A Free Public Library

How many people in Wayne and surrounding country would like to have a free public library started in Wayne? That is what the ladies of the Federation of Clubs are about to do and all who are interested, men, women, boys and girls, are requested to attend a meeting at the court house, Monday, Nov. 25 at 7:30 o'clock. An interesting program will be given, consisting of music, speeches by members of citizens, etc. Afterwards the ladies will show you the room which the county commissioners have given the use of for library purposes, and which the ladies have fitted up. Light refreshments will be served, and it is hoped that each person will bring one or more books, old or new, to be donated to the new library. Immediately after this event a committee of ladies will purchase books with the funds which they have been collecting for some time, and the library will be opened to the public free of charge.

It is hoped that enough interest will be shown so that from this small beginning a fine public library of which Wayne may be proud, will be the result, and at no distant day. Everyone attend the meeting and help the cause along.

Miss Elliott Still Unconscious

Norfolk News, 13th: Mrs. Cora Beels returned today from her regular weekly visit to her music class at Winside. She reports that Miss Alice Elliott who was injured by the cars a week ago Saturday, is still unconscious but that her condition is favorable and her early and complete recovery is confidently expected. Yesterday morning she regained consciousness for a short time and her first inquiry was about a cake she had made on the day she was hurt and had left for her mother to frost, evidently being of the opinion that but a day had passed since the accident. Her next inquiry was regarding the visit of Mrs. Beels, she being a member of her music class. Mrs. Beels promised to visit her after she had eaten her breakfast, but when she reached the Elliott home Alice had again become unconscious.

WANT A FARM?

Well get a hump and get one before its too late. Don't pay any attention to the croaker who says Wayne county land is going to drop in value. Mosey right up to our office and saw wood while the sun shines. Iowa men know a good thing and will soon have the whole cheese and then some.

Drop in, as the alligator said to the pickaninny, and look over our bargains. We can sell you a farm in Wayne county for from $31.00 to $125.00 per acre. NOW is the accepted time. We are local agent for the Prudential Life Insurance Co., and don't you forget it.

Stole Horse and Buggy

Ed. Wright, who lives four miles south of town, missed his driving mare, buggy and harness last Saturday morning and, surmising that the animal was stolen, came to town at once and got Sheriff Mears to chase down the thief. The sheriff carefully examined the horse's foot prints and in this manner he and Wright tracked the animal to Laurel. Here they found they were close after the thief and by Sunday they had traced the rig to St. James. Sheriff Mears had a sale at the Winside for Monday morning so was compelled to turn the job over to Pete Kiegen, the marshal at St. James. The latter gentleman and Mr. Wright followed the trail into Yankton where the thief had left the outfit at a city barn and taken a train for Sioux City, telling the liveryman that he would return Tuesday. Mr. Wright got back to Wayne Wednesday afternoon with his horse and buggy and no doubt feels well satisfied that matters are no worse.

Alva Roberts Loses an Arm

Last week the DEMOCRAT mentioned that Alva Roberts had been taken to the hospital at Sioux City for treatment for an injury received. It appears the doctor up there didn't understand the trouble and the delay in treatment caused the loss of the arm at the shoulder. W. L. Roberts, a brother, and Art Moor and Frank Dahlheimer went down yesterday to be present at the operation. A telephone message last evening stated the patient was resting well although he is in a precarious condition. The boy's father, W. M. Roberts, went to Sioux City this morning to be with his son. Mrs. Roberts, the mother, is very ill at her home and the family thereby having more than their share of trouble.

How It Was Done

McCarthy's Dixon county majority of 320 in which county the fusionist elected county attorney and representative shows how he is regarded at home—Wayne Republican. A fellow named Kingsbury was elected county attorney, and his brother edits what pretends to be the democratic paper of Ponca. A gentleman from Wayne was in Ponca ten days before election and made inquiries as to why the fusion paper there didn't give McCarthy what he was entitled to, and the Wayne man was frankly informed that McCarthy fixed the deal for the fusion candidate for county attorney to be elected, and be given in return the underhanded support of Ponca's "clean and capable" democratic editor. This isn't saying much for democratic editors but Ponca appears to furnish most all kinds of shysters.

When it comes to a selection of Beers or Whiskey.

Herman Mildner, proprietor of the Poor Man's Palace, has been "up for business" in this line for about fifteen years. No saloonman in the state can beat his record. The right kind of liquors, sold to the right kind of people at the right price. The secret of Mr. Mildner's success is in always handling good liquors, and a temperate use of a pure beverage never hurt anyone.

When you want a case of beer or some good whisky be sure you order from Mildner's and get the best.

...AHERN'S...

BY DAD.

I have a letter from the "College of Journalism," a Cincinnati concern offering to tell me how to run a newspaper and take it out in advertising. There is another one from a religious concern, telling me how I can save a lot of souls by chipping in just a little bit to help their institution along. If I don't know how to run a country newspaper I will never learn. If souls cannot be saved without me chipping in to help out a lot of religious grafters the souls can burn in hell. There never was a time when a greater number of "grafts" were being worked, and it is a pretty good idea to watch the fellows who are going about the country with "religion" as a cloak. Hell is not half so full of such devils as it will be.

Mrs. Jones had hired two men to help with her house-cleaning. "Those picture frames," she told them, "should be cleaned." "Yes," answered one of the men, "if you could get us some whisky, why, it is the finest thing to clean them with." "Oh," she answered, "if whisky will clean them, I will send down a bottle of it I have up stairs and you may try it." The men washed the frames with soap and water, and of course, drank the whisky. When Mrs. Jones saw the frames bright and glistening, she remarked: "And so whisky cleaned those frames?" "Yes," said one of the men, "it was whisky that did it." "And just to think," remarked the woman, "I came very near throwing that whisky away. I bathed poor Fido with it before he died, you know."

A jolly reader of the DEMOCRAT, who resides south of town, sent me a unique present yesterday, and a note within the package read: "Dear Walt-

Think you are not a corn picker, but thought you might like a bit of sow belly as the DEMOCRAT got left this time." That's all right, Robert, old socks, and your present would have been very acceptable had you taken the hair off. You see the election made everything look bald-headed to us until it comes to eating and drinking. Turkeys may go with the feathers on, but sow belly—never.

They say that horsethief who wanted to be Wright, wore corduroy clothes, and stuttered. Are you on?

The cost of the Mollnux trial is estimated at $500,000. Hang it, that is an awfully lot of money to give up and it looks as though old Mollnux "got it in the neck" instead of his son.

Maud Lillian Berri of the "Sultan of Lulu Co." is a berri good thing in the show line as she will always be on time. Maud got a pain in her abdomen and upon turning on the x rays it was discovered that she had swallowed a miniature watch. The bald-heads who go to see Maud play, hereafter, are assured of a good time—by the watch.

A Michigan woman who has had a husband in the state penitentiary for about five years is evidently getting lonely. She wrote to the governor as follows: "Piece your majesty let him come home, if for no other reason than to see his three children which have been born since he left."

Bryan's Commoner is received since Nov. 4 so I guess the world still moves about the same as of old.

The man with "coal to burn" isn't the fellow who had "money to burn" last summer for beer.

"Senator Allen," says Hans Hansen, "told us that the republican candidate for governor was just Mickey, but after election it was Dennis Mickey, a real Irishman, but I think it's Dennis Thompson." Hans hasn't any regard for a democrat's feelings unless it's all on the "inside."

The Chicago Tribune writes the Democrat to "wire briefly my view as to best man for Speakership to succeed Henderson." Well, by dad, I've only one guess coming and that is McCarty from Ponca. Mack seems to get whatever he speaks for and the people don't seem to care a darn how he words his requests.

SOCIETY NOTES

A meeting of the Ladies Federation will be held in the court room Nov. 25. After the meeting a book social will be held. A cordial invitation is extended to all who are interested in the public library.

There was a big swarm at Missionary Tea at the Presbyterian church last night. An elegant supper was served and a good program rendered. Grandma Warner led in prayer. Elizabeth Mines gave a very cute recitation. Gus Willis sang "Just for Today" and was called back to say something for "tomorrow." Miss Mettler, a reservation Indian, did splendidly, also Miss Hyde, representing a mountain girl of the "pore white trash" in the south, and was enthusiastically endorsed. Leslie Welch made a fine esqui-maux while Minnie Miller and Marguerite Chace recited a piece about their two empty jugs, passed them around the audience then went back and spoke about the full jugs. The ladies added about $45 to their treasury.

The ladies of the Baptist church will have a big bazaar and oyster supper Saturday, Nov. 22. All the oysters you can eat for 25 cents. Watch for bills.

Mrs. E. R. Chace entertains a number of ladies for tea tomorrow evening in honor of Miss Olive Chace of Stanton.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fuller made the first donation to the City Library in the shape of 15 volumes entitled "History of Universal Knowledge."

Obituary

Malinda A. Turner was born in Lynchburg, Va., Nov. 5, 1828. Her girlhood was spent in the town of her birth. In the year 1850 she was married to Dr. P. G. Cooper, a former schoolmate and playmate. With the energy and courage of young people seeking better opportunities and greater advantages they turned their faces toward the west. They came to Iowa in 1853. Three years later they moved to Cumming City near the present site of Blair, Nebraska. They were among the first settlers of that part of the state. The doctor died in 1885. Since that time Mrs. Cooper has made her home among her children, until Nov. 7 when she bid farewell to this life and went to reward beyond the skies, having lived to the ripe age of 74 years and 2 days. The last few months of her life was filled with suffering caused by a cancer. Up to the time of her last sickness she had scarcely experienced a sick day. During the past three years she had made her home with Mrs. A. T. Chapin of Winslow, where she died. Early in life she gave her heart to God and united with the M. E. church. Her last days were filled with expectation and longing to see her God. She was conscious to the last moment, and just before passing away she arranged her pillow without assistance and then layed her head upon it as if to go to sleep.

The funeral was conducted at the Chapin home Sunday afternoon by Rev. S. A. Davis, pastor of the M. E. church. Monday morning the remains were taken to Blair where they were placed by the side of her husband. She leaves four sons and four daughters to mourn her departure. Of the

Republicans are Scrapping

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 13.—Grave differences of opinion as to whether W. S. Summers should continue as United States district attorney for Nebraska or whether H. C. Lindsay, state chairman for the past three years, should succeed him, have arisen to disturb the amicable relations existing between Senators Milroad and Dietrich. The former has espoused Summers' cause and the latter that of Lindsay, who was Dietrich's private secretary and managed the campaign that landed Dietrich in the gubernatorial chair.

from which he stepped to the senatorship. On Mr. Millard's side D. E. Thompson and all of the Burlington influence has been ranged, while on that of Dietrich is Edward Rosewater and all of the newly-elected republican congressmen. Thompson has carried the war into the Lindsay camp by openly charging in his paper that Lindsay almost wrecked the party's hopes of victory in the recent campaign by perpetrating a forgery of railroad passes that had been issued to W. H. Thompson, the democratic candidate, or rather, which D. E. Thompson said had never been issued. Lindsay has retorted by declaring that the pass reported was not a forgery and that he absolutely knows W. H. Thompson did have railroad passes.

An effort is being made by Thompson to have the state committee called together for the purpose of demanding Lindsay's resignation. He proposes to furnish it with proof that W. H. Thompson did not have any passes. Lindsay retorts that the Thompson faction of the Burlington crowd did not aid in the campaign financially or otherwise and that it really hoped for the defeat of the ticket in order that Lindsay might be discredited. Of course, if Lindsay should be asked to resign by the committee, it will kill him off for district attorney, and that is just now the game that is being played. Republicans look for some very warm times if the warfare is carried much farther.
