The DEMOCRAT last week mentioned having lots of grief with its gasoline engine, but that isn't all of it. Friday afternoon it balked and the Herald consented to run off our paper. After getting out a couple hundred papers their press played out for keeps, not being used to grinding out honest democracy, and the blacksmith was called in to doctor up the DEMOCRAT's engine. At ten o'clock it started up beautifully, but Saturday morning it was as sulky as a race track gig, and the old fashioned armstrong power had to be brought out. So much has luck, continuously, makes us believe that this Sebald building is a hoodoo.

Find 'Em All Guilty

Reisland, Watch Thieves and Brown are in it

District court has been doing a rushing business this week among the unfortunate and foolish. Eli Reisland was found guilty of indecent exposure and a stay of judgment taken and new trial asked for.

The Danielson watch thieves, Olson and Kristofferson, were both convicted and will probably receive sentence tomorrow.

The trial of Chet Brown was concluded yesterday afternoon, the case going to the jury at five o'clock and a verdict being returned at eleven last night finding him guilty of stealing Ed. Wright's horse. The defense was that Brown was a paranoiac or addicted to melancholia, but it didn't go with the jury.

Other matters disposed of were Mc Cormick Co. vs Reynolds, settled; Koeffel vs Thompson, trial Saturday; Space vs Wayne county, continued till 13th; Merchants State bank vs Wiebie et al, decree foreclosure; Longmacker vs Moore, verdict for plaintiff for $64; Wilson vs Bankers Life, insurance to go to children of the late R. H. Johnson and not to his creditors; Reimers vs Reimers, a divorce case, parties made up and went home happy; Rees vs Rasmusson, continued next term; Needham vs Winside, decree according to previous statement; Edwards & Bradford Co. vs Ziecke, foreclosure; Jista Rasmussen vs Rees, for trial to day; Benedict vs Benedict, divorce granted; Hans Rasmussen vs Rees, continued; Anna Jorgensen vs Rees, continued; Statton and Beach vs village of Carroll, default entered; Elming vs Elching, continued; Byer Bros. vs Bell et al, continued; Clark vs Clark, divorce granted; Edwards & Bradford Co. vs Snook, dismissed same vs Miller, decree of foreclosure; same vs Johnson et al, dismissed; Rocco Bros. vs Rundell, continued next term; McMakin vs Warner et al, decree foreclosure; Henry Layman Johnson estate, decree for plaintiff; Wageman vs Poppenbagen, continued next term and defendant put under $1000 bonds. On the Burning Deck

Only the soft, parlor voice of the DEMOCRAT man saved the fire department from a useless run to the DEMOCRAT residence at 2:30 this morning. Grandma Piepenstock hammered on our front door about that hour and informed us that our kitchen was on fire. The writer understood her to say her kitchen, and as it looked like a big conflagration in the rear of the houses, by dad, we stood on the front porch and hollered "fire" in our shirt tails. As quickly as we could get into the backyard we found it was only the DEMOCRAT's coal house and an "old well" that stood by it. The coal house (piano box) and a big pile of old lumber was about all consumed by the cruel flames, and the fire was making noble efforts to follow the sidewalk to the kitchen. Coroner Gaertner and Mont came around to see who was dead, and they helped carry water to kill it. At noon Thursday a pan of ashes had been emptied in the old well to burn the hole out, and this in some manner got into the coal dust that a dealer sold us for pure anthracite.

MAIN COLLEGE BUILDING

COLLEGE BUILDING AND GROUNDS.

The College building is located on a beautiful campus of five acres, just north of the city, and three-fourths of a mile from the depot, having good walks leading to it. The dormitories are on the blocks adjoining the campus. The College building is built of brick and finished in poplar. It has four floors. The first floor contains the music rooms and rooms for the president's family. The second floor contains the president's office, four large recitation rooms, library and a cloak room. The third floor contains the chapel, commercial room and a cloak room. The chapel and commercial rooms are connected with large sliding doors. The seating capacity is 650. The fourth floor contains five large recitation rooms. The entire four floors are heated with steam. The building is furnished throughout with appropriate furniture and apparatus.

The commercial room is 30 by 50 feet; it is supplied with chairs and tables, and surrounded with blackboards four feet wide. The science room is arranged to meet the demand for practical science teaching. This room is supplied with the best of apparatus, consisting of a full supply of anatomical charts, philosophical apparatus, chemical apparatus and chemicals, geological specimens, botanical specimens, etc. Students are given a thorough drill in the use of apparatus in illustrating the various subjects studied. The library room is fitted with shelves, tables, desks and chairs. The library is open from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m. An additional College building will be built the coming year.

We have one of the best and most convenient buildings for educational purposes of any institution. Each room is planned for a special purpose and is furnished with the best of furniture and apparatus for that purpose.

SOUTH DORMITORY FOR LADIES

The dormitories are on blocks just north of the College building. They are splendid buildings. The rooms are large, well lighted and heated. The two dormitories for ladies are heated with hot water and furnaces and the two for gentlemen are heated with stoves. The ladies' dormitory, in which the dining hall is located, is 30 by 80 feet and three stories high. The other for ladies is 30 by 80 feet and is two stories high. Each of the dormitories for gentlemen are 30 by 60 feet and two stories high.

Two students occupy one room. Each room is furnished with table, washstand, bowl, pitcher, lamp, bed and bedding. Everything is furnished except fuel, light and towels. During the winter each student should bring an extra comforter. Each student deposits $1 on taking a room; this is returned when the key to the room is returned and breakage or other damage to room or furniture is replaced or repaired.

The dining hall is 30 by 80 feet and will accommodate 225 persons. All who room in the dormitories board at the College dining halls. Good board is furnished. The president's family and teachers board with the students. Mrs. Pile superintends the boarding department and has trained assistants to help her. Students may board in private families if they prefer.

In addition to these buildings there are a number of good private boarding houses within a few blocks of the College. Many of our best families take some boarders. No one need fear that they cannot secure good accommodations.

Were preparing themselves for life work last year in the Nebraska Normal College (45 miles from Sioux City.) A healthier, happier, busier lot of students could not be found. These three characteristics—health, happiness and work—have been marked features of the College since its organization eleven years ago.

Every line of Educational work—Preparatory, Business, Teachers', Scientific, Classic, Music, Shorthand, Drawing—has its special department, special teachers and special facilities.

Students can enter at any time and find classes to suit them, from reading in ordinary school books through classics. No entrance examinations are required and satisfaction guaranteed.

WHERE WAYNE IS LOCATED.

WAYNE, the county seat of Wayne county, is situated on the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha Railroad, 45 miles from Sioux City, 28 from Norfolk, and 115 from Omaha. The city has a population of 2500, is beautifully situated in Logan Valley. The site is rolling, and the drainage is natural and perfect. For health the city is not excelled anywhere. The society is excellent. The intellectual and moral culture of our citizens exert a good influence upon all who come here. The seven churches throw open their doors in cordial invitation to the students. Pleasant and profitable recreation may be had by students in companionship of friends made in the homes and churches of our citizens. Wayne has four banks, three newspapers, a large opera house, waterworks, telephone exchange, electric lights and various other improvements which space forbids mentioning. Persons wishing to locate in Wayne or to know more of Wayne should write to the President of the College.

REASONS WHY WAYNE IS UNSURPASSED AS A COLLEGE CITY

- Because no city in the west affords a better place in which to live and enjoy the advantages of an educational and religious community.
- Because the cleanliness and general beauty of the city can hardly be equalled anywhere. The air is pure, water plenty and perfect.
- Because students can live here on less money than would be required in larger cities.
- Because the city, being free from haunts of vice and crime, students are kept from opportunities to vice found in larger cities.
- Because there is less to distract the attention of students from their work than is found in larger cities; therefore more rapid advancement will be made.
- Because the locality is very healthy. There has not been a seriously sick student at the College for seven years.

SOME SPECIAL FEATURES OF THE NEBRASKA NORMAL COLLEGE

- The moral and religious interests of each student is carefully guarded.
- The College is strictly non-sectarian, but is thoroughly religious.
- The College is well supplied with apparatus in its various departments.
- The citizens are obliging to the students, giving every possible aid to the College.
- Lectures, free to the students, are given each term. The leading professional and business men are secured for these lectures.
- Students find the teachers ever ready to give personal attention and counsel in everything pertaining to their welfare.
- The courses of study embrace such studies as are necessary in practical life. The students have the privilege of selecting their own studies.
- Students can complete a course of study without remaining consecutive terms or consecutive years. There are no vacations.
- Students are not required to take a regular course of study. They select the studies they prefer, unless the President is otherwise advised by parents.
- The College is open to all—backward and advanced. Students' standing is determined by their character and their work as students.
- Lady students find in the Matron of the College a personal friend. Parents are assured that their daughters have pleasant homes and the most careful attention.
- The classes are so sectioned that students may enter at any time, take up a subject where they wish and advance as rapidly as they desire. No one is held back on account of others.
- The teachers in the College are men and women of excellent scholarship and successful experience, who devote all their time to teaching and labor earnestly for the advancement of each student's interest.
- Each teacher has certain hours of the day set aside to assist students who need assistance in preparing lessons or to catch up with the classes. No charge is made for this individual instruction.
- Each student is the object of special study of the president and teachers. At the faculty meeting, which is held every Monday evening, the work of each student is discussed in detail. The students' standing is compared and methods of helping them develop their work in the best way are discussed.

EAST DORMITORY FOR GENTLEMEN.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND THE NORMAL COLLEGE.

- Teachers and those preparing to teach.
- All young men and women who want a thorough, practical business education.
- All who wish to make a speciality of mathematics, language, science, elocution or review of common branches.
- All who wish to learn shorthand and typewriting in the shortest time.
- All who wish to study music, drawing, etc.
- All who wish to become good writers and teachers of penmanship.
- All who wish to attend an institution where all studies are selective, work thorough and practical, and where each teacher is a specialist.
- All who wish to attend an institution that provides special classes for young men and young women who have not the time nor money to enter regular courses of study, but want special work on special subjects.
- All who wish to attend an institution that employs usefully every minute of their time, and one that will lay for the student the foundation for habits of industry, economy, self-control, perseverance and application; the one that helps to build a well rounded, well balanced character.

Consider the superior advantages offered by the Normal College when you think of attending school.

A VIEW OF THE NORTH END OF THE DINING ROOM.

THE FACULTY.

No institution has a stronger faculty than the one found directing the work of students in the Nebraska Normal College. Each member of the faculty is a graduate of some well known normal school or college, and has been selected on account of recognized ability, thorough education, successful experience and strong character. Each one is a specialist and a true leader of men and women.

President J. M. Pile and Mrs. Pile have spent 14 years in Nebraska where they are most favorably known to thousands of teachers and students. Prof. F. M. Gregg comes from the great normal school at Ada, Ohio, and has had ten years successful experience. Prof. F. S. Wolfe is a graduate of the University of Salina, also a graduate from a business college. His experience covers several years superintending and teaching in public schools and college. As a director and teacher of music Miss Stewart is known throughout the west, where many of her graduates are leading teachers in music. She has spent six years with us. Miss Colony's experience in teaching covers several years in public schools, university and Normal school. She is a most successful teacher in all branches while her special subjects are Vocal Music, Elocution and Physical Culture. Miss Kingsbury is a graduate of Butchell College and has had several years successful experience in teaching Latin, German and Rhetoric in college and university. As an instructor in these branches she is a recognized leader. Mrs. C. H. Bright is remembered by hundreds of former students as one of the ablest teachers in the state. She has taught in the College for seven years. W. W. Vaught is well known to hundreds of students and the public as a very successful teacher of mathematics and kindred subjects. But few teachers have been more successful in primary work than Mrs. Lowery. She is a progressive teacher who knows the needs of the teachers and those preparing to teach. Fred Pile is one of the best stenographers of the west.

COURSES OF STUDY

The courses of study in the Literary department: Teachers', Professional, Scientific, Classical, Mathematical, and Special Science are arranged so that each shall answer a definite purpose, and fit students for the occupation they intend for their life work. Each course above the Teachers' leads to the Bachelor degree.

The studies in each of the courses are arranged with a view to follow the natural development of the mind and also to have those studies on which others depend to come first to prepare students for what is to follow. Those desiring to complete any of the prescribed courses will follow the order intended. No one, however, is compelled to follow a course.

It is not necessary for students to remain consecutive terms in order to complete a course, as the classes are so arranged that students may drop out and teach a term or more, then return and take up their studies where they left off without any inconvenience.

From one to four classes are found in each of the branches every term. None need fear that they will not be accommodated at any time with the studies they desire.

The need of systematic teaching of the fundamental branches has led to the organization of this department. No examination is required to enter this department. The only preparation necessary is that the students be able to read in common school books.

It is important that correct modes of thought and investigation are established as early as possible. Correct thinking makes logical reasoners.

This fact is recognized by the general disposition of parents to send their sons and daughters away to schools where competent instruction is given.

This course prepares the way to the Teachers' Professional course. It fully meets the wants of all who desire to review or prepare for the higher courses of study, or enter the College to get methods of complete analysis and short, approved, practical methods, or to prepare for teaching or business.

Beginning, advanced and review classes are formed at the first of each term, and afterwards when necessary. Industrious and apt students are not held back by those who advance more slowly.

Students may enter any day of the term and find classes adapted to their wants.

All studies required for a second grade certificate are included in this course.

Students taking this course will be instructed by the regular Faculty of the College.

- SCIENCE—Philosophy, Botany, Physical Geography, El of Agriculture.
- LITERATURE—American Literature, General History and Civil Government.
- MISCELLANEOUS—Elocution, Drawing, History of Education and Didactics.

This course has been arranged to meet the demand for more and better teachers. Vacancies which must be filled are continually being made in the vast army of teachers. Inefficient workers must give place to those who are prepared for their work.

Students who complete this course are grounded in the theory and art of teaching, and are able to demonstrate their ability as true teachers wherever they go.

Those who complete the course are aided as far as possible in securing good situations, and are given the honor of graduation and diploma.

It is not necessary that students remain during consecutive terms in order to complete the full course, as beginning and advanced classes are organized in each study of the course at the beginning of each term.

Our arrangements enable teachers who have but a short time to remain in school to spend their time to the best possible advantage. Those who expect to complete the course will be examined in all the studies of Common School Course on or before the beginning of the last term of the year, unless the faculty is willing to accept higher grades.

Written examinations are held at the close of each term. All members of the regular course must have an average of not less than 85 per cent to pass them in the studies.

A public entertainment, in which each member has an original oration, is given at the close of each term. Graduates in this course secure good positions in schools.

DIDACTICS—THE TRAINING CLASS.

This class is instructed by the President, the work and reputation of whose students in Nebraska and other states is a sufficient guarantee of the practical work done.

For the purpose of studying the theory and art of teaching, this class affords advantages not found in any other institution. Each member of the class keeps a diary of method used, and prepares critiques. They are thus drilled until able to present subjects in a logical manner and handle classes accurately, easily and gracefully.

COLLEGE NOTES

Mr. J. H. Wilson of the 1902 Scientific class is meeting with success as principal at Belden. He is an enthusiastic worker.

We have several splendid basket ball teams among the young ladies. Every day that the weather is favorable they give 45 minutes to practice.

The Atlanta school is doing well under the principalship of G. A. Hall of last year's Scientific class. Mr. Hall worked his way through college and deserves the success he is having.

A letter from Mr. Lewis Ormy tells of his success as principal at Litchfield where he has been for three years with salary advanced each year.

We ask the readers of this paper to save their copy and show it to young people who are interested in getting an education. It may help them in making a start.

Mr. A. B. Sheldon of the '96 Teachers' class is engaged in the ministry at Cottonwood, Montana. This is his third year at that place. He writes of his good work and we are informed by students from there that he is meeting with best of success.

Mr. Hadly of the 1900 Teachers' class after serving two years as principal at Belden quits teaching and enters the Law Department of the State University.

Miss Mary McLaughlin after a year's experience in the country school took charge of the Grammar Department at Winside and her work is very satisfactory to both pupils and patrons.

We trust that every reader of this paper will send to Prof. Pile the names of young people who think of going to college this year or next. He will send catalogue to those whose names are sent him.

Mr. J. E. Paul is one of the leading dentists of the state. He is located at Columbus where he has good practice. After graduating from N. N. C. he was principal at Lindsay two years and at Humphrey two years.

Mr. Lecrone is serving his third year as principal at Pilger. He is very successful both as teacher and principal. Miss Blackstone remains as one of his teachers. This is her fourth year. She shows her progress by attending the summer term of the college.

The enrollment this winter will reach 500 and a finer body of students cannot be found anywhere. They are here for work and all are doing the very best of work.

There are calls for educated young men and women to enter all worthy vocations, then, my young friend, why not enter college at the beginning of the year and prepare yourself for a call.

No college in the west has so large a per cent of its graduates in good positions as has this college, and the reason for this is that we prepare them for the very best positions.

Young man, if you have not the ready money to go to college, borrow it from a friend or get them to help you to borrow it at the bank. No other investment pays so well. Write us if you desire to attend college.

During the past few months many visitors have been seen at the college. Members of school boards looking for teachers, parents arranging for son or daughter's attendance, county superintendents and other educators, and all went away with best of wishes for the College.

To young men and women out of employment: If you want to prepare for a $50, a $60, a $75 or a $100 position, write to the President of the Nebraska Normal College. More than 100 positions have been filled during the past three months and several good ones we could not fill as all who were well prepared had been engaged.

Miss Edith Batchelor writes of her work at Spokane where she has charge of the largest primary school of the city. She was very successful in her institute, work in Washington and Idaho.

Mr. W. A. Spencer is enjoying his work as principal at Gayville, S. D. He was a member of last year's teacher's class and was known as a hard worker and pleasant young man.

Brainerd, Minnesota, has four N. N. C. graduates in her schools. All report successful work. Their diplomas were accepted for certificates and no examination required. Miss Skiles, Miss Lulu and Grace Neihardt, Miss Carr are the quartette.

Good reports come from the work of Miss Burson in the Bloomfield schools. She is a graduate of the class of '98 and has many warm friends among her college acquaintances.

Mr. R. P. Beauchemin has a splendid position as stenographer with a large real estate firm of Sioux City. He prepared himself for this work in connection with the completion of the teachers' course last year.

All the members of last year's graduating classes—who are not taking advanced work at the College—are now teaching. All are doing well and most of them will return for the summer term.

A gentleman who visited classes of the different members of the faculty wrote encouragingly to Prof. Pile. The following sentences are from the letter: "The work witnessed of every teacher was thorough and complete. I was both surprised and pleased with all I saw and heard. From my acquaintance I feel sure no more competent faculty can be found in any similar institution in this or any other state of the union. I do not understand how such neatness, system and order is maintained with a body of 400 students."

It is important to know how to organize, how to classify, how to prepare a course of study, how to arouse maximum thought and attention, how to fix essential points in the minimum time, and how to meet various perplexing questions.

Some of the subjects discussed: philosophy of the mind, cultivation of the faculties, philosophy of government, art of instruction, conducting the recitation, questioning, art of illustration, organization, courses of study, practical methods in all branches of study, and many others.

A class in Didactics is sustained each term of the year. During the summer term a special Kindergarten teacher is engaged. She teaches classes of children in the presence of the students, besides giving daily talks on methods, etc.

Natural sciences are taught theoretically and practically, and include physics, theoretical chemistry, and geology.

Mental science, Political Economy, and Science of Education are taught by daily class drills and lectures.

The graduates of this course are awarded the degree of Bachelor of Science.

VIEW OF THE EAST END OF LABORATORY. A PROGRAM OF THE SCIENTIFIC CLASS, 1899.

Table listing musical programs for Invocation, Duties, What of Science, Fantasia, Lincoln, Oberon, and Rossini. Includes names like Misses Balgaard, Klintwort, Junge, etc.

Any one intending to enter our College to complete either the Teachers' Professional course or the Scientific course will be directed in their study of same while they are teaching, free of charge.

These courses include the Teachers' and Scientific courses, but those completing the courses and not intending to make teaching a profession will not be required to take the work in Didactics, nor devote so much time to reviewing the common branches.

Table with 3 columns: FIRST TERM, SECOND TERM, THIRD TERM. Lists subjects like Book-keeping, Business Arithmetic, Grammar, etc.

This course is arranged for the systematic training of young men and women to fill any position or conduct successfully any business.

A SECTION OF THE COMMERCIAL ROOM

Students taking the business course are instructed by the following teachers: J. M. Pile, Arithmetic and Civil Government; F. S. Wolfe, Book-keeping, Actual Business, Commercial Law and Penmanship; Mrs. Bright, Grammar and Letter Writing; Miss Kingsbury, Composition; F. M. Gregg, Reading and Debating.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR ENTERING: An ordinary common school education is all that is required to enter the department. If a student has not been in school for some time and feels "rusty" and behind in his studies we can assure him he will find others like himself in school, and that he will receive, if necessary, personal instruction until thoroughly prepared to enter the classes without embarrassment.

The teachers in this course are practical book-keepers. As rapid, accurate and thorough accountants they have no superiors. They prepare the students for the first places with business men. Students receive both class and individual instruction. No one is held back on account of the others.

THEORY DEPARTMENT: The students study the theory and nature of business in this department. They become acquainted with single and double entry. They learn the science of accounts, after which they learn the complications of wholesale and retail merchandising, farm and lumber accounts, railroading and insurance, commission and banking business, the use of all mercantile terms, the forms of notes, drafts, bills, shipments, etc.

ACTUAL BUSINESS DEPARTMENT: In this the work is a perfect representation of the business world, in which students buy and sell, manage their own business and practically meet every question that comes up in business life. Each student is furnished manuscript work, assigned cash capital and merchandise with which he conducts his business.

The three College banks operate with a cash capital of $100,000 each in College currency, which in the actual business room has a real monetary value. Sixty different kinds of merchandise are used in the wholesale, retail and commission houses.

COMMERCIAL ARITHMETIC. Special attention is given to this study. New Business Arithmetic, prepared by the President of the College, and published by O. M. Powers, Chicago, is used in this course.

GENERAL INFORMATION. 1. The tuition for this department is $10 for a term of ten weeks.

2. Students of this department are admitted free to all the regular departments of the College.

3. Letter writing is taught in detail. "Instruction in Composition and Letter Writing" by the President of the College, is the text book used in this class.

4. Penmanship is made a special feature of this course, and is taught by the regular teacher of penmanship.

5. Students who complete the course receive a diploma. A charge for material used is made upon entering the actual business work.

6. Teachers can get a practical knowledge of book-keeping in a few weeks. Special classes are organized for those who desire to prepare to teach this subject.

7. The aim of this department is not to make book-keepers merely, but to teach business principles that students may engage in any branch of business successfully. Everything is made so practical that the course is of incalculable value to any young person.

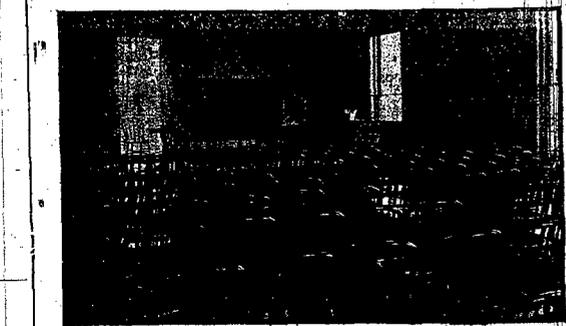

PENMANSHIP. The first aim is to give students rapid, plain and beautiful handwriting. Special attention is given to principles and analysis. This course is free to all members of the school.

SHORTHAND AND TYPEWRITING. These are taught by a practical, experienced writer. A great advantage to students whose time is limited is that the corresponding style, a style which is of no practical value, is not taught, thereby saving two or three months of the student's time.

Typewriting can be learned and sufficient speed for good work required in one term. Tuition for shorthand and typewriting is $15 for a term of ten weeks and $2 each term for the use of the machine.

The tuition in this department admits a student to all classes of the regular departments. Students are assisted in securing good situations.

The following is from the Omaha Woman's Weekly and was written by the editor, Miss Fairbrother, after visiting the College.

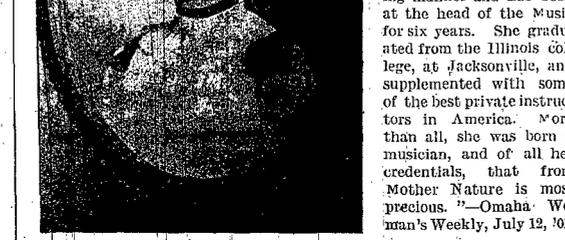

"Such thorough and competent people, could not tolerate any but the best assistants. The dozen heads of departments are each a specialist and must be second to none, or move on, there is a place for mediocrity, but not here.

Miss Stewart, whose picture is here given, is a very unpretentious young lady, with a most charming manner and has been at the head of the Music department for six years.

She graduated from the Illinois college, at Jacksonville, and supplemented with some of the best private instructors in America.

More than all, she was born a musician, and of all her credentials, that from Mother Nature is most precious.

—Omaha Woman's Weekly, July 12, '01.

Our conservatory of music is largely attended. The enrollment in the conservatory for the past year was more than 200. The director is regarded by all who know her to be one of the ablest musicians and teachers in the west.

Special attention is given to all grades and departments of music. Harmony, voice culture, thorough bass, choir singing, piano, organ, violin, guitar, etc., may be studied.

Recitals are given by the students each term. Tuition for twenty private lessons is $15, and this admits students to any other department of the College without extra charges.

Students pay $2 for use of piano or organ for an hour each day for the term. Young men and women who desire a thorough and artistic education in music should come to the Normal College and study under the direction of Miss Stewart.

Teachers of music are in demand in the west, and we assure you those who study here will have no trouble in securing good positions as teachers. The vocal music classes are free to all students.

As soon as students are sufficiently advanced, they take part in the public recitals and the musical part of the programs in connection with the weekly exercises of the literary societies.

The recitals are given each term, either at the College chapel or at the opera house. These are free to all students. The following programs will give an idea of the term recitals under the direction of their director, Miss Stewart.

Table listing musical programs for Oberon—Overture, Rhapsodie No. 2, Alla Stella Confidante, LaSource, Symphony No. 7, Rondo Brillante Op. 29. Includes names like L. M. Gottschalk, F. Liszt, Robaudi, Blumenthal, Schubert, F. Liszt, Beethoven, Mendelssohn.

COLLEGE NOTES.

Mr. Will Powers, court reporter for the 9th judicial district, is enjoying his work and proves himself a capable stenographer.

But few of the '95 Scientific class have made better progress than E. B. King. He entered the ministry about four years ago and is now located at St. Edward where he has a strong church.

Having taken a course of study in the Nebraska Normal College I am prepared to speak personally of the good work in every department.

O. E. PRUSTON, Principal, Hooper. Mr. Preston was a strong member of the '96 Scientific class and proves his worth by his advancement.

The time and money spent at the Nebraska Normal during a number of my summer vacations have proved of more practical benefit and broader usefulness to me than all other schools I previously attended.

Miss Linsion of the '95 teachers class has held good positions since graduating and is now the efficient teacher of the grammar department at Kearney.

The writer of the above after spending two years as principal retired from the work and is now farming with much success. He belonged to the scientific class of '98.

"I attended the Nebraska Normal College at Wayne, Nebraska, I take pleasure in endorsing the work. The review work as well as the advanced is splendid.

THE DEMOCRAT

WAYNE, NEB.
W. B. GOLDIE, Editor and Publisher.
SUBSCRIPTION, $1.50 PER YEAR; IF PAID IN ADVANCE, $1.00.

The DEMOCRAT this week contains considerable matter relative to the Nebraska Normal College, the best school in the middle states for the poor young man or woman, or for that matter, the best in the world for the ambitious, studious student who cares more for sound, practical knowledge than the superficial gloss of an aristocratic college.

Without wishing to give the slightest offense to past, present or future pupils of the Wayne university, the DEMOCRAT might state—for the benefit of those who think that they "don't know enough to go to college"—that it is the general impression among Wayne business men that Professor Pile can take a green bumpkin, "just as he grows," and not only highly educate it, but supply any deficiency of nature, such as "horse sense," or, to be explicit, brains.

In looking over this prospectus of our college, don't tumble to the conclusion that the school is as rusty as the quality of this paper, from a typographical standpoint. The DEMOCRAT'S press is an old, out-of-date concern, that makes tracks (through this vale of tears similar to the unfortunate cuss who plods from the cradle to the grave without ever knowing that a little education might have made him president.

The publisher of this paper has been intimately acquainted with the grade of work done in a number of colleges—unnecessary to add, always from the outside—and we do not believe that any state university, or even the great coal oil joint of Chicago, can compare with Prof. Pile's school when it comes to making "learning" where there "never was any before."

Young man, if you haint got your corn all shucked, yet, better turn the job over to some floor devil who will never even have any corn of his own to pick, get on your Sunday clothes and hike out for the Wayne College. A little determination at this time will change the whole nature of your life from now on.

Most everybody had deer meat Thanksgiving. That is, it was dear Nov. 1st.

The Stanton Register and Picket are now scrapping over the term gambling. The Stanton editors are two great beauties to bet on.

The president's message is just as tame an affair as—that Mississippi bear hunt for bears sent there from the zoological gardens of Washington.

A man named Coffin, of Ponca, has invented a new style of washing machine. The DEMOCRAT surmises that he will find plenty of work for his invention in Ponca.

Freight rates have advanced since Mickey got in a position "to do better work for God," but whisky is just as high as it was—unless you have the price to it put down.

King Edward has been deprived of his thirteen black cigars, that he has been accustomed to using daily. Edward won't feel the change very much—when he gets to where it is—all smoking.

Don't be so foolish brother republican, to believe congress will do anything injurious to the trusts and tariff. When you voted for republican congressmen last November you stated it fairly and squarely that the trusts should keep on plundering the people, and that those noble infants of industry such as coal, coal oil, "cold decks" were still in need of a protective tariff.

12 dead and 86 injured are the foot ball tragedies to date. Who has any kick coming on the Spanish bull fights?

While it is very sad to think of the deaths of young men on the field of battle, there is some consolation to know that it is an easier death than going the football route.

The dispatches announce that Sugar Beater Oxnard got to Washington in advance of the law makers, and the trouble is he will demand and get large advances from the legislators.

A fellow was arrested in Sioux City the other day who had $1800 in his pocket. There is nothing peculiar about his being arrested. The funny part of it is how did he escape the police with his life?

Mayor Cadwell of Sioux City is having the best time of any of us. Cadwell is "driving the gamblers out" of Sioux City and likes it so well that he never lets them get farther than to satisfy the gamblers.

A preacher in Brooklyn wants to get all the authors in a corner and shoot them. The only fault to find with this Brooklyn divine is that he isn't worth the powder it would take to blow him allwards.

According to W. H. Thompson's sworn statement he spent $135.00 for railroad fare. Looks as though that pass forgery should have been taxed up to Meester McCarthy, whose total expenses were $28.20.

Young Editor Ecker of the Allen News says the "Hartington girls took all the gravy out of the Wayne girls" in a game of basket ball. If Ecker will just come to Wayne to see these girls he'll find they have lots of sand, if no gravy.

The News is not concerned in the Wayne DEMOCRAT—Ponca Leader fight only to "sic" 'em on to bear the scrap—Allen News.

See here, Ecker, who said there was any scrap? When a fellow goes to paring warts does it listen like you could hear it?

COLLEGE NOTES.

Miss Gladys Paul was called to her home in Hall county to attend to some business matters.

Miss Kuper of Platte county, went to her home Friday to spend Saturday with relatives.

Rev. E. B. Young visited a short time Monday. He conducted devotional exercises at chapel.

Mr. Daniel came over from Stanton Sunday with his daughter who will take a Teachers course. He went back Monday.

Miss Malloy and her sister went to their home at Elk Point, S. D., to spend Thanksgiving. They returned to their work Monday.

Mr. Borg of last year's class came over from Wakefield Sunday to visit College friends of whom he has many who are all ways pleased to see him.

Mr. Ribbach came up from Tekamah Wednesday evening and returned Thursday morning.

Mr. John Nichols of Ponca, came over this week to remain until he completes the shorthand and type writing course. He has been here several terms in the past few years, having completed the business course.

Mrs. Harris came over from Oakland, Ia., Friday to remain a week visiting her son. She found him making satisfactory progress in all his work. During her stay she witnessed the class work of a number of the classes.

Mr. Friedrich of Pierce, spent a short time Monday with us. He accompanied his son who will remain in College this year. Mr. Bessin of Laurel, came up with his son and a neighbor the same day. These young men take up the business course.

Mr. Taylor, the oculist from Yankton, spent Monday at the College. He gave the students a practical talk in Chapel on how to use their eyes. A large number had their eyes examined, but most were found in splendid condition, and but few will have to use glasses.

The students of the business course find the actual business class not only one of interest but of great practical value. It is certainly interesting to witness those young people, buying, selling, making out business papers, making transactions with the bank and other business houses. Prof. Wolfe has a large class this term.

The Chemistry class is proving a very popular one and each student is enjoying the work more than usual. A large number of experiments are had daily and with three terms' work in this subject under Prof. Gregg will give the members a practical knowledge of the subject. This winter's class is the largest we have ever had.

R. H. JAMES,

Wayne, Nebraska.

He is meeting with success in his school work and is pleased with his location. Ten new students enrolled Monday, two from Wayne county, three from Pierce county, two from Madison county, and three from Cedar county. About twenty are expected to enroll next Monday.

Mr. John Nichols of Ponca, came over this week to remain until he completes the shorthand and type writing course. He has been here several terms in the past few years, having completed the business course.

Mrs. Harris came over from Oakland, Ia., Friday to remain a week visiting her son. She found him making satisfactory progress in all his work. During her stay she witnessed the class work of a number of the classes.

Mr. Friedrich of Pierce, spent a short time Monday with us. He accompanied his son who will remain in College this year. Mr. Bessin of Laurel, came up with his son and a neighbor the same day. These young men take up the business course.

Mr. Taylor, the oculist from Yankton, spent Monday at the College. He gave the students a practical talk in Chapel on how to use their eyes. A large number had their eyes examined, but most were found in splendid condition, and but few will have to use glasses.

The students of the business course find the actual business class not only one of interest but of great practical value. It is certainly interesting to witness those young people, buying, selling, making out business papers, making transactions with the bank and other business houses. Prof. Wolfe has a large class this term.

The Chemistry class is proving a very popular one and each student is enjoying the work more than usual. A large number of experiments are had daily and with three terms' work in this subject under Prof. Gregg will give the members a practical knowledge of the subject. This winter's class is the largest we have ever had.

Miss Colony now has three regular Elocution classes, all well filled. The reading class has a good enrollment. It is very well for all to have so many young people take so much interest in this work. Many are taking advantage of the work in physical culture and both of the classes are large.

Miss Kingsbury's rhetoric class made very complete outlines of the lecture given by Mr. Debs. Their written reviews covered all the strong points of the lecture in a very satisfactory manner. It is one thing to passively listen to a talk, but it proves a different matter to listen to it with a view of reproducing it.

Mrs. Bright's review class in geography and history are doing excellent work in investigating the different subjects beyond the text book. We find more students using reference books in preparing all their lessons than is common, while it is seen now with the classes mentioned. The teacher knows how to get good results.

There are now four shorthand classes and each is doing good work while the typewriters are in use constantly from breakfast till supper. Fred Pile directs the students of these branches in a way that all make good progress. The enrollment in these classes is more than twice what it has been in former years.

More than 60 music lessons are given each week on the piano and organ. Miss Stewart is kept busy with this work and her students advance well. During the seven years that she has been at the head of the music department no one has ever heard a word of complaint against her work. She is as thorough as she is earnest and enthusiastic.

Madison Mail: The football game here yesterday between the Wayne and Madison high school teams resulted in a score of 22 to 0 in favor of Madison. RECOMMENDATIONS.

To the public or whom it may concern: We, the undersigned citizens of Wayne, Nebraska, constituting the Board of Trustees of the Nebraska Normal College located in Wayne, Nebraska, cheerfully and willingly make the following statement:

The above named institution has been in successful operation since 1891 and has been constantly growing in influence and numbers. All of this time it has been under the wise and careful management of its president, J. M. Pile. He is assisted by an able and enthusiastic corps of teachers.

The moral tone of the College is of the best. Each succeeding year finds added numbers of students in attendance. Graduates from this College are taking the best positions in the schools of our state. The motto of Prof. Pile and his faculty is thorough and conscientious work in all departments of school work.

A. L. TUCKER, Pres. Citizen's Bank. HENRY LEY, Pres. State Bank. H. F. SWAN, Cash. Wayne Nat'l Bank. FRANK FULLER, Attorney. M. P. AHERN, Merchant. JOHN T. BRASSLER, Real Estate. R. PHILLES, Lumber Dealer. JOHN D. KING, Real Estate.

That the work of the Normal College is thorough and practical is evidenced by the fact that its graduates have no trouble in securing excellent situations as teachers, accountants, etc., and school boards from all sections of our own and adjoining states are constantly writing President Pile for teachers. And why should the work not be thorough and practical, when it is remembered that every teacher is a specialist in the branches under his or her charge, is earnestly interested in the work, and has in addition to the necessary educational qualifications, that which is eminently of more value, the "knack" of making a dry subject full of interest to the pupil.

During the ten years that the Nebraska Normal has been proving its character, it has grown steadily in its buildings, apparatus and course of study. All branches are now included and no institution in the west has a finer corps of teachers. The regular branches and the special studies including Music, Art, Elocution, Stenography and Literature are in charge of well-qualified instructors. It is, however, as a Normal School that this College desires to be known.

Mary Fairbrother, Editor Omaha Woman's Weekly. It must truthfully be said of the Nebraska Normal College that it graduates many of the best teachers and young business men of Northeast Nebraska; and that the finished student leaves that institution with a superior and more practical training than those of ordinary colleges.

Under the able direction of that prince among educators, Prof. J. M. Pile, the Nebraska Normal College has forced its way to the front, and we honestly believe is without a superior of its kind, east or west. It is fortunate, indeed, are the young ladies and gentlemen who have the advantages of this institution. Prof. Pile is assisted by an able and tried corps of teachers, each eminent in his department. Most heartily do we recommend this College to all who are seeking a classical, professional, business or musical education.

Having many times visited the Nebraska Normal College, I take great pleasure in endorsing all departments of its work. Prof. J. M. Pile, the president, is not only a man of executive ability, but a superior teacher. He is to be commended for his enthusiasm, and the thoroughness of the work. What has been said of the president may be said of the secretary and all the teachers. A healthful, invigorating, moral atmosphere pervades the school, the health of body and mind are alike cared for. No idle scholar feels at home in the Nebraska Normal College.

It gives me pleasure to recommend the Nebraska Normal College to those who desire an education. A new building with all the modern improvements has just been erected, and offers enlarged opportunities and superior advantages. The location of the College is beautiful and healthful. It stands on a prominent eminence and commands an extended and picturesque view. The school is thoroughly equipped. There is a full corps of competent teachers, with whom I am personally acquainted. I heartily recommend them as thorough and reliable workers. I am particularly glad to notice the attention given to health, morals and manners.

It is with pleasure that I recommend the Nebraska Normal College to any young person seeking an education. I have several reasons for so doing. Located as it is in the most progressive town in Northeast Nebraska; a town of churches and schools, where I have had the pleasure of residing for the past three years and being brought in contact with the faculty and students almost daily. I have no hesitancy in saying that the faculty stands second to none among the schools of the west and with Prof. Pile at the head I never fear the outcome of an honest student's college career.

I have talked with a number of our young people who are students of the Nebraska Normal College and find all well pleased with the management and instruction. Careful attention is given to the physical and moral development as well as the mental. The College in all its departments is highly recommended by all who are acquainted with the faculty and the work done.

From five years acquaintance with the president of the Nebraska Normal College and acquaintance with the members of the faculty, and acquaintance with many teachers who have been students of the College, and personal observation of the work of the College, I can heartily recommend it to all teachers, those preparing to teach and those who wish to prepare themselves for business. In my opinion the Nebraska Normal College is not surpassed by any institution in the west.

The Nebraska Normal College is sending out strong, competent teachers who are meeting with the most satisfactory success as teachers. Stanton county is to be congratulated upon its nearness to such educational advantages as are offered in this school. Its faculty is a strong one. The fact that teachers hereabouts are taking advantage of the means there offered for obtaining a higher education is but attested by the number who have attended and are now attending the College at Wayne.

Charles S. Coney, Ex-Supt., Stanton County.

COLLEGE NOTES.

Miss C. L. Culler of Dakota City after several years teaching has decided to enter the mail service at the close of this school year. He was principal at Allen two years and this is his third year at Dakota City. He graduated from both the Teachers' and Scientific department. But few young men have been more successful in school work.

The Christian Associations are doing a good work this year. The Y. W. C. A. meets each Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock with Miss Powell president and a good program committee to assist in preparing work. The Y. M. C. A. meets at 4 o'clock each Sunday with Prof. Gregg president. Each association has its own affairs with the advice and assistance of the faculty.

A careful reading of the article by Mr. Hall, the World-Herald correspondent, will give a fair idea of a day's work in the class rooms. Any inquiry about the College should be addressed to the president who will answer all questions promptly. We have tried to put such matter before the readers that they might understand in a general way the work and advantages of the Wayne Normal. We ask you to read and preserve the paper.

The Steckleburg concert at the Opera House Friday night was fully up to the high expectations of an intelligent and appreciative audience. Charles F. Steckleburg, the young violinist was raised in this community and while all knew he possessed rare musical talent but few thought him to be accomplished as he is. The writer knows but little of music but a few years ago we heard Ole Bull and after listening to Charles Steckleburg we have no hesitancy in saying that his is in our opinion fully equal to the great Swede. Violinist Allen in the Madison Mail.

Mr. Steckleburg was a hard working student of this college a number of terms and we all rejoice at his success.

Miss Minnie Burson who graduated in the '98 class from the department of instrumental music is the successful director of the musical department of the college at Savannah, Mo. Mr. Ross Cunningham of the same class is teaching music at Columbus, where he has many students. He is giving about 50 lessons per week. Miss Mable Griffith of the 1901 class, is taking a post graduate course in the New England Conservatory at Boston. She went to Boston in September and will remain the entire year.

Mr. W. F. Morgaridge of the '98 teachers' class, has re-entered school work and is principal at Merriam. He recommends the College as follows: "I was a student one year in the Wayne Normal and must say Pres. J. M. Pile is one of the best educators in the country. Capable, experienced teachers have charge of every department."—W. F. Morgaridge, Ex-Co. Supt., Valentine.

L. M. Powers, after serving as County Superintendent of Antelope county, has returned to teaching. He was of the '94 Scientific class. "I completed the Teachers and Scientific courses in the N. N. C. I had attended two colleges before I went to Wayne and have visited many others and can say the Nebraska Normal has no superior in the west."—L. M. Powers, Ex-Co. Supt., Neligh.

The State Supt. of North Dakota issued C. C. Singer a state certificate on his Normal diploma. Mr. Singer is teaching in that state and makes the following statement: "Teachers and students preparing for better positions will find at the Nebraska Normal just what they want."—C. C. Singer, former principal at Page.

Co. Supt. Bright who holds diplomas from the Teachers' and Scientific courses, is making a splendid record in the office. He was principal at Winslow four years. He speaks a word for the College: "I consider the two years which I spent in the Nebraska Normal College one of the best investments I ever made."—C. H. Bright, Co. Supt., Wayne.

The Classes in physical culture are free to all students. All members of the graduating classes take the course and others are urged to do so. Many of the students take the work and are delighted with it. Miss Colony is a most successful instructor and the work will be more appreciated as students realize its worth. Every teacher should take at least one term's training in physical culture.

Miss Jennie L. Bellows returned to her home in Madison the first week in October to teach. She was a splendid student and a successful teacher. She was manager of the Stars and Stripes from the organization of the teams last summer until she went home. The ball girls presented her a College spoon with their best wishes. Every girl is her friend. Mrs. Tena Keeper was chosen her successor and will make a good manager.

The above is the picture of the 1901 Base-Ball team. Standing: Scannell, left field; Beauchamp, short stop; Elliott, third base; Little, centerfield; Mcintosh, pitcher. Sitting 1st row: Bata, Catcher; Hally, manager; Mcintosh, pitcher. Sitting 2nd row: King, second base; Pile, right field; McCorkle, first base. The 1901 team played 30 games and won 27. The 1902 team played 24 games and won 18. The majority of the games are played on the home grounds. A grand-stand was erected last year and the grounds are nicely kept.

Advantages and Equipment of Nebraska Normal College.

OMAHA WORLD-HERALD, JUNE 22, 1902.

The World-Herald representative promised the president of the Wayne Normal to spend a day with him last spring while some friends were students there, but no opportunity presents itself. So we laid off a day to take the readers of this paper through one day's work.

The train from the west does not reach Wayne until 7:30; we did not witness any of the work of classes reciting at 7:20. In the beginning let me say that the students study at their rooms or library and come to the recitation rooms to recite only.

The visitor is welcomed by President J. M. Pile and taken to the class in mental arithmetic, in which difficult problems are solved quickly and accurately. No lesson is assigned in this class, but all work is oral and performed in the class. The class is taught by the president, whose reputation as a teacher is not limited to a state. When the nine o'clock bell rings, we go to chapel hall, where about 400 students are quietly seated by the usher; some splendid singing by Misses Stewart, Colony and the choir is followed by devotional exercises conducted by one of the faculty; another song, a few announcements and chapel exercises are over. Review grammar class is visited and here Prof. Pile with a class of sixty conducts one of the most interesting classes of the day. Students have a well prepared lesson and the work makes each one think for himself. This is indeed a lively class and furnishes not only thought, but pleasure to all. You do not see a dull appearing or listless student, but all are alert and watchful, quick to catch a thought or detect an error. This class is over and an introduction to Prof. Gregg follows with an invitation to witness his class in physics, experiment with and discuss electricity. Here we find a teacher who knows his subjects and how to teach them. He makes thorough students who discuss the subjects with some breadth of understanding. He has been with the Wayne Normal five years and is justly popular with all the students. He comes from the great normal school at Ada, O., and has had ten years' college experience.

Five minutes are allowed for students to pass from one recitation room to another and we are in Miss Kingsbury's rhetoric class. Composition work is discussed, an essay is read by a member of the class, its strong points as well as its weak ones are pointed out and each member of the class gives a reason for his criticisms or commendations. No error, though small, is allowed to go uncorrected. This is Miss Kingsbury's second year in the normal and her work is very strong. She teaches Latin, German and rhetoric. She is a graduate of Butchell college and spent two years as student in Germany.

The review class in geography under the direction of Mrs. Bright is anything but dry, she has the eye and ear of each of the class. Questions are asked and answered with a rapidity and accuracy that would surprise a teacher in our boyhood days. Topics are assigned and students prepare the lessons not from one book, but from various sources of information. The attention and order in this class as well as others is perfect. The methods used make a dry subject full of interest. Mrs. Bright is a very pleasant lady and is loved by all her students, she has been a teacher here five years and is very successful. Her special subjects are history, geography and literature.

A short visit to the beginning geometry class under the direction of Mr. Vaught, who is a very apt instructor, completes the forenoon visit to classes.

The big bell rings and there is a movement toward the large dormitory where the dining room is located. The visitor is seated with the president's family, the faculty and the 200 students who board here quietly take their places at the tables and enjoy an excellent dinner of substantial food well prepared. An inspection of the kitchen, which is a model one, the cooling room, and hot water system of heating and the dormitory rooms only adds to the forenoon's pleasure. Everything shows the splendid management of Mrs. Pile about the dining hall and dormitories. During meal time eight of the young lady students wait on the tables in a most satisfactory manner.

We are now shown through the music rooms in which the five pianos and organ are kept in use from breakfast until supper. Miss Stewart, assisted by Mabel Griffith and Fred Pile, give about 100 private lessons in instrumental music each week. Miss Stewart has been the director of the musical department six years and has turned out some splendid musicians, several of whom are engaged in teaching in various towns in this and adjoining states. She is a lady of ability and culture whose splendid work is appreciated by all who know her. Miss Colony's elocution classes are very much out of the ordinary work along this line. She is a graduate of the Emerson School of Oratory and has had several years' experience as teacher in high schools as well as of her special branches, elocution, physical culture and vocal music. She has four classes in elocution, two in physical culture, besides private lessons, both in these subjects and voice training.

The big commercial room, 30 by 50 feet, is visited and the work of the beginning book-keeping class proves just as interesting as did the classes of the morning. Prof. F. Wolfe, who has charge of the business department, is a university graduate as well as a specialist in the branches of his department. He is a man of energy, strength of character and breadth of understanding. Prof. Pile was indeed fortunate in securing such a teacher for that work. The actual business class is full of life as well as business; the retail merchant, the wholesale dealer, the jobber, the banker and other business concerns are represented. Business papers are made out and approved, goods are bought and sold, freight is shipped and received. So it goes, just as we do it in business every day. More than 100 students have been taking work in this department this year. The room is well fitted with offices and other appropriate fixtures to accommodate the many who wish to study the business branches.

The general vocal music class in the chapel with Miss Colony at the head furnishes a delightful hour for the student as well as visitor. This class is free to all students and many attend it. The teacher gets good work from the individual members of the class and from the entire body.

The class in civics by Prof. Pile, psychology by Prof. Gregg; literature by Mrs. Bright; Latin by Miss Baker; primary methods by Mrs. Lowry; algebra by Mr. Vaught; shorthand and typewriting by Fred Pile, are all on par with classes visited earlier in the day; but we do not pass the president's didactic class without a peep. Here the young teachers and those preparing to teach meet for an hour's explanation as to methods of teaching and principles of management. The subject under discussion is untruthfulness; causes, preventives and correctives. The president's experience, observation and study show him to be a close student, and he imparts to his classes with a clearness that is delightful. No young man or woman can spend a term in this class, whether teacher or not, and not be stronger for any station in life.

More than seventy classes recite each day and you get through about ten in one day, so the visitor must spend more than a week to witness the exercises of each class. That the work is thorough and practical is evidenced by every fact. Graduates have no trouble in securing good positions as teachers, bookkeepers, teachers of music, or shorthand clerks. Every teacher is a specialist in the branches under his or her charge, is earnestly interested in the work, and has in addition to the necessary educational qualifications, that which is of eminent value, the "knack" of making every subject full of interest to the student.

Every citizen of Wayne is justly proud of the normal. A stranger to this part of Nebraska went to Wayne looking around and says that the twenty men whom he met and with whom he spoke favorably of the town and surrounding country, said "Yes, and have you seen our normal school? You must see it and meet Prof. and Mrs. Pile." There is good reason why they should feel proud of the institution and the man and woman who made it. It has gained a reputation since it was organized in 1891 that is far more than state wide as one of the leading educational institutions of the great west. At this time the attendance is 420 students, assembled from all points of our own state, South Dakota, Iowa, Minnesota, Wyoming, Montana and Colorado. These students, not only embrace beginners in many of the courses, but include experienced teachers and principals, who realize that after a few terms spent under the direction of such a faculty as is found here, they are much better prepared for the duties of their profession. Go where you will in Northeast Nebraska and South Dakota, and you will find graduates of the Wayne normal at the front. The school year is fifty weeks. The present term closes August 15. Thirty-six students graduate this year from the teachers' professional department.

The accommodations are superior in every way. The college building is a large four story brick, 55x60 feet, that will accommodate 600 students. It has twelve recitation rooms, library, and cloak rooms, offices and is furnished with appropriate furniture and apparatus. The entire four floors are heated with steam. Plans are ready for a new college building, which will be completed next spring. This building will be 55x80 feet with accommodations for the library, chapel and recitation rooms. The ladies' dormitories are 30x80 feet and each room is neatly furnished with new furniture. These buildings are heated with hot water. The gentlemen's dormitories are 30x60 feet. All are in the adjoining blocks to the campus. In addition to these buildings there are a number of good private boarding houses within two or three blocks of the college.

The expense for attending the normal is, tuition $1 per week, good board with the president and faculty, $1.65 per week, and furnished room, 50 cents per week, or $51.50 for a term of 10 weeks. Students are under no obligations to board at the college boarding hall. That is a matter for them to decide after their arrival. Table boards are furnished in many private boarding houses at $2 to $2.50 a week. The plan is to furnish students board at cost, and as provisions are bought at wholesale, good board is given at the rates above mentioned. The entire expense for tuition, board and furnished room for a year of fifty weeks is only $125, paid in advance on entering.

The college offers the following regular courses of study: Preparatory, teachers', scientific, classic, business, music, penmanship, shorthand, typewriting and elocution. A number of special courses are given for teachers. Students may enter at any time.

Wayne is located in one of the most fertile parts of Nebraska—forty five miles from Sioux City; 115 miles from Omaha and twenty eight miles from Norfolk.

In concluding our notice of this worthy institution we must say that fairer promise could not be wished than the prospect today presents to this college. With a leader widely known in Nebraska and other states as one of the foremost educators of the day, and a staff of associates that have earned wide reputations in different sections of the country; with the friendship and co-operation of the students; the fitness the school's training gives students for business vocations as well as for the school room; the excellent social and moral advantages of the city of Wayne, and the co-operation of the citizens of Wayne and Wayne county, and with the shrewd and honest business management of President Pile, the vista opens to a wide field of usefulness and prosperity for the Nebraska Normal college.

A catalogue can be secured by writing the president. D. D. HALL.

and the school year is fifty weeks. Consequently as much can be accomplished in this school in two years as can be accomplished at other schools in three years.

Does it pay to attend schools without standing with school boards? No. The Nebraska Normal College does through, practical work in every department. Students from the various departments secure positions as soon as they are ready for them.

Our courses embrace everything necessary, nothing useless; that there are broader, higher fields of knowledge than we can lead you through is true, but it is also true that it would take years of time and thousands of dollars of money to acquire this knowledge in the higher schools of learning.

A great many students hesitate about coming to college because they think they are not sufficiently advanced. To such we would say, come right along; you will find suitable classes. There are no examinations for admission required, and a student is known by his work. Especially is there no distinction between the rich and poor.

The student whose life is earnest, whose time is money, and whose future is in his own keeping, does not care for three or four months' vacation in a year. He prefers to spend the time in hard study and earnest application, and thereby complete as extensive a curriculum in a little more than one-half the time.

We have special classes provided for the thousands of young men and women who have not the time or money to enter our regular courses, but yet who want special work on special subjects and who desire to spend a few months for this purpose. These classes are under the care of able educators specially trained for this work.

We have devoted our time, energy, labor and means to establish a school for the poor young men and women of the west who have standing among the educators of the country, and we are gratified at the recognition that college men, county superintendents, public school men, as well as our thousands of patrons, have given us.

Are you a farmer's son or daughter, living out in the country, where you have never had the advantage of graded and higher schools? Do not hesitate to come here, thinking you are not far enough advanced. Remember we have classes specially provided for students of this kind. Many of our best students come from the farm. Our object is to help you do all the good in the world possible.

We can justly claim that the practical education in the Normal College trains young people to industry and thrift, to respect economy and labor, to a love for their homes, and an enhanced reverence and affection for their parents. Our students are known everywhere for their honesty, their enterprise and their business success in every calling in which they have established themselves.

New students will always be met at the depot by a representative of the College if they notify us when they are coming.

Remember that $125 cash pays for one year's (50 weeks) tuition, board and furnished room. A small expense for 50 weeks' schooling.

The Young Women's Christian Association welcomes every young woman. The officers will give new students any assistance they can.

Recitations begin at 7:20 in the morning and continue until 6:15. Teachers and students are busy. No college can boast of a better and more studious lot of students.

The preparatory course admits students who can read in the ordinary text books. Why spend your time at home when here you will receive instruction from the very best teachers that can be found.

Remember a school year with us is fifty weeks, which is divided into five terms of ten weeks each. We have no vacations between terms. No time is lost by our students. Each day of the week is a day of study.

Young man and young woman, if you have not the ready money to go to college, borrow it from a friend or get them to help you borrow it at the bank. No other investment pays so well. Write us if you desire to attend college.

If you expect to attend College in the near future, write us and we will send you full information of our work. No school can do more for teachers, those preparing to teach or those preparing for business. See our courses of study.

Industry, steadiness, faithfulness and promptness are some of the elements that make successful men and women. Work before pleasure, not that the highest pleasure that comes from duty well done should be the motto of every young man and woman.

Special information regarding any department of the school will be cheerfully given those who write us. We are always pleased to correspond with prospective students, who can rely on prompt, truthful and confidential answers. They are invited to write us freely regarding their wishes, stating what branches they desire to study, how long they can attend and when they can enter.

Beginning, advanced and review classes are organized each term in all first, second and third grade branches, so teachers who have short vacation any time of the year can spend a few weeks or months with us and find just such work as they want. Hundreds of teachers are constantly testifying to the good results from their own work on account of spending a short time at the College under the leadership of our earnest and efficient faculty.

Everybody desiring an education from the Elementary and Preparatory course through classics can be accommodated. Those who are advanced and those who are backward will find here just what they want. Our Preparatory course will admit students who can read in ordinary school books. All classes are taught by specialists. We guarantee entire satisfaction in all our work. The work is so classified and classes so sectioned that students may enter any day and find the work desired. Private help free. No student is compelled to take a regular course of study, but selects the work he wants.

If you expect to attend College in the near future, write us and we will send you full information of our work. No school can do more for teachers, those preparing to teach or those preparing for business. See our courses of study.

Industry, steadiness, faithfulness and promptness are some of the elements that make successful men and women. Work before pleasure, not that the highest pleasure that comes from duty well done should be the motto of every young man and woman.

Special information regarding any department of the school will be cheerfully given those who write us. We are always pleased to correspond with prospective students, who can rely on prompt, truthful and confidential answers. They are invited to write us freely regarding their wishes, stating what branches they desire to study, how long they can attend and when they can enter.

Beginning, advanced and review classes are organized each term in all first, second and third grade branches, so teachers who have short vacation any time of the year can spend a few weeks or months with us and find just such work as they want. Hundreds of teachers are constantly testifying to the good results from their own work on account of spending a short time at the College under the leadership of our earnest and efficient faculty.

Everybody desiring an education from the Elementary and Preparatory course through classics can be accommodated. Those who are advanced and those who are backward will find here just what they want. Our Preparatory course will admit students who can read in ordinary school books. All classes are taught by specialists. We guarantee entire satisfaction in all our work. The work is so classified and classes so sectioned that students may enter any day and find the work desired. Private help free. No student is compelled to take a regular course of study, but selects the work he wants.

Library, and cloak rooms, offices and is furnished with appropriate furniture and apparatus. The entire four floors are heated with steam. Plans are ready for a new college building, which will be completed next spring. This building will be 55x80 feet with accommodations for the library, chapel and recitation rooms. The ladies' dormitories are 30x80 feet and each room is neatly furnished with new furniture. These buildings are heated with hot water. The gentlemen's dormitories are 30x60 feet. All are in the adjoining blocks to the campus. In addition to these buildings there are a number of good private boarding houses within two or three blocks of the college.

The expense for attending the normal is, tuition $1 per week, good board with the president and faculty, $1.65 per week, and furnished room, 50 cents per week, or $51.50 for a term of 10 weeks. Students are under no obligations to board at the college boarding hall. That is a matter for them to decide after their arrival. Table boards are furnished in many private boarding houses at $2 to $2.50 a week. The plan is to furnish students board at cost, and as provisions are bought at wholesale, good board is given at the rates above mentioned. The entire expense for tuition, board and furnished room for a year of fifty weeks is only $125, paid in advance on entering.

The college offers the following regular courses of study: Preparatory, teachers', scientific, classic, business, music, penmanship, shorthand, typewriting and elocution. A number of special courses are given for teachers. Students may enter at any time.

Wayne is located in one of the most fertile parts of Nebraska—forty five miles from Sioux City; 115 miles from Omaha and twenty eight miles from Norfolk.

In concluding our notice of this worthy institution we must say that fairer promise could not be wished than the prospect today presents to this college. With a leader widely known in Nebraska and other states as one of the foremost educators of the day, and a staff of associates that have earned wide reputations in different sections of the country; with the friendship and co-operation of the students; the fitness the school's training gives students for business vocations as well as for the school room; the excellent social and moral advantages of the city of Wayne, and the co-operation of the citizens of Wayne and Wayne county, and with the shrewd and honest business management of President Pile, the vista opens to a wide field of usefulness and prosperity for the Nebraska Normal college.

and the school year is fifty weeks. Consequently as much can be accomplished in this school in two years as can be accomplished at other schools in three years.

Does it pay to attend schools without standing with school boards? No. The Nebraska Normal College does through, practical work in every department. Students from the various departments secure positions as soon as they are ready for them.

Our courses embrace everything necessary, nothing useless; that there are broader, higher fields of knowledge than we can lead you through is true, but it is also true that it would take years of time and thousands of dollars of money to acquire this knowledge in the higher schools of learning.

A great many students hesitate about coming to college because they think they are not sufficiently advanced. To such we would say, come right along; you will find suitable classes. There are no examinations for admission required, and a student is known by his work. Especially is there no distinction between the rich and poor.

The student whose life is earnest, whose time is money, and whose future is in his own keeping, does not care for three or four months' vacation in a year. He prefers to spend the time in hard study and earnest application, and thereby complete as extensive a curriculum in a little more than one-half the time.

We have special classes provided for the thousands of young men and women who have not the time or money to enter our regular courses, but yet who want special work on special subjects and who desire to spend a few months for this purpose. These classes are under the care of able educators specially trained for this work.

We have devoted our time, energy, labor and means to establish a school for the poor young men and women of the west who have standing among the educators of the country, and we are gratified at the recognition that college men, county superintendents, public school men, as well as our thousands of patrons, have given us.

Are you a farmer's son or daughter, living out in the country, where you have never had the advantage of graded and higher schools? Do not hesitate to come here, thinking you are not far enough advanced. Remember we have classes specially provided for students of this kind. Many of our best students come from the farm. Our object is to help you do all the good in the world possible.

We can justly claim that the practical education in the Normal College trains young people to industry and thrift, to respect economy and labor, to a love for their homes, and an enhanced reverence and affection for their parents. Our students are known everywhere for their honesty, their enterprise and their business success in every calling in which they have established themselves.

New students will always be met at the depot by a representative of the College if they notify us when they are coming.

Remember that $125 cash pays for one year's (50 weeks) tuition, board and furnished room. A small expense for 50 weeks' schooling.

The Young Women's Christian Association welcomes every young woman. The officers will give new students any assistance they can.

Recitations begin at 7:20 in the morning and continue until 6:15. Teachers and students are busy. No college can boast of a better and more studious lot of students.

The preparatory course admits students who can read in the ordinary text books. Why spend your time at home when here you will receive instruction from the very best teachers that can be found.

Remember a school year with us is fifty weeks, which is divided into five terms of ten weeks each. We have no vacations between terms. No time is lost by our students. Each day of the week is a day of study.

Young man and young woman, if you have not the ready money to go to college, borrow it from a friend or get them to help you borrow it at the bank. No other investment pays so well. Write us if you desire to attend college.

NEW ON MAIN STREET, WAYNE.

Teachers' Summer School.

The Nebraska Normal College offers to teachers exceptional opportunities for securing such work during the spring and summer terms as will especially benefit them in the discharge of their school room duties. During these terms every department is maintained in its full strength, every member of the faculty is in attendance, extra classes are formed to satisfy every demand.

Teachers will find no school in the west so well prepared to meet their needs as the Nebraska Normal. The courses of study are comprehensive and thorough. The faculty is composed of able and successful teachers. The equipment is not surpassed. Students may enter at any time, take up regular course work or special studies.

Many teachers have attended there four summer terms and completed a course, thus fitting themselves for more responsible positions.

R. R. FARE—All railroads within our territory granted a special rate to all students who attended the summer term of 1902. Doubtless, the same arrangements will be made for our summer term of 1903. The following notice was issued:

"We have this date authorized our agent at Wayne, to honor certificates held by persons attending the Summer School of the Nebraska Normal College issued by the F. E. & M. V., U. P. and C. St. T. P. M. & O. Railways from points north of the Platte River. Certificates to be honored which show that the going tickets were purchased not earlier than June 7th, nor later than August 14th, provided they are presented on or before August 17th and to issue return tickets at one-third fare. This arrangement will also include Sioux City, Ia.

Yours truly,
T. W. TEASDALE, G. P. A."

Show this to your ticket agent and get Certificate which bring with you.

Perhaps you know of some pupil in your district who is ready to take up higher work than your school affords or who desires to take up a business or shorthand course or music? If you can inform us of any such person and speak a good word for our school, we will greatly appreciate the favor. We shall be pleased to mail you a catalogue if you desire.

BY DAD.

A certain Wayne widower, who has a small child, will soon get a new one for them; at least the little ones are telling about what good candy a widow can make. A busy body is to remark that somebody ought to warn of the duties of a stepmother, but then getting married is only a joke, anyway, or it is—no joke.

When you go past the Jones store just past the one with the picture of the beautiful damsel the one with the words "Sold to Pay Fanny." That's all right, Fanny, somebody else may have a pain by and by.

An Indiana widow will give $5000 for a husband. A single "V" in her name would make a certain Wayne widow happy.

One of the attractions at the St. Louis exposition will be a hole in the ground a mile deep. One price of admission will admit you to the hole show.

Here's an item of news from the Wayne schools that will interest George Fox, now of Pipestone, Minn. The other day a Sunday school teacher was putting some questions at the kids in her class. One little ragged urchin was asked, "Billy, who made you?" He hung his head and refused to answer. The teacher insisted and told him he must answer, Billy didn't like to be coaxed and had a few ideas about the propriety of things, and finally, in a low voice he told the teacher, "You better cut that out; there has been trouble enough at home about that."

A chap in an Iowa town saw an advertisement offering to tell for two dollars how to save half his coal bill for the winter. He sent the $2 and was told to "burn wood." For half this expense I can tell you Wayne people how to do it and get something hot that will stay hot. "Take the DEMOCRAT."

One of the best friends an editor ever had, Henry Kloppling, is having a big time this week sizing up the "calves" in Chicago. Say, if there is anybody on earth I'd select to be with when it comes to looking up the "tenderloins" and having a hot time, it's Henry Kloppling.

The fellow who carries the DEMOCRAT to some farmers these days doesn't worry about cold feet. He uses the mail bag for a foot rest.

The dispatches of yesterday said "Texas was shivering." Well, that ought to tickle Texas, but if a man wore a Texas suit in Nebraska he would shiver!

This little "effusion" came over us as easily as a Wayne dressmaker's "fits." We returned our poetical macciaery loose with the following result: having "caught the idea" by noticing in a trade journal that a certain merchant had for his motto: "Work like a—, and advertise." Yes, we beg pardon:

I know a working maiden, Although she's somewhat old, She proves to her employers She's worth her weight in gold. She works both late and early; To please she always tries, The name of this fair maiden Is Helen Advertiser. She works to lay up fortunes And works to lay up fame; Although her name is Advertiser, She "gets there just the same." So, if success you seek, Just show that you are wise; Lay off your coat and labor Like Helen Advertiser.

The Sioux City Journal says: "A good newspaper may be bad, on the same theory I suppose a bad newspaper may be good. We have noticed that when the DEMOCRAT is bad our friends have informed us that it was good, but it is too bad that to make a good paper we have got to make it bad, by dad."

I saw a young fellow get a letter at the post office, the other day. Nothing peculiar about that, only the y. i. quickly put it in his pocket as though he had found the elixir of life. The incident set me to thinking of the days when I had 'em. Say, there is nothing more subjectly absurd than a young rooster "in love." Seeing this Wayne chap made me think of a little incident of twenty years or more ago. I was on a farm nine miles from a certain town. The evening mail brought a note saying "Am, going home tomorrow, shall I see you before leaving?" As I say, it was nine miles to town, six or seven o'clock in the evening, no way of getting there except walking. I didn't walk, I ran—the whole d—d nine miles. Breathless I presented myself in the parlor of the hotel where the lodestone was stopping. "Why, good evening, Mr. Goodie, I am so surprised to see you." In the "other chair" sat a dusky city chap. It was awfully cold night, colder than the blizzard of Tuesday. I stuck it out for about five minutes or until my heart had crawled clear into the toes of my dusty shoes, then made a decidedly awkward good night. "No sir, I never went back—to the girl. That settled it, or rather cured me. But after all there isn't anything nicer than being in love—with the "best little woman on earth" and two or three affectionate children.

A Kansas editor warbles forth as follows: Bring us taters, sweet or Irish; bring us chickens, young or old; bring us eggs, or pork or sorghum; bring us silver, or gold; bring us fodder, corn or hay; bring us fruit of all descriptions; bring us corn meal any day. Bring us beans, or oats or pumpkins, bring us butter, lard or flour; or anything that's good to stay our hunger 'e'en an hour. For the larder's getting empty, and the cash is running low; and our paper bills must soon be met, or the papers got to go. Our store bills must be settled, and the kids must go to school; and our trousers seem more threadbare, and the weather 'gins to cool.

Some Wayne people are horribly mean towards each other, and then spend a whole lot of money—in the church—to punish the devil. Why not be good and cut down expenses while the coal is so durnd high?

Ed. Smith says he got a phone message from a lady on the hill, asking if he had any coal that would burn the coal she had. If your coal won't burn good put ashes on it.

I don't know about this thing called melancholia. It seems to me that if I had helped bring a fellow into the world, who, being acquainted with all the surroundings, should hook up a horse and make his get-a-way to Dakota, were it not for the footprints of the horse followed by a regular sleuth of a sheriff, that I'd prefer to help prove in court that he was a first class thief than a dampfool!

Don't neglect to open this paper up and note the inside pages.

Insure with Phil H. Kohl and have your losses paid promptly.

Editor Lundberg was down from Carroll yesterday on business.

The Dawson hog sale of pure bred Poland Chinas, which takes place in the old Grimsey barn, Wayne, tomorrow, the 6th, will be quite an event for stock men of this vicinity. 60 head will go under the hammer and there will no doubt be a chance to get a fine hog at your own price.

The "President's message" will be found complete on the inside pages of this week's DEMOCRAT. The fact of its being President Fife's message is only the better reason why the young man or woman should carefully read all of it, by dad.

HOSKINS

Commencing next Sunday evening there will be a series of meetings at the M. E. church. Addresses to be by home talent. The first evening we think is John Foster with the subject, "As I See It." Tempilo, subject, "He Leadeth Me"; fourth, Pete Kautz, subject, "Eat, Drink and be Merry"; fifth, Knut Ericson, "Saving Mens Souls." Everybody come out and enjoy the meetings.
