Mayor Britton took the eyes and says, and the eyes being somewhat faint-hearted Councilman Gaertner demanded a roll call, which listened like this: Gaertner--YES

The many friends of Miss Maricetta Nicholas and O. A. The wedding was a decidedly quiet, home ceremony, Miss Jennie Ryer being the only guest aside from the family, the service being performed by Rev. Duley. Mr. King is now bookkeeper at the Citizens bank and one of the nicest boys of Wayne, while his bride is not only accomplished but a most industrious and ambitious young lady, quite capable of being any king's queen. JAPANESE WERE WILD WITH DELIGHT

Enthusiasm Over Her Seventy and Seven Heros Know No Bounds.

ALL EXPECTED TO DIE

The Cherry Blossom of Ten Thousand Deeds Will Live, We Are Assured, for Centuries of Generations to Come.

Tokio letter: "The Seventy-Seven Determined Death Body" seen in the pictures of the hundred volunteers who took the fire ships into Port Arthur in the first attempt to break that harbor.

The reason is plain. The fleet on the night of the 25th went into action in the hope of capturing 11 more or less alive, the seventy-seven men willingly went into the jaws of death.

So the story of the "Seventy-Seven Determined Death Body" is being told in the title of "The Cherry Blossom of Ten Thousand Deeds" which in plain English means that the seventy-seven men who did not show the sun and water that is usually contained in the ten thousand buds.

One of the heroic seventy-seven was (Chibura Kenzo), and the manner in which he died has been described in detail in the first part of this story.

But he did not die in vain. His parents in Osaka gave a great feast in his honor; his portrait was dedicated at the temple of the women of Osaka.

Such were two of the individual deeds and similar stories could be told of every man who went in with the fire ships, not to mention the many who came out alive.

"If you lose your left hand, work with the right. If you lose both hands, work with your feet. If you are shot away, work with your head. Obey all orders respectfully. Do not in any degree desert your post."

STORY OF TWO "LEADERS."

The "What King" of 1898 and the "Cotton King" of 1904.

New York Evening Post: Although few if any people had predicted so early the success of the "cotton" market leader as that of yesterday, few experienced financiers had doubted that such an end would eventually come.

What young Lettler did was to purchase oil-purified contracts requiring delivery of 5,000,000 bushels of wheat in part, as Sully did his, and even after the 10th of May had $5,000,000 clean profit to his credit.

The Ever Womaniac. New York World: Even in these days of campaign boons and pension usurpations the newspapers would lose much interest but for the many forms of activity of the Ever Womaniac.

Train Sickness. Lancet: Road legs have to be acquired as much as sea legs, and in the various forms of locomotion, from the jolting omnibus to the rattling motor and air-brake trains, frequent opportunities arise for estimating the varying amounts of motion.

Such were two of the individual deeds and similar stories could be told of every man who went in with the fire ships, not to mention the many who came out alive.

FOR HONOR'S SAKE

BY CELESTE BENNET DOBBINS

When Colonel King looked up from the letter presented by the handsome, slender youth who stood before him, he was among the first wounded, and carried to the battlefield.

"My Dear Colonel—This letter will introduce to your favorable notice Walter Lyon, only son of our old friend and adjutant-general John Lyon, who, as you know, gave his life for our country during the war of the rebellion."

"The boy has not the splendid physique his father possessed, but he is a splendid character. He was pronounced mentally and physically sound by the examining physician in the last years of age and is full of patriotism."

"I have not seen Walter since his papers were made out, as he has been in the hospital. I have written several letters on the subject and am convinced that his reason for the change is important, and I hope you will be able to grant the request."

Joe took his pipe from his mouth and looked pityingly at the white soldier who came young soldier before he answered.

"You can depend upon me, Laddie, I'll be your eye and ear, and I'll be your hand, and it is safe with me. You will bear me witness some day, if you are spared, that I have treated you as you deserve."

Stooping down close to his ear, the old man whispered a few words to his young comrade, and then he turned his face in his hands that Joe might not see the unmanly blushes on his forehead.

FARUNA

By Perivola Rhodes

As Harry Waldon returned to the Parrott club in Sydney the clerk handed him a letter. He took it mechanically and retired to the smoking room, where he threw himself into a large leather chair.

"If you are angry that I am here masquerading in soldier's clothes, forgive me, dear, for I have done it for your sake. I have done it for your sake, I would not betray him, even for half a crown."

"I have not seen Walter since his papers were made out, as he has been in the hospital. I have written several letters on the subject and am convinced that his reason for the change is important, and I hope you will be able to grant the request."

Am I Right?

For fifteen years I have catered to the public, a dispenser of the best wines, whiskies, brandies and beers that can be bought in the markets. Have tried to please every patron, and respected every man who has been too good for the saloon but has gotten his liquors elsewhere. Now we have put up every tribute exacted—and they have been excessive—by town and state, and feel like asking the people who use intoxicants to patronize the place that deserve your trade so long as we give you only the best goods at the lowest prices. Ten or fifteen per cent of every dollar you spend at my place goes to educate your children and to pay for public improvements. From a moral standpoint this may seem like a peculiar kind of affair, but it is what the people voted for—don't blame the saloon-keeper for it. Well, this is a long speech for me to make, so come in and take something—on a tin roof.

Edgar Howard facetiously remarks that "Rosa Hammond's poetry is as graceful as Judge Sullivan on horse-back."

The lid has been taken off in Sioux City and the town is again wide open. Palatial gambling houses have been opened up and slot machines have been put to work gathering in the nickles. Heavy fines are imposed, the highest

Here's another good story about a Columbus man, from the Telegram. Perhaps the man was the proprietor of a city store where shoes are on sale. Perhaps he was one of the clerks. But no matter. The record reads as follows: A young woman entered the store and called for a pair of shoes. The man who did the selling had difficulty in making a good fit about the ankle and finally, humbly asking pardon for his boldness, he informed the lady that her elastic garter had slipped down to her ankle, and it would be necessary for her to raise it to its proper place. After making this statement the man politely turned his back, in order that the lady might perform the task unobserved. The lady adjusted the troublesome garter and the shoe man again attempted to fit the shoe, but was again immediately interrupted by the falling garter. He again suggested the necessity of adjusting the supporter and was promptly informed by the customer that he would have to adjust it himself, as she couldn't make it stay in place. He was courteous and kind as are all successful shoe salesmen, and at once attempted the task. It was a delicate task, and there were large drops of sweat on the high forehead of the man when, after much effort he had placed the troublesome garter in proper position with the remark: "There, I think I shall not be compelled to fix it again." And then the poor fellow shed some more sweat when a soft, sweet voice from just behind him said: "No, I am quite sure you will not be compelled to fix it again." It was the voice of his wife, who had called at the store to get a check to pay the grocery bill.

"We get some very peculiarly addressed epistles at the court house," remarked Sheriff Mears yesterday. "The other day I received one marked to the 'Wayne County Insane Commission.'" ### Just Our Sentiments

We have never met him, but the St. Louis convention will introduce him to the world. His name will be neither Parker nor Hearst. That great convention will discover the man who can weld together the discordant elements of the democratic party. There is a happy medium between the extremes in this contest. The convention will find that medium. Not for one moment would The Telegram favor the sacrifice of principle in order to win an election-victory. There will be no call for sacrifice of principle. The real democrats of the country will reason together at St. Louis, and out of the reasoning will arise a platform and a man satisfactory to every honest democrat. And then, when the happy result has been reached, democrats everywhere will feel so good over the getting together that they will go into the campaign with an energy and confidence which will sweep away all opposition. There are bright days ahead of the great political organization which gave to the nation a Jefferson, a Jackson and a Bryan.—Columbus Telegram.

GOOD SPIRITS.

Good spirits don't all come from Kentucky. Their main source is the liver—and all the fine spirits ever made in the Blue Grass State could not remedy a bad liver or the hundred and-one ill effects it produces. You can't have good spirits and a bad liver at the same time. Your liver must be in fine condition if you would feel buoyant, happy and hopeful, bright of eye, light of step, vigorous and successful in your pursuits. You can put your liver in fine condition by using Green's August Flower—the greatest of all medicines for the liver and stomach and a certain cure for dyspepsia or indigestion. It has been a favorite household remedy for over thirty-five years. August Flower will make your liver healthy and active, and thus insure you a liberal supply of "good" spirits. Trial size 25c; regular bottle, 75c. At all drug stores.

Depends very much on the condition your teeth are in. Then why do you put off going to a dentist? The old time dread of so much suffering is past, when you go to such a dentist as Dr. Eells. An expression you often hear, "why, that did not hurt at all," or "my, that did not hurt like I expected it to, or as they told me it would."

THE FAIR'S THIRD SPECIAL

For Thursday, Friday and Saturday
MAY 5, 6, AND 7

The business we have done the past two weeks has greatly exceeded our expectations, due to the fact that we are satisfied with small margins and that people appreciate our efforts to furnish them goods of guaranteed quality at low prices. People have expressed surprise at our reduction in prices, and some imagine we are doing so to unload a big stock and then leave. This is a mistake. We are here to stay and continue offering bargains by which we can save buyers at least 25 per cent. The reason we can do that is because we know how and where to take advantage of bargains in the eastern markets and buy for cash, less all discounts. Mr. Reiffel is now in the east buying new goods some of which will be on display in our store by Saturday or the fore part of next week at the farthest.

Our Special Prices for this Week:

RUSSIANS SUBILANT OVER NEW EXPLOITS

The Cruise of the Vladivostok Squadron and Massacre of Captives. Plans for a Great Daring

St. Petersburg, April 22.—Details of Rear Admiral Rozhen's raid show it was only a success. The admiral safely brought back his ship to Vladivostok after inflicting material damage to the enemy. The Columbus Telegram is boasting for higher wages for school teachers. We always did think the school was a dear little thing but the Telegram evidently believes they are too cheap. It says of wages:

They are too low. Nebraska people are paying more attention to their cattle and hogs than they bestow upon their school teachers. It's a mistake. Nebraska stands at the head of all the states in an educational way. This fact is not due to good treatment of school teachers, but rather to the fact that this state has been settled by the cream of intelligence from other states. The Telegram believes the wages of school teachers are too low by half. It is not far short of criminal for a school board to ask a man to spend years in preparing himself to teach school, and then ask him to do the work at a salary no better than the salary of a clerk in a grocery store. Under present circumstances $50 per month should be the lowest wages paid to any teacher of a public school in Nebraska. Here in Columbus the board of education should be ashamed to ask a teacher to work for less than $75 per month. That means a net salary of less than $700 a year, which is not more than enough to enable them to pay board, attend summer institutes and wear decent clothes. If the school revenue shall not be sufficient to pay decent wages to all the teachers, then reduce the number of teachers. A teacher who stands all the time face to face with poverty certainly cannot do as good work as he or she might do if paid wages which would carry the teacher away from the verge of want. Nebraska needs a crusade in favor of decent wages of school teachers, and the Telegram is ready to enlist as a private in the ranks if some school official will take the leadership in such a worthy cause.

P. E. McKillip of Humphrey for congress. Make it just plain Pat McKillip and we Irish will knock the wadding out of Mr. McCarthy.

The Columbus Telegram starts off an editorial about Gov. Mickey as follows:

"In discussing the narrow minded railroad tool who governs the state of Nebraska in the interests of his railroad masters The Telegram must confess to a degree of prejudice. We are against any public official who allows himself to be made the official cat-paw of the corporations."

There is no doubt about the prejudice against Gov. Mickey, and to do him full justice, we are ready to believe that Judge Howard is prejudiced against any public official who allows himself to be made the official cat-paw of corporations. But how does he know this to be true of Gov. Mickey?

Brother Sedgwick asks a fair question, and is entitled to a fair answer. The Telegram has stacked its belief that Governor Mickey is a railroad tool. The evidence upon which that statement was based is the very best of evidence. We have a right to judge men by their records. Governor Mickey has a record. That record says that for twenty-five years he has been recognized among politicians as a political pass-distributor for the railroad politicians. He will scarce deny that he acted in that capacity in Polk county. Why do the railroads distribute political passes? Do they do it for fun? Was Governor Mickey employed to look after railroad political matters as a matter of play on part of the railroads? Not much. It is always a matter of business with the railroad attorneys when they employ a pass-distributor, or when they issue passes direct to individuals. When Governor Mickey distributed the political passes he simply acted the part of a pimp for the political department of the railroad company.

And the governor also has a railroad record since he was called to the chief chair of state. That record shows that he has been practically the agent of the railroads in the matter of assessing railroad property. He had a hand in crowding the intamous revenue law through the legislature, and all the state knows that revenue law was the creature of the combined efforts of the lawyers who represent the various railroads in the state. And then look at the appointments he has made. But the fact that Governor Mickey is a piece of railroad property is so plain a fact that it needs no elaboration. We cannot believe that such a well-versed politician as Editor Sedgwick would ask how we know these things, unless he asks in a facetious sense. Or, as has been intimated, perhaps like many another republican, he feels that his party will be disgraced by the renomination of the governor, and is now hoping against
