

Bull Dog for Sale.

This may strike some people with astonishment. We have not gone into the dog business or "gone to the dogs" but we have shirts for sale. The reason they are called Bull Dog shirts is that they will lick any other shirt made—that is, they will last longer in a fight against wear than any other make. These shirts are longer and stronger than any work shirt offered for fifty cents. Other merchants will tell you that they have as good a shirt for fifty cents as the Bull Dog shirts. Come and see the Bull Dog shirts and you will be convinced that they are mistaken.

Twenty-Four Years Old.

We are twenty-four years older than we were when we commenced to sell Selz Plow Shoes. The reason we have never changed to other makes is we have never found any other kind that will wear as long and are as comfortable on the feet as Selz Plow Shoe at one dollar and fifty cents.

Only Ten Cents

saved on a pair of our overalls, but our overalls at sixty-five cents are better than other merchants sell at seventy-five cents. Look into this, it will pay you. We have the largest stock of Mens' and Boys' Shoes in the County. Prices are the lowest.

The 2 Johns, SPEAK GERMAN AND SWED.

W. A. Ivory, dentist, over 1st Nat. Bank. Boyd county lands for sale. PHIL H. KOHLAK! Clarence Corbit was a passenger east yesterday. Anyone wanting to buy nice city residence see Henry Goll. For bargains just keep your eye on our north show window. A surprise for you next week, don't miss it. P. L. MILLER & SON. Jim Conover wants to sell his retail oil business so he can go to North Dakota and get poor with the country. An ordinary life policy in the Northwestern Mutual Life of Milwaukee for 20 years will cost you an average of $5 per $1000 per annum. See E. R. Surber, phone 32. When you smoke a Wayne Leader cigar you are getting something good. The smoke of a "Western Beauty" is a delight to anybody. Always call for the Beauty when you want the best nickel cigar in town.

Dr. T. C. Clark, the oculist, at Boyd hotel March 24th. If you want a square meal go to the Nicholas restaurant. For Sale—A few hundred feet of picket fence wire. Enquire at this office. Miss Rena Olmsted spent Sunday with her parents, returning to her school at Emerson Monday morning. The city is chock full of measles. Dr. Blair's residence is about the only one in the city quarantined for small pox. Mrs. Dinneen leaves next Thursday for South Sioux City. Mr. Dinneen has a job at the Sioux City stock yards and Miss Minnie takes a position at Martin's. After a two years absence Geo. Nangle has returned to Wayne. He is reported to have been injured recently while breaking on a train. It wasn't the midnight freight, was it Georgie?

WHEN LOVE DIES

And Dies Hard, There's Trouble in Store for the Dupes.

A most unique pair of lovers are incarcerated in the Wayne county jail at present, all because he loves her too fondly and she loves somebody else. Fred G. Kimball, by trade a horse mechanic and by profession evidently a first class damphool, is the lad who got the lady into the toils of the law and himself into the calaboose. Kimball made complaint against Mrs. Hiram E. Hart, charging her with bigamy in that she did marry the said Kimball on the 17th day of July, 1902, while she was still, or perhaps the roving, wife of Hiram E. Hart, whom she married at Sioux City in May, 1900. The facts appear that the girl ran away from Kimball, probably got weary of his teeth-pulling existence, and fled to Hitchcock, S. D. Then Kimball filed a complaint here, against her on the above charge, and Sheriff Meers went over to Dakota and brought the birding back to Wayne. At the preliminary hearing Mr. K. was put under bonds to appear against defendant and being unable to raise the wind he is pouring forth the good old song of love to the wife of another in the county jail. When at the court house yesterday Sheriff Meers kindly allowed the DEMOCRAT man to take a look at the pair, and see how young love progressed in a "coop." The maid was in the garden writing a letter, while the king stood back behind the bars, his jaw bones set together. When shown an article in the Republican which stated that the crime of bigamy is worth from one to seven years in the pen and that the complainant ought to draw an equal prize, the young woman remarked that that was no joke and told Kimball he ought to get about 14 years. She further said that when she married him she was sick, just out of the St. Joseph hospital at Sioux City, and really didn't know what she was doing, but was willing to answer for it, it might teach her a lesson. Burdick & Fuller are her attorneys but since she plead guilty the case can't amount to much. Kimball will undoubtedly endeavor to prosecute her as gently as possible. He acts as though perfectly happy to be able to see her through the bars and listen to her musical voice. There is an opportunity here for some good woman to do a little missionary work; it is a case of woman's weakness and man's inhumanity to woman-kind.

That Big Wind.

Winside, Neb., Mar. 19, 1902.

Dear friend WALT: Perhaps you don't know, but there was something great happened here last Friday night; something of national importance. The great Philippine question that has been making gray hairs for our statesmen since May 1, 1898, was settled and settled right—let us hope for all time. The debate was between four professional talkers on the affirmative for Winside and three gentlemen from Bega on the negative. "Resolved that we shall retain the Philippines," and in the expression of the Bega heavy villain the Winside "Fellers" didn't "stan no more show than a rabbit." The debate was opened quite nicely by Attorney Siman, then something happened; for want of a better name we will call him the Bega cyclone; he got to his feet, ran both hands into his trousers' pockets clear to the bottom, winked at the audience and lit out for home base. You will remember that the wind was in the south Friday, and a fairly good breeze "moved several houses of more or less dimensions," well, before he got through it was in the north and it was raining—you know thunder or any loud, explosive noise nearly always brings on rain. Borne south on the breeze his eloquence reached the ear of Bryan in Lincoln who had just stepped out before going to bed, seeing his finish as the silver-tongued orator of Nebraska, Bryan jumped the fence and took to the woods, last heard from him he was in Virginia, still a going. Dewey and Funston down in Washington heard what the common people think of them, what sort of character and reputation they've got with common folks for truth and veracity and they both hastened to resign; about this time a telegram was received from Roosevelt asking for instructions. The cyclonic orator(?) described the water cure thus: "They first throw them on their backs, then gag their mouths and then fill them with water and jump on their stomach to see how high it will squirt." Quite explicit directions. Any ordinary hobo ought to be able to follow them and secure a successful squirt, but one of the chief directions was left out—where did they get the water in? Even Siman of the affirmative was willing to admit our soldiers had been cruel if they had compelled any human being to take water in any way into his system, and if the said Filipino had lived in Winside there would have been no need to gag him; the water would have done that. One of the strong points the debate brought out was a further demonstration of the fact that there is a neglected opportunity here in Winside for a paper mill; they could get their rags "chawed up" into pulp free of charge by the numerous rag-chewers.

Yours affectionately, ROSS.

Geo. Rohrer is now an aristocrat, having moved to the city and occupies the old Cong house. The DEMOCRAT expects to print an interesting story about George and his warm hearted friends some day soon. For the present we have promised to be good and keep still.

Our music dealer, F. H. Jones, has recently received the general agency for the Hardman piano. This places Mr. Jones in a position to enter in the front rank of music dealers in the state. It's not an easy thing to do to get the general agency for a high grade piano like the Hardman in the town of Wayne, only Omaha and Lincoln have been able to get the general agency, and Wayne is the only town of its size in the state having such an agency. The Hardman piano has been established for more than sixty years and its reputation is not excelled.

The DEMOCRAT neglected last week to mention the result of the Coyle-Ferguson fiddling contest, held a week ago Friday. Atty. Davis was judge of the performance and Tom Fritts referee. Mr. Ferguson appeared at scene of the conflict in a demoralized condition for fiddling, having his right hand bandaged up. No amount of coaxing could induce the colonel to enter the contest until Miss Coyle agreed to remove the wrappings from the injured fingers and do it very carefully. This she did, but the laugh that followed was more shocking to Miss Mary than the fingers which were found perfectly sound and soft as a woman's. Mr. Coyle failed once to give the proper key to his accompanist on the piano and therefore the colonel was declared handicapped. Then Mr. Coyle was further handicapped because he played only up-to-date music, while Col. Ferguson executed the only sacred numbers, because, as the colonel explained to the audience, "he always felt that way."

WILLIAM LEESE IS DEAD

Former Attorney General of Nebraska Dies at Lincoln.
Lincoln, Neb., March 17.—William Leese, formerly attorney general of Nebraska for three consecutive terms and one of the best known citizens of the state, died at his home, 823 South Tenth street last evening, after an illness lasting a month of nerve exhaustion. He leaves a wife, two daughters and one son.

William Leese was born April 30, 1846, in Athens county, Tenn. He was educated in the common schools of his native state, and in the law at the University of Michigan. He practiced law in various parts of the state, and was elected to the attorney generalship in 1885. As attorney general he held office for three terms, and was successful in many of his cases.

He was a member of the Republican party, and was a member of the Grand Army of the Republic. He served through the war in the Second United States artillery, enlisting in Cincinnati in 1862. He was discharged in 1864, and returned to Nebraska.

JEWELRY STORE

SAFETY UNWARRANTED

Robbers at Dannebrog, Neb. Get Away With $600 in Jewelry.

SUSPECTS ARE ARRESTED

Three Suspicious Characters Taken in Custody at Grand Island—Killing of Blackmailer Justified by Coroner's Jury.

St. Paul, Neb., March 19.—C. C. Peterson's jewelry store at Dannebrog, Neb., was burglarized last night. The robbers were open and all the contents, valued at about $600, taken. The crime was committed at 2:15 a. m., the force of the explosion having stopped the large jeweler's clock at that time.

A message has been received from Grand Island that three suspects are held there and Sheriff Hansen here at that place. Coming just at this time the robbery recalls a similar crime committed at Boelus, only a few miles from Dannebrog, where a jewelry store was broken into and $1,300 stolen. Governor Savage recently pardoned one of these robbers, Otto Warwick, who had served less than half of his term of eight years.

Grand Island, Neb., March 18.—Three men, supposed crooks, lying in wait for a party of four men, including Charles Adams, were arrested here at noon yesterday on a message received from Dannebrog, advising the police to look for a man of a given description back to Dannebrog. The man was a Jeweler and was taking $500 in jewelry and some cash. The men answered the description exactly and will be taken back to Dannebrog for trial.

GARRIE THROWS ICE.

Mrs. Nation Offended at Saloon Pictures in Hastings.

Hastings, Neb., March 19.—Carrie Nation spoke in the opera house, Sunday night, and her speech was so effective that she closed and locked their doors as soon as Mrs. Nation came in sight. In the afternoon she was arrested for throwing a chunk of ice at some of the pictures on the wall and if it had not been for the timely interference of the chief of police there would have been serious trouble.

Kearney, Neb., March 18.—Mrs. Carrie Nation, who came to give a lecture at Kearney, Neb., was arrested at Kearney in the afternoon and was met by a crowd of about 300 people and conducted to the hotel where she intended stopping, but when she stepped out she was arrested.

OTIS ON PHILIPPINES

Former Governor General Appears Before Senate Committee.

Washington, March 20.—Major General Otis appeared before the senate committee on the Philippines today. When he left the Philippines in May, 1900, Otis said the army had disbanded all of Aguinaldo's army, quiet prevailed during the months of May and June and hardly a shot was fired. It was a matter of time, he said, before other islands, a very large trade had been established, a civil government had been set up, also a suggestion of a court of first instance in seven of the nineteen provinces of Luzon.

CONFERENCE OF HOUSE REPUBLICANS DECIDES ON PAYNE PROPOSITION.

20 PER CENT REDUCTION

Schley Amendment Limiting the Reduction to Two Years Is Also Adopted—Final Vote 85 to 31.

Washington, March 20.—The advocates of Cuban reciprocity scored a decisive victory last night at the conference of republican members of the house of representatives, the proposition of Chairman Payne of the ways and means committee for a 20 per cent reduction of duties, with the Schley amendment, limiting the proposed reduction to December 1, 1903, being adopted by a vote of 85 yeas to 31 nays. The result was reached at 11:30 o'clock, after protracted debate followed by a series of exciting roll calls.

The first test was when Mr. Payne concluded the speeching and substituted the Schley amendment. The vote on the Payne proposition was 85 yeas to 31 nays. The vote on the Schley amendment was 85 yeas to 31 nays.

BLACKMAILER SHOT DEAD IN NEBRASKA

When He Went to Get the Money He Was Fired on and Killed.

BAD TRIO SENT TO PEN.

The Goldsberry, Father and Two Sons, Sentenced at Nebraska City for High Stealing—Pender Postoffice Fight.

Beatrice, Neb., March 18.—P. T. Lewellen, one of the leading business men of Beatrice, received a letter Saturday evening directing him to place $150 in a package and put the parcel in the side room off the vestibule of the Methodist church promptly at 7:45 last night. The letter said among other things that if Lewellen failed to obey orders the writer would burn his store and stock, which are valued at $1,000, and that he would also poison the stock upon his farm.

The receipt of the letter was a terrific blow to Lewellen, who is a highly respected citizen. Sheriff Waddington was notified of the affair and at once gave instructions detailing the procedure to take to capture the writer.

Arrangements were made and at the exact time the package of money was delivered to Lewellen. He was accompanied by four men, who had been selected to watch the coming of the blackmailer. A few minutes before 8 o'clock the writer appeared, and after a short wait entered the church entrance alone. He opened the church door and grabbed the package. Although he was called upon to stop, he made a break for it, and was followed by the sheriff and his men. He was shot and captured.

The dead man proved to be Willard Smith, a well known citizen, about 25 years of age, who resided with his parents a mile and a half from Beatrice. He had a high reputation, as he had been a member of the local militia and had been given for the holdup as the young man was in no way restricted in financial affairs.

Coroner Walcott took the body to the county jail. It is said that Mr. Shadley did not intend to shoot to kill, but in the dark miscalculated his target.

HOT POSTOFFICE FIGHT.

The Pender Contest Has Caused Much Bitterness.

Pender, Neb., March 18.—No postoffice contest has ever taken place in recent years has stirred up such a hornet's nest as that of J. V. Huntzberger to succeed E. F. McDonald.

The remarkable situation exists that a long petition signed by the business men of Pender has been sent to the senate and the house of representatives, and the appointment of Huntzberger on recommendation of Senator Millard.

It is said that E. A. Wiltsey, banker, has secured the appointment of Huntzberger. Mr. Wiltsey spent some weeks in Washington seeing to it and has been liberal with his money.

ATTACKED BY HEPBURN.

The Iowa Assails the River and Harbor Bill.

Washington, March 20.—When the house met today Frank B. Lyon of Iowa, N. Y., was present to oppose the river and harbor bill. He attacked the bill in a long speech, and the speaker, Mr. Sibley, responded in a long speech.

Mr. Lyon said that the bill was a bad one, and that it would do more harm than good. He said that it would increase the cost of shipping, and that it would do more harm than good.

Mr. Sibley responded in a long speech, and said that the bill was a good one, and that it would do more good than harm. He said that it would decrease the cost of shipping, and that it would do more good than harm.

The Omaha Bee notes that the populist papers are not prating so much of late about the wonderful record made by Meserve. Well, that speaks well for the populist press doesn't it?

A Washington correspondent has discovered that "Prince Henry's visit has made the German vote solidly republican." All you good German democrats in Wayne county who concede this please stand up.

Rosewater thinks that if Congressman Mercer would just enter more actively into politics at home he would be badly beaten. That is largely what is the matter with Roey; he's too well known to the Nebraska people to encompass very much of their confidence.

The Omaha World-Herald nearly always has the Omaha Bee in a "box" of the Bee's own making, but the Bee takes a long and vigorous swipe at it's contemporary when it says: "And the World-Herald is still as silent as the grave on the pardon of Bartley and the acquittal of Meserve." That is a very significant sentence; can the World-Herald get from under it?

Many years ago a family, consisting of the husband and wife and little girl of 2 years, lived far out in a cabin on a western prairie. The husband took a few cattle to market. Before he started his little child asked him to buy a doll, and he promised. He could, after the sale of the cattle, purchase household necessities, and certainly would not forget the doll he had promised. In the village to which he went he sold the cattle and obtained the groceries for his household and the doll for his little darling. He started home along the dismal road at nightfall. As he went along on horseback a thunder-storm broke, and in the most lonely part of the road and in the heaviest part of the storm he heard a child cry. Robbers had been known to do some bad work along that road, and it was known that this herdsman had money with him, the price of the cattle sold. The herdsman first thought it was a stratagem to have him halt and be despoiled of his treasures, but the child's cry became more keen and rending, and so he dismounted and felt around in the darkness and all in vain, until he thought of a hollow that he remembered near the road where the child might be, and for that he started, and, sure enough, found a little one fagged out and drenched of the storm and almost dead. He wrapped it up as well as he could and mounted his horse and resumed his journey home. Coming in sight of his cabin, he saw it all lighted up, and supposed his wife had kindled these lights so as to guide her husband in the darkness. But no. The house was full of excitement, and the neighbors were gathered and stood around the wife of the house, who was insensible as from some great calamity. On inquiry the returned husband found that the little child of that cabin was gone. She had wandered out to meet her father and get the present he had promised, and the child was lost. Then the father unrolled from the blanket the child he had found in the fields, and lo! it was his own child, and the lost one of the prairie home, and the cabin quaked with the shout over the lost one found. How suggestive of the fact that once we were lost, lost in the open fields or among the mountain crags, God's wandering children, and he found us, dying in the tempest, and wrapped us in the mantle of his love and fetched us home, gladness and congratulation bidding us welcome. The fact is that the world does not know God, or they would all flock to him.—De Witt Talmage.

"If you are to have fusion this year the acrobats will have to perform in a two ring circus."—Omaha Bee.

Well, can the republicans in Douglas County give their whole show in a less number of circles?

Since the small pox epidemic in America is attributed to the war in the Philippines, it is presumed that the liberal dose England is getting must come from the Boers. Anyway, the gallant Boers have put a good many bad looking spots on the English domain.

As a hero General Funston is not wearing well. He is proving about as fast as any man under similar circumstances ever proved it that he is too small a man to wear with dignity the honors that have been conferred upon him.

When he and a detachment of the Twentieth Kansas swam a swift river and captured a Filipino stronghold that was so difficult of access that it was thought to be impregnable, the country recognized the bravery of the achievement and praised it as an illustrious soldierly performance. And when the young colonel caught Aguinaldo and led him captive before MacArthur it was conceded that he had accomplished an enterprise that made him the hero of all the military operations in the Philippines up to that time. The people, it is true, could not take pride in the fact that the Filipino leader had been tricked and betrayed, and not in open warfare. But the means used were legitimate. The expedition required great skill and uncommon courage. The event seemed to have the nature of a decisive military exploit and to be of incalculable advantage to our arms. There was, therefore, little disposition to be critical, and it was the common sentiment that Funston was entitled to signal preference.

This he received. But he returns to his country, puffed up beyond measure, and with curses for half the people in it. He would bang every man who believes, and who says, he believes, that the country is waging a wrongful war. He would put the rope around the necks of men whose devotion to their country was signally attested in council and on battlefield before he was born, and by virtue of whose deeds a more glorious country was provided for him to be born in.

Such is his contemptuous insolence and despotic intolerance for opinions respecting a national policy that are different from his own. He would apply here the same gag that is applied in the Philippines and brand the Declaration of Independence here, too, as an incendiary document.

He claims to have made a profound study of the Cubans and the Filipinos, and, unlike Admiral Dewey, finds the Cubans far superior. "There is no comparison between the two," says he, "and I am not staying awake, either, thinking of how I love the Cubans." After such a statement as this, few can care a snap about the results of his comparison.

All his arrogance is based upon nothing more respectable than self-conceit. His sudden elevation appears to have made his head dizzy, and it must now be doubted whether it contains enough solid stuff to steady it again.

Funston is about the country showing himself. Municipalities and clubs are doing their best to entertain him, but they must at moments find it hard not to be ashamed of their guest. They discover that they have to manufacture, and at short notice, a great deal of make-believe to build up their hero to proportions worthy of the enthusiasm prepared. The general's friends should call him in. He is the most conspicuous upstart of the hour.—World-Herald.

A Bit of History Messrs Wolmerans and Wessels, envoys of the Dutch republic, have had the official dobs of the White House closed in their faces. They are here for the purpose of soliciting the friendly offices of the administration to assist in restoring peace to their unhappy country. They were met by John Hay, secretary of state, and were curtly informed that they would not receive official recognition and that the president would take no steps to secure peace to their country.

This is the second time, in less than two years, that the Boers have sent envoys to America to enlist sympathetic assistance in their behalf. In May, 1900, Messrs Fischer, Wolmerans and Wessels landed in New York on their way to Washington to interview President McKinley and induce the administration to aid in adjusting the differences between the Boers and Great Britain and end the bloodshed in South Africa. Mr. Fischer was accompanied by his wife, a very intelligent Boer lady, who speaks our language fluently. A congressional committee consisting of Senators Heitfeld and Allen, and Congressmen Daly, Sulzer and Robinson met them at New York and escorted them to Washington. On arriving at the latter place they were taken in carriages to the Arlington hotel and were greeted by thousands of our enthusiastic countrymen, who cheered them to the echo.

In a conversation with Mrs. Fischer enroute, she said to us "Just as long as Boer children are born the war between England and the South African republic will continue, unless our independence is admitted by Great Britain, and two hundred thousand English soldiers cannot suppress the Boers." After seeing the envoys provided with proper accommodations the committee returned to their respective homes. The next day we called on them and during the conversation informed them that in our judgment their mission to this country would be a failure. We told them they would not be able to enlist the administration; that Lord Pauncefoot, the British ambassador, stood too close and exercised too great an influence over high American officials to admit of their success, and that while they would be received with general applause by the American people, and while the masses sympathized with the Boers in their struggle against England, the administration would not move to aid them. Mr. Fischer thought we were in error and believed that the United States, being a republic, would cheerfully intervene in behalf of the Boers and by peaceable but effectual means, induce Great Britain to cease the war. Just before they left Washington we called again to bid them goodbye, and Mr. Fischer, speaking in behalf of his associates and himself, said he was satisfied we were correct in our belief that nothing could be accomplished by them and that the administration would do nothing. They then made a tour of a part of the country and returned to their people.

The Boers of South Africa are hopeful and, believing that a change of administration had brought about a change favorable to their cause, have sent Messrs Wolmerans and Wessels to this country again, to interview President Roosevelt, with the result stated. They found the same British influence enthroned in the White House and in the state department and that it is as potent as ever, and they are given plainly to understand that the administration will do nothing for the Boers.

It is not out of place to briefly review our relations with the Dutch and English people. Every school child knows that England fought the United States almost eight years to prevent their independence; that in 1812 she again waged war against us to overthrow the republic and burned the White House and drove the president and his cabinet across the Potomac river. In 1864 she entered into an alliance with Spain and France to place Maximilian, an Austrian prince, on the Mexican throne as a monarch to this country, and only withdrew her troops when the rebellion had collapsed and it became apparent that our army, then being rapidly mustered on the banks of the Rio Grande, was strong enough to drive the combined forces of the allies from the Mexican territory. No country sympathized more deeply, or universally, with the rebels during the Civil war than the people of Great Britain. We should remember her infamous conduct in the Trent affair and the reluctance with which she paid the damages done American commerce by the privateer Alabama, and other pirate vessels, built in English shipyards. During the late war with Spain, Lord Pauncefoot proposed to the representatives of Russia, Prussia, Austria and France, that those countries combine with England and muster a large navy in the Caribbean sea and menace and check our navy in its assaults upon the Spanish navy and Spanish strongholds in Cuba and Porto Rico, and he is now to be recalled for that act, after English perjury has become public. In every step the United States have taken during their brief history they have found British influences antagonistic to them and attempting to block their progress. There is no sympathy for America or anything American in Great Britain. Quite to the contrary, no people were kinder to our ancestors during the Revolutionary war than the Dutch of Holland, from whom the people of South Africa have sprung. They not only extended active sympathy, but loaned our revolutionary fathers money, and were our patient and indulgent creditors long after the revolution ceased. It would thus seem to an ordinary American that when, as now, an opportunity is presented to us to return the sympathy and assistance of these noble people, we should not fail to do so; but the administration is so thoroughly saturated with English snobbery, and so completely dominated by English influences, that there is no hope for active aid or effectual sympathy for the Boers.—Madison Mail.

Callsthenics

Are a benefit to healthy women. But to women who are suffering from diseases peculiar to their sex they are an injury. When there is weak back or bearing-down pains, headache or other indications of womanly weakness, exercise can only aggravate the condition. The womanly health must be first restored before strength can be developed by exercise.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and aches and pains go away. It does this by healing the womanly diseases which undermine the general health. It stops the drains that weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"When I first commenced using Doctor Pierce's medicine," writes Mrs. George A. Strong of Geneva, Saratoga Co., N. Y., "I was suffering from bearing-down pains, weak and disagreeable drain, frequent nervousness, and I tried feeding all the time. I dragged around in that way for two years, and I began taking your medicine. After taking first bottle I began to feel better. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, two of Golden Medical Discovery, one of Pleasant Pellets, and used one bottle of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Now I feel like a new person. I can't thank you enough for your kind advice and the good your medicine has done me."

"I have a sister who is taking your medicine and it is helping her."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets promote regularity of the bowels, and assist the action of "Favorite Prescription." No other laxative should be used with Dr. Pierce's Medicines.

Death of Mrs. W. H. Briggs

(From the Sentinel, Lincoln, Mo., 11-11-01)

Mrs. W. H. Briggs died at her home on Broadway on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock. Although she had been very ill for some months her death came unexpected, as for the past few days it was thought that her condition had somewhat improved. About two weeks ago her death appeared imminent and her relatives were summoned to her bedside and took farewell, but at that time she rallied and hoped for a high chance she might longer be spared on this earth. Although the attending physician held out no hope for her recovery, Mrs. Briggs died of consumption. She had been in poor health for the past few years but with indomitable strength and courage fought against the inroads of the disease for the sake of her husband and children and pursued the avocations of life with that fortitude and characteristic bearing which has always marked her course in life, and it is only for the past few months that she has been confined to the house.

The deceased was born at Bradford, Canada, March 20, 1855, her maiden name being Eliza Lister Goldie. She was one of a family of twelve, being the daughter of Richard Goldie, one of Plymouth county's first settlers. With her parents she came to Sioux City where she was married in May 1875 to William H. Briggs. For a brief time they resided at the old homestead in Johnson township where Crathorne now stands and then came to LeMars which had been their home since. To Mr. and Mrs. Briggs nine children have been born. They are Mrs. D. D. Sutton of Brookings, S. D.; Richard, Henry, Hulah, William, Anslie, Bernice, Edwin, Mitchell and Carrie who reside at home. The youngest is five years old.

Mrs. Briggs was an exemplary christian woman, a devoted wife and mother and loving sister, whom a large family of younger brothers held in especial reverence and to many of whom she stood in light of a mother when their mother died. Her religious convictions were of the strongest and all her life she was a faithful follower of the precepts of the Nazarene. In her daily life she practiced what she preached and her chief aim was to do good to others. Her selfishness was unbounded. Her home life was ideal and her death a sad blow to the bereaved husband and young children. She was prepared to die and was satisfied to go hence, her only thought being of those whom she left behind and her dying words were a prayer uttered in a whisper that she and they might all meet at the throne of the Heavenly Father. She was a devout member of the Methodist church for years and taught in the Sunday school of that church and was prominent in church work. There are hundreds of young men and women in LeMars today whose first knowledge of the bible and its teachings was acquired from her lips and they rise up and call her blessed.

Her death will be regretted by a large circle of friends who extend their sincerest condolences to the bereaved family in their darkest hour of sorrow.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at the home on Broadway at half past two o'clock, Rev. W. T. McDonald officiating.

Her daughter, Mrs. Sutton, arrived from Brookings this morning. Mrs. Chace of Wayne, Neb., a sister of Mrs. Briggs, was with her when she died. Another sister, Mrs. Wheeler, and a brother, Walter, from the same place, arrived today and her brothers John and George of Sioux City and Will Goldie of Cherokee are expected today. Her father, Richard Goldie, is in Canada and will be unable to get here in time for the funeral.

No Prizes on the Omaha

Last fall a woman living near the Short Line track, thought a bridge was on fire and frantically waved her petticoat until she stopped a train. For this she lately received a draft for fifty dollars. This may do on the Short Line, but a woman might stand on the Omaha's track and wave her petticoat and, well, everything else she had on, for 'steeen years without drawing a prize.—Winside Tribune.

A. T. WITTER, Chairman, J. W. ALGER, Secretary.

FOR SALE—One dozen pure blood Plymouth Rock roosters. Enquire of John Lewis.

John Keast will handle machinery for John W. McGinty this season. Mr. Keast is moving into the Wilkins house in the west part of town.

When in Wayne if you will just step down to the fair grounds you will cheerfully be shown the great trotting bred stallions in the stud, owned by F. E. Strahan.

N. D. Evans, who has been visiting at Oakland, Iowa, for the past three weeks, returned home Tuesday evening and brought with him a fine stallion, an English Shire.

Mr. L. M. Robbins will sell his household goods consisting of all kinds of furniture, carpets, etc., etc., at public auction on vacant lots opposite postoffice, Saturday afternoon, March 29th.

The evening being pleasant there will no doubt be quite a delegation of Wayne people drive to Wakefield next Tuesday night to attend the opening of the auditorium. One of the best class shows in the west will initiate the new play house.

Norfolk News: James Coyle has s. d. his residence on South Twelfth street to Lena Keipke and will give possession the first of April! Mr. and Mrs. Keipke come from Wayne county where they own a half-section of land which they have rented. They have a family of four daughters and desire them to have the educational advantages that this city affords.

On another page readers will find an advertisement of the World Herald that double-discounts any clubbing arrangement ever made before by this paper. You can get the Semi-Weekly World-Herald, $1.00; Illustrated Monthly Magazine, "Good House-keeping," $1.00; Illustrated Agricultural Weekly the Orange Judd Farmer, $1.00; a beautiful highly colored lithograph suitable for the parlor, "The Tug of War," sized 10x8 1/2, worth 50 cents and the NEBRASKA DEMOCRAT, all for $2.10. Don't all speak at once.

The Wakefield auditorium will be opened next Tuesday night, Mar. 25, by the "Hunting for Hawkins," comedy company. The managers had to put up a guarantee of $250 to secure the attraction and it is said to be one of the best musical comedies on the road. The company are at Boyd's, Omaha, three nights and at the Peavy Grand, Sioux City, Saturday night. C. W. Long, who has been largely instrumental in the building of the play house, is very enthusiastic over the prospects of making it a money-maker as well as an ornament to the town.

The following from Wednesday's Sioux City Tribune may interest Wayne acquaintances of the parties: "Among five divorces granted yesterday was one for Mrs. Lavinia Morse, 1109 Pierce street, from Major Morse. She charged abusive treatment, which led to a separation, and now, she says, she does not know where he is."

A pretty home wedding occurred at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Liveringhouse last Monday when their daughter Florence was united to Mr. Albert P. C. Bastian, Rev. Ringer officiating. About twenty-five guests were present and the event was one of much happiness. The DEMOCRAT extends congratulations to the young couple.

MAGNIFICENT HORSE.

Since PLEASURE and MONEY are the two principal things desired, an article combining these factors is just what is wanted. Both pleasure and money are found in a high-class driving horse. It is certainly a great pleasure to drive one with size, style and action and one that, when called upon, can step past your neighbor with ease.

The sons of the great Union Medium (2.18 3/4) not only possess this quality but transmit it to their get, in a marked degree; and when placed in the market meet ready sale at top prices. People within reach of Wayne have an opportunity that cannot be enjoyed in any other locality in the state. More better bred and faster horses stand at Wayne than can be found in any other locality in the West.

There stands at the Fair Grounds DUKE OF WAYNE (one of the best bred sons of Union Medium 2.18 3/4) whose first, second, third and fourth dams are standard and registered. This fine young horse stands seventeen hands high, weighs 1270 and is coming four years old. He has fine style and action. In 1900 he was bred to only eight mares, and one of his get won first prize as the best sucker at the County Fair last fall. Common mares bred to a horse of this class cannot fail to produce a foal that will find a ready market as carriage and roadsters, as well as all purpose horses. We have placed the fees for this grand young horse within the reach of all. He will stand at the Fair Grounds for $15 to insure in foal.

Also have other stallions with fast records. Come and look them over. For further particulars address

Women and Jewels.

Jewels, candy, flowers, man—the order of woman's preferences. Jewels from a magnet of mighty power to the average woman. Even that greatest of all jewels, health, is often ruined in the strenuous efforts to make or save the money to purchase them. If a woman will risk her health to get a coveted gem, then let her faithfully herself against the insidious consequences of coughs, colds and bronchial affections by the regular use of Dr. Boschee's German Syrup. It will promptly arrest consumption in its early stages and heal the affected lungs and bronchial tubes and drive the dread disease from the system. It is not a cure-all, but it is a certain cure for coughs, colds and all bronchial troubles. You can get Dr. G. G. Green's reliable remedies at Raymond's drug store. Get Green's Special Almanac.

ORDER ON PROBATE OF WILL GRANTING LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION.

State of Nebraska, ss: I, J. P. GARRETT, County Clerk of said county, do hereby certify that at a session of the County Court held at the County Court room in Wayne, in said county, on the 6th day of March, A. D., 1902:

Present E. Hunter County Judge.

In the matter of the estate of Alonzo H. Ellis, deceased,

Whereas, letters of Administration have this day been granted to Clara E. Ellis as Administratrix of the estate of Alonzo H. Ellis, deceased, it is hereby ordered that creditors be allowed six months to present their claims against said estate for adjustment and allowance, and that said Administratrix be allowed seven months to settle up said estate from the 6th day of March, A. D., 1902.

It is further ordered that notice be given to the creditors of said estate to appear before me at the County Court room of said county on the 5th day of April, 1902, on the 5th day of June, 1902 and on the 6th day of August, 1902; each day at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, by publication in the Nebraska Democrat, a newspaper published in said county, for four weeks successively prior to the 5th day of April, 1902.

BY DAD.

Speaking about aldermanic grafts Chas. E. Thorburg of Sioux City told me a good one last Wednesday. It was at a time when a big paving contract was let in the Corn Palace city. The company that got the contract set out an even $10,000 to be divided between the city's aldermen. For several days not one of the servants of the city could be found who would get the swag and receipt for it, but finally an honest rascal was found in the bunch who said he wasn't much for scare. He was authorized to get the coin and make the divvy, but he only got so far as to do the collecting; he kept the whole amount and the real hypocritical scamp dare not squeal about it. After hearing how the "dear people" are bamboozled in the larger towns we Waynites are foolish to speak of such a little thing as a flash of free electricity or a snit of water.

A prominent Presbyterian, speaking of the sad experiences the church at Wayne has been going through, said: "And all the bad luck seems to come from the day we didn't put the DEMOCRAT under the corner stone." That may be, but the DEMOCRAT hopes it has not been responsible for any part of it because we weren't there. What the Presbyterians should do is inject a little brotherly love, unselfishness; a bit of real-thinking christianity, into their church doings. So long as certain members "back" because a minister isn't dressy, hasn't a glib tongue, a smooth appearance, etc., as had some of their recent divines, the devil will keep charge of the congregation.

When you read anything you think a little smart in this column don't always believe I wrote it. Likewise, when you see an item that doesn't suit your taste and fancy. I frequently "steal" a paragraph from my brother's paper, the Cherokee Democrat. Will was "raised" in a newspaper office, and writing something bright is as easy for him to do as for a hayseed like myself to snuck corn or handle a pitchfork. But while I can't lay claim to Will's wit nor caustic sarcasms, his sorrows are a part of my funeral, and the following from Tuesday's Cherokee branch of the family nicely fits the niche father time has hewed into the life of your humble servant:

If the Democrat is not up to the standard today you can lay it to the fact that the editor has some grief to bear. A beloved sister of the writer died at LeMars on Saturday at 2 o'clock after a lingering illness. I am going this morning to be present at the last rites. When such a sorrow is on one's mind it is hard to do anything, and I trust my readers will excuse me on this occasion. As a rule the world doesn't care much for the sorrows of an individual. In the busy whirl of life we think little of the sorrows and the griefs of others. We pass along, but as we grow older these griefs and sorrows come to us more frequently. Ten days ago my lips pressed the lips of this dear sister, when the doctors had given her up, when the husband and children were gathered about her, waiting for the final summons. She said, "Willie, I am ready to go. I hope you will be good and meet me over there."

This woman had been a good woman during all the days of her life. She had borne a large family of children, and so far as I know had never lost an opportunity to be good to them and her husband.

Such a departure from life makes one think that there must be something in the future. The happy smile of one, though in pain, who is contented to go and give up all of the belongings of earth, safe in the prospects of a future, ought at least to lead men and women to a better life.

Squire Burdick was speaking about his client, the young lady at the county jail held for bigamy, and incidentally I remarked that it would be easy work for him since the prisoner would plead guilty. "Oh, I don't know as to that," remarked the chaser after delinquents; "it would be just my luck if she was acquitted."

Letter from H. B. Miller

Grandview Place, Mar. 13, 1902.
Six miles west of Chelan.

BROTHER GOULD, Wayne, Neb.

Dear Sir: My word is out to write to quite a few of my old friends and I know of no way to reach them all with one letter, only through your moral paper. As many of you will remember we left Wayne on the 4th of March, at 2:30 p. m., arrived in Sioux City about 5 o'clock. I had intended to get an accident ticket at the city, but when I found it only cost 25 cents a day on a $3000 policy I didn't think they could afford it on a man of my age. Hence I refused to invest. We went out of Sioux City about midnight, I think, or about one hour late. Bob Taylor had come all the way from Mexico and Harry Woodall from Norfolk to see us off, but I thought his real business was to get me to go in with him to develop a mine, but he soon learned that I had arranged my business affairs so that it would be impossible for me to make the change and he never mentioned it. Bob is a man of very good judgment. I have gotten a little ahead of my story, I learned before leaving home that the tourists were going to live themselves on the car. I mentioned it to my children at Winside, I would get to one and tell it, what the other one was going to furnish, then to the other and so on around until I had all that two men could carry to the train, and when I arrived at Wayne I found that the great fruit man of Wayne, Ralph, with a sack of apples and my little nephew with less than ten pounds of bologna, and now I am thinking some of starting a restaurant to use up the surplus, rest is high and I may not do that, and now I get back to Soo City. Well, when we got our crew together we were fifty six souls, mostly men, women and children, we slept from one to three in a bed and I think it was the thickest settled country I ever lived in, and right here let me say, I shall ever have a soft place in my heart for Tom Moran, whether accidental or otherwise he had assigned me to a lower middle berth, although it had been the source of much grief to me I am grateful to him, that berth taught me to know how selfish I was, I lay there and slept like a log on the first floor and let an old lady go up on the second floor and my only excuse is that Tom had assigned it to me, and I didn't want to go back on him, if Tom will say it was all right when he is dead. Two of the M. & O. I don't feel better. Two of the M. & O. officials remained with us until we reached St. Paul, very pleasant men, Messrs Kirk and Rounie, and now a word for our porter: if I was Jim Hill he would be promoted. He came as near knowing his business as any man I ever met. If there was nothing else to do he would take care of the babies close to the comfort of the old ladies. I don't think I ever saw him the least bit ruffled, had a smile for all and was one of us all the way through. I don't think I ever lived in a better neighborhood, I almost thought our Institute man told us the truth with the terrific "but" when I got into Dakota I thought, hi.

(To be continued.)

Winside News:

Mrs. Minnie Clarke returned from her western tour, Friday, and is visiting at the Carter home.

L. Edson and family went to Hartington Friday, where they will visit a few days before they start for Washington.

A Bell, wife and child went to Wayne Friday.

Frank James and family returned from their visit in Platte county last week.

Fran Moses drove three cars of black cattle to Winside Friday, they were fine ones, from here Saturday; they were fine ones. He attended the debate Friday night in company with J. S. Needham and wife.

If anything was needed to prove that Hoskins is a slow town, your No. 2 correspondent saying last week "Something would happen in the sweet bye and bye" would prove it. They have always been a con-stant lot, perhaps they are headed the other way from the rest of us.

Mrs. A. C. Goltz and children departed Monday morning for Kentucky, where she will visit her old home for some time. A. C. accompanied them as far as Emerson.

E. R. Curney's mother left her to visit in Kansas City.

Ok Putter, the fat and frisky butcher from Winside was on the streets of Winside Tuesday. Ok can't stay away from Winside long at a time.

The opera house here was crowded Friday night, the occasion being a debate between some parties near here and some of our local debaters; all of the speeches made were interesting and the audience was well entertained until midnight.

C. H. Kuhn of Bloomfield, was installed as station agent here Wednesday, relieving J. C. Bender who has been here for 12 years. Mr. Bender has enough private business to occupy him now and could no longer afford to work for the starvation wages the Omaha tow path pays.

Peter and Hank Gorman are enjoying a visit from their brother.

H. P. Peterson is able to ride out some and is improving in health.

BRENNA AND PLUM CREEK.

March is quite a mover of real estate.

Adam Pfister Sundayed in Dixon county.

Miss Minnie Piel from Hoskins has been visiting in these parts.

J. C. Hanson has rented the Minahan farm.

Miss Emma Richardson closed a six months term of school in district 26 last Saturday.

William Essentener from Altona was at the county seat Tuesday.

John Kelleher has turned out to be a full fledged corn sheller these days.

We might have some early wheat sowers in these parts but Geo. Suhr topped the climax with a batch of young chicks for early broilers.

A crowd steamed up Plum Creek Wednesday night anchored at the bridge, held prayers and then serenaded Mr and Mrs Albert Bastian.

John Reinhart and Adolph Woodman were at the county seat Wednesday.

Ben Grove was on the market with hogs Wednesday.

Geo. Lehmkuhl from Winside was at the county seat Wednesday.

Wm. Spitzgarber was in town Thursday with two loads of eggs.

HARRINGTON'S,

The Leading Clothier.

HOSKINS

Born, Monday, March 17th, to Mr and Mrs Geo Weatherholt, a son.

Tillie Ferris went last Thursday to the home of her grandparents at Norfolk for a short visit.

Ida Jaques is visiting her sister, Mrs H Ferris, this week.

Mrs Leslie Baker has been visiting relations here in the past week.

Charley Gline has been doing painting and paper hanging for several parties here.

Charley Burbank went to Sioux City last Friday.

Louis Haag came from Hospers, Iowa, Saturday for a visit with his sister Mrs Frank Oldenberg.

A young lady friend from Norfolk visited Alma Benser the first of the week.

Robert Templin has been having his house newly papered and painted.

E. Behmer is doing some necessary repairing in his house on Main street.

The dance last Monday night was quite well attended and a pleasant time reported, the Sioux City harpist furnished the music.

The show at the town hall last Wednesday evening was worth at least all it cost to attend, the gentleman giving the show was blind so entitled to all the sympathy possible and probably got dimmed that he would not otherwise have received.

Robert Templin is out working on the new church south of town.

SPRING CUSH ABOUT SPRING SLUSH. Oh, beautiful spring, I love (?) you so. With your snow and mud and dirt to blow. One day your skies are bright and clear. The next the storms and winds are here.

Oh! beautiful (?) spring, you are full of deceit. You lure us with sunshine and freeze us with sleet.

A vain and deceitful, a treacherous thing, You flirtings, mischievous, mean old spring.

A teacher from one of the neighboring districts was visiting over Sunday with Alma Benser.

Frank Phillips returned from Winside Saturday.

Louie Needham was the only Winsideur at the St. Patricks dance.

Mrs Oldenberg's brother is here on a visit from Iowa.

John Kaulin went out in the country last week and forgot to take a girl along, consequently he went sound asleep on the way home and the buggy was run against a bridge breaking it and John was obliged to walk home. Moral: John, always in the future take a girl along to keep you awake.

The couple wandering around our streets Wednesday went out of town just before night and had ought to have been kicked but when they first arrived.

We learn that in the future we will have preaching in the M E church once in two weeks.

Bega is proud this week with some reason. Mrs Skiff returned to her home at Norfolk Tuesday.

Hoskins has no commercial club, still his citizens seem to be doing everything within reason to build up the town, are offering good inducements to new residents to come here, especially young men to come and start in life here, we understand that everything they need under the sun will be furnished free. Three have taken advantage of this offer, and are staying at the homes of Geo Weatherholt, Henry Ferris and RG Rohrke.

John Kaulin got the prize at the show given to the homeliest man on the face of the earth, voting this to John is a great injustice to some of the other Hoskins men.

In the voting contest at the show to give the prize to the best looking young lady they had such poor material to select from that some of them voted for one of the old women and that same old woman says under the circumstances she does not even feel flattered.

Jennie Waddell returned from Wausa last Monday.

Tillie Ferris returned from Norfolk Thursday.

Will Phillips has been caught winking at a grass widow down by the postoffice. If the post master would sell her to the saloon for a cigar sign it would be to the benefit of his store and be far pleasanter for the patrons of the postoffice, many of whom have occasion to go to the postoffice after half past four p. m.

While there was not a big crowd at the dance Monday night they had a pleasant time all the time.

Easter Opening ANNOUNCEMENT

—BEGINNING ON—

Wednesday, March 26, '02,

AND CONTINUING THROUGHOUT THE WEEK

We will have on display—the largest and best assortment of STREET and TRIMMED HATS—ever placed before the public.

We have visited three of the best markets in the whole country; choosing only the choicest of Parisian styles, and now place them on our tables for your inspection.

THE OPENING will be presided over by MRS. WILSON and MISS FERN M'KINLEY, an accomplished and experienced trimmer from St. Louis. Miss McKinley will remain with us, in the capacity of Head Trimmer, during all of the season.

An invitation to call is extended to all, even though you may not contemplate a purchase. We want you to see the facts proven as we have maintained they are.

It is always a pleasure to show you goods at any time and all departments you will find most complete.

Give us a few moments of your time and we will cheerfully show you our line.

COLLEGE NOTES.

Mr Noakes of Cornlea visited the College Tuesday. He expects to attend this fall.

Miss Lena Larson of this county enrolled this week to prepare herself for teaching.

Mr Cutler who represents the publishing house of Grim & Co, was a visitor Wednesday.

Miss Hileman and her brother were called to their home in Dakota county Wednesday on account of the death of their grandmother.

Mr Jas J Jones of Jackson visited friends of the college a few days this week. He went through quarantine with his last winter and apparently enjoyed it.

Mr Nelson closed his school Friday and was enrolled for the remainder of the year. He enters the graduating class. He is an earnest worker and made a success in teaching.

Mr Omev, a former graduate, writes that he has been engaged as principal of the Litchfield schools for his third year. He will spend the summer at the College, doing advanced work.

The Y W C A state secretary, Mrs Easterday of Reoa, spent three days with us. She was very well pleased with the College, our city and all she saw and heard of Wayne and vicinity.

The union meeting of the Christian associations Sunday afternoon was well enjoyed by a good sized crowd. The address by Mrs Easterday was splendid and she held the attention of each one for an hour.

The national convention tomorrow evening promises to be an interesting affair. The state delegates are complete and several candidates will be placed in nomination. The delegates expect to finish the work with one long session.

An unusually large number have written that they will enroll the 31st, at the opening of the spring term. Several new classes will be organized and all will find ample accommodations in every particular. The race will be large for a spring term.

At the Monday evening weekly meeting of the graduating class, the first division gave book reviews which were very good. These meetings are a great help to the members. The term orations will be given next week and the week following—the 28th, 29th, 31st.
