

A citizen of Charleston, S. C., has made a gift of $100,000 to the Charleston orphan house as a memorial to W. Jetter Bennett of that city...

Adelle Grant, daughter of Essex, famous as a London beauty, but for years a delicate woman because of nerves shattered by society's demands...

The county board of Foughton, Mo., has raised the wolf bounty to $25, making with the state bounty, $35 for each skin.

Frederick Vanderbilt seldom goes anywhere in society. He dislikes it extremely, and it is said that he frequents only the quietest of the city house parties.

The Cook county council has re-named the George W. and Wellington bridges after the late Charles C. Cook and Thomas Davis, Crowley was a Peoria leader who was shot in the neck in 1877.

A flock of quansets will soon be seen in the neighborhood of the city, and could be no farther. It is supposed that the birds suddenly appeared from a migration of the layer of atmosphere and their feathers became coated with ice.

The number of women physicians is steadily increasing in Russia. According to recent reports there are now nearly 400 women studying medicine at Russian universities.

Just before he left the pension office, Commissioner Ware was asked for a recommendation by a woman. This woman was asked what she wanted. She said: "I'll fix it to have you transferred."

When the electrification of the railway which runs underground in London is completed, it will be possible to traverse sixty miles underground by electric traction without being twice over the same piece of track.

The United States is the largest consumer of tin in the world, but derives its supplies from the Straits Settlements, from Banca, and other eastern sources.

The French army administration is organizing an extensive automobile train service to be used as convoys, for the transport of troops, and for the transport of wounded.

The highest tide in the world is in the Bay of Fundy. The tide there sometimes rises 100 feet above the ordinary level, and the increase is occasionally as much as a foot every five minutes.

Archbishop Patrick New York has gone on a month's visit to the Bahama Islands. It is his first visit since he became archbishop of New York.

The French government has abolished the cantons, and has substituted the commune as the unit of every government. They were very much supplied the soldiers with brandy.

The first regular English pantomime is said to have been "Harlequin and the Golden Goose" at the Swan Theatre in London in 1661.

Union Theological Seminary has started a course in Old Testament for children from 9 to 12 years old to be held in its vicinity.

It was expected that Japan and Russia would not have been used for use in the Russo-Japanese war.

Agriculturists of Cuba, Yucatan, are cultivating cotton with good success. This year the cotton plantations will be enlarged.

Several mining companies have started work in Honduras, Central America. The principal deposits are gold and silver.

A course of cooking lessons for men has been given in Copenhagen, Denmark. The courses of an industrial committee.

OMAHA VICTIM OF FIRE DEMON

Causes Enormous Loss of Property.

EXCEEDS HALF A MILLION

Every Department in the City Fights the Flames, but Large Blocks are Destroyed—Firemen Work All Day at Heat.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 31.—A fire which early Sunday destroyed property estimated at approximately $700,000 started at 10:30 Saturday night from what is believed to have been an overheated stove in the commission house of C. F. Nelson, Co., situated at 15th and Howard streets.

The fire department of the city to the scene, but, however, until the flames had gone out beyond control. Five commission houses were located in the building where the fire started, and all of them were destroyed in a very short time.

The county board of Foughton, Mo., has raised the wolf bounty to $25, making with the state bounty, $35 for each skin. This step was taken because of the increasing number of southern portions of the country are suffering many losses of stock through ravages of wolves.

Frederick Vanderbilt seldom goes anywhere in society. He dislikes it extremely, and it is said that he frequents only the quietest of the city house parties. He is a devoted couple, and Mrs. Vanderbilt herself is a great admirer of her husband.

The Cook county council has re-named the George W. and Wellington bridges after the late Charles C. Cook and Thomas Davis, Crowley was a Peoria leader who was shot in the neck in 1877.

A flock of quansets will soon be seen in the neighborhood of the city, and could be no farther. It is supposed that the birds suddenly appeared from a migration of the layer of atmosphere and their feathers became coated with ice.

The number of women physicians is steadily increasing in Russia. According to recent reports there are now nearly 400 women studying medicine at Russian universities, the largest number being at St. Petersburg and Moscow.

Just before he left the pension office, Commissioner Ware was asked for a recommendation by a woman. This woman was asked what she wanted. She said: "I'll fix it to have you transferred."

When the electrification of the railway which runs underground in London is completed, it will be possible to traverse sixty miles underground by electric traction without being twice over the same piece of track.

The United States is the largest consumer of tin in the world, but derives its supplies from the Straits Settlements, from Banca, and other eastern sources.

The French army administration is organizing an extensive automobile train service to be used as convoys, for the transport of troops, and for the transport of wounded.

The highest tide in the world is in the Bay of Fundy. The tide there sometimes rises 100 feet above the ordinary level, and the increase is occasionally as much as a foot every five minutes.

Archbishop Patrick New York has gone on a month's visit to the Bahama Islands. It is his first visit since he became archbishop of New York.

NEBRASKA GRAIN

A Large Percentage of Last Year's Crop Is Still Held by Farmers Over State.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 31.—The best figures obtainable place the percentage of Nebraska's last wheat crop in the farmers' hands at 25 per cent. Of the late crop something like 37 per cent. remains in the hands of the farmers, 80 per cent of the corn crop yet in the state.

The wheat crop of 1904 in the state of Nebraska was 22,000,000 bushels. No accurate estimate can be had of the amount yet in the state, but it is estimated that 25 per cent of the wheat crop made January 1 by reports from country elevators placed the amount at 5,500,000 bushels.

An estimate made at the first of the year, the main crop of wheat, which would not leave a large amount to be sold. An estimate made at the first of the year, the main crop of wheat, which would not leave a large amount to be sold.

The North Platte is better and shipping and the wheat crop is better. The North Platte is better and shipping and the wheat crop is better. The North Platte is better and shipping and the wheat crop is better.

LOST TRACE OF PARENTS

Woman Who Ran Away from Home Loses Relatives After Fifteen Years

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 31.—About fifteen years ago there lived about twenty miles southeast of Hot Springs, S. D., a man by the name of George (Sawyer), a man by the name of George (Sawyer), a man by the name of George (Sawyer).

ENDORSE ERNST BILL

Nemaha Farmers Favor Establishment of Twine Factory

Auburn, Neb., Jan. 31.—A very successful two days' farmers' institute was held at Auburn, Neb., last week. The institute was held at Auburn, Neb., last week.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE

Burt County Organization in Session at Oakland

Oakland, Neb., Jan. 31.—For two years now the farmers' institute here has had to operate nearly the coldest weather of the winter.

TO EXCHANGE BRAINS

Empire William Proposes that American and Germany Swap College Professors a While

Washington, Jan. 31.—Empire William has directed Ambassador Steuck von Strahlenberg to lay before President Roosevelt an offer of exchange of college professors between Germany and America.

TREPOFF'S PROMISES MORE ARE KILLED

MAY HAVE EFFECT IN RUSSIAN ROITS

St. Petersburg and Moscow Present a Comparatively Unruffled Exterior

BOMB THROWING FEARED

Resumption of the Use of Explosives May Occur if the People Are Made to Believe in Government's Pledge

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—Not the slightest disorder has been reported anywhere during the day. Governor General Trepoft, who reports that the crisis is over and that public order and safety are assured.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

MORE ARE KILLED

IN RUSSIAN ROITS

At Riga Soldiers Fire into a Crowd and 31 Are Killed and 46 Wounded

IT BREAKS OUT IN POLAND

Workers at Warsaw Are Quiet, but the Tie Up of Industries is Rapidly Becoming Universal in That City

Paris, Jan. 30.—A report of the withdrawal of the French portion of the new Russian loan has been circulated on the bourse, but large operators have been quick to get confirmation or denial of the report. Inquiry at the banks tends to confirm the report.

Riga, Russia, Jan. 30.—Twenty-nine men and women were killed and thirty-seven civilians and eight soldiers wounded, by shots during yesterday's rioting. At the request of the workmen the leaders of the city have been closed.

Warsaw, Russia, Jan. 30.—The strike started here today and is spreading rapidly. A number of factories were closed. The workmen are quiet.

Mitau, Russia, Jan. 30.—Labor agents from Riga have organized a strike here today. The workers are quiet.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

TERRORISM AND RIOTS IN WARSAW

Consular Officers Reported to Have Been Assaulted by Hussars

ST. PETERSBURG IS QUIET

Capital Resumes a More Normal Condition and Moscow, Also, Reported More Peaceful

London, Jan. 31.—The correspondent at Warsaw of the Daily Mail telegraphs as follows: "A group of Hussars ran down the street at night. The Hussars rushed up with their swords, inflicting severe cuts across the face and lower lip. Dripping with blood, the victim was carried to the hospital, where he is now doing well."

Paris, Jan. 30.—A report of the withdrawal of the French portion of the new Russian loan has been circulated on the bourse, but large operators have been quick to get confirmation or denial of the report. Inquiry at the banks tends to confirm the report.

Riga, Russia, Jan. 30.—Twenty-nine men and women were killed and thirty-seven civilians and eight soldiers wounded, by shots during yesterday's rioting. At the request of the workmen the leaders of the city have been closed.

Warsaw, Russia, Jan. 30.—The strike started here today and is spreading rapidly. A number of factories were closed. The workmen are quiet.

Mitau, Russia, Jan. 30.—Labor agents from Riga have organized a strike here today. The workers are quiet.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

SWINBURNE'S POEM ON CZAR

Lines that Flay Russia's Ruler Printed in the Pall Mall Gazette

London, Jan. 27.—The following poem by Algernon Charles Swinburne appeared in the Pall Mall Gazette, and has been widely reprinted and discussed by the press.

Lines that Flay Russia's Ruler Printed in the Pall Mall Gazette. The students of the institute sent a delegation to the director of the institute to get the agreement with the resolutions.

Paris, Jan. 30.—A report of the withdrawal of the French portion of the new Russian loan has been circulated on the bourse, but large operators have been quick to get confirmation or denial of the report. Inquiry at the banks tends to confirm the report.

Riga, Russia, Jan. 30.—Twenty-nine men and women were killed and thirty-seven civilians and eight soldiers wounded, by shots during yesterday's rioting. At the request of the workmen the leaders of the city have been closed.

Warsaw, Russia, Jan. 30.—The strike started here today and is spreading rapidly. A number of factories were closed. The workmen are quiet.

Mitau, Russia, Jan. 30.—Labor agents from Riga have organized a strike here today. The workers are quiet.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The aspect of the city is almost normal and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Everything is quiet at Moscow. Several newspapers have appeared in both cities.

CAUSES LEADING TO THE REVOLT

For Forty Years Russia Has Been Drifting Toward the Present Situation.

ZEMSTVOS' CONVENTION

Gathering a Few Weeks Ago Started the Movement Which Led Immediately to the Red Riots Now Prevailing in the Land.

The demand for a constitutional government in Russia, which has grown by leaps and bounds within the last three months, and is strong enough to mobilize 400,000 workmen in its behalf in the city of St. Petersburg alone, is not a modern development in the czar's empire.

From that day, February 13, 1860, on which Czar Alexander II, in an imperial rescript, protested against the political condition of the empire, the demand for a freer government, for equal rights, for freedom of speech and conscience, for the equality of the people, has grown without ceasing.

Alexander II recognized the demand of his people for more liberty by decreeing on March 3, 1861, the total emancipation of 25,000,000 serfs through the law.

First Appeal in 1861.

In November of the same year the nobles themselves signed a petition asking for a political constitution.

Again, on January 25, 1866, the nobles requested the czar to establish a constitutional form of government, to establish a parliament with two houses of representatives. Again Alexander II declared his assent.

In March, 1866, the nobles held their first national assembly to demand an extension of political rights. Although they failed to reach their purpose, they received a notable concession for the Russian people—the right of trial by jury.

In 1870 began the student agitation for popular government. In January of that year a group of students, under the leadership of the Russian universities was discovered. The czar was informed and hundreds of students were imprisoned or exiled to Siberia.

Nihilist Terror Begins.

The student conspiracy was followed by the nihilist movement. In the latter part of 1874, immediately after the Paris communique, a group of nihilists, Dolgushev, was formed at Moscow, and in 1875 the important "Society of Struggle for the Freedom of the People" was organized at St. Petersburg, with branches at Moscow, Kiev, Odessa, Orel, Tver, and other parts of Russia.

Both these societies had for their purpose the revolutionary propaganda of the words and deeds. For five years the nihilist conspirators prosecuted their work among the workers and peasants, making little progress. They then abandoned their effort and again turned their attention to the students.

The nihilists had become so much of a general attack was made upon them by the government. Four hundred nihilist conspirators, men and women accused of belonging to the nihilist conspiracy, were placed on trial at this time, beginning on February 21, 1878. One hundred and sixty were sentenced to prison at hard labor, and twenty were acquitted and the rest exiled.

Assassins Take Up the Work.

On the 13th of February, 1881, General Zensulitch (or Sussulitch) inaugurated it by attempting the assassination of General Dreyfus, then, as now, the czar's chief minister.

The scheme was followed by the rapid spread of the revolutionary propaganda among the students of the various cities. Nihilist trials were in constant progress.

On February 16, 1882, General de Mesentzoff, chief of the St. Petersburg police, was assassinated in the streets in broad daylight. Military law then suspended civil trials of the conspirators.

December 11, 1878, the students presented a petition to the czar, protesting against the arbitrary arrests and imprisonment of students. Instead of granting their request, the authorities attacked the students and dropped in the background, but their demands for popular government were taken up by the student bodies. The garden of agitation was always the same—free speech, a free press, free conscience, a representative form of government, a constitution, a parliament.

As the popular agitation became so widespread that the government began to show signs of alarm. The year began inauspiciously for the czar. On October 10, 1880, the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate Count Tolstoy. This act was followed by riots in St. Petersburg, in which the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout. Seven hundred students were arrested in St. Petersburg and taken to the city of St. Petersburg.

The student riots continued through the greater part of 1881, and eventually the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout. The year 1882 brought a still louder demand for representative government.

Assassination of Alexander II.

That was the first great step toward a more popular form of government for Russia ever taken. It was approved by Alexander II, on October 29, 1880. On March 23, 1881, Alexander II, who had been assassinated and Alexander III, succeeded to the throne.

The nihilists greeted Alexander III, in a spirit of friendship. In their manifesto issued on March 23 they offered him peace if he would grant a representative assembly to be elected by universal suffrage, a free press, free speech and freedom of conscience.

Alexander III ascended the throne with liberal views. He took up General Loris Melnikoff's reform program with a willingness to carry it out and call a representative assembly. In fact, two days before the nihilist manifesto had been issued, Alexander III, in a secret assembly of his ministers, at which the Melnikoff program had been approved, had already issued a negative veto. Grand Duke Vladimir was among those who voted in the affirmative.

Old Struggle is Renewed.

The influence of the reactionary party, however, led by M. Pobedonostsev, procurator of the holy synod, was strong enough to secure the final defeat of the Melnikoff program.

The struggle between the bureaucracy and the people was renewed. General Loris Melnikoff and other liberal members of the ministry resigned and the reactionary party had full control.

On October 29, 1888, an attempt on the life of Alexander III, was made. The imperial train was derailed, near Bork station in southern Russia, and twenty-one persons killed. The czar himself was slightly hurt.

More Repressive Measures.

Count Tolstoy, the reactionary minister, died on May 7, 1883, and his successor, M. Durnovo, continued his repressive policy. On March 5, 1880, Maria Tshobrikova, a popular writer on education, addressed a letter to Alexander III, threatening him with death for continuing to suppress the liberties of the people. She was exiled, and the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout.

For ten years the same struggle continued. The czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout. The garden of agitation was always the same—free speech, a free press, free conscience, a representative form of government, a constitution, a parliament.

As the popular agitation became so widespread that the government began to show signs of alarm. The year began inauspiciously for the czar. On October 10, 1880, the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate Count Tolstoy. This act was followed by riots in St. Petersburg, in which the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout. Seven hundred students were arrested in St. Petersburg and taken to the city of St. Petersburg.

The student riots continued through the greater part of 1881, and eventually the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout. The year 1882 brought a still louder demand for representative government.

Assassination of Alexander II.

That was the first great step toward a more popular form of government for Russia ever taken. It was approved by Alexander II, on October 29, 1880. On March 23, 1881, Alexander II, who had been assassinated and Alexander III, succeeded to the throne.

The nihilists greeted Alexander III, in a spirit of friendship. In their manifesto issued on March 23 they offered him peace if he would grant a representative assembly to be elected by universal suffrage, a free press, free speech and freedom of conscience.

Alexander III ascended the throne with liberal views. He took up General Loris Melnikoff's reform program with a willingness to carry it out and call a representative assembly. In fact, two days before the nihilist manifesto had been issued, Alexander III, in a secret assembly of his ministers, at which the Melnikoff program had been approved, had already issued a negative veto. Grand Duke Vladimir was among those who voted in the affirmative.

The influence of the reactionary party, however, led by M. Pobedonostsev, procurator of the holy synod, was strong enough to secure the final defeat of the Melnikoff program.

The struggle between the bureaucracy and the people was renewed. General Loris Melnikoff and other liberal members of the ministry resigned and the reactionary party had full control.

On October 29, 1888, an attempt on the life of Alexander III, was made. The imperial train was derailed, near Bork station in southern Russia, and twenty-one persons killed. The czar himself was slightly hurt.

More Repressive Measures.

Count Tolstoy, the reactionary minister, died on May 7, 1883, and his successor, M. Durnovo, continued his repressive policy. On March 5, 1880, Maria Tshobrikova, a popular writer on education, addressed a letter to Alexander III, threatening him with death for continuing to suppress the liberties of the people. She was exiled, and the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout.

For ten years the same struggle continued. The czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout. The garden of agitation was always the same—free speech, a free press, free conscience, a representative form of government, a constitution, a parliament.

As the popular agitation became so widespread that the government began to show signs of alarm. The year began inauspiciously for the czar. On October 10, 1880, the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate Count Tolstoy. This act was followed by riots in St. Petersburg, in which the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout. Seven hundred students were arrested in St. Petersburg and taken to the city of St. Petersburg.

The student riots continued through the greater part of 1881, and eventually the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout. The year 1882 brought a still louder demand for representative government.

Assassination of Alexander II.

That was the first great step toward a more popular form of government for Russia ever taken. It was approved by Alexander II, on October 29, 1880. On March 23, 1881, Alexander II, who had been assassinated and Alexander III, succeeded to the throne.

The nihilists greeted Alexander III, in a spirit of friendship. In their manifesto issued on March 23 they offered him peace if he would grant a representative assembly to be elected by universal suffrage, a free press, free speech and freedom of conscience.

Alexander III ascended the throne with liberal views. He took up General Loris Melnikoff's reform program with a willingness to carry it out and call a representative assembly. In fact, two days before the nihilist manifesto had been issued, Alexander III, in a secret assembly of his ministers, at which the Melnikoff program had been approved, had already issued a negative veto. Grand Duke Vladimir was among those who voted in the affirmative.

The influence of the reactionary party, however, led by M. Pobedonostsev, procurator of the holy synod, was strong enough to secure the final defeat of the Melnikoff program.

The struggle between the bureaucracy and the people was renewed. General Loris Melnikoff and other liberal members of the ministry resigned and the reactionary party had full control.

On October 29, 1888, an attempt on the life of Alexander III, was made. The imperial train was derailed, near Bork station in southern Russia, and twenty-one persons killed. The czar himself was slightly hurt.

More Repressive Measures.

Count Tolstoy, the reactionary minister, died on May 7, 1883, and his successor, M. Durnovo, continued his repressive policy. On March 5, 1880, Maria Tshobrikova, a popular writer on education, addressed a letter to Alexander III, threatening him with death for continuing to suppress the liberties of the people. She was exiled, and the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout.

For ten years the same struggle continued. The czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout. The garden of agitation was always the same—free speech, a free press, free conscience, a representative form of government, a constitution, a parliament.

As the popular agitation became so widespread that the government began to show signs of alarm. The year began inauspiciously for the czar. On October 10, 1880, the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate Count Tolstoy. This act was followed by riots in St. Petersburg, in which the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout. Seven hundred students were arrested in St. Petersburg and taken to the city of St. Petersburg.

The student riots continued through the greater part of 1881, and eventually the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout. The year 1882 brought a still louder demand for representative government.

Assassination of Alexander II.

That was the first great step toward a more popular form of government for Russia ever taken. It was approved by Alexander II, on October 29, 1880. On March 23, 1881, Alexander II, who had been assassinated and Alexander III, succeeded to the throne.

The nihilists greeted Alexander III, in a spirit of friendship. In their manifesto issued on March 23 they offered him peace if he would grant a representative assembly to be elected by universal suffrage, a free press, free speech and freedom of conscience.

Alexander III ascended the throne with liberal views. He took up General Loris Melnikoff's reform program with a willingness to carry it out and call a representative assembly. In fact, two days before the nihilist manifesto had been issued, Alexander III, in a secret assembly of his ministers, at which the Melnikoff program had been approved, had already issued a negative veto. Grand Duke Vladimir was among those who voted in the affirmative.

The influence of the reactionary party, however, led by M. Pobedonostsev, procurator of the holy synod, was strong enough to secure the final defeat of the Melnikoff program.

The struggle between the bureaucracy and the people was renewed. General Loris Melnikoff and other liberal members of the ministry resigned and the reactionary party had full control.

On October 29, 1888, an attempt on the life of Alexander III, was made. The imperial train was derailed, near Bork station in southern Russia, and twenty-one persons killed. The czar himself was slightly hurt.

More Repressive Measures.

Count Tolstoy, the reactionary minister, died on May 7, 1883, and his successor, M. Durnovo, continued his repressive policy. On March 5, 1880, Maria Tshobrikova, a popular writer on education, addressed a letter to Alexander III, threatening him with death for continuing to suppress the liberties of the people. She was exiled, and the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout.

For ten years the same struggle continued. The czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout. The garden of agitation was always the same—free speech, a free press, free conscience, a representative form of government, a constitution, a parliament.

As the popular agitation became so widespread that the government began to show signs of alarm. The year began inauspiciously for the czar. On October 10, 1880, the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate Count Tolstoy. This act was followed by riots in St. Petersburg, in which the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout. Seven hundred students were arrested in St. Petersburg and taken to the city of St. Petersburg.

The student riots continued through the greater part of 1881, and eventually the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout. The year 1882 brought a still louder demand for representative government.

Assassination of Alexander II.

That was the first great step toward a more popular form of government for Russia ever taken. It was approved by Alexander II, on October 29, 1880. On March 23, 1881, Alexander II, who had been assassinated and Alexander III, succeeded to the throne.

The nihilists greeted Alexander III, in a spirit of friendship. In their manifesto issued on March 23 they offered him peace if he would grant a representative assembly to be elected by universal suffrage, a free press, free speech and freedom of conscience.

Alexander III ascended the throne with liberal views. He took up General Loris Melnikoff's reform program with a willingness to carry it out and call a representative assembly. In fact, two days before the nihilist manifesto had been issued, Alexander III, in a secret assembly of his ministers, at which the Melnikoff program had been approved, had already issued a negative veto. Grand Duke Vladimir was among those who voted in the affirmative.

The influence of the reactionary party, however, led by M. Pobedonostsev, procurator of the holy synod, was strong enough to secure the final defeat of the Melnikoff program.

The struggle between the bureaucracy and the people was renewed. General Loris Melnikoff and other liberal members of the ministry resigned and the reactionary party had full control.

On October 29, 1888, an attempt on the life of Alexander III, was made. The imperial train was derailed, near Bork station in southern Russia, and twenty-one persons killed. The czar himself was slightly hurt.

More Repressive Measures.

Count Tolstoy, the reactionary minister, died on May 7, 1883, and his successor, M. Durnovo, continued his repressive policy. On March 5, 1880, Maria Tshobrikova, a popular writer on education, addressed a letter to Alexander III, threatening him with death for continuing to suppress the liberties of the people. She was exiled, and the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout.

For ten years the same struggle continued. The czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout. The garden of agitation was always the same—free speech, a free press, free conscience, a representative form of government, a constitution, a parliament.

As the popular agitation became so widespread that the government began to show signs of alarm. The year began inauspiciously for the czar. On October 10, 1880, the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate Count Tolstoy. This act was followed by riots in St. Petersburg, in which the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout. Seven hundred students were arrested in St. Petersburg and taken to the city of St. Petersburg.

The student riots continued through the greater part of 1881, and eventually the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout. The year 1882 brought a still louder demand for representative government.

Assassination of Alexander II.

That was the first great step toward a more popular form of government for Russia ever taken. It was approved by Alexander II, on October 29, 1880. On March 23, 1881, Alexander II, who had been assassinated and Alexander III, succeeded to the throne.

The nihilists greeted Alexander III, in a spirit of friendship. In their manifesto issued on March 23 they offered him peace if he would grant a representative assembly to be elected by universal suffrage, a free press, free speech and freedom of conscience.

Alexander III ascended the throne with liberal views. He took up General Loris Melnikoff's reform program with a willingness to carry it out and call a representative assembly. In fact, two days before the nihilist manifesto had been issued, Alexander III, in a secret assembly of his ministers, at which the Melnikoff program had been approved, had already issued a negative veto. Grand Duke Vladimir was among those who voted in the affirmative.

The influence of the reactionary party, however, led by M. Pobedonostsev, procurator of the holy synod, was strong enough to secure the final defeat of the Melnikoff program.

The struggle between the bureaucracy and the people was renewed. General Loris Melnikoff and other liberal members of the ministry resigned and the reactionary party had full control.

On October 29, 1888, an attempt on the life of Alexander III, was made. The imperial train was derailed, near Bork station in southern Russia, and twenty-one persons killed. The czar himself was slightly hurt.

More Repressive Measures.

Count Tolstoy, the reactionary minister, died on May 7, 1883, and his successor, M. Durnovo, continued his repressive policy. On March 5, 1880, Maria Tshobrikova, a popular writer on education, addressed a letter to Alexander III, threatening him with death for continuing to suppress the liberties of the people. She was exiled, and the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout.

For ten years the same struggle continued. The czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout. The garden of agitation was always the same—free speech, a free press, free conscience, a representative form of government, a constitution, a parliament.

As the popular agitation became so widespread that the government began to show signs of alarm. The year began inauspiciously for the czar. On October 10, 1880, the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate Count Tolstoy. This act was followed by riots in St. Petersburg, in which the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout. Seven hundred students were arrested in St. Petersburg and taken to the city of St. Petersburg.

The student riots continued through the greater part of 1881, and eventually the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout. The year 1882 brought a still louder demand for representative government.

Assassination of Alexander II.

That was the first great step toward a more popular form of government for Russia ever taken. It was approved by Alexander II, on October 29, 1880. On March 23, 1881, Alexander II, who had been assassinated and Alexander III, succeeded to the throne.

The nihilists greeted Alexander III, in a spirit of friendship. In their manifesto issued on March 23 they offered him peace if he would grant a representative assembly to be elected by universal suffrage, a free press, free speech and freedom of conscience.

Alexander III ascended the throne with liberal views. He took up General Loris Melnikoff's reform program with a willingness to carry it out and call a representative assembly. In fact, two days before the nihilist manifesto had been issued, Alexander III, in a secret assembly of his ministers, at which the Melnikoff program had been approved, had already issued a negative veto. Grand Duke Vladimir was among those who voted in the affirmative.

The influence of the reactionary party, however, led by M. Pobedonostsev, procurator of the holy synod, was strong enough to secure the final defeat of the Melnikoff program.

The struggle between the bureaucracy and the people was renewed. General Loris Melnikoff and other liberal members of the ministry resigned and the reactionary party had full control.

On October 29, 1888, an attempt on the life of Alexander III, was made. The imperial train was derailed, near Bork station in southern Russia, and twenty-one persons killed. The czar himself was slightly hurt.

More Repressive Measures.

Count Tolstoy, the reactionary minister, died on May 7, 1883, and his successor, M. Durnovo, continued his repressive policy. On March 5, 1880, Maria Tshobrikova, a popular writer on education, addressed a letter to Alexander III, threatening him with death for continuing to suppress the liberties of the people. She was exiled, and the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout.

For ten years the same struggle continued. The czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout. The garden of agitation was always the same—free speech, a free press, free conscience, a representative form of government, a constitution, a parliament.

As the popular agitation became so widespread that the government began to show signs of alarm. The year began inauspiciously for the czar. On October 10, 1880, the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate Count Tolstoy. This act was followed by riots in St. Petersburg, in which the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout. Seven hundred students were arrested in St. Petersburg and taken to the city of St. Petersburg.

The student riots continued through the greater part of 1881, and eventually the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout. The year 1882 brought a still louder demand for representative government.

Assassination of Alexander II.

That was the first great step toward a more popular form of government for Russia ever taken. It was approved by Alexander II, on October 29, 1880. On March 23, 1881, Alexander II, who had been assassinated and Alexander III, succeeded to the throne.

The nihilists greeted Alexander III, in a spirit of friendship. In their manifesto issued on March 23 they offered him peace if he would grant a representative assembly to be elected by universal suffrage, a free press, free speech and freedom of conscience.

Alexander III ascended the throne with liberal views. He took up General Loris Melnikoff's reform program with a willingness to carry it out and call a representative assembly. In fact, two days before the nihilist manifesto had been issued, Alexander III, in a secret assembly of his ministers, at which the Melnikoff program had been approved, had already issued a negative veto. Grand Duke Vladimir was among those who voted in the affirmative.

The influence of the reactionary party, however, led by M. Pobedonostsev, procurator of the holy synod, was strong enough to secure the final defeat of the Melnikoff program.

The struggle between the bureaucracy and the people was renewed. General Loris Melnikoff and other liberal members of the ministry resigned and the reactionary party had full control.

On October 29, 1888, an attempt on the life of Alexander III, was made. The imperial train was derailed, near Bork station in southern Russia, and twenty-one persons killed. The czar himself was slightly hurt.

More Repressive Measures.

Count Tolstoy, the reactionary minister, died on May 7, 1883, and his successor, M. Durnovo, continued his repressive policy. On March 5, 1880, Maria Tshobrikova, a popular writer on education, addressed a letter to Alexander III, threatening him with death for continuing to suppress the liberties of the people. She was exiled, and the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout.

For ten years the same struggle continued. The czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout. The garden of agitation was always the same—free speech, a free press, free conscience, a representative form of government, a constitution, a parliament.

As the popular agitation became so widespread that the government began to show signs of alarm. The year began inauspiciously for the czar. On October 10, 1880, the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate Count Tolstoy. This act was followed by riots in St. Petersburg, in which the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout. Seven hundred students were arrested in St. Petersburg and taken to the city of St. Petersburg.

The student riots continued through the greater part of 1881, and eventually the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout. The year 1882 brought a still louder demand for representative government.

Assassination of Alexander II.

That was the first great step toward a more popular form of government for Russia ever taken. It was approved by Alexander II, on October 29, 1880. On March 23, 1881, Alexander II, who had been assassinated and Alexander III, succeeded to the throne.

The nihilists greeted Alexander III, in a spirit of friendship. In their manifesto issued on March 23 they offered him peace if he would grant a representative assembly to be elected by universal suffrage, a free press, free speech and freedom of conscience.

Alexander III ascended the throne with liberal views. He took up General Loris Melnikoff's reform program with a willingness to carry it out and call a representative assembly. In fact, two days before the nihilist manifesto had been issued, Alexander III, in a secret assembly of his ministers, at which the Melnikoff program had been approved, had already issued a negative veto. Grand Duke Vladimir was among those who voted in the affirmative.

The influence of the reactionary party, however, led by M. Pobedonostsev, procurator of the holy synod, was strong enough to secure the final defeat of the Melnikoff program.

The struggle between the bureaucracy and the people was renewed. General Loris Melnikoff and other liberal members of the ministry resigned and the reactionary party had full control.

On October 29, 1888, an attempt on the life of Alexander III, was made. The imperial train was derailed, near Bork station in southern Russia, and twenty-one persons killed. The czar himself was slightly hurt.

More Repressive Measures.

Count Tolstoy, the reactionary minister, died on May 7, 1883, and his successor, M. Durnovo, continued his repressive policy. On March 5, 1880, Maria Tshobrikova, a popular writer on education, addressed a letter to Alexander III, threatening him with death for continuing to suppress the liberties of the people. She was exiled, and the czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout.

For ten years the same struggle continued. The czar's subjects were called to excommunicate the people with the knout. The garden of agitation was always the same—free speech, a free press, free conscience, a representative

Nebraska's New Senator.

ELMER J. BURKETT, Of Lincoln, Neb., Who Was Elected by the Nebraska Legislature, at the Age of 37, to Succeed Charles H. Dethrich in the United States Senate.

Clever Impostor. "P. S. Weekly" Levor says somewhere that when he threw out a handful of small coin to the Neapolitan beggars the blind were the first to see it, the paralyzed to run for it, the lame to pick it up, the maimed to put it in their pockets and the dumb to blaspheme their ill luck in being out of it.

The other day in Edgeware road I came to the help of a poor blind man who was hesitating painfully to cross the crowded street. When I had conveyed him across he asked me to guide him to some vague address, which neither I nor any one else could locate. Returning two hours later I saw my afflicted friend being helped across the road by another sympathizer from the very same spot and side of the street where I had come to his assistance. He had spent the two hours crossing and reaching the road with the help of the charitable, who were probably in most cases moved to supplement their practical by pecuniary assistance.

"Hurrying once to catch a train, I was deaf to the piteous appeal of a beggar who groined out in the street, 'My God! My God! I must die in the street!'" My remembrance was fortunately sharpened, for passing him without recognizing him on the same day of the following week, and in a similar hurry to catch a train, I heard the same man appealing and almost appalling ejaculation, "My God! My God! I must die in the street!"

Hard to Keep Posted. San Antonio Express: Thomas Fogarty, the inventor who is talking about modern fashions in dress.

It is hard to keep up with the fashion, there are two hats of the same kind, I remember one night in my boyhood at the theater, a man in a rowl coat all of a sudden jumped up excitedly, "But his wife pulled him back into his coat!"

"For mercy's sake, hush!" she whispered. "That isn't an umbrella; it's a new winter hat!"

Not Imitable. "Town Topics": Mrs. Hoyle—Mrs. Hoyle used to wear a queue.

Mrs. Doyle: I should say so. I heard her say the other day that God did things in such an imitable way.

For Sweet Charity. London Tit-Bits: She—Im glad we went. It was an excellent performance and for such a charitable purpose.

Her Husband—Yes, indeed. I all feel a thrill of satisfaction when we do something for charity and get the worth of our yards at the same time.

Ten Yards Ahead. "Keep in Mind": "If I kin de keep ten yards ahead or de de devil in de street," said Brother Dickey, "on a free air fair road, whar trouble cart trip me, I'll be satisfied!"

They Were Twins. Mr. Speaker (in politician)—I tell you, the question is, what shall we do with our new post-office? Mr. Newpaw—I'll walk the floor at nights with mine.

What They Mean. The hyphen is a short mark used to separate the same your parents gave you from the one your husband wanted to take away from you.

The dash is a similar mark, only longer, and is used to express a cuss word in pantomime.

Brackets are used to segregate the remark you really mean from the one you were forced to write for politeness sake. The period is a painful subject. It indicates your finish.

Twisted Fact. Commercial Tribune: "You are proprietor of Phake's Panacea, you say?" remarked Smartalegh. "Well," your medicine cured me," said the doctor, delighted.

"In glad," said the man, delighted.

"Yes, an old uncle of mine took it and was cured," he said.

On Tomorrow Night. Harper's Weekly: During the first night of George Ade's new play, "The Colonel," the author was walking alone, the office of his hotel when spoken to by an out-of-town friend.

"The author," said the friend, "is not here." "I want to get over to see your play tonight, but I couldn't manage to get over," said the friend, "I'll be on tomorrow night."

A Good Medicine. Commercial Tribune: "You are proprietor of Phake's Panacea, you say?" remarked Smartalegh. "Well," your medicine cured me," said the doctor, delighted.

"In glad," said the man, delighted.

"Yes, an old uncle of mine took it and was cured," he said.

Prospective Employer—Are you very thoughtful about the little things that you do?

Applicant (absently)—Well, I'm the father of ten kids.

Man Who Served Eleven Years in the United States Navy Says They Are a Dirty People. (St. Louis City Tribune.)

R. C. Nevin, who recently returned from the Orient, recently with his brother, C. E. Nevin, editor of the "Lawyer, Neb. Advocate," Mr. Nevin is now living in Laurel, Neb.

The zemstvos asked the czar to equalize the civil and political rights of peasants and other classes, and to abolish the administrative (bureaucratic) tutelage. He promises this independence within legal limitations.

Promises Reform in Courts. The zemstvos asked, as a guarantee of personal rights, that no one in the empire should be subjected to punishment or restriction in any opinion expressed before the courts. The czar grants the appeal.

The zemstvos complained of the arbitrary character of the law and government by personal caprice. The czar declares that the authorities charged with the administration of the law are to be held responsible for every arbitrary act, and that persons who have suffered wrongs by such acts shall be allowed to sue for redress.

Historic Day for Russia. The 15th of November is henceforth a historic date in Russian annals—analogy, one might say, to the 4th of May in the United States. On that fateful Saturday evening, ninety-eight out of the 110 zemstvos were gathered together in a house on the River Fontanka and formed themselves into a preliminary parliament.

They deliberated then and on the three following days behind closed doors, no outsider being admitted. That was part of the program which was planned in the interior

BY DAD.

Parker & Paul Wirt Fountain Pens guaranteed. Price $1 to $20.00. W.A. New Drug Co., Boyd Annex.

As I well know, relates the Achen-son's job, a school teacher often refers to his pupils as "my children."

There were a number of women on a down-town Sioux City street car who turned up their noses at the packing house men.

The Herald says it isn't worrying nor losing sleep over the fear of a third paper being turned out in Wayne.

J. M. Ross lost $110 last Friday, a wad of bills, and offers $10 reward for recovery of the money.

Letters: Miss Grace Boxwood, Mrs. Augustus Brown, John Loch, G. R. M. Donald, C. R. Rbe, Wilson & Taylor, Schlyer Witwer.

The Monday club met with Mrs. Heckert which met with Mesdames Chase and McLeod of Stanton as visitors.

Yesterday was ground hog day, but the coal man got a big piece of it.

The resolution of the Nebraska legislature making R. T. Dobbins, editor of the Lincoln News, appear before that honorable body and say who told him that a railroad lobbyist had made one of the solons give up an annual pass, because, as the News printed the story, the said lawmaker refused to vote for a railroad bill.

A Vinon, Iowa, man made $3,600 off of twelve acres of onions planted last summer. Next spring he will put in forty acres, and expects to get $12,000 out of the crop.

Dr. Brown, the head of the board of health in New York city, says that idiot children should be drowned.

An Iowa exchange says: Some of the people of Nebraska have become fiercely opposed to the bone breaking game of football, so much so that a member of the legislature of that state has introduced a bill prohibiting the game under penalty of a jail sentence for the first offense, spectators being made liable along with the players.

What this country needs is to send me to the legislature who will not be different because of the way they get there—or fare; either will do us.

Little grains of powder, Little drops of pain, Makes the girls' complexions What they really want.

Russia has sent for an agricultural expert from this country to find out the cause of the deterioration of the soil of her farms, which is well; now let her send here for an expert to fix her government and that will be better for her still.—Des Moines Register.

Yes, show 'em how to permit trusts and monopolies and railroad rate fixers to throttle the people and the peoples' interests, for instance.

Seed Corn Special. The C. S. P. M. & O. R. R. has arranged to run a "Seed Corn Special" from Norfolk Feb. 24th to Florence, Feb. 25th.

Card of Thanks. We wish to thank the many friends who have shown their love and expressed to us their sympathy in so many ways.

One 2-year-old red-helifer came to my place, 2 1/2 miles south and 1/2 west of Wayne, between Dec. 25, '04, and Jan. 1, '05. Owner can recover same by paying all costs. F. M. HOSZTNER Cobs for sale, big loads for little money. See O. Cadwell.

ROASTING

Coffee is One Task. Roasting it Perfect is Another. Buy WITTER'S COFFEE And Have Both

House for Sale.

Residence one-half block west of the post office. Cheap if taken at once. Also pool hall. WM. DAMMEYER.

Mrs. R. L. Oxford Dead.

The many Iowa friends of Mrs. R. L. Oxford, one of the pioneer settlers of Wayne, will be pained to learn of her death at South Sioux City, last Monday.

Next week the DEMOCRAT is going to commence a serial story entitled "Embryonic Wayne," by "Frank," and it's as good a story as any fiction printed, and all true.

June Conger is moving into the house formerly occupied by W. M. Wright.

Markets today are wheat 95, corn 33, oats 23, flax $1.62, barley 28, rye 59.

Gus Welmers and wife left today for Chicago where they will visit the former's mother who has been ill for some weeks.

For insurance or a snap in lands see or write W. F. Assenheimer, Altona, Neb.

Chas. Schultheis' boy was very bad yesterday, but at midnight took a change for the better and today is in better shape than for a week.

Henry Bockenhauer is quite ill at West Point where he went recently to attend the funeral of a sister-in-law.

Wayne people didn't take much stock in the Davis Stock Co., a fair theatrical aggregation, that moved to greener pastures Wednesday.

A number of thermometers registered 33 below zero yesterday morning, it being at least 34. Down near Bob Armstrong's coal sheds there was one bobbing along at 40 below.

Elli Jones formed a partnership this week with Fred Brown in the livery business, the firm to be Brown & Jones.

Dr. Blair reports a son born to Mr. and Mrs. Alex Suhr last Tuesday. It is their first boy and of course Alex is feeling pretty foxy about it.

Phil Kohl tells the DEMOCRAT that he has placed over $50,000 in farm loans in Wayne county for the Union Central Insurance Co. of Cincinnati in the month of January past.

Dr. Blair reports a son born to Mr. and Mrs. Alex Suhr last Tuesday. It is their first boy and of course Alex is feeling pretty foxy about it.

Mr. Kohl says they will loan from $4,500 $5,000 on quarters close to Wayne that are well improved.

Two Fine Farms for Sale. We have an excellent 160 acres in southern Wayne county well improved a little rolling, but first class in every respect, all under cultivation and "A" No. 1 soil; also 80 acres, one half mile from the above, about half under cultivation, balance in pastures with running water, which we will sell at a low price, and on very easy terms.

Hay for Sale. Have some extra good hay for sale, bale or bulk. C. R. MADDEN.

For Sale of Trade. One new, six-bolt Joliet corn shell-er, ten-horse power. Will take young cattle or hogs in trade. Address me at Wassford, Neb. E. BROCKENHAUSER

DON'T SAY YOU DIDN'T KNOW IT

Every year, after we have sold out all the winter clothing we had left at this season of the year, we have customers that say they didn't know we were selling overcoats at 25 per cent. off and boys' reofer coats at half price and fur coats at 10 per cent. off.

YOU KNOW IT NOW

If you want these bargains come now as they are going fast and will not last long. Plenty of time yet to wear fur coats and overcoats. They are cheap now and will be higher priced next year. Make money by saving it on things that you must have to wear.

HAVE YOU GOT EARS?

If your ears are not frosted so bad that you can not hear, let us tell you that our caps will now be sold at half price. Now is the time to buy a cap, for the next two weeks is cap weather. Get one and save half the price. Don't forget to wear Stoley underwear if you want to live until warm weather. If yours is getting thin, buy new and wear the old next spring. You can't afford to die.

Public Auction

At my place, section 16, Wilbur precinct, 5 1/2 miles north and 3 miles west of Wayne, 8 1/2 south of Laurel, commencing at 12 o'clock with Free Lunch. Monday, Feb. 13, 1905. The Following Described Property: 12 Head of Horses, 8 good work Horses; 5 colts 8 months to 3 years old. 5 Young Cattle, 70 Good Hogs 70

30 head Brood Sows and 40 head of Fall Shoats. 23 dozen Hens in Coops, Coops go with the Hens. FARM MACHINERY Two farm wagons, top buggy, set new driving harness, 4 set work harness, saddle and bridle, riding lister, one-row lister, corn plow, surface corn plow, 16-inch riding plow, one binder. Also 15 tons millet, household furniture and numerous other articles.

TERMS: 10 months time on approved note at 10 per cent interest. Sums $10 and under Cash.

E. CUNNINGHAM AUCTIONEER. ROLLIE LEY, CLERK. G. W. JONES.

Herman's Place

Still here and willing to stay here if they let us sell you the best goods

In Town

Come in and see me when you want an especially good article in booze. Something that will tone up your system and do you more good than a barrel full of patent medicine. I also am always pleased to fill all phone orders, our number being 66—as good a game as any dutchman wants. If you have no money bring your face, we will show you the best you ever had—in a looking glass. Call at 4:30 a. m. for special favors.

Yours for good Liquors, HERMAN MILDNER

Simon Gogman came up from Omaha t-day. Gilbert and Fred French were bound passengers this morning.

John Mundy of Winslow left this morning for Alabama where he will spend the remainder of the winter.

The Wayne Drug Co. has the swellest thing in Valentines in town. Call and see.

Mr. and Mrs. Lou Jones of Winslow took dinner Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Sherbahn.

The DEMOCRAT does not ever remember seeing as fine a line of valentines as Jim Leahy has to sell at the drug store.

Wm. Hodgson has leased a farm northeast of Bloomfield. Geo. Pfifer expects to farm a place near Carroll next year. John Loosbach taking the Mellor farm west of town which he will plant to beets.

Charley Kellogg and wife of Verdell are spending a week at the home of Mr. Kellogg's parents.

For Good Dental Work

Go To DR. BELL'S, THE DENTIST

Office over State Bank.

Society Notes.

The Ladies' Aid met with Mrs. Tucker on Wednesday and completed arrangements for the Exchange that is to be held at Epler's Grocery Store. Mrs. Britton has charge of the affair for next Saturday.

Mrs. A. A. Welch planned a very successful surprise party for Miss Florence, on last Friday, it being her eighteenth birthday. Six couples enjoyed a fine three course dinner, afterwards spending the evening in games and dancing. The young hostess received some nice presents and thought the affair much better than the one she had helped her mother prepare for a party of ladies. Those invited were the Misses Winnifred Nortkov, Mary Mellor, Edna Neely, Alice Kate, Marion Hyde and Messrs. Warren Shaltrites, William Mellor, Charlie Kate, Lou Beckenhauer, Lon Lundberg, and Perry Theobald.

Ruth Sherbahn entertained the "Busy Workers" last Wednesday afternoon. After their sewing was finished they were served with nice refreshments. They were entertained by Miss Harman on the piano and Eva Mellor danced for them.

For Rent.

By the first of March, the Lelsen-berg Boarding House. For particulars inquire four doors west of post-office.

F. E. GAMBLE, Osteopath

Office rear end of State Bank. Ind. Phone Office 23. Res. 16.

HOSKINS

Miss Tooby who visited her cousin Miss Elliot over Sunday returned to Norfolk Wednesday.

Miss Elliot and cousin visited Friday night with Miss Wilson at Bega. The Mpm Social was a great success both socially and financially.

Mrs. Averil is suffering with Rheumatism this week. We understand that there is to be a unsked ball at the Hall Febr. 14.

The ladies have organized a sewing society where we presume the old Bachelors can get their buttons sewed on at a reasonable price. We expect their husbands will have to go buttonless in the future unless they have the price.

A fine line of laces and embroideries at the millinery store.

Mrs. Gus Schroeder visited a sister at Eweing the last of the week returning Monday. Mrs. Henry Schroeder returned with her for a visit with her husbands people.

All winter clothing going at cost at the millinery store.

Mrs. Lucky was a passenger to Norfolk Monday.

Mr. Saiten who visited some time with his aunt Mrs. Averil left Wednesday for home.

Headquarters for valentines at the millinery store.

Rev. Peters was in town Tuesday and remained for the social Friday evening.

Some of those MWA fellows said before their meeting that they had 14 candidates to initiate at the meeting this week, and at the meeting they took in station agent Candor. Now if it was any of my business I should insist on being shown. Mr. Candor is all right, but this is the first initiation we have received that there was 14 of him.

CARROLL NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Jensen were Wayne visitors Wednesday.

On Sunday, Jan. 22, 1905, a boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Kenny, living near Shoals.

Henry Bay sold a team of mules at private sale last week for $300. Wm. Fletcher of Winslow was the buyer.

A telegram from Rev. J. W. Merrill at Beatrice, was received in Carroll Monday evening announcing the death of their baby. The child was hardly seven years old. While ailing for some time the immediate cause of death was cerebral spinal meningitis. Burial was made at Red Oak, Iowa, Wednesday. Miss Sarah Jenkins and Geo. C. Merrill attended the funeral from Carroll.

Mr. Earl Fleetwood and sister Miss Winnie from Wayne, were guests at the Clonson home from Saturday to Tuesday. On Monday evening a few friends were entertained in their honor. Progressive whist was played and nice refreshments served. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Veal, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tucker, Dr. and Mrs. Phillips, Misses Lizzie Williams and Fleetwood, Messrs. Wassum, Lundquist and Fleetwood.

The successor of Guy Manning in the harness business is C. W. Marshall & Co. in stead of G. W. Vain as stated last week.

The lumber, hardware and furniture business of R. D. Merrill & Company has been purchased by J. J. Melick & Son of Neligh, Neb.

E. H. Fitch has secured the required number of signs for a new rural route "out of Carroll. It established it will serve the country north and east of Iowa. Mr. Fitch is up for carrier.

Agonizing Burns are instantly relieved, and perfectly healed by Bucklen's Arnica Salve, C. Rivesbank, Jr., of Norfolk, Va., writes: "I burned my knee dreadfully, that it blistered all over. Bucklen's Arnica Salve stopped the pain and healed it without a scar." Also heals all wounds and sores. 25c at Raymond, Druggist.

The Wayne Cash STORE

Is to be a cash store with the emphasis on CASH and LOW PRICES. Leigh Bros., successors to Wm. Wittler, are stocking up the store in good shape and propose to call their store THE WAYNE CASH STORE but to make all their bargains for cash. The new men are hustlers and will make the Cash Store a leader among the Wayne merchants. Call and see them, get acquainted, bring in your farm produce—and Leigh Bros. will do the rest.

Van Yanson's Leg.

A meet faller odder nite on Washington advent. "He say, 'Hallo, Yanson!' A say, 'Accuse me, A don't no u.'" "He say, 'Val, I no u, Yanson. Kom an over en hev a drank.'" A say, "No, tank, A don't ever smoke." Val, he tell me to kom over just for fun anho. Val, A laik fun party gode so A go long in. He order haf and haf. A say "A tek sam tang." A got half milk en haf water. A vent to des kospidor. Der bean no oder door open. Bantender he say, "Val's up, Yanson!" A say, "Des haf and haf."

So we had a few more. Den des faller tel ma he been a friend to Yim Hill. He been vay up in yee. But yust now he ben a litle short. He laik to borro favr dollar from me. Val, A say, "A het to mak yu enj shorter, but A hef to torn yu down. Vy yu don't borro yv friend Yim Hill?" He tal ma Yim Hill got all his moiti tied up in railroad stock. Val A say, "A got mine tied up in a tobacco saak. A ben kandy short maseif, but A don't care to hav ma legs puled."

A yust ben in des country shurt taim but A ben sharp laik led pencil. A ben carish but A ben no sucker. A no carpet tax ven I set down. I told des to a frog one day an he party near croke. Des remind me, A peaty near croke maseif one day last spring. I had a fall. A slip on a saidvaik an change denes. A sitted rat down on my koller button en turn purty near insbe aut. Der ben a not hole in der saidvaik, but A not ben spected to pull tru. YANSEN —Northwood Angkor.

The following story is told about a Minnesota man, but when the generosity of the railroad company is taken into consideration, one is led to believe that the incident must be of Nebraska extraction: Not because he risked his life in performing a heroic deed, but because he showed superior presence of mind, does Tasker Benks, a farmer who lives south of town, deserve a share of the Carnegie hero fund.

He was driving to town at full speed to bring a surgeon to his son, who had been injured by a rifle. When, on coming to the railroad crossing at the top of the Bently hill, he saw that a railroad culvert had been burned beyond a sharp curve in the railroad track. Looking south he saw a freight train coming, far away across the Bently meadows. He had no time to wait to warn the train, for the boy at home was in a precarious condition. After a moment's thought Henk sprang out of his wagon, and with a club killed his son's pet dog, that had followed the train. It was a fat dog, and cutting it up hastily greased the tracks with it for several rods down the sharp grade south of the crossing, and drove on his way on a gallop.

On arriving at the greased grade the heavy train was stopped by the slipping of the wheels, and the train men, on looking for the cause, discovered the burned culvert.

The surgeon soon got the boy out of all danger, and today, when the railroad officials learned how Mr. Henks had saved the train, they paid him $3 for the dog.

Poisons in Food. Perhaps you don't realize that many pain poisons originate in your food, but some day you may feel a twinge of dyspepsia that will convince you. Dr. King's New Life Pills are guaranteed to cure all sickness due to poisons of undigested food—or money back. 25c at Raymond's Drug store. Try them.

Revolution Eminent. A sure sign of approaching ill and serious trouble in your system is nervousness, sleeplessness, or stomach upsets. Electric Bitters will quickly dismember the troublesome causes. It never fails to tone the stomach, regulate the Liver, and clarify the blood. Run down systems benefit particularly and all the usual attending aches vanish under its searching and thorough effectiveness. Electric Bitters is only 50c and that is returned if it don't give perfect satisfaction. Guaranteed by Raymond, Druggist.

Trade For Horses. My newly now six-hog Sandwich corn sheller. Call on me at bowling alley. ASHER HULLBUTT

Omaha Markets. NYS & BUCHANAN CO. Feb. 2, 1905. Light receipts of cattle for the first three days of this week is bringing some advance over the very weak close of last week and can be quoted as 10c higher. Stockers and feeders continue steady to strong. We believe the excessive run of half fat cattle to Chicago are about over and that beef values will gradually increase.

Hog market has advanced slightly again with liberal receipts. Range $4.60 to $4.80. Fat sheep market is 10 to 15 higher than last week's close; receipts fairly

The Kiss.

Last night I had to go to bed. All by myself, my mother said. 'Cause I'd been naughty all day through. She wouldn't kiss me goodnight, too. I didn't want to let her know. How much I cared 'bout that! and so I dropped my clothes right on the floor— A thing I never did before— And put each stocking in a shoe— She fast hated that—and didn't do. My hair, or wash, my face or braid. My teeth, and left things in a squab All 'round the room; and then I took Her picture, and my fairy book. She gave me on my last birthday. In June and hid 'em both away. I put my father's picture right Up in the middle of the light, To show 'em just the way I feel. 'Cause he said, 'Kiss the child, Lucille. Don't let her go to bed like this. Without your usual goodnight kiss.' But she just shook her head and turned Her back, and then my eyes they burned Like fire... It's been a horrid day. And then, of course, I didn't say My prayers at all, but went to bed. And wished and wished that I was dead. Well, I don't know just how it was. For I'd been half way sleeping, 'cause I was so 'pleasly tired out. When I heard something move about So quiet, and the next I knew The door moved back and she came through And pulled her arm around me so. And said—whispering very low, 'My poor, dear child, and was so sad, And kissed me twice—My I was glad.

Her picture, and my fairy book. She gave me on my last birthday. In June and hid 'em both away. I put my father's picture right Up in the middle of the light, To show 'em just the way I feel. 'Cause he said, 'Kiss the child, Lucille. Don't let her go to bed like this. Without your usual goodnight kiss.' But she just shook her head and turned Her back, and then my eyes they burned Like fire... It's been a horrid day. And then, of course, I didn't say My prayers at all, but went to bed. And wished and wished that I was dead. Well, I don't know just how it was. For I'd been half way sleeping, 'cause I was so 'pleasly tired out. When I heard something move about So quiet, and the next I knew The door moved back and she came through And pulled her arm around me so. And said—whispering very low, 'My poor, dear child, and was so sad, And kissed me twice—My I was glad.

—Louise Morgan Hill in Harper's Magazine.

For Sale. The property now occupied as Methodist parsonage. Price $2250. Rents for $15 a month. Dr. HOCKEY.

Grave Trouble Foreseen. It needn't be little foresight to tell that when your stomach and liver are badly affected, grave trouble is ahead, unless you take the proper medicine for your disease, as Mrs. John A. Young, of Clay, N. Y., did. She says: "I had neuralgia of the stomach, and liver, my heart was weakened, and I could not eat. I was very bad for a long time, but in Electric Bitters I found just what I needed. For my quickly relieved and cured me." Best medicine for weak women. Sold under guarantee by Raymond, Druggist, at 50c a bottle.

Nebraska's Most Popular SPECIALIST Dr. Caldwell OF CHICAGO will by request visit professionally The Boyd Hotel at Wayne Wednesday, Feb. 8 ONE DAY ONLY Returning Every Four Weeks. Consult Her While the Opportunity is at Hand.

Dr. Caldwell limits her practice to the special treatment of diseases of the Eye, Ear, Nose, Throat, Lungs, Female Diseases, Diseases of Children, and all Chronic, Nervous, and Surgical Diseases of a curable nature. Early consumption, bronchitis, bronchial catarrh, chronic catarrh, head ache, Constipation, Stomach and Bowel Troubles, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Bright's Disease, Kidney Diseases, Diseases of the Liver and Bladder, Blisters, Nervousness, Indigestion, Obesity, Interrupted Nutrition, Slow Growth in Children, and all Wasting Diseases in Adults; Paralysis, Club-foot, Curvature of the Spine, Diseases of the Brain, Paralysis, St. Vitus' Dance, Prosy, Swelling of the Lids, Stricture, Open sores, Pain in the Bones, Granular Enlargements, and all long standing Diseases.

BLOOD AND SKIN DISEASES. Eruptions, Itches, Eruptions, Liver spots, Falling of the Hair, Bad Complexion, Eczema, Throat Ulcers, Bone pains, Ringworm, Headache, Backache, Burning Itching, Passing urine too often, The effects of contagious sickness, or the taking of colds; such injurious medicine, receives searching treatment, prompt relief and a cure for life.

Diseases of women, Irregular Menstruation, Falling of the Womb, Bearing Down Pains, Female Displacement, Lack of Sexual Tone, Leucorrhoea, Sterility or barrenness consult Dr. Caldwell, and she will show them the cause of their trouble and the way to become cured.

Cancer, Gout, Rheumatism, and enlarged glands treated with the most successful method known, without pain and without the loss of a drop of blood is one of her own discoveries, and will treat the most painful and dangerous cases of Cancer, and Dr. Caldwell practices her profession in the largest hospital through the city. She has no superior in the treatment of the above diseases, and her services are free of charge. Consultation, examination, and treatment, one dollar to those interested in the above communications to Dr. Caldwell, Omaha, Neb.

DR. ORA CALDWELL, CHICAGO, ILL.

Omaha, Neb.

Things Political, Social and Religious.

The eyes of the world have been centered on the far East for some years. They were first attracted there because of the boxer uprising in China and later because of the war between Russia and Japan in Manchuria. The late events in St. Petersburg, and other Russian cities however, have transferred the scene of interest to Russia itself. The attempt of autocracy to maintain itself by murder is only another illustration of the truth that "Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad." Oppression in all ages, and among all people, has ever been blind to the signs of the times, and its own madness has led to its overthrow. It was oppression mad in the person of King John, that gave to the world the Magna Charta, the charter to which Anglo-Saxons look back as the foundation of their freedom. It was oppression blind and mad in the person of Charles and his sycophants, that gave force to the protests of Cromwell and his associates, and lent vigor to their arms in the great contest for a broader freedom. It was oppression maddened by greed in the person of George III, and his parliament, that called forth the American Declaration of Independence and gave to the world a nation consecrated to freedom. It was oppression drunk with its own success that led to the French Revolution, with all its horrors and with all its triumphs. And it is oppression mad with power and drunk with success that led to the beginning of what all liberty loving people should fondly pray may be the downfall of autocracy in the Russian Empire. As in the past, so today, the oppressor blinded by self love and by a power that has thus far been successful in crushing out all aspirations for better things, closes his eyes to the lessons of history, and if only a leader arise, a man equal to the occasion, the scenes enacted in France in the closing years of the eighteenth century may be enacted in Russia in the opening years of the twentieth.

Not only is it true that civil liberty is the outgrowth of an oppression grown proud and arrogant, drunk and mad with its own success, but the same is true of all liberty, whether it be civil or religious, commercial or industrial. Oppression dies hard. In the past, as in Russia today, it manifested itself in government, political and ecclesiastical in all lands. Our civil and religious freedom is the outgrowth of suffering, struggle and outrage such as the Russian peasant endures today. Driven from these strongholds, it is showing its hideous head in the commercial and the industrial worlds. But just as in the past its own madness wrote its doom so, I believe, the arrogance and the indifference to the rights of the masses by corporations and trusts and labor unions is writing the doom of oppression in the industrial and commercial worlds, and some day in the United States there will be a mighty uprising of a righteously indignant people that will change present conditions and introduce a broader liberty and make real a broader freedom. When that hour comes, however, the success of freedom will depend upon leaders, just as the success of the present movement in Russia depends upon leaders.

Those who are moulding human character and directing human aspiration then, have imposed upon them a great responsibility. The rising generation, in their desires and loves, in their aspirations and longings, in their mental and moral capabilities will be just what we make them. We are the heirs of the ages, but our sons and daughters will be heirs also of our victories and defeats.

The leaders of thought in our country villages should be very careful how they think and speak and act, they should be careful how they impress the young about them, for it is from the farm and country village that the force that is to win for this land, freedom from all forms of oppression is to come. There is not a country village in these United States of a 1000 inhabitants that should not maintain, and that might not sustain a public reading room where the best periodicals are kept. A few standard books, the nucleus of a public library, should also be added to the periodicals, enough at least, to bring within the reach and to the notice of our young people a really good literature. There is so much, termed literature, upon the market that is worse than useless, that gives distorted conceptions of life, perverts the taste and threatens the morals of the young, that parents and teachers should use their best endeavors to create a taste for what is pure and helpful. The city or village should come to their assistance by providing that which the young can be directed and where through association, the thoughtless and careless concerning intellectual matters, may be aroused to study and assisted to develop a taste for the good and wholesome.

"Of making many books there is no end" but unfortunately a large part of that many had better never been made. Probably there never was a time when so many people were readers as today; but there never was a time when so much trash was read. This is an age of novels and novel reading. While I believe one can read a certain class of novels and be benefited, I also believe and I think I know, that one cannot spend all their time with novels, even if they are the best, without injury to themselves and so a weakness to all about them.

Too many of the so called literary people of the day are absolutely ignorant of literature outside of novels. As a consequence they are absolutely ignorant of the lessons the history of the past teaches, ignorant of the trend of thought and discovery of the present, and so cannot be helpful members of society, helpful actors in life's drama, will never become leaders in the great work of bringing to the nation and the world a larger helpfulness and a broader freedom.

It is not alone novel reading, however, that threatens to cripple the intellectual power of the rising generation. There is a yellow journalism, a disgrace to the twentieth century, that is also a source of danger. The press ought to be, claims to be, and if true to itself is. A moulder of public opinion and a developer of public taste. When for money or for any purpose it caters to the vicious and vile, it becomes a public menace and an awful danger. No young person can read what suggests the lewd and the vulgar and remain the same as before they read it. No young person can read the sickening details of our divorce courts without having his conception of the marriage relation marred. The record of social scandal was probably never published that did not start some one down the road to shame. If we are to save our young people to lives of usefulness, fit them to be leaders in the great conflicts of life, make them forces for a larger freedom and a grander righteousness we need to use our utmost endeavors to counteract these evils and to arouse within them an ambition for noble things.

Here in Wayne we've seven churches, open one day in seven and one hour during the six working days of the week. We have an opera house, open a few hours a week, and many times open for the performance of that gives false impressions of life and presents false and grovelling ideals. We have three saloons that deal out liquid six days in every week. We have some business houses that ignore the Christian Sabbath and violate the law of the land for gain. We have places too where gambling is carried on by those who seek to secure something for nothing. We have homes of beauty and refinement, schools that are a credit to any community. But amid them all we have not a place anywhere that a stranger who wishes to escape the bustle and distraction of a hotel, may drop in to spend an idle moment, to write a letter or, where he may wait for a train or where our own young people may appoint a meeting with a friend or, spend an hour in social converse; nothing to win them from the loafer's corner and the demoralization that centers about such places.

In times of political excitement, when plums are about to be passed around we are exceedingly active and wonderfully patriotic. Upon the success of our ticket depends our plums and a good many of us feel that the success of the nation also depends upon who gets the plums. But however truly we may do our duty at the polls and in caucus, however loyally we may serve our country then, we want to understand that our public duty is not done when this is done. The care and training of our young people means more than all other things; the fitting them for the crises of life,—political, social, moral—needs constant thought and the prayerful endeavor of all citizens without respect to creed or political affiliation.

The commercialism that has taken hold, such a hold upon the manhood of the nation contains within it a menace, threatens to develop a selfishness that ignores duty and is untrue to opportunity. It is pleasant and helpful to be prosperous, to be leaders in the commercial world; but commerce or wealth do not make a nation; they cannot insure a great future to any people. The Phoenicians were a commercial people. Their navies swept the seas of the known world. They were wealthy, refined, cultured. But their commerce could not insure a future for them; wealth and refinement could not arrest decay. While they were adding to their wealth and extending their trade they were forgetting the morals of their youth, ignoring the mental and spiritual needs of their sons and daughters. No institutions can be lasting that are not founded in pure morals; and the result of the neglect of Phoenicia, as to so many of her sister powers, was decay and death.

A study of the methods of the great corporations as we are having them presented in the magazines is not specially assuring. In the tendency of the times, in the commercial and industrial worlds there is a danger. As a nation we are in a transitional state. Our borders have just been extended. We have added to our domain islands whose inhabitants, in thought and aspiration, are unlike ourselves. The problems that grow out of our late acquisition, problems social and moral, must be solved and solved aright if we are to continue to be a strong and a helpful people. This cannot be done in a day; it will engage the most enlightened attention of this nation for years to come. Our sons and daughters will have to grapple with it as well as we. They must learn from these external things we are in a transitional state. I need not speak of matters religious, of how our theology is being reconstructed, nor of the changes taking place in the scientific and social worlds; but simply call your attention to what I have already mentioned, the changes in the commercial and industrial worlds, the changes in the methods of conducting business and of doing things. Out of these changes problems have arisen that will tax the best thought and effort of the rising generation to solve them in harmony with truth and justice, to solve them so that democratic institutions will be preserved and democratic government strengthened.

We owe to our young people effort and thought. We cannot be true to them, true to our nation, true to ourselves until we have done all that is possible to remove evil from their pathway and to surround them with all helpful moral influences. The penuriousness, or the indifference that will not provide for the wholesome social and intellectual needs of the young in any community is clogging the wheels of progress and endangering the best welfare of the individual and the nation. There are battles to be fought and victories to be won for God and man in the future in this land as well as in Russia; and they can never be fought and won by those trained in saloons, at the gambler's table, nor on loafer's corner. Let us have a public reading room in Wayne. This will be one step in the right direction. Then let us insist on an observance of law—of the Sabbath law and the law against gambling. If to this the City Fathers would rigidly enforce the curfew ordinance and clear the streets at night of those who should be under the influence of home, it seems to me that the chances for a nobler future for the young people of our city would be multiplied.

THOMAS J. WRIGHT.

DIED.

David Ross Cunningham was born in Juniata county, Pennsylvania, December 23, 1876, and died at Wayne, Nebraska, Monday afternoon, January 30, 1905, aged 28 years, one month and seven days.

Ross was the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. David Cunningham and came with his parents from his native state to Marshall county, Iowa, in the spring of 1883, where they lived for one year and moved to Wayne county, Nebraska, in 1888 and lived on the farm south of town until the fall of 1904 when they removed to the city of Wayne. The immediate cause of the death of Ross was hemorrhage of the stomach from which he has been a sufferer for the past year. Deceased was a graduate of the musical department of the Wayne Normal College and in 1899 entered the American Conservatory of music at Chicago and graduated from the teachers' department of that institution in 1901, and following that taught music for two years at Columbus and Genoa, Nebraska, re-entering the American Conservatory in 1903 and graduating from the instrumental department in the summer of 1904. He became the musical instructor in the Wayne Normal in the fall of 1904, but owing to ill health was compelled to give up the work after a few weeks. From early childhood he was an earnest and consistent Christian and united with the Presbyterian church of this city several years ago. He was an exemplary boy and man, a kind and loving son and brother whose presence will be greatly missed in the family circle. He was a musician of rare attainments and was ambitious in this line beyond his strength. He leaves to mourn his going a loving father and mother, two brothers, Lloyd of Cando, North Dakota and Will of this place, and four sisters, Mrs. W. H. and Mrs. C. E. Gildersleeve and Virginia of this city and Mrs. Charles Gearhart of Ainsworth, Nebraska. The funeral services will take place from the Presbyterian church of Wayne this afternoon and will be conducted by the pastor, Rev. Thomas Osborn—Herald.

It is hardly pertinent to the discussion of any living problem, but the Chicago Chronicle calls attention to an inconsistency in the Declaration of Independence that many have never had brought to mind. At the time Thomas Jefferson wrote, "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men were born equal," he himself was an owner of slaves. Many signatures of the immortal document were in the same boat, and it seems never to have been questioned while they lived whether or not they meant what they said. All men would have included the man in bondage, poor Leo, and all the tribes and races that people the earth. If any one can interpret the intension in a way to reconcile this statement of universal equality with the facts as they existed then, or have existed since, pencil and paper for accomplishing the task are at his disposal.—Bixby That's an easy one. At the time Thomas Jefferson wrote, "the negro and poor Leo were not supposed to be men at all, at all."

Constipation and piles are twins. They kill people inch by inch, day after day every day. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will positively cure you. No cure no pay. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. Raymond's Drug Store.

The DEMOCRAT and Iowa Home stand only $1.25 per year. 5 or 10 year optional loans. PHIL H. KOHL, Agt. Will brave the storms of Chikook Pass, 'Til I cross the plains of frozen glass, 'Til I leave my wife and cross the sea, 'Til I can be without Rocky Mountain Tea. Raymond's Drug Store.

Wayne Collection Agency I have opened an office for the special business of collecting out as well as new accounts. All business placed in my hands will receive prompt and careful attention. Once with Marcus Kroger, south depot. FRANK BASSANOOR.

Harness Repairing and Strap Work. First door east of the German store, old Republican building. MARK STRINGER, Jr.

The biggest line of Goods for Spring of 1905 ever seen in town o' Wayne.

The Fair Store

Great Assortment of Laces and Embroideries. Call at once to see them.

Follow the crowd and you will find yourselves at the Fair Store. We are here to stay and propose to leave nothing undone to deserve your confidence and patronage. We have an immense stock of new goods in which you will find bargains that cannot be duplicated elsewhere.

Here are a few just in and many more are on the road:

Grecian Voiles
Mouseline De-Soie
Voile De Soie
Mercerized Voiles
Organdies
Dorothy Ducks
Worsted Voiles
Suitsings

Hunter Overalls and Jackets

Big Line of the Latest and Best on the Markets. Call and see them.

Specials

HUNTER For Saturday, Feb. 4

Dry Goods

10-cent pearl Buttons, limited quantity, as long as they last, per doz. .03
Nice line of Ribbons, all colors, No. 5, per yard, only .05
Ribbon, No. 7, all colors, per yard, .06
5,000 yards of new Calicoes at our old price per yard .05
We have just received 15 dozen Ladies' Satin Petticoats, worth $2, regular, for Saturday, a piece, 95

Groceries

Royal Brand Seeded RAISINS, Three packages for .25
Columbia River SALMON, warranted to be good, 3 cans for .25
High grade CORN, 3 cans for .25
First prize clean CURRANTS, 3 packages for .25
New York APPLES, Greenings, per peck, .25
GINGER SNAPS, per pound, .05
Bell BRAND, 2 packages for .05
Comb HONEY, per comb, .11

All these goods are in many colors and are waiting for your inspection. It will be worth your while to see them.

Finest Assortment ladies' Handbags
Golf and Fancy Hat Pins
Latest style in Waist Sets
Fine collection of Ladies' Belts, and many more new things that arrived this week

Be Sure and Look at this Line before making any purchases

Remember that we want your Produce and will pay the Highest Market Price for it. Are paying 20c for Butter, in Bargains.

Phone No. 1

I. REIFFEL, Prop.

L. L. YOUNG'S BIG SALES...

Two Big Days for Northeastern Nebraska Stockmen

Plainview, Neb., Friday, Saturday, Feb. 10 & 11

Poland China Sale

We are listing 45 first-class Poland China bred sows to be sold on Friday. They are mostly fall and winter yearlings, and as fine a lot as ever went out from Midland Breeding Farm. They embrace the blood of our great herd of boars: GOLD PERFECTION 28291 CORWIN U. S. 25192 IDEAL SUNSHINE 59900 PERFECT'S PERFECTION 86399 The grand young boar, Midland Chief, 33854, by Mischief Maker, also in service for this offering. All sows safely bred to one of our highclass boars.

The Hereford Sale

45 good Hereford Cattle go into the sale ring Saturday—20 young bulls and 25 heifers—all royally bred and in fine condition for service. They are the get of our great bulls: DEAN ARCHIBALD 90947 PHINEAS 92734 YOUNG'S IMPROVER 106973 SIR CHESTER 149018 These young cattle were raised on the rich blue grass pasture of Midland Breeding Farm, and have been fed a balanced ration since coming from pasture. They are in natural breeding condition—being fed just as we feed our home herd. We want you to see them. Investigate now. Secure our catalogue and come to the sale. Address below.

Sales Held in Heated Tent at Friend's Livery. NO Postponement.

Col. F. M. WOODS, Auct's. L. L. YOUNG, Oakland, Neb.

Public Sale

At my Farm, One Mile North of Wayne, to commence at Noon with a Free Lunch, on February 15, 1905. 8 HEAD OF GOOD HORSES 8 Grey mare 13 years old, black mare 11 years old, roan mare 13 years old, bay mare 6 years old, bay mare 5 year old, grey horse 4 years old, bay mare 3 and chestnut sorrel 2 years. 7 COWS, SOME OF THEM FRESH FARM MACHINERY Deering binder, Deering corn binder, Goodenough sulky plow, Tribell lister, 2 Eagle walking listers, Moline corn planter, 2 Dandy cultivators, Little Joker cultivator, disc cultivator, seeder, Badger 2 row cultivator, John Deere lever harrow, wooden harrow, disc harrow, 2-row stock cutter, 3 wagons, 2-seated spring wagon, road wagon, 3 sets harness, double harness, single hay ladder, bobbed, good Stewart rake, hardcoal burner, good Round Oak heater, new lawn mower, sewing machine, book case, tables, chairs, bedsteads, dishes, all household goods and also several dozen chickens. TERMS: 10 months time, on approved note at 10 per cent interest. Sums $10 and under. Cash. E. CUNNINGHAM AUCT. H. S. RINGLAND CLERK. J. I. Alger.

Dr. R. L. Cosner, Dentist, Successor to Dr. Ivory.

Heckert, dentist, over P. L. Miller. 5 per cent Money on Farm Loans. PHIL H. KOHL. Pay up for the DEMOCRAT and get the Iowa Homestead for 25 cents. Funny, isn't it, that the city of Wayne has not got as large a cash surplus on hand as two years ago? The DEMOCRAT has been unavoidably delayed this week. The extreme cold has made it almost impossible to operate a press, and some cuts that we wanted to use in this issue got snow-bound somewhere, making it decidedly onerous all around. Mr. Moran and Thomas Jr. went to Jackson to spend Sunday with Grandpa Lilly, who is on the sick list. Two good farms for rent. Call at the Democrat office.

The Herald says a special from Wisner to yesterday's North News reports that William Theis, living near Altona, met with an accident which might have killed him instantly and which did result in derailing a train and delaying it for five hours. He was driving in a bobbed. The sled caught in front of a switch on the railroad track at the east end of town, 200 yards from the crossing. The sled derailed the engine on train No. 33. The farmer and his team were unhurt.

John G. Neihardt, editor and manager of the Bancroft Blade, has tendered his resignation to the Blade Publishing Co. to take effect February 15. In this connection he says: "Briefly stated, I was not 'fashioned for the pleasant and flowery path of a country editor. I cannot bring myself to place an epistolary significance upon the fact that Miss Somebody went to the next town Saturday, or that Willie Brightboy has been ill with the mumps. I concede that this peculiarity amounts to 'incapacity.' The work of collecting personal items is the drudgery of every country newspaper office, but as long as the public craves that sort of intellectual babbling, the printer man will have to supply it, just as a farmer has to swap calves for hen time and rained butter." But in spite of Mr. Neihardt's declaration of incapacity, he has recently published a good newspaper.—Pender Republic.

When in need of harness repairing or a new harness, get prices at the new shop, first door east of the German store. Rollie Rath visited our city today from Altona. He got bills for a big dance there, Feb. 11. Mr. Hamill was here from Hoskins last Wednesday.

Opera House

Monday, February 13
The Irish American Musical Comedy
"Maloney's Wedding Day"
THE LAUGHIEST EVER
Prices 25, 35 and 50c
We can you want a well, cistern or cave dug call me up on phone 106. FRID EICKHOFF
Spoiled Her Beauty
Harrat Howard of 209 W. 34th St., New York, at one time had her beauty spoiled with skin trouble. She writes: "I had an itchy rheum or eczema for years, but nothing would cure it, until I used Buckle's Arnica Salve." A quick and sure healer for cuts, burns and sores. 25c at Raymond's drug store.

Of Interest to Mothers
Thousands of little ones die every year of croup. Most of them could have been saved by a few doses of Polys Honey and Tar, and every family with children should keep it in the house. It contains no opiates and is safe and sore. Mrs. George H. Pickett, San Francisco, Cal., writes: "My baby had a dangerous attack of croup and we thought she would choke to death, but one dose of Foley's Honey and Tar relieved her at once after other remedies had failed. We are never a day without it in the house." Wayne Drug Co.

Prescriptions Send Them to Us

You are the doctor as to where you shall send your prescriptions. Bring them here and they will be

PROPERLY READ
CORRECTLY FILLED
Carefully Labelled

CALL ON US. WE CAN DO YOU GOOD

All sizes in Ladies' and Gent's Chamois Vests and Chest Protectors—Frost King and Frost Queen.

Wayne Drug Company

PHONE 79-143

J. T. LEAHY

Boyd Annex.

Pipes Froze Up!

Just One Thing to Do
Call Up the Firm that
Can take out the frost

A Coal Saving Deal

When you see us for a new range or heater,
We can sell you the best in the market for the very least in cash money.

Yours for Business

PETERSON & BERRY

The Busy Hardware Men.

PUBLIC SALE

Of property belonging to the Eugene Sullivan estate, at residence of Mrs. Mary Sullivan, five miles south and two miles northeast of Altona, commencing at 10 o'clock a. m., on Wednesday, Feb. 8, 1905

103 Head of Cattle

being cows, yearling heifers and calves.

25 of Head Horses

nearly all of which are of the work breeds and will match up into teams.

Also a number of fine shoats, twenty-four tons millet, thirty tons timothy hay and a lot of machinery of the best makes.

Terms of Sale

Sums of $10 and under cash. Over $10 ten months time at ten per cent per annum, with approved security.

E. CUNNINGHAM, Auctioneer
H. S. RINGLAND, Clerk

H. F. WILSON, Administrator

The Anti-Campaign Stinger.

How much are the people of Nebraska taxed for the maintenance of government and what proportion of the tax is imposed is borne by railroad corporations? That information has not been obtainable up to this date in any public document or any bureau of statistics, or other source, official or private. After a most laborious and costly research The Bee presents to the people of Nebraska a compendium of the grand assessment rolls of the state by counties for the fiscal years 1903 and 1904, with a comparative exhibit of the assessment and amount of taxes levied for state, county, school district and city and village government.

This array of taxation [figures will prove a revelation to the people of Nebraska and awaken them to the magnitude of the increased tax burdens to which they are being subjected through the operation of our revenue laws. The momentous fact that states in the face of this that the compulsory tribute levied upon the taxpayers of Nebraska for the year 1904 aggregated $70,823,374.81, as against $9,436,603.54 levied for the year 1903, or an increase of $1,386,771.27 over the preceding year. Of this colossal tax levy the railroads were charged with $1,417,447.60, while all other real and personal property, was taxed $9,405,927.21.

The ratio of the taxation of the railroads to all other taxable property for 1903 was 12.3 to 87.7 per cent, while the ratio in 1904 was 13.1 per cent, against 86.9 per cent. By any computation that can be made of the proportionate value of railroads to all other taxable property in Nebraska, the railroad property is fully 20 per cent of the aggregate value of all property, and by rights the railroads should have really contributed $2,364,674.96 toward the expenses of government in Nebraska for 1904, or $747,227.36 more than they have been actually taxed for last year.

A glance at the comparative taxation tables will show that the aggregate tax for state purposes, which was $1,523,316.38 for 1903, was raised to $1,768,327.79 for 1904, or an increase of $245,011.41. The total increase of all taxes for county purposes in the state is but $185,644.91, and the increase in city and village taxes is $267,184.22, while the bulk of the increase in the aggregate taxes—$688,971.52—is chargeable to the increase in school taxes.

The most striking anomaly in Nebraska taxation is the fact that the total amount contributed by the railroads toward municipal government for the year 1904 is $84,856.78 out of a total of $2,141,998.97. In other words, the taxpayers in Nebraska cities and villages pay 96.1 per cent of the cost of municipal government while the railroads pay only 3.9 per cent thereof, whereas they should pay 20 per cent. Instead of paying a fraction less than $85,000 a year toward municipal government in Nebraska they should pay at least $400,000 had they been compelled to bear their just proportion of the tax burdens. On this score, however, and on the broad question of railroad taxation, we shall have something more to say hereafter.—Omaha Bee.

Much Easier

A Nebraska legislator has introduced a bill requiring the railroads to pay a fine for every day a shipper is kept waiting for a car after he has ordered it. The legislator argues in support of his measure that if the railroads make a shipper pay for keeping a car longer than twenty-four hours after it has been delivered to him it is only logical to make the railroads pay for the waiting they impose upon the shipper. The railroads may find it easier to beat the bill than to dodge the logic.—Sioux City Journal.

A Chicago woman is suing a man for $150,000 because his love has grown cold. If she gets it some one else will love her, that's a cinch.

Mrs. Cody, wife of "Buffalo Bill" Cody, has just filed her answer in the divorce suit instituted by her husband. Most women would have answered in half the time she has had.

A dispatch is going the rounds of the Iowa press telling that Fred Schultz, who was shot at Storm Lake, Ia., by Albert Smith, is very prominent in Iowa politics. That settles it. He is guilty.

The czar is discovering that there are worse kinds of hell than war, and still there's one to follow.

The Chicago police are looking for a man who is suspected of having murdered at least ten of his wives. Hasn't he had punishment enough?

American manufacturers of automobiles announce that their order books are full and that they can take no more orders for 1905. That may mean the saving of a few lives and a lot of grief.

Gambling is being carried on on the ice in midriver at St. Louis. That is surely a great place for warm hands and cold feet. It is handy, too; they can skin 'em and slide 'em under the ice.

A Grim Tragedy is daily enacted in thousands of homes as death claims, in each one, another victim of consumption of pneumonia. But when coughs and colds are properly treated, the tragedy is averted. F. G. Huestley of Oshkosh, Ind., writes: "My wife had the consumption, and three doctors gave her up. Finally she took Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, cured her, and today she is well and strong." It kills the germs of all diseases. One dose relieves. Guaranteed at 50c and $1 by Raymond, drugist. Trial bottle free.

THE MARRIAGE QUESTION.

The professor who announced that "love and romance die out with the sound of the wedding bells," was the first to start the ball rolling. It would seem a brave woman who marries with this echo in her ears, yet we have not heard that there were fewer marriages during the year. There are unhappy married lives, but a large percentage of these unhappy homes are due to the illness of the wife, mother or daughter.

During a long period of practice, Doctor Pierce found that a prescription made up entirely of roots and herbs, without the use of alcohol, cured ninety-eight per cent of such cases. After using this remedy for many years in his private practice he put it up in a form that can be had at any store where medicines are handled.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $50 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhoea, Female Weakness, Brachiasis, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of the cure.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures headaches, backache, nervousness, sleeplessness and other consequences of womanly diseases. "Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong and sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Manson Democrat. What are you kicking about these children "hopping bobs" for? Were you never a child yourself, or were you always the crusty old curmudgeon that you are now, with a touch of disagreeableness? Dangerous fun, you say? Of course it is, but did you never engage in any dangerous fun when you wore knee pants? Bet you did. And we'll also bet that you were one of the orneriest, meanest, most unruly boys in the whole community. Let the "kids" hop bobs and have their fun while you trot on and chew tobacco or run around to your loafing place and help run the government. If the "kids" get to be a nuisance at hopping bobs we can sort of look after 'em ap' make 'em bogged.

The following from the Stanton Register may be news to some people—who don't do much thinking. It forcibly brings up the question, that if the railroads pay our legislators the bigger salary why shouldn't the legislature legislate (?) for the railroads? "How many of the Register readers know the value of a pass to the present members of the legislature? On first thought it seems like a small thing, but is it? Let us see what it is worth to the ordinary member. The legislative session is sixty days long, but as the average weekly session is but four days, it takes fifteen weeks to do the work before the state legislature. The average distance traveled by the members is 150 miles. At three cents a mile each trip is worth $9. 9x 15 is $135. The member has the privilege of taking his wife, also and that doubles the amount to $270. The pass is good for the year 1905, so it is readily seen that the legislative pass is more valuable than the money the state of Nebraska pays its lawmakers. My friends, which paymaster gets the best service, and it is easy to see the influence of a pass."

Members of the Nebraska legislature have interrogated the DEMOCRAT as to its position on the proposed primary election law. If the new law provides for the election of meritorious infants to the legislature the DEMOCRAT must insist that the measure become a law. If we had a batch of babies elected to the legislature the public would not have to pay them anything but salaries, cutting off the thousands of dollars worth of transportation, which "you and I" and every other sucker is bled for. Incidentally that would save the railroad corporations the millions they have to spend to carry our sons to Lincoln and the handsome salaries paid their lobbyists, allowing the roads sufficient profit in the manipulation of their business to pay an equitable share of state taxes. The DEMOCRAT stands pat for the primary law, and would make the age limit of would-be legislators not to exceed seven months, so that these females who are longing for a chance at the ballot box could become heirs to their share of the disgrace.

The Japanese are buying flour in Minneapolis, and the indications are that they will take considerable of America's reduced stock of grain to feed their fighters in the field. That may mean that wheat will be forced up to the $2.00 mark before another crop is ready for the miller. Let it come. The American farmers can stand $2 wheat and a chance of getting even with the other trusts and millionaires.—Norfolk News.

General Treppoff is said to be the most hated man in all Russia, and he has been made governor, general of St. Petersburg. I'll bet he "dassent" go through a dark alley alone on a dark night.

A diamond valued at between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 has been recently found near Prejoria. Perhaps Lawson can tell which of the ten men who are to own it will have the pleasure of wearing it.

There are indications that some of the newspapers and politicians who have been favoring President Roosevelt's aggressive policy regarding trust and railroad legislation are getting tired to backside and dodge the issue. As an abstract proposition it must have looked pretty well; but when they have been pinned down on some definite point their courage has failed them and they are ready to plead in behalf of the institutions threatened.—Norfolk News.

Platt P. Gibbs, a Chicago philanthropist, has been fined for violating the child labor law because he sought to give a street urchin a business education in his office. The complaining witness was probably the secretary of some charitable association.—Sioux City Tribune.

A new city slaughtering house covering two acres of ground has been opened in Paris for the slaughter of horses, mules and donkeys. At present it requires 25,000 of these animals annually to supply the demand of the Parisians for this variety of meat. The Missouri mule has no occasion to feel discouraged.

Fraud Exposed.

A few counterfeiters have lately been making and trying to sell imitations of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds and other medicines, thereby defrauding the public. This is to warn you to be wary of such people, who seek to profit, through stealing the reputation of remedies which have been successfully curing disease for over 35 years. A sure protection, to you, is our name on the wrapper. Look for it on all Dr. King's or Bucklen's remedies, as all others are imitations. H. B. BUCKLEN & Co., Chicago, Ill., and Windsor, Canada.

Oil Wagon Again.

Having bought the oil delivery wagon from Jake Welbaum I invite the people of Wayne to patronize it, and promise to give prompt, every-day service. Hang up a card and have your oils delivered at your home for Cash. GUSTAVE WILLS.

Notice To Teachers.

Examinations will be held on the third Saturday and Friday preceding in January, February and March, 1905. No examinations in December, 1904. C. H. Bright, County Superintendent.

Hog and Cattle Sale

L. L. Young of Oakland will hold a two days sale at Plainview Nebr. Feb. 10th and 11th, when he will sell 50 Bred Poland China Sows on Friday Feb. 10th, and 50 Hereford cattle, Saturday, Feb. 11th, being 20 bulls and 30 heifers.

A Frightened Horse.

Running like mad down the street, dumping the mud on the street, and other accidents are every day occurrences. It behooves everybody to have a reliable Salve handy and there's none as good as Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Burns, Cuts, Sores, Eczema and Piles disappear quickly under its soothing effect. 25c. at Raymond Drug Store.

ESTIMATE OF EXPENSES.

General Fund	$3000.00
Bridge Fund	12000.00
Bond Fund	10000.00
Road Fund	7500.00
Soldier's Relief Fund	500.00
The State of Nebraska, Wayne County.

I, Chas. W. Reynolds, County Clerk in and for Wayne County, Nebraska, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true estimate of Expenses for Wayne County for the year 1905 as made by County Board on January 11th 1905.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal this 19th day of January 1905. CHAS. W. REYNOLDS, County Clerk.

1905 Cigars

PUT UP IN TASTY BOXES AT ONLY $1 PER BOX.

NICE PRESENT FOR THE GENTLEMEN.

Buy them at the cigar store and get the best for the money.

WM. DAMMEYER, Prop.

DON'T BE FOOLED!

Take the genuine, original ROCKY MOUNTAIN TEA made only by Madison Tea Co., Madison, Wis. It keeps you well. Our trade mark cut on each package. Price, 25 cents. Never sold in bulk. Accept no substitutes. Ask your druggist.

NO CENTER

of the trade is better equipped to supply your HARNESS AND HORSE GOODS needs. All that can be wanted for stable or barn or should be there is in the stock. The value of our goods cannot be appreciated at a glance nor will their cheapness be apparent until their last qualities are realized.

Wm. Piepenstock, General Banker

Sickening Shivering Fits of ague and malaria, can be relieved and cured with Electric Bitters. This is a pure, tonic medicine, of especial benefit in malaria, for it exerts a truly curative influence on the disease, driving it entirely out of the system. It is much to be preferred to quinine, having none of this drug's effects. E. S. Munday of Henrietta, Texas, writes: "My brother was very low with malarial fever and jaundice, till he took Electric Bitters, which saved his life." At Raymond's drug store; price 50c. guaranteed.

Notice of Sale Under Chattel Mortgage.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a chattel mortgage dated the 5th day of October, 1904, and duly filed and recorded in the office of the county clerk of Wayne county, Neb., on the 5th day of October, 1904, and executed by Jas. T. Roland to James Worthem to secure the payment of the sum of $675.00 and on which there is now due $675.00 with interest thereon at 10 per cent per annum from October 5th, 1904.

Default having been made in the payment of said sum, therefore I will sell the property therein described, viz:
One Iron Gray Gelding, aged 8 years.
One Bay Mare, 9 years old.
One Bay Mare, 7 years old.
One Bay Mare, 6 years old.
One Buckskin Horse, 6 years old;
One Black Mare, 10 years old;
Three head of Cows;
One Piano Binder;
Two Siding Plows, One Riding Plow, One Walking Plow, Two Riding Cultivators, One Spring Wagon, One Farm Wagon, Two Sets Work Harness, One Well Machine and Tools, at public auction at Lucas Livery Barn in Winside, Wayne Co., Neb., on the 6th day of February, 1905, at One o'clock p. m. of said day.
Dated Jan. 5th, 1905.
JAMES WORTHLEM, Mortgagee.
F. A. Berry, Att'y for Mortgagee.

Greatly in Demand.

Nothing is more in demand than a medicine which meets modern requirements for a blood and system cleanser, such as Dr. King's New Life Pills. They are just what you need to cure stomach and liver troubles. Try them. At Raymond's drug store, 25c. guaranteed.

The New Feed Barn

Only Ten Cents to House Your Horses.

Fred Brown, the liveryman, has recently put up a large amount of room for caring for the farmers' teams and at a low figure. Drive to the Brown barn north of the German store and see how neat and cheaply your horses will be cared for while in the city.

HUGH O'CONNELL'S Pool and Billiard Hall

In Boyd Annex

Your Picture

Is what all your friends want, be you handsome as a rose or as homely as a mud fence. We Make You Look natural as life and at a very low price. The ARTIST CRAVEN.

Frank A. Berry.

Lawyer and Bonded Abstractor
The perfecting of defective Real Estate Titles and Probate Work, our Specialties.
Office over Wayne Nat. Bank Bldg. WAYNE, NEB.

A. A. WELCH. A. R. DAVIS

Welch & Davis ATTORNEYS at LAW WAYNE, NEBRASKA.

Phenix Insurance Co.

one of the Oldest, Strongest and Best of the World. GRANT S. MEARS.

H. G. LEISENRING.

Physician and Surgeon.
X-Ray examinations made at office or bed of patient.
Office 3 doors west of postoffice.

THOMAS & LEWIS,

Osteopathic Physician.
In office at Wayne except Tuesday and Fridays when at Winside.

No Knife - No Drugs

Dr. J. J. WILLIAMS, Physician and Surgeon. WAYNE, NEB.

THE CITIZENS' BANK

(INCORPORATED)
A. L. TUCKER, President, J. S. FRENCH, Vice Pres.
D. C. MAIN, Cashier, J. F. FRENCH, Asst. Cashier.

DIRECTORS

A. A. Welch, D. C. Main, A. L. Tucker, J. S. French, James Paul.

Guaranteed Goods

For That Cough
Syrup of Jar Compound.
Cures all Throat and Lung Troubles.
For the Ache—Raymond's Headache Cure—Cures all aches and pains.

For Winter Chaps—Raymond's Superior Cream—Heals that rough red skin; excellent after shaving.

In buying the above preparations there is a string to your money and you hold of the other end. If you are not satisfied.

Pull the String
And get your money back, it's easy.
Made and sold Exclusively by Raymond's Drug Store WAYNE, Nebraska.

NOT

The Rich Man's Place,
Nor the Poor Man's Place

BUT

Everybody's Place

And we give thanks to our many friends and customers for the patronage given us the past year. Hoping that we will be even better able to please our trade the coming year, we remain
Yours truly,

C WINES

WHOLESALE LIQUOR DEALERS.
Case Lots Always a Specialty.