The Aledo Times-Democrat (Ill.) speaks flatteringly of him as follows: The Lyceum comedy opened a three nights engagement here at the Opera house Wednesday night. Their plays and specialties were the best ever in the city, and an especially fine piece of acting was the dual role of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde as interpreted by Mr. Arthur Savidge.

Be Careful of the Children

In this day of Sanitation, when we are sterilizing milk and various foods we use, filtering the water, using germ proof brooms, sanitary clothing, plumbing, heating, etc., you should investigate your refrigerator. Never before in the history of the world has there been such precautions taken against microbes and bacilla as at the present time. Did you ever stop to think that you have, perhaps, overlooked your refrigerator; all the food, the very substance that enables you to exist, passes through the refrigerator? Then why do you keep your food in that poisonous, corroded, zinc-lined refrigerator, that is lurking with microbes and disease? Children form the most delicate thermometer of health. Being more delicate, having less strength, they show quickly the evil effects of any cause. Milk, the baby's food, should be kept only in an absolutely pure and clean place if we expect baby to keep well. We should respect hygienic truth for baby's sake, even though we do not for ourselves. The Merrick Refrigerator is built on sanitary principles and is the only one that is so built. Sold in Wayne by Charley Mau was in town Wednesday and as mad as an editor at the Wayne postmaster. Mr. Mau has lived in Wayne county for ten years and has been well acquainted with Postmaster McNeal for that length of time. He was an honored subscriber of the Wayne Herald for that length of time ago discontinued that paper and like many others took the DEMOCRAT. Some time ago changed his postoffice address to Wakefield and he says McNeal had him sign a card ordering his mail forwarded to the latter place. An important business letter was recently received here at Wayne for Mr. Mau and Charley says it lay there three weeks and was "advertised" as "not called for." The circumstance put Mr. Mau to some loss and a great deal of annoyance and he thought it was about the smallest trick he had ever heard of.

THE DEMOCRAT

WAYNE, NEB.
W. S. GILBERT, Editor and Publisher.
Subscription, $1.50 Per Year; IN PAID IN ADVANCE $1.00.

The DEMOCRAT keenly feels the loss of one of the best friends it has ever known in the death of John S. Robinson. It is not flattery of deceased to state that he was, in politics, the fairest man this paper has ever known. Upon occasion, too, he rendered the present publisher of the DEMOCRAT most valuable assistance, and it was doubly appreciable from the interest Mr. Robinson took in the matter upon our behalf. As Judge Robinson or Congressman Robinson it was a noticeable fact that in no instance was this man disliked or derided by the opposition party. Everyone seemed to respect him and his party associates loved him as they did no other man in this section of the state, and have lost one of their most valiant and honored workers of the whole country.

Col. Bryan's hope is that the people will remember things about Cleveland and forget things about Bryan.—Sioux City Journal.

But the hope of the people is that they can forget such "things" as the Sioux City Journal. If Col. Bryan were such an arrant hypocrite as the majority of your republican statesman of today, he might be glad to have his past blotted out. But Bryan isn't that sort of a man, and furthermore you will find none of his followers anxious to forget any of the "things" Bryanistic of the past. In the language of the school boy, you ought to shut up your old mouth-trap until you have something to say.

The South Sioux City Record rings in a blighting roar on J. B. Barnes' candidacy for the supreme court, owing to his bad record as a practicing attorney in Dakota county. The republicans of Wayne have also cause to remember Barnes as an attorney. He was mixed up in the prosecution of Commissioner Harrigfeldt a few years ago, but the parties who paid him for his valuable service (?) were never able to decide which side of the case he was on. In winding up a lengthy editorial on Barnes, which if necessity demands will make good campaign matter against the aspirant, the Record says: "Men of the stamp of John B. Barnes are not wanted to pass upon the morals and rights of the people of the great state of Nebraska. Men of his stamp need not be nominated for office."

Yes, Animals.

Allen News: The Wayne Democrat has been lampooning the Herald editor for the manner in which the latter conducts the post-office at that place, and how Brother McNeal threatens to bring suit against Brother Goldie for cruelty to animals—or something of that kind.

An exchange says it isn't chewing the rag that makes woman's teeth decay sooner than men's, but the sweetness of their lips. Those who have lots of lip, we presume, soon blow their teeth out.

Speaking of labor unions an Iowa exchange says: The Chronicle has often expressed the opinion that labor unions were a curse to the country and to labor, and at the present time most of the people who don't belong to unions will say amen.

The right to work at his own price is denied a man who doesn't carry a union card, and if he persists in trying to earn a living for himself and family without the consent of a union he is mobbed. If we had our way of it every striker who used violence to prevent another man from working would be shot down on the spot. If a man can't work for whom he pleases and for the price he fixes, what in God's name is government worth to the people?

John S. Robinson

John S. Robinson was a good man. In private life and in public life he won and retained friends. As a lawyer, he was ever faithful to his clients; as a judge, he was eminently just; as a member of congress, he was ever zealous in the protection of public interests; as a man, he was beloved the most by those who knew him best.

The people of the little town of Madison, which was, for so many years, John Robinson's home, will keenly feel the loss it has sustained in his death; and the people of Nebraska will understand that they have suffered a loss because no state can well spare the John Robinsons—men who built friendships that last, men who are at all times ready to contribute to the public welfare.

The democratic party has also suffered a great loss in John Robinson's death. He was a faithful champion of democratic principles and an energetic laborer for democratic success.

It is difficult for one to speak of men like John Robinson in a way that will be in keeping with their high merits. Such men find their best tribute in the keen grief felt by those who knew them well. Their memory will be enshrined in the hearts of their friends; and their monument, in the form of fond recollection, "shall last when Egypt's fall."—World-Herald.

The Chicago Drover's Journal says: "Times are about good enough now to engage the attention of strikers. When they succeed in hammering things back to where they were when wages were lower and living as high, perhaps they will be satisfied to work for awhile—when they can get it."

The fact that Gov. Mickey refuses to divulge the names of the republican politicians who offered him bribes of a thousand dollars for official places gives rise to the suspicion that the anti-dancing governor wants them to raise the ante to two or five thousands.

The Atchison Globe says that "commencing at the collar button and extending down three or four inches, the girls seem too lightly dressed." And the Globe might as truthfully stated that in such cases the "dressing" was just as light three or four inches above the collar button.

A Nebraska farmer has applied for a divorce because his wife refused to patch his pants. This doesn't look like a very deep-seated ground. If his pants are not patched he still has something to fall back on.—Cherokee Democrat.

That may be true of the Nebraska farmer, but it's a different story with the editors of Wayne.

What About It?

(World Herald.) Omaha, Neb., May 19.—To the Editor of the World-Herald: You have set the example in an open and signed letter to a bank-rupt political investor in Mr. Bryan's fatal leadership of the democratic party in New York by asking him a myriad of questions about when he wants in the democratic platform next year to secure harmony with "the followers of Mr. Cleveland." As I am one of these "followers" of Mr. Cleveland, who used to think that he could sometimes lead, I wish to ask you whether either you or Mr. Bryan, for whom you have, at fearful cost to the real democratic party, earned the right to speak, are in favor of the "16 to 1" declaration in 1904, which was the backbone and essence of the Bryan populism and the Kansas City platform of 1896 and 1900? GEORGE L. MILLER.

The editor of the World-Herald has never claimed the right to speak for Mr. Bryan. But speaking solely for himself, if the editor of this newspaper had the power to write the democratic platform for 1904 it would be framed along the lines of the Kansas City platform, without material difference except that it would meet new issues that might at that time be presented. And these issues would be met in the characterized Mr. Bryan's treatment of public questions.

But quoting from the letter to Mr. Mack: "Let us assume that democrats who believe in bimetalism would, for the purpose of obtaining harmony so far as the platform was concerned, be willing to omit that question during one campaign."

If the "16 to 1" declaration to which Dr. Miller refuses as "the backbone and essence of Bryan populism and the Kansas City platform of 1896 and 1900" were omitted from the platform of 1904 would Dr. Miller come back to the democratic party and be good?

The Des Moines (Iowa) Democrat is booming Hon. W. H. Thompson of Nebraska for vice-president. With two swings at the head and a failure each time, perhaps it is possible better success would follow a yank at the tail.

A Discreditable Position

The York Republican, one of Nebraska's leading republican newspapers, says:

"Governor Mickey states that he was offered, indirectly, a thousand dollars to make a certain man chief deputy oil inspector, and another offered a similar sum to be made commandant of the soldiers' home at Grand Island. Within an hour after his nomination he was besieged by a prominent state politician with a delegation of friends who insisted on having the candidate promise to appoint the politician to a certain lucrative position. It is well known to men who have held executive office in the state that there is a set of professional politicians and grafters who have no visible means of support, who look upon the public service and the public treasury as legitimate subjects of barter and loot. If the names of the members of this gang could be published and made known to every citizen of the state, that would go far toward scattering the gang. Many people feel so much disgraced by having been even approached by such men that they say nothing about it, although they did not accede to their corrupt desires or accept their corrupt offers. Others say nothing about it because they accept the offers. Governor Mickey has made a good beginning, but he hasn't gone far enough. He ought to tell, right out in meeting, the names of the parties who made the offers of money in return for executive favors. The public would like to get its branding iron on the bearers of the names."

With the opening of the present week the meat trust inaugurated a new rule: throughout the northwest. Local dealers purchasing meat from the trust will be required to pay the cost of delivery at their respective places of business. Heretofore these wares have been delivered free. The additional cost will not be paid by the dealers, but by the consumers, upon whom every levy of trust expends itself. Meat prices are now almost prohibitive. Little by little they are being made entirely so.

Bixby says "A man may get revenge by going to law, but he doesn't very often obtain justice." But if he isn't a man he'll get "justice" and no revenge at all.

Death of John S. Robinson

Hon. John S. Robinson, ex member of congress from the Third district, died at his home in Madison this morning, about 4 o'clock, aged 47 years and 21 days, of septic peritonitis, after a sickness of less than four days.

Mr. Robinson suffered a third attack of his old complaint, appendicitis, on Thursday and it rapidly developed from a mild case into one of a serious nature. At midnight of Friday the abscess which had formed ruptured, and slight hope of recovery was felt after that. Dr. J. H. Mackay of this city, who had been Mr. Robinson's family physician for twenty years, and had served as a chairman of the democratic congressional committee during Mr. Robinson's two successful campaigns, was summoned to the bedside of his friend soon after the unfavorable condition developed, and immediately started for Madison, arriving there before daylight Saturday morning. He found Dr. Montgomery and Long in attendance and Dr. McKinley of Humphrey had also been summoned. The doctors worked over their patient untiringly, but during the forenoon it was decided that neither treatment nor an operation could save his life. As in both previous attacks the shock of the disease had precluded all possibility of an operation, the patient being too weak to stand the necessary strain. Although the doctors, in consultation, thought there was no possibility of saving their patient's life, decided that Dr. Allison of Omaha should be summoned that no possible chance might be overlooked of preventing death. The Omaha doctor arrived on a special train, and after an examination, agreed with the other doctors that nothing could be done.

During the closing hours of his life Mr. Robinson was brave and cheerful, and he retained consciousness up to the last. He was cool and collected, made his will and closed up his business in thoroughly business-like manner and had no regrets, except the inevitable separation from family and friends, when the time came for him to depart.

He had a previous serious attack during last December. At that time he was anxious to return to Washington and close up his term as congressman. Treatment restored his health, and he was advised by Dr. Mackay and his home physicians to have an operation performed at his earliest convenience. Dr. Mackay maintained all along that he had appendicitis and that a slight operation would be served to remove the complaint, but Washington and New York doctors with whom Mr. Robinson consulted after returning east, advised him that he had gall stones and that no operation was needed and he permitted the matter to rest. The cause of his death fully sustained the position of Dr. Mackay and his home doctors.

John Seaton Robinson was born at Wheeling, W. Va., May 4, 1856, received his education in the public schools of that city, and from 1875 until the spring of 1879 worked as a mechanic in the Wheeling hinge factory. During 1879 he commenced the study of law in the office of John O. Pendleton; was admitted to the bar by the supreme court of West Virginia in 1880, and continued to practice in the city of Wheeling until the spring of 1884, when he removed west, and settled in Madison. There he resumed the practice of his profession and in 1886 was elected county attorney on the democratic ticket. At the expiration of his term he was defeated by John O. Lacey, republican, but in 1890 tried it again and was elected. In 1893 he was elected judge of the Ninth district and was re-elected in 1895, holding the office up to the time of his election on the fusion ticket for congressman from the Third district, serving through Fifty-sixth session. He was re-elected to Fifty-seventh congress but was defeated for a third term by Hon. J. J. McCarthy, the present incumbent. His term expired on the 4th day of March, this year, and since that time he had returned to his home in Madison and taken up the practice of his profession.

Mr. Robinson's home-life was a very beautiful one, and he is survived by his wife, a son, John S. Robinson Jr., and by a daughter, Edith. His marriage took place about twelve years ago, the maiden name of Mrs. Robinson being Miss Kate Bohannon. He had recently completed a very handsome and commodious new home at Madison, in which he expressed the desire of spending the rest of his days in peace and comfort, but he was not to enjoy it for long, as the family had scarcely become settled when he who had provided so well for comfort and peace was called upon to lay down his life.

The arrangements for the funeral have not yet been entirely completed, but the hour has been set for 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. While in congress during his last term Mr. Robinson did much toward securing for Norfolk the appropriation for public building now in-course of erection. He has hosts of friends in this city and this has always been one of his strongly supporting precincts. It will be a fitting mark of esteem and will be appreciated by the family and friends if Norfolk should send down a large delegation to attend the funeral on Thursday. The trains run favorably to accommodate such a delegation and hundreds should, and undoubtedly will go.—Norfolk News.

Just arrived at Gandy's a fresh line of candies.

The Hooper piano men who went from Wayne to Norfolk run up against a hard proposition at the latter place in the person of C. H. Johnson, who is well known in Wayne. The conflict makes business good for newspapers but it's a good deal like a newspaper fight—a bloodless one.

Miss Johannah Ahern will go to Chicago in a week or so to enter the University of Chicago, John D. Rockefeller's great "oil school."

The DEMOCRAT has a New Home high grade sewing machine to sell at a bargain.

Charley Stiefken went to Sioux City Tuesday and accompanied his daughter home, who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Henry Lueders took a trip to Sioux City Tuesday to have an examination as to the state of his health. Henry says they run a knife into his side a couple of times, and it was a very uncomfortable experience to say the least. Dr. Knott told him he had a chance to get well but it was slim.

Miss Marguerite McConnell returned to her home at Cherokee, Iowa, Tuesday after a pleasant visit with her cousin, Mrs. C. A. Grothe.

Ginger wafers 5c a package at Gandy's.

The initial number of the Norfolk District Messenger, F. M. Sisson, A. M. D. D., and C. N. Dawson, D. D., editors, which is almost as many d's as the DEMOCRAT employs in its weekly vocabulary. There are lots of people living hereabouts whom the Messenger might do good, but it won't be read with the same avidity as the Herald's and DEMOCRAT's "by dad" columns.

I desire to inform the public that I will give instruction on the piano. Special attention to harmony and technique.

The Nichols Restaurant put in a mammoth ice box this week which will make the other end of the "hot bird" combination. The Nichols is doing all kinds of business these days.

Save one-third of your money and buy your calendars at the DEMOCRAT office.

Alfred Furchner left today for Plainkinton, S. D., where he will be married next Wednesday, June 3d, to a highly accomplished young lady of that city. They will return at once to Wayne and go to housekeeping in the Mrs. Rich residence. The DEMOCRAT is told that Carl Furchner and family are talking of coming back to Wayne to live as they do not like it so well in Dakota.

F. M. Skeen has arranged with Marcus Kroger to close out the balance of his implement stock consisting of 7 cultivators, John Deer and Moline repairs and a lot of odds and ends in the implement line.

Two young bucks paid fines in Police Judge Feather's court this week for bicycling on sidewalk and there are more to follow.

Makes muscle, makes good health, better than drugs—a game of tennis at the bowling alley.

Daniel Jett went to Sioux City Monday to see a specialist regarding a growth in his head which Daniel thought caused the impediment in his speech. He will go down again in a couple of weeks for an operation.

"Better than any line I've seen with the canvassers," is what one business man says of the DEMOCRAT's line of calendar samples.

Al Sherbahn and Al Howser had business up the branch line Saturday.

Attorney Welch had business in Hartington Monday.

The officers of the Old Settlers association have almost completed arrangements for a unusually grand time August 20th. Bishop Garrigan of the Sioux City diocese has been invited to deliver the address of the day. Reed's Sioux City band and Jules Lombard an Omaha singer of national reputation have also been engaged. It is planned to give a grand concert in the opera house in the evening to help defray the expenses of such an extravagant outlay.

J. D. King and Robert Mellor were passengers to Omaha Monday morning.

Fred Kay was a visitor from south of Wakefield Saturday and visited the DEMOCRAT. Mr. Kay says Charley Killion repurchased his old farm at $200 advance in the price he sold for, and also bought an adjoining 80 acres. Mr. Killion, like our own democratic friend, Robert Skiles, couldn't find anything better than Wayne county after a search of several months.

DIED

Mrs. John Platner, who has been making her home with her brother, Geo. M. Kimball, the past four years, died very suddenly Saturday evening, being sick about an hour. The cause of death was rheumatism of the heart to which deceased was subject. The funeral services were held Monday and the remains taken on the afternoon train to Center Junction, Iowa, accompanied by Mr. Kimball. Mrs. Sanford, a sister, and Mrs. C. K. Smith, a cousin, were here from Sioux City. Deceased was a native of New York, born Oct. 20, 1836. Her home for years was at Center Junction where she leaves two sons, Geo. and Tice L. Platner. A daughter, Mrs. P. J. James of this city. The husband and father died Jan. 6, 1881. The DEMOCRAT extends condolences to the bereaved.

HOUSE—Susan Crispie, was born in Pennsylvania, October 7th, 1836,

at the age of 64 years, 7 months and 17 days. Her end was perfect peace. Funeral services were held in the Presbyterian church on Tuesday, May 26th, conducted by Rev. Peter Birrell, assisted by Rev. Library Well Liked
The president of the Free Library association informs the DEMOCRAT that a very pleasing and appreciative interest is being taken in the efforts of the ladies to furnish the public good, free literature. In three months the library has been open 27 days, and in that time 284 persons have taken readers cards and 1254 books have been loaned. There is now over 700 volumes in the library and a happy feature of its success is the demand of the young people upon its resources, nearly all the patrons being under sixteen years of age.

You Will Speak the Truth If You Go Fishing

We have made it a rule to go fishing once a year so that we will always speak the truth. God seems to get near the fisherman. He not only cures them of most of their human troubles but makes them truthful and honest if they go fishing. Christ selected fishermen for apostles because fishing teaches faith, hope and charity. If you fish you must have faith, and you would soon quit if they did not bite and you had no hope. If you hadn't charity you would swear if you caught a big one and he got away. Before you go fishing you have to decide where to go. That is the most important question to determine because you can't catch fish where there are none, and you can't catch good fish where there are only poor kinds. If you want to catch Black bass you must fish where there are Black bass. If you are fishing for good clothing fish here. We have faith, hope and charity. We have faith in our clothing for we have sold the same kind for many years. We have hope that it will please you and give you satisfaction because we sell only the best clothing made. We have charity and if any suit we sell goes wrong we will give you another suit. You can make no mistake if you decide to fish here. You will not catch Bull Heads or Suckers if you fish here. Only the best can be caught if you fish here. Why not try this place? This place is full of all the things you need to wear. It costs less to fish here than elsewhere and you soon catch what you want. Biting season is now on for spring and summer clothing. A small quantity of bait will catch all you want here. Give this place a trial and you will always fish here for clothing. Everyone who fishes here cultivates faith, hope and charity, and are happy because our clothing is the latest style, fits and always gives satisfaction.

BY DAD.

Chris Wisheff got home this morning from Spirit Lake, Iowa, and says everybody living in Wayne county should stand up for Nebraska, because the Hawkweites can't do that—they have to swim or sink. Chris affirms that he was out buggy riding with a four-horse team and they actually went fishing and caught all kinds of bullheads right in the roadbed. The farmers about the lake haven't commenced to plow for corn yet, and if it doesn't freeze again before 1904 they will have roasting ears for Christmas.

Neighbors of Martin Muth say the latter came awfully near drowning last week. Mr. Muth had been over to a neighbor's on a little business and in going home tried to crawl through a fence, where he got fast and was unable to extricate himself. With water behind him, water in front of him, water to left of him, water to right of him—but no water in him, Martin would have suffered an easy fate if not rescued. A heavy rain fell just after he was helped out which made the hole in the fence a raging torrent. You ought to be a good democrat, Mr. Muth, and keep away from the water.

The DEMOCRAT man had a bid to visit with the Corn Belt editors at Sioux City today but by dad, if we did do the Iowa scribbles there wouldn't be any corn under our belt. Friday, say the least, is a decidedly unlucky day for a paper artist to leave home.

Residents of the north part of town say that between the nightly tooth! tooth! of the Republican office engine and the daily splarkings of a young couple they do not get much rest. The continuous wet weather puts a damper on some things but there are propositions it fails to penetrate.

Richard Reetzie, who lives near Wisner, tells the blue ribbon cyclone story. Dick says that in a recent blow down there a farmer had all the shovels and handles carried away from his corn plow, while the balance of the machine was left intact. That reminds us, by dad, of a certain local editor of an exchange, who had no wheels in his head whatever, but when he got down to Omaha he was able to do business at the old stand.

It required more than a million years for the monkey to make a man, yet a man can make a monkey of himself in less than fifteen minutes.—Cherokee Democrat.

Fifteen minutes! Gee, but you must have a long neck!

"Your reputation in Sioux City and LeMars must have been a dinger if it wouldn't compare favorably with McNeal's Omaha record," said a disgusted reader of the DEMOCRAT the other day who was displeased because this paper wouldn't go into personalities with the putty-head of the Herald. Well, now, I can't say as to that, by dad. A fellow might guess Mac's was pretty horrible bad and then miss a whole lot because he had made it too good. As to LeMars and Sioux City, the people over there don't know the DEMOCRAT man for anything but

How Cheap Baking Powder is Made

A recent seizure of a lot of "cheap" baking powders by the authorities of a neighboring city has exposed the character of the low priced brand of baking powders which many manufacturers are offering throughout the country. The price of the powders first attracted attention to them. Samples were taken and analyzed. The official report of the analysis showed the stuff to be "alum powder," composed chiefly of alum, sulphuric acid and pulverized rock. The powders were declared dangerous to health and several thousand pounds were confiscated and destroyed.

Physicians have frequently cautioned consumers against mixing food with these so-called "cheap" baking powders. They are all found, when analyzed, to contain large percentages of alum and sulphuric acid to which are added various sorts of filling matter sometimes both injurious and nasty. The high class, cream of tartar baking powders, are the most economical and wholesome and should always be selected for use. They will be found cheap in the end, besides making the food better and more healthful.

HOSKINS

A FARMER'S LAMENT
We planted our potatoes, squash and beans,
And it rained,
We patiently waited the sun's bright beams,
And it rained and rained,
We planted some corn in the hillside ground,
And it rained,
In a ditch at the foot of the hill it was found,
And it rained and rained,
We replanted the corn while grumbling and sighing,
And it rained,
The next day in the ditch with the first patch it was lying,
And it rained and rained,
We said "dam! dam! dam!" till all tired out,
And it rained,
It was the new Hoskins' dam we were talking about,
But damming could near make that washed out corn sprout,
And it rained and rained,
We went to look for the potato roots,
And it rained,
The water it came to the top of our boots,
And it rained and rained,
How can we farmers farm without any sun,
While it rains?

Far better quit farming and for congress run,
And instead of a farmer be a sun-of-a-gun,
And let 'er rain.

It is seldom here that we are lucky enough to see a game played with a score of 3 to 5. The married men were the winners but the boys did fine all the same.

This is a copy of a letter said to have been written by a party not far from Winslow to President Roosevelt:

To Mr. Roosevelt down at the White House at Washington, Mr. President, I don't like the way you have let it rain out here in Nebraska. It ain't serving us right as everyone here except John Monday voted the republican ticket (and we always thought John did as he knows which side of his bread has prosperity or rather butter on it). Now, my corn is all washed out, my potatoes covered a foot deep with mud and the old woman's garden is buried deeper than Bryan was a couple of years ago and if ye don't quit this rain deal I'll go around and see the fellows and ye won't get elected next year as ye expect to.

Yours in haste,
Mr.—near Winslow.

Prof. F. W. went to Decatur Monday to make an address at the graduating exercises. He did not get home till Tuesday evening on account of bad roads and rain. He reports a very pleasant time.

Mr. Wendel Neis has completed his school work in Dixon county and is again at the college. He will try to complete the teacher's course with this year's class. He has been a faithful student and gets along well.

Former students are reporting successful work in their teaching and all who wished to retain their positions have done so. In nearly every instance the salary has been increased. Such reports are encouraging to those preparing for similar work.

Several students return to their homes the coming week for the summer. They will return in September to remain another year and complete their courses of study. A number have engaged rooms for all next year. No doubt, the attendance this fall will be large.

formation that the old man was dead. No other particulars were given.

Reports from some of the North Dakota people are not very flattering as to the wisdom of the change they made in their abiding place. A lack of rain to make the hay grow along with other discouraging features, has made some of the former Winslowers pretty sick, and it is not at all improbable that we shall see some of them back here in good old Nebraska.
