Sioux City Tribune.

Charles S. Ashton, editor of the Northern Nebraska Journal of Ponca, Neb., who was sued by Anna Sheibley of that place for $15,000 damages for libel, filed an answer today in which he says that the statements referred to were true.

The suit arose from the publication of an affidavit October 30, 1902, signed by Mathilda Drager in which Mrs. Drager denied that she intended to accuse J. J. McCarthy, elected congressman last fall, of immoral conduct. Mrs. Drager said in affidavit that she had been unfairly influenced by Miss Sheibley, the notary public before whom she made an alleged affidavit prior to that time incorporating charges against McCarthy. Miss Sheibley wants damages because she was accused of subordination of perjury, she says.

Editor Ashton first disputes the jurisdiction of the Woodbury county district court, in which suit was filed after service of the notice on Ashton in Sioux City. His attorney, C. A. Irwin, points out that all parties are residents of Nebraska and asks the court to decline to entertain jurisdiction.

The editor admits the publication of the affidavit as alleged. He denies, however, any intention on his part of accusing Miss Sheibley of subordination of perjury or with being guilty of slandering and traducing McCarthy.

The editor says that after McCarthy's nomination, June 10, 1902, accusations were circulated about him through the district, charging McCarthy with immoral conduct and purporting to be based on an affidavit made by Mrs. Drager. The editor explains that his paper was supporting McCarthy and that he is informed Miss Sheibley was actively opposing him. A. C. Drager brought him the affidavit, he says, and he published it only after satisfying himself of the genuineness.

It is pointed out that under the Nebraska statute, the truth of a publication is a complete defense in an action for libel. He declares accordingly that this publication was correct.

Mickey the Mere Mite.

Governor Mickey modifies his statement concerning the attempted bribery by saying that the bribes were not offered directly to the governor. Being asked to whom they were offered, the governor said: "I do not think it is necessary to say."

In the parlance of the street, the governor has "another think coming." Throughout the United States today a general effort is being made to stamp out bribery and corruption in public office. In Philadelphia desperate efforts are made to bring about reform. In Minneapolis many wrong-doers have been exposed and some have been punished. In St. Louis rogue after rogue has been brought within the coils of the law. In Massachusetts, in Missouri and in other states vigorous efforts are being made looking to the punishment of evildoers among the officials of the state government, and wherever a public official has seriously undertaken to uncover and prosecute offenses such as these he has been hailed from one end of the country to the other as a benefactor to the people, and good men everywhere have congratulated themselves upon these indications that, after all, the public service is not "rotten to the core."

In the midst of these disclosures, the governor of Nebraska declares to a representative of the Associated Press that $1,000 each for four positions under the state government had been offered. The governor was quoted

Low Rates West

J. FRANCIS, General Passenger Agent, Omaha, Neb.

The Burlington offers very low colonist rates to the west: $25 from Missouri river to Tacoma, Seattle, Portland, San Francisco and Los Angeles. $22.50 to Spokane. $20 to Butte, Helena, Salt Lake City.

Correspondingly low rates to hundreds of other points.

Folder mailed free on request telling all about the low rates and daily tourist car service.

as saying that he was offered this sum to appoint certain persons to the position of oil inspector, deputy oil inspector and the commandant of the Soldiers' home at Grand Island. He declined to make public the title of the office sought for the fourth party.

After the governor's statement had been made public he was asked for the names of the men who had offered the bribes. He declined to give the names, and then said that these bribes were not offered directly to the governor. Then, being asked to whom they were offered, the governor replied: "I do not think it is necessary to say."

The governor of Nebraska is in possession of facts showing that attempts were made to purchase appointments at his hands and yet he does not think it necessary to tell the people who offered these bribes!

This is, indeed, an interesting situation.

What has become of the Governor Mickey who seemed to dedicated his life's service to the destruction of the card game and the dance.

What has become of the Governor Mickey who said that he accepted the office of governor not for the personal honor for himself but for the good which, under God, he might do for the people?

What has become of the Governor Mickey who said that he hoped, in the executive chair, to make himself worthy of the great church of which he is a conspicuous member?

It cannot be possible that the Governor Mickey who presented this figure is the same Governor Mickey who now refuses to expose the men who undertook to bribe the Mickey administration.

It cannot be possible that the governor who refuses to expose corruption and bribery is the same governor who lost no opportunity to mount the rostrum and thunder against the card game and the dance.

If these are one and the same man, then a mighty change must have been wrought in the governor himself. When one recalls the fervid speeches, Mr. Mickey delivered at ministerial gatherings and before Sabbath school associations, and then observes his action in the presence of his allegations as to attempted bribery, one is reminded of the old lines:

"Is this Mr. Riley, can any one tell; Is this Mr. Riley who keeps the hotel? If this Mr. Riley who was spoke of so highly, Then, by my soul, Riley, you're doing quite well."

Treasurer J. W. Thompson of Dixon county died of pneumonia Monday after a week's illness. Mr. Thompson was a very popular and beloved man with Dixon county people.

The ladies of Sheldon, Iowa, have recently organized a Rest Room association for the purpose of providing a room in which ladies shopping in the city, or waiting for trains, may rest amid pleasure surroundings. The need of such rooms with toilets and other conveniences for women and children, in towns of large trading centers, is apparent and simple follows in the wake of common interest and civilization.

To Rochester, Minnesota, has been given the credit of opening the first permanent rest room in the United States. The business men have aided the enterprise by generous contributions, and it is now a well organized institution, Winona, Northfield and Faribault have opened similar rooms. A good rest room or set of rooms would be of more real benefit to Wayne than a Carnegie library. Not long ago an elderly lady from the country asked me to agitate this matter and see if the business men could be induced to provide something of the kind. She said there were places where the men could go, if it was only to dodge in to some coal house or behind a car, women were not expected to be seen. The ladies of Wayne—the wives of the business men—could do nothing better than to organize a society for the purpose of providing a rest room.

Talk about the benefits of advertising! Down in Florida the other day a family lost a child which they supposed had strayed away from home and got lost. After searching in vain for three days the frantic parents placed an advertisement in the nearest newspaper. Imagine the surprise of the parents on going to the door the next morning to see a monster alligator upon the doorstep, where he disgorged the child alive and then died himself. The ad cost but 25c and it gave them back their darling child; they sold the alligator hide for $25 and the parents are showing the child at a dime museum for $50 a week. Does advertising pay?

The Omaha Bee is much exercised because, "in face of the fact that the market value and earnings" of Nebraska railroads "has doubled, trebled and even quadrupled" since a republican state board of equalization assumed the responsibilities of office, that board has been guilty of certifying to a "shrinkage in railroad assessments." The Bee, in its excitement, goes so far as to charge the members of the board with being "recrants to their trust and subservient to the railroads."

This republican organ should calm itself. It should strive, at least, not to make itself ridiculous.

It is the testimony of the Bee itself that John H. Mickey was nominated and elected governor of Nebraska, and head of the state board of equalization, because the allied railroads of Nebraska had "all agreed on Mickey as their man." The Bee knew this before Mickey was nominated. The republicans of Nebraska knew it because the Bee had told them so. Yet they nominated Mickey. They elected him governor, and the Bee helped do it. In doing this the republican party and the Bee were acting as the agents of the railroads. What does the Bee expect? How can it rightly charge that Mickey was recreant to his trust? Has he put done just what he was elected to do? Was it not for this that the railroads chose him for governor? Was it not because they knew he would do as he has done that they "agreed" on him as "their man?" Would he not, in fact, have been "recrants to his trust" had he done what the Bee demanded, and voted to raise railroad assessments?

As to Auditor Weston, who, with Governor Mickey, controls the board, is not the case even stronger in his behalf? Weston is serving his second term. Twice before this he has voted against raising railroad assessments. Twice he has been recognized as the special representative of the railroads on the board. It is the Bee's own testimony again. The Bee told the truth about Weston before he was renominated. It not only admitted but declared that he was a railroad tool. The republicans of Nebraska knew it—knew it because they knew Weston's record, and because the Bee had analyzed that record for them. Yet they renominated Auditor Weston. And the Bee supported and helped elect him, a railroad man, to do the bidding of the railroads.

And now the Bee comes forward to denounce and complain because Weston has done what he was elected to do! This republican organ should be sane and reasonable about this matter. Instead of denouncing Weston for being "recrants to his trust" it should rather commend him for the fidelity with which he has done that which he was elected to do.

The truth is that the republican state board of equalization is at least consistent. It has always been for the railroads; it is for them now; and it doesn't give a finker's dam who knows it. That railroad values in Nebraska have "doubled, trebled and even quadrupled" in the past few years does not concern this board. It can see in this irrelevant fact no tangible reason for a doubling, trebling, or quadrupling of valuation. The members of this board know that they have but one thing to do, and that is to take their orders from their railroad masters and execute those orders faithfully. This course was indorsed by the republican state convention; it was indorsed by the Bee; and finally it was indorsed by the people at the polls.

It is altogether ridiculous for the Bee, in the face of these well known facts, to pretend to be indignant at the latest action of this board. The only difference between the Bee and the board is that the board does the railroads' bidding all the time and looks pleasant, while the Bee obeys orders during the campaign and makes faces between times.

The Union Pacific strike has been declared off, the company according to all demands of the strikers.

Emerson Tuesday, on her way home to Clearview, Holt county. Miss Chace was in Emerson at the time of the fire, Monday, when H. Asaman's house was burned and his little four year-old son burned to death. The house was fired by an enemy of the family, at 2 o'clock in the morning.
The family got out except the boy,
who's cries could be plainly heard.
The father made four trips into the burning building but was unable to find his child. Later the charred remains of the boy and his little dog
were found under the partly burned bedding where they had hidden to escape the flames. Miss Chace says it was a most horrible affair and there was naturally great excitement and threats to lynch Joe Bird who was suspected of the crime, as he had told members of the family they had better get out their things.

Thom's Troubles Thicken

Many Wayne people remember Charley Thom, the Carroll cattle buyer and lady chaser, who, later on, left his wife at Sioux City and rather mixed things with a widow at Carroll. The Sioux City Tribune of Tuesday evening relates:

Charles A. Thom, alias William Montgomery, defaulter, absconder, bigamist, who disappeared from Sioux City a year and a half ago, turns up in Gutherie City Okla., as a murderer.

In jail for bigamy, he secured a revolver
from a woman who had become infatuated
with him, shot the jailer Jerry Emmerson,
and escaped.

Before expiring, the jailer shot Thom in the groin and the jailor's wife also shot the prisoner through the lung. He has just been captured and is in a precarious condition from his injuries.

Mrs. Dora Thom, lives at 712 St. Louis avenue, Morningside, with her 8-year old son.

Thom, while here, was bookkeeper for Ratcliff, Watland & Company and absconded, leaving a shortage of $200. It was thought by many he had committed suicide.

Proud of Our Professor Pile

Prof. Pile made two addresses at the teachers association at West Point.
The morning subject was "Memory"
and the afternoon subject "Some Essentials." That these addresses were enjoyed is evidenced by the following from the West Point Democrat:
The address of President J. M. Pile of the Wayne Normal, which followed the above number, was simply a masterpiece of logic and eloquence, and had it been delivered in any of the larger cities it would undoubtedly have received the recognition of the largest dailies and publicity. The main subjects discussed by this able gentleman were "The art of Teaching,"
"Be Master of Your Subject Matter,"
"Try to Teach Your Pupils to Be
Somebody," "To Study Your Own Weaknesses and Thoughts," and "To Take Care of Their Health." His thoughts flow from his active brain in rapid succession and are in every instance clear and well defined, and it is doubtful if there is another educator in the state who possesses a wider scope of knowledge than President Pile. To attempt in our feeble way to do him justice would be impossible and no attempt to do so will therefore be made. A deep pride is taken by us however, in expressing for the teachers their appreciation of the great benefit they derived from him and hope for them that still other opportunities of listening to him will be afforded them in the future.

One of the 2 Johns Got It Bad

We got it bad because we were a fool. We got the grip and got it bad. About two weeks ago we got it into our mind that spring had come and we took off our Staley underwear and the result was just what we have preached for years—we caught cold and got the grip.

Now don't get it into your mind that we don't know how to dress so that such trouble can be avoided. The most expert man fails to take advantage of his knowledge and save himself. Gen. Grant was a great general and could handle thousands of men to advantage but was himself an easy victim among the thieves of Wall street. Napoleon could conquer nations but failed to conquer his own appetite. Doctors can tell you how to keep well but fail to take care of their own health. Christ raised the dead but died on the cross. We can clothe you so you will keep well. We locked the barn door after the horse was stolen, but we think if we hadn't had on Staley we might have died. It is right and proper that you should see us before you buy anything to wear not only because we are ex-per clothing men and understand our business, but you will save money by trading here. Always remember that if its good you will find it here. Our good clothing is sold at the same prices others get for inferior kinds. Just think of the list of good things we have that other merchants in Wayne fail to carry: KUPPENHEIMER CLOTHING, warranted to give satisfaction. HAWES HATS, you get another hat if a Hawes fails to give satisfaction. ELGIN SHIRTS. The best in the world for one dollar. BULL DOG SHIRTS—
no other make as good for fifty cents. SWEET-ORR OVERALLS have stood the test for fifty years. STALEY
WOOL UNDERWEAR everybody knows is the only wool underwear worth buying. "GOOD FOR BAD BOYS" SHOES the kind the boys can't wear out. ROYAL BLUE the best dress shoes made and cost one dollar less than others ask.

You may wonder why other merchants in Wayne do not sell these lines. It is easy to understand when you know that we pay more for every dollar worth of goods you buy here than any other merchants pay. That is the reason you get more for a dollar here than elsewhere. We save our profit because our expenses are less and our trade is larger. Come and see us before you buy. It will pay you.

BY DAD.

The Herald's eloquent argument about the postoffice scrap, this week, is simply unanswerable. We'll have to let the little beggar wear the belt.

By dad, circumstances warrant the belief that so far as truth goes the Sunday school will soon equal the newspaper. For instance I asked a little four-year-old who had just returned from the children's institution, where she would go when she died, and the little tot promptly replied, "down to the ground." Then I tried again with "who made you?" and got a hotter reply in one word of one syllable, "you!"

This little girl was some older, a graduate of the Sunday school and one who tries to believe that she came from heaven and is some day going back. "Uncle Walter, did you know Mrs. Jinglebox had a baby and its got an animal face?" No, I didn't know it, but supposing it was a moukey, of course, and another candidate for postmaster at Wayne, I languidly asked what particular sort of animal face it was. "Why, a deer little face, of course," replied the naughty child.

A Philadelphian financier lost a ten thousand dollar bill on the street, and when a ragged newsboy found it and returned it to him the financier fainted. When the fortunate owner of the bill awoke he gave away $10 for his honesty, and the remarkable part of the story lies in the fact that the generous devil didn't faint again.

Editor Huse of the Norfolk News is roaring hard this week because his "editorial page" of Monday's paper got potted just before going to press. Now that's another funny circumstance. Readers of the News have always supposed its editorial page was put up for "pie" every day in the week.

After a Tarkio preacher concluded his "few remarks" at a recent funeral he said: "An opportunity will be given to pass around the beer." "Then," says the Rock Port (Mo.) Journal, "quite a number of old fellows in the back part of the room wiped away the sympathetic tears from their eyes, re-proved their quids of tobacco, spat in the corner and awaited results."

An exchange says Andrew Carnegie is a horror of death. By dad, it's that comes after death may get Andrew. Just imagine all those massed-up miners shoveling coal to warm up one proud, grasping soul!

That Omaha judge who enjoined a woman from talking in a hard-hearted case. The poor woman had better been struck dumb than be painfully speechless. Just imagine your wife wasn't allowed to talk—for even 7-8 of a second.

No wonder Col. Moses Warner has sentenced the editor of the Emerson Enterprise to hard. "Cobbs" burn well—Winside Tribune.

Well, there is some wonder, for this Cobb is green, in fact it's not yet out of the milk state.

I see by the Sioux City Journal that Mrs. Elizabeth Boehmer has resigned her position in the public schools, after a continuous service of 33 years. That brings up old memories to by dad, by dad. It is just about 32 years ago that we first attended school, and Mrs. Boehmer was "our teacher," and I'll never forget the "examination" she put me through to see where her new pupil was at. Thirty-years ago! Jerusalem! how time flies! Then Sioux City was a tough little frontier town; boisterous river men on one side and wild cowboys and Indians on 'other. Then Mrs. Boehmer was a young woman, but in the years that aged her there must be a great happiness that comes only to those good and faithful servants of humanity. May her award be as rich and glorious as the results of her thirty-three years work.

When Charley Thom lived at Carroll a valuable team of horses mysteriously disappeared from a livery barn there. Judging from what Thom has been doing since then he is very probably the Carroll horse thief.

Other towns are already making great preparations to celebrate the 4th of July. What is Winside going to do?

There is joy at the Carl Schneider home because of the arrival of a nice little boy Tuesday night. The other children are all girls.

It is evident that someone is at fault when the sheriff puts up a small box sign which quarantines a family living in the country and some of the inmates have to break out and come to town to procure something to eat because no one gives them any attention or looks after their wants. Such was the case with a family living west of Winside this week. They had no physician but were quarantined and as no further attention was given them and it was necessary to have groceries, one of the family whose face was all broken out, came to town Monday and was in our stores and mingled with our people on the streets. We are not blaming the family, but seems to us as though such cases should be looked after and that some one is neglecting their business.

Playing Good Ball

The College ball team, contrary to expectations, cleaned up the Bloomfield aggregation last Saturday, on the college campus, 7 to 3. A Bloomfield man stated before the game that he "didn't see what Bloomfield wanted going up against such easy dubs; the college boys couldn't even interest a team that carried six professionals."

Tuesday afternoon the locals badly defeated Wakefield, the score being 8 to 1. If any other town hereabouts has base ball talent the college would like to get it addressed.

At the Lotus club Charles W. Price told this story about J. Pierpont Morgan: A young reporter was sent to Mr. Morgan's residence to ask an important question. "Mr. Morgan is out," said the butler. The reporter, noticing a carriage in waiting, lingered near the entrance to the Madison avenue residence, and in a few moments was not exactly astonished to see Mr. Morgan come out and start for the carriage. He dared approach and ask the question, as he had been instructed. "Young man," said Morgan, "but you should change your butter for one who can speak the truth." Mr. Morgan turned his penetrating eyes on the questioner for a moment, and then said, as he entered his carriage: "Call at my office in the morning and suggest any other changes in my establishment you deem advisable." The reporter did call, and has possessed fairly pleasant relations with the eminent financier ever since.

Parade will form the right resting at the corner of Main and third streets, extending south on Main and west on second street, and will move promptly at two o'clock p. m., marching to the cemetery where a part of the ritualistic services of the G. RHEUMATISM

CURED AT LAST

Good News For All Who Suffer With Rheumatism, Free.

For all who suffer with Rheumatism I will gladly send free the wonderful story of how my mother was cured after years of suffering, together with the most elaborate treatise on Rheumatism ever published.

No matter what your form of Rheumatism is, whether acute, chronic, muscular, inflammatory, deformant, sciatic, neuralgia, gout, lumbago, etc.—no matter how many doctors have failed in your case—no matter how many so-called "sure cures" you have tried I want you to write to me and let me tell you how my mother was cured.

I am neither doctor nor a professor—simply a plain man of business—but I have found a CURE for Rheumatism, and I want to tell everyone who suffers with Rheumatism all about it. I wish to be clearly understood and trust that all who are suffering with this terrible disease however apparently beyond the reach of cure, will write to me this day and I will send you by return mail this work of mine. I especially expect the "chronically ill" who are wearied and discouraged with "doctoring" and to those who have been cast aside as "incurable." All you have thought about Rheumatism may be wrong. Let me tell you our experience. Surely if you have Rheumatism, or have a suffering friend, it will pay you to investigate my offer, anyway, and prove for yourself these claims I make.

Send me your address today—a postal card will do—and I will mail you this wonderful story. If you have any friends suffering with Rheumatism no matter where located send me their address, and I will mail them a copy. My address is VICTOR RAINBOLT, Bloomfield, Indiana.
