Am I Right?

For fifteen years I have catered to the public, a dispenser of the best wines, whiskies, brandies and beers that can be bought in the markets. Have tried to please every patron, and respected every man who has been too good for the saloon but has gotten his liquors elsewhere. Now we have put up every tribute exacted--and they have been excessive--by town and state, and feel like asking the people who use intoxicants to patronize the place that deserve your trade so long as we give you only the best goods at the lowest prices. Ten or fifteen per cent of every dollar you spend at my place goes to educate your children and to pay for public improvements. From a moral standpoint this may seem like a peculiar condition of affairs, but it is what the people voted for--don't blame the saloon-keeper for it. Well, this is a long speech for me to make, so come in and take something--on a tin roof.

Rev. and Mrs. Neely left Tuesday morning for St. Louis where they will visit the fair before returning to their home in the far east.

Prof. W. J. McCoy, after a couple of days visit with Wayne friends, departed Tuesday for Salt Lake City. Mr. McCoy is one of those good, wholesome, well-kept men, without an iota of egotism or false pride in their make-up, and how he has passed the forty year mile past without the aid and consent of some queenly woman is a conundrum we can't unravel. Come and see us again, professor, and bring "her" with you.

Buy Bell's coffees and get a good drink.

GANDY.

Ollie E. Bird and Postmaster Baker of Carroll arrived home from Bonesteel Tuesday morning. After looking over what was left to please numbers in the nine-hundred row Mr. Bird decided he wanted none of the Rosebud in his. Mr. Baker thinks he has a very good claim, filing about the 440th claim. He located in the western part of the reservation, and says McCormack, the man who got first choice, didn't come near getting the best farm owing to his failure to look the land over first.

WAYNE DRUG CO

A distressing accident happened at the DRMOCKAP home Monday morning a boiler of hot water being poured into a bath tub, and the tub falling over engulfed the baby in the flood. As happens in such cases one little shoe was tied in a knot and by the time a knife had been found to cut the string a little foot was quite badly cooked. Then it took over half an hour by telephone, to get a doctor--did you ever know a physician to hurry--giving the little tot an hour of terrific suffering.

'Tis said a bottle and a glass will make a person mellow, But Rocky Mountain Tea's the drink That lives up a fellow.

P. L. Miller suffered a serious fall last Friday evening, being thrown out of the delivery wagon. The accident happened at Jas. Miller's residence and four doctors were phoned in hopes of getting one in a hurry. Dr. Niemann was last of the four to report owing to his corporeity and going to the P. L. Miller home by mistake. When P. L. returned to consciousness all four of the medicines were lined up around his couch, which was sorely enough to make him faint again. A few bad bruises and jarring were all the injuries consisted of.

Died, at the home of his son at Carroll, Neb., Monday, August 15, Warren Closson, aged 70 years. Deceased was a veteran of the civil war and it was in the service of his flag that he contracted the disease that led to his death. Surviving Mr. Closson are seven children, Mrs. I. J. Clark, E. W. Closson and Warren Closson of Carroll, W. H. Closson of Dixon, Neb., E. Closson of Omaha, Neb., Chas. E. Closson of Waterloo, Iowa, and Richard Closson of Webster City, Iowa. The funeral services were held at the home in Carroll Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock and were conducted by Rev. C. S. Hughes. Interment at Harlan, Iowa.

J. W. Toombs went to Waterloo, Iowa, Wednesday where he yesterday attended the wedding of his son, Frank L. Toombs, to Miss Grace Vinton, a former teacher in the Wayne schools. Their many friends will be delighted to learn of their happy marriage and wish them joy and prosperity.

Dr. Leisenring left Wednesday morning for Chicago where he bought a new automobile, one of the latest and best makes. The "red devil" the doctor so badly scared the natives with was sold to a doctor at Wausa ten days ago. Dr. Leisenring is certainly an enthusiastic autogist and a good patron for the factories, this being his third purchase in a year.

There is no mystery about Mystic flour. It makes the wife happy to bake with it and fills the inner man with contentment. Phone P. L. Miller & Son for a sack.

Dentist Eells went up to South Dakota Wednesday morning to buy a farm instead of filing on his 892 number in the Rosebud country. The doctor has figured it out that his big luck in the grand graft was only a disappointment. At the time he got the good news parties at Bonesteel wrote him the claim was worth $2700, but like the $10000 that was to be paid for the "first choice" it turned out to be good for less than the proverbial 30 cents. Here is one place we fellows in the 50000 column came out ahead--suffered only one pang of grief, while the "lucky ones" lost thousands (?) of dollars (?).

Mrs. G. H. Albers died at her home northeast of Wisner in the edge of Wayne county last Wednesday morning from an attack of pneumonia. The funeral took place yesterday, the services being conducted by Rev. Fred Fugitt at the German Lutheran church north of town of which she was a member. She leaves a husband and six children to mourn their great and irreparable loss. Her death casts a shadow of sorrow over the community where she was loved and esteemed as a friend and neighbor.

Dr. H. Pritchard sold his residence property consisting of a block of ground on the heights in the east part of town to M. A. Nye, another prosperous farmer residing between Wisner and Pender. Mr. Nye pays $4,750 for his new home. He will come to town next spring, one object of his change being to secure for his children the advantages of our excellent schools. Mr. Nye is a good citizen and will be accorded a hearty welcome to Wisner.

He expects to go into business in town and live on the farm for the full five years, and that Robert Uter of Norfolk contemplated doing the same thing.

One of our stores is advertising "bargains in hammocks." Bargains are at all time attractive, but there are other things to put in hammocks that have greater drawing qualities.

The Norfolk News is the most cheerful liar in existence. It says: "The New York Sun, formerly a champion of Bryan, has come out for Roosevelt and Fairbanks," which is about as bad as the local papers hereabouts referring to the Winside Tribune as a democratic sheet.

Talk about your newspaper "scraps," there has never taken place in Wayne county anything to compare with the row of a year's duration among the Schuyler papers. Editor Sprecher of the Free Lance devotes more than two pages of his good space to sticking it into the other fellows in last week's edition. It's the rottenest kind of rot, boys; "cut it out."

"Just imagine we were living under a democratic administration," says a Wayne county man who will not vote for either Parker or Roosevelt, "wouldn't these republican spell-binders go clear up in the air over the strikes, markets and dull times?" Why, in seventeen years I have never known business to be so poor in our town of Winside." These statements are undoubtedly correct, but the election of either Parker or Roosevelt isn't going to make good times. It is all a case of which the east wants of the two sound money corporations easterners, and judging from the praise of the metropolitan, republican press, and the "money interests" that are coming to Parker's rescue, it looks decidedly murky as though the democracy would, as in the days of Cleveland's last term of office, be to blame for all the profligacy, graft and extravagance of eight years of republican ism.

It's just about thirty years ago, I recollect reading in the Sioux City Journal, a peculiar dream a boy had, in that he had grown to be an old man and had lived a miserable and useless life. So realistic did it appear to the boy that when he awoke he was full of fear and misgivings as to his future, and the article went on to state that his parents were going to try to make a different man of him, and he was going to do what he could to help them.

High grade dental work at reasonable charges

We'd like to hear from that "kid" now, if the story wasn't a "kid," and if the old Sioux City Journal files were gone over the name could be found and it could be ascertained whether or not dreams come true—for its only a "dream" since the story was published.

A dispatch from Galveston, Texas, says that mosquitos on one of the southern Texas roads have used the temporary suspension of train service. The train men are unable to perform their duties as it is impossible to run an engine with a tender behind.

King Edward's fad of creasing the pants on the east and west as well as the north and south sides does not seem to strike Americans favorably. At any rate the fad has not reached Wayne and so far as I have heard the ladies are quite generally opposed to it.

An exchange wants to know if cigars are going to be cheaper because cabages are worth only 10 cents a doz. Well, the cigars will probably not change much, be 5 scenters and 10 scenters, or sick stinkers for a quarter.

The Cherokee Democrat rises to remark that the prayers of his subjects and a liberal use of Lydia Pinkham's Favorite Prescription have at last brought a son and heir to the czar.

When Adam awoke just at dusk and saw his third floating rib standing before him in the form of a beautiful female (the very one of his dream attired not in choice raiment, but wearing simply a smile and a fig leaf, he did not get fresh and say, "Good morning, Carrie!" He just bowed very polite-like to the lady and said, "Good Eve, will you be my wife?" She said, "I don't care Adam." And so she acquired the name "Eve" and he is called "Adam."—A floater, author unknown.

Notwithstanding the stork has been kept real busy in Wayne the past few months the indications are that he, she or it, isn't anywhere near through yet.

The "400" have tumbled to something new for amusement, and it is said to be more fun than a whole box of monkeys. It is an "igorrote" party in which the guests appear dressed with a towel about their loins, and eat exclusively of sausage which they call dog. An exchange, in commenting on this fashionable digression from civilized decency, remarks that "of course they have something to chase the dog."

P. E. McKillip, while in this democratic den yesterday, related that after Geo. W. Berge had been nominated for governor, a Douglas county republican was bemoaning the choice, stating that the republicans of his bailiwick were over anxious to wipe Mickey off the political map, but he didn't see how they could do it now with Berge, for said he "that man has no vices; what appeal can you make to Douglas county?"

It was at some recent public doings at Fremont that Gov. Mickey had been invited to make an address. Towards the close of a very successful entertainment and after the governor guest had made all the speech that was becoming of him to make, another Lincoln guest who had more than enjoyed himself, arose and in a hearty manner invited the Fremontites to Lincoln to enjoy themselves Decoration day; that he had not been instructed to extend such invitation, but he knew it would meet with a hearty second from the people of his town. Then the little governor jumped to his feet and in a long twangling, whining tale deplored the fact of any such suggestion as his townsman had made, that Decoration day was made for a day of prayer, etc. and not for enjoyment of the decorators, etc., etc. Just as the governor finally touched his chair a man jumped up and yelled: "Move we adjourn!" "Second the motion!" came from another disgruntled listener, and the audience dispersed. "But," said the gentleman who related the incident to the DEMOCRAT, "the governor was not at all perturbed over the rebuke he got. Bump him! I guess not! Mickey's magnificent abundance of egotism is simply impenetrable."

A crowd of men were discussing the nominees for county attorney, one day this week, when one party made the assertion that F. M. Skeen was entitled to the job, as he was not only the oldest legal light in the village, but the people of Wayne county had always elected the poorest candidate from a legal standpoint, to attend their lawsuits. Just then candidate Frank Berry walked up and the above proposition, with the emphasis on "the poorest attorney," put to him. Frank looked a "brown study" for a moment and then ejaculated: "Oh, I don't know about that!"

"The other day, little boys and girls, I was riding on a street car. The conductor came to collect fare from me. I handed him a nickel, and because it was nearing eight he mistook it for a quarter. So he handed me 20 cents in change. Now, I might of kept that 20 cents; the conductor would never have known he lost it when he came to checking us. No one would ever have known—but God. God would have known it, and I remembered that and cheerily handed the conductor back the 20 cents. I am sure the Lord will reward me. And he will reward all of you, if you will always remember that he is watching and he honest."—Gov. Mickey.

Did you buy anything on wheat? Mr. and Mrs. Fay Payne and son were down from Laurel to enjoy the picnic yesterday.

A Warning to Mothers
Too much care cannot be used with small children during the hot weather of the summer months to guard against bowel troubles. As a rule it is only necessary to give the child a dose of castor oil to correct any disorder of the bowels. Do not use any substitute, but give the old fashioned castor oil, and see that it is fresh, as rancid oil nauseates and has a tendency to gripe. If this does not check the bowels give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and then a dose of castor oil, and the disease may be checked in its incipency and all danger avoided. The castor oil and this remedy should be procured at once and kept ready for instant use as soon as the first indication of any bowel trouble appears. This is the most successful treatment known and may be relied upon with implicit confidence even in cases of cholera infantum. For sale by all druggists.

A Notable Indian Tribe

J. J. Deer, an Osage Indian from Saylor, I. T., has been at the Boyd Hotel the past week, being up here in quest of good news. Mr. Deer is a half wild as his name and face might indicate, but is a well dressed, well-informed gentleman of good address, being a graduate of Carleton college. While here he received notice from Washington that his allotment of $41,000 was being sent him by the government. In a talk with the Democrat Mr. Deer explained that there were about 500 members of his tribe, many of them like himself, almost white, which came through intermarriage with the whites. The government bought 16,000 acres of land from them at $18 per acre and also gave each one 280 acres, making them all rich people, as their land is very valuable, some of it being heavily timbered with walnut. This 16,000 acres is to be thrown open to settlement June 16, 1905, and according to the present program it is to be raced for, same as the Oklahoma reservation. Mr. Deer said all of it was the finest kind of land, and it would cost settlers either $18 or $20, and that there was one 160 acres adjoining his farm that he would like to buy at $11,000 cash. Practically the Osage Indians are all Bryan democrats. Mr. Deer had just paid Mr. and Mrs. Bryan a visit near Lincoln and was highly elated over the reception given him. A few years ago, he said, they were all republicans and strong McKinley men, but Roosevelt had attempted some small practice and unjust discriminations in the matter of their property, placing the tribe against him. Mr. Deer's father, chief of the tribe, Commissioner Hitchcock and two or three other high officials, recently visited the president to make him withdraw an order taking five acres of land from each Indian heir, and Roosevelt was compelled to reverse himself for fear of injuring his presidential aspirations this year.

The Picnic

A dark foggy morning did not lead to a picnic day yesterday morning and the attendance at the old settlers picnic was considerably less than a year ago, although the sun soon came out and it was a very pleasant day. Reed's band of twenty players was even better than on previous Wayne occasions, and Prof. Kratz of Omaha gave some fine selections with a grand chorus and quartet. Speeches by E. F. Burket and F. F. McKillop brought on the afternoon program, Mrs. Rachel Richardson one of Wayne's first settlers, and who preached the first sermon in the county, giving an interesting talk. Col. Frank Crane of near Wakefield was master of ceremonies, and R. B. Crawford, historian, delivered his annual address. The concert at the opera house in the evening was fine but the attendance greatly curtailed by the heavy wind about 7:30 o'clock.

The following is a list of the old settlers who have passed to the Great Beyond since the 1903 gathering:
Peter Kane died Oct. 26, 1903.
E. C. Brooks died Dec. 19, 1903.
Mrs. S. Slaughter died Dec. 6, 1903.
Ang. Nehring died Oct. 10, 1903.
S. H. McManis died Jan. 24, 1904.
Clas Holgren died Jan. 24, 1904.
Rev. Sam Jones died Feb. 17, 1904.
Christian Nelson died Mar. 18, 1904.
Mrs. S. S. Sahr died Apr. 22, 1904.
Mrs. E. C. Brooks died Apr. 24, 1904.
Eugene Sullivan died May 20, 1904.
John Halliday died June 8, 1904.
Perrin Long died June 9, 1904.
Geo. Rennick died June 12, 1904.
S. Larison died July 4, 1904.
Mrs. Marian Root died July 29, 1904.
Fred Thompson died Aug. 17, 1904.

Funeral of Fred Thompson

Neal Thompson has received word that the remains of his father, Fred Thompson, who died in Denmark, will reach Chicago tonight, and Agent Moran is unable to say whether they can reach Wayne tomorrow, Saturday evening, or Sunday. In case of the former the funeral will be held Sunday, and if the latter the services will be held on Monday.

The new phone line will probably change hands shortly, Mr. Bell figuring on disposing of the plant.

The Wayne Independent Telephone Co. requests anyone who has a claim against them to mail a statement to A. N. Mathews if they want to have all bills in by Sept. 1st.

Well, it's all right, the boys need a little experience before taking this most important step themselves.

There is some little talk of the Winside ladies organizing two base ball teams. What's the matter with that? The Boston Bloomer girls are headed this way again and perhaps a matched game can be arranged. The editor would like to play ball, she used to at school, "two old cat" and such, but she is afraid that "rheumatism" has injured her sprinting abilities.

Talks Sensible as to the Revenue Law.

(Seward Independent-Democrat)
There is being considerable talk concerning the new revenue law these days, and while it seems popular to denounce the law as a failure, yet this paper's willful to commend that which we are unwilling to commend in its entirety. There are features of the law that should be changed, and with these changes, if it is properly executed, it will be a fairly good law. The present law, however was drawn in the interests of the big corporations, and it is being demonstrated, in spite of their numerous kicks, that it is being executed in their favor. On the first page of this paper will be found an article showing that the railroads will pay less taxes in this county this year under the new revenue law than they did last year under the old one, while the farmers will pay more taxes this year under the new law than they did last year under the old one. Of course, the increase is not very large, but it pays the way for a still further increase in future years. The power of enforcing the revenue law equitably lies entirely with the state board of equalization, of which the governor is the head, and failure to enforce it properly must of necessity rest upon the members of this same board. For years it has been contended by populists, democrat and many republicans, that the railroads have not been paying their just taxes. If they have failed to pay their just share of taxes in the past, will they be paying it now under the new law when it is reduced? Hardly. The remedy remains with the people. If they walk up to the polls and vote 'em straight they may expect that there will be no improvement next year. But if they will walk up to the polls next November and vote for men who are pledged to remedy its defects as well as men who are pledged to enforce it equitably, then they may hope for relief. The republicans have placed their candidates in the field and as they are the same men who passed the law and are the same men who are enforcing it, but little relief can be expected at their hands. It remains to be seen whether or not the populists or democrats will offer anything better.

"Butted In"

Maybe Marye had a hard browed ram, as black as any crow and everywhere that Marye went the ram was sure to go.

It went with her to church one peaceful Sabbath day, and Marye thought it would behave in a religious way.

She wisely counseled it inroute and begged it to be good, and rammy shook his whiskerettes as if to say he would (not).

A deacon met them at the door and said it would be a sin to see a wicked beast at church, but rammy butted in.

The deacon got a plexus punch that stretched him on the floor, and the subsequent proceedings interested him no more.

The congregation rubbernecked with wide staring eyes, the superstitious thinking 'twas the devil in disguise.

A sister from her seat across—the fair would hence depart—but got a clug behind her back that almost broke her heart.

"I will expel the sinful brute!" cried Brother Pettigrew, but in his midst the rammy's brow was buried p. d. q.

A choir man threw a prayer stool to crush the warlike ram, and landed it with vigor on poor Marye's diaphragm.

The preacher said that kindness would subdue wild beasts and birds, moved forward toward the waiting pet with soft endearing words.

Then came a dull and sickening thud! The pastor, where was he? Geak! the sister in whose lap he lit ungracefully.

Deeper Than Ever

The attempt of the state board of assessors to make good the shortage imposed by the neglect of Douglas county to come to the front with a fair assessment by raising the rates upon counties that had honestly listed property at a fair valuation, is the bluntest way in which the Nebraska City News refers to it. All of them will have a pretext for doing it next year, and the situation from a revenue standpoint will be worse than ever. Instead of passing a drag-net of a revenue law, it was the business of the legislature to put down appropriations and help get the state out of debt. Now it is plunged in deeper than ever. About two and a half millions, according to the latest estimate—and there will be an excuse for more reckless legislation than ever before. It ought to politically sink every man who had a hand and influence in the passage of the bill—and it will.—Fremont Herald.

The Chicago Record-Herald in an editorial here reproduced, calls attention to the comments made by Governor Luz, formerly chief executive of Batangas Province in the Philippines. He was shown the beautiful residences and business blocks in the city of Chicago and having seen the things that are usually brought to the attention of visitors, he asked to be shown the poor lived. This suggestion coming from the orient ought to make an impression upon the men who talk so much about property and who know so little about the wretchedness that accompanies it. The nation's prosperity is not to be measured by the luxury and enjoyment of those who through monopolies seize upon the resources of the country and exploit the people. The masses and the moral sense of the country must be measured by the manner in which the fortunate interest themselves in the welfare of the less fortunate. Whether Governor Luz profits by his visit to the United States or not the United States ought to profit by the pointed inquiry which he submits. The Record-Herald says: "Senor Simson Luz, former governor of Batangas province, island of Luzon, did well to ask that he and his fellow visitors from the Philippines be shown how the poor live in Chicago as well as how the rich are housed. Bad laws and an impoverished people, as history shows, breed luxury and magnificence in spots. It is not the palaces and the broad avenues that tell the story of a nation. The true test is how the masses fare. The poor have their pleasures. The thrifty poor have their comforts also. But the well-governed community should have no neighborhoods of abject wretchedness. The unsanitary rookery should be regarded as an inexcusable blemish. The foul street or alley should be cleansed so that the little children that have no other place to stretch their tender limbs may not be stricken with fever at their play. The great and rich community which cannot manage this has no right to show its marvels to strangers and make a parade of its achievements; for these often spell selfishness rather than brotherhood. When Chicago or any other city is placed on view by an entertainment committee on exhibition of its rows of costly residences and tall business structures can tell the whole truth to the intelligent stranger. No city can be truly great that does not show greatness in its humble streets, in its homes of workingmen and in those quarters where the very poor pay the landlords' profits. We all owe thanks to Senor Simson Luz for reminding us that the veneer of wealth is unimportant as compared with all the living and striving that go to make up the total of humanity."—Commoner.

Atchison Globe Sights

You hear the common occasion when there is robbery that the thief didn't go enough to make it pay. A thief never gets enough to make it pay.

"I only occasionally find a man who believes his daughter's voice or photo. It will make him rich; but when you go to find him, you find he is dead."

We don't believe so overly much in doctors that the safest way to find joy in your life is to die in helping others. Do your duty, and let others do the same.

An Atchison girl fell through a hole in a platform, and in her excitement, she fought herself instead of crying, "Oh, my! Oh, my limb," she howled, "Oh, my! my limb!"

The smaller the town the more particular the policemen are about being whipped. Anybody can whip a policeman in Chicago, but it wouldn't be safe to try it in Atchison.

Why keep a revolver around a house? You can't hit anything with it. We keep a shotgun. If ever we shoot a burglar with a shotgun, there will be something doing.

A man's descriptive powers fall short when compared to a woman's. "They look like French knuts," was an Atchison woman's remark when looking at a field dotted with wheat in the snow.

It is all right for a bachelor to wear whiskers, if he wants to, but for any married man to ask his wife to room with him, unless clean whiskers, particularly in warm weather is ground for divorce.

If a woman is a widow, delicate, and she had an operation performed, it is a clinch she may select the most eligible man in the community in which she lives, for she can have him if she wants him.

When a man is sent to congress, (by vote) that's the way they get it there. He tries to act like one of the people, but he can't disguise the fact that he thinks he is made of superior clay. He is as badly swollen as a poison puffer and everybody knows it.

"I see another Vanderbilts' girl is married," writes "Laboring Man" to the Globe. "Couldn't you keep the account of her wedding out? My oldest girl is to be married in the fall, and reading of the Vanderbilt wedding will make her extravagant. The marriage of a millionaire's daughter, reported in the papers cost me $27 extra for clothes."

"I came to ask you for your daughter, but she is the only one I have."

"Well I don't want but one. I hope you don't take me for a bigamist."—Springfield Journal.

Little Stories.

Washington Post: "There is nothing like a candid friend," said an old army officer the other day. "When I was young I found such a one in Mal. Blank. The bottom dropped out of things for me one time and I vowed in my despair to commit suicide. The major asked me what was up."

"I'm going to blow my brains out," I said.

"Can you hit the ace of spades at ten yards?" asked the major.

"No," I said.

"Better practice, my boy," said the major. "Better practice, if you're set on hitting the brain. Why didn't you decide to fire at a vital spot?"

The Congregationalist, a friend of the late Bishop Huntington was spending a Sunday in Edinburgh and followed the train to the church of a celebrated preacher. At the close of the service he said to the clergyman: "That was a remarkably fine sermon."

The minister puffed up with pride, said: "Thank you, thank you."

"But," said the Boston man, "I have heard it before; it is one of Bishop Huntington's sermons."

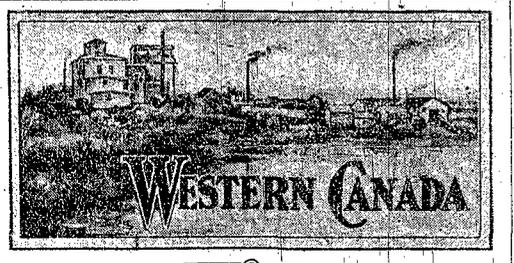

"Ah, yes, I dare say, to be sure; but Huntington could never have gotten it off as I did."

The Outlook: Some time ago Dr. Gott, now Bishop of Truro, was traveling on the underground railway in London. One of his fellow passengers was a religious man of the aggressive type, always anxious for the souls of others, but wearing nothing in the way of a white tie to make known the fact to the world at large. One of the other passengers said: "Where are you going to?" Dr. Gott, now with his gentle manner, answered, "To Victoria," to which companion replied: "You going to heaven?" "So, I hope so," said the future Bishop; "but I'm going to Victoria."

A CONTINUAL STRAIN

Many men and women are continually subjected to what they commonly call "a continual strain" because of some habitual "sin" family trouble. It wears like a disease, these both actually and physically, affecting their nerves badly and bringing on liver and kidney ailments, with the attendant evils of constipation, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, and vital weakness. The doctor says it is a "continual strain" that can be remedied by taking frequent doses of Green's August Flower. It tones up the liver, stimulates the kidneys, insures healthy bodily functions, gives vim and spirit to one's whole being, and eventually dispels the physical or mental distress caused by that "continual strain." Trial bottle of August Flower, 25c; regular size, 75c. At all druggists.

Special correspondence:
The old Romans used to say that Gaul was divided into three parts; so is the Canadian Northwest. Gaul's divisions were political; those of the Western Canada's provinces are created by the unerring hand of nature.

Chiefly because of the elevation of the country, the absence of large lakes and rivers, and the operations of the "Chinook" or Pacific ocean winds, which readily cross the Rocky Mountains in Southern Alberta through gaps and passes, the southwestern portion of the Canadian province is regarded as somewhat arid, and less fertile than other portions of the country. Although this has been a prevailing idea in the past, it has been left for American settlers, who have invaded this district within the past two or three years, to prove that splendid crops of grain can be grown on the land, which had hitherto been the feeding ground for the herds of cattle and bands of horses that ranged there.

That ranching is carried on most successfully in other portions of the prairie West, just as agriculture is to a limited extent conducted successfully within this district, is fully demonstrated by the fact as a whole it constitutes a territory about all others most admirably adapted to this particular industry.

The buffalo, bison and other grasses that grow in profusion in this district and retain their native properties the year round, and the moderate climate of mid-winter rendered such by the Chinook winds preventing any considerable depth of snow at any time, especially fit the district for the rearing of horses, cattle, sheep and other stock-raising his herds the year round in the open country.

While there are no large lakes or rivers in this whole country, there are numerous fast running streams that year round by melting snow in the mountains, furnishing an abundance of the coolest and purest water, the best for stock as well as man. The country has at once as abundant water, the best of food and drink the year round, a clear sky, but little or stormy weather and a favorable climate the year through. This makes Southern Alberta surely the most favored ranching country in the known world, and the enterprise is making most unprecedented headway. Ranchers, however, are well advised to keep their eyes peeled to raise thousands of stock and accordingly the wild herds of scrub horses and cattle are fast giving way to better pastures through the importation of thousands of the finest animals, ranging from horses and cattle to sheep, there are in this district of country at the present time, it is hard to say, as there are no positive statistics available.

TYPICAL WESTERN CANADA TOWN.
Better closed than by showing practically what is made by wheat growing in this district. The average from the first of operations is 20 bushels per acre. Breaking the prairie, as first planting is called, is, of course, an exceptional expenditure, as when it is once done it is done for all time. This costs about $3.50 per acre. After the breaking, plowing and seeding, harvesting, threshing and marketing—all expenses combined amount to about $5.25 per acre, that is, if a man likes everything done it will cost him $5.25 per acre. If he does the work himself he is earning wages while producing at that figure, now as the average yield is 20 bushels and the average price 60 cents—$12 per acre—the difference between the result and cost, $6.75, is the profit of grain growing year in and year out in the great wheat belt of the Canadian prairie country. If a man has a half section of land and puts half of it, 100 acres, under wheat, which is a very

SCHOOLHOUSE AND FARMS, MOHLEN, MANITOBA.
It is known, however, that the country is settling up fast. Englishmen and Americans in the western territories are bringing in their herds as fast as they can and leasing or purchasing land in lots from 1,000 to 20,000 acres from the Dominion Government. An idea of the growth of the territory will, however, be given by the fact that in 1899 there were but 41,471 head of cattle shipped and sold from the ranches, these figures ran to 55,120 in 1900, and in 1901 to 82,724, an increase of $40 per head for the owners. But it takes a great many ranchers and a large number of cattle to cover an area of 200,000,000 acres, the area available for ranching in the Canadian Northwest. It is not at all necessary that large investments should be made at the outset. Many men commenced with small capital and small herds, and have worked themselves into large herds and great wealth. There is still in the country plenty of room for those who desire to go and do likewise.

THE SECOND PART.
The second part of the Canadian prairie embraces the great wheat growing belt of the country, which is easily a common occurrence, he makes $1,080 on wheat alone, and should make, if he is a capable farmer enough, good of other crops, such as cattle, dairy and other products, to keep himself and family the year round besides.

THE THIRD DIVISION.
The third division of this great country lies to the north of the wheat belt, the northern zone here is found more fertile, the raising of all cereals, that can profitably be raised in the country, the remaining branches of mixed farming are dairy, beef and stock raising. It must not be supposed that dividing the prairie in this way is saying that any one portion of the country possesses better soil than another, for such is not the case—all districts are equally fertile, but the topography and climatic conditions, which differ, as well as the conditions for production. Ranching and grain growing are carried on quite successfully in this portion of the prairie country, and are able to combine all the features of the industry. On account of the land being more broken than in the southern district, though the soil is equally fertile, there is less room for the extension of extensive operations; and while cattle raising is as profitable here as elsewhere, different methods have to be adopted for their protection, especially in the winter season.

An authority on the subject has stated that agriculture in any country never reaches the minimum of development until the farmers engage in least profitable branches of the industry, though the soil is equally fertile, there is less room for the extension of extensive operations; and while cattle raising is as profitable here as elsewhere, different methods have to be adopted for their protection, especially in the winter season.

Glass Bubbles.
New York Sun: "The glass balls of many colors used to decorate Christmas trees in the past, were made in Germany, some of them in factories, but more of them in the homes of the people. Among them this trade has been handed down from generation to generation, and the members of the family working at it in one way or another.

As a member of the household goes to the work town at which this work is given out, and where the finished work is collected, and gets a bundle of the glass tubes from which the glass balls are made. More than once I have met these messengers trudging home with their bundles of glass, carried like so many bundles of sticks. In every home where they do this work they have a suitable furnace for heating the glass, and at this the most prominent sits and blows the prettiest bubbles that can be made, and back, and in due time the bright glass balls thus produced in these mountain homes are carried back to the collecting centers, and find their way thence to other homes all over the world."

Free Homestead Land.
There is set a large quantity of government land for homesteading in this country and as in everything else, "the early bird catches the worm." Those who come first are first served. When it comes to purchasing prairie or other company land they can be got at from $5 per acre up. This section cannot be better closed than by showing practically what is made by wheat growing in this district. The average from the first of operations is 20 bushels per acre. Breaking the prairie, as first planting is called, is, of course, an exceptional expenditure, as when it is once done it is done for all time. This costs about $3.50 per acre. Coyote Always a Tantalizing Mark for the Man With a Rifle.

Outing: There is a deal of coyote hunting in the west that is not undertaken by the average sportsman. Ever since the first pioneers pushed their way across the great plains the coyote has been a constant annoyance to the ranchman at the hand of man. His predatory habits have made the animal the bane of the ranchman, and his hide has made him the expiation of the camper and the terror of the tenderfoot. Then, too, his habit of killing within rifle range has always made him a tantalizing target for the man with the rifle.

I was unable to get well, and reading of the cures your Compound had made, I decided to try it. I took only six bottles, but it built me up and cured me entirely of my troubles. ### Commencement Exercises of the Nebraska Normal College.

(Received too late for last week's paper)

This day witnesses the closing exercises of the thirteenth annual commencement of the Nebraska Normal College. Inasmuch as the president has brought about a reunion of as many as possible of the members of the various graduating classes since 1892, the exercises are somewhat varied from the usual routine of such exercises.

The loyalty of the Alumni is sufficiently attested by the scores of successful business men and women who have broken away from business cares for a few days or resigned the comforts and pleasures of summer resorts to attend this glad reunion.

Many and varied are the experiences which the old classmates have to relate to each other. It seems but yesterday that they themselves stood in the places now occupied by the scholarly looking personages in caps and gowns who smile upon them from the platform and so eloquently deliver such beautiful thoughts and words of sound advice as come only to earnest students after a year's hard work and careful training in a good school; and yet, silver hairs have begun to appear in many of their heads and credentials prove that they are now representatives of the best citizens of more than half the states of our union. The world cries out for men and women who can be depended upon and it is in response to these cries that Prof. Pile has dispersed his alumni from the rocky coasts of New England to the orange groves of California.

The college chapel and commercial room were crowded to their utmost capacity to accommodate the appreciative audience which assembled to enjoy the first program of the week which was rendered by the Crescent Literary Society, Friday evening, Aug. 5.

As the chapel chime sounded the last stroke of eight, Miss Minnie Burson seated herself at the piano. Instantly the whispers among the audience ceased and their minds were hushed into a state of contemplation which enabled them to appreciate the logic contained in the oration which followed by Miss Eva Reed on The Science of the Twentieth Century.

Next followed a well read and well written biography by Miss Jennie Waddell. Accustomed, herself, to seeing only the good in every character, Miss Waddell chose to picture the life of Aaron Burr in such a way as to convince her auditors that Burr, alone, was not responsible for the many misdeeds which are usually heaped upon his head. Then the crowd was convulsed with laughter over the pranks of "Naughty Experiences" so so vividly described that we judge she omitted no opportunity of visiting the many places of historical interest found in the famous city of Boston, during her sojourn there last summer. She also has us up the broad avenue to the Capitol in Washington, D. C., and to view the old Liberty Bell in the city of "brotherly love." One who should have appeared on the program was unable to be present but found a very satisfactory substitute in Miss Blanche Peters, whose rendering of "Sister and I" touched the hearts of every listener. A lively duet by the Misses Pile and Burson brought us back to a realization of the present and the exercises were closed by a strong debate between the Messrs Cooper and Huber. Both the Affirmative and Negative side of the question, "Resolved, That further Annexation of Territory is not for the best interests of the American People" was so ably discussed by the young men as to have the audience very evenly divided.

Miss Rena Olmsted, president of the Scientific class, presided over the first division of the class orations Saturday evening.

Miss Bessie Eaton was destined to "break the ice" which she did in the thorough manner which characterizes whatever Miss Eaton attempts. Her broad and unprejudiced treatment of "The Adopted Citizen" was received with the applause which it deserved. Miss Alta Wheeler then taught us the value of "A Smile" and John F. Rohn heightened every ambition by the thoughts he presented on "Aim and Attainment." The piano solo by Miss Hattie Schulteis was well received and Miss Collins details of "Exactness" made us each feel to see if our neckties were straight. Miss Ella Biggins' discourse on "Individualism" and Miss Page's "Nothing to Fear" showed the result of careful thought, was full of noble thoughts and well delivered, while Miss Gretchen Kuper's review of the life of Napoleon, as usual excited applause. The vocal solo by Mr. Webster was well received and Mr. Lane's treatment of "Me and Mine" put egotism in its true sphere. In Miss Kelley's oration, "Man His own Stumbling Block," he was convinced that if he fasted in life he must blame only himself for it. Miss Clara Beuchemien closed the exercises with a splendid discourse on "Let me Think."

The Baccalaureate services were held in the Methodist church at eleven o'clock Sunday morning. There being no services in the other churches at that hour, the church was well filled by the citizens of Wayne and students from the college. The members of the graduating classes in their caps and long, black gowns, made a goodly procession, and an impressive sight as they marched in a body from the college to the church. Immediately after the class was seated, the church rang with the thrilling anthem rendered by the college choir. Rev. Ringer and Rev. Duley led in the scripture reading and prayer services and after a beautiful solo by Miss Maude Porter, Rev. T. J. Wright, of the M. E. church, delivered the sermon. In the afternoon at 3:30 o'clock a conjoint program of the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. was held in the college chapel. The audience was favored by an excellent vocal duet by Messrs Cooper and Webster before Rev. Duley's address, and a solo by Miss Anna Kuper after the address. Rev. Duley's subject was "Elements of Success" and his masterful treatment of so broad a subject was an inspiration and encouragement to all.

On Monday evening the house was well filled to hear the orations of the second division of the graduating class. John F. Rohn, president of the Teachers' class was presiding officer. Miss Anna Keefe opened the exercises by giving "Pride" a fall and was followed by Misses Gusie Beuchman who told her classmates "How to Fail" that they might recognize the downward path and avoid it. Mr. Littell's "Constitution and its Makers" did justice, as nearly as is possible to do, to that immortal document and those sages of American history. The music by the double quartet was excellent and Miss Schulteis presented the old subject of "Women" in an original and commendable light.

Miss Emma Tripp's "Iron Bed" brought out the fact that instead of complaining of our hardships we had better congratulate ourselves that we have them. "The Value of Reform" by Miss Jessie Reed and "Chinese Religion" by Miss Washburn both deserved the applause which greeted them.

Mr. Johnson's "Education and Politics" was well delivered and showed careful preparation. Miss Nellie Reed's "American Flag" was brimming over with patriotism while Miss Mary Richardson's thoughts on "Home" aroused a "hope" in many a manly breast.

Tuesday evening Miss Washburn, vice-president of the Teachers' class presided. Miss Lundberg's strong point in "Reformation" was the effect of different periods of reform. Miss Hannah Ellis on "Humor" convinced us that of the various kinds of humor, good, bad and indifferent, Irish, English and Dutch, good humor is more to be desired than great riches. Miss Woolhiser's discourse on "A Star" and Miss Mosena's on "Look Forward" both breathed of the necessity of putting down all seeming failures and keeping in view a worthy aim and striving towards it. Mr. Rohan's subject was "Live in the Present" It was well written and given with the enthusiasm and vigor characteristic of the young man. The audience was again favored with a vocal solo by Miss Gretchen Kuper and also a piano duet by the Misses Brachman and Burson. Miss Niemeyer on "Crime and its Remedy" suggested its cause to be idleness, and its remedy work. Miss Katherine Reed's oration "A Simple Life" and Miss Gunnerson's "Life is Short" were indeed fine. Mr. Sauter's subject was the class motto, "We have entered the Bay, the Ocean lies before us." His oration was among the best.

The program was closed by two splendid discourses by the Misses Anna Gustafson and Evalyn Kayl, the first on "The Dead Level," the second, "Purpose."

On Wednesday evening Miss Ella Biggins, second vice president of the Teachers' class, was presiding officer. This was the fourth and last night of the orations but we find no diminution either in the crowd or the quality of the orations rendered. Miss Anna Ellis on "Government of Thought" suggested the old proverb "You cannot prevent the birds flying over your head but you can prevent their building nests there." Miss Leas' oration "The Mind is the Standard of Man's Soul" was another proof that "as a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." The orations "Will the Republic always endure" by Mr. John Powers, "Self Culture" by Miss Edith Mead, and "Self Reverence" by Miss Mabel Sears all were thoughtfully constructed and well delivered. "Ideals and Idols" by Miss Rena Olmsted was exceptionally well constructed and emphasized how prone are we to allow our ideals to become idols. Miss Porter's unique treatment of the old adage, "Chicken come Home to Roost" was so forcibly applied that we think those who heard it gazed their tongue more closely in the future. Mr. Webster's "Man" leads us to believe that "he would exclaim with Shakespeare 'What a noble piece of work is man.' "No Excellence without Labor" so ably delivered by Miss Vanconnet and "Education and Business" by Miss McCormick closed the program.

On Thursday the chapel rang with applause as Pres. Pile, Prof. Gregg and Supt. H. E. Mason of Stanton, appeared upon the stage with Mr. Littell, president of the classes, presiding officer. The audience was then favored with a piano solo by Miss Rena Olmsted. After an invocation by Prof. Gregg, Supt. H. E. Mason, the first Scientific graduate of the college, and at present superintendent of schools in Stanton, Neb., addressed the classes. Mr. Mason briefly reviewed the history of the college and held the undivided attention of the large audience while he depicted in beautiful and forcible language the three vital principles of our lives, Love, Honor and God, and spoke many encouraging words to the members of the class as teachers. Mr. Webster's vocal solo as usual was well received after which Miss Helen Pile played a lively march on the piano while the classes marched through the Commercial room, each receiving his reward of merit, a diploma as he passed the president in the doorway. When the class had resumed their seats they were gratified by the words of encouragement and congratulations extended to them by Prof. Pile. They are an exceptionally strong class in many respects. They have furnished not only the eloquence of the week but all the music both instrumental and vocal, and all who attended the exercises will agree that they could scarcely have been improved upon. The audience was again favored by the double quartette with melodious song, after which the state certificates were presented by Prof. Pile and the exercises were closed by Miss Porter with a very fine vocal solo.

Today, Aug. 12, is the Big day, Alumni day and we regret that this week we are unable to give a detailed account of the proceedings. The chapel exercises this morning, led by the president were called promptly at 9 o'clock. Nearly every class from '92 to 1904 was represented by from one to a dozen members and the five minute speeches were exceedingly interesting. Those who were unable to be present and take the part assigned them sent worthy substitutes. At eleven A. M. the various classes were reunited and at noon, as the guests of Prof. and Mrs. Pile, were served to a dainty luncheon in the college dining hall. At 1:30 p. m. is to be called the Alumni base ball game with Prof. Mason in the box and Miller of Magnet behind the bat. Supt. Bright as short stop will undoubtedly "dig 'em out of the dirt" with a nimbleness that would do credit to a Beuchemien, and we can imagine Chas. Culler on first base, reaching for the "high ones" as they whiz by him from the short stop. Supt. Brookings of Bari Co. on 2nd base will undoubtedly distinguish himself by making half a dozen doubles and possibly a triple without a single error, while Prof. Vaught, on third catches the fouls like a veteran of the diamond. Prof. Elliot, of Pilger will fill his usual capacity in "right garden." Editor Lundberg of Carroll on the left. Against this formidable array the Norfolk team will scarcely score nor dare dispute the decisions of the umpire, Prof. J. M. Pile.

At 3 o'clock the girls of the present graduating class will place their men against the Alumni girls, Miss Bredenough as center and the Misses Bussfield and Bailey as guards.

Goodby to shipsky and thousands of soldiery. Its a boysky that "cuts the ice" in Russiasky.

With one man shot to death and another slugged until he came near dying, Norfolk has held up her reputation the past month. The Daily News of that town brags of the killing, after a fashion, as "law and order" in Norfolk—demands it.

He Saw Shaw.

Soon after the adjournment of the republican national convention John H. Mickey, governor of Nebraska, returning from Chicago, boarded a train going from Omaha to Lincoln.

A well known Omaha republican was seated on the rear platform of the parlor car.

Mr. Mickey took his seat opposite this gentleman and, lighting a cigar, remarked: "I saw Shaw (referring to the secretary of the treasury) in Chicago."

The Omaha republican did not regard this as a particularly startling statement, and yet he replied: "You did?"

Mr Mickey remarked: "Yes I saw Shaw" and then with great deliberation, he added: "And do you know that he reminds me very much of myself? He is a clean, polished gentleman, pure, patriotic, determined and resolute!"

It is a bit surprising that after this decidedly modest statement by Nebraska's republican governor this particular Omaha republican lived to tell the tale.

He did live to tell the tale however; and this may be accepted as a chapter from real life.

Those who have never listened to Mr. Mickey's bombastic claims in his own behalf may find it difficult to believe such stories as this; but the truth is that Mr. Mickey has the habit of indulging in claims of this character, and so characteristic is this of the man that he has lost his supporters on every occasion when he has made a public address.

And yet this man expects the people of Nebraska to re-elect him to the high office of governor.—World-Herald.

Have to Move Their Beds
Edgar Howard says: "But although we did not succeed in naming a democrat for governor, we did succeed in securing for that place a magnificent man, George W. Borge, our nominee for governor, is an able young man, loyal to true democratic principles, and with splendid courage to defend those principles anywhere, under any circumstances. He has for many years taken an advanced position in opposition to the railroad machine in its efforts to dictate the policy of public officials in Nebraska. If George Borge shall be elected it will be notice to the agents of the railroad political departments that they shall move their beds out of the capitol building. In another issue the Telegram will have opportunity to present in detail the merits of our nominee for governor, as well as of his associates on the ticket. In the meantime we ask those of our readers who have no personal acquaintance with this splendid young man to make careful inquiry regarding him. He is a strong character. He will grow in public favor every day during the campaign."

Estimating that there were 700 people in Wayne county who registered for land in the Rosebud reservation, and it cost an average of $10 each, which is probably lower than the average expense, the people here fooled away at least $7,000 for absolutely nothing. Now, had we just put this money in a jack pot and had a grand drawing in Wayne for it, just imagine the big time it would have stirred up and how much more sensible and profitable it would have been than dumping the $7000 into the coffers of the railroads, etc. But your Uncle Sam isn't agreeable to anything of that sort. To play a grand game of chance—ten to one against the players—it must be a "government game" and be sanctioned by the president. Well, there won't be so many cheap suckers next time.
