Do You Know What It Means?

When we say that Marshalltown vehicles sell and stay sold? Simply this: That they are made in the best possible manner, consequently made to wear. When a vehicle is made that way we don't have complaints coming from dissatisfied customers, because satisfaction always accompanies a purchase of that kind of vehicle. When a Marshalltown job is sold, that settles it. It stays sold, and not only that, but on account of the durability and up-to-dateness of their work, every sale brings us others. As a popular, general purpose, serviceable vehicle, notice this fine Two-Seated Half-Platform Spring wagon, with best quality steel springs and improved axles. This wagon is a premium taker as an easy rider. See it.

He tells the DEMOCRAT he was not asleep, but the other fellow was full of booze and his aim astute.

We are Deaf and Dumb!

If you don't believe we are deaf and dumb try and sell us shoddy clothing. You will soon be satisfied that you can not make us understand why we ought to buy the same kind of clothing usually sold in country stores.

We are dumb to all offers made us to buy a short shirt, a poor shoe, a rotten glove, a flimsy hat, a poorly sewed pants, or any kind of clothing made out of shoddy. We are deaf when an agent offers us the kind of goods they sell in general stores. We cannot hear any person selling clothing for a jobber, for we buy only from the factory. We are deaf and dumb when high prices are quoted to us, for we buy everything for cash and at the lowest prices. We cannot hear any one who wants to buy a suit on a year's time, for we don't get fancy prices and can't sell clothing on long time. We are too deaf to understand why we should charge one man ten dollars for a suit and sell the same suit to another for eight dollars. We cannot hear you, if you want goods for less than it is marked for we sell to all alike.

You That Can Hear

Listen to our story and it will prove interesting and will save you money. Our stock of hot weather goods is complete and you will find the proper clothing here to make you comfortable. Our clothing for summer is made to give satisfaction and will fit. Our fifty cent underwear is made double-seated and will, therefore, wear double the time. Our work shirts are long and better than any shirt offered for fifty cents. Why not get the best when it costs no more? Why not trade here and be made comfortable?

Carlton County, Minn.

Wallace's Farmer of May 9, 1902, contains the following article by Mr. H. C. Wallace of the Journal.

The writer recently looked over some of the land owned and offered for sale in Carlton county, Minn., by the Guaranty Farm Land Co., Duluth, Minn. If the reader will consult his map he will see that Carlton county lies to the southeast of the cities of Duluth and West Superior and only a few miles from them. The soil is a red clay with a sufficient amount of sand to make it warm and friable. Through this district the pine has been cut off, but there is considerable hard wood on the land. The Guaranty Farm Land Co.'s lands lie to the south and east of Carlton, and a thriving town on both the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroads, and but 25 miles from Duluth. The town of Wrenshall and Barker, however, are the nearest stations to these lands. Barker is at the present time simply a station but Wrenshall is quite a little village and has three large brick yards which are turning out an excellent quality of brick. The yards consume about 15000 cords of wood each year and this market affords to the settlers an unusual opportunity to turn their waste into cash. The reader will understand that all these uncleared timber lands are covered with more or less dead and down pine, hardwood of various kinds, tamarack, fir, etc. Much of the pine is valuable for lumber, and the hardwood, birch, wood and tamarack for posts and ties. The stuff that has no other value but can be worked up into cordwood is what these brick yards buy, paying now $1.15 per cord raked up on the farm and doing their own hauling. This waste wood therefore, which in many other localities is burned on the ground, will very materially reduce the price of the land. The land is generally rolling, some sections more than others, well watered with streams and spring brooks, will grow magnificent timothy and clover, vegetables and root crops to perfection, and located as it is, within 25 miles of the lake ports, and the mining country offers excellent opportunity to the thrifty farmer of small means.

A train of coincidences so extraordinary as to seem incredible lately happened in a Pennsylvania family. The members of the household were sitting at breakfast one day last week when the mother read a newspaper item to the effect that a young man had fallen ill with typhoid fever at the residence of his fiancée, and would be nursed by her there for several weeks to come. The son and daughter, who were both betrothed, laughed heartily at this, and their mother to receive the same news. "Something similar may happen to you some day," the daughter went the next week to visit the parents of her intended husband in a New York village. She sprained her ankle on the day of her arrival and was kept under the same roof with her fiancée a fortnight. The son went the following week to the following town near by to town to call on his intended wife. He was conversing with her in the parlor when bang! the drum of his ear and hand were struck by a bullet from the town, looked after tenderly by the young girl.

A peculiar industry in the town of Warren, Me., is the catching of alewives, which has been followed since the early history of the place. The alewife is a small fish, about the size of a herring, and is caught in the Georges about this season of the year, and in attempting to ascend the fishway at the Lower falls are caught in a net. The alewife catch is a sort of communal property of the town citizens, and is regulated by law. Each head of a family in town is entitled to 200 alewives, at the nominal price of 10 cents each, and the surplus is sold and the proceeds turned into the town treasury.

The weekly visit of the catnip man is looked forward to with eagerness by the cats of some of New York's upper streets. When the catnip man comes, a vendor carrying a basket of the herb goes about from one basement door to the other peddling the luxury that the basement pet loves so well. Porte Rio has a strong disposition to devote himself to practical matters. An automobile line for the benefit of tourists is making regular trips across the island from San Juan to Ponce. The plan is under consideration to place powerful automobiles, drawing trailers, on the same road, for freight purposes. Many fine roads are under construction in the island.

New York Times: The authorship of "Little Breeces," written by Secretary of State John Hay, was frequently attributed to the late Bret Harte. A young lady once said to him: "I am glad to please you, but I have never read all your poems, but I have enjoyed 'Little Breeces' the most." "Pardon me, madame," replied Mr. Harte, "but you have put 'Little Breeces' on the wrong man."

Carrie Nation still pays visits to Kansas saloons, but occasionally with a different object in view. One day last week she suddenly appeared in a barroom at Oswatimie and traded one of her sovereign hatchets for a pint of whiskey. LONDON CELEBRATING.

Britishers Happy Over Continuation of the Bitter Struggle.

London, June 2.—The announcement of peace in South Africa was celebrated in London last night with a mild repetition of the "Mafeking" celebration. Hundreds of thousands of persons surged through the streets of London from White Chapel to Buckingham palace, but never at any time did the crowds equal those which created the verb "To Mafeking." Last night there was a tremendous noise in the streets, a pandemonium noise of horns and cheers, and the coarse jests of costers, but the abandon which marked the announcement of the relief of Mafeking, and Ladysmith was lacking. Women, many of them carrying babies, boys, drunken loafers, and the glad of any excuse to do duty law and order, were the principal elements in the ragged processions passing and repassing through the principal streets. The crowd consisted of the lower class jaded men in the Strand, and let themselves loose. Women of the lower class jaded men in the face with feathers, flung an apology for comfort and laughter, and the crowd for such a diversion. A few helpless policemen stood around and watched the fun.

One of the favorite decorations with the crowd was a cluster of red, white and blue stripes wound around a tall hat. A very serious undercurrent of discontent probably is responsible for the fact that London has not shown the same evidences of rejoicing as were to be seen in Mafeking. In some of the streets there were to be seen "Mafeking" night. In some of the streets there were to be seen "Mafeking" night. In some of the streets there were to be seen "Mafeking" night.

The general members of the house of commons were in London last night that peace in South Africa might have been secured a year earlier and upon better terms had not the British government been so long in coming to terms. The decorations and illuminations of London took on a more organized form as the peace news grew older. The American and Irish flags figured largely among the decorations, while the new ensign of the Australian federation made its first appearance in a national celebration.

Save the King were very generally inscribed across the union jacks exhibited. PACKERS WIN POINT.

Sunday They Fill Distributing Stations in Chicago.

Chicago, June 3.—Packers scored heavily yesterday on the striking teamsters, and succeeded in filling all their distributing stations about town except the one on the South Side. The move by the packers came unexpectedly. All was done quickly and quietly. The carloads of meat which have been finding their way to the streets were sent to the stations and unloaded. The ice and coal drivers seem to hold the key to the situation, and to them the teamsters are turning for assistance.

Chicago, June 4.—Riot and bloodshed marked the progress of the teamsters' strike yesterday. There were numerous fights between the police and the strikers, and the streets were filled with a general air of men and women, the police, fifty strong, under the command of Lieutenant Collins, maddened by the numerous stones which they had been pelting with. The strikers charged full into the crowd, which showed no disposition to retreat. Fists, stones and clubs were brought into requisition, and the strikers were injured as far as known, however, and the wounded strikers were carried off their friends.

CHICAGO STRIKERS HURRY THEIR CAUSE.

Bloodshed and Rioting the Predominating Feature of Teamsters' Strike.

Chicago, June 3.—Packers scored heavily yesterday on the striking teamsters, and succeeded in filling all their distributing stations about town except the one on the South Side. The move by the packers came unexpectedly. All was done quickly and quietly. The carloads of meat which have been finding their way to the streets were sent to the stations and unloaded. The ice and coal drivers seem to hold the key to the situation, and to them the teamsters are turning for assistance.

PEACE TRANSVAAL

England's War Against South African Republic Brought to a Close.

PEACE TERMS ANNOUNCED

Military Occupation to Be Withdrawn and Prisoners Released.

WILD SCENES IN LONDON

Announcement of End of War Stirred Inhabitants of the English Capital—President Kruger Surprised When Told.

London, June 2.—The demand for action in the house of commons this afternoon to hear the statement of the government leader Balfour concerning the terms of peace in South Africa was unprecedented. With the exception of Ireland, practically the whole of the United Kingdom is holiday-making today, in honor of the conclusion of peace in South Africa. The streets everywhere are thronged with people, who, every now and then, re-echo the cheering and hurrahs by outbursts of applause or bursts of song on penny trumpets. The tone of King Edward's message to the people, and the absence therein of any note of caution or gloom, however, has been a good example, and while giving free vent to their own satisfaction, the British are showing small desire to re-echo their king's sentiments. Flags and bunting are everywhere displayed, church bells are ringing, salutes are being fired and there is general jubilation on all sides.

Enthusiasm in London.

Crowds of enthusiasts poured into London at an early hour this morning towards the usual centers. Mansion Square, Royal Exchange and Trafalgar Square quickly bedecked themselves with flags and bunting. At intervals some enthusiasts start singing "God Save the King," which is taken up by the happy throngs and carried far and through the neighboring streets, from one end of the metropolis to the other.

The earliest demonstrations on the streets, where members arrived an hour before the ceremony commenced with the bidding up of South African ensigns and securities. On hearing "God Save the King" was sung by a crowd of enthusiasts, a congratulatory message was dispatched to Lord Kitchener. The members of the exchange marched to the mansion house where they were met by the mayor, and afterwards resumed business, but without much heart for their work. Later in the day a levee at St. James palace, the subject meeting in Downing street attracted immense crowds. Thousands of people awaited the arrival of the cabinet ministers, and the evening which greeted the popular favorite King Edward in the morning dress, on account of having to be present at the levee, which added to the attraction of the occasion.

Cheers for Chamberlain.

It is almost needless to say that Joseph Chamberlain, colonial secretary, came in for special attention from the masses. The police were unable to hold him in, and crowds surged around him, cheering and shouting congratulations until the colonial secretary escaped within the building.

Gladsword in Over.

Telegrams received from all parts of the world congratulate the British on the job they did in the conclusion of the war. At many places magistrates discharged all prisoners charged with light offenses. A singular fact is the fact that the British flag was received at Windoor by telegraph from Berlin and Paris.

Many provincial exchanges closed at noon today, and a number of schools everywhere were dismissed. Great and light processions are being arranged for tonight and illuminations which were in course of preparation for the coronation of King Edward on the 26th of June, will be lit up tonight. There is no further news from South Africa, but the opinion is expressed in official quarters that the "Commandant" Kruger and other Boer leaders will not attend the Vereeniging conference, which will come in of their own accord. It is also thought to be extremely unlikely that the Boers will bring many troops home in time for the coronation.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF PEACE.

Dispatch From Lord Kitchener Sets London Wild.

London, June 2.—Peace has been declared after nearly two years and eight months of war which tried the British empire to its uttermost and wiped the Boers from the list of nations. The war had come to an end with Lord Kitchener's announcement from Pretoria that he, Lord Milner, and the British government had accepted the Boer terms of peace. This announcement had been anticipated for several days, and it was definitely forecasted in these dispatches, but its receipt on Sunday afternoon by the British public, who everybody had confidently believed that the house of commons would hear the first news today. The edge of the anticipation with which Great Britain awaited the promised statement in the house of commons from Mr. Balfour, the government leader, was still further dulled by the following message from King Edward to the people, which was issued after midnight.

British Arrangements.

Thus at the start the British were not at all surprised at the ending of their own country and invading the Transvaal. The Boers were fully prepared for war, as it was specifically denoted, and the British had understood that the situation was a front. The siege of Kimberley and Ladysmith, both of which commenced in the latter part of the year, were in the hands of the Boers. Not until the following February (1900) were the two towns relieved. Kimberley was relieved on the 17th of the 25th of Roberts and Kitchener had arrived in South Africa the preceding month, and previous to their arrival had occurred several bloody battles, the most notable being the battle of Berg-dam where General Buller lost 1,000 men, and the battle of Mafeking, where General Buller lost 1,000 men. The last of these battles was the battle of Mafeking, which broke the confidence in Buller at home and caused the ordering of Lord Roberts to the scene. Buller was ordered to retreat first to last, meeting defeat after defeat. Even after Lord Roberts arrived Buller was sent on another attempt to relieve Ladysmith and was defeated. The turn of the fortunes of war in favor of the British began at this point, although it was not generally known until the private memoirs of the present regime are given to the public. According to a dispatch to the Daily Express from Pretoria, Lord Roberts was informed shortly after 5 o'clock last night that peace had been declared. He had been asleep.

Kruger Is Surprised.

How greatly King Edward's insistence that peace in South Africa be concluded prior to his coronation influenced the Boer government is probably not well known until the private memoirs of the present regime are given to the public. According to a dispatch to the Daily Express from Pretoria, Lord Roberts was informed shortly after 5 o'clock last night that peace had been declared. He had been asleep.

HOUSE PASSES

IMPORTANT BILL

Measure to Increase the Subsidiary Silver Coinage.

PHILIPPINE DEBATE ON

Senator Spooner, of Wisconsin, Makes Lengthy Address on the Pending Measure—Takes a Fall Out of Carmack.

Washington, May 31.—The house yesterday passed the bill to increase the subsidiary silver coinage. The measure directed their fight against the provision to recede the standard silver dollars into subsidiary coinage. A public necessity might require. Some half dozen roll calls were forced. Some of the New York democrats voted for the previous question, but voted with their colleagues on a motion to recede with instructions to strike out the provision relative to the recoinage of silver dollars.

That the conference reports on the omnibus public building and fortifications appropriations bills were adopted, and the house adjourned till Monday.

The text of the subsidiary coinage bill is as follows:

"That the secretary of the treasury be and he is authorized to coin the silver dollar in the treasury purchased under the act of July 14, 1890, into such denominations of subsidiary coin as he may deem necessary to meet the requirements and thereafter, as public necessities may demand, to recede silver dollars into subsidiary coin; and so much of any act authorizing silver coin outstanding and so much of any act as directs the coinage of any portion of the bullion purchased under the act of July 14, 1890, as a subsidiary silver dollar is hereby repealed."

Debate Grows Interesting.

Washington, May 31.—Interest in the Philippine debate is increasing as the discussion draws to a close. Yesterday the senate gallery was packed with spectators, and the attendance on the floor was larger than it has been for some time, including many members of the house of representatives.

Senator Spooner's Speech.

Senator Spooner, of Wisconsin, made a speech in support of the bill and the administration's policy in the Philippines. He had a long and interesting speech, and urged that this government ought to declare its purposes in the Philippines. Such action, in his opinion, would put an end to the present state of affairs in the Philippines.

IMPORTANT BILL

Measure to Increase the Subsidiary Silver Coinage.

PHILIPPINE DEBATE ON

Washington, May 31.—The house yesterday passed the bill to increase the subsidiary silver coinage. The measure directed their fight against the provision to recede the standard silver dollars into subsidiary coinage. A public necessity might require. Some half dozen roll calls were forced. Some of the New York democrats voted for the previous question, but voted with their colleagues on a motion to recede with instructions to strike out the provision relative to the recoinage of silver dollars.

That the conference reports on the omnibus public building and fortifications appropriations bills were adopted, and the house adjourned till Monday.

The text of the subsidiary coinage bill is as follows:

"That the secretary of the treasury be and he is authorized to coin the silver dollar in the treasury purchased under the act of July 14, 1890, into such denominations of subsidiary coin as he may deem necessary to meet the requirements and thereafter, as public necessities may demand, to recede silver dollars into subsidiary coin; and so much of any act authorizing silver coin outstanding and so much of any act as directs the coinage of any portion of the bullion purchased under the act of July 14, 1890, as a subsidiary silver dollar is hereby repealed."

Debate Grows Interesting.

Washington, May 31.—Interest in the Philippine debate is increasing as the discussion draws to a close. Yesterday the senate gallery was packed with spectators, and the attendance on the floor was larger than it has been for some time, including many members of the house of representatives.

Any way Wayne county has the biggest crops ever seen out doors.

It will be safe for the rural delegates to walk up to the convention Saturday. Mr. Bressler has rebuilt his sidewalks.

Randolph has invested in a city park. The only reason Wayne hasn't a fine park is because her public spirited men are more intent upon building churches.

The World-Herald intimates that the white dove of peace on the South African battlefield is nothing but a crow. It will look that way to the British for the next hundred years.

The Battle Creek Enterprise says fusion papers will save ink and space by stating that Robinson is the man for congress. When republican bankers agree to support Robinson, due to the branch bank scheme, it would be folly for the party to take up a new man "this load of poles." Let us unite on honest John and beat that Young man of Stanton into the ground.

The World-Herald expostulates with those people who are clamoring for Bryan for governor. The World-Herald, at one time, was looked upon as a political prophet, but since it apologized for the stealings of Bartley and had no word of censure for Messer, we'll have to pass it's statements along and find out for ourselves.

So many people are dying or being killed off it does not surprise anyone to read that the Missouri river is very low.

The News says a 4th of July celebration in Norfolk would be worth a trip across the continent to see. Well, we rather guess it would.

The Wakefield Republican of last week printed about two pages of graduates' orations, enough to wring the tears from any printer's devil.

The Homer Echo says no defaulting state treasurer would be pardoned if Smythe should be elected governor. Well, guess not. They would hardly get as far as the penitentiary.

The Pender Times refers to our dearly beloved brother Gibson as being only "half-baked." Well, just wait until Bro. Gibson revolutionizes the newspaper business in Wayne, then he'll be thoroughly done—for.

Some of these two-by-two office seekers who are saying so much about "local pride" are very easily made proud. Sometimes a man helps make a town, but in this instance it is the county and town that made the man, and it was expensive making and a very poor job.

Postmaster Sprecher will begin the publication of a republican newspaper at Norfolk when John R. Hays gets to licking stamps. There ought to be room in Norfolk for several more papers. That appears to be the only defect with those already established—too much room.

The English people—in England and America—went crazy with joy when peace was declared with the Boers. It isn't because England won a grand victory, but for the reason that she was saved being whipped and financially foundered.

The Chicago Chronicle is undoubtedly today the best daily paper in the United States, and the DEMOCRAT takes pleasure in recommending it as the best general newspaper printed anywhere in the world. It's Sunday illustrated edition is worth the cost of the whole paper. It is of the size and general appearance of the long-established illustrated weeklies and in the quality of paper used, in the abundance of half-tone pictures produced and in mechanical and editorial excellence generally it compares very favorably with the best of them. The Chronicle's illustrated weekly supplement is noteworthy also in the fact that its illustrations are timely and, therefore, possess a news value which the public will not fail to appreciate. So far as we have observed the matter the enterprise of the great Sunday newspapers has not taken a more rational and enlightened departure than this in many a day. The Sunday Chronicle itself is a newspaper of very superior quality and is well worth its price.

Bryan for Governor

A very careful study of the political situation satisfies us that the only really wise thing to be done by the fusionists is to nominate Hon. William J. Bryan for governor and redeem the state from republican misrule. Without the slightest disparagement of other gentlemen who have announced their willingness to make the race, all of whom are well qualified to discharge the duties of the office, the Mail is satisfied that wisdom and prudence demand that the democrats and populists unanimously tender the nomination to Mr. Bryan and insist on his acceptance.

Notwithstanding his defeat in 1900, he is by long odds the strongest man in the state. His personal magnetism exceeds that of any other gentleman who could be nominated, and his name would create greater enthusiasm and bring to the polls more democrats and populists than the name of any other candidate whom we have heard named.

The Mail sees no force in the argument that the republicans will flood the state with money to defeat Mr. Bryan. If they can defeat him with money they certainly can defeat a weaker candidate with a less sum of money, and they can defeat any candidate with a sufficient amount of money.

If Mr. Bryan should be elected he would carry the balance of the ticket to victory, and the young state of which we are all proud would be thoroughly redeemed. Mr. Bryan would then be placed in a position to defeat the attempts of the reorganizers of the democratic party to control the nomination for the presidency in 1904. If he should be defeated we would know that we had had a fair test of political strength and would understand "where we are at."

It is due to Mr. Bryan to say that we have had no communication whatever with him respecting the matter and do not know what view he will take of it; but we assume that as a patriotic citizen and a loyal son of the state he would not decline a nomination if it were unanimously tendered him.

The Mail begs to express the hope that democratic and populist papers will take a sober view of the situation and remember that however much we may wish to advance the interests of some particular and worthy personal and political friend, the political exigencies of the situation require the exercise of a high degree of wisdom and political foresight, and that in such circumstances personal preferences should be laid aside.—Madison Mail.

HANDICAPPED.

The man who started to run a race in chains and fetters would be visibly handicapped. To one would expect him to succeed. The man who runs the race of life with his digestive and nutritive organs diseased is equally handicapped. In the case of his strength is over-weighted in the other it is under-mind. Success demands above all else a sound stomach.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion. When this is done food is perfectly digested and assimilated and the body receives strength in the only way in which strength can be given—the nutrition derived from digested and assimilated food.

"The praise I would like to give your 'Golden Medical Discovery' I cannot utter in words or describe with pen," writes James H. Ambrose, Esq. of 200 Madison Street, Huntington, Pa. "I was taken with what our physicians here around here found with the best around here and found no relief. I wrote you and you sent me a question blank to fill out, and you did send me the Golden Medical Discovery. I took three bottles and I felt so good that I stopped, since cured. I have no symptoms of gastric trouble or indigestion now."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good."

WASHINGTON NEWS.

The bill known as the Indian appropriation bill has been signed by the president and will become a law on July 1st. This bill contains important legislation of interest to the people of Nebraska.

Under the law as it formerly existed since 1882, members of Indian tribes were allowed to take lands in severally, the heads of families being allowed 160 acres and minor children being allowed from 40 to 80 acres, but under the old law these lands could not be sold or in any way disposed of until the allottee had held them for twenty-five years. Under the law as it formerly existed, rich agricultural lands belonging to the Omaha and Winnebago Indians in Thurston county and Santee Sioux and Ponca reservations in Knox county are held by the Indian allottees.

The hand of death, however, has removed many of the allottees of these lands. Until now, many thousand acres of these rich fertile lands have descended to the heirs of the original holders. The bill which has just been signed by the president provides that these lands belonging to the estate of deceased allottees may be sold by the surviving heirs of the deceased allottees. The bill provides that the sale of these lands shall be approved by the secretary of the interior and where the heirs are minors, a guardian must be named for them and the sale conducted conducted in all respects according to the laws of the state in which the lands are located, the same as though they were white. The sale of lands belonging to minors however shall also be approved by the secretary of the interior.

The effect of this legislation will be to afford an opportunity to many people to procure homes on these Indian reservations and give the Indians an opportunity of procuring money for their lands and the safeguards thrown around the law of providing that the sales shall be approved by the secretary of the interior will guarantee them something near the actual value of their lands. This legislation will be of value to both Indians and whites in the future, as intelligent white farmers with their families will establish homes among the Indians and the Indians will have the benefit of the white man's skill in farming and of the public schools which will be established for the education of their children.

As these lands will be subject to the usual tax after they have been sold, they having heretofore been exempt from taxation it will tend to lighten the taxes of the county in which the lands are situated.

It is the belief of the Indian department that the association of Indians and Whites in a friendly way, the rearing of their children in what has heretofore been their reservations will give both gives both races a better understanding of each other and will result in much benefit to the Indians of the present and future generations.

Mr. Rosewater, the venerable and revered Nestor of Nebraska republicans, is authority for the statement that the republican congressman from this district is not a true representative of the community—that he is owned and controlled, soul and body, by the corporations, whose servant he is. And Mr. Gurley never denied the soft impeachment.

But, while not denying, Mr. Gurley hit the nail squarely on the head when he declared that no republican in this district is more thoroughly in accord with republican policies, more faithful to republican "principals," than this same Congressman Mercer.

And Mr. Rosewater was unable to brand the claim as an infernal falsehood.

So far as this newspaper is able to judge, both Mr. Rosewater and Mr. Gurley are right. "Our Dave" is, undoubtedly, a thrifty servant of the corporations, and therefore he is thoroughly in accord with republican policies, precedents and practices.—World-Herald.

Brother GOLDIE, Wayne, Neb.

Dear sir:—My talking machine is about to get the better of me again and I will have to ask you to humor me for a short time again while I have a little talk with the old neighbors. On the 6th of May I packed my grip, or one I had borrowed, and struck out in search of new victims, boarded hack for Orondart, thirty miles down the Columbia river, three in a seat and ten cents per mile and fairly good road for ten miles and fairly bad one ten miles. Some places a two-foot bobble would have sent us all to the sweet bye and bye, but the bobble was postponed indefinitely (that may not be the word but I think it is). We arrived at Orondart in time for the steamer, crossed the raging Columbia in a skiff or yawl or boat of some kind, gave the captain $1.50 and he said we could ride to Wenatchee, 20 miles, and we, I rode. Reached Wenatchee in time to find train four hours late. Wenatchee is a thriving village on the great Northern R. R. midway between Spokane and Seattle on the south bank of the Columbia river just below the mouth of the Wenatchee river. Just south of the town is a range of mountains. You can buy a fruit ranch at all the way from $15 to $50 per acre, they say it costs $60 per acre to get water to irrigate it. At 430 we took the train for Seattle, the metropolis of Washington, 174 miles away. We followed the Wenatchee river up many miles. At dusk, after riding over snow several miles, we came to the wonder of the world, the three mile tunnel. I counted 533 while passing through it. I didn't learn of anything unusual transpiring while we were going through. I noticed that the brakie took the precaution to light the lamps before entering, don't know why he did it. At Everett 33 miles north of Seattle we strike the Sound. The Sound is different from any sound you ever heard in Nebraska. It is a large body of salt water, just why they salted it I will never tell, salt is very high in some places in the mountains. The Sound is almost surrounded by land with a hole at one end for vessels to go in and out at. Everett is a thriving town of 1000 or 12000 people. At midnight I arrived in Seattle, found a number of men who had been waiting for me some time. I ascertained after listening to them talk awhile that they had come down to tell me where to sleep, they knew of course I would not want to disturb my people at that hour of night. One man had taken the trouble to come down in his automobile and rather insisted on me going home with him, but, to tell the truth, I felt a little timorous about getting in and I didn't get in. I knew he felt disappointed, but I was going to say I found a place to sleep fifty cents worth. Next morning I arose, got up and went out, found a policeman and hack-driver. They told me it was over two miles to where my people lived but the hackman said he could land me right at the door for one plank and I want to tell you I made that dollar or saved it quicker than I ever made a hundred cents, it was a short mile. Since I met that policeman I make a little allowance for anything they tell me. I spent a week in Seattle with friends and relatives and I want to tell you they played fair with me. Seattle is a life town and I think Bro. Grimsley's faith is well founded, but Seattle has made one fatal mistake and if they have not already learned it they will. The streets are too narrow for the business of the place. It rains more or less, mostly more, certain seasons of the year. Land is so scarce and high that many drive stakes in the sound and lay boards on them and build there. They even build railways across the water. They have to wrap rags around the stakes or cook them in a preparation of creosote to protect them from a worm that soon honeycombs them. They have all kinds of docks and piers and elevators built away out in the sound. The fishing industry is a big thing. They catch halibut as big as hogs, small hogs, by the ton. I saw them rebaiting that cost $16 per ton. They tear the old bales all to pieces, shake it all up as it was in the meadow and double compress it when ready for shipment to Alaska or the Philippines. It is almost as hard as a brick and the bales weigh from 95 to 120 lbs. 4000 tons of it goes to feed Uncle Sam's stock 7000 miles away, making it about $8 to pay when it reaches Alaska or our new empire. Seattle people were asked to bid on 1,000,000 feet of lumber for the new empire, don't know whether Geo. D. or the International Lumber Co has cornered on lumber over there or not.

The leading industries of Seattle are many. I dare not say which comes first, the beer or lumber, and I noticed that the dealers of both seemed to be more prosperous than the consumer. The producer of beer I noticed had teams all over the city that $600 would not buy, while I saw teams that belonged to the consumer I would not give 30 cents for, and in many instances I noticed the producers were hale and hearty looking and their wives were looking well and had fairly good togery on while the consumers looked as if they were just recovering from a modern case of small pox and their wives looked as if they would like to belong to the producing class. It is ever thus. Will it ever be thus? God forbid! The real estate business is quite an industry, also the hotel business. I noticed it cost more to stop at Hotel Seattle than it did at the Seattle hotel, whether it was because hotel was before Seattle or Seattle was before hotel I could not get through my wool.

For forty cents I rode 15 miles, across the sound to the navy yard and back, saw the battleship, Oregon, and the little cubby hole where the great commanders crawl in when they think the enemy is about to shoot. They say to the boys that do the business: "Give 'em hell while I take a little rest," and after the fray is over they come out of their hole and find out who is and is not hurt and report a grand victory and after a while they draw the prize money. I went into the G. N. R. R. one evening and bought a ticket for Belfast 25 miles north for $3.10 round trip. Spent three days in a logging camp and a single mile. There is where they do business, one saw mill will cut 140,000, one man packed 50,000, he must be an expert, however, worth $2. If I had the waste wood they burn at one mill in twelve months laid down in Wayne I would satisfy me. Go with me out in the woods, we find what they call a donkey engine located on the bank of a river with a wire rope two miles long, cost $1200 per mile, away out in the woods you

THE IMPORTED

Percheron Stallions

Villiers 13169 8081 Colmar 24734 43789

Foaled March 28, 1889, imported in 1890, sire Briard 5317 (1630), dam Robin 5697. Villiers is a jet black, weighs over a ton, and for many years stood at the head of the stud of Dunham, Fletcher & Coleman, the famous Illinois Percheron importers and breeders. As an individual he is without doubt one of the grandest horses that was ever in the United States, as a producer of the best there is in horse flesh he is easily at the top. He will make the season of 1902 at the barn of his owners in Wayne.

Is a deep iron grey, foaled April 5th, 1898, imported by Dunham, Fletcher & Coleman in 1900, sire Navarin (42555), dam Birche 23002. He is certainly a splendid type of the Percheron family, being only four years old yet weighing a ton, and is an animal with splendid action and abundance of life and good disposition. We believe that in Colmar we are offering to the breeders of this section of the state of Nebraska a horse that will appreciate and we have faith to believe he will prove himself a noble sire.

TAMMANY TIM 34283

Season of 1902

Fall brother to Hinky Dink, 2:25 1/2, first start, fourth heat, in winning race. By Union Medium 4182 2:18 1/2, Dam Alice G., 2:29 1/2, Dam of Hinky Dink, 2:25 1/2. Tammany Tim was foaled in June 1897. He is a handsome bay horse 15 1/2 hands high, weighs 1225 lbs. The only stallion standing in this part of the state whose first three Dams are producers of 2:30 trotters, or better. In conformation he is a grand horse, clear cut head, intelligent countenance, strong shoulders, powerful back, hips and stifles, all gracefully combined to produce strength and speed. His blood lines are of the best, the most popular and prolific speed producing combination in trotting blood lines, the kind that gets the money on the racelcourse and the prize in the show ring. That he will beget speed and grand road qualities there is no doubt, as he not only inherits, but possesses these qualities in a marked degree. Even common mares bred to a horse of this class, cannot fail to produce foals that will find a ready market as carriage horses or masters, as well as general, all purpose horses.

Terms: $15 to insure in foal.
