Required to establish a business, the kind of goods, the principles upon which the business is conducted, are the factors in forming its reputation.

the organ and piano

must be tested in the musical world before it has a real value. A good looking case on a piano even if it can be bought for $100 does not make it of any value. Paying $400 or $500 for a piano does not make it valuable—it might not be worth more than $200 and the other $200 was the agent's commission.

Get an instrument which has been tested and has a reputation for tone quality.

Our organs and pianos are those that people know and can depend upon. Our CABLE and KINGSBURY are the pianos that have gained a world-wide reputation.

Our LUDWIG is manufactured by the original Ludwig Company of New York.

Our CHICKERING pianos are the original Chickering as manufactured at Boston, Mass.

Peter Johnson, a brother of Mrs. Chas. Nydall and Mrs. Claude Holtgreen, left this morning for Rockford, Ill. Mr. Johnson is a victim of consumption and now quite feeble.

When that new Methodist bell conveniences to make music all the other M. E. bodes will have to take it loose some. The new pealer is about four feet across and is calculated to call all the old sinners into the fold.

A gentleman from Winside Wednesday said Dr. Muirhead had a herd run of luck before getting out of that town. Besides being sued by Tom Lound the doctor got two whippings, one from Wm. Hart. Then his horse jumped out of a car and escaped or strayed away.

CARROLL NEW

George Thorp and wife are the proud parents of an eight and a half pound girl which put in an appearance at their home on Saturday, the 21st.

George Smith, J. B. Taylor and C. E. Jones have been in Wayne this week, finishing up the new German church, for which the former had the contract.

If the Republican ever again credits Winside locals to Carroll the county will be very liable to lose its best auctioneer as well as its foremost and most consistent apostle of republicanism. Winside people swear that they won't stand it.

Carter Cox has the material on the ground for a handsome new house to be erected just across the street south from M. S. Lign's. It is to be just the size and style as that of George A. Bailey's, and when completed will be occupied by Rodney Manning. Will Olmsted and Ralph Taylor will do the work.

The new sidetrack between here and Randolph is to be known as "Sholes," and a small town is apt to spring up there in the near future, as we learn that Randolph parties contemplate putting in an implement warehouse there yet this fall. The signposts for new siding went up on the train Monday.

Whatever you read in a partisan paper concerning a candidate of the opposition should from now until November be taken with a great deal of allowance—it may or it may not be true, and is more apt to be the latter. I know, for in my youthful and unregenerate days I edited a partisan paper, and was accounted a pretty good liar myself, whose services were always in demand by candidates at so much per.

The 2 Johns are 2 Doctors.

It may not be generally known that we are doctors as well as expert clothing men. We know it is not considered good taste to advertise your business if you are a professional man, but in our case we feel it our duty to humanity to let the people know that we can not only cure the sick but keep men well. If you are enjoying good health and haven't visited us you should do so and we will explain to you how you can keep well. If you are sick you should see us and we will instruct you how you can get well. Remember we make no charges and will not accept anything for our advice except your good will. We have used the same cure for over 20 years and everybody is satisfied with our treatment. Over 500 men in Wayne county have taken our treatment and any one of them will be pleased to recommend us. All the doctors in Wayne will tell you that our treatment is proper. It costs you nothing to get our advice and it costs you nothing to use our treatment, and it can not harm you. The treatment can only be had at this store.

New about our Treatment:

Our treatment consists in wearing Staley all-wool Underwear. If you are well Staley all-wool Underwear will keep you well. If you are sick Staley all-wool Underwear will assist you to get well. If you are miserable Staley all-wool Underwear will make you happy. If you are happy Staley all-wool Underwear will keep you happy. If you want to buy Staley all-wool Underwear you can buy it at the 2 JOHNS only.

It is good for the rich and it is good for the poor.

We have Staley Underwear in every grade and can satisfy your taste. Considering the length of time it wears it is the cheapest as well as the best underwear made. But some will say, "I can't wear wool." We will say right here that we have never found a man that can't wear Staley all-wool Underwear. Staley underwear is not like any other underwear. The wool is treated different and Staley uses a different kind of wool than other underwear manufacturers. Wool doesn't hurt any one. It is the foreign matter in the wool that hurts people, and all foreign matter is taken out of the wool used in the Staley underwear. Some will say, "All my wool underwear shrinks so I can't wear it." We give printed instructions with Staley underwear; and if you obey the instructions in washing Staley underwear it will not shrink. It will cost you nothing to see the Staley underwear. We can fit anyone no matter how large. We will be glad to explain to your entire satisfaction why Staley underwear should be worn by all, and can satisfy you that you can wear it comfortably. Ask any one wearing Staley all-wool underwear and they will recommend it. Ask any doctor if you ought to wear Staley underwear and he will recommend it. Ask us to show you Staley all-wool underwear and you will be pleased to buy it. Price $2.00 to $5.00 a suit.

The 2 Johns Speak German and Swede.

The Aggressive Boers.

The Boers are opening the third summer campaign with renewed zeal and increasing numbers. Conservative estimates place their armies at 12,000 men. This is nearly four times larger than Washington's army at the ebb tide of the revolution. The Americans won their liberty at a cost of $600,000,000 to the British government. It has cost Great Britain more than $700,000,000 to subdue the Boers, and the end is distant. Like ourselves, the Boers have had proscriptive proclamations hurled at them, their people have been deported or corralled, yet they are as defiant as ever. Boer soldiers spring out of the ground, or anywhere Lord Kitchener does not expect them. He has proclaimed they must submit or be branded as traitors and their property forfeited. The day of British grace is passed. The Boers give their answer in the capture of Kitchener's outposts and soldiers. With 3,000 miles of railroad to guard with an army reputed to number 260,000 men, Kitchener has his hands tied, and the alert Boer generals roam at will over South Africa. One is at Natal with his forces, another is near Pretoria swooping down on every weak British outpost and another is overrunning Cape Colony on the coast lines, where they have easy communication with the outside world, and from whence it is easy to see they derive their inexhaustible supplies of arms and ammunition. Cape Colony is seething with discontent and undisguised revolt. The Boer forces are within forty miles of Cape Town. Thus, from the Transvaal to the Cape of Good Hope, they are swarming over the country, while Kitchener hugs the railroad systems to keep his army from disaster.

In the awful events through which we have recently passed American people have not kept in close touch with the heroic struggle of the soldiers of liberty in South Africa. They have remained under the impression that the struggle remained as at the beginning of the war—between the several hundred thousand Boers in the South African republics and Great Britain. The field has been enlarged. It now covers all or very nearly all of South Africa, containing a population of nearly 3,000,000, or about the same as the American colonies when they threw off the British yoke. These are backing the republican armies, and in the end Great Britain must withdraw from the struggle.

As an organized government, all of British South Africa has not revolted, but the fact remains the Boers are receiving constant accessions, and they always know where to strike the weakest point in their adversaries' lines. With an enemy as ungenerous as Kitchener has shown himself to be by his recent proclamation, they will never submit to British authority. If they are conquered, which the present situation does not indicate Great Britain will have a "South African Ireland" on its hands. As with the American colonies Great Britain has committed the same blunder with South Africa. Instead of permitting the Americans to manage their home affairs in their own way, as it does to Australia, and refuses to Ireland, Great Britain applied force, as it is doing to the Boers. History records the result of the American revolution, and may bear the same record of the Boers in future years. The North ministry bethought the Americans a lamb with wool to be fleeced. They wanted the fur. Edmund Burke asked: "Who will shear the wolf?" Cornwallis and Clinton were not successful in the attempt. Chamberlain and Kitchener are meeting with the same experience in South Africa.

HUSBAND AND WIFE.

One of the many striking and touching incidents occurring at Buffalo was the meeting between the President and Mrs. McKinley for the first time after the assault. The dispatches report that Mrs. McKinley took a seat at the bedside and held the president's hand. The distinguished sufferer looked into the face of his good wife and said in a low tone, "We must bear up; it will be better for us both." With tears streaming down her cheeks Mrs. McKinley nodded assent.

There is a depth of pathos in this little incident that must appeal forcefully to those who appreciate the strength of the ties that bind a good husband to a good wife.

There may be some people who have no idea of the thoughts that were passing through the minds of this couple at that moment. There are, however, many others who can imagine what these thoughts were. There on the bed of pain, lay the strong, powerful man. By his side sat the frail woman, whose physical weakness has been, for so many years, the subject of this husband's tender solicitude.

In a humble way they began life together. Two little graves had for them a common interest. In prosperity and in adversity they had stood together, participating equally in the joys and sharing equally in the sorrows of life. The wife had shared in the great honors that had come to her husband, and now, when the very summit of political ambition had been reached and political honors had become so common that the conveniences of a quiet, domestic life were longed for by the woman, in order as she often expressed it, that she might have her husband to herself, the bullet of an assassin had done the work that threatened to blast the highest ambition of this woman's life.

"We must bear up," said the president; "it will be better for us both." It matters not to what extent other men and women may have grieved; it matters not how many tears other men and women may have shed and how much other hearts may have ached. All of this grief and woe could not have been so acute as was the grief and woe which this man and woman suppressed in compliance with the suggestion, "it will be better for us both."

There is nothing in all this world more beautiful than a happy marriage. There is in all this world nothing more inspiring, nothing more encouraging than the devotion and love that abounds between thousands of men and women; devotion and love which were exemplified in the relations that existed between the late president and his wife.—Wm. J. Bryan.

President McKinley, the moment he was stricken, passed out of the possession of the republican party into the arms of his country.—Sioux City Journal.

Remarkable as the above concession may be, from the Journal, there be those that refute the libel on the American people who are not republicans. If, as the Sioux City Journal assumes, President McKinley was president only of the republican party he held a very small office, whereas he should have been president of the United States of America.

On hearing that democrats assisted in punishing an eastern man who stated that he was glad the president had been assassinated, a Battle Creek republican expressed great surprise that any democrat should be so patriotic. There is little choice between the man so utterly blind in his political prejudices as to question the loyalty of all not in accord with his belief and the one whose ignorance may serve as a mantle for anarchistic utterances. Both are a menace to society.—Battle Creek Enterprise.

Wisner has the distinction of being the home of a veteran in the person of J. C. Testman who belonged to the company in which the late President McKinley enlisted, Co. E, 23d Ohio Infantry. This was a regiment which was singularly distinguished for having given to the country men of unusual prominence. Its colonel was W. S. Rosecrans, who rose to the rank of major general. Its first lieutenant colonel was Stanley Matthews, afterward United States senator from Ohio and justice of the supreme court of the United States. Its first major was Rutherford B. Hayes, afterwards thrice governor of Ohio and then president of the United States.—Wisner Chronicle.

The Central City Nonpareil accused the Democrat of that place of upholding anarchy and the Democrat fairly burned holes in its weak sister by way of reply. The latter paper also has the following comments to make which pretty well hit a whole lot of sniffling republican newspapers which endeavor to load the Buffalo crime onto the democratic party:

Speaking about defending anarchy. It is now only about twenty months since there was committed one of the most dastardly crimes ever perpetrated in the history of this or any other country, a crime which in all its details was never equalled. Governor Goebel, of Kentucky, while peacefully attending to his duties as a senator, and appealing to the properly constituted authority for a vindication of his rights under the law, was shot down in cold blood from a state house window; assassinated by a hireling of the man who was attempting by force to hold the office of governor to which he was not elected and that man was the defeated Republican candidate for that high office and who was supported by a regiment of swashbucklers masquerading as soldiers of the state militia. Did the Republican press with one voice condemn that cowardly murder? Not much. Did the Nonpareil protest against the crime committed by those anarchistic members of its own party. Nay, not so. If memory serves me aright it condemned Governor Goebel for his own assassination, and while it did not exactly commend the crime, its condemnation was most feeble. The attack upon President McKinley was villainous, was cowardly, was dastardly, but it was the work of one person, crazed by a desire for notoriety and incapable of right reasoning, while the assassination of Governor Goebel was coolly and deliberately planned by a gang of cutthroats who would disgrace the deck of a pirate ship but who were vouched for by the republican party of Kentucky as the foremost leaders of their party and who were praised by receiving the faintest condemnation or none at all from half the republican papers of this whole country. As exponents of Anarchy, Emma Goldman, Herr Most and all the windy fools who ever shouted from a platform, cannot equal those arch conspirators who, had they been successful, would have done more to destroy stable government than all the "force" anarchists who ever existed.

The following is the copy of a letter just received by Mr. Theo. Pinther, secretary Transvaal committee from Mr. Van Baggen. Mr. Pinther vouches for the authenticity and truthfulness of the contents:

"The Hague, Holland, Aug. 16, 1901.—Dear Friend: I just received the following news which will not be mentioned in English papers. The Boers have taken Lydenburg. Gen. Louis Botha released 1,000 men out of the English prisoner's camp at Middleburg. People leave Pretoria, fifty at a time, to join Botha. In Cape Colony 800 of the Colonial troops deserted and have joined the Boer commanders. Kitchener's proclamation is doing its work. I received your last letter asking how money collected for the women and children of the Boers can reach them. I will reply, money is sent here from all over the world. There is a committee in Cape Town, with connections at Pretoria and Johannesburg. The committee is a branch of the Netherland South African society. The money comes into good hands, but they have to deal with great difficulties as the English authorities do everything they can to prevent the use of money on the ground, which after the war should be used for widows and orphans. There is a great need of physicians in the camps (concentrate camps): in the camp of Johannesburg there was only one doctor to 350 patients, mostly children; the women are afraid to use his medicine because they all die after taking the medicine, and very seldom they see anybody return from the hospital. I suppose you have read the letters from Miss Bessant about this lack of medicine. The letters should have appeared in American papers. I mentioned to some people here that a number of San Francisco doctors were willing to leave their practice and join the Boer ambulances, or assist in the concentrate camps. I was at once offered the payment of passage from here to Johannesburg, but it was useless. A Swiss ambulance with six nurses was ready to start tomorrow, the 17th of August, from Southampton, but the English government at the last moment has withdrawn the permission, given in March, 1901, by Lord Roberts. Mrs. Botha had received the same permission from Lord Kitchener, but he would not give it in writing. The reason of the refusal of the British government is, that England has taken sufficient steps for the care of the women and children in the camps—the average death rate is nearly 50 per cent in the camps now. (This will dispose of them.)

The report of Miss Hobhouse is giving an idea of what she has seen in these camps, or rather of what she was permitted to see; they did not show her how women and children are transported from one camp to another, (often separating mother and child) to protect the railroad lines from destruction by the Boer forces. The British did not show her how babies were beaten by British nurses and died from wounds, caused thereby on their back; they did not show her how ladies, like Mrs. Potgieter and Mrs. Minnaar, were put in a guardhouse for punishment because they refused to give information about their husbands who were fighting with the Boers. The British did not tell her how Mrs. Potgieter disappeared; they did not show her Mrs. Kotze, locked up with a thin dress on for the night in a linen tent while the sentry in front of this camp, to guard this dangerous prisoner, was shivering with cold. They could not show her the girls between ten and twenty years old, who were lost or disappeared. The report of Miss Hobhouse gives the impression that the camps are in a state of lacking a great many of the necessities of life, which should be applied. Every army officer knows that a place where 5,000 soldiers, more or less, (in this case women and children) are camped for more than a month becomes unhealthy, unless extra sanitary arrangements are made. What these camps are to women and children who were brought up in good homes and had plenty of food, during hot days and frosty nights, without sufficient clothing or cover, or even good water, is not described by Miss Hobhouse; it takes a woman like Mrs. Olive Schreiner to describe the sufferings of these people and to observe everything, but Olive Schreiner is safely locked up, not a word from her can escape South Africa, for she would put the civilized world on fire against these concentrate camps, where women and children are systematically brought to death. She would say it all, understand it all, and her tears would find words in writing, and she would make the world weep, and curse England, but she is locked up, and instead of the famous authoress, the world hears the howling of the jackal, in the proclamation of

I WEIGH 175 lbs.

There are people who say that the benefit derived from the use of put-up medicines is imaginary. It is not the case with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which makes weak women strong and sick women well. A woman may imagine she's weak, or may fancy she's sick, but her imagination can't add forty pounds to her weight. The positive proof of the curative power of "Favorite Prescription" is found in the restoration of health which is recorded in face and form, of strength which can be tested, and weight which can be registered in pounds and ounces.

The general health of women is so intimately connected with the local health of the womanly organs that when these are diseased the whole body suffers loss. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures womanly diseases. It establishes regularly, stops weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"I am very glad to let other poor sufferers know what Dr. Pierce's medicines have done for me," writes Mrs. Edwin H. Gardner, of Beechwood, Norfolk Co., Mass. (Box 20.) "I know I wrote to you last summer. I read what your medicine had done for other people, so I thought I would try it, and I found it was a blessing to me and my family. I began in June and took six bottles of your medicine, and three visits of Pelet's. I had no appetite, could not eat much without it distressing me before I took your 'Favorite Prescription,' and I only weighed 135 pounds. Now I weigh 175."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. E. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Great Britain against the citizens of the republic. That howl is so piercing and agonizing to the civilized world, so hideous in its sound of despair, fear and rage; this howl of the jackal which stumbled on a living prey, able to stand it off; a jackal who is attacked in its despair forgets its fear of daylight. This jackal, Great Britain, bleeding and reeking with blood, howling over the South African desert, so that it is to be seen and heard all over the world, and makes humanity shudder.

I remain for the cause of justice and liberty, yours truly,

The Democrat.

BY DAVID.

"The Republican knows further, that in Danielson's place of business kindred spirits meet, mingle and advocate doctrines that mark everyone of them as anarchists of the worst stripe." That looks bad for you, Eph. You ought to stay out of there.

The New Republic Patriot says that the democratic party would die for booze. We don't know about the matter of dying but it is shamefully evident that that is about all the corrupt old organization lives for.—Blxby.

That being so whyfledence do you republicans want to scrap us so hard all the time?

A peculiar coincidence occurred in this shop last Tuesday. Jas. Britton was just remarking that he couldn't understand why everybody concurred in the theory that God's will had been done when Czolgosz shot President McKinley, that if it was God's will then he must be considered an accomplice of the anarchist. Just then the morning papers came in and about the first thing found in the Journal was the following, taken from a speech of Geo. W. Argo, one of the famous criminal attorneys of the country, the address being made at a K. P. service:

"In his last conscious moments," said Mr. Argo, "Brother McKinley said, 'It is God's way, His will be done.' Those words will ever be remembered. They are written in the indelible blood of the martyr. They have echoed from every pulpit, and have been repeated by every preacher in this broad land. I beg leave to differ with the preachers and McKinley himself in respect to that foul crime being 'God's way' or 'His will.'"

"It is both inconsistent and illogical to say it was 'God's will' and in the same breath to condemn the act of the assassin. I deny that Czolgosz was an agent of God. I deny the statement of the minister who says it was 'God's will' and His will that our beloved brother should be removed from us by the assassin's bullet. Man is supposed to be a free moral agent, responsible for his own acts. I deny that good results come from such foul crimes.

"It has been claimed that the cause of Christianity has suffered, and the efficacy of prayer has been doubted and even denied, because the millions of earnest, sincere, fervent prayers of the churchgoing people of America for the recovery of the president were not granted. I will not attempt an explanation, nor will assume to give any reason for the failure of prayer in this instance. We all know there is a marked contrast and difference between Christianity and churchanity."

Things are quieting down a bit, the World Herald has again gone to bragging about "want ads."

Mike O'Connell and William Dammeyer were out chicken hunting last week or rather the "first day of this." They got mixed up in a flock of tame hens, belonging to an Altona farmer, and after several attempts failed to hit an old setting hen. We always knew William was nit, but Mike ought to have done better.

Democratic Candidate for Sheriff.—"Cunningham tried to 'break it off into me' but he never touched me."

Colonel John W. Judson of Cincinnati has recalled the fact that fatality nearly always overtakes a president elected in a year ending with a cipher. Future candidates for the position will do well to beware of cipher years.—Norfolk News

Howthehell do you make that out? Bryan met two "ciphers" and they didn't even hurt him.

It has been figured out that there are exactly 4,000,000 squirming microbes in every spoonful of unboiled milk. If that wouldn't drive a man to drinking good old Milwaukee what would you take.

Talking about the Federation state meeting to be held in Wayne next week, a delegate to the last convention, held in Lincoln, tells the following good one on Miss Charlotte M. White. It was the session when the president was to be elected and there was some very "fine work" being done to land the honor for Mrs. Draper Smith of Omaha. The banquet "at the governor's" had been held just the evening previous, upon which occasion Mrs. Draper Smith had appeared in "full evening dress," that is, only silken bands over the shoulders which held up a very low cut bodice. Now our good Charlotte was madder than a wet hen over this "shameful" production of Dame Fashion, and she also worked tooth-and-toe-nail to defeat Mrs. Smith for the presidency. Noticing that this delegate from Wayne (who is also a Presbyterian) was for the uncommon Smith she rushed up and shouted: "Why, Mrs. —! would you dare to vote for a woman who would go to the governor's banquet without any clothes on?"

SOCIETY NOTES.

Mesdames O. D. Franks, Jas. Portenfeld and Wm. Vincent were hostesses at a calico party last evening. The Franks home was most beautifully decorated with hothouse carnations, roses and ferns. Each table was set off with handsome bouquets, a hugh punch bowl being decorated with asparagus and sweet elysium. In the contest for the cake, which was given to the worst calico costume, Mrs. Tom Fritts was victorious, Mrs. Henry Ley winning the prize.

A delicious three course was served, covers being laid for Mesdames A. T. and C. Witter, J. Larison, Davies, Williams, R. Philleo, Goldie, Girten, Corbit, Walt Weber, Ellis, Anderson, Theobald, Clark, Wheeler, Cheney and E. R. Chace, F. COLLEGE NOTES.

Mrs. Witzel of Mitchell, S. D., returned to College to spend the year and complete the teachers' course.

Among the Madison county students enrolled lately is Will Lasey, son of the sheriff of that county. He is a bright young man and starts out well in his work.

Eight new students enrolled Monday, one from Omaha, one from S. D., one from Pipestone, Minn., two from Madison county, one from Knox county, two from Wayne county.

Mr. Doolittle of Burt county drove over Saturday and spent the day and Sunday visiting his daughter who lately returned to College to prepare herself for teaching.

Mr. Vaught who is now teaching came up Saturday to visit College friends and friends in town. He was always a faithful student and is a very successful teacher of Stanton county.

Miss Hoffman who lately enrolled from Minnesota has entered the Scientific course. She will remain the entire year and graduate with the class. She is an experienced teacher and will no doubt succeed well.

Prof. J. H. Hornberger who spent five years as city superintendent of the Norfolk schools spent Sunday as a guest of Prof. and Mrs. Pile. He is now the western representative of the well-known Rand McNally Publishing House of Chicago.

Mr. Robert Elliott of Winside was called to Randolph to substitute for assistant principal this week and next. He finished our Scientific course last year and is well prepared to teach. He successfully taught our Latin classes a month last winter during the teacher's sickness.

Rev. Weiden conducted Chapel Tuesday and made a timely talk to the students. He cautioned them about excessive partisanship and sectarianism. Such talks are good not only for young people but for all, as many seem not to see any good outside their own party and church.

Mr. Jones of Jackson enrolled this week, making a list of a half dozen young men of Dixon county in attendance, all of whom are good students. Messrs Sweeney of Emerson Borg of Allen, Nichols of Ponca, Paul of Wakefield expect to remain and complete full course this year.

A force of six carpenters have been at work on the building this week and have it nearly ready for the plasterers. In another week the painters will get to work. The building will be ready for occupancy by the first of November, so we will have plenty of room for new students at the opening of next term.

Omaha Markets.

So, Omaha, Sept 25, 1901.

Receipts of cattle have been liberal this week, about 20,000 for three days, or about 5000 more than last week. The offerings are nearly all western grass cattle, the supply of 'corn fed beef being limited to about a dozen loads a day. On corn fed beef, conditions are about the same as a week ago. Supply small, demand good and prices steady to strong. Yesterday $8.25 was paid, the highest price of the year. The supply of cow stock liberal, and on this account buyers are a little bearish but they are generally bought at about steady prices. Good to choice stock so scarce. The market on heavy feeders is active and strong but slow and lower on light and medium grades. Packers, stillers, and feeder buyers are active competitors for steers in good flesh and readily pay good prices for anything of this kind but light and medium grades are dragging. Western beef steers meet with good demand at steady to stronger prices.

Receipts of hogs just fair. Today about 6000 are on sale, is 2 1/2 cts to 5 cts lower closed firm. Range $6.70 to $6.80 bulk $6.77 to $6.82. Market averages about 5c higher than last Wednesday, but nearly 10c lower than Monday the high time.

Sheep receipts liberal, market slow and dragging, 25 to 40 cents lower.

Any Old Thing

The news that Congressman Brownlow, nephew of "Parson" Brownlow, the famous southern unionist, had settled republican factional troubles in Tennessee rival leader, Pension Commissioner Evans, made a civil war veteran reminiscence, and he told interesting stories of "Parson" Brownlow's son, who was colonel of the Fourth Tennessee mountain infantry in the federal army. "Red tape didn't hamper Colonel Brownlow," said the old soldier. "It almost crazed martinet to hear Brownlow shout: 'One string into two; git! or, 'two strings into four; git!' In the same corps with Brownlow's mountaineers was a company of Massachusetts sharpshooters, who had a captain as unconventionally military as the big Tennesseean. 'This way, gentlemen,' he would say when he wanted the company to wheel, while 'kindly fire, gentlemen,' was another of his polite commands."

At a meeting of school teachers and others from various parts of Lanchire and Yorkshire England, the following story is told by the chairman:

An overlooker in a mill, with a family of seven, sent his eldest child to the mill as soon as the law allowed her to go. She received the standard wage of 15 pence per week. At the end of three weeks she left. Thereupon the employer sent for the father and asked the reason why.

"Well," he answered, "we thout it wood be cheaper to keep her at home, for that week she had to get up at half past 5 she moaned and groaned so much that it woked all 'tuther childer, who ate more treacle and cake afore breakfast time nor 15 pence came o."

Does It Pay to Buy Cheap?

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the more severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible; if not possible for you, then in either case take the only remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boesche's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest and cures the patient. Try one bottle. Recommended many years by all druggists in the world. You can get Dr. G. G. Green's reliable remedies at Raymond's drug store. Get Green's Special Almanac.

Last week I went about, Full of trouble and doubt, Now I'm smiling and dance with delight, I had some Rocky Mountain Tea last night. Ask your druggist.
