Halted the Clerk.

There was a hot time down at Altona Monday night when Riley Rooth, Herbert Leuck and Walt Stubbs went into Geo. Thies department store, to have a little fun, etc. The proprietor got away, went to bed or hid behind a counter. Richard Seelmeyer, a clerk, pulled a gun on the festive visitors and then the riot started. A halter, hanging overhead, was taken down and put on the billious clerk, and an effort made to hitch him up, in the melee the stove pipes being knocked down and the place otherwise put in printing office condition. Mr. Thies came to town and made complaints against the boys, and Sheriff Mears notified them to come to town and see the judge. Before starting Riley Rooth bought the state's claims against the other two young men for $20, they paying him the cash, and he to pay all the fines no matter if they amounted to $150. Before Judge Hunter the boys said guilty, and Riley paid the bill for the three $12.50, leaving him a nice profit of $7.50 for his picnic.

Frank Kruger left Monday on a business trip to Pierre, S. D., where he owns all colors of land.

A. C. Goltz, F. M. McElrath and Mr. Watson were visitors from Win- dows Monday.

Mr. Kinney, the Omaha boiler man, headed a delegation of Atlantic, Iowa, citizens to Wayne last Saturday to inspect the local lighting plant. The visitors concluded Wayne had a pretty good layout for light and water, at about two-thirds the cost to consumers that it is in Atlantic and were well pleased especially with the Kinney boiler, which is what they were figuring on. Councilman W. J. Goodge, who was one of the party, informed the DEMOCRAT man that of a number of places they had visited, Wayne had apparently the best taken-care-of institution in the country, and that he figured Tom Fritz as up among the best there was anywhere.

Good for spring fever—3 cans tomatoes for 25 cents, at the Fair store.

House cleaning, gardening, all or any kind of work wanted and satisfaction given or no pay. See Walt Cook, four blocks east of Brown's livery barn.

Riley Rooth of Altona has traded his team, buggy, harness, etc., to Wm. Thies, for the latter's Hambletonian stallion.

C. O. Brown unexpectedly arrived home Tuesday from California, where he was supposed to stay several weeks longer.

Van Bradford and family are going to move to Sioux City to reside.

G. W. Albee was in town the past week.

R. B. Crawford is home from Chicago.

Geo. Hofeldt was in Randolph Monday night.

S. E. Auker reports a fine time at the Carroll institute and that John Kate made an able, spry and sensible speech of much merit. The Carroll people opened their doors to the visitors in a generous manner, feeding and caring for all who attended.

Miss Rosa Reifal of Sioux City is clerking in her brother's Fair store here. Miss Reifal was with Martins and Orkin Bros. for a number of years.

G. W. Jones has gone to Rural, Ohio for a several weeks visit.

Tom Perlin and Ari Shagow went up to Shoes Monday evening.

Dr. J. C. Clark, the oculist, was in town Monday, his first visit for some time. The doctor says the Sioux City fire put him to the bad over $5,000 in instruments, office furniture, accounts and notes. Some few of the latter may be collected, but there were a great number of small accounts and notes from ten or fifteen dollars up, taken from parties all over the country, that he will never be able to collect.

Van Newkirk went to Blair Tuesday.

Herman Mildner and Nick Stodden took Ed. Pratt to the hospital at Omaha Tuesday for an operation.

It will bring rich, red blood, firm flesh and muscle. That's what Holister's Rocky Mountain Tea will do. Taken this month, keeps you well all summer. 35 cents Tea or Tablets Raymonds Drug Store.

City Council Doings.

A full quota of the aldermen were present Monday night and the following bills were allowed.

W. H. Martin	$ 3 40
G. L. Miner, salary	50 00
A. T. Witter, sal. & pstg.	14 25
Jud West, salary	50 00
Crane Co.	8 40
H. S. Ringland, freight	64 25
Herald, printing	6 34
Standard Oil Co.	20 65
Jud West, salary	50 00
T. H. Fritts, sal., etc.	91 90
Anchor Grain Co., slack	14 60
R. J. Armstrong, coal	10 45
Mont Garntner, draying	7 45

Mayor Britton instructed the council that the available funds of the city for the balance of the fiscal year were over $150, the city treasurer having $116, county treasurer some $430 of city monies, over $500 in citizens bank and bills due the city for light and water for February over $470. This will be more money, under ordinary circumstances than the aldermen can "squander" in the next six weeks.

Atty. Lundburg was present with a petition and two ordinances. The first was signed by J. L. Payne, Mrs. B. Hughes, D. J. Roush and T. J. Laughlin, praying that the west end of 3d street be changed one lot north, making Mr. Laughlin's property in one tract. An ordinance to vacate the present highway and one opening the new street passed first reading. Alderman Gaertner then suggested that it was a good time to raise the city clerk's salary, to take effect next May, and the city clerk was "Johnny on the spot" with the necessary documents, the city chief of police also getting a boost in salary from $50 to $60 per month, and the clerk's salary being raised from $150 to $250. Clerk Witter explained that he didn't expect to hold down the job—he was doing, the shouting for his successor, whoever he may be, but the old gentleman makes a firstclass clerk, and is said to be the best collector the city has ever had, and since he has worked a whole year on about half pay the DEMOCRAT thinks he is entitled to another pull at it—even if the "darned old cuss" did stick it into us and break it off once upon a time.

The city attorney was requested to notify the Omaha railroad that promised culvert, east of Newton's mill, this spring, and action was also taken to have that cesspool north of the Boyd hotel abated, a tile to be laid and the stinch hole drained off.

You get your moneys' worth at the Fair Store. By Dad you do.

Mrs. Harry Lucky and son left Wednesday for home at Bristow, baby being two weeks old.

Joe Love, M. M. Stillman were passengers from Carroll to Lyons Tuesday on a duck hunt.

Fred Van Norman went to Merville, Io., in answer to a telegram that his mother was dangerously ill.

Chas. Robbins and B. F. Swan were business visitors to Sioux City Tuesday.

Theo. Duerig, Rev. T. J. Wright and County Superintendent Bright have been in Lincoln this week attending the grocers, preachers and school-mams' conventions.

John Kate was in Norfolk Tuesday following up the seed corn special with his chickadee institute.

B. H. James was in Carroll Tuesday on land deals.

Fred Coplin of Pilger was in town Tuesday on his way to Carroll.

What's this? 4 big cans of sugar corn at the Fair store for 25 cents!

Joe Leahy was a visitor from Wisner last Saturday.

Ed. Owen went to Omaha Wednesday on business connected with his brother's estate.

Harry Hirsch and family, bag and baggage, pulled out for Sioux City Wednesday. We hope he'll never come back.

R. P. Williams went to Waterbury and M. K. Rickabaugh to Pender Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gwinn of Maryville, Missouri are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Koefoed, Mrs. Gwinn and Mrs. Koefoed being sisters.

Anything you get at the Fair store is O. K., A. No. 1 in every respect.

Miss Mabel Koefoed who has been sick and out of school for six weeks is again able to resume her school work.

Ball and Peterson wish to announce to the Public that they will open a first class Millinery store one door north of the Union Hotel. Watch this paper for special opening dates.

John Kate was around the first of the week asking what we had heard from Carroll about him. John says he had the time of his life, that he was forced to stay two days; the farmers holding him in a deathlike grasp until the traits had pulled out and that he had to get a team to bring him home for Sunday. It was Mr. Kate's maiden effort at speech making, so he says, although the DEMOCRAT can't remember when we caught him at anything else. John says he made so many of them at Carroll, however, that the novelty wore off, and he expects to be booked for all the farmers' institutes in the state hereafter.

Court Cut Short.

Judge Boyd made very short work of the February term of court, by convening Monday morning and taking an adjournment Monday evening. The jury that was called for next Monday will be notified that they are not wanted at all, although the judge will be here next Monday to settle some equity matters. The young lad implicated in the Asher Hubbard forged check deal was ordered taken to the reform school. A great many of the cases docketed will no doubt be continued to the spring term.

The Big Cattle Sale

Of A. B. Clark and others will be held at the old Owen Feed Yards, now run by Chas. Thompson. The auction will be held under a tent, and good shelter provided for buyers. Every farmer in Wayne county should attend this sale, one of the biggest and best ever held in Wayne county.

Beckert, dentist, over P. L. Miller's "Two good farms for rent. Call at the DEMOCRAT office."

G. W. Cutler, formerly a resident of this place, died at his home in Wayne last Friday, of pneumonia, after a weeks illness. During Mr. Cutler's two years residence in this place with his family he made many friends who will be sorely grieved to learn of his death. He was a good christian gentleman, a kind neighbor and a man devoted to his family. His son Chas. L. Cutler, was principal of the Dakota City schools for two years.—Dakota City Herald.

Goldie, of the Wayne DEMOCRAT, has found a fancy circlet of some kind which he says is too small for a ladies belt, and too large for a garter, and is puzzled. Just help him out we would suggest that probably it is a hat band.—Allen News.

Willie Caywood passed through Pender yesterday enroute to Wayne where he has a job with the railroad company. For some months Willie has been studying telegraphy at Omaha and this is his first assignment to work. Willie is a Pender boy and his many friends here wish him success in his chosen profession.—Pender Times.

If you cannot eat, sleep or work, feel mean, cross and ugly, take Holister's Rocky Mountain Tea this month. A tonic for the sick; There is no remedy equal to it. 35 cents Tea or Tablets. Raymonds Drug Store.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stage left yesterday for Wayne, where they will hereafter reside. About thirty neighbors assembled at their place south of town last Monday and gave them a pleasant farewell surprise party.—Randolph Reporter.

The salary and allowances of the car amount to over seven millions a year. Knowing what we pay our president he is opposed to any change.

It's the Hat that Makes The Man

You may make a mistake in selecting your suit and a good many people will not know it, but if you buy a hat that is out of style everybody will know it. People will judge you by the hat you wear, and you will be rated according to the judgment you use in selecting your hat. You can't make a mistake if you come here for a hat, no matter if you do not know what is in style. Our stock is up-to-date and you will get the latest if you come here to buy. You can't afford to buy a hat of a merchant who buys hats of jobbers. We buy direct from New York, from the factory, and are one year ahead of other merchants in style. It costs no more to buy hats in style here than others ask for old style hats. Why not come here?

The Hawes Hat

It is now conceded that the Hawes is the best $3 hat made and we have the exclusive sale for Wayne County. Every hat is warranted to give satisfaction. We also carry a large stock of Stetson hats at $4 to $5. We have the leading shapes.

Hats for 50 Cents

We have some hats which are out of style and if you want any of them to wear for every day you can buy them of us at 50 cents. Hats that sold for $2 and $3 and are now out of style will be sold at 50 cents.

Our spring stock is now all in and we will be pleased to show you the styles no matter if you are not ready to buy. Come in and look at them.

BY DAD

Parker & Paul Wirt, Fountain Pens Guaranteed. Price $1 to $20.00. WAYNE DRUG CO., Boyd Annex.

Sam Davies was asked, last Saturday, how John Kate made it Friday at Carroll with his speech, and answered: "oh, he'll be talking yet; the dampool can't hear anything, and it's cheaper to let him run down than try to stop him."

By dad, I'm glad too that Baron is gone. I never had much use for the aristocracy. But this man Reifel has 'em all guessing. Mr. Reifel is a man after my own heart. He believes in printers' ink—while we live on it. But anyhow the Fair Store is a good thing. Like the two Johns it has brought trade to Wayne from all the surrounding burghs—trade that Wayne never got before. Mr. Reifel can "see the point to be attained," and while giving all and more than he advertises, knows how to make business for everybody.

Squire Feather was playing more jokes last week. On Saturday he gave Constable John Sones a "writ of ouster" to serve on Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hirsch, who live in Chas. Warner's house above the standpipe. When asked what he was going to do about it John said he had ten days time in which to serve it and then he didn't know what further.

John Schmidt of Bloomfield had Alderman McVicker guessing last Saturday morning. The visitor had been out with Claus Kay Friday night and was to go home with the latter, but decided he didn't want to go to Mr. Kay's home until Claus had. Then he struck out "by Claus' house himself," and Saturday morning Mr. McVicker was quite surprised to find the gentleman sound asleep in his kitchen, John having got mixed on the location of his host's habitation. Mac says he'll put a cake of ice on the next one that calls to get "thawed out," as he isn't a bit stuck on having the refuse of a juicy jag smeared on his floors.

Talk about the glory of going to the state legislature! Senator Williams has lost all kinds of medical practice; the pipes in his new residence froze up, entailing a loss of $150; his pet dog got killed, and his mother-in-law ill. With Representative McLeod things have not been much better. The man he left at his farm ran away, abandoning his family entirely and leaving them for Mac to look after. It has been no bed of roses for the gentlemen, but then, if they ride on passes for a year or two and the governor signs that bill prohibiting monkeys working over-time, no one can say that there's no great loss without some little gain.

"Trustworthy" didn't like the "cut" he cut in last week's DEMOCRAT, and by dad, we don't blame him, nobody ever knew him to steal horses, the squire always drawing the line at turkeys.

The writer of Embryonic Wayne has told me that he has now prepared over twenty installments of this story, which will appear consecutively in the DEMOCRAT and continue probably throughout the year. Thinking it probable that the articles may properly be criticized for an overabundance of levity and desiring to redeem it somewhat, at least, from that most unbecoming fault, he wishes me to say—that if he thought the editor of the DEMOCRAT is furnished with a list of every soldier, (Union or confederate) who served in the Civil or Spanish Wars and now lives in Wayne county, he will undertake to write a serious minded sketch of each and everyone. All he wants is name in full, number of company, regiment and state. He thinks he knows or has known each individual, as for instance Joe Derk, to locate whom now it may be difficult. If the G. A. R. or any will assist the DEMOCRAT man in this, and the information is received soon, the same will be scattered throughout the narrative as occasion permits, although it may require a revision of the whole thing.

Eph Cunningham has made so much money in the auction business, that he is seriously contemplating buying a seat in the United States senate.

M. S. Davies has been seriously ill the past week, although not confined to his bed.

S. E. Auker and W. E. Lindsay yesterday received a dozen magnificent Banded Plymouth Rock fowls from York, Neb.

Joe Cullen has sold out at Goddes, S. D., and is looking for a new location.

John Payne left this morning on a visit to Omaha and Shenandoah, Io.

Henry Ulrich is back from Lincoln where he spent several months as a state patient. Henry is not a bad sort of a young man at all, and will profit by his severe lesson.

Billy Root and Art Shawgo have engaged both the Wayne and Wisner orchestras for a big dance at the Altona hall St. Patrick's night, Friday, March 17th.

Oliver Bird went to Grand Island yesterday where he will clerk in a store.

The Gandy stock of groceries was moved to Bloomfield Wednesday. D. M. Baker, the DEMOCRAT is told, will lease the storeroom for a bakery and restaurant.

Fay Payne now has a deal on foot to buy the building occupied by Chauncy Sewell, and will move his laundry plant at Laurel to Wayne.

This weather has 'em all guessing except the coal man. He knows what he is up against.

March came in like Mary's little lamb and will go out—like Mrs. Chadwick, no doubt.

P. W. Sorrenberger of Plainview was in town Monday.

Mrs. Fred French is visiting her old home in Wahoo.

The Craven home is quarantined for scarlet fever.

"Pinched" the Omaha

On complaint of Jas. Hurst, who was one of a party of teamsters who were compelled to wait 18 minutes for the Bloomfield train to clear the right-of-way, last Tuesday, Commissioner O'Brien was fined by Justice Feather $10 and costs, Wednesday morning. The teamsters have been quite indignant of late, whether they owned Main street or simply had it leased for 99 years, hence the jailing-up. The town ought to give Mr. Hurst a leather medal for doing such good service.

Big Free Lunch

At the J. E. Owen sale, one mile west of Wayne, Thursday, March 9th. A telegram to Herman Milder this morning announced the death at Omaha of Paul Nindel. Mr. Nindel was an old timer of Wayne, having been in the saloon business here.

Brown Pamer's Sale

Which will be one of the last, biggest and best, will take place next Tuesday, a mile north of Wayne. Mr. Pamer is going to move to Sioux City and will clean-up everything on his farm for just what it will bring. He sells six head of good horses, some good cows, 45 head of the best strain hogs, 18 being brood sows, and a big lot of hay, grain and machinery.

Just received, car load of Sewing Machines. Call and get prices and look at the "New 66" Machine. Singer Sewing Machine Co. 1st door west of post office, Wayne, Neb.

Joe Dobbin was a visitor from Hoskins Wednesday.

Miss Laura Holtz has resigned her position in the Hartington schools and after spending a day or two with Wayne friends will go to the hospital at Sioux City for treatment.

G. L. Davis hands the DEMOCRAT the "obituary" copy of the Lakeside (Wash.) Light, which went out, as the editor puts it, to lack of nutriment, after a strenuous existence of two years. Mr. Davis thinks that is proof enough of his description of the country.

Fred Benschoot and B. Bensenius were passengers east yesterday and the DEMOCRAT understands they are on a trade, Fred giving some land in Dakota for the Steam laundry plant.

You want the best kind of farm tools and if in doubt about them look over Power's line of implements before buying.

For insurance or a snap in lands see or write W. F. Assenheimer, Altona, Neb.

Notice P. L. Miller & Sons north window for snaps in canned goods.

Notice P. L. Miller & Son's north window for snaps in canned goods.

J. D. Aker leaves here next Tuesday for Risin City. J. I. will go a few days later.

R. Hodgson was a business visitor from Winside yesterday.

The funeral of the late Jacob Reicher of Hancock precinct was held Monday, interment at the Oelrichs cemetery. The funeral was under direction of Clyde Hodgson, who was formerly an undertaker at Council Bluffs, services being held by Rev. Karpenstein. Mr. Reicher was 62 years old. His death was due to blood poisoning, he having a small sore on the back of his hand, and in butchering a sheep became inoculated with poison. He was treated by Dr. Cherry, and Monday of last week taken to the hospital at Omaha, when he suffered greatly until his death Thursday morning.

Among the new arrivals in Wayne this week were J. J. Cookman, Louis Kloppling from Wood Lake, Chas. H. Cook, Battle Creek, John Morgan from Gretna, and the Misses Ball and Peterson from Oakland. The latter open a millinery store here, and the former families will occupy Wayne county farms.

Strahan and Warnock shipped a car load of horses in from Bloomfield this week.

Carl Hamilton a Sioux City laundry man, was in town Tuesday arranging to have a branch collecting office put in here for his Sioux City plant.

All the farmers know where they get a square deal in machinery. A. G. Powers has a reputation for fair and honest business.

There was an immense crowd at G. M. Pifer's sale Wednesday, and everything sold for good prices.

An increase of about fifteen thousand dollars in deposits in two months, is talking money for the increasing popularity of the State Bank. Just compare the statement published today with that of a few weeks since, if you want to see something the cold, the heat, nor the spot on the sun, has been able to head off.

S. W. Williamson was down from Carroll Tuesday and paid the DEMOCRAT a social visit.

Mrs. Geo. LaCroix was a visitor from Carroll yesterday.

You can buy farm implements, the best made for the least money, at A. G. Powers' warehouse.

Otto Vogel and family are expected to arrive today from Germany. A lot of their household goods are already here.

Ed. Brate was successfully operated on by Dr. Jones, at Omaha, Wednesday. He expects to be able to come home in about ten days.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cook of Platte, S. D. were arrivals Tuesday evening, stopping at Omaha, yesterday, where Mr. Cook will probably suffer an operation for cancer of the breast.

The Wadsworth Bros. have just finished a 133 foot hydraulic well for A. A. Welch on the farm south of town. 5 or 10 year optional loans.

Kansas may find both encouragement and discouragement in the fact that Standard Oil has just paid a quarterly dividend of 15 per cent, says the Sioux City Journal. A business that pays 50 per cent per annum is a mighty fine business to get into, but on the other hand a trust that is raising in the coin at that rate is a pretty hard proposition to "bust."

By Whose Who

FRANK M. NORTHROP
An Early "Limb to the Law."

Dearborn coming in during this recital, good naturedly "set them up" to cigars "Drum Heads" were the favorite smokers at that time in La Porte, named from a celebrated brand of cabbage, now extinct; but not in those days. Lute, in explaining the necessity for keeping on hand "Spiritus Frumentii" etc., stated that drug gists were allowed to sell same to mechanical, medicinal and sacramental purposes; and that it was astonishing what a demand there was for purpose last specified. It seems, the previous winter, on an extremely cold day, a tall stranger of the cowboy species, stamped into the store and up to the stove to warm. After a short survey of things, he demanded if they sold "liker for sackmaker purposes." On being assured that they did, he said he wanted a gallon of alcohol, as he and some of the boys, was going to have a camp meetin' over to Ike Richardson's grove, the next day. As the snow was about two feet deep on level at the time, Lute could not but admire the hardihood of this evangelist and his faithful followers. Oh, Religion! what queer capers have been committed in thy name!

Charles Johnson then recalled the fact that the same stranger called at his store, and bought some "Navy Plug" tobacco, which he proceeded to chew with great vigor, totally ignoring, in his expectations, the existence of a nice large juicy box, filled with sawdust, conveniently located near the stove. This gentle expostulation, Charles pointed out to him with the request that he train his guns in that direction. "Well," said the stranger, "I thought that tobacco here, didn't I, and paid for it didn't I?" On being assured that he had, he spat again remarking, "Well, I guess I can leave it here, can't I?" During this recital, Charles had turned pale. Finally overcoming his emotion he said, "Great Heavens! what an escape! That fellow bought some pills of me!"

How quietly and insidiously does time creep on, with ever constant, but to us unconscious change. Even time itself is not exempt from its own inexorable decree. "Old Father Time" has been made familiar to us by the hour glass with its sands of life; by the scale and scythe; and to keep abreast the "evolution of the passing years," he might better be depicted now, pushing a lawn mower or guiding a McCormick harvester—he is doing more business every day, and cuts a wider swath. I would portray him rather with a pair of barbers' shears. How many and how short, Oh Bald-head, have been the cycles of "Old Father Time" since the era line of it your heroine was sweet sixteen? And now you are sitting on the front row, displaying a glassy globe on which a wingless fly would never dare to skate." He tempests the wind to the storm lamb," so, kindly Nature lets us think that, we are youthful still, and frolicsome and gay. So let it be, till we are snugly laid away, sans everything. We can repay good Mother Nature in no better way than to be, as she would wish us, to the very last—young. Let us continue as long as we may to applaud our Julietts of sixty odd, covering the seams and wrinkles of time with the glimmers of the past; and even if more youthful eyes see cracks in the enamel of our facial veneer, or sharper ears hear them in our antiquated conversation; we'll thank the Great Dispenser that we are of perennial growth, blooming till the end. But to us old codgers, none is Wayne County young. To the children in our schools, the time of which I write is shrouded in the lists of antiquity, and poor La Porte is one with Nineveh and Tyre." To more than half of us, by far, Wayne County is not young, and "twenty ars" from now the Pennsylvania Society will be a memory, only.

While we are here to testify that Wayne County is still young, we should like the old court house and grounds at La Porte, make Mr. Agler custodian, repair the roof, replace the windows, trim the trees and in a simple way beautify the grounds. I have no doubt many of those who have been familiar with it in the past would help to tend it, as a sacred thing. We have to architectural antiquities in Wayne County nor should we want them, except at time's behest; but it is nice to have some associations.

What a fine place this would be made to be for old settler's reunions, farmer's institutes, and picnic grounds or any who could properly appreciate the privilege. Eventually it might be the seat of the "Wayne County Historical Society." The old court house is a dead failure as a poor house, and I don't blame it. The poor farm, if Wayne County ever needs one, should be situated as nearly as possible equidistant from Wayne, Winside and Carroll; it certainly isn't needed anywhere near La Porte. Why cannot the Pennsylvania Society take this matter up, and, enlisting the support of the numerous women's clubs in Wayne, make something worth while of this—about the only thing in the county with any distinctive associations.

I think it might be well to stop here for a moment and take up a few of the dropped threads, of our somewhat tangled tale.

E. F. Whitten was Wayne County's first settler. He came in the year 1860, followed the next year by the Groves Colony, including the Hunters, Algers, Allens, Miners, Merrimans, Crawfords, (father and son,) Richard Russell (the oldest settler now actually living in Wayne County,) Solon Stevens, R. M. Galbraith et al. There was a Post office established near La Porte, the same year named Tally, Fudge or some such sweetmeat, soon gobbled by La Porte. Wm. P. Agler, I think was the first P. M. La Porte was not started till about 1875. Will and George, the founder of the colony, was a furoid codger. I guess I never seen him. He entered many thousands acres of land in Dixon, Cedar, Dakota and Wayne Counties. The great bulk of land he conveyed to Cyrus E. Hunter, R. B. Crawford and Wm. P. Agler, Trustees for the ostensible purpose of endowing an Agricultural College. Under the School land exemption act, this land escaped taxation for many years. Then the trustees, discovering that there was no possible need of an endowment for a College which never had and never would have an existence, decided it back. I don't think that was very slow for an old farmer (Wall Street, please, copy.)

La Porte's first P. M. was Cyrus E. Hunter, and the first child was a daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Hunter. The colonists began celebrating the 4th of July right from the start. Some one, (Al. Miller I think,) told me about the first one, but all I remember is, that the written hand bills announced that R. B. Crawford would furnish the singing; (that would draw a crowd now, I'll bet); that Mark Sperry would read the Declaration of Independence and that R. M. (D. K.) Galbraith would lead the cheers—"Three times three for the red, white and blue." Let us not laugh. Rather let us stop and think. Can you conceive of a more patriotic celebration? Grandeur there have been, but never more sincere. They could celebrate with neither fire-crackers nor fireworks, which today seems so indispensable to a display of patriotic fervor, and make the day dreared by not a few.

It was, I think, in the spring of 1871 that young Munson (I have forgotten his initials) was murdered by the Indians; it was the spring after John Bressler came out; I know, because he told me he would have gone back to Pennsylvania if he had had the price of a ticket. Munson was breaking prairie with a yoke of oxen, when five young Indians shot and killed him. Dick Galbraith and his wife, with whom young Munson boarded, heard the shots but supposed it to be the cracking of his whip. The Indians cut off Munson's head and concealed it in a wolf hole. On their return to the reservation they reported the finding of a body on the prairie. Their contradictory stories excited suspicion and they were arrested and later brought to trial. R. M. Galbraith found Munson's body and later the severed head.

Wayne county was at the time unorganized territory, so the trial took place at Blair, in Washington county, of which Arthur T. Chapin, now of Winside was sheriff. In order to identify the body as that of Munson, his aged mother was brought from the east, and she could do so only by a scar on his trunkless head which had been made in childhood. Can you recall in history anything more pathetically tragic?

The Indians later confessed that they had committed the crime at the instigation of their medicine man, who had told them that by killing a white man only could they reach the "happy hunting ground." They were convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary for life, where, Mr. Chapin told me, the last one, "White Breast," a son of the chief of his tribe, died some fifteen years ago.

This murder caused consternation among the little band of scattered settlers, but it was quickly allayed when Uncle Samuel sent up a Company of Regulars. Their apprehension was much more mitigated by the knowledge that in their midst resided "Sandy" Scott, a noted scout and Indian fighter. Mr. Scott has invariably avoided exploiting his achievements. Had his modesty permitted him to recount his adventures, the recital would make "Buffalo Bill" look like a lone Jack with the ace out; Mrs. Buffalo Bill like the Queen of the wring color in a bob-tail flush, and Sherlock Holmes like the little casino in a poker game. I will later relate to you some of "Sandy's" minor exploits as told by himself, so there will be no possible doubt as to their genuineness. I shall select the least thrilling, for I have been told that once when recounting an especially blood curdling experience with the Indians to a man who had been previously scalped, it made his hair stand straight upon end, and I desire to save Dr. Williams and Sam Davies from such an experience. For the present I must hurry back to the immediate history. Mr. Scott's experiences will occur later to embellish and enliven more common-place and passive events.
