FRIEND GOLDIE: Enclosed please find postal note for one dollar for one years subscription to the DEMOCRAT. We have had a very nice winter here. With kind regards and best wishes for the DEMOCRAT, I am

Respectfully yours, C. R. Gilbin.

With his big sale of horses tomorrow at the Strahan barn E. Cunningham completes his 73rd big auction for the winter season, making a record to be proud of for the time consumed. This does not include furniture and street sales. Mr. Cunningham, at a guess, will clear about $1200 for his four or five months labor. And then, to think Eph ever condescended to conduct a country paper and live on "charity," it's too bad we are not all as handy with our mouths as with the pen, they are a durned sight mightier, so to speak.

The complaint alleges bigamy, and Sheriff Mears is to bring him back for trial as soon as the necessary requisition is obtained from the governor of South Dakota. Reports come down to Wayne that Carroll is getting too rich, and that they are stacking up cash there at a rate that will soon make gold even a depreciated currency. Carroll's jolly newspaper representative was down here last week and showed us a bank statement that made money look asifer even than in the last quotations in our "green goods" circular. Brain-Food Nonsense.

Another ridiculous food fad has been branded by the most competent authorities. They have dispelled the silly notion that one kind of food is needed for the brain, another for the muscles, and still another for the bones. A correct diet will not only nourish a particular part of the body, but it will sustain every other part. Yet, however good your food may be, its nutriment is destroyed by indigestion or dyspepsia. You must prepare for their appearance or prevent their coming by taking regular doses of Green's August Flower, the favorite medicine of the healthy millions. A few doses aids digestion, stimulates the liver to healthy action, purifies the blood, and makes you feel buoyant and vigorous. You can get Dr. G. G. A schooner loaded with very bad whisky is to sail to land its illicit cargo in Bangor, Me., as the deputies were unusually vigilant. Finally the skipper grew desperate and the schooner was opened to own a small and unused barn in the suburbs. That night he caused it to be set on fire, and had some of his friends to the effect that a terrible conflagration had started. The police, deputies, small boys, town dogs, mounted militia and citizen-in-a-foot and in carriages, turned out and started for the fire. During the excitement the chief liquor dealer ran away with the cargo, but he got her cargo safely housed before the crowd came back.

Naples letter Chicago Record-Herald: The shops of Naples are filled with bogus curiosities and antiquities, which the dealers claim have been excavated from the ruins of the city. Several manufacturers in the city produce articles of alabaster, terra cotta, glass and bronzes which it is difficult to distinguish from the genuine. The dealers are exact replicas of the choicest gems in the museums. Ancient arms and armor, marble and bronze images and statuary, urns, lamps and other things are perfectly reproduced. The bronze lamps such as were used by the Pompeians are very pretty, whether they are made of terra cotta or metal. They have an advantage in that they can be used. Genuine ones are very scarce.

Washington, March 12.—President Roosevelt's question of the day message to congress, it was directed to the senate and the bill vetoed was one removing the charge of desertion from the naval record of John Glass. The message was as follows:

There can be no graver crime than the crime of desertion from the army or navy, especially when the deserter is a member of the nation, and is justly punishable by death. No man should be removed from the record of his service in the navy for a crime which he committed while in the service of his country. Lincoln, Neb., March 12.—Calls were issued last night for meetings of the central committees in this city the afternoon of March 12. The democratic call asserted that the meeting was for the purpose of discussing the letters of party interest, but the populist call is more explicit in that it specifies three subjects for consideration.

Omaha, Neb., March 12.—A storm of wind and rain of a hurricane nature swept through the northern portion of the city at 1 o'clock this morning, damaging a hundred buildings more or less. Cuming street, from Eighteenth to Twenty-fourth street, north of Cuming, is strewn with debris from damaged buildings, signs and fences. Nobody was injured.

Washington, March 12.—President Roosevelt's question of the day message to congress, it was directed to the senate and the bill vetoed was one removing the charge of desertion from the naval record of John Glass. The message was as follows:

There can be no graver crime than the crime of desertion from the army or navy, especially when the deserter is a member of the nation, and is justly punishable by death. No man should be removed from the record of his service in the navy for a crime which he committed while in the service of his country. The committee does not in all points agree with the recommendation of the secretary of the navy. In any event it is incomprehensible to me that he should have made the effort to put me back into the navy. A former chief of the United States signal service, ex-professor of mathematics at the University of Pennsylvania, China, and but recently president of the University of Washington, now has the position of a roller of logs at Port Hope, Ontario, Canada. He was called on the commissioner of Indian affairs regarding the matter, but was informed by Mr. Jones that the department was not to be troubled with a man of no apparent necessity for a delegation to come on here, and permission to this effect would not be granted. He further stated that in order to secure a payment of $10,000 he requested a special act of congress would have to be passed, and therefore nothing could be done by the department.

He was selected to make the uniforms for Governor Montague's staff, who has changed the color from the Confederate gray to bright blue. Eggs are getting so cheap that Mrs. Carrie Nation can be entertained in any town in the state.

The World-Herald begs Editor Howard and Senator Allen to quit their useless scrapping and go fight the common enemy, the republicans.

A Colorado man now proposes to keep Nebraska "wet" all summer for $1000. The saloon men would gladly put up that paltry amount.

Well Meserve was acquitted by the courts, but by the public he will be termed guilty as charged. Goodbye, Meserve, you are a dead duck, politically, awfully dead.

In Massachusetts school children are expelled from the public schools for eating onions. This is pretty rank and will no doubt stir up as much stench as the Schley controversy.

W. J. Bryan says he won't play if Hill is the game. Billy ought to be used to the up-Hill game in politics by this time. If Hill is nominated and Bryan backs and Hill is elected—wouldn't such a conclusion jar you?

The Norfolk News says that when a democrat has declined a nomination he has read himself out of the democratic party. Your Hon. John R. Hays, Mr. News, must be a man without a party. He couldn't get into the fusion bandwagon.

The destruction by fire of the Fremont Tribune building, owned by Hammond Bros. publishers, entailing a loss of $75,000, will be keenly regretted by the newspaper fraternity. The Tribune plant had just been moved in the new building.

The republican exchanges have almost without exception gotten Capt. Brown of Wakefield appointed state senator. Judging from the brown streak the captain made in the campaign of 1900 he'll have to be appointed to ever get there, but we rather guess he won't be appointed.

The Boers made a slaughter of the English, in the Transvaal, the past week, as will be seen by inside pages. There appears to be a few Boers unaffected by Kitchener's threats. It's too bad the sturdy Dutchmen can't capture Lord Kitchener, also, and end the war.

The New York Commercial has a cartoon illustrating Cuba trying to walk on stilts while Uncle Sam steadies him. The point made by the Commercial is that Cuba can't navigate without our help, but the cartoon truthfully portrays the real situation—the United States put the stilts on the little would-be republic.

The newspaper men are strictly in it on postoffice appointments; not one of the boys having been "turned down" in this state. Had the fusionists won in 1900 it is safe to surmise that we ten-cup pushers would all get it, too—in the neck. About all the democratic machine ever did for the press was to endeavor to cut off a part of the editors' legitimate revenue.

The defense of Ex-treasurer Meserve—technicalities—looks like a piece of very ordinary republicanism. If Meserve is not guilty he couldn't be proven so, whether the prosecution is a matter of "politics" or not. The Democrat's opinion is that when a man accused of crime begins to seek cover instead of uncovering, he's darn near always guilty. Meserve evidently doesn't want to be tried—he must have a reason for it.

The Stanton Register says Senator Young of that place has a gubernatorial bee buzzing beneath his bonnet. There ought to be something under it to fill up the lonesome places.

President Roosevelt has decided that his bonnie daughter, Alice shall not attend the coronation. Teddy is wise; it would not be safe, in view of Edward's failing for the tender sex, to have the young lady appear in knee breeches.

The DEMOCRAT must line up with the republican, imperialistic press in criticizing Gov. Hogg of Texas for his refusal to attend the coronation of King Edward because he would be forced to wear knee breeches and a gold-lace breech-clout. Why should not one American Hogg wear knee breeches when thousands of English hogs put them on?

Ex-Senator Allen no doubt knew exactly what he was talking about when he penned the following in the Madison Mail: "Schley is the victim of the worst navy ring of cut-throats and blood-tubs, the most villainous gang of snobs, that has ever infested Washington or disgraced the United States. This ring sought to blauen the admiral's character, and have carried their persecution beyond all reasonable bounds."

Senator Hoar, in a recent speech in the senate, referred to the fact that an order had been issued by the Philippine commission prohibiting the reading of the Declaration of Independence in the Philippine islands. The senator further pointed out that by the law promulgated by that commission it was a penitentiary offense to read the Declaration of Independence. The Declaration is said to be barred from the Philippines on the ground that it is an incendiary document. Is not this a curious charge to make against that document? It sets forth certain self-evident truths, and discusses the inalienable rights of man. Are we as a nation in a position to punish people for believing in that Declaration or reading it aloud to others? Imperialism has certainly brought us into a strange situation, and one is forcibly reminded of the time when a Christian monarch felt it necessary to suppress a publication which contained extracts from the Bible condemning monarchy. If we are going to have imperialism we will find it embarrassing to preach free government here while we practice imperialism elsewhere.—Commoner.

The death of John P. Atgeldt of Illinois removes a most striking figure from the political arena. When Atgeldt spoke in Wayne two years ago a large portion of the people supposed he was a ranting, screeching, type of politician, but it is a fact that he made the mildest, most convincing logical and deepest speech ever listened to in Wayne. A. L. Tucker was an old neighbor of the deceased statesman.

The country newspapers will have considerable to say next fall in framing the republican campaign in Nebraska, the Bloomfield Monitor sort of sounds the key note in the following: "Bixby, of the State Journal, seems to

In shutting off his useless wind through the Dixon Index, Hugh Gibson, a brother to our Wayne editor, cast some reflections on the person of Clyde Ecker, publisher of the Concord Call. Clyde didn't take it kindly as will be noticed by the following:

The one exception was the Concord Call, we have been satisfactorily informed. The truth is something Mr. Gibson with his swelled belly was never able to digest and because the Call's esteemed Dixon correspondent knew what he was talking about, Mr. Gibson, the inflated monstrosity, overlooked the opinion of the other exchanges—one of them called his paper crazy and another a conglomerated mess of ink daub—and gave the Call a jab in spite of the fact that it's editor had put in a good word for him on several occasions. It is what could be expected of a person who takes extreme delight in pouring kerosene on poor dumb creatures and then setting them afire. The world is full of such people waiting for the judgment day when they shall get a through ticket, without any stop-over privilege, straight to hell. Bet'cher life.

THE DANGER LINE

And now Methuen is in a trap. Twelve hundred soldiers under the famous British general have met a crushing defeat and their leader is made prisoner with casualties of 300.

"I greatly regret," said Lord Kitchener, and by way of explanation he adds that the move of General DeLarey was evidently made to draw the attention of the English troops from Dewet. This last battle in Orange River colony is a provoking little affair for Great Britain. It is provoking to Methuen, for this is not the first time he has met disaster. To the British mind, it will recall the dark days of Modder river and Spion kop. The situation in the Transvaal is growing interesting from a purely military standpoint, to say nothing of the eagerness with which the other republics of the world are watching the plucky fight of an indomitable people against a greedy monarchy, in which the latter is approaching near the danger line.—World Herald.

Dakota City Eagle: W. H. Gibson is now sole owner of the Wayne Republican, having purchased his partner's interest. It is rumored that the Republican plant in a short time will be absorbed by the other two papers of the town.

think that most of the republican newspapers have waked up long enough to give Joe Barlley and Governor Savage a roast and have now burrowed back in their holes to stay for an indefinite period. Bix is off his base. Nay a country republican newspaper in Nebraska but will camp diligently on the trail of the corrupt gang until they get their scalps well secured. The Burlington gang of pirates must be thrown over the transom and the time is ripe for prompt and speedy action."

Washington News

March 5, 1902.

We are hearing all kinds of news from the Philippines, and it is a case of pay your money and take your choice of reports from these islands. Governor Taft in his testimony, admits that there is friction between the military and civil orders of Oriental "colony" and says, like the philosopher he is, that "Human nature is the same out there." General Funston declares (so it is said) that the Philippines are as peaceful as Kentucky. Gen. Hughes explains the increasing severity of the measures necessary to suppress the insurrection, including military executions and the burning of towns that shelter "insurrectores." A war department bulletin mentions a sergeant killed in action, and a press dispatch dated at Manila, tells of "eighty well armed insurgents" who, within ten miles of that city, routed the native constabulary of Morong, and killed and captured eleven of them. Word has been received that the "president" of Cainta, who has been carried off by bandits, is "still alive but under torture and expecting death." Forces of constabulary and military, says one dispatch "are scouring the island of Leyte." All this news appears in one days issue of the Washington Post. Kentucky must be in a terrible state. But perhaps Funston, like Aguinaldo, is the victim of treachery and guile. Somebody else must have made the remark attributed to him. If it had really been him, he would undoubtedly have said "the Philippines are as peaceful as Kansas." It appears also in the press that the American teachers in the Philippines, who are required to teach their pupils through the means of interpreters or "native assistants" as they are called, get four times as much compensation as the natives and have to be transported about ten thousand miles. The Filipinos are beginning to understand too that it is their money—the taxes we make them pay—out of which these teachers and all our civilians (including Governor Taft with his $20,000 per annum and his palace) are paid. What a queer world it is, and how ungrateful some people are; how absolute the idea has become that "taxation without representation is tyranny."

The ship subsidy bill is now up for consideration in the Senate and is being lauded to the skies by the leaders of the republican party in that body, under the management of Messrs Hanna and Frye. This gigantic steal, by which it is proposed to rob the Government of hundreds of millions of dollars, will in all probability pass the Senate in the near future. The republicans have a safe majority in the Senate and whether the democrats or the people at large like it or not, the bill will be railroaded through at break-neck speed, in order that no time may be lost by these "patriotic schemers" in getting in on the ground floor, and before the people have a chance to know the facts as they really exist. It will be useless for the minority to attempt to debate the bill on the floor of the Senate as the matter is all cut and dried by the republican ring, and so after giving their views on the matter in brief speeches, the democrats have announced they will let the republicans have full sway, believing that if given enough rope they will eventually hang themselves.

AFTER MANY YEARS

Of suffering from kidney disease, Miss Minnie Ryan, of St. Louis, Mo., found a complete cure result from the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It is such a cure as this which establishes the soundness of Dr. Pierce's theory: "Diseases which originate in the stomach must be cured through the stomach." Every other organ depends on the stomach for its vitality and vigor. For by the stomach and its associated organs of digestion and nutrition, the food which is eaten is converted into nutriment, which, in the form of blood, is the sustaining power of the body and each organ of it. When the stomach is diseased the food supply of the body is cut down, the organs are starved, and the weakness of starvation shows itself in lungs, heart, liver, kidneys or some other organ. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and a cure disease of other organs which have originated through deficient nutrition or impure blood.

"I had been suffering with kidney trouble twenty years," writes Miss Minnie Ryan, of 123 Louisiana Avenue, St. Louis, Mo., "and had doctored with a number of the best physicians. Two years ago I commenced taking your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Favorite Prescription' and took also several vials of Doctor Pierce's Pellets. I took eight bottles (four of each) and I feel now perfectly cured."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure biliousness.

W. F. Nieland, who recently moved to Wayne from Belden, has leased the Hotel Love and will take possession March 29th. Mr. Nieland is a pretty good man and will conduct a first class hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Love will visit in Iowa and Joe says they may go to Switzerland, or Scotland, or hades, he isn't sure where he will turn up, but anyway "you'll see no more of Snow-ball in Wayne." Mr. Nieland informs the DEMOCRAT that he will rechristen the hotel the "Union," that a force of paper hangers and painters are now at work on the exterior and the old boarding house will blossom like sweet peas and succumb when he gets possession.

The Quarantine

We've heard of people being shut in, On account of committing some dreadful sin But we were never in that fix before, Till now with only a company of four.

Our walk is deserted it seems to me, For a chap only once in a while I see, And then of course they rubber, and rubber, To see what sights they can discover.

They seem to think our card takes the cookie, For when youngsters pass they say, "Lookie! Lookie!"

And then they gaze with awe at the sight And commence to file off there to the right, The days they were never before so long, And the nights are getting to be an old song, If a person wished plenty of time to gain strength

They'd have it, for a week is a month in length.

We can't find anything handy to do, Not even a something to put in my shoe, The man of the house finds pleasure no doubt, In the yard decorations he's just hauled out.

We thought we'd stay in of our own sweet will, And save that two dollars Quarantine Bill, But we were reported by some one unknown And as a result are forsaken and lone.

The doctor came up the patient to see For the purpose of adding some more to his fee.

For if we are quarantined then we must pay Ten dollars in order to get away, The days are dreary, the nights are long, And we'd like awful well to have a new song, For our old ones we've sung them 'untill they're wore out

And you'd hardly know there were singers about.

The letters count up with a very small sum, We only get half what used to come, But what we do get are most interesting though,

Although they are few, far between and slow. I never knew how hard it was To do as the quarantined always does, No one knows until they too, Have a seige of the very same thing to go through.

If I ever hear of a person of place, Being quarantined on account of some dreadful face,

It seems to me I'd do all in my power To interest them and shorten the hour.

With myself very lonesome, weary and sad I'll close without saying anything bad, Although it's right on the end of my tongue, But I'm not allowed to as long as I'm young.

Gambles Invest Heavily

A North Platte paper has the following account of W. O. Gamble's land purchases in that part of the state:

The Gamble Land Co. have within the past few days invested heavily in Lincoln county land near this city. The tracts which they have bought are as follows: The Picard 240 acres west of town for $2,400, the Warner place a little farther west containing 160 acres for $1,600, the eighty acre owned by Rodgers in the same neighborhood for $500, the I. V. Robinson place of 160 acres for $3,150 and the Longley land over south of the river, 1,080 acres for $5,430. In addition to these tracts, another deal by the same party involving $3,500 will probably be closed tomorrow. All these sales were made through Buchanan & Patterson.

It is the intention of the Gamble Land Co. to put these tracts under cultivation and such crops raised as will bring the best results. J. V. Robinson, who sold his farm to the company, will act as local manager for the company.

The old Gaertner building is being torn down this week. To make ready for the walls of the new structure is causing John Lewis a great deal of grief. His line of frame buildings, beginning with the barber shop, extended over the line three feet on the Gaertner lot. Commencing with the Rundell store John was compelled to move the whole lot of frames to get on his own ground. Such a lot of bother would make most any other rich man mad enough to tear them down and put up a two story brick.

MAGNIFICENT HORSE.

Since PLEASURE and MONEY are the two principal things desired, an article combining these factors is just what is wanted. Both pleasure and money are found in a high-class driving horse. It is certainly a great pleasure to drive one with size, style and action and one that, when called upon, can step past your neighbor with ease.

The sons of the great Union Medium (2.18%) not only possess this quality but transmit it to their get, in a marked degree; and when placed at the market meet ready sale at top prices. People within reach of Wayne have an opportunity that cannot be enjoyed in any other locality in the state. More better bred and faster horses stand at Wayne than can be found in any other locality in the West.

There stands at the Fair Grounds DUKE OF WAYNE (one of the best bred sons of Union Medium 2.18%) whose first, second, third and fourth dams are standard and registered. This fine young horse stands seventeen hands high, weighs 1270 and is coming four years old. He has fine style and action. In 1900 he was bred to only eight mares, and one of his get won first prize as the best sucker at the County Fair last fall. Common mares bred to a horse of this class cannot fail to produce a foal that will find a ready market as carriage and roadsters, as well as all purpose horses. We have placed the fees for this grand young horse within the reach of all. He will stand at the Fair Grounds for $15 to insure in foal.

Also have other stallions with fast records. Come and look them over. For further particulars address

SHORT STORIES.

No matter how widely some people travel they remain provincial, and how the village they live in as the starting point of all knowledge. A private soldier once introduced himself to Lincoln as the brother of the man who gave the Fourth of July oration in Topeka. An Andover clergyman is said to have fired the town he hailed from with equal precision. He was present at a gathering of noted scholars and professors in Berlin. A distinguished German philologist just announced to him, asked what part of America he came from.

"Andover," said the clergyman, with proud confidence.

"Eh? Where is Andover?"

"Next to Tewsbury," replied the American.

A Parisian restaurant keeper who had the honor of entertaining a Russian grand duke felt the honor was one not to be neglected. When the duke came to settle his bill he found a charge of twenty francs apiece, or nearly four dollars, for hot-house peaches.

"What!" exclaimed the astonished nobleman, "are hot-house peaches so scarce, then, even in midwinter?"

"No," replied the host, naively, "but grand dukes are."

In the crowd that filled a Mulberry street auction room on Monday were two Italians, who watched the sales with interest and enjoyed the badinage for which the auctioneer is noted; says the New York Sunday Call. One of the Italians bid on some household articles and it was instantly accepted.

"What's the name?" asked the auctioneer as he opened the salebook.

"Pietro Dionozella," answered the buyer.

"Oh, that's too much. I'll put down 'Peanuts, 50 cents.' 'Your on,' said the auctioneer as he rattled off the next article. The other Italian bid enough to secure the article and his name was requested.

"Patrick O'Sullivan," quickly answered the Italian.

"Well," mused the auctioneer, "that's a good name for a dog; come, that's not your's though."

"You bet it is not mine," was the quick reply; "but it is agood as Peanuts. You make fun with 'talion' name, I make fun witha Irish."

Women and Jewels.

Jewels, candy, flowers, man—is the order of woman's preferences. Jewels form a magnet of mighty power to the average woman. Even that greatest of all jewels, health, is often rubied in the strenuous efforts to make or save the money to purchase them. If a woman will risk her health to get a coveted gem, then let her fortify herself against the insidious consequences of coughs, colds and bronchial affections by the regular use of Dr. Bochee's German Syrup. It will promptly arrest consumption in its early stages and heal the affected lungs and bronchial tubes and drive the dread disease from the system. It is not a cure-all, but it is a certain cure for coughs, colds and all bronchial troubles. You can get Dr. G. G. Green's reliable remedies at Raymond's drug store. Get Green's Special Almanac.

Squire Burdick, who has been doing errands for Lord Coleman during the latter's exile with the small pox, says Pat yelled to him Monday morning to "Sind up Mister Raymond to perfume my house whether Doctor Williams lets us out or no!"

There is a good deal of gossip going the rounds about an old bachelor of some forty frothy winters who is getting decidedly gay with other men's property. The nerve of the fellow is what jars the social element. Charley Martin says that he recently caught this man dining three married ladies at the hotel and in broad daylight.

Wayne people, and especially the police force, will be surprised to learn that scarcely a night passes but there is a "mill pulled off," that is, a boxing match. A certain citizen, who has a large family of boys and girls, has instituted the school and is teaching his offspring the art preservative. It is whispered that a certain young man, tall of stature and with the limbs of an Ajax, will soon become a class member.

Squire Feather tells a good joke on the school board. For the past year the board has taken great care to see that bottles supposed to contain disinfectants, were placed in the several rooms of the city schools. A member of the board last week discovered that these bottles were all "empties" the contents no doubt having evaporated years ago. One wise health official says, "well they kept away the scare, anyway."

Last week I was handed a list of the wedding presents received at the marriage of Carl Luth and Bertha Mau, but being unable to secure the services of half a dozen compositors or a type setting machine the job was postponed until this week. Now the copy has been lost, somebody no doubt having taken it away in a draz to make a bonfire in honor of Prince Hennerly. If there is anybody anxious to know what Mr. and Mrs. Luth received on their nuptial day, just go into a big department store and write down the names of all the different articles you can find, then multiply the result by seven come eleven.

I aint much stuck on this wireless telephony business. Supposing I should be trying to talk with some countess in Paris or one of the wives of the King of Sulu, and the Princess Goldie should be shouting at the same time for White Russian soap, 25c; yeast cakes, 5c; potatoes $1.25; codfish, 15c; or "any old thing you can find good to eat!" I am afraid some of the messages would get mixed. Some of my waves to the wife of the King of Sulu might reach the princess, and vice versa. Let's cut out the wireless telephony.

In the want columns the Sioux City Tribune contained this item, the other night:

For sale—Owing to the death of my wife must sell my organ; cash or payments. Address 310 West Third street or call at 415 Fourth street Robert Carlson.

To which the imaginative editor of the Cherokee Democrat says: "Being ever ready to assist those in distress I copy this adlet free of charge. There may be some widow in this vicinity who is looking for a bargain of this kind."

"Say, dad," said a poy me to by der sthreet yesterday, "vat made so soon der brice of eggs come so liddle?"

"Vell, I don't know," I said.

"Vell," he said, "did you yet not already know dot der Chermans anoder Hennerly haf us sendt offer?"

Vell, Vell!

That plaintive plaint from a fair young maiden, in today's paper, indicates what useless lobsterers are the young men of this age. When I was "on the turf" so to speak, by dad, it took something bigger than the small pox to dim the ardor of my devotion. Reading such poetry as the aforementioned will make many an old rooster wish he was as young as he used to be," and then some.

Reading that little item about a woman's congress reminded Harvey Ringland of a very funny circumstance that happened in the home of a relative of Harvey's in Des Moines, Io. It was during the woman's congress held there a year or two ago. Harvey's folks entertained several of the gifted dames, who hailed from Maine to California. During their stay the man of the house had to go to a hotel to sleep, taking his meals at home. The visiting females failed to jull their freight when the congress adjourned, but remained to see Des Moines—and they heard it. The old man did a good deal of cussing but of course was all smiles before the damphool women who didn't know enough to stay at home and take care of their babies. But things came to an abrupt close one day. The family and visitors were all seated around the cloth when one old hatchet-faced, woman's rights demonstrator got to quizzing four-year-old Johnny. Now Johnny had got tired of the congress, himself, so he finally asked the old hen if she knew what his papa said about them. No, she hadn't heard it. "Well, then," said Johnny in a voice all could hear with decided distinctness, "my pap said he wished all you—d—d—d old women would go home so he could sleep with maw!" The old man didn't go to the hotly any more.

Whenever you hear a man howling too long and loudly about being honest in politics you can put it down in your bonnet that he's got "bats in his belly."

Auctioneer Cunningham says many ludicrous things happen at the public sales, but one of the funniest was at George Rohwer's. Rohwer, J. C. Pawelski and John Rosacker pulled a calf out from a feed bank, and immediately the mother of the calf, a big black cow, set after the men like an enraged lioness. Pawelski, who is known as the flying dutchman, flew as he never did before; he got his hands on the top of a six-wire fence and went clear over. Rosacker got into a feed bank, while the cow got after him with both front feet in the bunk. Rohwer almost ran his stubby legs off. Then the row was quieted down and sold under the hammer. Rohwer explaining to the buyers that she was a very quiet cow only alarmed at the size of the crowd. Afterward, Eph jumped Rohwer about being such an accomplished liar, and the latter replied, "hold on there, and I tole you somedings; my zott! that cow she got Rosacker down the day before yet, and only because I had a pitchfork she not him kill; she vhas an old devil of a cow."

The other day three or four young men called on me, and pushing a paper under my nose I was compelled to read: "Please make a donation for the High school ball team." The young men didn't say a word. Maybe they were ashamed to talk, or possibly they were deaf and dumb. The point I want to make is not against the boys, however—they are brought up that way—but isn't this donation business becoming just a little too disgusting for tolerance. Here are a lot of husky young boys around boring business men to death for dollars to get them base ball supplies, and when they get the base ball supplies they have gotten something else—a longing to do nothing but play ball and smoke cigarettes. What did the boys of twenty-five years ago do if they wanted a ball and bat? Say, I used to be tickled to death after pulling seven sets of teeth in the morning, caring for nine head of horses, working a team all day in the field, and looking after the same "sets" and horses at night, to sit down and chew a little corn bread, greased for the operation with a slice of sow-belly. Play ball! I rather guess we did, but it was a game for an existence. Now days, if there are seventeen odd jobs where a quarter or a half dollar can be made in an hour, you'll find just about that many fellows hanging around the postoffice or waiting for the cars to come in." Maybe it's all right; noticed a lot of pretty good men, such as Prof. Pile and others, were down on that begging paper, but I want to say right now that if I live, to have a son big enough to "play ball" he'll earn his own ball and bat, or I'll bat him on the off side of his pants so d—c hard he'll think St. Peter is ringing up the curtain for the last sad act.

A pretty good and true tale is out on Hon. Charley Chase of Stanton. Mr. Chase is an experienced stock dealer. Recently he had a bunch of 48 big fat steers to ship and figured on 10 to the car. As Stanton the loading is done after dark. The first car of the Chase shipment loaded up easily, with the second one much difficulty was experienced but Mr. Chase, who was assisting, told the boys to "crowd the d—d brutes in, he never saw the time he couldn't ship 16 1400 lb cattle in a car." Loading the third car was such easy work that one of the boys went around the yard with a lantern to see if any of the critters were missed. When the stock train ran into the yards at South Omaha 22 steers were crowded and jammed into one of the Chase cars, while the third apartment only held 10 of the animals. Charley was "up against it" for a lot of excess freight as well as drinks all round, but his greatest fear was that his friends up here in Wayne would hear how he had got "batty in the belly."

About the richest thing I have heard for many a day is told by Ted Perry who is just home from Chicago where he took a train of cattle. Going in there was a party of four, John Dimmel and Frank Weible of Winside, and Anton Jensen, a prosperous farmer near that burg, and Mr. Perry. The night out to Clinton, Jensen, who is full of fun as a rolicking urchin, had a whole lot of sport keeping the boys awake, in fact none of them got any sleep. When Clinton was reached a job was put up on Jensen, each one of the party taking turns to show him the city, and running the poor farmer's legs off. The next night going to Clinton the shippers had a berth and Mr. Jensen was most awfully glad to take a sleep, but during the night he got a "hunch" and instead of going to the waiting room he went out the rear door, slamming it behind him. Of course poor Anton was at first in a retiring costume, which for a stock shipper is a garment spelled with five letters, and when he found the door had locked behind him he was in a most deplorable state of mind as well as a shocking condition in appearance. Anton afterwards declared it was the only occasion he ever felt sorry for having drunk "seven quarts of beer. But he had got of grit, for instead of awakening his companions he crawled up the ladder at the end of the car, went clear over the vehicle and appeared at the front door where he nearly scared the conductor to death. Explanations were short but decidedly on the nude order. However it was too good for the train men to treasure and Anton continued to keep the gang irrigated for the rest of the trip.

They say Ed. Smith looks to be conductor of the municipal affairs of this burg. The Democrat fears Ed. will come to "high."

W. S. Brown sowed his wheat crop a week ago. W. S. always gets there early but he may have a dark-brown tinge in his mouth some frosty morning.

The Republican this week speaks of J. H. Pigreky's father-in-law being here on a visit, which leads W. O. Gamble to remark that "he must be as old as Methuselah." Well hold on W. O., you're no spring chicken if you are fond of frolic.

Physical culture for the hens! What do you think of that, by dad. An Iowa farmer's wife has started the innovation. She has torn and other feed on poles about three feet above the floor of her chicken houses, and when the hens get hungry they will jump and fly up to get a mouthful. This gives them plenty of exercise and the result is they lay about twice the number of eggs they formerly did. Not in a single instance has one of her hens dropped an egg when she was up in the air. A curious fact about it is, so the lady says, that the roosters won't jump after the corn at all. My friends among the farmer's wives are urged to try physical culture on their hens.

"I don't want to such sendoff when I leave town as you give them other fellows," says Henry Warner. Alright Henry, we'll try and make it a bit warmer.
