Ten Nights in the Bar-Room.

Big Ten Nights in a Bar-Room Company at the opera house one night Friday, Jan. 24th, presenting the old, time honored temperance drama, Ten Nights, with many pleasing features. High class specialties, musical artists, moving pictures illustrating the descriptive songs. Don't fail to see the moving pictures of Mc-Kinley and Czolgosz, showing the execution in detail. Prof. Bentley, the musical artist, will appear between acts with many new and novel instruments, the greatest one being the ringophone or musical bowls. Lottie Eiler takes the part of Mary Morgan and sings her illustrated songs between acts. Watch for the band at noon, which will give a concert on main street. Positively one of the finest bands on the road. Remember the date, Jan. 24.

Omaha Market Reports.

Receipts of cattle very fair but not up to last week's run. The supply of corn fed cattle fair. Demand is good from all sides but the quality rather poor. Market active, steady to strong as compared with last week's close and 10 to 15c higher than last Wednesday. Supply of cows and mixed stock liberal but with all demand is active and strong to 10c higher for the week on all grades and general tone of the trade decidedly strong. Receipts of stockers and feeders limited, trading active and firm.
Receipts of hogs very light as compared with last week. Only about 20,000 for three days as compared with 30,000 for the same time last week. Today with 8,000 on sale market is slow but 5c higher and together with yesterday's advance makes market nearly 20c higher for the week and a shilling higher than last Wednesday. Range $5.80 to $6.50, bulk $6.10 to $6.30. The prospects look good for balance of week.
Sheep receipts fair, market strong to higher.

DIED

The numerous friends of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Jacobs were shocked Monday by the news of the lady's death. It was generally known that deceased was very low with pneumonia, but the latter part of the week all reports were to the effect that she was getting better. However, the end came at six o'clock Monday morning.
The funeral was held on Wednesday and largely attended by sorrowing friends. Rev. Welden conducted the sad rites at the Presbyterian church. A beautiful pillow of white roses rested against the pulpit, in the center of which appeared the word "Ida," brought out in purple. The bier was covered with roses. A quartet composed of Messames E. Cunningham and White and Messrs. Will Cunningham and Geo. Cook, rendered two selections, and Mr. Ralph Oonklin of Tekamah sang "One Sweetly, Solemn Thought."
Deceased was born at Lowell, Mass., Oct. 1856, was married to A. N. Jacobs of Wayne at Boston in 1887, and lived the fifteen years of her married life here. She was a most estimable, kindly woman, and her sudden demise is a great loss to her friends, to her husband a terrible catastrophe.
"Smith McManigall has passed away," was the unexpected greeting early Sunday morning. His many friends fully expected last week, to soon see him about again, but Providence permitted otherwise. The stricken family have the sympathy of all in their second bereavement of a few weeks. Smith was a pretty good fellow, perhaps prone to err like the rest of us, but a ready friend to all. The funeral was held Wednesday forenoon and in charge of the M. W. A. to which order he belonged and had some $3,000 insurance which is a godsend to his widow and four fatherless little ones.
J. F. Alexander, a former resident of Wayne, died at his home in Concord last Sunday. The funeral was in charge of the G. A. R., and held at the M. E. church in Wayne last Tuesday, the remains being laid to rest in the Wayne cemetery.
"A Merry Minister" Co. will hold a revival of fun in your town next week.

HOSKINS.

A. T. Waddell was at Winside Thursday.
Perrin Long and G. W. Trotter drove down from Winside Monday. We hear that Mr. Long will improve his resident property here and become in the near future a Hoskinita.
Mrs. Hague came from Hosper, Iowa, Monday for a few weeks visit with her daughter, Mrs. Frank Oldenberg.
The Kautz saloon was broken into Monday night and some whisky stolen. Wouldn't that tire you? Next we know some one will break into the ground floor of the big building next to the M. E. church and steal that old dummy engine there. Hoskins takes the cake for petty thieving.
Mrs. F. Oldenberg and Mrs. Hague were shopping in Norfolk Wednesday.
Several of the members of the new lodge that was organized Monday evening went to Norfolk Tuesday evening to visit the lodge there.
Drs. Holden and Tashjian of Norfolk were in town Tuesday to perform an operation necessary for the advancement of the recovery of little Sammy Nelson who has been sick for some time with lung fever. We hear he rallied from the operation better than was expected.
John Shanoq came home Monday afternoon from the west.
Otto Kruger has sold his bowling alley at Winside and is in Hoskins again. Thus they all come back to our peaceful little burg.
Mr. and Mrs. Trotter returned to Winside Saturday afternoon after a pleasant visit with old friends here.
Joe Benish came down from Wayne last Saturday evening.
Joe Benish and Josephine Ferris visited pa and ma Benish out near Hadar Sunday.
The Woodmen give the use of their hall this evening for a free dance.
There was a lodge of A. O. U. W. organized here Monday evening with 25 charter members.
Died, Sunday, Jan. 12, the baby girl of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Wantock, the funeral was held at their home Tuesday. The parents have the warm sympathy of the Hoskins people.
The icehouse and building for the new meat market is about ready for occupancy.
Mr. and Mrs. Ike Carr's baby is reported to be very sick.
The dance at Waddell's hall last week Friday was not largely attended as some thought it had been postponed.
It is comical to see how scared some of the Hoskins folks are because there are a few cases of small pox at Winside.
Henry Westlich went to Wayne and got of the proper authorities a search warrant and some of the old women are mean enough to insinuate that it's a last resort of Henry's to find a wife.
A T. Waddell celebrated his 16th birthday last week Thursday, no guests, no music, plenty of refreshments.
Pete Kautz came over from Clarkson Wednesday.
Mr. Dendering returned from Omaha the first of the week.
Agnes Shanon was shopping in Norfolk Friday.
The moving picture show held at the hall Friday evening wasn't so bad as it might have been.
Herman Zeimer has gone back to farming. Louis Zeimer is hauling ice, while Otto Kruger is tending the Zeimer saloon. Say, there are more ways through the woods than one.
Frank Oldenberg visited Wayne Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Huchison entertained a few friends the other evening, music and singing were in order.
Number 2
It seems to be ice harvest this week.
You would think Hoskins had had a shower of traveling men by the trunks and sample cases in town this week.
A. A. Welch was in town Friday.
Henry Westlich was at Omaha last week to attend the implement men's association. Hoskins' hens are all beginning to lay.
We see by the Melvin News in Winside Tribune that SHE had a party being HER 16th birthday. We venture to wish HER many happy returns of the day.
Agent of the American Express company, Mr. Kennedy, was in town last week.
We hear that Mr. E. Behmer is now vice president and a stockholder of Hoskins bank.
Annie Nelson was at Norfolk Wednesday.

T. J. Snyder bought a pair of bronchos the first of the week.
Herman Peters and Will Bostensted were at the county seat Monday.
Dick Rittie drove his fat cattle to market Wednesday.
Some of the farmers are losing horses by an unknown disease in this locality.
Vall, I tanks Ise do a gud job of hunting da odder day I takes mine gun and goes out and finds von yack rappid I takes some gud aim and shoots him troo de haid and I tanks for sure I haves him ven he jumps up scatcher his ears a couple of dimes and runs vav vav off over de hill to hum-te-dum.

Charley Canning is planning to move on his farm near Norfolk soon.
Wm. Vincent was on the Creek last week and purchased a lot of fat cattle.
McManigall's ten mile running team was beaten last Saturday.

Mr. Martin Muth is on the Creek breaking horses for his father.
The school at No. 8 is progressing finely this winter.
M. S. Enghart says he has the nicest baby boy in the county, but Hamir Fitzsimons says he has a nicer one, and as there are so many nice baby babies in Wayne county it is hard to tell who has the nicest one.

A $10 Gold Piece for a $5 Bill!

We have never heard of anyone offering to sell a ten-dollar gold piece for five dollars. Why? Because every one knows the value of a ten-dollar gold piece. But we hear every day of a ten-dollar suit for sale at five dollars. At this season of the year many merchants advertise to sell winter goods at half price. The reason for this is that most customers cannot tell the value of merchandise and some merchants believe that if they will mark up their goods and then sell at half price they can sell some goods that would otherwise remain in their store. We believe it good business to clean up and sell out at as nearly as possible all winter goods, but we do not believe it good business policy to deceive anyone about the former price. We will not use deception to sell goods. Our price is marked on every article and that price is the exact value. If we advertise a discount sale you get the discount, for you get the goods for just that much less than the article was worth early in the season. If you buy here you are always safe. We are now offering 25 per cent. off on Ulster Overcoats, Fur Coats, Boys' Overcoats, and Fur Caps. There is yet lots of time to wear these goods. If you care to save 25 per cent. you can do so if you trade here.

Staley Underwear.
Our line of Staley underwear is always complete. We have all sizes up to size 50. This is the best time to put on a new suit of Staley. It will cure rheumatism. About seven hundred men in Wayne county are wearing Staley underwear. All recommend it. Wear it and keep well. All doctors recommend it.

King Phillips of the corn pit, has been ground into financial poverty on the board of trade.

It now seems not improbable that the lost arms of the Venus de Milo may be found and restored to her. It is also hoped that some of her clothes may be found.

The Daughters of the Confederacy of Kentucky object to Uncle Tom's Cabin show. The people of Kentucky are behind the times. They don't like anything new down there.

Sioux City is right in it now. Down there they have a Sioux City and Beaumont oil company organized. And there is a woman in it, too. The woman is not in the well. That's where the suckers' money goes.

The Norfolk News says the people of that odorous village have gone to star-gazing. It is presumed they are looking for Gov. Savage, since the News has been sending the governor "straight up" for several weeks.

The Omaha News says the mayor, chief of police and police force of that city are all blind—they can't see the gamblers. Probably the officials are in the habit of looking straight ahead with their phylanges distended to the rear.

An Iowa paper says: There ought to be busy times for Washington dressmakers when Shaw gets a real good start. Just think of the fun and the laughs they will have when the girls get to making over those dresses made in Dennison.

A monthly magazine is to be published at St. Louis for the lunatics of the country and called the "Lunatic Trade." Here's an elegant opportunity for McNeal of the Herald and McKee of the Tribune to get in some of their fine work. They are both brilliant writers of "there's nothing to it."

A great many democratic and populist papers are roundly abusing the rank and file of the republican party for the reprehensible work of Gov. Savage. Republican papers as emphatically declare that their party is not responsible for Savage. It would appear to the DEMOCRAT that the professional republican politicians, the men who make up the "slates" are responsible, and not only that, but they have connived and schemed for just such a result as has taken place. It is hardly possible there is one republican voter in Wayne county who commends Savage's action or who is not disgusted with the executive. On the other hand, there are undoubtedly hundreds of the wire pullers in league with the governor. Republican spellbinders and republican newspapers vehemently shouted during the recent campaign that Eugene Moore, Bartley and all the little and big rascals in the party had been turned out, but all political indications show that these rogues simply worked the whole party for a new lease of life. The election of Bartley's partner, Millard, to the United States senate, is a striking example of how the old gang are "still in the ring," and nothing less can be expected than that they will continue to run the party in this state more completely than ever, if the release of all the party rascals count for anything.

There is an infinite amount of "rot" going the rounds of the republican press of Nebraska these days about the pardoning of Bartley. These imperialistic chanters of modern republicanism will deceive no one. They may deceive themselves, however, in presuming that the people of

The Boston Herald, speaking of Mr. Bryan's speech in that city, said: His address upon the subject of "The Patriot in Peace" was wholly devoid of partisanship and special pleading, and, except for the stirring words of unqualified sympathy for the Boer cause, there was probably nothing in all that he said which conservative good citizens generally could not endorse.

He has never been heard in Boston to such good advantage, for his voice last night showed Nebraska, broadly speaking, will take their protest against the Savage(?) act seriously. The Independent of our own city and the York Republican seem to vie each with the other in trying to out-Herod Rosewater in their opposition to Rosewater's enemies. True, Bartley's pardon is not popular with the people but the whole thing from a republican standpoint is resolved into the one self-same proposition, to which The Democrat has so often referred viz: "Rosewater or anti-Rosewater." It is safe to say that had the Bee, and Rosewater personally endorsed the Bartley parole when first granted there would not have been a corporal's guard of these brilliant luminaries to lucubrate against this Savage solon of republicanism.

As we remarked last week we need only to recall the history of the party in Nebraska. If the Independent was not foremost in singing that siren chorus of "Redeeming Nebraska," it was not its fault. We can say of it as was said in the epitaph of the cowboy: "He did his d—st; angels could do no more;" the erstwhile knowing just what it confessed in its issue of Thursday, Jan. 2nd. "The whole infamous proceeding tends to show that the same old gang is in power at Lincoln." It followed this same Falstaffin truncheon, Rosewater, in the support of every embezzler the party has ever had. In support of that moral leper and intellectual dwarf, Dietrich, with never a word against his pardon of Henry Bolla the Douglas county defaulter. Glad huzzas were shouted when this same moral leper and mental Tom Thumb was promoted to the Senate along with one Millard, without whose connivance Bartley could never have stolen $201,000 of the people's money. Where was the York Republican and our own Independent then? Why, oh why, was not the circumambient air made vocal by the Orpheus-like guardians of the public weal, at that time. The Democrat again gives the reason. "Barkis was willin," et tu Rosewater.

It seems so simply plain that when Dietrich—a mere school-boy in intellect, and ought else that makes a man, compared with Savage, was promoted along with Bartley's co-partner, Millard, to a seat in the Senate as a reward for the Bolla pardon, Gov. Savage should not receive such a castigation (pretended) from the Rosewater crowd; and these two worthy journals should see what asses they are making of themselves. It was a foregone conclusion and it was well understood by Rosewater as well as the "same old gang" that this very thing was to be done to prevent the "peach" threatened by Bartley and save the republican party (the same old gang) from defeat.

These papers supported Steufer in 1900 and Steuferism in 1901, when they knew that had Samuel G. Sedgwick been Attorney-General of Nebraska, instead of C. J. Smythe, Bartley would probably now be occupying a seat warmed by either Millard or Dietrich in the U. S. Senate. They know that neither Savage or Steufer or just such pliant tools will be nominated this year and they will be found maligning fusionists whose records as public officials should make every loyal citizen of Nebraska proud that this "same old gang" is confined to the party of "convict pardons" and "round robin" fame.—Grand Island Democrat.

The Boston Herald, speaking of Mr. Bryan's speech in that city, said: His address upon the subject of "The Patriot in Peace" was wholly devoid of partisanship and special pleading, and, except for the stirring words of unqualified sympathy for the Boer cause, there was probably nothing in all that he said which conservative good citizens generally could not endorse.

He has never been heard in Boston to such good advantage, for his voice last night showed none of the strain incident to hard campaigning. It was mellow and yet penetrating, and those who came anticipating an oratorical treat were not disappointed, for throughout his address there was an undeniable charm in his eloquence. He spoke for fifty-five minutes without notes, and he said afterwards that the speech had not been committed.

It fairly bristled with epigrams characteristically Bryanesque, such as "Peace to be perpetual must have in it an element of justice;" "That is real patriotism which gives the body to the country when the country needs the body, the head when it needs the head, the heart when it needs the heart." "A man with no higher ideal than the making of money hasn't got an ideal such as entitles him to be called a man."

One of his most interesting passages was a high and unqualified tribute to Senator Hoar for his moral courage in dissenting from his party's decision, though Mr. Hoar had voted for the speaker's opponent. Mr. Bryan's audience interrupted him several times with outbursts of applause and when he finished there was an enthusiastic tribute of prolonged cheers.

It will be interesting to read some of the good words said of the great Nebraskan. George F. Washburn, who presided over the banquet given in Boston, referred to Mr. Bryan as the "most distinguished commoner in America today." And President Washburn further said:

Viewed from the standpoint of physical and mental endurance, Mr. Bryan's experience in two great presidential campaigns, and the interval between, stands out as a marvel in the political history of the republic. His honesty, purity and patriotism have never been questioned, and more than all this, the sublime self-abnegation of the man when urged to surrender conviction to meet a political exigency, reveals to us the reason for his phenomenal hold upon the popular heart.

George Fred Williams, in a letter expressing great regret because of his inability to attend the banquet, said:

Mr. Bryan is the purest man in mind and heart of all the public characters who have been known to me. Some men lead by virtue of intellectual force alone, but Mr. Bryan has entered the hearts of men; and such leadership cannot be shaken by all the machinations of sciences and manipulators. His command will sway the millions of democracy, so long as he may choose to exercise it, just as Jefferson and Jackson held their sway in their day.

General Patrick A. Collins, Boston's new mayor, referred to the great Nebraskan as "A pure, high-minded, typical, patriotic American from Nebraska."

John L. Bates, republican lieutenant governor of Mass., extended a cordial welcome to Mr. Bryan, to whom Governor Bates referred as "Son of Illinois, citizen of Nebraska, eloquent orator and distinguished leader of men."

And Governor Bates added:

It is not necessary for the descendants of pilgrims and puritans today to believe in all the doctrines a man advocates, in order to appreciate his abilities when it is eminent, or to respect his strength of character when it is great.

BY DAD.

Bob Armstrong says Dr. Leisenring got that fine x-ray machine so he could look through his patients' pants and see how much to charge them. By dad, I never needed an x-ray to see the fees asked by doctors and lawyers—it wouldn't even be possible to find the price with one of the machines.

"Even my shirt's wet, we cut up and danced about so much," replied a society flower upon returning from an evening out with Wayne's elect females. Have any of you common, ordinary, hen-pecked husbands ever heard about how the women folks tear loose when they get together? Why, it beats a "rough house" "down the line" all hollow. They stand on their heads, dance the koochee-hoochee, crack all such jokes as "what would the women in Kansas do if Carrie Nation left their state?" "Why do the people in Seattle live cheaper than the people in Boston?" "How do you say 'go way back and sit down' in one word of three syllables?" etc., etc. We men may think we enjoy ourselves occasionally, but, by dad, we only think so!

"Have you an extra copy of last week's paper," requested a lady who resides on Piety hill, one day last week; "and please mail us two copies this week," continued the anxious reader. "You don't run that local any more about 'buy a paper of your own; don't borrow it, do you?'" questioned the visitor. Then I asked her why and she replied that she just couldn't tell me anything. After a moment's conversation she asked, "What's the matter with you and A. B. Clark?" Bro. Clark didn't borrow a DEMOCRAT last week. We mailed him one in care of his neighbor.

"You ought to make a by dad item out of a fellow in our neighborhood," says George Fox. "He has lived there a long time and never failed to borrow the DEMOCRAT. Just give him a shot; he'll know the bonnet was made for him."

The Herald is advertising for a "small mule." What's the matter with the one it's got?

There was quite a congregation about the Volpp butcher shop Tuesday afternoon and all because the good natured county treasurer was the proud possessor of as fine a pair of twins as ever were born. Fred generously set 'em up to the boys and word a happy, hazy sort of a smile as he did so. By dad, all you fellows want to see Fred and take something on the girls, if the little beggars are black.

"That's once they found a cop right on his beat," remarked a wag, who doesn't like Marshal Miner, when told about Jack the higger.

People who do not like the DEMOCRAT should not be bashful about coming in and subscribing. If you want the paper we want your dollar. You are not doing us any favor; you get your money's worth, and when you think you don't, just quit it.

HUGGED THE WRONG GIRL

A Couple of College Students Try the Jack-the-Higger Trick and Have to Skip.

There was a great sensation in the lower part of town Wednesday night between 10 and 11 o'clock, all caused by a couple of half-drunk college students. Miss Mary Coyle and two young ladies who are guests at the Coyle home were carrying Peter Coyle a lunch, to the power house. When across the tracks the two students ran after them and one of them forcibly and with much enthusiasm embraced one of the young ladies. All three girls turned in an alarm and in the fuss the student lost his hat while the girls ran back to the Capital saloon and opening the door called for the marshal. Mr. Miner started right out after getting some pointers as to the students being out for a time. He hurried to the College, awakened Pres. Pile and the two proceeded to the dormitory. The boys were still talking loud but considerably surprised when taken down town. The professor accompanying them. At the Coyle residence was some fifty men and boys awaiting the culprits. The latter denied all knowledge of the assault and while the two ladies visiting at Coyle's thought they were the toughs, Miss Coyle didn't think they were the right parties. Some one in the crowd suggested linking the students on general principles, but the marshal took them back to the College yesterday morning. Pres. Pile promptly expelled them from the College, as will be seen by this week's College notes. Afraid to come down town and take the train they procured a lively rig to convey them to Wakefield. There is little doubt they were the guilty chaps and were mighty lucky in making a "get-away" without being bruised.

Prof. Pile says they will not harbor any such people at his institution and the prompt way in which he expelled them will no doubt have good effect on any such rambunctious roosters.

Farmer's Institute.

A Farmer's Institute will be held at Wayne on the 6 and 7th days of February. The management of the Farmer's Institute is putting forth greater efforts than ever before. The point has now been reached where the Institute force is no longer made up of volunteers, whose personal interests may often hinder their fulfilling the engagements made with the Institute management; but speakers are now regularly engaged, and when advertised to speak will be on hand.

In each instance the Institute speaker has not only scientific knowledge of the subject in hand, but has also made a success in the line he presents. This is deemed necessary to the highest efficiency in the work.

In the selection of these workers the Superintendent found himself in competition with some of the most active Institute managers in this county.

The Junior Library society had a pleasant and profitable meeting with Miss Francis Jones last Saturday afternoon.

Miss Jane Cook and Mrs. Geo. Cook were hostesses at a series of parties on last Friday and today. On both occasions the guests were invited for 5 o'clock tea. The hostesses were assisted in serving a most delightful three course menu by Miss Ella and Midge Bayer. On last Friday the guests were given slips of paper with the title of a Mother Goose rhyme which she was to recite. Then the guests were requested to write slang phrases—at the end of ten minutes a bell was tapped and papers collected; it being found that Mrs. Dan Harrington was entitled to the prize, a book entitled "In His Steps." Those invited were Mesdames Williams, J. and D. Harrington, Ivory, Mitchell, Neely, Raymond, Wait Weber, Ley, Ed Smith Mrs. Donnell of Omaha, and Bryant of Tekamah.

Mrs. E. R. Chace gave a small "at home" last Thursday in honor of her daughter, Mrs. Miller. A good deal of merriment was caused by the "fall day sucker" which was given each guest. Mrs. Ley received the prize, a great big "all day sucker," that she might practice as she consumed the least in the contest. The hostess was assisted in serving a delightful luncheon by Mrs. Sigworth. A very pleasant evening was spent in social conversation, charades and dressing pipes as dolls.

One of the jolliest hen parties of the winter was held at Mrs. F. F. Wheeler's home Tuesday evening, complimentary to Mrs. Dell Blanchard. Mrs. Ed Mitchell winning the honors. Mrs. Blanchard was presented with a lovely cut glass berry dish, by the ladies, as simple token of esteem and friendship. A number of young ladies gathered at the Gamble home last Tuesday evening in response to the invitation of Miss Daisy, the occasion being her 10th birthday. The house was prettily decorated with flowers—one large bouquet being the gift of Mrs. F. Phillo. In the progressive game contest Miss Mamie Feather proved herself the most apt and received a silver mounted paper knife. Each guest was then given a card and a stick of gum to represent an animal. It being almost impossible to decide what animal was represented under the name was attached that no prize was awarded. Mrs. Gamble was assisted in the serving of light refreshments by Misses Daisy and Kate Gamble and Miss Ethel Edgerton. Miss Daisy received a number of nice presents as tokens of the best wishes of her friends. Those invited being Misses Edna Bush, Ruth Bressler, Helen Northrop, Helen McNeal, Katie Lewis, Mamie Moran, Florence Welch, Edith Snodgrass, Nettie Perry, Jessie Tucker, Libbie Ellis, Elsie Warnock, Blanch Gaertner, Sarah Addis, Opal Omsstead, Ethel Brown, Mamie Feather, Edna Evans, Maude Grothe, Mabel Young, Emma Hughes, Naude Surber, Clara Ahern, Daisy Woolston and Carral Merritt of Wakefield.

Mesdames Skeen and Welch were the originators of a pleasant surprise party for Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jones last Friday evening. It was a genuine surprise and it was some time ere the company settled down to playing games. The drive out and hilarity made the oyster stew "the best we ever ate." Those present being Mesdames and Mesdames Skeen, H. S. Welch, Epler, W. E. Howard, Kate and Mr. Harford.

Geo. Oman and Mrs. Leatherby of Winside were united in marriage yesterday afternoon by Judge Hunter. George has a host of Wayne friends who will wish him much joy and all his troubles "little" ones. "They will make their home on the Eugene Mueller farm which place Mr. Oman has leased.

It looks as though the board of commissioners had no intention of stirring up a fuss about Treasurer Volpp's bond and the banks. The gentlemen adjourned without paying much attention to County Attorney Welch's advice. It looks to the DEMOCRAT, as though the latter official did his full duty, but perhaps we are "looking through a glass darkly."

Prof. Syle of the State university of California cannot tolerate snobishness on the part of his scholars. The other day, while calling the roll of one of his classes, he came upon the name of a Miss Greene. He paused and expressed his disapproval of the final "e" in her name by saying: "G-r-e-e-n-e, does that spell Greene or Greenie?" Miss Greene promptly replied, "S-y-l-l-e, does that spell Syle or Silly?"

Brain-Food Nonsense.

Another ridiculous food fad has been branded by the most competent authorities. They have dispelled the silly notion that one kind of food is needed for the brain, another for the muscles, and still another for the bones. A correct diet will not only nourish a particular part of the body, but it will sustain every other part. Yet, however good your food may be, its nutriment is destroyed by indigestion or dyspepsia. You must prepare for their appearance or prevent their coming by taking regular doses of Green's August Flower, the favorite medicine of the healthy millions. A few doses aids digestion, stimulates the liver to healthy action, purifies the blood, and makes you feel buoyant and vigorous. You can get Dr. G. Green's reliable remedies at Raymond's drug store. ## County Attorney's Opinion as to the Liability of the County Treasurer.

To the Board of County Commissioners of Wayne County, Nebraska: Gentlemen: In compliance with your request for an opinion as to the liability of the County Treasurer to the county on account of money paid or premium on surety bond given by the treasurer, I would say:

"Our statute provides that the making of profit directly or indirectly by the county treasurer out of any money in the county treasury, the custody of which the treasurer is charged with by loaning or depositing or otherwise disposing of, the same shall be a crime and that the treasurer shall also be liable under and upon his official bond for all profits realized from such unlawful use of such funds."

"I believe the same rule would govern in determining what are profits realized from the use of such money as government profits for which no agent is required to account to his principal. The rule is as follows:

"As a general rule, all profits which are made by an agent in the course of the business of the principal belong to the principal; but those profits which are received by the agent for incidental benefit, derived by them from services rendered by the agent for his principal, where neither the principal nor agent had any claim the amount so received, do not properly so constitute profits, and cannot be recovered by the agent by the principal. Aetna Ins. Co. vs. Church, 21 Ohio St. 492."

"If there was an agreement or promise express or implied that the bank would pay part of the premium on the treasurer's bond, the treasurer would deposit county money in such bank and the bank did contribute to such premium, and the treasurer did deposit county money in such bank, the amount so contributed would be a profit which the treasurer had a right to expect in pursuance of such promise, and he would be liable to the county therefore.

"Such mere payment by the bank and the deposit by the treasurer would not in themselves in the absence of other evidence to prove an agreement be sufficient to establish such agreement or promise.

"If any sum was paid by a bank toward the premium on such bond and accepted by the treasurer after he knew that the bank refused to pay interest on county money that might be deposited by him, or after his pay for any considerable length of time left with such bank a deposit of county money, knowing that the bank did not expect to pay interest thereon; such facts would be strong circumstances to be considered by a jury as tending to corroborate any testimony establishing such deposits to have been made, in consideration of the payment of said premium or in pursuance of the same, but not conclusive of such fact.

"The entire question hinges on the evidence showing such a state of facts that the treasurer had a right to expect the banks to make payments for the premium on his bond, on account of such deposits.

Respectfully yours,
A. A. WELCH,
County Attorney
