By Fire and Flood
About seven o'clock Sunday evening, the fire bell tolled off a few jingles, there might have been more of them but for the fact that right across the street from the bell was the fire, the occasion of which is unaccountable unless the type lice got cold and lonesome for a touch of high life.
The blaze started in an attic of the Republican office and only the early arrival of several million gallons of water kept it from going down into Philosopher Gibson's sanctum, where a lot of Rockefeller's gasoline would have put a quietus on it anyway.
Aside from a thorough soaking the plant was not much injured, a hole in the roof being about all the damage to the building. Bro. Gibson is to be congratulated upon the fortunate termination of the fire, as a clean up would have been disastrous to him.
About $1700 insurance amply covers the loss and the paper will be issued this week as usual. Editor Gibson and family were in Dixon at the time of the fire and only arrived home next morning.

Sheriff Mears says he and E. Cunningham had quite a proposition in landed Willie Spike in the asylum, last week. At stations they were compelled to wrap the fellow's shirt over his mouth he was so foul in his loud ravings. Then he would jerk his clothes off and make an exhibition of himself if they didn't keep hands on him. Trainmen said he was the worst subject they had ever seen on the cars.
When they arrived at the asylum Mr.
Cunningham was about all in from handling the rautankerous cuss. The first thing they do with them at the hospital is strip them for a bath, and Sheriff Mears says that when one of the big guards, a conceited attendant, undertook to pilot Willie along, after his handcuffs and shackles were removed, that the latter threw the athletic on the floor so quick and so hard it took all the conceit out of the big lad.
Jas. Elliott was here from Winside
Saturday and helped out on that St.

John Gaertner says that "when I heard the fire bell ring I just ran like —I for the Jew store."

BY DAD.
A party in New Jersey wants the Standard Oil Co. dissolved. By dad, we'd have dissolved it with the monkey wrench last week if able to get at it. A five gallon can supposed to be gas, contained just a pint of gasoline and the balance water. After running two gallons out on the floor from —a gas engine—we were unable to set the stuff on fire. Talk about your Rocky-feller watered stock!
Here's a paragraph from one preacher's sermon that hits the bull's eye:
"Granting that many people lose their religion and their character in frivolous pursuit of those three things, yet they are not the things that are honeycombing and eating the life out of the churches. A revival that gets no deeper than cards and dancing and theaters is very shallow. If I were the devil I would manage things just as they are going."
"The thing that ruins girls is not dancing. It is a scale of wages on which they cannot live. From $3 to $6 a week will not keep a girl alive. It is not amusement that does the mischief.
It is a Christless spirit in business. It is the bossing by men of Christless disposition." By dad, it isn't necessary to name any of these "christian spirits" in Wayne, is it. You can just commence with the big land-holders in the county and work downwards. The cold-blooded, church-going hypocrites are the sort of fellows who create hell on earth by robbing the poor and persecuting the indefensible. Some day they think they will land in heaven because they belonged to the church, but the devil "will get 'em if they don't watch out."

Joe Chace, a nephew of E. R. was in Wayne, Tuesday on his way home from Ewing to Iowa. Although a trifle younger in years than his uncle Joseph might easily be taken for the older of the two. He put in about twenty years of his life in the sand-hills of Nebraska but last year traded a half section of land for a stock of goods in Iowa, and sold a quarter for $2000, thus letting him get away from a life-wearing proposition.

Am I Right?

For fifteen years I have catered to the public, a dispenser of the best wines, whiskies, brandies and beers that can be bought in the markets. Have tried to please every patron, and respected every man who has been too good for the saloon but has gotten his liquors elsewhere. Now we have put up every tribute exacted—and they have been excessive—by town and state, and feel like asking the people who use intoxicants to patronize the place that deserve your trade so long as we give you only the best goods at the lowest prices. Ten or fifteen per cent of every dollar you spend at my place goes to educate your children and to pay for public improvements. From a moral standpoint this may seem like a peculiar condition of affairs, but it is what the people voted for—don't blame the saloon-keeper for it. Well, this is a long speech for me to make, so come in and take something—on a tin roof.

McKillop for Congress
Special Message to the World's Fair, St. Louis, Mo., June 28. The voters of the Tenth congressional district met in separate caucuses here this afternoon and elected Patrick J. McKillop (Dem.) of Humphrey, Platte county, as their candidate for congress. The platform also adopted the platform exactly as it came from the democratic convention.

The democratic convention was called to order in the Tenth theater at 8 o'clock this afternoon by T. F. Menninger of Madison county, chairman of the congressional committee. There was a large attendance and the convention was very enthusiastic throughout.

Chairman Menninger announced as the selection for the committee for temporary chairman Edgar Howard of Platte county, and for secretary Harry Miller of Stanton county. Senator Hale of Madison county escorted Mr. Howard to the stage and he was received with hearty applause. In accepting the position Mr. Howard announced that, owing to physical disability, he would make but a few remarks. In his clear-cut and inimitable style he expounded democratic truths in a manner which received the closest attention and evidences of approval. In opening he paid a touching and beautiful tribute to the memory of the late John S. Kribbs.

Mr. Howard thought that the campaign should be made largely on tariff and trusts, the mother and the child. He would have the convention declare for a tariff for revenue only and that, sufficient only to conduct the affairs of the government economically administered. It was not trust legislation that was needed, but an enforcement of the present laws without fear or favor. He would have the convention declare in favor of an isthmian canal to be free to vessels flying the American flag. This would stimulate the merchant marine more than any other course and would afford a ready passage way for the western states.

The Northwestern Publishing Co. Carl Engert was the title of a case in Judge Hunter's court last Friday, the plaintiff suing Carl on an alleged $12.50 note given several years ago for a plat book. Carl alleged material changes in the note, claiming that the security he gave the company was a note for $12 without interest for 90 days. Welch & Davis were attorneys for the book house and E. A. Lundberg for defendant. The court gave defendant a verdict and plaintiff took an appeal to the district court. The signature to the alleged note is said to be faulty in that the name is improperly spelled.

Lawrence Albertson and Gerard Clausen from near Pender were in Wayne yesterday. The former made the DEMOCRAT glad with a year's subscription and Mr. Clausen ditto only he's a "new one."

A reception was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Harry Craven last Saturday evening at the home of the groom's parents. A large number of young people were present and a most enjoyable time had.

Wallie Graves was down from the ranch near Pierce, Wednesday, and he left the DEMOCRAT a box of the largest, sweetest and nicest strawberries ever grown. Florida berries are all right in the winter months but they can't hold a patchin to the Nebraska berries in June.

H. S. Welch, the jeweler, has just got in an elegant line of new things in china-ware.

Albert Berry was up at Laurel yesterday to sell J. Tower a bill of hardware.

David C. Patterson, Jr., nephew of W. O. Gamble, successfully passed the examination at the Annapolis Naval academy both mentally and physically. Young Patterson is one of very few young men out of 450 applicants who got through, the examination being the hardest ever given.

Mr. Anderson of the Wausa Gazette was in town this morning on his way to Alta, Ia. He informed the DEMOCRAT that F. E. Anderson, proprietor of the Gazette, had lost his position as editor of a Swedish paper at Omaha, and that he would now return to Wausa.

M. McVicker, T. Steen's baker, is moving into the Nangle house east of J. D. King's.

Wm. Eieckle, who lives northwest of town, sold his farm this week for $60 per acre.

John Baker and daughter Carrie and Fred Roeber went to Bloomfield today to visit the former's son, John F. Baker, who has been ill for a long time.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sebald were in justice Feather's court yesterday, charged with creating a nuisance in the west part of town by refusing to clear away a pile of manure and refuse. K. McBeth, a neighbor, was the complaining witness, and Atty. Berry appeared for defendant and City Atty. Davis for the town. Squire Feather, at the conclusion of the hearing, held Mr. Sebald guilty as charged and discharged the wife. Sebald took an appeal to the district court and will fight the stench ordinance to the bitter end.

The Baptist church people will have a basket picnic at Bressler's grove the 4th.

The commissioners will finish up business today as a board of equalization, settling about one hundred protests. There has not been so much kicking on high assessments as upon the unequal and in some cases ridiculous manner in which the assessors estimated the value of property. The hardest kickers in the bunch are political friends of County Assessor Ziegler, and it certainly looks as though Jake had gone out of his way to sock it to the fellows who elected him, and given the other side the best of it.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Mahorn were visitors from Carroll Wednesday. They are going to move to Wayne next fall, occupying their home east of the college.

More Fast Ones At Woodland
The colony of race horses at Woodland park has been supplemented by a fine lot of trotters and pacers from Nebraska. In the car which was loaded at the park was the finest Strain string from Wayne, Mac Miller's string from Wayne, and the horse owned by Walter Vail, of Norfolk, who is 71 years of age and known as "P." Vail.

The Strain horses were in charge of the popular and well known driver Jimmy Hurst, who has worked successfully for Mr. Strain, a harness and brooder of fast horses for nearly ten years. Consistently in his list of horses was the good sire and champion, Union Medium, jr., with a trotting mark of 2:15 1/2, passed after a victorious race. The mark was taken in the fifth heat.

Another good horse in this string is Minnie Herr, a daughter of Union Medium, jr., but unlike her sire she is a pacer, and a good one. Last year she started in Sioux City at the fall races in the 2:35 pace, winning the second money. After this she was found close up in heats around 2:16 and not once was she behind the money during her first season out. Much is expected of her this year, and as she is in fine form she probably will be able to give a good account of herself.

Another good one in charge of Trainer Hurst is Little Rebel, a 3-year-old pacer. The others are a couple of 2-year-olds and two 3-year-olds, all sired by Union Medium jr.

Mr. Mac Miller has Tammany Trot a green trotter; a 3-year-old trotter by Lockheart, which is entered in the 3-year-old futurity at Des Moines; a 3-year-old trotter by Union Medium jr., dam by Dictator and another youngster by Lockheart.

"Pa" Vail has got two green ones. The old man was greatly pleased with Woodland park. Jimmy Hurst, who has known Vail for years, says he is the kindest trainer he ever saw sitting on a bike. The old man loves his horses, and nothing is too good for them.—Sioux City Journal.

Why we Teach the Remington Typewriter

When a stenographer applies for a position, one of the questions usually asked is, "What machine do you operate?" An employer will not be particularly interested in the system of shorthand you write, but he will usually own a Remington, and want a Remington operator.
Remington Typewriters are in widest use, therefore Remington operators are in greatest demand.

Norris Interviewed

Sioux City Journal.

"The average newspaper reporter would find great food for stories in the Philippine courts," laughingly declared Judge W. F. Norris, of Capiz, Panay island, the judge of the district court established there on the occupation of the island by the Americans.

"We have stories every day that would be world sensations if they should have happened in the parent country. But we are so far away from the influence of daily papers that a reporter would feel lonesome in our sessions."

Judge Norris is now visiting friends in Sioux City after an absence of five years in the Philippines. He was formerly county judge of Wayne county, Nebr., and with his wife and daughter is enjoying a six months' vacation in the United States.

"Our courts, I am afraid, would not look good to the American lawyer," continued the judge, "yet we manage to dispense justice in a way never before known in the islands. The court is the whole thing, there is no jury even in criminal cases where capital punishment is meted out. During my five years' experience in the islands I have sentenced to death at least six prisoners."

"The proceedings of the court are carried on in Spanish. According to the old custom it demands two interpreters, a court reporter and myself. The testimony taken is nearly all in the native tongue. This is interpreted into Spanish by an interpreter and recorded by the reporter. Then an interpreter sits at my side and translates the testimony to me."

"The code of the Philippine courts is the old Spanish penal code and is very severe in most cases. The death penalty can be established in many instances. Those offenses against chastity can be dismissed at any time by the forgiveness of the woman injured. I recall the first case of that kind that I had. Antonio was on trial and a young brown skinned girl named Loro was the witness. The first question which the opposing counsel asked was: 'Loro, do you forgive Antonio?' She said she would, and the principals marched out of court. It took me some time to understand the procedure."

"Nearly all of our lawyers are natives and are looked up to by the common populace. They are shrewd and bright and never object in the least to any motion or any evidence presented. They take things as they come and overload the court with motions and counter motions. They are admitted to the bar by an examination held before an American commissioner and two native lawyers named for the purpose."

"Yes, we have sensational cases; at least you would call them so in America," said the judge in response to a question. "We had in our province a short time ago where a man came home, killed his wife, his daughters, his servants and three fighting cocks with his bolo. He came before me and was sentenced to death by the garrote, an instrument which strangles the victim and which at the same time pierces the spine with a sharp steel, thus killing the victim by touching the spinal cord. I deem it a more humane method of execution than the modern hanging."

"In our district is a bandit named Om-Pong, who only a short time ago killed thirteen women near Capiz in order that his daughter, who recently died might have company to the great beyond. When I left the island the native constabulary was hunting for the murderer. How would you like that for a story to write?"

The reporter admitted he wished those things would happen closer to home for newspaper purposes.

Judge Norris and family are the only American residents of Capiz save for a few American custom officers and a few of the military officials who hold government positions. According to Judge Norris the insurrection is dead and the few encounters which now occur are with roving banditti similar to those in Italy. The climate has agreed with the judge, and he enjoys his work in the islands.

Has Reached His Level.

Sexton Hefti resigned his job at the cemetery, on Wednesday, J. L. Davis taking the position. After a couple of years residence in Lakeside, Washington, Mr. Davis will find his job in the graveyard a decidedly lively occupation.—Wayne, (Neb.) Democrat.

The above item was handed in by a subscriber. It appears to have been "inspired" by the man Davis mentioned in it and who has at last landed in the cemetery where it would seem that he ought to have been planted ere he usurped space in otherwise uncontaminated ozone of Lake Chelan, Washington. It has been our observation aforesaid that it just about takes a mean omery cuss who is Jack of all trades and a failure at everything and generally too lazy to hurt when he has the toothache, to visit this northwest country and half-starve around awhile and then drift back home to Nebraska or somewhere else and heap vile abuse upon the community he best by leaving it. If the Democrat finds any comfort in publishing such rot from such a source it is welcome to it, and it is hoped that Lakeside's wiffler may long hold down his "Hefti" job. If any one in Wayne wants further information let them write to any reputable citizen of Lakeside, Wash.

There must be something radically wrong with the Lake Chelan country when its newspaper is so easily "quered" by a joke. The cemetery item was not inspired by Mr. Davis, but simply by every report that has ever reached Nebraska from the reputable Wayne localities who moved out there, some of the best of whom have been helped by subscriptions from their old friends here. When Charley Johnson went out to Lake Chelan he had enough wealth to start the creation of a good house, but he has been slowly losing out, and now, nearly a quarter of a century later, the house is still uncompleted. The Lake Chelan country may be all right to catch suckers from some other time than this section of Nebraska.

COLLEGE NOTES.

Miss Rotherham of Platte county, Miss Murphy of Cuming county, Mr Hathaway of Pierce county enrolled this week.

Several students will spend the 4th at their homes. Some will bring friends with them on their return for last half of the term.

Rev Duley was at chapel on Tuesday. After the exercises, he made a helpful talk to the students. He is the first preacher of the term to meet the new students.

Mr John Powers of the Teachers' class has received notice from the school board at that he has been elected for position of principal. He will fill the place well.

The parliamentary law class which meets in the chapel at 1 o'clock on Saturdays is largely attended and is proving very valuable for the teachers who attend.

The Model school is proving more popular with the students each week. The attendance of students for observation has doubled this week. Good work is being done in each grade.

Mr Ellis of Osmond spent Sunday at the college. He spent one summer here as a student some years ago. He is a strong school man and engaged for the vacation period in selling books.

Several former students spent Saturday and Sunday visiting friends here. Among the number were Miss Blackstone of Pilger, Mr Lockwood of Pohe, Mr Ferguson of Hartington and Miss Johnson of Warnersville.

Supt F C Marshall of Knox county came down Wednesday and visited till Thursday evening. He saw many of his college friends and former classmates. All were pleased to meet him. He was a member of last years class.

Forty one students will receive diplomas from the Teachers' and Scientific courses and thirty nine will receive state certificates. Eight of the class are Wayne county students, six are from SD, and one from Oklahoma. The classes average attendance here is 77 weeks. The longest attendance of any member is 180 week and the shortest 40.

The programs for Commencement week are in the printer's hands. The following is the order of the exercises: August 5, Literary Society; August 6, Class Orations; August 7, Baccalaureate services and the Y W C A and Y M C A services; August 8, 9, 10, Class Orations; August 11, Graduating exercises; August 12, Alumni day. Splendid programs will be given all the week.

Hundreds of catalogues and circulars are being sent out to teachers' institutes and prospective students. The outlook is for a strong enrollment this fall. Many will enter for the completion of a course which entitles to a state certificate. The Scientific class will be much larger than it has heretofore been. Never were prospects so bright as now.

5 or 10 year optional loans.

ROOSEVELT AT THE FAIRBANKS CONVENTION

Great Enthusiasm for the President When His Name Is Presented.

ADDRESS BY GOV. BLACK

Beveridge, Knight, Cotton and Others Second the President's Name.

IOWAN NAMES FAIRBANKS

Senator Dooliver Makes the Address Which Is Followed by the Nomination of Indiana Man for the Vice Presidency.

Chicago, June 23.—The republican national convention met at 10 o'clock this morning with the expectation of nominating the candidates and adjourning in time for the afternoon trains.

Black, of New York, Beveridge, of Florida, Knight, of California, and others, of Georgia, Cotton, of Minnesota, Cummings, of Maryland, and others, of Illinois, were chosen to entertain and stir feelings and excitement and faith in the candidates they should nominate or second.

When Beveridge concluded there was another demonstration, but order was restored by the speaker, chosen from California, was then introduced to second the nomination of Roosevelt.

When Knight made a hit. When Knight said that every man should have liberty to work and to make his home, the convention cheered.

JAPANESE FORCES EXPECTED TO ENTER KAI CHAU AND THEN OCCUPY NEW CHWANG.

IS LITTLE OPPOSITION

Russians Have Fallen Back and Latest Report States They Are Entrenching at Site of Ancient Chwang.

Newchwang, June 28.—An Associated Press courier who has been out three days returned last night and reports that Japanese scouts were seen ten miles southwest of Kai Chau yesterday.

Information from private Russian sources indicates that the Russians have only a few pieces of field artillery between Liao Yang and Kai Chau.

A Chinaman who is known to the Associated Press correspondent as a Japanese agent, says that the Japanese are looking for Kai Chau and expect a battle near Ta Toke Kiao. If victorious they will place troops in Newchwang immediately.

The Foo, June 21.—Chinese arriving here report that the Japanese army is within seven miles of Kai Ping, and that the Russians have fallen back to Yamchiatan, just north of Kai Ping, where gunboats will not be so effective.

They also report that the Russians are being driven back from the city of Chwang north of the port of Newchwang.

Thirty officers of the Red Cross society went to Kai Ping and purchased medicine and comforts for the sick.

Liao Yang, June 28.—Reports of fighting between the advance guard regiments are continually coming in. The battles are indecisive, but they are being fought more regularly on each front. This is corroborated by official dispatches.

Tatehino, (between Kai Chau and Hal Cheng) June 23.—Delayed.—The Japanese forces are now between Fort Arthur and the whole main portion of the population is under arms. The women are assisting in the work of completing the defenses.

St. Petersburg, June 25.—An unauthenticated report from the Viedomosti today as declaring that it is the eve of a great battle, adding that Kuropatkin is moving to meet Oku, and that he will dispose of before Oku arrives.

St. Petersburg, June 25.—The army figures that the forces of Oku and Kuroki, when combined, will constitute a force of 138,000 men, 138,000 artillery.

Work on the Baltic squadron deeded by the Chinese fleet was pushed with redoubled vigor night and day.

Russians Can't Believe It. New Chwang, June 28.—The Russians seem unable to reform their plan which has been upset by Kuroki, and they are now in a state of confusion.

The field telegraph between Kai Chau and New Chwang is broken. The wire is cut in three places last night and five miles of wire carried away. It is apparently the work of the Chinese in the night.

London, June 28.—The Japanese legation this afternoon received a Tokio dispatch announcing that the detachment of the Japanese army, under the command of General Kuroki, had been surprised and routed a squadron of Russian cavalry ten miles northwest of the town of Liao Yang.

The Platform

Text of the Declaration Which the Republicans Will Stand in the Coming Campaign.

Fifty years ago the republican party came into existence, dedicated among other purposes, to the great task of extending the extension of the right of suffrage. In 1850 it elected its first president. During twenty-four of the forty-four years which have elapsed since that time the republican party has held complete control of the government. For eighteen more of the forty-four years it has held partial control through possession of one or two branches of the government; while the democratic party during the same period has held complete control for only two years.

This long tenure of power by the republican party is not due to chance. It is a demonstration that the republican party has commanded the confidence of the American people for two generations to a degree never equaled in our history, and has developed a high capacity for self-government, which has been made even more conspicuous, by the incapacity and infirmity of purpose shown by its opponents.

The republican party entered upon its present period of complete supremacy in 1897. It has not only congratulated itself upon the work since then accomplished, for it has endeavored to make the most of the party which carried the government through the storm of the civil war. We then found the country, after years of anarchy, in a deplorable plight, oppressed with misfortune, doubtful of the future. The public credit was sinking, the treasury declining, debt growing, the administration's attitude towards Spain was feeble and mortifying, the standard of living was falling, and the unemployed labor was unemployed, business sunk in the depression which had succeeded the panic of 1893, hope was faint and confidence gone.

We met these unhappy conditions vigorously and bravely at once. We replaced a democratic tariff law based on free trade principles and garnished with sectional protection, by a new and better protective tariff, and industry, freed from oppression, and stimulated by the removal of tariff laws, has expanded to a degree never before known, and has conquered new markets and created new opportunities which has surpassed the imagination.

Under the Dingley tariff labor has been fully employed, wages have risen, and all industries are prospering.

We firmly established the gold standard, which was then menaced with destruction. Confidence returned to the market, and the currency was ampled properly. For deficient revenues supplemented by improvident taxation, we have reduced the national debt, which produced a large surplus and enabled us, only four years after the Spanish war had closed, to pay over $100,000,000 of the annual war taxes, reduced the public debt, and lower the interest charge of the government. We have also reduced the public debt, and lower the interest charge of the government.

We refuse to pull longer with the misery of Cuba. We fought a quick and victorious war with Spain. We set Cuba free, and we have established a republic and then gave it to the Cuban people with order restored, with ample revenues, and public health established and the people now enjoying peace and freedom, order and prosperity.

In the Philippines we have suppressed insurrection, established order and given to life and property a security never known before. We have organized a civil government and made it an effective and strong administration, and have given to the people of those islands the largest liberty they have ever enjoyed.

By our possession of the Philippines we were enabled to take prompt and effective action in relation to the Panama Canal, and a decisive part in preventing the partition and preserving the integrity of the continent.

The possession of a route for an isthmian canal, connecting the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, is now an accomplished fact, and the great work of connecting the Pacific and Atlantic by canal has at last begun, and is now in the hands of the republican party.

We have passed laws which will bring the arid lands of the United States within the area of cultivation.

We have reorganized the army and put it in the highest shape of efficiency. We have passed laws for the improvement and maintenance of our public lands, and have forwarded the building of the navy for defense and protection of our honor and interests.

Our administration of the great department of the government has been honest and efficient, and has not hesitated to probe the pockets of the corrupt and to restore justice without regard to party or political ties.

Laws enacted by the republican party, which the democratic party failed to enforce, and which were intended for the protection of the public against the unscrupulous and the protection of the property of vast aggregations of capital have been fearlessly enforced by a republican president, and new laws ensuring reasonable and just conditions for the great corporations and providing additional remedies for the prevention of discrimination in freight rates, have been passed by a republican congress. In this record of achievements, during the past eight years may be read the pledges which the republican party has fulfilled.

We propose to continue these policies and we declare our constant adherence to the following principles:

Protection which guards and develops industry, and which is in the interest of the republican party. The measure of protection should always at least equal the difference between the cost of production at home and abroad. We insist upon maintenance of the principles of protection, and therefore the rates of duty should be reduced only when it can be shown that the public interest demands their alteration. But this work cannot be accomplished by the republican party, and it is therefore proposed that the republican party should be able to read the pledges which the republican party has fulfilled.

Harold Richards Dead. Waterloo, Ia., June 24.—Harold, the well known Iowa newspaper correspondent, died last night at Trenton, N. J., aged 19, of pneumonia, following measles. The body will arrive here Sunday for burial.

Isthmus Gets Dingley Blessing. Washington, June 24.—Secretary Taft today announced that he had approved the Dingley act as to tariff rates applicable to the canal strip on the Isthmus of Panama and providing for establishment of post-offices on the strip.

Total of Dead Recovered From Slocum. New York, June 27.—A federal grand jury met on the general Slocum. By that time the coroner's inquest will have been concluded.

Head the Shooting That Was Going on at Port Arthur. Chetov, June 27.—The shooting at Port Arthur last night and tonight. The booming of big guns was distinctly heard here tonight. Eighteen Japanese transports are being sent west along the Korean coast.

Another Battle Story. Tokyo, June 25.—A portion of the Japanese troops at Taku Shan today, two engagements on Thursday. They were surprised by a force of 3,000 men of Cosaks posted at Hsien Chia, ten miles northwest of Santa Okon, on the coast of the Korean peninsula. The battle of Va Fangow took 2,786 men.

The Sioux City ball team is at the top of the list—reading from the south.

W. J. Bryan thinks that the reason Russle Sage never took vacation was because he always took everything else.

It looks as though the republican boast in 1900, of "four years more of the full dinner pail," was about all there is in it.

Russell Sage says time is more valuable than money. Old Russ has lots of money but it won't make his short time on earth yet any longer.

A bust of Mr. Bryan is being made in New York, and the Kansas City Journal says that one will be made of his platform in St. Louis. Yes, and it will probably be draped in gold crepe.

When a democrat changes political front and becomes a republican for two weeks to make him eligible to a republican president's cabinet, it is conclusive evidence that the democratic party has had some good men in it.

Congressman Burkett of Nebraska evidently believes in the double standard. He is running for two offices at once—congressman and senator—and the chances are 16 to 1 that he will not get either.—Commoner

Well, if it is "16 to 1" Burkett's chances are good that he will be elected to both.

A Columbus man discontinued taking the Telegram because that newspaper made the statement that the subscriber promised to be good. There is nothing peculiar about that. If the people round here thought this Democrat was going to be good ins'ead of careful, a whole lot of nice people would quit reading it.

The Commoner says, and the Commoner ought to know that: "Three years of Roosevelt has cost the country $882,000,000 more than four years of Cleveland, notwithstanding the fact that four years of Cleveland cost the country about $300,000,000 more than it would have cost had Cleveland not played into the hands of the gold gamblers."

Over in Indiana a few nights ago a dance was opened with prayer by the pastor of the Methodist church. The members of the club are also members of the church. The pastor and other members of the church, were in attendance, and had authority to stop the fun if it became in their eyes unseemly. The accounts indicate that everything went off satisfactorily, at least the dance was not stopped. We may soon hear of jackpots being opened with prayer in Indiana.

Judging from the following item from the Ewing Advocate they do raise something out in the sand hills:

This is the way John Neckolzak enjoys life. Last Friday he was tried in the county court of Holt county for being too familiar with Miss Pauline Vandernick. But his wife did not want John to go to jail, neither did Pauline, so they both were uncomplaining, occupying the same room and bed at the hotel, each with her baby. They both acted as though they thought life was worth living and that John was the best fellow on earth. Are there no single men out on Cache Creek who want to get married?

Cured of Chronic Diarrhoea After Ten Years of Suffering.

"I wish to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Mrs. Mattie Burge, of Martinsville, Va. "I suffered from chronic diarrhoea for ten years and during that time tried various medicines without obtaining any permanent relief. Last summer one of my children was taken with cholera morbus, and I procured a bottle of this remedy. Only two doses were required to give her entire relief. Then I decided to try the medicine myself, and did not use all of one bottle before I was well and never since been troubled with that complaint. One cannot say too much in favor of this wonderful medicine." This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

Under G. O. P. Tariff Laws

The Des Moines (Ia.) Capital, a republican paper, says: "While democrats are making promises of the wonderful things their party will do if given a chance, republicans will take delight in reading excerpts from the history of the last Grover Cleveland administration, which under a program of tariff-ringing and revolutionary economic reform, banks closed their doors, factory wheels ceased to turn and headquarters of Associated Charities became the chief centers of public activity. In unnumbered ways will the truth be made plain to the voting masses that a democratic tariff has always been followed by business reverses; a republican tariff by business prosperity. Upon the truth of that utterance the republican party is ready and eager to meet the opposition."

The great panic of 1893 was under a republican tariff law.

The panic during the Cleveland regime was at its height in 1893. The McKinley law was in effect until August, 1894. So it will be seen that "banks closed their doors, factory wheels ceased to turn and headquarters of the Associated Charities became the chief centers of public activity" under the republican tariff law which took effect October 6, 1890, and expired August, 1894.—World Herald.

Monopoly.

Omaha, Neb., June 22.—To the editor of the World Herald: The Nebraska State Journal in its issue of Tuesday refers to Secretary Shaw's prayer: "May the good lord preserve us from another period of cheap living expenses," and to the democratic "bellow for lower prices." The writer does not happen to be a democrat, but a Cummings republican, and it seems to us there are such things as abnormally high prices and abnormally low prices and that there is nothing to develop a little later on an abnormally low price, like an extraordinary high one. We think the coal situation in Oklahoma and Northern Texas would fill the secretary's prayer to overflowing with doxologies. A few months ago in a hotel at Sherman, Tex., some reference was made to the cost of electric lights and we asked what coal they used and what it cost them. We were told that they used McAlester coal (a good soft coal mined 110 miles from Sherman) and that when they had one railroad running into Sherman the retail price was $3.75 a ton, and that now with seven railroads they paid $7.50 a ton.

We thought that they must be receiving nearly the full benefits of all the economies of the elimination of crop freights, too numerous salaries and wasteful competition. A little later at Ardmore, I. T. we were told that they paid the same price for coal that was but forty miles distant. A little later at Chickasha, I. T., we picked up a blotter, on the front of which was: The McAlester Fuel Co., exclusive selling agents for the Osage Coal and Mining company, Choctaw Oklahoma and Gulf Railroad company, McAlester Coal & Coke company, Missouri, Kansas & Texas Coal company, Mexican Gulf Coal & Transfer company, Black Diamond Coal & Coke company, Turkey Creek Coal company Santa Bois Coal company, Oklahoma & Railway company. Capacity of mines 15,000 tons daily.

That blotter told the whole story of the advance from $3.75 to $7.50 on coal. A market was cornered and they had to pay fancy prices or go without. As the Pennsylvania coal barons say, "A man would not be a good merchant who sold coal for a lower price than he was compelled to." It is to be presumed that the coal men think one would be a poor housekeeper that would eat his food raw or allow his family to chill themselves into pneumonia rather than pay $7.50 a ton for soft coal. About a year ago, in the store of one of our customers in Seneca, Kas., two men met who apparently had not seen each other for some time. One asked the other, "How did you come out in your oil business at Beaumont?" The reply was: "We got all the oil we could ask for, but we found after the oil was loaded in cars its shipment was so obstructed in the interest of the Standard Oil company that there was nothing left for us to do but to sell them for whatever they would pay us." He went on to say that his experience at Beaumont was a good deal like his experience in Illinois. Some years ago he (amongst some others) owned considerable land out some fifteen miles from Pana, Ill. There was a heavy vein of coal there and it looked feasible to open mines there and make some money starting a new town. There land owners united and went to a large coal company and offered them free 1,200 acres of land, worth $40 an acre, if they would come there and open up mines with a certain specified output.

The coal company thought favorably of the proposition and sent men to investigate. Their report was that the proposition was all right, but they found the offices of the railroads over which they would have to ship were intended for other coal companies, and that there was no way to get their coal out, except to wagon it, and would not accept their bonus, worth $48,000. A member of the present congress has told us of a similar experience to himself, but we have never heard of his raising his voice to put a stop to such conditions. If we were asked to give a political battle cry, it would be "equal rights to use the railroads of the United States." We talk about our liberty, but in Europe all men are equal as shippers while in this country a man does business by permission of the officers of the railroads, while in heavy freight lines of merchandise the officers are often so interested in coal or grain or lumber companies in such a way as to obstruct the business of all rival shippers.

"A Delusion and a Snare"

(Omaha Bee)

The railroad association for the year 1904 has been completed and official certificates have been mailed to the various counties showing the exact assessment of railroad mileage. It is also announced officially that the Omaha terminal values were distributed on a mileage basis over each of the roads that converge in this city.

How much the Omaha railroad terminals were appraised for and how the distribution was made will forever remain a mystery. We don't even whether the most expert mathematician could figure out whether there has been any distribution of the railroad terminals. Take for example the terminals, deposits and depot grounds of the Burlington system at Omaha, that are all credited to the Omaha and Southwestern railroads. In 1903 that road was assessed for $6,500 per mile on its total mileage.

It was not even claimed last year that the Burlington terminals had been distributed over the Southwestern system, excepting in the imagination of the tax assessors. Assume that the $6,500 assessment for last year represented only one tenth of the true value of the road, not only could discover a dollar of distribution of terminal value in its assessment. This year the Omaha & Southwestern is assessed for $9,031 per mile, or an increase of $2,531 per mile, equal to $129,285, which multiplied by five represents an increase of $646,425, although the Burlington depot and terminals alone are worth anywhere from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000.

The pretended distribution on the Omaha & Southwestern stands moreover in marked contrast with the assessment of the Omaha & North Platte branch of the Burlington that runs out of the same station, but is not credited with any terminals. While the assessment of the Southwestern was increased $2,585 per mile that of the Omaha & North Platte, without terminals and without any chance of terminal distribution, was increased by $3000 per mile.

The distribution of the Union Pacific terminals is equally incalculable. The Union Pacific main line, on which the distribution was presumed to have taken place, is 467 miles long and the assessment in 1904 is $6,000 per mile, as against $9,900 for 1903, an increase of $3,900 per mile. The Union Pacific terminals in Omaha were estimated to be worth at least $75,000,000 ten years ago and today could not be duplicated for $200,000,000. At $18,000,000 distributed on a mileage basis, the Omaha terminals would represent $37,120 per mile for the entire main line, whereas the assessment for the year 1904 has only been increased by $6,100 per mile, on aggregate for the entire main line of $2,848,700. As a matter of fact the Union Pacific for its entire system in Nebraska—main line and branches—is capitalized at $100,000 a mile, and its earnings have been equal for the entire system to at least $80,000 per mile, which at one fifth would give $16,000 per mile so that the alleged distribution of terminal values in reality is a delusion and a snare just as it always has been.

Don't Monkey with Grimes

A Sidney saloon keeper had a case pending in the district court, and two of his bar tenders sent Judge Grimes a quart of whisky, presumably to soften his heart toward the saloon man. The judge did not accept it, but he handed the donors up and fined one of them fifty dollars and costs for contempt of court. Perhaps the lesson will do them some good, but more likely they are too obtuse to understand the lesson. Men who do not know better than to send a judge a present of that kind, or any other kind to influence his decision, do not know enough to take a hint nor appreciate a kick.—Yokig Times.

The above sounds very nice. It is a picture of a just and incorruptible judge, one who would lose his right hand before he would accept a quart of whisky from a man who had a case pending in his court.

But what did that same judge do to the railroad managers who sent him a railroad pass, which was worth one hundred times as much as the two quarts of whisky?

"Ah, but you say there is a difference between a railroad pass and a bottle of whisky. Yes, that's so; the pass costs more than the whisky but the deity committed by the one is about on par with the villainy of the other."

It has been well said that whisky has ruined the brightest brains of earth. Yes, and the political railroad pass has dwarfed and blighted the best minds that were ever called to judicial place and power.

The judge who would fine a poor bartender for presenting him a bottle of whisky while some friend had a case pending in court, is a moral and every kind of a coward unless at the same time court he should fine or imprison the railroad political agent who gave him a valuable pass while the railroad company had a case pending before the court.

Judges reason along strange lines some times. And it must be the devil's own line of reasoning that will lead the judge of a court to fine a bartender for offering him a bottle of whisky, and at the same time welcome to his own home and family circle the railroad lawyer who presents him a little piece of pastebord, worth all the way from one hundred to five hundred dollars.

Let us look for a moment at the moral side of these political passes which our judges are carrying in their pockets. The Telegram wants to be fair with the judges. We do not charge that all of them have been bribed by the passes in their pockets. Perhaps some of them can carry the passes and still do the fair thing as between the railroad company and a fresh and blood citizen who has a case in court. But let us put the shoe on the other foot, and see how it will fit.

Several railroad cases are pending in the district court at the first of the year. Early in January the judge of the court receives from the political department of the railroads which run through his district annual passes, good for the ensuing year over the various railroads. Perhaps each pass may be worth to the judge a sum of money equal to five hundred dollars. A farmer has a heavy damage suit pending in court against a railroad company. Shortly before the opening day of court the farmer drives to the home of the judge and delivers to him a beautiful span of carriage horses.

GOOD SPIRITS!

Good spirits don't all come from Kentucky. Their main source is the liver—and all the fine spirits ever made in the Blue Grass State could not remedy a bad liver or the hundred and one ill effects it produces. You can't have good spirits and a big liver at the same time. Your liver must be in fine condition if you would feel buoyant, happy and hopeful, bright of eyes, light of step, vigorous and successful in your pursuits. You can put your liver in fine condition by using Green's Liver Flower—the greatest of all medicines for the liver and stomach and a certain cure for dyspepsia or indigestion. It has been a favorite household remedy for over thirty-five years. August Flower will make your liver healthy and active and thus insure you a liberal supply of "good spirits." Trial size 25c; regular bottle, 75c. At all druggists.
