Col. C. D. Hart, the advance man for "Nip and Tuck" was in town Wednesday and proved quite an attraction owing to his immense size. The colonel is 6 1/2 feet tall and weighs 300 pounds, being just about the size of our Methodist stove and apparently made of the same kind of stuff.

Speaking of the play to be here April 23d, the Chicago Time says: Harry Weber has in Nip and Tuck a play possessing all the elements of a great popular success. Bright, clean and wholesome fun, alternating with effective dramatic situations, kept the audience by turns roaring with laughter and crying with sympathy. The play was admirably put upon the stage, and well acted throughout.

The biggest price ever received for a Wayne county grown car of hogs and cattle was that received by John Beckenbauer, of near Wakefield, on the Omaha market this week. 71 hogs at $6.90 and 18 cattle at $8.50 brought $3,483.39. The expense of shipping, $99.96, left $3,383.43. The hogs were only ten months old. This beats loaning money at 2 percent a month.

The Norfolk News says: County Surveyor W. H. Lowe has just completed a plat of Frank Weible's new addition to the town of Winside, in Wayne county, lately laid out by Mr. Lowe. Six acres and a quarter are used in making the addition which is made necessary or desirable by the growing condition of the village, which is to improve considerably during the coming summer, among the improvements planned being an 80 foot brick block. Mr. Weible has recently sold five acres adjoining his new addition for $100 an acre and this also was laid off by Mr. Lowe.

"Between the Devil and the Deep Sea"

The filing of notice of suit by Wayne county against the various banks for interest on county funds brings to light some peculiar things, one in particular being proof of the fact that when you are looking for trouble just call on a lawyer and you'll get it. One of the interested parties to the defense informs the DEMOCRAT that previous to accepting the county money from Treasurer Volpp, over two years ago, the present county attorney was requested or paid for an opinion as to the liability of the banks and he informed the banker or bankers that it was a perfectly safe plan and they could not be held liable for interest on the county monies so deposited. Now that the county attorney is prosecuting the bankers for doing as he has previously advised them the bankers are sore wondering where they are, anyway. A woman is supposed to change her mind as often as the pleases, but a lawyer—well, it makes lots of business for them.

How Many Saloons?

A member of the city council tells the DEMOCRAT that he hopes, if Frank Kruger is refused a license, he, Kruger, will carry the matter into the courts and determine for all time just what rights a city administration has under the Slocum law. It is said a test case was one made at Emerson, and the applicant for a license, who had been turned down by the council, went out and established his right to sell liquor after one license had been granted. It looks ridiculous to presume that the liquor laws of the state ever intended to make it possible for a city council to form a trust or combination with one or more saloon men to keep others out of business. Such a conclusion, if followed out, would take "it" away from an alderman in the larger cities.

"Dirty" Cheap City Property

Frank Kruger and R. H. James went to Wakefield Wednesday and secured the former's old clothes and with J. O. Milligan for the three lots on east side of Main street on which are located the pool hall brick and Herald office. The price paid was $6500, which at the prevailing prices for city property is just about $3500 less than it is worth. Mr. Kruger is getting pretty good over the deal and will be busy. The brick building and one lot is worth the price he paid. Pat O'Connell has a two-year lease on the billiard hall, so if Mr. Kruger gets a license to run a saloon this year he will move his bowling alley to the vacant lot between the brick and Herald office and set up his present quarters for the saloon business.

McVicker Bakery Sold

On Wednesday D. S. McVicker sold his bakery and store goods to G. H. Darnell, a practical baker, of Sioux City. Mr. Darnell and wife have gone to housekeeping in rooms over the bakery, and all of their business practical people will make a success of the business. Mr. McVicker and family are going west, probably to Washington.

In the Swim

The Wayne DEMOCRAT is in the swim these days and has to issue a supplement to get the gist of news gathered. The DEMOCRAT is a saucy, free and easy paper that speaks its mind in meeting, and judging from the pile of papers that come to Winside, is far in the lead in point of circulation.—Winside Tribune.

High School Entertainment

Tuesday evening, April 22, 1902, at the high school a musical program will be rendered by the senior class. Proceeds to be applied to the piano fund. Admission 10 cents. Mrs. Wachob, well known to Wayne people, is coming from Pennsylvania to spend the summer with her daughter Mrs. Nathan Chase of Stanton. Mrs. Chase is soon coming to Wayne for a visit.

John Keast suffered a bad accident this morning, falling from a bicycle in front of the Wayne National bank and dislocating one of his shoulders, an injury that will take a long and tedious time to recover from.

Nels Grimsley has sold his residence opposite the opera house to Walter Weber. The price paid was $3500. Mr. Grimsley will in course of two or three weeks have a public sale of all his estate, household furniture, etc. preparatory to going to Seattle, his future home.

Rao Frazier went to Silver City, Iowa, Tuesday and Mrs. Frazier and son Wednesday. The DEMOCRAT will make them weekly visits for a year at least. Mrs. Frazier tells the DEMOCRAT they will reside on a ranch near Silver City, and anticipates she will like that, but fears it will end in monotony after his bustling life of the past years. A host of old friends here in Wayne county will wish them much happiness and prosperity in their new home.

J. H. Goll had his nephew, Ed. Trautwein, west up to Carroll Tuesday, presumably to look up a location for a butcher shop.
Frank Kruger has succeeded in getting the requisite number of signatures to be entitled to go into the saloon business. His row up to the council to decide the matter.
O. D. Franke will have to take what Herman Milder put up with last year, closing up his saloon from May 1st to May 6th. His license expires May 1st and can't be renewed until the new council can grant it.

We are Made to Travel

There is but a short time in our lives that we do not have to walk. Until the time when we begin to walk our feet are perfect, and they would always remain perfect if we did not have to wear shoes. If we always wore the proper kind of shoes we would never have any trouble with our feet. Here is where many people make mistakes. Many people do not think about getting the properly shaped shoes for their feet. Some will buy a shoe because it looks well; others will buy any shoe that is in style. Some buy any shoe that is cheap, and others will buy shoes from inexperienced shoe merchants. No one would think of having their horse shod by an inexperienced horse-shoer. Now, if you will buy your shoes here you will have expert shoemen wait on you. You will get the proper shoe for your foot. You will get stylish shoes and the right shape. You will get shoes that look well but do not hurt your feet. You will get shoes cheap but they will wear well. If your feet are out of shape because you have not had proper shoes to wear, we can help them. If your feet hurt you we can sell you shoes that will cure them, and make you comfortable. We have shoes for all kinds of feet and we have had twenty years experience in fitting feet and know what will make your feet glad. We have shoes for Men and Boys that you can buy for less money than others ask. Our shoes are all warranted to give satisfaction. Why not trade here? It costs you nothing to look at our shoes and you will save money if you buy your shoes here.

We Sell for Cash We Buy for Cash

This is the season of the year when a country editor has to "sink or swim" between spring fever and a dearth of local happenings.

The Norfolk News is still against the renomination of Savage for governor. Editor Huse ought to get in the race and run for governor, himself.

Along with the gun that "wasn't loaded" comes a "harrowing" tale from Iowa where a farmer's son was dragged to death in the teeth of a run-away.

No wonder the British are anxious to make peace with the Boers. One of Kitchener's recent reports was to the effect that he "whipped the Boers until every English soldier was killed or wounded."

The Hartington Herald, (Rep.) hints at the republican party of Nebraska as trying to tie up with the devil. The Herald should not be quite so soon; it's editor has not been nominated for office yet.

Noah Raby of New Jersey, aged 129 years, is said by the press dispatches to be growing weaker. It would hardly be reasonable to presume that Noah would be getting stronger at his stage of the game.

After hearing all reports from our friends in Washington, Oregon, Colorado or Idaho, it is a safe wager to bet Nebraska beats 'em all if you want plenty of work, plenty to eat, plenty to wear, plenty cold and plenty heat.

The republican papers are intimating that Bartley will return $200,000 to the state a day or two before Savage is renominated for governor. Here's hoping Bartley won't delay putting it back until the governor is renominated (?)

The Sioux City gamblers are reported to have quit the business with a grand whoop-and-hurrah! last Saturday night. Strangers in Sioux City will do a good stroke of business to keep their eye peeled for thugs and hold-up men from now on. The city is on "easy street."

Another "Paroled" Heard From
It seems that Joe Bartley made some political promises in lieu of the pardon granted him by Governor Savage and he is putting his time and effort to make these promises good. Pretty d—n cheeky for this king of thieves to attempt to again mix in Nebraska politics.—Dakota City Eagle.

Judge Howard of the Columbus Journal and Senator Allen of the Madison Mail, have gone to scrapping again, this time over the merits or rather demerits of Messrs Porter and Meserye. Allen claims they are not only honest men, but gentlemen of the first water, while Howard—well, Howard prints the naked truth about 'em.

At any rate, it can be said in advance that the gamblers cannot fool Mayor Caldwell and the police force, and if the back doors are left open no one in Sioux City will be better informed of the fact than the city administration.—Sioux City Tribune.

Get your life! The chances are you'll find the head "push" of the administration playing "stud" at the old stand.

In a Nut Shell

Meserve did the same thing that Bartley did—loaned and speculated with the people's money. Meserve served during times of Republicanism, and his speculations were successful. Before going out of office he collected in the public money, settled with the state, pocketed his profits and retired from office, a wealthy man. Bartley was unable to recover the principal because of the panic, so he went to the prison in disgrace. The difference between Meserve and Bartley is the difference between a burglar that gets away and the one that gets caught. One is entitled to no more respect than the other. Our esteemed contemporary the Democrat has opened his editorial batteries in defense of Meserve. It should be consistent and also fly to the defense of Martyr Bartley. Meserve's predecessor in crime.—Nonpareil.

It is such careless handling of the truth by our amiable but misguided little contemporary that invites the operation of the spanking machine. There is a distinction to be drawn between Bartley's usual conduct and the Bartley case, between Meserve's conduct and the Meserve case. The Democrat has condemned Meserve's conduct, but sought to analyze the Meserve "case." Meserve did not do the things for which Bartley was condemned, disgraced and sent to the penitentiary. He did some of the things which Bartley did that were wrong and unlawful but for which Bartley was not tried and had he been would probably have been cleared. Bartley was tried for the embezzlement of a particular sum of money viz. $181,000 the warrant for which was cashed for him by Senator Millard and no part of which was ever shown to have been placed in any other than Senator Millard's bank. He was not persecuted for the hundreds of thousands loaned to the banks of his Republican friends and never recovered and the location of which except a few paltry thousands he has refused to reveal. He was not condemned, scarcely even censured, in fact has been highly praised by Republican officials for placing the state money in banks instead of locking it up in the treasury. The money so handled did not enter into the case in which he was convicted, much as the pettifoggling apologists for Republican misdeeds would like to have appear that it did. With Meserve the case is entirely different. Meserve paid to his successor every dollar with which he had stood charged on the books of the auditor. He made strenuous effort to loan in a legal manner all the surplus funds in his possession. He even went so far as to recommend to a foolish legislature some wise measures that would give him greater opportunity to legally loan the surplus. But his suggestions were ignored because that legislature feared that the party of the majority would not get credit for enacting the ideas of a Pop treasurer into law. Meserve's conduct was wrong because his acts savored of the ways of Republicanism, and as such, were a blunder worse in some respects than a crime, because they injure the prospects of his party and make himself politically impossible who otherwise would have been a tower of strength to that party. But while his conduct was wrong from the standpoint of wisdom and morality, the case brought against him was the purest political buncombe. His prosecutors in plain English said, "You are guilty of embezzlement because you put in your pocket interest on certain state moneys deposited in an Omaha bank." Meserve's reply in plain English is, "Even if what you say about me receiving interest on that money be true, I have not embezzled any state money and therefore have not committed the crime charged against me," and with this statement the judge agreed, could not under the law help agreeing. As he did not commit any crime, even if everything charged were true, he had no technical acquittal. If the law had been right he could not have got that interest into his own pocket lawfully, but he is not responsible for the condition of the law. Republican legislatures have made nearly all the law on our statute books and if

That Gold Spoon.

There are some men who seem to be favorites of fortune. They are those whose character is full of the overflowing energy of splendid health, and success seems fairly to "drop into their hands." It is of such as these that the less hardy and less successful man says "That fellow was born with a gold spoon in his mouth." And yet on analysis it will be found that this success is largely due to splendid health, the endowment of a healthy mother.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription gives the mother health to give her child. It cures nervousness and depression of the mind content. It gives physical vigor and muscular elasticity so that the baby's advent is practically painless. "I will endeavor to tell you of the many benefits I have derived from taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. M. J. Robertson, of Medicine Lodge, Barber Co., Kans. "In the fall of 1891 I was seized with a severe cold and suffered terribly with pains in the back of head; in fact I ached all over. Suffered with awful headache down to the time I began using the 'Favorite Prescription' and took four bottles before my baby came and two afterwards. I suffered with a severe cold for other two children, but hardly realized that I was sick when this baby was born and she weighed twelve and one-half pounds. She is now eleven months old and has never known an hour's sickness; at present she weighs thirty-seven pounds. I owe it all to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong and sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the most desirable laxative for delicate women.

any one is criminal in the Meserve "case" it is they, who having opportunity to make perfect laws have left them in the condition in which they now are.—Central City Democrat.

The republican state convention has been called for June 18, at the auditorium, Lincoln. The democrats and populists will fix upon a date this week. Now, if all the old blisters in all the parties would "go 'way back and stay there" the people would take some interest in the campaign. As it looks now it is simply a graft, anyway, and decent people are not going to "tear their shirt waists" to see which gang gets the goalings.

CAUTION!
This is not a gentle word—but when you think how liable you are not to purchase for 75c the only remedy universally known and a remedy that has had the largest sale of any medicine in the world since 1863 for the cure and treatment of Consumption and Throat and Lung troubles without losing its great popularity all these years, you will be thankful we called your attention to Boschee's German Syrup. There are so many ordinary cough remedies made by druggists and others that are cheap and good for light colds perhaps, but for severe Coughs, Bronchitis, Croup—and especially for Consumption, where there is difficult expectoration and coughing during the nights and mornings, there is nothing like German Syrup. Sold by all druggists in the civilized world.

BETTER THAN PILLS.
The question has been asked, "In what way are Chamberlain's Stomach & Liver Tablets superior to pills?" Our answer is: They are easier and more pleasant to take, more mild and gentle in effect and more reliable as they can always be depended upon. Then they cleanse and invigorate the stomach and leave the bowels in a natural condition, while pills are more harsh in effect and their use is often followed by constipation. For sale by Raymond.

TAMMANY TIM 34283
Season of 1902
Full brother to Hinky Dink, 2:25 1/2, first start, fourth heat, in winning race. By Union Medium 4182, 2:18 1/2, Dan Alice G., 2:29 1/2, Dam of Hinky Dink, 2:25 1/2. Tammany Tim was foaled in June 1897. He is a handsome bay horse 16 1/2 hands high, weighs 1225 lbs. The only stallion standing in this part of the state whose first three Dams are producers of 2:30 trotters, or better. In conformation he is a grand horse, clear cut head, intelligent countenance, strong shoulders, powerful back, hips and stifles, all gracefully combined to produce strength and speed. His blood lines are of the best, the most popular and prolific speed producing combination in trotting blood lines, the kind that gets the money on the racetrack and the prizes in the show ring. That he will bet speed and grand road qualities there is no doubt, as he not only inherits, but possesses these qualities in a marked degree. Even common mares bred to a horse of this class, cannot fail to produce foals that will find a ready market as carriage horses or roadsters, as well as general, all purpose horses.

Tom Fritts went to Sioux City Wednesday morning, expecting to meet Mrs. Fritts at Emerson enroute from Lyons, and take her to the hospital at Sioux City where she will undergo an operation for gall stones. Mr. Fritts and family have been getting more than their share of adverse circumstances the past year.

The wide-awake, up-to-date and then some editor of the Concord Call says: "Prof. Gregg took a shot at the Wayne papers in his address Friday night on account of their 'a little wine for the stomach's sake' ads. It is sincerely hoped the learned professor will not be led to drink by reading them." That is undoubtedly the contingency that worries the professor.

Bill Agler is talking about sewing a slice of sheepskin on the broad-side of his son-in-law's trousers, this spring, to see what kind of a crop could be raised. The DEMOCRAT has not the honor of said son-in-law's acquaintance, but say! there are a lot of future son-in-laws in Wayne that ought to be sewed to pine shingles; they might raise a crop of slats while idling about town.

There was a nasty call of fire Sunday afternoon about five o'clock. It was a small smudge in Prof. Durin's tombstone house, probably caused by a hot job Prof. is getting out. The blaze was easily put out, the most serious occurrence being an injury McCune of the Standard oil wagon received, being struck in the back by the tongue of the hose cart. The gentleman was unconscious the greater part of Sunday night but is now about well again.

John Kofoed is having his full share of misfortunes and then some. He lost a little boy a week ago, and since then has been confined to his home because of some peculiar ailment of one of his knees. John sends in word to the DEMOCRAT that in all his troubles there is one silver lining to the clouds, and that is the generous manner his neighbors are treating them; doing all they can to ease the burdens.

Uncle Henry Goes to Drinking

Chelan, Wash., April 7, 1902.
And now Brother Goldie—I would like to use you again to help me to talk to my old friends. I was down to the twin villages Saturday and could hear the hammer in all directions. Bob Osborn's house was looming up in great shape. Wayne county is well represented around the Lake. Bob and I have abandoned our railroad scheme, for two reasons. One is, that when we came to look up the right-of-way Jim Hill had selected the same route and had already secured the right-of-way—in other words his judgment in regard to the location of the road was our judgment. The other reason is that our local attorney emphatically refused to engage with us only on a fixed salary, and we were not in shape to bind ourselves with any fixed amount until we knew what our gross receipts would be. Many of you know that Bob and I have been slightly cramped once or a couple of times, hence, we are feeling our way and now I have two more schemes on tap, and to succeed would have to ask for a letter from you to Teddy. I would like to secure a position as Forest Ranger. If you would write a letter, to him telling what you know of my qualifications—it don't require any qualifications—get Col. Ferguson to sign with you, and, come to think, I believe Frank Kruger's name would have more or less weight and I think he would sign willingly. My other scheme is to make an effort, through some of my influential friends, to secure a few million of Mark Hanna's subsidy money and line the border of this lake with cottages and fill them with farmer's families who have not had a day's rest in twenty five years. I would tell them to rest from their labors a twelve month and while they are resting I would ask them to do a little thinking and try to ascertain why it is, after working ten, twenty or thirty years that you don't have but $800, a $1000 or $1500 to pay on a $6000 or $7000 farm, and to you, my brother, who have bought that kind of a farm, I would say, sell it now, or my prediction is that nine out of ten of you will never see daylight, financially. Say! you Mr. Tax-payer, how do you like Mark's bill, anyhow? Didn't he tell you to let well enough alone and is he doing what he advised? But I see I am getting out of line. In my first epistle I spoke of our woodtick and compared it to a body louse but I neglected to tell you what a body louse was. Ask Col. Ferguson or B. Cunningham. I have been over to Mark's and we had cider by the jug full. I wish I could describe the country to you, but if I undertook it I should make an utter failure. Will just say, if you ever have time to take an outing and don't come here you will make the mistake of your life. The Indians here are the most civilized, I think, I ever met. They get drunk, go to church, swear, run horses, drive their stock out on the reservation to get it away from the assessor, just like American men.
Yours truly,
H. B. MILLER.

Stand up for Nebraska!

If you want to buy a farm for a home, where can you find better homes than in this section of Nebraska? The climate is right, the soil is right, and the crop comes every year, not every second year, as in some of the Utahian lands toward which some of our worthy citizens are traveling. The people are right in every respect, schools and churches abound. What more can be desired in the way of farm homes?
If you want to buy a farm for an investment, I can sell you farms in this immediate vicinity that are yielding in actual cash 7 per cent on the investment. I can sell you farms, either large or small, on easy terms.
If you want cheaper farms, there are other parts of Nebraska, where you can buy a well improved farm for $20 to $30 per acre, that will net you 7 per cent to 10 per cent as an investment, or immense satisfaction as a home. I have irrigated alfalfa farms, ranches, houses, lots, business blocks, mercantile stocks of all kinds for sale in all parts of the state. If you want to buy, trade or sell anything, call and see me. Office over Wayne National Bank. E. R. SURBER.

SHORT STORIES:

An exchange contains the following notice which many of our citizens will heartily endorse: "The first delegates to the annual convention of chickens which assembles in my front yard about the middle of March and continues daily until December has begun to arrive. The object of this convention is to prevent me from raising grass, to break every crock or jar that can be climbed upon or into and litter the walks and porches regularly. I have stood this thing for ten years and I hereby give notice to the owners of these infernal nuisances that I will not stand it any longer. The law gives me as much right to my own property as it does to anybody's tramp chickens. Those of you who want to avoid trouble keep your chickens at home. I am quite through with asking you politely."
Senator "Joe" Blackburn of Kentucky is always an orator, whether he says "good morning" or talks for three hours. Last Friday he arose in the senate and with much gravity and great declamatory effect said: "Mr. President, I move that the senate do now adjourn until Monday at the hour of 12 o'clock noon."
President Frye said to Blackburn "as the senators were leaving the chamber:
"It was much relieved when I heard that that motion of yours was about."
"Relieved?" roared Blackburn. "I do not understand."
"Why, yes," said President Frye, "I was afraid when you started you were going to impeach the president."

GOOD FOR RHEUMATISM.
Last fall I was taken with a very severe attack of muscular rheumatism which caused me great pain and annoyance. After trying several prescriptions and rheumatic cures, I decided to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm which I had seen in the South Jerseyman. After two applications of this Remedy I was much better, and after using one bottle, was completely cured.—Sallie Harris, Salem, N. J. For sale by Raymond.

Mrs. Sophie Binns, President Young People's Christian Temperance Union, Fruitvale, Bal., Cured of Congestion and Inflammation of the Ovaries by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Eighteen months ago I was a pretty sick woman. I had felt for some months that I gradually grew weaker, but finally I had such severe pains I could hardly stand it. I had taken cold during menstruation and this developed into congestion of the ovaries and inflammation, and I could not bear to walk or stand on my feet. The doctor recommended an operation which I would not hear of. One of my friends advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I gave it a trial. Can you imagine my feeling when within two months I felt considerably better, my general health was improved, and my pains had entirely disappeared. I kept taking it six weeks more and am now enjoying the best of health, thanks to you. Yours truly, Mrs. SOPHIE BINNS."

AN OPPORTUNITY IS OFFERED

THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME

The Bachelor's Farewell
Chicago Record-Herald.

It was one of those matches that society always approves. Deacy Laty had the son of an old family, young, executive, handsome, and in a social and fashionable circle, the idol of a dozen girls who had nothing better to bring him than fair faces and fair names, and a great many of the eligible party even by the wise dowagers who had an eye to the advantages of an alliance between breeding and bank-balance.

Beatrice Smucker, on the other hand, was almost as homely as her name, but her wealth, present and prospective, was the envy and the marvel of her social circle. Her father, a successful merchant, had left her a fortune of $100,000.

So the handsome gallant's credit went up far above par when the engagement was announced and he proceeded to "hype" to his discomfiture a society far beyond his normal limitations.

"Don't let me see you," she said. "I'm not going to see you. I'm not going to see you. I'm not going to see you."

SECRET OF PROFIT MAKING ON FARM

High Value of Land Makes Use of Modern Methods Imperative. IS MONEY IN CALVES

The United States Hand Cream Separator is a Device Which Makes Raising of Calves So Profitable.

The mere matter of making a living off of a farm is not profitable farming; but the interest in the investment may be deemed, therefore, it is necessary to bring every means at your command into use in order to make a farm produce every dollar possible and then you can determine the actual value of the farm.

Several versions of "Ben Bolt" have appeared, but the following is the version authorized by Dr. English:

Under the hickory tree, Ben Bolt,
Which stood at the foot of the hill,
Together we lay in the moonlight shade
When a letter to Appleton's mill
The mill wheel had fallen to pieces, Ben Bolt.

Do you mind of the cabin of logs, Ben Bolt,
At the edge of the pathless wood,
And the buttonball tree with its motley brood,
Which perch on the doorstep stood?
The cabin to ruin has gone, Ben Bolt,
The log cabin has rotted and decayed,
And when once the logs of the forest
Are waved and the golden grain.

There is a change in the things I loved,
Ben Bolt,
They have changed from the old to the new,
But I feel in the core of my spirit the truth,
Twelve months twenty have passed, Ben Bolt,
Since then we were friends, yet I hail your presence a blessing, your friendship a truth.

CHURCH DOUBTERS GROWING

Were Never So Many Before, Says the Rev. Dr. Savage.

New York special. Dr. Minot J. Savage, speaking in the Church of the Messiah on "The Abolition of Death," is quoted as saying:

"I propose to be quite honest and frank with ourselves; we must admit our faith in the resurrection since the dawn of Christian history, were not people doubting concerning the future life to be here now, and ignorant not had people, but I feel that there are, on our part, some very serious doubts, and persons acquainted with philosophy and science, who have studied history, looked into the records of the past, and are in doubt of thousands, and the number is growing."

"If a person asks me if I think there is a satisfactory evidence that the body of Jesus was raised from the dead I must frankly and honestly say no. No case in modern history could be carried through successfully unless there were, in its favor, the evidence that we have for the resurrection of Jesus. There is no direct testimony of anybody to that fact. We know perfectly well that if we take the testimony of a hundred or a thousand of a similar fact, taken places for Jesus, it would weigh with us very little."

"I believe with my whole soul that Jesus was raised after the crucifixion, but out of all these things, I do not believe the belief that the body had risen. I do not believe there is anything in the fact of death that changes us more than the fact of death itself, and waking up the morning after, I believe in another kind of birth; that we graduate from this life, take the next step in an ever-advancing career of progress, and that we are left ourselves over there."

A Nasty Practice.

A nasty practice is what the Chicago Inter Ocean calls the pasting of repeated layers of wall paper, one upon another, thus covering up the filth and germs of disease that may be propagated in the very absorbent and delectable mass of filthy paste, paper, and wall paper, etc.

They give opinions of eminent health officers and sanitarians, urging that such practice should be stopped by legal enactment, and also take occasion to say that these sanitarians, recommending Abolition as a durable, pure and sanitary coating for walls.

The Inter Ocean says that this is a very important question, and as it costs nothing to avoid this danger, why take any chances?

How much of the alarming spread of smallpox and other diseases may be due to unsanitary wall coverings?

An American Crowd.

Applying the Principle.

Chicago Post: "The trouble," said the anarchist, "is that there are too many inequalities in this world."

"That's right," admitted the practical man. "We must remedy matters," went on the anarchist. "No man should have any advantage over another; all should be equal."

"But where shall we begin?"

"Well," said the practical man thoughtfully, "you're a much greater man than I am, which gives you an unfair advantage, of course, and this is decidedly antagonistic to the theory you have elaborated of complete equality in every detail of life. We might begin by cutting you down to my size."

JAMES SMITH.

ISLAND TREASURE

By Robert Louis Stevenson

It appears they were at their wits' end what to do, the stores being so low that we must have been starved into surrender long before help came. But our best hope, it was decided, was to kill off the buccaners until they either headed down their flag or ran away with the Hispaniola. From nineteen they were already reduced to fifteen, and two others were wounded, and one, at least—the man shot dead—the sun-severely wounded, if he were not dead.

Every time we had a crack at them we were to take it, saving our own lives with the extremest care. And besides that, we had two able allies, rum and the climate.

"As for the first, though we were about half a mile away, we could hear their raucous and singing late into the night, and as for the second, the doctor stated his wig that, camped where they were in the marsh, and unprovided with remedies, the half of them would be on their backs before a week."

"So," he added, "if we are not all packed down first they'll be glad to be shipping in the schooner. It's always a ship, and they can get to buccaneering again, I suppose."

"First ship that I ever lost," said Captain Smollett.

"I was dead then, as you may fancy, and when I got up, I was not till after a great deal of tossing, I slept like a log of wood."

"The rest had long been up, and had already breakfasted and increased the pile of firewood, and they were ready again, when I was awakened by a bustle and the sound of voices."

"Flag of truce? I heard some one say; and then, immediately after, with a cry of surprise, 'Smollett!'"

And at that I jumped up, and, rubbing my eyes, ran to a loophole in the wall.

CHAPTER XX. SILVER'S EMBASSY.

Sure enough, there were two men just outside the stockade, one of them waving a white cloth; the other, no less a person than Silver himself, standing placidly by.

"It was still quite early and the coldest morning that I think I ever saw abroad; in a chill that pervaded into the marrow. The sky was bright and cloudless overhead, and the tops of the trees shone rosily in the sun. But there Silver stood with his lieutenant all was in a shadow, and they were not more than a few rods from the stockade. A deep in the white vapor, that had crawled during the night out of the morass. The chill and vapor taken together told a poor tale of the island. It was a truly a damp, feverish, unhealthy spot."

"Keep indoors, men," said the captain. "Ten to one this is a trick."

Then he hailed the buccaners, and they answered, "We're here."

"Flag of truce," cried Silver.

The captain was in the porch, keeping himself carefully out of the way of a shot, and he looked at Silver with a stern and angry expression. "Doctor's watch on the lookout. Dr. Livesey, take the north side, if you please; Jim, the east, Gray the west, and the watch below all hands to load muskets. Lively, lively, and careful!"

And then he turned again to the mutineers.

"And what do you want with your flag of truce?" he cried.

"This time it's the other man who replied."

"An'n Silver, sir, to come on board with me," said the buccaner.

"Cap'n Silver," don't know him. Who's he?" cried the captain. And we could hear him adding to himself, "What a fellow! My heart, and here's promotion!"

Long John answered for himself.

"Me, sir. These poor lads have chosen me cap'n, after they've elected you their first mate, and I've got the word 'desertion.' We're willing to submit, if we can come to terms, and no bones about it. All I ask is your word, Cap'n Smollett, to let me see the flag of truce, and I'll stand one minute to get out of 'ot before a gun is fired."

"My man," said Captain Smollett, "I have no objection to your coming to talk to me, if you wish to talk to me, you can come that's all. If there's any treachery, it'll be on your side, and the Lord help you."

"Well, well, cap'n," shouted Long John, cheerily. "A word from your own mouth, I know, a gentleman, and you may lay to that."

"We could accept of your word, but the last of truce attempting to hold Silver back, nor was that wonderful, seeing how cavalier had been the captain's answer. But Silver laughed at the idea of a truce, and he turned his back, as if the idea of truce had been absurd. Then he advanced to the stockade, threw over his crutch, got a leg up, and with a vigorous spring, he landed in the surrounding the fence and dropping safely to the other side.

I will confess that I was far too much taken up with what was going on to act, I had already deserted my eastern lophole and crept up behind the captain, who had now seated himself on the threshold, with his bow on his knees, his hand in his hands, and his eyes fixed on the water as it bubbled out of the old iron kettle in the sand. He was whistling to himself: "Come,lasses and Lads, a terrible hard work getting up the knoll. With the steepness of the incline, the thick tree stumps, and the soft sand, it was his crutch upon which he relied for support. But he stuck to it like a man in silence, and at last arrived before the captain, whom he saluted in the handsomest style. He was dressed in his own uniform, a blue coat, thick with brass buttons, hung as low as his knees, and a fine laced hat was set on the back of his head.

"You're a good man, sir," said the captain, raising his head. "You had better sit down."

"You ain't a-going to let me inside, cap'n. It's a main edd thing, to be sure, sir, to sit upon the sand."

"Why, Silver," said the captain, "if you had pleased to be an honest man, you might have been sitting in your own room, or in your own cabin. You're my ship's cook—and then you were treated handsome—or Cap'n Silver, a common mulhiter and pirate, and then you can get haug."

"Well, well, cap'n," returned the sea-cook, sitting down as he was bidden on the sand, "you'll have to give me a hand up again, that's all. A sweet, pretty place you have of it here, and I'm glad to see you. The top of the morning to you, Jim. Doctor, here's my service. Why there you all are together like a happy family, in a manner of speaking."

A LIFESAVER TALKS.

Some Experiences With Persons Rescued From Drowning.

Washington Star: "The coming of the rescue crew, with the exception of one man, of a Cape Cod life-saving station during a gale a short time ago, together with the loss of the crew of the wrecked vessel, the rescuing lifeboat capsizing in the high surf, is the severest casualty the life-saving service has sustained this year."

"This curious, but nevertheless existing streak of ingratitude in the human make-up crops strangely to the surface during these times. I have had my face slapped by women who were nearly drowned, and would have been dead for my efforts, but who had strength enough left to smack me, because I did not grasp them while they were sinking with perhaps the general cry of 'Thank you, thank you, thank you.'"

"Men are more considerate. They seem to recover their normal senses more quickly and grasp the situation more fully than women. Some will shake our hands, expressing their thanks, others will return and invite us to have a drink or a cigar, while some will offer us money, but the majority are ungrateful."

"The restoration of a lost dog, but will acceptly bestow a drink upon the man who may have saved their lives from drowning; not that we want or expect money, or even thanks as it is our business, and we are paid salaries. I declined the money, but when she began to cry I accepted it to quiet her. She afterward sent me $5. Poor woman; she was a glittering example to the average woman."

"I have never seen a man who would take the life of another man for a matter of course. It is seldom that people appear to remember how close they were to death, though they never forget a slight, or a trifling personal affront."

"I have never seen a man who would take the life of another man for a matter of course. It is seldom that people appear to remember how close they were to death, though they never forget a slight, or a trifling personal affront."

"People readily pay from $5 to $1000 for the restoration of a lost dog, but will acceptly bestow a drink upon the man who may have saved their lives from drowning; not that we want or expect money, or even thanks as it is our business, and we are paid salaries. Once I dragged a woman from the surf. She came back and handed me 50 cents, saying she was a working girl living in Philadelphia, and that that was all she had to return me for. I declined the money, but when she began to cry I accepted it to quiet her. She afterward sent me $5. Poor woman; she was a glittering example to the average woman."

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK

BY DAD.

I have just been informed that at a recent meeting of the Juvenile History Club some young ladies party, the subject of reading matter came up and the daughter of one of our most prominent Presbyterians made the statement that he had in the DEMOCRAT was all she had time to read these days. Wouldn't that make you blue! Gibson?

Another South Dakota priest has gone mad wrong, this time at Ryndall. The redeeming feature of this latest scandal is that the priest promptly skipped the country after putting up some $1500 for the girl he is charged with ruining.

A Wayne lady who was at the depot one morning last week when the Beveridge went away reports that that worthy couple paid Wayne people some pointed compliments. They said their trip to the city had cost them some seven dollars and there was no return. That Sam Jones was right when he said the people of this town were going to hell, and Beveridge guessed the people here didn't care whether their boys went to hell or not; that no interest was taken in the alliance movement and they were disgusted. While this comes "second handed" to the DEMOCRAT it is probably true and I am glad to note that the people of Wayne are bright enough to detect a graft pure and simple. When other towns in the state follow suit there is a strong likelihood that such big, fat lubbers as Beveridge will have to work for a living.

Martin and Louie Larson of Plum Creek precinct are hauling plank to make a first pond from Carl Engliert's "flowing well" to the Math and Larson farms. The Engliert "water" is reported to be a regular geyser.

The Wayne Republican man is decidedly long on a dose of "sour grapes" this week. Editor Gibson has noted with lively interest that the Republican has lost a host of subscribers to the DEMOCRAT, the past three months, and by looking over Ex-editor Cunningham's files has discovered that the reason is due to the DEMOCRAT being so much like the Police Gazette. Well, the only manner in which Gibson could assist in the publication of the Police Gazette would be to have his face printed amongst the list of freaks.

By dad, 'tis said the school board will have to look up few more teachers, and those who anticipate dropping out of the profession have no intention of going to the Philippines, either.

Noticing that T. J. Steele has recently left Sioux City and gone to Lead, S. D., to complete the job of blowing a lot of Wayne good money into the Hidden Fortune I disconnected his name with the DEMOCRAT's subscription list and wrote him that he might be astonished to learn that he owed me four or five plunks, and that he had better send me a controlling interest in the Hidden Fortune if he didn't have that much actual wealth with him. To this suggestion he replies as follows:

The Smead

Lead, S. D., 4-16-02.
W. S. Goldie, Esq.
Dear Sir—I am not so damnably astonished and don't know why in hell you haven't presented your bill before this. Now, I think I do not owe you so much but you make out your true and sworn account and add one more year's subscription and send it to T. J. Steele & Co. with this letter and they will send you a check. Further, when my wife comes to Lead, I want you to send your paper here, "See?" You cannot have Hidden Fortune at any price, "See?"
Yours,
Tom.
Just like Tom, by dad. But what on earth does he want an editor to swear to an account for? "See?"

While I realize that people who live in glass houses should not throw the first rock, I cannot refrain from articulating that if this thing called a Gibson shirt waist makes a fellow look Gibsonized then well-dressed society has reached the stage of abject lunacy.

Talking about dress, did you ever see anything more unbecoming than these "ere things" the society women are wearing on the outside, that gives them the appearance of an Arab of the desert or a Sioux squaw. Long, loose affairs, made to cover up most any thing. When ever I see one on the street the first thing that comes into my nut is that the wearer is expecting company soon.

Our Suits and Walking Skirts are attracting a good deal of attention for several reasons. The QUALITY and WORKMANSHIP is the best, "being manufactured in exclusive factories." The appearance and style is perfect. If we can't fit you from stock shall be glad to make a special order at Regular prices.

OUR SHIRT WAISTS Must be seen and fitted to be appreciated. They are made in a special shirt waist factory, "the oldest in the business," the prices range from 50c to $3.00 and every one is perfect. All sizes.

We still Discount all Boy's Clothing Forty per cent, making them far below factory cost. Bring in your Boy.

THE RACKET

Impure Baking Powder Seized

The New York Board of Health Find it Contains Alum and Rock. Declares it Dangerous to Health and Dumps it into the River.

The New York papers report that the Health Department of that city has seized as dangerous to health nearly two tons of cheap mixtures sold for baking powder, and dumped them into the offal scow to be destroyed. More of the powder was found in a Sixth ave. department store. The report of the analysis of the Health Department stated that it was "an alum baking powder" containing alum and pulverized rock.

The different health authorities seem to have different ways of repressing the sale of bad baking powders. In England they have persecuted the grocers under the general law and broken up the traffic. In Missouri the sale of alum baking powder is actually prohibited by law. In New York they seize the unwholesome stuff and cast it into the river, without any discussion. The latter way is certainly effective.

The alum baking powders are usually offered at a low price, ten to twenty cents a pound, or with some prize, as a temptation to the housewife.

Consumers can protect themselves by buying only high-grade baking powder of established name and reputation. Do not be tempted by the grocer to take something else as "just as good" or our "town brand," for the trials show that the grocer himself is often deceived by unscrupulous makers and is selling an alum powder without knowing it.

There are several good powders on the market; let the housekeeper insist on having what she knows is right, and not be induced to risk the life of the family for an imaginary saving of a few cents.

Frederick Ferguson has located at Clarion, Iowa, for the summer.

Mrs. Al Houser went up to Hoskins Wednesday to attend the funeral of her father, L. Ziemer.

The families living in the Alter building and over the Republican office indulged in a red-hot scrap Wednesday night, probably owing to their unfavorable surroundings.

C. M. Sundahl was bragging about having four hens that laid eight eggs every day, when John Payne interposed that he could beat that; he had nothing but a rooster and it furnished him four eggs every day.

Attorney Welch is feeling real happy this afternoon and for a very good reason. He has just received notice that the supreme court has reversed the verdict of Judge Cone in the Hansen vs Hansen case, establishing Hance Hansen's right to a half interest in 440 acres of valuable land. Shake! Hance, good boy! good lawyer! good case.

J. D. Milligan is up from Wakefield today.

Geo. Palmer was up from Sioux City today.

Roy Manning was down from Carroll Saturday.

Ed. Trautwein opens up a butcher shop at Carroll May 1st.

Rudolph Schneider of Wisner will open a buck yard at Winside.

Red River Early Ohio seed potatoes $1.25 per bushel at P. L. Miller & Son's.

Miss Zimmer, a cousin of Craven Bros., is here from Monroe, Wis., for a summer's visit.

Rev. McKean of Winside will move to Milford, Iowa.

R. V. West of Carroll, who has been in the hospital at Sioux City some time, came home last night.

Mrs. W. C. Wightman spent Monday and Tuesday with her father at Belgrade, owing to his critical illness.

T. Steen went to Omaha last night to get some ice cream freezers. He has put in a gasoline engine to operate them.

Atty. Wilbur was in Wausa Wednesday as counsel for a man charged with burglary. Today he has legal business in Norfolk.

Miss Mamie Feather says her father is getting along nicely at the hospital in St. Joe, Mo., and he will be home in about two weeks.

Jim Hurst is in the turkey business bigger than ever this year. Is selling his Mammoth Bronze eggs at $1.00 a set, and at present the demand is more than the supply.

If the man who fell from a bicycle and broke his shoulder had taken one of the Actea capsules he would have received pay while laid up. You are next.

E. R. SURBER, agent.

The Wayne Tribune says: "The Wayne Herald persists in naming a Stanton county man for Congress, although it ought to know that each little boomlet is gall and wormwood to Atty. Welch, of Wayne, who wants to see Judge Boyd sent to congress and himself appointed district judge. The Herald should consult Wayne county politicians before proceeding to swoop it up for outside men."

Rev. Roland of Lincoln has been engaged to deliver the Decoration day address May 30th. Rev. Wheeler of Oshtemo will be here Memorial day, May 25th, delivering a sermon under the auspices of the G. A. R. in the morning, and a Baccalaureate sermon to the High school in the evening. May 28 or 29 Dr. Lewis of Sioux City will also deliver a sermon under direction of the High School.

One of the firms of Weber Bros. of Waukegan is in town last week looking up a location for a grist mill, but we do not know how far the investigation went. Of course Winside will have a grist mill and the first one to go at it will be a bonanza, but we believe Sidney Price will be that one. It has been his calculation ever since his other grist mill burned down, but he has been waiting to make a ranken tent with the town to put in sufficient power to pump water for a standstill and run a dynamo. But he cannot afford to take chances much longer, so "some one else" will step in to fill the "long felt want."

Wanted. We would like to ask, through the columns of your paper, if there is any person who has used Green's August Flower for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and Liver troubles that has not been cured, and we also want their results; such as sour stomach, fermentation of food, habitual constiveness, nervous dyspepsia, headaches, despondent feelings, sleeplessness—in fact, any trouble connected with the stomach or liver? This medicine has been sold for many years in all civilized countries, and we wish to correspond with you and send you one of our books free of cost. If you never tried August Flower, try one bottle first. We have never known of its failing. If so, something more serious is the matter with you! Ask your oldest druggist.

SOCIETY NOTES

The Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church will soon give their play "Aunt Jerusha's Quilting Party" with first class specialties.

The American club, composed of young Americans, have secured a room in the old house in which to hold their meetings. The room is to be furnished by the boys themselves. They expect to give an ice cream social soon to provide more books for their library which now has forty volumes.

Monday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Main, the M. E. church people met to about the number of 100 guests, complimentary to Mrs. Ran Frazier, a much loved member. A beautiful silver tray, one dozen silver spoons and a picture of the church, a gift of the Ladies Aid society, was presented to Mrs. Frazier. It was a most joyful as well as sad parting from one who has done much for the church of her choice.

A very fine social was given at the home of Mrs. Henry Ley Tuesday evening by the Minerva club, complimentary to Madam Ran Frazier and F. W. Burdick, who are retiring members owing to their leaving the city. About eighty guests responded to some hundred invitations sent out. Mesdames Ley, Frazier and Burdick received in the front hall, that and the parlor being decorated in pink roses and ferns; the dining room in carnations, ferns and a similar. Hopes of a splendid hang from the chandelier to each corner of the table, which was lighted with pink candles, lending a lovely and charming appearance to all. Mrs. P. H. Kohl presided over the service, being assisted by Misses Alice Stringer, Maude Grothe and Georgia Terwilliger, the young ladies being very handsomely gowned in pink and white. Miss Jones presided over a huge punch bowl in the bay window. Entertainment consisted of a talking machine (aside from the ladies conversation); two recitations by Miss Morgan and a couple of brilliant musical numbers by Miss Jones and Carl Burdick on piano and violin. Mrs. Frazier was presented with a handsome souvenir spoon of the M. E. church of which she was a most earnest and untiring member.

The literary meeting of the W. F. W. C., which was postponed on account of sickness, will be held at the home of Mrs. Pile this Friday evening.

COLLEGE NOTES.

Messrs Faubel and Douglas visited friends at Wisner over Sunday.

Mr. Heuchemir returned to his classes after spending two weeks with his people at Jefferson, S. D.

Mrs. Pile expects to start Wednesday for a trip to California. She goes as a delegate to the meeting of Women's Clubs.

Mr. Sweeney spent two weeks at his home, and did much of his work as assessor. He will complete the work next week.

Mr. C. C. Singer of the class of '99 spent Sunday at the college. He was on his way to North Dakota where he has school work.

Mr. Ed Lundberg was a chapel visitor Tuesday and gave the students a short talk which was much appreciated by all of us.

Miss Kate O'Brien of Pilger returned to college last Saturday after a two week visit at her home. She secured a second grade certificate at the March examination and is taking advanced work now.

Miss Pease of Knox county has entered the shorthand department. She has taught several years but thinks of changing to other work. She has a good general education and will soon complete a course.

The meeting of the Y W C A Sunday was one of the most interesting of the year. The young ladies are doing good work and with a membership of about 75 there is sufficient enthusiasm and good intent to do most valuable work.

Mr. John M. Hofer of Freeman S D is among the new students this week. He makes the fifth student now here by that name. All are related and live in the same vicinity. We have had 21 students from that precinct during the past five years. This is a result of one student's efforts in behalf of the college which did so much for his advancement.

Most of the advanced classes are well filled this term. The Botany class has about 40 members; the geology, zoology and chemistry are larger than usual and the same is true of the general history, latin and geometry. While this is true of the advanced work, the review classes are well attended and as a whole the work is stronger than ever.

While the work in the classes is active, that on the building and grounds is not less so. The carpenters, the masons and other help are busy all the time. Sixteen men have been at this work and the appearance is one of activity from early morning till late at night. In another month, the hill will show much improvement.

HOSKINS

Mr. Westfall and family have moved into Schroeder home on 2d street.

Married, Thursday, at the Lutheran church Eddie Behmer and Anna Krause. They are well and favorably known and have many friends who will join with correspondents in wishing them a long life of happiness.

John Weatherholt drove from Bega to Melvin Sunday and visited in Hoskins enroute.

P. Kautz and A. Johnson were in Pierce on Sunday.

Leslie Baker and family came over from Stanton Sunday to see Mrs Baker's mother, Mrs. Clipse, who has been quite sick with lung trouble.

A number of towns people attended a dancing party at Ed. Shannan's Saturday eve.

Andy Stortz has purchased a farm near Creighton and gone there with his wife to put a crop.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Weatherholt accompanied the remains of Mrs. W's mother to Belvidere, Ill., returning this week.

Died, Wednesday, April 16, Ludwig Ziemer, aged 71 years. Deceased moved here from Wheaton, Ill., about 28 years ago, which places him among the older settlers. He has been twice married and six children and his second wife survive him.
