must be tested in the musical world before it has a real value—A good looking case on a piano even if it can be bought for $100 does not make it of any value. Paying $400 or $500 for a piano does not make it valuable—it might not be worth more than $200 and the other $200 was the agent's commission.

Our organs and pianos are those that people know and can depend upon. Our CABLE and KINGSBURY are the pianos that have gained a world-wide reputation.

Charley Glimsdale, a former clerk in the Orth drug store, was recently married to Miss Anna Venneburg, also of Wayne, the ceremony taking place in Council Bluffs.

M. S. Davies sold a handsome Cable piano to J. P. Larson, yesterday. J. P. is one of those industrious farmers who can as easily buy a piano as an editor can a new office towel.

Mrs. Anderson, living in the west part of town, is the lady who was operated on in Sioux City last week for an 86 pound tumor. The DEMOCRAT is glad to state that Mrs. Anderson is getting well.

G. J. Savidge struck a great flow of water at Johanson's "park" Tuesday afternoon. The drillrods were down about fifty-seven feet when a heavy stream of water was found, throwing fifty gallons per minute. This one well will easily flood Mr. Johanson's whole park and make all the ice necessary to fill an elevator.

The DEMOCRAT has seen a letter from H. R. Brooks, secretary of the Albion fair association, to R. H. Gibson, from which we quote Mr. Brooks as follows: "Find enclosed fifteen dollars due you as expert judge (on horses and cattle). I am better pleased with your work the more I learn of how it was done." Mr. Gibson is credited with being one of the best judges of horse flesh in the state.

In talking about the recent county fair J. H. Kate gave some pretty good ideas of how the enterprise could be made successful, financially as well as otherwise. Mr. Kate would cut out the "punkin" and "fine arts" departments and have a red hot sporting time with horse races, fancy stock, ball games, side shows and a few snide shows. Commence early and advertise extensively. But then its easy to tell how to do these things, the point is how to get the jiggers to jog the thing along.

Winside Tribune: On Monday the democrats of the third commissioner district met in convention at Carroll to place a candidate in the field. Our fellow townsman, E. W. Cullen, was the lucky or unlucky man, which ever way the election decides the case. Mr. Cullen is so well known it would be useless for us to say anything about him as a man and neighbor. There is one thing certain that whether republican or democrat is elected this fall we are going to have a fine commissioner in the third district.

The DEMOCRAT grants to Grant Mears all due credit as being a worthy citizen and a real good boy, but let some exciting period of disturbance calling for drastic treatment from the chief police officer of the community arise, and where would poor Grant be at? Mr. Mears is no more adapted to the office he seeks than he would to enter the pugilistic arena. When you vote for a sheriff compare the capabilities of the candidates and don't entertain the dirty insinuations as to family and social matters as thrown up by the opposition press, when there is every probability that they are false and no proof whatever that they are true. We want a man in the sheriff's office with some stamina in him, not a weak wavering "nister" who would stagger at the first serious problem he went up against. Everybody knows Ed. Reynolds made an A No. 1 sheriff. The safest plan is to put him in that office again.

Are You Independent?

If you are independent and can trade where you please, this store will certainly interest you. Some people are tied to the store they have been trading with and have no use for any other store, no matter if they can save 20 per cent on their purchases. They say: "I have traded ever since I came to Wayne county at the same store. I like the people that run that store, and as long as I can find what I want I will trade there." Well, this advertisement is not intended for anyone who is not independent and dare not leave a store because they trust him for what he wants. If we had gold dollars for ninety cents such people would not dare to come here and get any. If you are independent and can trade where you please we can interest you in the clothing line and can convince you that we can save you money on clothing. We know that no store is like the old store as far as feeling at home, but you will soon feel at home here and you will be surprised at the amount of stock you have to select from and if you like to save money you will be pleased to trade here. If you have been buying clothing at a store where they sell everything and have a few suits piled up in the corner to sell on long time you will be surprised if you will look at our line, for we not only sell much cheaper but sell better clothing. If you are independent and care to save money on your clothing make this store a visit. See what we can do for you. We don't claim to have the only clothing in Wayne fit to wear but where we beat other stores is in the price, and better goods for the same price. If you want the best at the lowest price this is the place to look. Remember we sell everything men and boys wear. Our shoe department contains only such shoes as our experience has proven to give satisfaction. Our styles are the latest. Be independent and investigate this store. It will cost you nothing to see our goods. It will afford us great pleasure to show you and you can save money trading here. Why not try it?

To make your appearance in certain parts of Bohemia in a high silk hat is said to be distinctly dangerous. You would not only not meet a man who is draped out of shape, but also stand a good chance of being knocked out of shape yourself. This hatred of the tall hat is due to the fact that it is the common worn in Vienna and other German portions of the empire than outside German Austria. The Czechs and other races that make up the population of the Empire, Franz Joseph object to the predominance of the German and show their hatred by assailing the tall hat, and, of course, in other ways.

Empress Augusta Victoria of Germany, is an ardent lover of ice skating and recently took a trip to the city on a morning while centering through the Thiergarten, accompanied by her husband and their children. She saw a little boy enjoying himself with roller skates. Her Majesty had never before seen these articles. An attendant asked the boy regarding the skates, and learned that they were of American manufacture. The Empress, however, was given by her majesty for a dozen pairs, assorted sizes, and now Augusta Victoria has added another to her list of accomplishments.

Edison and Tesla, the electricians, are both much averse to music and each experiences a feeling of positive aversion when within the sound of melodious sounds. It is recalled that other men of acknowledged genius have been similarly afflicted. For instance, Byron had no ear for music and Beethoven the slightest pleasure. Edmund Burke, whose oratory was music to the audience, hated music. Charles James Fox, another great orator, was equally averse to the instrument. At a third, Robert Peel, a fourth—all of these ran away from the sound of music.

Dr. R. Johnston Held, a New York scientist, recently completed typewritten pages 6,532 of a treatise on diseases of the eye, ear and nose, upon which he has been working for years, and which, it was expected, would bring him good fortune to the author. Then he sat back in his chair and enjoyed a smoke. He fell off to a nap, and while napping his cigar fell from his mouth and landed upon which he had placed the manuscript. He was awakened by the smell of burning paper. Before he could extinguish the flames his treatise was a mass of ashes.

A Manila exchange tells of an American soldier who, while stationed at Camp Aguinaldo, became infatuated with a Filipino. Wishing to show his affection he purchased and sent to her a complete outfit of American clothing. When next he called he found her arrayed in the prettiest things, but she had made one radical mistake. This was with the corsets, which had caused her a great deal of worry before she discovered that she had bought the wrong size. The corsets were intended for her and she put on the two pieces as leggings.

Detroit Journal: Landing, we neither slaughtered the natives nor devastated their country. "But is this best for us?" protested these people, with tears in their eyes. Their simple plea went straight to our hearts, and forthwith we fell upon them and slew and spared not. Of course it was arduous labor, but we felt amply repaid in the keenness with which they accepted the civilization. There and then we resolved, come what might, never again to shrink our manifest destiny.

There is no end of odd names in North Carolina. One of the best known in Raleigh named his children after the names of the states, and among the most prominent people in that section today, among them being the Rev. Wisconsin Royser and Vermont Connecticut Royser. Newburn is the home of Shays Hill, and the home of Sink Quick is in Richmond county. Prof. Fred Forecock of Greensboro is one of the foremost educators in the state, while the home of Early Dawn is Raleigh.

Marcus Aurelius: Men seek retreats for themselves, houses in the country, sea shores and mountains, and thus avoid the bustle of the city. But this is altogether a mark of the most common sort of men, for it is in their power, whenever they shall wish to retire, to buy a house in the woods, either with more quiet or more freedom from trouble does man retire than into his own soul.

A Sunday school superintendent, who happened to be a dry goods merchant, and who was teaching a class of very little tots, asked when he had finished explaining the lesson: "Now, has any one any question to ask?" A very angry girl raised her hand. "What is it, Martha?" asked the superintendent. "Why, Mr. Brooks, how much are those red parasols in your window?" said Martha.

The story how King Edward rebuked a woman friend who essayed to send him a person's name, is very amusing. Assuming that her acquaintance with the Prince of Wales continued to the king, goes that he replied: "I hope and believe I have the tears of all my subjects. Now, who told the story—the king or the lady?"

A Boston literary woman, viewing the prevailing opinion with an eagerness to read the last new book, hits off the situation by characterizing the United States as "a land flowing with ink and money," which is true, but a bit flippant for a New England blue stocking.

"What, after all, do we know?" protested the actress. "Such is the objective reality!" "We know beans!" replied the Boston person, with placid dignity. Now it was palpably vain to argue with the weapons of mere logic the citadel of an intimate conviction.

ELDERLY WOMAN A SUICIDE.

Miss Jennie L. Butler, formerly of New York City, took a fatal dose of strychnine, Oct. 2. Mrs. Jennie L. Butler, an elderly woman living alone on the outskirts of town, committed suicide Sunday night by taking a fatal dose of strychnine. She was found in the garret of her house and it is presumed that she sought this place to escape observation and other punishment. The body was discovered on a table in the room. She had been in the room for some time, as evidenced by the fact that she had written a letter to a friend, dated Sunday night.

HIT BY A TRAIN.

Section Man Steps From One Track to Another and Dies. Plattsburgh, Neb., Oct. 2.—Joe Hula was recently and fatally killed yesterday by a Burlington passenger train from Omaha while on his way to work on the section. He stepped from one track to another to allow a train to pass and did not notice the one coming behind him. The train was in the station at that time. Hula was 55 years old, had resided here nine years, was married and had three sons, aged 13, 7 and 2.

MISQUOTED IN THE ORIENT.

United States Senator Diehrich, of Nebraska, Home From Far East. Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 20.—Senator Diehrich expects to return to Omaha and Hastings until October 7, when he will leave for Washington to remain for the convening of congress. He left for the night for Hastings and will return to Omaha tomorrow, and later will go to Omaha. He hoped to have more time in Nebraska, but an appointment in Washington, D. C., for the national capital necessitates his early departure.

Newspapers in Manila and Honolulu are printing the news of the senator regarding a canal across Luzon to a point on the east coast opposite Manila. He believes such a venture would be practicable, but he does not consent to the work. It would first be necessary to have the country examined by expert engineers under the direction of the United States government, to determine whether or not the canal could be built for a reasonable expenditure. He will probably move for an examination of the route, but he does not intend to have one of the departments and not with congress. The senator will heartily support, however, any measure which will result in the speedy building and improvement of the island.

HUSBAND DIVINES SPOUSE.

Mrs. Mary Mangold Finds a Trauant Spouse and Effects Settlement. Emerson, Neb., Oct. 1.—Mrs. Mary Mangold of New Buffalo, Mich., put in an appeal for divorce in court here. Her husband, John Mangold, a conductor who runs a freight between here and Norfolk. She claimed that her husband deserted her and her four children about five years ago. She stated that she was and Superintendent Strickland sent her transportation to come here. Mangold was arrested in the home of Shays Hill, and after a conference in a lawyer's office Mangold gave his wife a deed to some property in New Buffalo, $25 in cash and agreed to contribute $30 monthly to her support. She returned home.

NEBRASKA NOTES.

After an eastern trip they will be at home at 428 North Seventh street, Beatrice.

St. Edward—Mrs. R. F. Williams, wife of Postmaster Williams, died suddenly last night of heart failure. She was apparently in her usual health on a trip to Plattsmouth, where she was reported that while on the way to the farm of O. E. Chandler, in this county, a few of little tots, asked when he had finished explaining the lesson: "Now, has any one any question to ask?" A very angry girl raised her hand. "What is it, Martha?" asked the superintendent. "Why, Mr. Brooks, how much are those red parasols in your window?" said Martha.

HOLD-UP MEN FIRE THREE SHOTS WILDLY

Henry Selverkrubbe, Living Near Blair, Has Adventure With Bandits. Blair, Neb., Oct. 1.—Further details develop the fact that Henry Selverkrubbe who lives twelve miles southeast of Blair, was waylaid by two men about 7 o'clock Friday night at the turn of the road in front of Hans Schwager's place in Calhoun. He was driving slowly when suddenly the two men approached and one caught the horses while the other fired at him. Three shots were fired, one passing through the rim of his hat, one through the curtain of the buggy and the third penetrated the cushion back. Mr. Selverkrubbe was then dragged from the buggy, hit over the head with the revolver and several gasches made, making him insensible for the moment. The robbers then ransacked his pockets, nearly tearing the clothing off. They then got into the buggy and they drove from there in unknown, but later the team was found in Mr. Schwager's barnyard beside a large wagon. Sheriff Mencke was telephoned for and soon on the ground, but has not succeeded in catching the men yet.

BOYS TURN HIGHWAYMAN.

Two Lads, 12 Years Old, Accused of Daring Deed. Florence, Neb., Oct. 1.—Dalton Risley, David City, and Clark Ken of 1503 Burdette street, Omaha, claim they were held up and robbed at 5 o'clock Sunday morning by C. Barker and Murphy who were riding bicycles and had stopped at the south end of Miller park. After the alleged hold-up the boys were taken to the jail until Barker and Murphy came along. Barker was caught and is now in the city jail. Murphy jumped out of the wagon and got away. All the boys are aged 12. The horse and wagon are in the livery stable.

WILL ADMIT WORK.

Methodist Conference of Nebraska Proclaims Its Plan—Missions Work. Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 1.—Interest and attendance at the conference increase as the conference progresses. At the meeting of the Women's Missionary society Mrs. Spaulding delivered an address. She said the receipts had increased from $800 last year to $1,000 this year. Mrs. McLaughlin, deaconess of the Methodist Episcopal hospital in Omaha, spoke in behalf of the institution. She said that during the past year the hospital had treated 898 patients and had turned away 1,000 because of lack of accommodations.

Charles E. Buch, George Wash and Marvin E. Gilbert were called before the bar of the conference and asked the usual questions before admission to the conference. Bishop Goodrich was explicit in his questions and demanded positive answers. After the questions had been answered the bishop made a short address to the candidates. The conference then admitted these men to full membership and elected them to be ordained deacons in the church. The conference voted on the subject of a new constitution. The vote stood: Yeas, 98; nays, 5. This constitution is for the most part a rearrangement of material in the Methodist discipline of the character of a constitution for the church. The principal change is in wording which will allow women to sit in the general conference of the church. The constitution has to be adopted by a three-fourths vote of the ministry of the entire church.

NEED OF MORE WATER.

Fire Protection at State Institution a Problem for Nebraskaans. Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 1.—The recent destruction of the hospital for insane at Norfolk has caused the board of public lands and buildings to view with concern the scant fire protection at several of the state institutions. At the penitentiary the situation is even more serious. The water supply is not more than large enough for every day use and it is estimated that in case of a fire the wells would be exhausted in less than ten minutes. Better protection is found at other state buildings, but the board is of the opinion that there is large room for improvement.

HE APOLOGIZES FOR REPRESENTING RAILROAD

Ex-United States Senator M. W. Allen Counsel for a Grinding Corporation. Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 30.—Ex-United States Senator M. W. Allen, in an event that belongs to the unusual, Mr. Allen evidently thinks so himself, and in a brief which he has just submitted to the supreme court on behalf of a motive car, apologizing for the case of O'Neill against the Rock Island, which he appears for the defendant, the ex-senator explains his action in this language:

"I cannot be charged with being an over-zealous friend of railway corporations, for my boyhood experience in frequently those enterprises which management are heartless and inconsiderate of the welfare of others and particularly of employees; and I bear in my breast much of what may be called resentment against that kind of management of these quasi-public institutions conducted by private enterprise and for the sake of gain, but indispensable in the complex and intricate industrial systems of the nation.

"No one sympathizes more deeply than I do with the hundreds of thousands of poor men whose lives, health, and property are sacrificed to the successful operations of the railways of the nation, and in whose keeping is entrusted the personal safety of millions of men, women and children. Many of these become sacrifices to the dangers and hazards of their occupation; many are killed outright while engaged in their duties, and are less and dependent for life. I am of the number, daily growing stronger, more resolute and determined, I rejoice to see the railways of the nation owned and operated by the public government before what is known as the railroad question will have been settled in a way that is just and equitable to the legitimate interests of the public.

"Courts and lawyers have to deal with railways as they find them, not as they should be. The duty of the judge and counsel is to search and establish the true relation between these institutions and their employees and the public. That they are primarily for the benefit of the Chinese and the private fortunes of the latter will be disputed by no one; but private fortunes can only be increased and the public interest benefited by the roads being successfully operated and the interests of the shipping and traveling public.

The case at point is one where O'Neill secured a big judgment against the railroad company for injuries received while at work. He stepped between two cars to uncouple them. His foot caught between the cars and he was run down, losing both legs. "The railroad company was sought to be held liable because it did not block the space between the two rails. The court held that O'Neill did not exercise the care imposed upon him and that he contributed to his injury. This negligence was not the fault of the railroad company, but of the man himself. It was in his own volition into the jaws of almost certain death.

The case is important from its very nature. It involves the principle of whether railroad brakemen can recover damages through any defect in the track or equipment if he at the same time took a big risk in trying to uncouple the cars. The court held that Brakemen say that if they did not take this risk they could not hold their places, and Mr. Allen, while admitting that the law is against O'Neill, kept constantly reminding upon him while he was writing his brief, insisting that the law is that if a man voluntarily assumes that risk he cannot recover.

MODEST BOB BOGENT
THINK HE SAID IT
Evans Fails to Recall Having Said He Dismantled All the Spanish Ships.
DIDN'T STATE PHILIP RAN AWAY
Former Captain of the Iowa Admits That Admiral Schley Acted Wisely That Not Subjecting Fleet to Wreck of Shore Batteries.

Washington, Oct. 3.—Judge Advocate Lemay, whose sister died yesterday, was present with the Schley court of inquiry convened today, but immediately withdrew.

Admiral Evans continued his testimony before the court yesterday. Rayner began the interrogations by asking witness concerning the secret code of signals for communicating with the Cuban insurgents near Cienfuegos. The admiral said that when Chadwick commanded the code to him he did not instruct him to give the information to Schley.

Rayner then questioned witness, especially as to his interviews with Schley after the battle off Santiago. He asked:

"You had a conversation with Schley on July 1 on the flagship, in the course of which you used language as follows:

"Did you know that Jack Philip started to run away at the beginning of the battle? And to which Schley replied:

"You are mistaken about that, Evans. I saw nothing of the kind. The Brooklyn made a turn and you must see the tactical situation that made it necessary."

Deeds That He Said It.
"I never said anything to the effect that Philip had run away or attempted to run away. On thinking over last night what I had said to the court, I think I think Schley and I discussed the position of the Texas when the fight began. The Texas was lying broadside to the east when the engagement began and she turned with her starboard beam, headed off in the same direction as the rest of us. She fired the first shot with her port battery and she was headed in the same direction with the rest of the ships. I think that was the question I discussed with Schley. I never said anything to the effect that Philip had run away or attempted to run away."

"You have a conversation with him in which you used substantially the following language:

"I don't see the boy off the Pluton and the stern of the Porpoise, but my helm to starboard and I asked the Porpoise and she answered me."

"To the best of my knowledge and belief, I never used such language."

"You said that you saw the place at the conference of the commanding officers at that time?"

"Schley was in the cabin of the Brooklyn and I was in the cabin of the Spanish ship. There was general talk about the Spanish fleet having been located at Santiago. I do not recollect any special conference concerning having a conversation with Schley about the ships, in which I told him the experience we had in the attack on the Spanish fleet, and the opinion that it was not worth while to risk the ships fighting the shore batteries alone. I did not think anything that I said to him. In the case under consideration, I was not present at the harbor. If conditions changed we would have to take the risk of the fire from the batteries on the shore. I remember that when Schley remarked before we left that he felt the country held him responsible and that the ships should not be taken to the Spanish shore batteries until the Spanish fleet was destroyed."

Rayner read reports of Evans and the commander-in-chief on the engagement of the Spanish squadron in which Evans said the "Iowa" was ashore at 10:35. While the chief's report says "Iowa" and asked which was correct.

Evans replied that the time given in his report was the time when the leading vessels of the blockade were further out at night than during the day and that he had the previous statement from him to the effect that at daylight we closed in."

This the witness said was the exact time that the vessels came in closer at daylight.

"While before Cienfuegos harbor on the way to Santiago did you have any orders for battle?"

"No. We steamed in a column with the Spanish fleet. I had no instructions as to what to do in case the enemy should appear."

"We had no..."

Evans was then evasive.

Thomas M. Pennington, a newspaperman, was present on board the Texas during the Santiago campaign, was called. Witness said that he saw the Texas at the battle and that he saw the order: "Stop both engines, helm hard starboard."

Witness didn't hear Philip give orders for battle. Witness said he had on the day of the battle written a report of the battle, but those facts had not been given because Philip had asked him to "make it nice for everybody."

He was then excused for the day and asked to bring his newspaper report of the engagement into court tomorrow.

Captain Charles D. Sigbee, who commanded scout ship St. Paul during the war, was next called.

FINANCIAL CROP SUMMARY.
Bureau Says Conditions Are Generally Good—No Damage From Frost.
Washington, Oct. 3.—Following is the last weekly summary of crop conditions to be issued by the weather bureau this season:

Temperature conditions for the week ending September 29 were highly favorable throughout the central valley, lake region, middle Atlantic states and New England, and no damage from frost occurred in those districts. Heavy rains in the upper Missouri valley and Minnesota interfered with farm work and caused some damage to grain and stacked grain in South Dakota and Nebraska. The rains also interfered with farm work in portions of the south Atlantic and gulf states. Rain was generally needed in Illinois and Indiana. The week began to put the soil in condition for plowing and fall seeding, and also over the greater part of Texas for pastures and truck raising. The north Pacific coast the week has been cool and wet, with damaging frosts in Oregon and Washington. Injurious frosts also occurred over the middle Rocky Mountain district. The week has been favorable for maturing and gathering corn, and reports from the principal crop states indicate a much larger acreage and yield than has heretofore been out. The crop is now practically safe from frost in all districts. Fall plowing and seeding has progressed favorably in nearly all districts.

FARMERS IN CONGRESS.
National Gathering Opens at Sioux Falls—The Attendance Disappointing.

Sioux Falls, Oct. 3.—The twenty-first annual session of the National Farmers' Congress convened in this city yesterday morning. It was originally intended to hold the first session in the morning, but owing to the fact that the entire Massachusetts delegation and a portion of the New York and Philadelphia delegations were due yesterday did not arrive until this noon on account of missing a connection the opening had to be postponed.

The first session of the congress was held in the afternoon in the city and delegates and visitors were coming in on every train. It was given out in advance that 3,000 strangers would be here, but the indications now are that only about 1,000 will be here.

The exercises this afternoon consisted of an address of welcome to the visitors on behalf of the state by Governor C. N. Herrell; an address of welcome on behalf of the city by Hon. H. H. Keith, president of the Business Men's League, and responses by Governor E. P. Savage of Nebraska, ex-Governor W. D. Heard of Wisconsin, Hon. J. H. Wornley of Iowa, president of the North Dakota Agricultural college, and Colonel B. F. Clayton of Iowa. The annual address of President Candage, of the Farmers' Union, was given this evening.

The report of Secretary John M. Stahl contained the following:

"Our constitution provides that 'each national, state, county or organization created and maintained for the fostering of any agricultural interest in the United States shall be invited to send a delegate. In this country alone there are about 1,000 such organizations and if they were all represented the membership would certainly be possessed of the greatest stability and have a very high degree of intelligence. It is the duty of the truly representative of the agricultural interests of the country during the present session to extend considerable effort and money endeavoring to have these societies and organizations represented. It is the duty of the representatives to be put in the hands of the vice president of each state."

The report of the congress has not increased its reputation in certain places has. It has gained in the confidence of the agricultural organizations and among other classes.

ZULU CHIEF LOYAL.
He Will Not Agree Not to Defend Boers Against the British.

London, Oct. 3.—A dispatch from Pretoria to the Times says that while both sides were attacking Natal forts a party of about forty Boers invaded Zululand and raided cattle belonging to the natives. The British were ordered to return the cattle of the chief who would undertake not to defend the border against the Boers. The chief is said to have replied that he would remain neutral.

Both sides move on the border, says the correspondent, was very clever and enabled him to strike a point a long way from the border. He was, however, his only alternative an invasion of Zululand or rapid retreat along its northeast frontier.

FAMOUS HOBSEMA LANDSCAPE.
I. Pierpont Morgan Said to Have Paid $110,000 for It.

London, Oct. 3.—Charles Wertheimer, a noted art dealer, has just purchased for I. Pierpont Morgan, it is believed, a famous landscape by the painter J. M. W. Turner, which was painted in 1845. The picture is a magnificent collection of Dutch pictures at Dorchester house, Park Lane, the property of Captain Holford. The price paid for the picture was $110,000. UNUSUAL INTEREST manifest in art circles by the announcement that Pierpont Morgan's collection of Dutch pictures is to be placed on exhibition beginning Wednesday at the New York public library. Last spring there was shown in the galleries an interesting collection of Dutch pictures, but there was a noteworthy exception in the list of artists represented—Rembrandt was absent. The best and the water part of Mr. Morgan's Rembrandts had not been shown to the public. The most familiar etchings are included, such as "Christ Healing the Sick," "The Angels Appearing to the Shepherds" and portraits of the artist and his family. The collection is familiar and often reproduced. It is on a bill."

Fire Lamp Caused the Flames, and a Dozen Men Who Went In to Subdue Them Never Returned—Names of Unfortunates.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 2.—Twelve miners are known to be dead as the result of a fire in mines near Ladysmith, B. C.

Victor Dunsmyr, president of the Wellington Colliery company, has just received the following dispatch from Alex Brierley, a miner of the Extension mines of that company, situated near Ladysmith:

"I occurred in No. 2 slope at No. 3 level. I was working at the level. In half an hour it was half way up the slope, spreading to the airways and workings of No. 2 and No. 3 mines. I was stopped by two explosions. Have lost some men. Cannot say how many."

A special dispatch from Naramo says: "No. 2 slope at Extension is on fire and dense clouds of black smoke can be seen from here. Full particulars are not available, but a late report says that from 15 to 20 men are in danger, if not lost. It is said that it was impossible to get air to them and that they are probably dead. The fire broke out last evening. The cause is not yet known. The management has sent for hose and fire apparatus to all points in this vicinity."

All hopes for the men in the mine has been abandoned. No water is available, and there is no way of extinguishing the fire except by cutting off the air supply, which might cause a terrible explosion.

HER NAME HALL TOO.
Another Case of Masquerading as a Man—A Murray Hall.

New York, Oct. 2.—The strange story of a woman who preferred to pass for a man was made public by the death yesterday of Miss Carolina Hall of Boston, a cabin passenger on the steamship "Ipswich," which arrived from New York and other Atlantic ports on Sunday. On the passenger list Miss Hall appeared as "Mr. Charles Window Hall," and with "him" on the ship's register. It was learned that the former was stricken with a mortal illness that the ship's surgeons made the discovery that the supposed man was a woman. It was further suspected that "Mr. Hall" was not man, and "his" wife was received as such. The woman addressed her companion Mrs. H. Hall and spoke of her as "my wife."

The woman was 53 years old, and is said to have been the only daughter of a Colonel Hall, who was a retired army officer living in Boston. The vessel docked at this port Sunday and the young woman died early today.

All day long in the saloon of the Termino "Mrs. Hall" remained near the dead. She was there tonight waiting for the dead woman's relatives to come for the body. She is an Italian of about 35 years of age, and rather good looking. She cannot speak English and did not seem willing to tell all of the strange story.

It is learned, however, that she had known "Mr. Hall" for some years and was well aware that her companion was a woman.

The Italian woman said that Miss Hall and her companion were married in Milan about three years ago. According to the story, Miss Hall decided that men got along better in the world than women. She adopted male costume. She traveled thus with the other for two years and, as she was an artist, went about the continent painting and working at her profession. Being a good artist, Miss Hall is said to have earned several hundred dollars and won prizes. When she decided to come home she asked the Italian woman to accompany her.

LUCKY IS CURED.
Successful Operation is Performed in New York. The Case Reported by a Rare Surgical Operation on a Boy in Danger of Death by Lockjaw.

New York, Oct. 2.—By performing a rare surgical operation on a boy in danger of death by lockjaw, Dr. Kneass and Dr. Hoyt of St. Catherine's hospital, Brooklyn, have saved the boy's life. Daniel Kahn, 14 years old, was taken to the hospital suffering from lockjaw, due to stepping on a nail. His jaws, which had become rigid, were tried, but feeling sure that their patient would die if some heroic measures were not taken at once, the two men decided to attempt to risk an operation that had been performed only once before.

Kahn's skull was opened on the left side. The jawbone was cut in small sections, the vertical cavity and there injected half an ounce of anti-toxin. Kahn's body, rigid from the lockjaw, began to relax. His jaws, which had become rigid like a vice, became movable. The doctors say he will recover. As it is seldom a case of lockjaw is cured, the doctors are elated over their success.

HOPE THERE WOULD BE NO CONTROVERSY
This View Was Expressed by Captain McCalla After the Battle.

"GLORY ENOUGH FOR EVERYBODY"
Testimony Before Schley Court of Inquiry Taken Up by Oral Corroboration of Yesterday's Testimony.

Washington, Oct. 1.—At the Schley court of inquiry Saturday Rayner, by cross-examination, succeeded in weakening to a considerable extent the direct evidence given Friday by Captain McCalla, which was damaging to Rear Admiral Schley. It was shown that McCalla and Sutherland disobeyed orders; that Schley was not given the code arranged with the Cubans, and that he was not informed that the Spanish ships were not at Cienfuegos.

Although Captain McCalla had testified that he was not appreciative about the coal supply, he admitted that the Maribhead had only enough coal to steam less than twenty-four hours under normal conditions. The coal capacity of the Maribhead, he said, was 300 tons, and the "Flying Scorpion" started for Key West with 100 tons less than the ship's capacity.

Captain McCalla surprised every one by claiming credit for the expression, "There is glory enough for all," used by Schley's report of the battle and after the receipt of the report that after the battle of Lake Erie there was an unfortunate controversy, and I hope there will be none after the battle of Santiago. There is glory enough for all.

Captain McCalla's testimony as to the state of the weather was also shaken, but Counsel Rayner was not satisfied. Captain McCalla's testimony as to the state of the weather was also shaken, but Counsel Rayner was not satisfied.

MESSAGE IS MISSING.
Lieutenant Sutherland testified that he megaphoned to the Scorpion in Manila harbor that the only vessels in Cienfuegos harbor were the torpedo boats Galiarda, one or two gunboats, and a schooner. The commanding officer of the Scorpion to deliver this message to Schley as coming from Captain McCalla.

The log books of the Scorpion and the Eagle were produced, but the message referred to could not be found in either of them. In the log of the Scorpion it was explained that the Scorpion was in question to the effect that the Eagle did megaphone a message to the effect that there was no news of the Spanish fleet.

It was admitted by Lieutenant Sutherland that all entries of this character were not put in the log books. Captain McCalla, the commanding officer of the Scorpion, said that he could not be called to settle the question in dispute, as shown by the log of his vessel and the sworn testimony of the Scorpion's crew. Several questions were asked by the court to develop whether anything was done towards destroying the shore batteries at Santiago. The answer was that the Scorpion was ordered to destroy the land batteries, and the facts developed showed there was nothing to prevent the squadron approaching nearer the harbor.

SOME OF THE TESTIMONY.

After all, the troubles of Schley and Sampson are common to us all—a matter of coaling up.

Over forty American soldiers killed in one battle in the Philippines, and that right upon the heels of Senator Dietrich's report that the war was over and everything lovely.

The Omaha Bee was knocked clean out of the box in the republican county convention in Douglas county, and the next day it followed the precedent set by a local paper and "will support the whole republican ticket."

A private soldier in Vermont "was glad McKinley was shot" and he was promptly court-martialed and given a year in the penitentiary at hard labor. The rules of the army should be applied under civil conditions and anarchy would be short-lived.

The newspaper report of an outrage being committed upon McKinley's tomb was generally considered to be a hoax, excepting a few crazy republicans who imagine they see an anarchist behind every populist or democratic voter. The State Journal of Tuesday, after the report had been confirmed as a canard, had a fit over the occurrence and is fearful lest the clearing up of the matter will damage some other party patriots.

Speaking of the conviction of the Goebel assassins the State Journal says "The trials of the alleged assassins so far have been gross travesties of justice in the opinion of all fair minded men." Of course "all the fair minded men" the Journal has in mind are a handful of republicans, a governor of a certain state where the arch conspirator and fugitive from Kentucky is being harbored and the publishers of the State Journal.

An Omaha girl consulted a fortune teller as to whether her contemplated marriage to a young man would prove a profitable venture. The fortune teller took the matter under advisement for a $5 fee. Then he interviewed the young man for $25 to make the latter solid for a wedding to the girl. After a few days of wedded cussedness the young husband told his wise wife how little she cost him and the w. w. was so durned mad that she called upon the police to puncture the fortune teller.

Mark Murray thusly sizes up the fusion candidate for supreme judge: "The fusion nominee for supreme judge, Hon. C. Hollenbeck of Fremont, is one of the ablest legal lights in Nebraska. He is a union veteran, having enlisted as a soldier at the age of fifteen years. He is a graduate of the university of Pennsylvania has had legislative experience in his native state and has for several years been district judge of the Fremont district. Not only is he a man of high learning and a good lawyer, but he is broad minded, kind hearted and in every particular an ideal citizen. The people of Nebraska will make no mistake in electing him to the great office for which he is the fusion nominee."

Freedom of speech.

Some of the republican papers are suggesting limitations upon the freedom of speech as a cure for anarchy. The editor of the Commoner has as much reason as any living man to know of the abuse sometimes heaped upon candidates for office. He has been the victim of as much malice and vituperation as have ever been employed against an American, and yet he is opposed to placing any additional restriction upon the freedom of speech or the freedom of the press.

First, because the evils of restriction are greater than the evils of freedom, and, second, because abuse does not hurt the man or the party made the subject of attack. The death of President McKinley can not be traced to anything ever spoken or written against him. The assassin spoke affectionately of his victim and said that he had killed him not because of his dislike for the man but because of his opposition to government of any kind. Some who are engaged in schemes which will not bear the light will shield themselves behind the murderous deed of the assassin and denounce freedom of speech because they do not want the public to know of their doings. Others, stirred by a righteous indignation, strike at free speech because some have abused the latitude allowed. It is time for liberty-loving citizens to protest against the attempt to suppress free speech. The warfare must be against anarchy not against freedom of speech. Anarchy is an European product and thrives most where there is least freedom of the press. Let us not make the mistake of undermining our institutions under the delusion that we are thus protecting those institutions.

Free speech and a free press are essential to free government. No man in public life can object to the publication of the truth and no man in public life is permanently injured by the publication of a lie. That much is published that should not be is only too evident, but let public opinion correct the evil: that will be more effective than law and will bring no danger with it. If a paper abuses a politician opponent stop your subscription and teach the editor to conduct his paper on respectable lines. There is a sense of justice in the human heart and he who violates it violates it at his own peril. This sense of justice ultimately turns abuse to the benefit of the man abused. The present laws against slander and libel are sufficient; leave the rest to a healthy public sentiment—and then help to create the sentiment.—Commoner.

Righteousness For Others, Only. It is not strange that many excellent people in Kentucky are now recalling the circumstances of the assassination of Governor Goebel and the indifference that was manifested at the time and later on by the political opponents of the victim. The murder of Governor Goebel was as foul a crime as has ever disgraced American politics. It was the cowardly act of a sneaking agent of a sneaking conspiracy.

It is within the memory of Kentuckians and of many others that this atrocious murder did not excite general and unreserved condemnation on the part of republicans and that many who did express regrets in very measured terms were moved in the same breath almost to declare that the dead governor was not free from responsibility. No republican said he was glad that the murder had been committed, but plenty of republicans were quick to find excuses for the crime and to cast reproach upon the victim.

This attitude was preserved throughout the trial of the conspirators. One fugitive who was under indictment was openly "protected" by the governor of Indiana. He was similarly favored by the governors of Ohio and Pennsylvania, through which states he passed en route to the republican national convention of last year at Philadelphia, in which he was honored with a seat on the platform and with liberal applause.

If there was a single manly republican condemnation of the murder of Governor Goebel, a condemnation of assassination without quibble or reservation, it escaped public notice. It is natural that the people of Kentucky should recall these facts, but they should remember also that it is now and it always has been a trait of republicanism to lay down rules of righteousness for the government of other people. They do as they please themselves.—Chicago Chronicle.

J. Pierpont Morgan, the man who comes pretty nearly taking the Almighty's place and owning the earth, passed through Omaha one day last week and here's an excerpt from a column article about the gentleman as written by a World-Herald reporter: "It was with difficulty that a sight of the magnate could be obtained. As many safeguards hedge him about as though he were royalty or divinity. He is not of the sort that love the people, or that trust them, or desire their presence. One of the train crew carried to him the card of the World-Herald representative and he came to the platform of his private car, the "Columbia."

The Law

Of health has no uniformed guardians of its peace. If it had there would be arrests innumerable in every restaurant every day of the year. Both in the quantity and quality of the food they eat and in the manner of its consumption men and women sin each day against the laws of health. Those who will not heed the warnings cannot escape her punishments, and dyspepsia or stomach "trouble" is the inevitable penalty of careless eating.

There is no other medicine for diseases of the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition which can compare with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures these diseases perfectly and permanently, and enables the building up of the whole body into vigorous health.

"I took two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for stomach trouble," writes Clarence Carney, Esq., of Taylorstown, Louisiana. "I did not get so much good that I didn't take any more. I can eat most anything now. I am so well pleased with it I hardly know how to thank you for your kind information. I tried a whole lot of things before I wrote to you. There was a gentleman told me about your medicine, how it had cured his case. I thought I would try a bottle of it. I am glad I did. For I don't know what I would have done if it had not been for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery."

No man alive abominates anarchy in every form more heartily than I; perhaps few have done more with arms or with pen to repress anarchy. I myself have nothing to keep back, but as parts of the conversation referred to might be thought to compromise the other parties I will not detail it without permission. Suffice it to say that all urged opposition to anarchy, I as earnestly as the rest, only our methods differed. I respectfully request you to give this statement such publicity as you can."

Chancellor Andrews also makes correction of "the report in circulation to the effect that in a lecture on Veracity last month at the University of Chicago I taught that under certain circumstances lying is justifiable. This report is absolutely false and without foundation. Some careless reporter must have ascribed to me a view which I mentioned only to refute it. In the lecture referred to I maintained with all the logic and warmth at my command that lying is never justifiable under any circumstances or for any purpose whatever. No other idea of my meaning could have occurred to any attentive listener."
