Is Kimball Cracked? At least Geo. Kimball, the wagon maker, looked as though he had been cracked in the face with a wagon spoke last Wednesday forenoon. It was about ten o'clock Wednesday morning that some one called the DEMOCRAT man's attention to the decidedly peculiar and very objectionable manner in which Mr. Kimball was conducting himself in front of the Rundell grocery.

He had a little book in his left hand, while with the other he at least made a dämpophil of himself, alternately looking at the young woman in the store and then at his book. The father of the girl, Ben Ebernow, who works on the opposite side of the street for Wm. Dammeyer, had his attention called to the matter, and when he started after Kimball the latter hiked back into the yard of the store and then into the closet where the father of the girl, watched him do other things that a sane old man would pass up. Ralph Rundell went out and ordered the man off his premises and as he came out the door Ebernow lanced him on the nose and face drawing enough blood to keep the old fool quiet for a few hours at least. The writer saw the circumstances and was most horribly surprised as we always supposed Mr. Kimball was a most respectable man. Mr. Ebernow hit him so hard in the face that he broke the bones in his left hand.

DEATH COMES AT LAST

Guy R. Wilbur Passed Away At Five O'clock Thursday Morning.

While his legions of friends have generally understood there was no hope of ultimate recovery none of us were expecting the sad news of yesterday morning that Guy R. Wilbur was dead. Wednesday afternoon Mr. Wilbur walked as far as the German store, got weighed and talked pleasantly with the few friends he met. During the evening his condition became worse and the usual operation was performed, ten quarts of water being taken from his system. Frank Berry sat up with him all night and at five o'clock in the morning Guy told him he had better go home and get some rest and call again when he, Frank, went down to the office. Mr. Berry had barely reached home when a messenger brought news of his partner's death.

Arrangements for the funeral have been made for 2:00 Sunday afternoon from the residence.

Guy R. Wilbur was one of the prominent upholders of Northeast Nebraska. While he never accumulated great wealth he did have that which is better, the honest esteem and warm friendship of his fellow men. He was one of the ablest attorneys of this part of the state and has had a very large practice the past few years. In his death the DEMOCRAT feels that a strong prop has been taken away from its foundation, for Guy Wilbur was one of its most loyal supporters and always a democrat of consistency.

To Mrs. Wilbur and son George we tender our sympathy and regret for their great sorrow.

The republicans meet tomorrow to plan a political campaign.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Sutherland of Ponca are visiting the Wm. Bueckw family.

There will be no social at the Presbyterian church lawn this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Main are making their summer visit at Vinton, Io.

S. L. Tidrick was down from near Winside today and made the DEMOCRAT a pleasant call.

Mrs. J. M. Cherry was a visitor to Sioux City yesterday.

Will Skadden had the ends of two fingers almost severed yesterday by getting them into the cutter at the brickyard.

Jim Fox was down from Randolph Monday. He says George is now working on the Bloomfield Monitor.

Phifer--Anson

Dressed in a spanking suit of black, patent leather shoes and a Texas countenance, Jas. Phifer, son of our esteemed friend, Geo. Phifer, left Wednesday morning for West Point, expecting to meet Miss Nellie Anson at Winside and be married to her as soon as they got to West Point. Miss Anson is a daughter of A. Anson, an old resident of Wayne county, and a most acceptable mate to the handsome Jim Phifer. The young couple will make their home at West Point where Mr. Phifer has a good job that will provide for two and any little musicians that may join them.

The marriage of Ernest R. Agler and Miss Edna Sewell was solemnized Wednesday.

The ceremony took place at the home of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Sewell, at eight o'clock in the evening and was a simple family affair. Rev. Dawson officiated.

Mrs. Agler has been for a few years one of the best and most earnest and conscientious school teachers. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Agler, a Wayne county boy from infancy and a hustling young farmer.

Vincent-Adams

Notice to the Express: Miss June Adams of this city and Mr. Frank Vincent of Wayne, Nebraska, were married yesterday at Anamosa.

Charley Feye yesterday sold his cigar factory business to Wm. Dammeyer and today is back to work for his old employer.

The Wayne Beauty clears Wm. Dammeyer is now putting up are the best home-made product ever put on the market.

Harvey Ringland left today for a short visit at Colorado Springs. Mr. Ringland has moved into the Mellor house and Miss Mildred Goshorn will stay with Mrs. Ringland during her husband's absence.

S. B. Seace went to Omaha yesterday.

Rev. Dawson goes to Minneapolis Monday on a two weeks vacation.

The DEMOCRAT is told that Neal has been making all colors of money since going to Salt Lake City, having dealt very profitably in the city real estate.

Remember you get the finest calendars, French panels, brackets, etc., ever made, at 60 per cent of the fakers' figures, at the DEMOCRAT office.

County Treasurer Fred Volpp has been under the weather since coming home last Saturday. Fred says it was too much ice water, which explanation will hardly go down with a democrat.

Miss Daisy Gamble left yesterday for Omaha and from there will go to Illinois to spend the summer.

Roy Wilson was in town Sunday on his way to Fairfax. A. M. Wilson has been taking care of the store at Allen.

Fred Benschhof isn't saying much about wrestling now days. It took a long search to find a fellow who was willing to be thrown by Fred on the 4th, but the surprising thing was it only took Fleu Cunningham a few minutes to take Fred's measure.

The evening train to Bloomfield Monday ran over a man a few miles this side of town, but the train men didn't know it until the following morning when the remains were found scattered along the track. An inquest held failed to reveal the man's identity. It is supposed that he lay down on the track while drunk.

Adjourned District Court

Judge Boyd and his court reporter were arrivals Monday morning to clean up some legal matters. The Hanson vs Hanson came in for a generous slice of attention without definite results being obtained, although the DEMOCRAT understands the trend of events was strongly in Hans Hanson's favor. The Isasca divorce case came up for a churning and considerable amusement gotten out of it if no divorce, the judge taking it all under advisement.

At the M. E. Church

Baptism will be administered and probationers received into full connection at the morning service. Rev. Dawson will deliver a temperance lecture in the evening. Prayer meeting every Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

WAS REALLY HIS WIFE

Claims They Were Secretly Married and Her Parents Forced Her to Wed Another—Says Fatal Shot Was Accidental.

Hastings, Neb., July 6.—An interesting trial at the next term of the district court here will be that of Charles Frymyre, charged with the murder of Mrs. O. J. Oldenburg...

The story of the crime shows love and jealousy as the cause. For a year Frymyre has been keeping company with Miss Oldenburg, and their relationship had become very intimate.

RACE WAR ON AT EVANSVILLE, IND.

Mob Makes Determined Effort to Lynch a Negro in Jail.

TROOPS ORDERED OUT

Mob Battered Down Jail Doors, but Their Intended Victim Had Been Spirited Away—Negroes Are Arming and Vengeful.

Evansville, Ind., July 7.—Twenty-five policemen twice prevented a lynching at the jail in this city early yesterday morning, but a race war between negroes and the white mobs that sought the life of Lee Brown, the negro slayer of Patrolman Louis N. Massey, is believed to be imminent.

Their efforts to lynch Brown aroused the enmity of the negroes of the city, who gathered about the jail in the afternoon and made a threatening demonstration. The negroes were chased away by a crowd of white men.

Mutterings of revenge are heard and a clash may be precipitated at any time.

Brown killed Massey in a street battle Friday. All Saturday there was talk of a lynching and about 10 o'clock at night men and boys began to assemble at the jail.

At 1 o'clock this morning troops were ordered out by the governor to quell the riot, which is surrounded by 2,000 men.

SOCKS FOR THE LADIES

Ediet Goes Forth That They Are Best and Comfortable, Ladies, Wear Socks.

Chicago, July 6.—If you want to be cool and comfortable, ladies, wear socks. This is the edict issued by the members of the Women's Medical club at their monthly meeting held yesterday afternoon.

Socks, which have become an important article of women's wardrobe among the feminine members of New York society, were heartily endorsed by the women physicians.

Dr. Frances Dickinson declares the fact is that a pair of 50-cent men's socks will outlast twice over a pair of women's at the same price.

The meeting of the club, which took place at the home of Mrs. W. J. Wooded, in Jackson park, in addition to endorsing the sock for summer wear, the physicians also voted in favor of the wearing of stockings.

"It is the most healthful," said Dr. Sarah Hackett Stevenson, slipping a cup of coffee to her maid, "and it kills any possible germs in the water."

"Such a question has never come before me," said Mr. Bristow, "and I cannot imagine how it could have originated. It is the reason for that order?"

The fact that more routes, which would serve 100 families or more, have been proposed, he said, is the reason for the order.

Washington, July 6.—Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow says that the proposed routes, which are being circulated in the northwest, that no free delivery route can be continued that does not serve 100 families and have a minimum of 100 mail pieces.

W. G. GOLDIE, Editor and Publisher.

The Sioux City Tribune trained its battering ram on A. B. Beall and the Sioux City carnival and Jabour circus in general last Saturday night, just after the last, lonesome batch of country suckers had been stung to starvation.

The Oxnard hotel at Norfolk, of which Charley Vail is manager, had the cash register carried out in the yard last Saturday night and rifled of $183.00. Such a bold robbery was only possible of execution because all the honest people of Norfolk were in Wayne that night celebrating.

No one was killed in Wayne July 4th but such a fortunate result was not due to the size of the firecrackers used. If there isn't any ordinance prohibiting the cannon crackers one should be passed before another 4th rolls around, and the penalty ought to be against the retailers of the dangerous explosives.

As an evidence of that a delightful summer resort Norfolk must be, read the following item from Monday's Daily News: Just after the heavy rain of Friday, three horses drawing an American Express wagon were dropped prostrate in the mud of an alley just off North Fourth street. The wheels sank to the hubs and the animals fell flat in attempting to cross. One of the big beasts was nearly drowned before he could be set right again. His head went into a pool of water at the side and was only kept free by men at hand.

Mr. Rosewater recalls the alleged fact that "an eminent Nebraska once carried $22,000 of currency in a satchel from Omaha to Lincoln and the contents bought a seat in the United States senate for a man whom the people had never thought of exalting." That sort of indefinite charge has been Mr. Rosewater's long suit for thirty years. Put him on the witness stand and he knows mighty little more than the rest of us.

It appears to make a whole lot of difference with some small-bore republican county papers what a man's politics has been when he gets short in his accounts. For instance G. W. Wilkinson of Dakota county got away with some $20,000 that, as the DEMOCRAT understands it, was never put back, but we have yet to hear of a republican editor in this part of the state condemn him for it. Tom Ziegler of Cedar county is alleged to have been short about the same amount and there is a well-defined suppo-

tion that Tom was an innocent party to the embezzlement, and he has since made full restitution, still such imbeciles as the editor of the Hartington Herald man wants Tom "prosecuted to the full extent of the law."

The hanging today of Wm. Rhea at Lincoln has stirred up such a rumpus in the capital city that the next legislature will be opportunely to countermand the law requiring all executions to take place at the state penitentiary, owing, it is said, to that place being the hotbed of anti-capital punishment, due to the broad-minded educators living there. The DEMOCRAT believes that capital punishment is "dead" wrong, but when people are to be hung they should stretch hemp as near and as soon as possible to the place and time of their devility. The only object in a judicial killing is to serve a warning to the people inclined to be reckless with human life, and a local, informal and impenitent putting away of a bad man,

"I do not look as though I ever was sick."

When a woman is sick she falls off in looks. This is particularly the case when she suffers from diseases peculiar to her sex. Not only is her strength undermined, but she loses beauty of face and grace of form.

It is characteristic of the cures of womanly diseases effected by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, that with restored health there is a restoration of good looks.

"Favorite Prescription" establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"I wish to thank you for the good you medicine have done me," writes Mrs. Mae Brown of Canton, Illinois. "I was troubled with female weakness and doctored with several different doctors. They did not seem to help me. Indeed I got worse all the time. I had nervousness and displacement of the uterus. What I suffered no tongue can tell. I had heavy bearing-down pains and thought my back would kill me. I also had a very bad drain, but after taking five bottles of Favorite Prescription and three of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' I am feeling as well as I ever did. I have almost two years and I have had no return of the trouble. My friends tell me I don't look as though I ever was sick."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing order. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

The following has been received: "Col. Frank Twiss, one of the heaviest little stock men in the west, who makes Norfolk and the Oxnard his headquarters, leaves tomorrow for Liverpool, Eng., via Chicago, in advance of several carloads of fine cattle which he is shipping to the British market. He intends to visit for several weeks, the guest of W. R. Jones."—Norfolk News.

WE ALL DRINK Schlitz THE BEER THAT MADE MILWAUKEE FAMOUS

In the Schlitz brewery you will find a plate glass room. In it are cooling pipes, over which the hot beer drips. Above it is an air filter, and no air comes into this room save through that filter. No germs can reach beer handled with such care caution. But, after the beer is aged, we filter it, then bottle and seal it, then sterilize every bottle.

We take triple precautions because beer is a saccharine product. Impurities multiply if they get into it. There is no grade between absolute purity and utter impurity. Every bottle of Schlitz is absolutely pure, and purity is healthfulness. Your physician knows—ask him.

Yesterday, as a sequel, the objecting parent called his daughter in to call her down. There was something doing from the top of the going and the minute papa got out his little hammer to knock on her intended, the independent daughter grabbed the clothes wringer, spared a minute for an opening, and then sent in a corking rap that drove the old man sprawling to the mat. When the mill was over and the masculine victim had been counted out for fair, the wife and mother came upon the scene but took immediately to the tall grass. The matter was not reported to the police, as the legal question is being investigated. The girl thinks she deserves her choice of husband.—Norfolk News.

President Roosevelt had the honor of celebrating the fourth by sending the first telegraphic message around the world by means of the new Pacific cable connecting the United States with the Philippines. The message was sent from Oyster Bay, N. Y., to Clarence H. Mackey, president of the Pacific cable company at Oyster Bay, and completely encircled the globe, covering a distance of some 25,000 miles in twelve minutes. President Mackey's reply was returned to Mr. Roosevelt in nine and one-half minutes. A strange feature of the transmission was that it passed in its transmission from one day to another and back again into the same day. A world encircling message mixes with today, yesterday and tomorrow, indiscriminately, and must of necessity pass through noon day, midnight, sunrise and sunset. Another feature of the message was its passage over historic wires, telling of the

50 Years of Success

This is our record. From a small beginning we have grown until our factories now cover many acres. Many of our machines sold forty to fifty years ago are still giving their users faithful service. Can anything be more convincing of their merits and durability? Did you ever hear of any other machine with such a record?

Wheeler & Wilson No. 9 Sewing Machine No. 9

The Rotary Hook displaces the old, out-of-date, unmechanical and troublesome shuttle.

The Frictionless ball bearings and perfect mechanical construction enable it to be operated with one-third less exertion than is required by ordinary machines. It sews three yards of goods while a shuttle machine sews two.

It makes the most elastic and most perfect stitch whether sewing light or heavy goods.

With our superior attachments the greatest variety of work is possible. Do not make the mistake of buying a sewing machine until you have given the Wheeler & Wilson No. 9 a trial.

Ripping Ripples
Waterbury Ripples in Allen News:
The storm Monday night was the heaviest of the season. The water was higher than it has been for four years. The railing was washed off the big bridge west of town and the iron bridge east of town was taken out entirely. Railroad bridge by about 2 1/2 miles west of town was washed out and a part of the piles were washed out or broken from the bridge near Jake Delaney's 1 1/2 miles east of town. Several miles of track was washed off the bed and some taken outside the right of way. A good deal of other damage was done—fences washed away, stock cut in the wire etc. About one hundred men were working on this section

BY DAD.

Say, there has been something doing this week.

Say, by dad, Eve of Eden wasn't a circumstance to it, was she.

The Omaha News beat 'em all to it with "Beautiful Bessie McNeil," "Wayne belle," and "her golden locks strayed from beneath her derby hat."

Central City's Methodist parson, the chap who left a wife and five babies to run away with a fifteen-year-old girl, has received a call to come back from Canada, and is on the way. As there is no "increase of salary" attached to it isn't at all probable that the parson will consider it a call from God.

Whether I approve of half hose on a woman will depend on the legacy of the wearer.—Cherokee Democrat.

But with such asked facts to contend with it ought to be a knee-ay matter to render a bare opinion.

The Sioux City Journal says the new fad of women wearing men's socks has struck that town with both feet. The peckaboo hose wasn't open enough, we suppose. Well, there is one satisfactory reflection, the princess can't wear mine; they're too small in the calf.

'Tis said they had a big "frost" every night in Sioux City last week. Well, a frost wouldn't hurt the "burnt" district very much.

Friday evening last, during a lull in the rain storm, somebody asked Manager Sam Davies how he was coming on the bowery dance proposition. "Ain't got noshin but Sioux City papers," replied Sam, disconsolately. But later in the evening the squire, as he was known in Iowa fifty years ago where he was justice of the peace, led the female fortune teller out on the floor to head the grand march, and all was merry as a marriage ceremony.

I am told that a certain society young lady was sorely disappointed because, when she left town on a couple of weeks visit and requested the DEMOCRAT be forwarded to her, by dad never got in his brag over the happenstance. Bless her dear heart, those things happen to the DEMOCRAT so often these days that some people would think we were—giving away pianos if we told about them all.

An official investigation may prove that people can acquire wisdom by getting a little Blunt.

John Rosacker celebrated the 4th in an unusual fashion. John didn't spend much money for firecrackers. He went away back of Frank Kruger's saloon and tried to play the slot machine there by dropping his whole weight in the hole. The rest of the day John spent in fishing, and he got just what a fellow might expect to get in such an unpropitious spot.

No, there isn't much the matter with George Kimball; the old man just got in his head that all the women are in Missouri.

The meanest man in town this week is Editor Gibson for sending word to the "old man" that the kids were running away.

Bessie and Her Blunt.

(From Tuesday's Sioux City Evening Tribune.)

Pretty and romantic Bessie McNeil of Wayne, Neb., dressed in boy's clothing furnished by her lover, A. K. Blunt, slipped down a rope at her father's house last night and eloped with Blunt to South Sioux City, where their romance was nipped in the bud. City Marshal Kloster placed the couple under arrest on orders from W. H. McNeil, editor of the Wayne Herald and postmaster there, father of the girl.

This afternoon Bessie, who discarded her male raiment at the hotel at South Sioux City, is locked in a room of Sheriff Sides' house in Dakota City while Blunt occupies a cell at the jail. As fast as steam can carry him, Editor McNeil is hurrying after his daughter. Blunt is employed at a laundry in Wayne. He recently came from Schuyler, Neb. Miss McNeil, who is only 14 years old, but large and well developed for her age, met Blunt about two weeks ago upon her return from Omaha, where she had been visiting relatives. It was love at first sight.

Her Father Objected.

Editor McNeil disapproved of Blunt and told him so. His opposition only stimulated the young people to hold clandestine meetings, aided by mutual friends, all of which Editor McNeil knew nothing about.

Last night Bessie met her lover. He handed her a package, which she carried to her room at home. She retired early and her absence was not discovered until this morning, when she did not appear at breakfast.

At midnight, last night, Bessie slid down the rope into the arms of her lover. She was dressed in boy's clothing. They jumped into a rig which Blunt had in waiting and drove rapidly to Wakefield, ten miles away, where they boarded the Omaha train for Sioux City early this morning.

Disguise Easily Noticed

The passengers in the smoker, into which the couple went noticed that the smaller of the two appeared ill at ease. This one was dressed in a black coat, blue trousers and a white vest, standing collar and necktie, and wore a black derby hat. They dropped into the front seat of the smoker next the water cooler, but not until the passengers had had time enough to determine that the smaller of the two was in disguise. In addition to being extremely handsome, the stranger's black hair tucked up under the black derby, the dainty gutters, and the mincing walk, all attracted attention.

The stranger edged through the car door, glancing fearfully around, sidled over to the seat and dropped into it. The pretty one's hands tucked snugly in the trouser's pockets were never taken out during all the long ride to South Sioux City.

It remained for a middle aged traveling man to voice the sentiments of the passengers. "Boys he's a girl," he said in an audible tone.

The couple heard the remark. The larger of the two turned around and was greeted with a shout of laughter, while his companion shrunk down in the seat until the derby tipped forward on her pretty nose, disclosed a bunch of hair pinned tightly to her head. Her brown eyes were filled with tears, but smiled faintly and looked out of the window.

The traveling man was sympathetic but he said things that embarrassed the couple. Everybody made remarks, and finally the traveling man wrote a note which he passed to Blunt. It read:

"Why don't you get off at the next station and get married?"

Blunt grew red in the face. He passed the note to his companion. She read it and smiled. Then Blunt looked at the traveling man.

"We're going to do that as soon as we can," he said.

Father Telephones Officers.

In the meantime Editor McNeil of Wayne was telephoning along the line. He called up Chief Davenport and told him his troubles. Captain Anderson hurried to the depot, but the couple did not appear. They got off at South Sioux City.

City Marshal Kloster had been notified by phone and while he was talking to Wayne the train arrived. He hurried down the street and learned that two passengers had got off and gone to the Merchants hotel.

"One of them is a boy dressed in boy's clothes," an urchin told him.

The marshal went at once to the hotel. The landlady said a couple answering the description had just gone to a room. Up the stairs two steps at a time hurried Marshal Kloster. At the head of the stairs he met Blunt.

Arrests Are Made

"You're under arrest; come with me," he said and collared the young man.

They walked to the room and Blunt opened the door.

"It's all up Bessie; we're caught," he said addressing the occupant.

Standing before him Marshal Kloster saw a pretty girl dressed in a natty suit and white vest. Her long black hair loosened had fallen about her shoulders. A bundle open on the bed disclosed a dress and hat and other feminine wearing apparel.

"Yes, you've caught us, Mr. Marshal," Bessie said with a toss of her head, "and now that you've got us what are you going to do? I'm old enough to marry if I want to and that's all there is to it."

"But I'm instructed to lock you up," declared the marshal.

"If you do you'll sweat for it," Bessie retorted with spirit. "No you won't either, but papa will catch it from me. I'll have you know I'm used to having my own way and he can't stop me now."

Takes "Pants" Along

The marshal retired while the girl made a change of clothing, and in the meantime called up Sheriff Sides. The latter came over from Dakota City in a buggy and at noon started for the jail with the elopers. The girl wanted to leave her disguise, but the sheriff insisted on its going along.

It is learned at Wayne that the girl is a romantic turn of mind and last fall an attempt at elopement with another young man was narrowly averted by her father, who arrived at the depot just as the couple were about to board a train for Omaha.

Blunt says he is more afraid of the girl's father than of the law.

(From Wednesday's Sioux City Evening Tribune.)

On the Omaha train from Wayne, Neb., arriving at 3:55 o'clock this afternoon came Mrs. W. H. McNeil, H. A. Blunt and Miss Bessie McNeil of Wayne.

Later today Mr. Blunt and Miss McNeil will be married in Sioux City.

This is the outcome of the sensational and romantic little elopement from Wayne Monday night.

Miss Bessie, aged 15 years, alighted from the train today she was attired in a well-fitted skirt and shirtwaist. Her hair done up in maidenly fashion and she wore a natty summer hat. This was in striking contrast to the raiment she wore when she slid down a rope from her father's house Monday night into the arms of her waiting lover.

No Danger of Slipping

Then she wore a man's suit, her hair was tucked up beneath a man's derby hat and she looked the roguish youth in features but her gait and lack of ease in her borrowed garments proclaimed her a masquerader, and when she entered the smoking car of the train she was recognized as a young woman. She walked with both hands in her pockets, as if fearful that the previous untidy suspenders might not do all that was claimed for them.

As the couple came through South Sioux City this afternoon they doubtless mugged each other and smiled. They found this time, unlike their experience there yesterday, no officer to declare them runaways and under arrest, and no horrid town marshal to tell the young woman she was not a boy and to hurry and don some petticoats. They were not greeted by the unerring announcement that an angry father awaited their immediate return to Wayne.

From Limbo to Hymen's Altar

To day as they sped through the little suburb they were aided with the written consent of the erstwhile irrefragable, to their marriage. The girl's stepmother was with them to give her testimony before the license clerk, and magistrate or clergy that the wedding was not forbidden by those who had the right.

Mr. Blunt, a good looking young man of 25 years comes in for some contrasting experiences also. Last night he was dancing with and only this morning at 10 o'clock were the doors of the detaining jail opened to permit him to pass again at liberty. This afternoon he is to stand at hymen's altar grasping the hand of his pretty bride, and realizing if he behaves himself in the future, angry parents and police officers will cause him no worry.

When Sheriff Sides arrived in Wayne at 7 o'clock last evening with the runaways, a big crowd was at the station. The young couple felt their humiliation and did not like the curious gaze or the amused remarks of some of the unsympathetic.

Cast in Prison

Miss Bessie was taken in charge by her father, W. H. McNeil, editor of the Wayne Herald and postmaster of the town, and hustled home. Blunt was rushed off to the jail and locked up. A charge of eloping was lodged against him and he was to have had a hearing this morning. Instead, a compromise was effected, the marriage of the two agreed upon, and the charge was dismissed.

Because of the extreme youth of the girl and the stringent marriage laws of Nebraska, it was thought advisable that a trip to Sioux City be made and the marriage performed here; the girl's father giving his written consent.

"The matter is settled up satisfactorily to all," said Mr. McNeil, the girl's father, over the long distance telephone today. "They will be married in Sioux City this afternoon."

"Will they return to Wayne?" was asked.

"I cannot say."

Mr. Blunt arrived in Wayne about a month ago from Schuyler, Neb., and at once he and Miss McNeil became inseparable. The girl's father objected and the couple ran away.

(From Thursday Morning's Sioux City Journal.)

With her dark brown hair tied with a white ribbon and hanging loosely down her back, pretty Bessie McNeil, of Wayne, Neb., at the parsonage of the First Methodist church at 6 o'clock last evening became the wife of Henry A. Blunt, to marry whom she fled from Wayne clad in boys clothes.

In the presence of the brides mother and a few Sioux City people, among whom were Chief of Police Davenport and Police Matron Thurston, the nuptial knot was tied by Rev. O. A. Norem, of St. Peter's Norwegian Lutheran church.

When the two young people stood up together to take the marriage vows from the minister all the circumstances of the past few days, the elopement and the ensuing arrest, which have given a touch of romance to the affair, were forgotten, and the two youthful lovers participated in the wedding ceremony without hesitation and with a modest dignity that charmed the few witnesses present.

The trio got off the Norfolk passenger train at the Northwestern station a little after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The girl looked neat and trim in a brown dimity dress. She is of rather slender build, dark haired, black eyed and pretty. The would-be groom had his camera with him, but carried no other baggage. The stepmother, who, too, may be put in the "young and good looking" classification, acted as chaperon and director of the tour.

From the passenger station the party proceeded immediately and directly to the court house. The stepmother seemed to know just where the court house was located.

Arriving at the county clerk's office, Mr. Blunt, as a matter of form, took charge of affairs and broached his business to Clerk Coniff, who turned the matters over to Deputy Clerk Johnson. The bride and the prospective mother-in-law had waited in the hall, but at this point put in an appearance in the clerk's office.

Mr. Blunt gave Plattsmouth, Neb., as his residence and 22 as his age. Miss McNeil said she was from Wayne, Neb., and confessed to 16 summers.

When Mrs. McNeil was asked for particulars as to the approaching wedding she said she thought it was funny people could not do things without the newspapers interfering with their plans. She said she had talked until she was tired about "the horrible affair," and the newspapers had not printed the truth anyway.

Then Miss McNeil chimed in with:

"Where did you get all that stuff about us?"

And Mr. Blunt was heard from in a similar effect: "That was a great story you printed about us."

Miss McNeil was asked if the story was not correct.

"There wasn't a word of truth in it," was his sweeping declaration, and she tried to appear as if the whole affair had grieved her very much, but it would not taken a real wise man to grasp the truth that the, sweet little thing was highly delighted that she had been able to create such a sensation.

Well, wasn't it true that she and Mr. Blunt had run away to get married? Oh, yes, that part of the story is correct. And wasn't it true that she had attired herself in men's clothes? Oh, yes, that was all true enough. And wasn't it a fact that they were detained at South Sioux City and then turned over to the sheriff of Dakota county? Well she guessed that was what happened. And weren't they both taken back to Wayne by the stepmother? Well, they had gone back to Wayne.

After the matter had been sifted down it seemed that what Miss McNeil objected to was the story, printed in an evening paper that she had climbed out of her window and slid down a rope to join her Lochinvar.

When Miss McNeil spoke about the rope, Blunt cut in with an echoing remark: "Yes, where did you get it about that rope?" and then Mrs. McNeil's eyes snapped, and she said with considerable emphasis:

"When the rope was needed was after this thing had happened and not before."

Mr. McNeil may not have meant it in just that way, but her remark led those in the Clerk's office to gather that Blunt did not stand as high in the McNeil family as he might have stood, even if he was about to be taken in as a son-in-law.

Mr. McNeil was not able to state where she would take the pair for the marriage ceremony. She said she would prefer a Presbyterian minister.

"But," she added, "I guess it doesn't make much difference."

The three first called at a house next to the First Baptist church in their search for a minister, and from there they went to the parsonage of the First Methodist church.

About 4:30 o'clock wearied with their fruitless search for a minister, trio of wanderers wound up at the parsonage of the First Methodist church in Seventh street. A knock brought Mrs. McKraig to the door.

"Is the minister at home?" anxiously inquired Mrs. McNeil, who seemed to be the spokesman for the party.

Mrs. McKraig explained that the doctor was out of the city, and asked if there was a young couple has got to be married," said Mrs. McNeil, "and we have looked all over the city for a preacher and haven't found any."

Mrs. McKraig suggested that they might come in and telephone for a preacher. This seemed to please them and they entered the parsonage. After calling for a number of the clergy of the city, including Rev. C. Rollin Sherck of the Trinity English Lutheran, Dr. F. Newhall White, First Congregational, and Rev. Ralph P. Smith of St. Thomas Episcopal and finding none of them at home, they succeeded in engaging Rev. O. A. Norem of the Norwegian church who said he would come to the parsonage at once and perform the ceremony.

Then came more trouble for the excited young bride and her anxious mother. The prospective groom said he guessed he would go out on the street for a few minutes. Before they could reason with him he was gone.

And there they were left with neither groom nor preacher. Bessie sat in the front window of the parsonage and looked anxiously up and down the street watching for the approach of the minister and the return of her lover. Neither was in sight.

At length she gave a cry of joy as she descried a man coming down the street wearing a white tie and the appearance of a clergyman.

"Here he comes," she cried, and ran to the door to welcome Mr. Norem.

But still no signs of "Fred." The awful thought that he might not come back came over her, and with a cry she ran to her room, and throwing her arms around her burst into tears.

"Suppose he shouldn't come back," she said. The next moment she turned pale, and would have fallen if her mother had not caught her. The stress of the last few days had been almost too much for her, and she fainted. A glass of cold water thrown in her face revived her, but she still moaned for her "Fred."

With a look of determination in her face, Mrs. McNeil stepped again to the telephone. She called the police department, asking for Chief Davenport and poured her troubles into the sympathetic ear of the chief. Chief Davenport promised that the bridegroom should not get away, and said that he would come up there at once.

In a few minutes the watchers at the window descried the chief coming up the street with Mrs. Thurston. Before they got into the house, however, the stalwart form of the young bridegroom loomed up in the distance, and Bessie's anxieties were immediately set at rest.

The pretty little bride regained her spirits as soon as Blunt came, and announced that she was ready for the ceremony. The wedding ceremony passed off without a hitch. At its close the few people present pressed forward to extend their congratulations, at which the young couple, happy that all was over, seemed hardly pleased.

It had been the intention of the party to catch the 5:15 train to Wayne, but the ceremony was delayed so long that it was long after 6 o'clock when it was all over.

Together with Mrs. McNeil, Mr. and Mrs. Blunt took a car for Riverside after supper and spent the evening at the pavilion. They expect to leave for Wayne on the first train this morning.

HOSKINS

R Burbank was in town Wednesday and Thursday.

W J Weatherholt and Artie were here Wednesday.

Mrs Mettlen of Wayne came Monday to visit that new granddaughter.

C Burbank and Alma Benser went to Norfolk Monday evening.

John Shannon was in town from Carroll Tuesday.

Doc Averil was down from Winside Wednesday.

John Keating returned to his home at Wakefield Tuesday.

Although last Friday it rained all day Saturday was fair and at an early hour the crowds began to pour into town. The rain of Friday put a stop to the street parade for that day and most of the races but still all present were fully paid for coming by the forenoon program. The oration by Mr. Gurney of Winside was just what his speeches always are, splendid. The Declaration of Independence as recited by Johnnie Keating of Wakefield received lots of praise and Prof. Wilsons pupils fairly outdid themselves singing their patriotic songs "Our Own United States" and "We Will Stand by the Flag Forever." In the afternoon there was a few races but on account of the condition of the streets most of them were dropped. Dancing was the especial feature with the young people and all seemed to enjoy themselves.

In the ball game Wednesday between the married and single men the boys won by a score of 5 to 0. The Hoskins kids are organizing and will soon play the married men. It is hoped that then they can perhaps frighten the little fellows into letting them win.

The fire-laddies are practicing up for the contest at Norfolk the last of the month and Hoskins confidently expects to take first money there.

Best options and lowest rates on loans. PHIL H. KOEHL, Agt.

"Better than any line I've seen with a British army officer through a certain museum in London. With pride he explained how England's military prowess was portrayed by the circumstances connected with some war relics they saw, when with a smile of supreme triumph, he pointed to a small cannon, saying "That gun, madam, was captured from your army at Bunker Hill."

To this the lady quickly replied: "Well, captain, you are welcome to the gun; we've got the hill."

Thomas B. Reed had made an appointment with a friend who lived in a town some distance from Washington. He was impatiently protesting at his tardiness when a telegram brought an explanation of its cause. "Washout on the line," ran the message. The Maine statesman, ever quick at repartee, instantly urged in reply: "Buy a new shirt and come on at once."

TAKES THE LEAD

Please call and see for yourself. Don't buy until you are satisfied that you are right and we are right.

When entering my place please take a peep at my cigar case, where you will find the best brands in the city.

Then take a look at my whisky case where you can see the best stock of goods in Northeast Nebraska.

Then turn round and gaze upon the cheapest and best assortment of California wines in the state.

Then 'go 'way back and sit down'—in the sample room; take a nip of all the goods there is and ask the prices as you test the superior gr ades.

Then come up to the bar and take a "Tin Roof" (on the house.) Then is the time to buy—if you are right:
