AHERN'S

HOSKINS.
The cold snap put all the Hoskins scrapping in a reflective mood. Even some of the old women have shut up their faces.
The Kruger saloon has been sold to the Ziener's and Otto will bowl 'em up with a bowling alley hereafter in Winside. His barnyard, Ed. Stevens, will also go to Winside.
The churches in Hoskins will all have excellent entertainment for Christmas eve, and plenty of presents for the little folks.
Miss Pearl Green and Miss Benser visited in Winside over Sunday.

CARROLL NEWS
From the Index.
Peter Huff sold his farm recently to Warner Moats for $50 an acre. We understand it is Mr. Huff's intention to move to Iowa about Jan. 1st. While we are sorry to lose such an estimable neighbor as Mr. Huff, we shall welcome Mr. Moats.
A literary society has been organized in district 30 with John Kinney as president. They meet every Friday evening.
Mr. and Mrs. J. Kinney are entertaining friends from Iowa.
A group of people of the Methodist church society for mutual improvement are doing Christian work at the home of Mrs. Kinney on Tuesday evening. Mrs.

ness in Hoskins a few days ago.
The dance given by the Winside club last Tuesday evening was a well attended affair and heartily enjoyed by all present.
A party consisting of W. H. McClusky, A. H. Gatten, L. S. Needham, Jno. Elliott, Frank Weible and J. C. Mitchell left last Tuesday evening for the Black Hills to investigate the Hidden Fortune mining prospects.
The various churches are all preparing fine programs for the enjoyment of the children Christmas eve.
Miss Lillie Jamison of Sioux City arrived Monday evening for a visit at the Biech home.
Sam Riechert had business in Wayne Monday.
Mike Lyons left on Tuesday for a two week's visit with relatives in the southern part of the state.
Dr. Scruggs had business in Wayne Tuesday.

BRENNAN AND PLUM CREEK.
Is this cold enough for you?
Chester Brown shelled his corn Tuesday.
Louie Volpp was in these parts Sunday.
Beach Hayes visited with John Coleman the first part of the week.
Some of the kids are having sport now catching sparrows for pot pies.
Henry Roth and John Barrett shelled their corn Saturday.
Bert Hyatt and George Sauer left for a sight seeing trip Monday to Charles Mix county S. D.
Herman Frevert was at Wayne Monday.
Fred Slahn, Harry Myers and Fred Borshien left Tuesday for Oklahoma to see the country.

Omaha Markets
NYE & BUCHANAN CO.
Dec. 18, 1901.
Receipts of cattle fair, 10,000 for three days. Corn fed steers make up a good share of the offerings but as usual the half fat and short fed grades are largely in evidence. Desirable well fattened steers are now in active demand and strong while common and medium grades rule dull and weak. Cows and mixed stock in fair supply, market strong to 10c higher than last week, demand liberal and active. Trade in stockers and feeders quiet but steady to strong on anything desirable. Supply and demand light.
Receipts of hogs continue liberal, 30,000 for three days. Today with 11,500 on sale market opened slow and dragged all day long being fully 10c lower on all grades. Range $5.90 to $6.65, bulk $6.00 to $6.25. Average is about 10c higher than last Wednesday. We don't look for much of a decline for rest of week.
Sheep receipts moderate market strong to higher.
All kinds of toys and games.
The RACKET.

COLLEGE NOTES.

A large number of students will spend a few days at their homes next week.
Mr. Jones of Holt county visited his brother, Frank, Wednesday and witnessed the class work.
Several students attended the meetings at the Baptist church and enjoyed them very much.
Mr. Dahlman returned to College Monday and is able to go on with his work. He has about recovered from his foot ball injury.
Mr. McIntosh went home Thursday and will begin teaching after the holidays. He will return as soon as his school closes and go on with his course.
Rev. Welden led the Y.M.C.A. on Sunday, the attendance was very good and the exercises interesting. About fifty of the young men are members.
Perhaps no more comfortable place is found in town than in the buildings on the hill these cold days. The heating apparatus in each building gives the best of satisfaction.
The railroad grants one and a third rate to students from the 20th to the 30th. Each student must have a certificate from the president on which a ticket may be purchased at the rates.
Messrs. Hansen and Dart of Holt county, Payer and Wright of Wayne county, Stewart of Dixon county and Miss Shoemaker of Knox county, are new students this week.
Mr. Olds who spent several months with us last year enrolled Saturday. He will prepare to teach before fall and will doubtless make as successful a teacher as he is a student.
48 of the 125 students who went through quarantine last winter are now in attendance. The majority of the others are teaching. Their reunions are on par with a regimental reunion and their campfire anecdotes about as amusing.
A large increase in the enrollment is expected after the holidays and it will be necessary for many to find rooms with people who live in the north part of town and no doubt it would be a favor to the president if any who can take roomers will advise him.
Fred and Jim Pile will be home tomorrow and they are as glad to get back as we are. Prof. Pile's work will be lessened, as Fred can attend to much of the correspondence and assist in the office. No one fully realizes what a loss it would be until he is away for a time.
The College will have no vacation until Christmas day and students have been urged to enjoy as little time as possible from their classes. As a whole, the classes were never doing more satisfactory work and each teacher will make an effort to keep the work up to present standard though some are our several days.
Look over those holiday novelties at the Brookings grocery. You may see just what you want at half the price it will cost you elsewhere.

HOLIDAY GOODS PIANOS & ORGANS

Our efforts in bringing a grand stock of Holiday goods to Wayne for this season are being appreciated. Our store is now and always has been a leader in everything pertaining to a complete Christmas number. Our toys, novelties, articles of usefulness to the girls and boys, the ladies and gentlemen, are always selected so as to give the greatest value for the money they cost. We have a large stock of cheap things for presents that are good enough for the best people on earth. There is probably no country extant which requires better things for gifts than Wayne county, Nebraska. We try to fill the wants of the people and our success in the past is proof that we succeed.

A Dramatic Reading

She stepped before the man framed in the iron gratings. "Mr. Hargan, I believe. May I have a word with you, sir?"

"So has the wild vine the sour juice, but sweet grapes upon it. I will ask you about the engrafted word. I pity you, Hargan."

"I will let you put your lips against baby Alice's cheek and kiss it, as I promised, but you must put back your hands."

The lips of the two met. The little baby Alice's cheek and kiss it, as I promised, but you must put back your hands and raised his eyes.

The ship stopped at Key West to coal. The rainless island is a glimmering wonder of the sea, and old Key West breaks the onerous glare of oranges as the ship pumps in over waters as clear as the sky.

"I was some hours to wait. I visited the date palm groves, the banana trees, the orange groves, and then suddenly recalled that it would be Christmas when I reached New York."

It was Christmas afternoon. Hargan stood listening at the bars. He was the withered mistletoe. It was green memory still. There was a tiny wall. The same woman steps were on the

Another year. Baby Alice is now almost 4. Hargan had lived a right life. The better angel in his soul had grown. One day he received a note from Mrs. Ainslee. It read:

Some seven or more years passed when I was asked to make a contribution toward the education of Alice Hargan, which I cheerfully did. I soon afterwards went to New Orleans.

When we recall that almost every one here has been a victim of the influenza epidemic, this is a greater percentage of downright goodness than is traceable to people of all-night saloons.

CHRISTMAS, 1901

By Margherita Arlina Hamm.

Once more
The morn
On which
Was born

The Prince of Peace infolds the earth,
Although no rhythmic chants of mirth
Descend from seraphim on high
Whose glories fill the eastern sky.

Below,
Above,
The sounds
Of love,
The signs
Of joy
From man
And boy

Proclaim the Lord is born anew

"Who are you?" said I to the wasted man. "Hargan's wife," she said in a strong tone. "Oh, it is good that he is to me, but I am so helpless!"

"I will care for her and cherish her as my own." "I stood by her mother when she was dying," said he, wrinkling his face, "all black from the coals, and she tried to lift up baby Alice to me. It went to my heart, but a spring of mistletoe is all that is left of the mother now."

It hurt me to say it, but sometimes I fear that we may lose her. (Slight pause in reading.)

Christmas came, shadows and sunlight, fifteen snow-bells, bright, sunny faces, passing and hurrying feet, souls bearing something to some one who had been transformed.

That man was Hargan. ["The Star of Bethlehem" may be sung behind the curtain as it unfolds. Considerable pause in reading.]

"When the ants have knocked the oakum whiskers off Santa Claus and cracked the old man's head, the story of Santa and his reindeer is a more beautiful and more pure joy than those hours brought, but not on this side of the grave."

"Oh, lady, lady," she continued. "It is good of you to come down here to see me. It is a favor I would ask of you, if I should die, have an eye to my child, Hargan's sake. Her name is Alice. I was brought up a Methodist."

DISFIGUREMENT OF SMALLPOX. How to Avoid the Worst Terror of That Name. Medical Compend: The name smallpox is simply a corruption of two words, "small" and "pocks," and the various stages of the disease these pocks may be distinctly felt, under the skin, the fine spots. Later they appear on the surface as vesicles or pustules, usually being the characteristic pustules. Within each of these pustules is set up an active process of ulceration, which if not checked, develops into a lesion of the true skin involved, and results in the permanent and unsightly scars of scars known as "lockjaw."

Smallpox pitting can be prevented by the use of the face antiseptic remedies, and I think the most desirable is one that is made of ozone and glycerine. Glycerine has the body of the ozone, and also being such a very heavy liquid, enables it to be worked into the pores of the skin and to check fermentation, which is a part of the ulcerative process, can be stopped, then pitting can be prevented. The less the ulceration the less pitting. If the ulceration can be entirely prevented, which leaves no pit.

On each Christmas afternoon while she is a little child, and she tried to lift up baby Alice to me. It went to my heart, but a spring of mistletoe is all that is left of the mother now."

The South Sioux City Record says there are 1500 cases of small pox in Sioux City, and clerks in department stores break out while behind the counters. It is a wise plan to let Sioux City severely alone. Going over there to buy goods is a sure way to contract the disease. The following interview appeared in last Sunday's Journal, between a reporter and Mayor Burton:

"Good morning," said the scribe.
"Good morning," replied the burgomaster.
"What's your complaint?"
"Excuse me, sir, but—"
"If your next door neighbor has the small pox—"
"Excuse me, but—"
"I will send Herman up at once."
"You are mistaken, sir."
"Oh I understand. Your house is under quarantine, and you want the card taken down?"
"My dear sir, allow me to—"
"Well, it can't be done, and there's no use talking about it. This smallpox business—"
"If you will allow me to explain—"
"I tell you there is no use. I don't quarantine people because I get any fun out of it."
"I know you don't sir."
"And there are no fees."
"But I don't want to talk about smallpox, Mr. Mayor. I—"
"Well I don't want to say any tickets either."
"Pardon me, but—"
"No, I've got a ticket for that Methodist society, and—"
"Look here, your honor! I'm not selling tickets."
"What's that? No smallpox kick and not selling tickets?"
"That's what I said."
"Oh, this is too much! Here, have this rocking chair. Have a cigar. Have a little—"
"Thank you, Mr. Mayor, but—"
"Say, I'm glad to see you, old man. By George, I am. Haven't got any smallpox kick, haven't got any tickets to sell. Oh, joy! I'll have to telephone Mrs. Burton about it right away."
"Suppose you are somewhat annoyed by—"
"No kick—no tickets! Say, have another cigar. How are the folks? Pull your chair a little closer to the fire."
"Thank you! Mr. Mayor, I am a representative of the press."
"Oh, yes."
"I wanted to ask you a question: Is a public office a private snapp?"
"I'd like to see the man who said it was."
"What would you do with him?"
"I'd run him for mayor of Sioux City in smallpox season."
"Don't let me keep you from your correspondence."
"Oh that's all right. See this letter?"
"Yes."
"That's from a prominent citizen who announces that he will prosecute the city for quarantining him and declares everybody who has anything to do with the city administration is a liar, a thief, and cut throat."
"That's complimentary."
"Here's another letter from the same man."
"Yes."
"It is dated a few weeks earlier. He demands that his next door neighbor be quarantined for a case of measles in the family and compliments the administration on its enforcement of the health law."
"Will you be a candidate for reelection?"
"Only on two conditions."
"Name them."
"The legislature must adopt a law abolishing church fairs."
"Nice idea!"
"And the smallpox germs must be called."
"It's a nice day."
"Yes, but don't mention my name."
"Good morning."
"Good morning."

Cullings From Congress.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12, 1901. (Special Correspondent of the Democrat)

Mr. Lovering, a republican Congressman from the State of Massachusetts, has introduced a bill which gives to national banks the right to issue notes to the amount of ten per cent of the paid and unimpaired capital of each bank, in addition to the rights which they now have to issue notes to the full face value of the United States bonds of which they are now owners. This additional issue is to be termed "guaranteed bank notes" and the Government is to guarantee their payment. During the time these notes are outstanding, the bank is to pay a tax into the office of the United States Treasurer, in what is called the redemption fund, which is equal to five per cent of the value of the notes in circulation. The act further provides that after three years from passage of the same, any national bank association may issue twenty per cent of the face value of the bonds of which it is owner, and after six years it may issue eighty per cent of the face value of its bonds, over and above the amount now allowed to be issued, providing that said guaranteed bank notes shall not be issued in amount to exceed forty per cent of the capital of the bank. The bill is a most elaborate one and provides that the national banks may expand and contract the currency by the issuance of these guaranteed bank notes, and then withdrawing them from circulation at such times as they may see proper. The bill in short gives the national banks the right to issue currency and makes the Government stand good for the currency so issued. This vests in the banks the right to give the people a money, of course charging them interest for its use, and Uncle Sam stands back of the scheme and in case of a collapse or panic, the burden is thrown on the Government to redeem these notes in lawful money. As Mr. Lovering has been named as one of the committees on Banks and Currency to which the bill is referred, it may be safely said that this measure represents the desires of the large national banks of the east. As to whether it will become a law during the present session of Congress is uncertain, but it will no doubt be pushed for all it is worth. It is one of the most selfish schemes that greed has yet devised, by which national banks may expand their circulation, charge the people interest upon the same, and have the Government assume the risk of the enterprise. If this bill should become a law, this nation would become a government of the national banks, by the national banks and for the national banks. And yet you find people who claim that the currency question is settled.

Good Health

Is doubtless the highest human good. It is especially so to women, to whom it means the preservation of beauty, happiness in the home, and the enjoyment of social life. There can be no good health for any woman who suffers from womanly diseases. Her complexion fades, her eyes lose their firmness. Her eyes are dull. She has no home happiness, no social enjoyment.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the diseases which destroy the health. It establishes regularity, dries the disagreeable humors, keeps the system free from acid, and cures female weakness. It gives good health to women, which means tranquil nerves, a good appetite and sound sleep.

The House of Representatives by Congressman Robinson, providing for the erection of a public building at Norfolk, Nebraska, and the expenditure of $75,000 therefor. It will be remembered that the site for this building has already been purchased by the Government and Mr. Robinson's bill provides for the erection of a suitable building on said site, the same to be used as a post office, Federal court and other offices. The measure was introduced last session but was not acted on at that time. It is expected, however, that it will be passed by both houses of Congress at this session.

The Fullerton Post says "The man who denies that there is a Santa Clause" is a "flaw" incarnate."

The Outlook, Knox county's new paper, says J. Sterling Morison is "declining mentally." Well, there is some consolation in knowing the decline cannot be but a bit of a start at the worst.

In giving chances on that old box of a piano to get new subscribers to the Herald, Postmaster McNeal should remember that a post office fight is never settled until a commission is received.

Well, Columbus ought to be the best town in the state in which democratic editors can get organized. About 30 cents and a half hour at the home joints does the business just as well as if a fellow traveled several hundred miles for his jag.

The State Journal stands pat for Admiral Sampson as against Schley and the findings of the majority court of inquiry greatly pleases that paper. The State Journal has a disagreeable faculty of making itself odious to the reading public in most such matters.

Bixby says: "Such mornings as these a small slice of sugar-cured ham, a plate of French fried potatoes, a trio of doughnuts like mother used to make and a cup of coffee, is a good enough breakfast for a king." Well, there is some consolation in knowing the decline cannot be but a bit of a start at the worst.

Butter on it is good enough for a country editor—because that's all he can get.

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the more severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible, if not possible, for you, then in either case, take the only remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles. "Boische's German Syrup." It not only heats and stimulates the tissues, destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest and cures the patient. It's the best. Recommend it. Many physicians and druggists in the world will give you a bottle of Dr. O. G. Green's relief. It's the best. Raymond's Drug Store, Wayne, Neb.
