costing $4,000 and leaving much more room in the hull for freight leaving for passengers the best part of the ship now occupied by the coal-using machinery. A trans-Atlantic company has given an order for such a ship to be in service next year.

The Nebraska Independent says the difference between a fusion thief and a republican thief is somewhat remarkable. Norun, a fusion thief, stole $10,000 from Kearney county. Then he beat himself over the head with a sand-bag, made a restitution of $6,700, repented of his sins, asked the judge to call a special session of the court, plead guilty and was sent to the penitentiary within twenty-four hours. Bartley stole nearly a million, fought the case to the bitter end, tried to bribe the jurors, was paroled by a republican governor and as soon as he got out declared that he had not done anything of which he was ashamed. There seems to be just as much difference between a fusion thief and a republican thief as there is between an honest republican and an honest fusionist. Editor Cunningham should carefully scan the above. It is worthy of his special attention.

The News editor was always inclined to the belief that typical democrats and typical republicans, like poets, are born not bred. Witness the Bartley parole incident. The state republican press generally condemns and the state democratic press generally condones the governor's action. One sees immutable justice, the other justice tempered with mercy. Then it's good politics for the republicans to condemn.—Belden News.

An exchange says Aguinardo is said to be grumpy and whenever he signs his name he adds the word "prisoner." This is not as per advance notices: The people have been led to understand that Aggie simply doted on being a prisoner, that he liked to loll around and rattle his chains for amusement and that he yearned to have all his people with him. Should this copper-colored savage persist in his unseemly conduct he may compel the good William to call off the Taft civil government and restore militarism in the Philippines; in which case he will be clearly responsible for depriving his countrymen of their present blessings of liberty and independence.

Wants Him to be a Man.

The Wayne Republican editor is using some queer tactics at present in an attempt to prove that he is better than his party leaders and far purer than any of the opposing editors, but it doesn't take a Henry Clay head to see through his flimsy argument. He roasts Savage for turning Bartley loose and then roasts the fusion editors for not denouncing Poynter for pardoning a common murderer. Poynter doesn't enter into the case at all. The honor of the state was not tarnished in the least by Poynter's act. With Savage it was releasing a dangerous criminal that after his release boasted that he never did anything that he was ashamed of. The Republican editor with his "Holier than thou" expression tells of his honesty of purpose and then insinuates that the fusionists are worse yet than any republican editor. Be a man, Cunningham, and don't try to make it appear that you are better than your own party and too good to even associate with demo-pops.—Stan-ton Register.

No man or set of men has a right to assume the conduct of an enterprise of the magnitude of the steel trust unless possessing the ability to deal with a crisis of this sort in a rational and judicious manner. Five thousand troops were under arms for three months for the protection of Mr. Carnegie's works during the Homestead affair. The American people do not wish to provide an army of militia to run Mr. Morgan's steel trust this summer. They don't want a repetition of the Homestead business.—Boston Post.

Not many years ago the victim of consumption was urged in many cases by physicians to stimulate freely. Some cures were said to have resulted from the liberal use of whisky. Now alcoholism is recognized as one of the chief causes of increased mortality in consumption and declarations to that effect at the tuberculosis congress in Great Britain excite no controversy. The temptation to use stimulants in wasting diseases is very great, but it may be doubted if whisky ever permanently benefited any real sufferer from consumption.

The Hooper Sentinel says the Chicago American would show a much more commendable spirit of enterprise if it would "roast" the South Omaha street fair promoters for the bull fight fakes than to lambast the people for allowing an exhibition, in which it describes men as being tossed in the air by infuriated bulls and the animals being dispatched by the nimble footed Mexicans for the delectation of the governor of the state and his staff. In its reach for the sensational the American has worked over time. Everyone who attended the fair will be willing to testify that for a genuine, simon-pure, unadulterated fake the bull fights, advertised to take place, deserve first place in the procession.

The Grand Island Democrat says that anent the discussion as to whether Acting Governor Savage can serve out the full time of the unexpired term for which Dietrich was elected, it is well to remember that it is always a safe and sound principle to get close to the people.

It is clearly within the meaning of the state constitution that whenever a vacancy shall occur in an elective office that that vacancy shall be filled by the people at the next general election. One of the main elements of strength in a representative form of government is that by which a public servant must constantly recur to the people for his grant of authority. The public cannot expect the best service when its servants are far removed from the source of authority.

At the forthcoming state conventions, the fusion forces should place in nomination a candidate for governor; then bring a mandamus to compel the secretary of state to place his name upon the official ballot, if he is unwilling otherwise so to do, and thereby place the question before the Supreme court for adjudication.

Any action that brings our elective officers more closely under the will of the electorate cannot fail to have a salutary effect.

Wants Savage to Resign

When the campaign was in progress last fall it was charged by the fusionists that the Republican candidate for governor had promised, if elected, to pardon Joseph Bartley serving a twenty year sentence for stealing half a million dollars from the state. The name of Bolln, who robbed Omaha of $20,000 while acting as city treasurer and received a sentence of nineteen years for his crime, was not mentioned as one of the convicts who would profit by Republican success. The Republican press of the state refuted the charge that the Republican candidate had any intention of issuing pardons to notorious criminals. One of the last official acts of Dietrich before retiring from the state house was to sign a pardon for the release of Henry Bolln. And now Governor Savage has thrown open the doors of the penitentiary and invited Joseph Bartley to walk forth a free man.

Bartley is now in Lincoln with his family living in a house purchased with money stolen from the state. To a reporter of the Bee the ex-convict said: "I intend to remain in Lincoln. I am not ashamed to face the people for anything I have done. I don't intend to run up a white flag."

The act of Governor Savage in releasing Bartley is infamous and a betrayal of the confidence placed in him by the republicans of the state. If he ever contemplated becoming a candidate for the position he now holds this act of perfidy seals his fate. The governor has struck the republican party a blow that will cripple it in the next campaign. When the state convention meets it should pass a resolution strongly censuring the governor and requesting him to resign.—The Creighton Mail (Republican).

In spite of the fact that there are thousands of conscientious republicans in Nebraska entirely capable of filling such a place, President McKinley has appointed D. Clem Deaver as receiver of the U. S. Land Office at O'Neill. Deaver posed as a mid-road populist in the last campaign and used the organization as a means of aiding the republicans.

The Democrat pointed out the treachery of this man last fall, and his appointment by McKinley confirms the charges then made.

No better illustration can be made of the depths of infamy into which the republican party has fallen than the turning down of honest republicans to give place and emoluments to a traitor.

Deaver is now a full fledged republican. How do our republican friends like their party associate?—Grand Island Democrat.

The protracted hot spell and drought will not be without its benefits to Nebraska. It will give an impetus to irrigation work, and the sooner the irrigable land of Nebraska is under ditch the better it will be for the state at large. Irrigation is not a prime necessity in a large section of Nebraska, but even in the most favored portions irrigation would be a benefit. The irrigation laws of the state are ample for the protection of all, and provide a safe means of ditch construction. Wherever irrigation is used the results are most beneficial. Hot winds and scorching sun have no terrors for the farmer whose growing crops are protected by irrigation. In the good crop years recently en-

"A New Woman."

Disease makes many a woman prematurely old. Dark-rimmed eyes, hollow cheeks and wasted form are accompanied by listlessness and loss of ambition. Home duties are a weariness, and social pleasures have no attraction. One of the commonest expressions of women cured by Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription is this: "It has made a new woman of me." There's a world of meaning in the words. It means the sparkle brought back to the eyes; the complexion tinted with the rosy hue of healthy blood; the form rounded out anew in graceful curves; the whole body radiant with health.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. It dries debilitating drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes new women of those prematurely aged by disease.

"Dr. Pierce's medicines are the best I have ever used," writes Mrs. C. Nelson, of Clatsop, Marion Co., Oregon. "My health was badly run down when I consulted him by letter. My limbs were cold and my head hurt me continually. I was so nervous that the least thing would startle me almost into convulsions. I had palpitation of the heart so bad that I could scarcely walk sometimes. I felt utterly discouraged, but two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and one of Golden Medical Discovery made a new woman out of me."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for it in cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been sadly neglected. The state needed the recent drought conditions to spur it on to renewed efforts in irrigation enterprises.—World-Herald.

F. M. THOMAS, ..OSTEOPATH... In office at Wayne except Tuesdays and Fridays when at Winfield. No Knife, - No Drugs.

Cyclone Coming. And the right thing to do is to have a good cave dug now while labor is cheap. I can also put you down a Cistern or Well, on short notice and at low rates. Call and see me, just east of the Jones livery barn. Will guarantee satisfaction.

The best crop in Wayne county is simply immense. There are lots of beets of from 3 to 4 pounds each. Of course this does not refer to the beets who refuse to pay their subscription. They don't weigh more than a few ounces.
Carl Schneider of Winside is after the Wayne Republican's correspondent because the latter gave Schneider's saloon a hard write-up last week. Carl says the correspondent drew largely upon his imagination in figuring out that the saloon was at fault.
There was a good audience in attendance at Westminster Presbyterian church Sunday morning to hear Rev. Tower of Carthage. He delivered a very able discourse which was listened to attentively from beginning to close. Mr. Tower is a young man and of great promise as a pulpit orator.
Henry Lage, living near Carroll, threshed out his wheat last Saturday and got 19 bushels per acre. Hank Wolf 27 acres of oats that went over 45 bushels per acre. Gen. Yaryan has a big field of wheat that is averaging 22 bushels per acre. Stand up for Nebraska.

Antoine Lerner threw a "case" at the DEMOCRAT man last week with the injunction to send him a newspaper, that he had moved into his new home in the north part of the city and wanted to know what was going on in the world. It is unnecessary to state that Antoine has been taking republican papers to the exclusion of newspapers, in the past.
The beauty thief has come to stay. Unless you drive the pimples and blackheads away.
Do this; don't look like a fright; Take Rocky Mountain Tea tonight. Ask your druggist.
The third annual picnic of the Northeast Nebraska Picnic association of the A. O. U. W. and D. of H. will be held at Hartington on Tuesday August 8. There will be addresses by Grand Master Workman Jaskalek and Deputy O. J. Vandike. There will be band music, ball game, races, bowery dances, and numerous other amusements.
There were a whole lot of Wayne's good people in Carroll Monday last and of course the DEMOCRAT man was with them. Say, Carroll is becoming quite a little city. Her streets have come "down off the dump" and some elegant stores gone up. Take the Edwards & Bradford Co., they have one of the finest stores in the state and it is kept in apple-pie order by Manager R. V. West. The drug store has been enlarged under the new ownership of Dr. Textley and presents a much improved appearance. Manning & Merrill is another new firm doing a lumber and coal business and builders' supplies. They have a fine new office with Mrs. Rodney Manning installed as bookkeeper. A. P. Childs is doing a nice little business with the Index and is feeling good. He has a neat office, and is a pretty good thing for Carroll to take care of.

Special Excursion Black Hills,
Excursion tickets to Hot Springs, Deadwood and Lead, S. D., will be on sale July 10th to August 31st, good returning until October 31st. One fare plus two dollars.

Allender Faces the Music
Sheriff Jas. E. Davis of Blackfoot, Idaho, arrived here Tuesday for Allender, the alleged horse thief who was taken into custody by Sheriff Cherry three weeks ago. The party left on the afternoon train for Idaho, being accompanied by Atty. Guy R. Wilbur who goes out there to defend Allender on the charge. Atty. Frank Berry says he has known Allender for years and he doesn't believe he is guilty of anything more than associating with hard characters out west. Allender has some means and the affair affords Mr. Wilbur a very nice summer trip and possibly some interesting experiences. They usually string up horse thieves out west and might like as not go that far with people who defend them.

New Telephone Lines
H. C. Denney, manager of the telephone system, was here from Omaha Monday completing arrangements to put in a new line to Sioux City, one wire being insufficient for the business being done. A line will also be built to Belden by way of Laurel, and one to Hubbard by the Laurel route. All this work is to be completed in 30 days and a big gang of men are already at work upon their construction.

You get the best soda water in town at T. Steen's ice cream parlors.
Baled hay for sale, delivered to any part of the city. J. W. MCGINTY.
Mrs. T. Steen and baby are spending the week at her old home in Fremont.
That "delicious ice cream" comes from T. Steen's parlors. It's home made, too.
Trade is always brisk at the Brookings grocery. It is where you buy groceries the cheapest.
John Lewis is having his building south of the Boyd put in good shape and will lease the same.
Mrs. H. A. Buffington and children from Clinton, Io., are guests at the Buffington home in this city.
The new M. E. church is now being plastered and will be ready for dedication Oct. 1st as planned.

The Constitution Democrat of Keokuk, Io., has the following to say of Rev. Fred Tower of this city:
Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Sundahl who have been living near Carroll will move to Wayne, having bought a place of F. M. Skeen, west of the High school.
Helps young ladies to withstand the shock of sudden proposals, that's what Rocky Mountain Tea has done. 35c. Made by Madison Medicine Co. Ask your druggist.
Postmaster Tracy of Winside got a letter from his brother Gus last week in which the latter said he and Raymond were on their way in the Nome country but had not yet done any prospecting.
J. Tower has received a letter from D. C. Montgomery in which the latter says he sailed from San Francisco on July 23d on the Thomas. Mrs. Norris and daughter sail August 1st. Rev. Montgomery said his boat was to stop at Honolulu for a visit and he anticipated an interesting voyage.

While in Oklahoma last week the writer ran across John Bryan, who has been in the territory for several months, working at the carpenter trade, together with his brother Charles. Sunday he went out on line to Kingfisher, to work for Curtis and Crandall, who are engaged in the laundry business in that hustling little city.—Randolph Reporter.

NOTICE
After August 1 my office will be over the Wayne National bank, next door to Dr. William's office.

HOLTZ, THE TAILOR.

BY DAD.

Mike Maloney, who is well known hereabouts as a former publisher of the Hartington Herald, gets off the following in the Fort Dodge Messenger:

I dreamed a dream, an awful dream, a dream of lurid hue, I dreamed that I to Hades went where all who go must die. The devil met me at the door, he placed my hand in his and handed me a devil's grin from his Satanic phiz. He took me then within the gates, he led me round about, through labyrinthine passages which wound within and out. A horrid tear possessed me, my soul congealed within at sight of victims paying the penalty of sin. At last I thought that I had seen all punishments that were and turned my footsteps slowly, but the devil did not stir. "Hold fast a moment still," he cried, "for I have still to show the acme of all punishment that man must undergo." Then quickly I opened wide a door, the sulphur fumes came out and on the victim's back within, they laid the bloody knot. Thence to a boiling cauldron, they dumped him quickly in, they soured him up and down and pulled him out again. With metal molten and red hot, they filled his trembling throat and cast his quivering body on a burning pile of coke. They splayed him and they flayed him until his body bent and every nerve was tingling from the pain he underwent. "What man is this," I wildly cried, whose tortures are so great. What fearful crime has he performed that he must expiate? Perhaps it was the wicked wight who Charley Ross did steal, or who with cruel wicked blows caused Billie Patterson to reel? Or mayhaps 'tis the weather man who gives us these hot nights, or did he start, sans cause or right, the Schley and Sampson fight? "Ah, no," the devil made reply, "not for these faults so slight, his crime is one that stalks abroad at daylight and at night. This man whom now you look upon; in this our devil's brew, is the man who was always asking, "Is this not enough for you."

Isn't it too bad that during all that Hot Time we had no band to play it?

A. P. Childs says that when he was in Norfolk he could walk about all day and never jingle a dime in his pocket. Now he has a Car-roll of the long-green.

If "Sympathizing Friend" will give us his or her name—we presume it is a her—we may publish the poetical effusion sent in last week, telling how "she" tried to keep out of trouble. One good way to keep out of trouble is to avoid sending stuff to the editor and being afraid to sign a name to it. The poetical effusion referred to is quite cute and if the party who wrote it will give us her name we might publish it. The "Chatterboxes" and the "Magpies" can be found in every neighborhood if one looks for them. We have never yet seen the time when it would be "a happy day for all our neighbors to move away." We never yet had a neighbor, married or single, that we didn't love. If you are good to your neighbors they will be good to you. Sometimes people are accused wrongfully. But we have always felt that life is too short to spend any time quarreling with one's neighbors. The best way is to love everybody and every thing, even your neighbor's chickens. And if you can shoo one of them—we mean the chickens—into your woodshed and wring its neck and have a good meal it is all the better. We've done it lots of times. That's one reason why we never go around kicking about our neighbors. Some of them we love for the chickens they raise. So, whatever you do, try and get along with your neighbors. Some time, perhaps, when troubles come, when sickness and death come, they will be the first to help and succor. No, as for us, we are not yet ready to sing with our unidentified poet, "O, happy day! O, happy day! when all our neighbors move away."

An esteemed exchange says "people who laid down on the floor Sunday night with nothing on but a dinky undershirt had a rude awakening when the storm came up. In a few seconds there must have been a change of at least forty degrees in the temperature, and the scramble to shut doors and windows and hustle for "kivers" would have made many an interesting picture." You bet it would. You just ought to have seen what I saw about that time. Great Caesar! it wouldn't go in a picture!

Henry Ott, who lives north of town, is a pretty badly disgusted community. He says Rockefeller or Morgan are not in it at all with R. E. K. Mellor, and unless there is a change pretty dang soon he is going to jump his job and go back to Germany. Henry says Mellor comes pretty nearly owning the whole cheese in his neighborhood and is now trying to drive out the remaining common people by running reaping machines all night and having Sugar Beet Hanson keep up a continual racket from evening until morning by driving spikes in the granaries being built to hold what the night working reapers gather up. The trouble has already driven Ott to be quite Mellor in his habits.

Talk about your sporty towns, there are no flies on Carroll. Monday, when the writer was in that town, there was all sorts of high life. Grant Young, city marshal, took off his star and went a mile out of town to fight Jas. Worthen, but the marshal got licked—by another fellow. When the train pulled out for Wayne Tom Delong was turning the grindstone for half a dozen fellows who were sharpening their knives for some sort of a fracas, one of whom was talking about going home to get his ax. The hot weather has evidently had a degenerating effect upon the Carrollsites.

So many Wayne husbands are going it alone at present it has been suggested they all join and have a picnic. Cheney Chase was approached on the subject and ejaculated: "Picnic! It—, that's what I've been having all the time!"

Lon Hunter says it's so hot out in his neighborhood they have to put stovepipes on the fence posts to allow the smoke to go up.

Rev. McCluskey writes the secretary of the Presbyterian church that he feels it is his duty to stay with his poor, faltering congregation in Missouri instead of becoming pastor of a fine church in Wayne, Neb., among a splendid lot of parishioners. Dear Lord forgive McCluskey, for he knoweth naught of what he writes.

The man who whips his wife is no man at all but a despicable coward and a brute. 30 days in jail should be his portion, the dose doubled for the second offense. Wife-beating may go in Germany but it won't go in Wayne county, Nebraska, U. S. A.

That was a startling proposition popped at us last week in the shape of an invitation to pray for rain. Just view it in its naked shape! Here's a whole lot of people who have enjoyed all manner of blessings from the Most High, and never so much as thought of returning thanks for them. It gets a little hot and dry and every one of these avaricious, dollar seeking beggars go to praying the Almighty to make it rain. What a spectacle! If you rain prayers had any sort of an old christian spirit in you you'd have simply thanked God for the manifold good things He has showered upon you and let Him turn the water faucet when He got ready.

Well, by dad, there is one imp of cigarettedom less in town, and all you people who helped keep him raise your right hand. This boy's father was one of your goody, goody church people, but he didn't have the brains of a sawhorse or his son might have earned enough money to square up the little bills the family left behind them.

Long dispatches are published regarding what Secretary Wilson says about the corn crop. The fact is that Secretary Wilson doesn't know any more about the conditions than a blind rabbit. The reports he gets are from people who are as unreliable as a Waterbury watch. But then it must be made to appear that the useless department of agriculture is of some use.

Lawyer Berry isn't exactly an Irishman, but he made a typical Irish bull the other evening. He, in company with several others, was discussing life insurance. Every man present declared they were carrying insurance but none of them had the remotest idea where their policies were, until it came Berry's turn to speak, and he said: "You bet your life I know where my policy is; if I was to die I know exactly where to go to put my hands on it."

They have a warn story out on M. H. Dodge up at Winside. It appears another man at Laurel went to see a questionable character in the latter town into whose debt he got for fifty cents, being that much short when he paid for his lodging. The fellow gave his name as Dodge, and later on the lady (?) failing to get her fifty cents made inquiries concerning Mr. Dodge, as to his stability as a business man. The inquiries finally got to Winside and also the whyfore of the wherefore. Then a dozen of Winside's business men, former friends of M. H., wrote him long letters of criticism and consolation and offering to loan him a little coin if he was financially embarrassed, etc. This fairly curled the lawyer's hair and he has been doing all kinds of dodging to get the matter disinfected.

So many people have wanted to know who the young lady and society center were who "roomed" over McVicker's, the DEMOCRAT spoke of two weeks ago, we'll have to appease the general curiosity. The couple got married as soon as the DEMOCRAT of the 19th was issued and their names may be learned by applying to the county judge.

Perhaps had the praying people called a mass meeting for the purpose of offering the Almighty thanks for the bounteous crops of hay, wheat and oats, and for the present good health of the community. He might have seen fit to give us a little rain for our corn crop.

An exchange says an Oklahoma liar turns loose in the following manner: The other day a robust liar let loose a story of how he tried to kill a chinch bug. He fed him poison, cracked him in the door jams and froze him in the ice. The bug always came up smiling a fiendish smile and looked at him in a sardonic eye. Finally he carried the bug to the laundry and dropped it into a ladle of melted iron. Then he went off chuckling. Last week his wife broke a skillet she had just purchased and that chinch bug hopped out and asked the nearest road to a wheat field.

Next to a woman I don't believe there is any more contrary, stubborn and ridiculous thing on earth worse than a gasoline engine. Last Friday the DEMOCRATS were just half printed when ours quit doing business. The thing was coaxed, petted, given liberal doses of oil and cussing but all to no purpose. Expert Savidge was called in and fooled away two or three hours, giving the job up in despair and saying the only thing to do was telephone to its maker in Omaha. Saturday about fifteen smart men ("know what the ailment was" but none of them could make the thing go off. In the evening Pete Waggoner called in to see it. Pete declared he didn't know anything about a gasoline engine but if some one set it going he could tell where it was wrong. He laid his hands upon it, put his ear to the cylinder and then said: "Now you make her go." The battery was turned on, the wheel given a turn and off she went—just like any old-girl.

Wayne Republican: If the testimony given at the last term of court revealed any dark spots in the life or career of the Republican or its editor, we believe it is the duty of the Herald to give its readers the benefit of whatever those disclosures were. The Herald never comes out in its fight on any man or men but reports to dirty insinuations and low innuendoes, always hinting at something dark. Speak up like a man and tell what you know, it won't take you but half a minute, and will not be any great source of enlightenment when you have shot your wad.

Either Judge Hunter collected trial fees in the Kruger-Lane case and paid Sheriff Cherry attendance fees, or else that gentleman has stated an untruth. The Republican is perfectly willing to put its reputation for truth and veracity, or common honesty up against that of the judge, or his apologist, the Wayne Herald, at any time or on any matter. Dirty flings do not constitute arguments, and when that paper stoops to that method in any controversy, it simply shows the barrenness of the cause. The Republican has told no lie in this matter and the Herald cannot cover up the rankness of the Judge in the case in question. If, as the Herald suggests, "the Republican had a motive" and it was other than the administration of exact justice by the court, it should have the courage to state that motive. The Republican is not in the habit of resorting to any underhand methods in its advocacy of any cause, or in its dealings with men, and its reputation for an open and above board policy is in striking contrast with that of the Herald along this line. It is not known as a political prostitute, or a moral coward, without an opinion of its own on any subject until after the bosses who distribute the pie have given it the cue from which to make its talk. If Judge Hunter and the Herald intend to conduct their arguments in this case along the lines indicated in the last issue of that paper they will find the Republican not in the least averse to going into it, and several other cases and deals in which both have figured, quite conspicuously. We are not seeking a controversy with either the Herald or the Judge but we can readily see some both that bulldozing, bullying methods will not silence criticism, especially where we know it is just.

Get Him, Fido

The Herald does not employ the cowardly bull dozing tactics of some papers by making contemptible, low-lived and scurrilous remarks against contemporaries and we do not propose to be drawn into such kind of rotten newspaper work. If the Republican has anything political or personal to say against the Herald, let it say it and it can rest assured it will not hide behind the garb of trustee.—Wayne Herald.

COLLEGE NOTES.

Mr. Vaught spent Saturday and Sunday with his parents at their home in Stanton county. Mrs. Lambert visited classes Tuesday and took dinner at the college. She expects to teach this fall. Prof. Snodgrass was a college visitor on Wednesday. He dropped into a few classes to see the work. Miss Retta Perdue, with her sister and some friends, spent a short time Saturday at the college. Mr. Borg of Allen was down Saturday to make arrangements to spend all next year with us. He has attended two winters. Miss Stewart, Fred, Helen and Jimmie Pile spent Sunday with Miss Mabel Griffith's people and had a pleasant time. Prof. and Mrs. Bright visited the college Wednesday afternoon and Thursday. They have enjoyed a summer's vacation visiting friends and relatives. Mr. Orney goes away tomorrow to get everything in readiness for his year's work. He remains principal at Litchfield another year and will do stronger work than ever. Rev. Trefz of Omaha will lecture at the opera house August 15. His subject is, "Living or Making a Life." This is the only evening during commencement week at which an admission will be charged. The public is invited to unite with the college in the Baccalaureate services at the Presbyterian church on August 11. Rev. Sanderson of Fremont will preach the sermon, which will doubtless be very good. The program for commencement week is as follows: August 11, 11 a. m., Baccalaureate Sermon, Rev. F. H. Sanderson 12th, 8 p. m., teachers' and scientific classes. 13th, 8 p. m., teachers' and scientific classes. 14th, 8 p. m., Conservatory of Music. 15th, 8 p. m., presentation of diplomas. Lecture, "Living or Making a Life," Rev. Edward F. Trefz, Omaha. 15th, 9:30 p. m., Alumni meeting. 15th, 10 p. m., Alumni banquet.

HOSKINS.

Where is that new drugstore gone? Mrs. Bell was in town Wednesday. Dr. Austin went to Omaha Thursday. Emmet Wilson is at Winside this week. Frank Sines visited in town last Sunday. Alma Benser was at Norfolk Wednesday. Norfolk and Hoskins play ball next Sunday. Mrs. H. Hutchison came in from Fremont Monday afternoon. What will she do when there are no more teeth to be pulled? Several Hoskenites attended the horse race at Norfolk today. Miss Girtin returned to her home near Wayne Monday. A few people were at Norfolk last Sunday to attend the ball game. Mr. and Mrs. F. Oldenberg attended church at Norfolk last Sunday. Mr. Howard of the Hoskins State Bank visited home folks at Wayne last Sunday. Will Phillips drove to Battle Creek last Sunday to see how the crops along the route were getting along? Where were — and — when the light went out? Don't know. Ask those fellows who were on the sidewalk. Hoskins got no rain and the church folks did not hold a meeting, even the day appointed. Still Hoskins has more good people to the square rod than any other town in Nebraska. O, ring off our new correspondent.

WINSIDE.

Miss Carrie Huff is visiting friends in Norfolk. Mrs. A. T. Chapin was in Wayne Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Lowery were visiting friends in Laurel this week. Miss Cora Weible entertained her little friends last Saturday evening. W. H. McCluskey was called to Sergeant Bluffs on business last Friday. Prof. and Mrs. Bright came home last Sunday after a couple of months outing. Another change in the dray line, Dave Leary having sold out to Gahler Bros. John T. Bressler was looking after his interests in this section last Wednesday. Misses Ollie and Mamie Elliott came over from Wayne to spend Sunday at home. Chas. Swanson of Des Moines, Iowa, was in town this week looking after the affairs of the late Alfred Swanson. The hotel has changed hands, Mr. Price, our miller, having bought the property, intending to run it himself. Arthur Butzler and Lloyd Holcome have returned from Minnesota, where they have been railroading all summer. Mrs. L. S. Needham went over to Sioux City Tuesday. She was accompanied by Misses Nellie and Amie Ross. Miss Margaret Reed returned from her trip to Hot Springs last Thursday, and next day resumed her work in the postoffice. Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Cherry returned Thursday from their western trip. They report a good time, but are glad to get home. Dr. A. L. Muirhead went down to Omaha Thursday morning, expecting to return Monday evening, accompanied by his wife. Mrs. Frank Pittenger of Albion arrived in town last Wednesday to spend a few weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Reichart. Master A. T. Cavanaugh celebrated his 9th birthday by inviting 35 of his little friends last Monday evening, and judging from the noise they made they had a royal time. Mrs. Pullen of Blair, James Pullen and wife of Wakefield, James Hart and Wm. Parker and families of Silver City, Iowa, attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Hart. The seven year old son of Ludwig Eilers, living south of town, met with a fatal accident last Friday. He had been driving a team in the field where the men were harvesting and was on his way home when it is supposed he became overheated and fell from the wagon, the wheels passing over his head and diagonally across the body. His brothers, who were following him, found him
