HON. E. R. CHACE
Wayne's First Mayor and One of Her Most Admirable Citizens.

except in a game of checkers or croquet, and you will very nearly be the man who, to my notion, has lived most nearly the ideal life, ever lived in Wayne. Very properly the man who has lived such a life was Wayne's first mayor and in the twenty four years I have known him that was the hardest job he has ever had and I don't think that it caused him to lose one minute's sleep all told.

One of his sons told me he saw his father worried once for about ten minutes, after he had hooked a monster pickerel which he thought would get away, but I have my doubts about it. My idea is, he would have laughed the heartiest of laughs, taken another pinch of "Fountain" fine out, spat on his bait and made another cast.

When Wayne celebrates the fiftieth anniversary of her corporate existence, I trust he will be on hand to preside.

Wayne from its start has been built on essentially modern lines. The city council early had the wisdom to establish a "grade," and among the first ordinances was one which provided for the demarcation of side walks and curb lines. To this foresight, which saved much quibbling and the possibility of greater expense in the future, I believe Wayne is indebted more to Frank M. Northrop than to any other one man; and it is but scant justice to Mr. Northrop to say that he framed many and most of Wayne's ordinances during the formative period, the most important of its corporate existence. I am inclined to think that the City Treasurer's records will not reveal any salary vouchers signed by C. A. Chace, Engineer; but I am sure he occupied that position during this period of greatest importance; and if he did not do the work itself, he saw that it was done, and done properly. I make reference to this not in any way to indicate what Wayne owes to two of its citizens, who then and always have been active in all things pertaining to the good of the community, but to show that Wayne from the start has been distinctively modern and commensurate with its growth, has kept abreast the spirit of the times.

Its business houses have been generally creditable, its homes so uniformly tasty and admirable, as to excite the surprise of visitors and incite the emulation of rivals. There are, however, a few exceptions worthy of comment. At the time the county jail was authorized to be built, Wayne had no architect (Sid Belyea not having yet entered that artistic field), but it had a tinsmith artist who had seen pictures of the Bastille, the Tombs, Ludlow Street Jail and Andersonville Prison, and had actually looked upon the calaboose in Wayne. He had also passed through Anamosa, Iowa, so to him was awarded the contract for the plans and specifications for Wayne County's jail. Assuming that a prisoner must of necessity walk out the door in event of breaking jail, he only had one—the parlor door; and as the sheriff lived in the jail it was a constant source of entertainment to visitors, family and friends to have the jailbirds march through the parlors when necessity demanded. As a matter of fact you could go from any one room to another without going through the parlor, even from kitchen to dining room. It was unique in its way. I believe they now have an outside door into the kitchen. This also leads from the kitchen to the outside. The jail was supposed to be equipped complete, but the specifications in matter of water supply, called for a pump only; the well was supplied later by the county. History must deal in facts, be that history sacred or profane. This was profane—I was there when the county commissioners settled with the contractor—Obediah Kortright.

This same architect built himself a residence, modeled on peculiar lines, suggestive both of a grain elevator and a side wheel steamboat. The wind blew it down, but it was rebuilt and it still bears some of its distinguishing features.

Pretty well west on Third Street stands a brick house with two or three imitation windows painted on the brick wall. A. C. Crockett, brother of "Press," built the house. John Bennett must have painted the windows—they would fool a rabbit all right—but I never could fathom the mystery. Those expressionless windows always looked to me as if they were the eyes of a dead fish. What is their object? The brick cost more than glass and the glorious morning sun is worth more than both, and costs nothing.

But Wayne has one building which eclipses them all, and I actually believe that it is class and it stands a thing apart. I have no doubt that it has engendered more smiles, silent, sinister and sardonic, than all the antics of architecture in Wayne combined. Did you, kind reader, ever run across an "Attorney I, Hit'em Hard Building" or the "Undertakers, Stark and Grim Building"—professions whose ethics abjure such advertising? If there were I would take that slab, even if I owned but a third of it, cut it a date or two on it, drag it up on the hill where it belongs, and crawl under it.

Embryonic Wayne

By Whose Who

John Sherman's little farm is the most valuable piece of real estate in Wayne County. He told me once how many million his clay bank would amount to when converted into good hard brick at $8.00 per thousand. The First National or State Bank corners sink into insignificance by comparison. John expects and deserves to live a long, long while, but his children's grandchildren will, I think, be working this mine long before it is exhausted.

I hardly know why this should recall to my mind another John—John Lewis; because of his brick-yard I suppose. When John S. Lewis Jr. came to Wayne, no one doubted that he was Junior all right—a younger looking, fresher-faced lad never struck the town, although even then he was father of a family. Eighteen hours a day was the scale of hours in the Union to which John belonged, and when he was elected Alderman the City Clerk never had to call his name the second time. He was ever "Johnny on the spot."

No wonder John hadn't time to look after his brickyard, but like Banquo's ghost it "would never lay down," and I hope when the ever expected boom strikes Wayne his "yard" will help supply the demand. He had enough fire and enthusiasm to burn brick hard he the time to turn it in that direction. Noah Robataille was Wayne's first harness maker, and I think John succeeded him. In any event, a few years after John's arrival a portly gentleman dropped off the train and entered the store of Harrington Brothers situated in the Britton building now occupied by The State Bank. He wanted a collar size 22. Neal Harrington, who claimed to be in, told him they were just out of that particular size, but that he would find them just three doors south, so Mayor Cooper— for he it was, wandered into John Lewis' harness shop and was fitted out to his liking; for John gave him a job and he continued sewing on tugs there for some years.

The Mayor was a boyhood friend of Grover Cleveland and prided himself that they weighed in the same match and wore the same size collars, although I have never heard it stated that Grover bought his collars at a harness shop. That was a lively place, was John Lewis' work shop. Doc Richabaugh and George Gelder, McMiller and Mayor Cooper—any one of them could give you the very latest in horse, prize fight, religion or politics, and waxed ends would fly as fast as the talk, which was fast enough the Lord knows! Frank Strahan and Jim Britton, Gil Harrison and Jim Hurst and occasionally Del Strickland would stride a vacant harnessmaker's "horse" and with whip and spur, ride his particular hobby to victory. Wayne, young as it is, is now in its second generation. Its first crop of boys are voters now, and the tiny occupants of the cradle then are rocking others now. Edna Britton was the first girl and child born in Wayne, and Chaucery Childs the first boy to see the light of day in Wayne, but they came thick and fast thereafter and despite blizzard or storm, wet or dry, hot or cold there has been a never failing crop distributed throughout the seasons. Work as we might, the corn crop has been short, and the wheat crop a failure, but we have as yet had no occasion to bemoan "Loves Labor Lost."

There was no small problem on the start to provide adequate school facilities for the constantly increasing swarm of little folks. The first "schooling gallery" for the young 'hees was in a building on or near the present site of Prof. Davies' bookstore. Finding the accommodations inadequate and the surroundings objectionable to all concerned, the school board secured the use of the old Presbyterian church, which was equipped with desks suitable to the purpose. Here, Mrs. W. B. Weatherby was first principal with Miss Anna Davies (now Mrs. A. A. Welch) and her sister Miss Susie Davies (now Mrs. Harris) assistants. On Mrs. Weatherby's retirement, Mr. Anson A. Welsh was strongly urged, both by the school board and private citizens to at least temporarily assume the principalship and reorganize the school on a basis capable of coping with its constantly increasing growth. This he reluctantly but fortunately consented to do, and I think when Mr. Welch "comes to sum up the evidence" of the good things done in his useful life in Wayne, not the least will be his service to the public schools.

The school board early recognized the urgent necessity of securing a permanent and suitable site. How they could have chosen better it is difficult to imagine, for it is a lordly site for the splendid building which should soon be built there. I think to Mr. A. B. Slater, now of Chicago, Wayne owes much, for it was largely due to his foresightedness that an entire block of ground was secured for the High school. Mr. Slater took an active and painstaking interest in the school and the first school building, the construction of which, to a great extent, he supervised. The contract was let, strangely enough, to J. D. Slater, no relation of the farmer. While the high school may now seem antiquated and sadly lacking in many essentials, at the time it was built it filled all requirements, and we were proud of it, indeed!

There is, I believe, no human characteristic which is so generally commended (although often unconsciously) as a natural tendency to approve and applaud.

Applause may be bestowed by an approving nod, look, word, or hearty clap on the back, or by the clapping of hands and even heels. We all like approval, if we can boast of anything worthy of it, and we like applause and we like to see it worthily bestowed. We admire and we rejoice to meet day after day and week after week, the man with a twinkling eye and friendly face who carries with him the "glad hand" of approval, ready to be extended to class any other that has done a good deed.

The man who from long practice has formed the habit of seeing good in other people is always going to look good to his fellow men.

From the very first there has been just such a man in Wayne, an unobtrusive, kindly, friendly man, who always takes as much interest in the affairs of others as an inherent delicacy permits; who brings cheer with him, who likes a clean joke, God's sunshine and the pure air.

A man who likes to meet his friends and meet them often and swap yarns with them. You will notice him, when the story is to his liking, tapping his heels together with a mild applause and a twinkle of the eye more expressive than the loudest laugh.

The man I have in mind is the youngest old man or the oldest young man (which ever way you choose to put it) in Wayne and he is the living exemplar of the beneficence of the "Simple Life," of which we hear so much spoken now-a-days.

Imagine yourself (if you can) possessed of a sunny, happy disposition and for fifty three years possessed of the same kind of wife; add to that seven twelfths of a dozen of manly sons and womanly daughters and grand children galore; eliminate the desire and struggle for great wealth, honors or estate; take away envy, hatred, malice and all uncharitableness; and the ambition to get the best of any one else,

Half Block North of Boyd Hotel, Wayne, Neb.

There was in the early days a photography located in a tent where the Wayne "look-pleasant" gentleman's specialty was tin-types. I have before me now one of John Bressler, which he has frequently offered to trade his First National Bank stock for. It will probably be reproduced later in these letters among others of my collection. George W. Kortright bought this fellow out or run him out, which is much the same thing, and established a permanent (as permanency went in those days) gallery over Dr. W. A. Love's Drug Store. A few years later Charles M. Craven bought an interest in the business and shortly purchased and assumed the management of the establishment, one of the best in the state to day.

I don't think Charlie claims to be a hypnotist, and certainly no baby would be afraid of him, but he does send forth from his gallery the reproduction of the pleasantest, happiest little cherubs you can find outside of Angelo's freecases. George Kortright used to play base-ball to beat the band, and he also beat the base-drum in the band. He was an enthusiastic sportsman, and well liked in Wayne as was his wife. Of his two sons, Willard and Charlie, I think the latter was born in Wayne. They moved to Sioux City many years ago, but are still well remembered here.

Don't Be a Russian.

Japan has licked Russia every jump in the road and yet Russia says she will send more men and ships to continue the war to the bitter end. Some people in this county are like the Russians, they continue to do business when they are beat every time they make a purchase. If they get a poor bargain they dig up more money and try it again just like Russia. Russia blames her generals for defeat, and they blame the clerk, and they try another clerk if they get swindled.

If you have a well in which the water stinks, you can't change the water by putting in a new pump. Dig a new well. If your clothing don't fit and don't give satisfaction or the price too high, try us and everything will be satisfactory. Everybody thought Japan was foolish to fight so big a nation as Russia but we now know that it is not the size of an army that counts but it is the intelligence and strategy used that wins victory. So it is in the clothing business. It is not the biggest store where you get the best satisfaction. It is the up-to-date store that uses good judgment and has plenty of cash and fully understands their business that gives the best satisfaction. We have what you want and have used the good judgment in selecting it. We have had over 25 years experience in the clothing business. We have plenty of cash and understand our business. Expense in war is great and often determines the result, so it is in business. There is no clothing house on earth that has less expense to do business than we have. We own the building, we have no clerks to pay, we have light insurance, we clothe the editor for advertising. We have plenty of cash, these are some of the reasons why we beat all competition. If you are not successful in getting good clothing at the right price where you are doing business make a change and try this store. Everything is up-to-date here, and you get another suit if you are not satisfied. Our Spring goods are now here and we have more of them than ever before. Step in anytime and look at them even if you are not ready to buy. We are small men like the Japs but we do the business. Small but mighty in the clothing business. It will pay you to try us.

The 2 Johns
ONE PRICE CLOTHING
WAYNE NEB.

BY DAD.

The Russian army is all but wiped out of existence.

Peabody has been seated governor of Colorado, but promises to resign. John Kate is deeply puzzled. John has fifteen hens and they and one rooster lay up sixteen eggs every day. The jobs thinks one hen must lay two eggs, but Squire Feather insists that that theory is wrong, it is the rooster puts by the 16th. Anyway Mr. Kate is carefully looking after every 16th egg in hopes of hatching out a brood of biddies that will lay two eggs per day. It is a good thing politically, for the members of the Nebraska legislature that they pass into the graveyard of oblivion at the close of this session. They are the most disgusting lot of statesmen(?) Nebraska has ever been disgraced by.

Down east, a man named Roosevelt, who thinks he has a slouch, on everything there is in sight, from politics to flinch, has had the never to advocate a numerous progeny, the breed don't count a little bit. "It's the branches on the tree, now, while I somewhat differ, with Teddy I'll agree, to propagate the human race and draw his salary, I'll stand up for my country, and be the weather good or bad, and do the right thing just as oft as Teddy will—by dad.

It is quietly reported about town that Fred Volpp is coming back to Wayne to go into the real estate and loan business with Phil Kohl. When down here Monday Fred refused to deny or affirm the truth of the report, but Phil says "not by a dam sight!"

Squire Feather asked Senator Williams what was the most important bill passed by the legislature, and the Senator, without a change of expression, replied: "The appropriation, bill of course."

An esteemed friend of the DEMOCRAT writes me: Walt—I see by the Herald you have a boy. I see it twice; is he twin? Here's to him or them, as the case may be. I don't know why, by dad, the Herald put it in twice; once has always been sufficient with the DEMOCRAT.

You all remember Dr. Reagan! What a snap the persevering cuss would have if he lived in Wayne this year. Reagan used to go out after business, you bet; and once when he tackled a farmer's wife for a prospective job he came within an ace of having his proboscis punched good and plenty. A physician, not of the Reagan school, has just nine engagements already booked—his good for ninety and nine.

I thought, by dad, Wayne had the "smallest man" in the state, but have changed my mind since hearing the following from Carroll. It appears that a man named Arthur Tucker's bank sell his residence, that is, the bank found a purchaser, made out the papers, attended to all the business incident to such a transaction, etc. After all was done up in good shape, Mr. Tucker, who is known for his rank liberality, aka Janus Brutus, went into the bank, thanked the boys for their helpfulness; said he always felt that such unspeakable assistance deserved its just reward; that he wanted to do the square thing, by dad, and what do you think? "Here boys is ten cents for each of you," and as the tears of gratitude ran down his cheeks, the beats of his heart were plainly heard down here at Wayne. His distress at such a generous outlay was pitiable indeed.

Every man thinks he knows how to run a farm, just as most men believe they could edit a better newspaper than those who are in the business. In both cases the man who really knows most feels most modest about it. Book farmers have long been the butt of universal ridicule; and book farmers often get control of agricultural papers and make a sad mess of it as leaders of the hard-headed, common sense farmers who have learned to do things by doing them. Fortunately for Wayne county, the farm paper most generally read here is the Iowa Homestead which is edited by practical farmers who live on and operate their own farms, besides being experts in the science and theory of agriculture. The DEMOCRAT takes pleasure in recommending this excellent farm journal as the best exponent of practical and scientific agriculture, horticulture, stock-raising, dairy farming and the allied industries of the farm. We take subscriptions at this office; and believe that in so doing we are best promoting the interests of Wayne county.

Omaha Markets

NYS & BUCHANAN CO. March 16, 1905.

Friday on account of reported heavy receipts for Monday the cattle market weakened 5 to 10 cents. The heavy receipts materialized Monday in Chicago where they had 35,000 and brought a further decline of 10 cents, which weakened our market likewise, although we had only 3500. Tuesday and Wednesday with light receipts at all points bring an advance of 15 to 20 cents, bringing prices up to the high point of last week with prospects good for balance of the week.

The hog market is stronger again on light receipts. Range $4.70 to $5.00. Sheep market unchanged with lambs rather slow sale.

Mrs A P Childs Dead

Wayne friends of the Childs family were very much surprised and shocked on Tuesday to learn that Mrs. A. P. Childs was dead. C. M. Craven, her son-in-law, receiving a telegram from Youngstown, Ohio, announcing the death. Mrs. Childs had spent the winter in New York with her mother, the Democrat understands. As she had written to Mr. Craven only last week, her demise was very sudden. The remains will arrive in Wayne this evening and the funeral will take place tomorrow morning at ten o'clock. Should the remains fail to arrive here this evening the funeral will be held from the morning train, otherwise from the residence of Harry Craven, at ten o'clock.

Chauncy Childs, her son, arrived Tuesday evening from Minneapolis, where he is attending college, and Lois (Mrs. J. E. Laubenberg) from Kansas City, and Mrs. Lathrop of Parker, S. D., arrived here yesterday. The children have the sincere sympathy of Wayne people in their sad bereavement. It is such a few years since this family was among us, happy, whole-hearted and joyous. Now the father, mother and sister (Mrs. Craven) fill a family plot in the silent city.

Dr. H. L. Hanchette of Sioux City was in Wayne Saturday to professionally visit Mrs. Dr. Nieman, who has been very seriously ill.

Neal Williamson died last Sunday noon after months of sickness. The funeral was held Tuesday, Rev. Dibley officiating. Deceased leaves a widow and five small children in destitute circumstances, in fact the family have always been about, as poor as they could well become. The father has perhaps not been altogether to blame, as the Democrat understands he has never been in good health. For years they lived over the Dantelson building later getting into an old building of J. T. Bressler's south of Brown's live-barn, to pay the rent on which Mrs. Williamson took in washing.

City Council Doings.

At the council meeting Monday evening E. D. Mitchell filed a verbal objection to the proposed change of street on west 3d, his reason for so doing being that he owned property abutting on the proposed projected road, and that the same, if opened up as proposed, ought to be full width, 80 feet, instead of 45 feet wide as provided by the ordinance. The ordinances were put on second reading but will probably be killed at the 3rd, next meeting.

A few bills for electric supplies, coal, etc., were allowed.

Following persons were selected to serve as judges and clerks of election on April 4:

First ward: Pat Dixon, judge; Al Fowler and Henry Gaertner, clerks. Second ward: J. H. Massie, judge; Frank Gaertner and Eugene Leahy, clerks.

Third ward: J. E. Harmer, judge; R. H. James and A. E. Bressler, clerks.

Ice cream at the bakery Saturday and Sunday. Phone for the amount you want and it will receive prompt attention.

The matter of making a start on a public park project was discussed, and the city attorney, not knowing how long notices for an election on such a proposition should be made, he was instructed by unanimous vote of the council to have the same voted on at the next city election, if possible.

Since the meeting was held, however, it has been learned that notice for such an election must be given the public four weeks previous to a vote being taken. The Democrat offers as a suggestion that the clerks and judges of election, April 5th, request each voter to express himself on the matter of calling a special election this spring on the proposition. We believe the time is over-ripe to plan for a city park. It is one essential to a modern town that Wayne has been sadly deficient in during its past. A few thousand dollars expended now would be a profitable investment, to say nothing of the numerous benefits, pleasures derived from a city park. Wayne will never be in better condition than right now to take up the project. The financial condition of the city and the probable future expenditures are such that a park bond issue would not necessarily increase the tax levy. Anyway, we are a people unto ourselves, a public park would be our property, it would be a big, paying investment, and from the viewpoint of the Democrat, the man who disapproves such a proposition is a "knocker."

Four-year-old Joe Ringland took his first ocean voyage last Friday afternoon. His cousins caught him as he was going to a neighbor's, a bottle of acornite pills in his hand. His mother found there were six pellets missing, and the child declaring that he had eaten them, a doctor was summoned and the poor boy pumped out until his heart was broken. It was improbable that he had eaten any of the poison.

Henry Lueders is Dead

It is nearly two years since Henry Lueders, the German barber, left Wayne in a vain effort to regain his health. Last Tuesday morning he died at Glenwood Springs, Colo., where he has been staying for six or eight months. The remains arrived here in Wayne for interment last Wednesday and the funeral took place this afternoon, the cortage leaving the residence of Geo. Lueders at 1:30 services at the German Lutheran church by Rev. Karpenstein and the burial under the supervision and guard of the Sons of Herman and Woodman of the World lodges, of which deceased had been a member for several years. Death came very peacefully and easily to Henry He had a severe hemorrhage last Saturday night, and gradually sank to everlasting slumber from bodily pains and earthly troubles.

Caucus Tonight.

After placing a call in the DEMOCRAT for a caucus for next Monday night, Chairman James of the citizens party, changed it to this Friday night. The Democrat has been unable to learn of any organized opposition to Jas. Britton for mayor. John Gaertner will likely succeed himself as alderman 1st ward; D. S. McVicker is a candidate for another term in the 2d, where J. H. Massie and L. F. Neely are Charley Martin's candidates Lambert Roe, one of the best men on the board, says he is not a candidate for another term from the 3d ward, but no one else has bobbed up for the honor so far as the Democrat can learn. The ward caucuses will be 1st-ward Gaertner's store; 2d-ward base house; 3d-ward court house.

Drafts all Over the World
The State Bank issues drafts payable in any of the leading centers of the principal foreign countries as well as the United States and Canada. These drafts can be obtained for any sum over $1.00.

The party named as payee can deposit them to his credit in regular bank or, upon proper identification, convert them into cash at the bank upon which they are drawn. Bank drafts cost less than Postoffice or Express Money Orders and are safer.

Citizens Caucus.

There will be a Citizens Caucus held at the Court House, in Wayne, Neb., on Monday evening, March 20th, 1905, at 7:30 o'clock, for the purpose of nominating officers for the ensuing City Election and school directors.

FOUND—Leather pocket book. Call at this office.

Applicants for positions in the Panama canal service are required to furnish a photograph of themselves for purposes of identification when they die. The name and date and place of examination is written on the photograph, with a blank space for the date of death. Every fellow who goes might take the additional precaution to carry in his pocket a card with the instruction: "If I die in ten days send me back to —," giving the name of his home.

There are to be investigations made into the inside workings and giving of awards at the St. Louis exposition. What's the use? The public feels that any person who claims to have one ought to be ashamed to admit it, let alone advertise the fact.

The Omaha papers say that one day last week an official order was promulgated in the office of an Omaha life insurance company requiring all the lady clerks in the office to wash their feet and change their stockings every day, in order to purify the atmosphere in insurance headquarters. I believe in clean feet, but am ready to prophesy that some of the insurance deals of that Omaha company would smell louder than feet if the state insurance commissioner would give them proper airing.—Columbus Telegram.

"This said the 'crack in the Liberty bell,'" with which Tom Watson embellished his magazine cover, extends through the book. Tom can at least take in an illustrious crack.

The house of representatives regained its popularity this year by indicating that the members wanted to do what they were sent to Washington for and pass legislation desired by the people, says the Sioux City Tribune, but just before they adjourned a bill was passed allowing $190,000 for mileage never traveled. This amount was claimed because the members were called in extra session in 1903. When the regular session adjourned the extra session was called to order. Only five minutes intervened between the sessions, and yet they voted themselves ten cents a mile to their home and back. They should be asked about it when they arrive home, just to let them know how small they have been.

Notice.

To all whom it may concern: No notice is hereby given that I will not be responsible for any debts or accounts my wife, Emma Hodson, may contract hereafter, as she has left my bed and board. Dated Wayne, Neb., March 4, 1905. Wm. Hodson.

It is much easier for a woman to confide in the average man than in the average woman. She knows that the man will respect her confidences and keep them to himself. He is strong, has more experience of the world and can help the woman who needs advice. There is every reason why women should not trust their delicate constitutions in the hands of unskilled persons. It requires a thorough medical education to appreciate and understand the womanly organism. When a woman has his and pains that she cannot bear—when life seems dark for every woman, she should confide her troubles to a physician of standing in the community or one who has a national reputation. Certainly it would not be the part of wisdom to confide in an ignorant person without medical education simply because she was a woman. There is every reason why she should confide in a great specialist, one who has made the diseases of women a specialty for a third of a century, like Dr. R. V. Pierce, founder of the Invariable Hotel and Surgical Institute of Buffalo, N. Y. All his correspondence is held secretly confidential, and he gives his advice free and without charge.

So uniformly successful has Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in all forms of Female Weakness, Protrusion, or Falling of Womb, and Leucorrhoea, that, after curing the worst cases of these distressing and debilitating ailments, Dr. Pierce now feels fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in cash for any case of these diseases which he cannot cure.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used with "Favorite Prescription" whenever a laxative is required.

Of the ninety congressmen who tried to grab mileage, fifty-two were republicans and thirty-eight were democrats. The democrats do not seem able to get a majority in anything.

A railroad detective at York, Pa., shot a poor man who was stealing a bucket of coal. And the Chicago Examiner remarks that it is a crime in Pennsylvania to steal anything less than a coal mine.

Resolutions of Respect.

At a regular meeting of Casey Post No. 5, G. A. R. held on Saturday evening March 4th, 1905, the following Resolutions were unanimously adopted. Whereas, it has pleased the Great Commander of the Universe, to remove from our midst, our late Comrade George W. Culler, to the Camping ground beyond, and Whereas, by his fidelity as a Comrade, a citizen and a neighbor, he won the respect and esteem of all who knew him, and in his death the Post has met an irreparable loss, as well as the community in which he lived; therefore,

Be it Resolved, By Casey Post No. 5, G. A. R. That in commemoration of his noble and patriotic life, the Colors of the Post together with its Charter, be draped in mourning for the space of ninety days.

Be it further Resolved, That to the family of the deceased we tender our heartfelt sympathy in this their hour of sorrow and bereavement, and commend them to that one who alone can give comfort and consolation in the dark hour of life.

Be it further resolved That these resolutions be spread in full upon the minutes of the Post, a copy of the same be presented to family of the deceased, and that they be published in the City paper.

J. E. Harmon, E. Hunter, David Cunningham, Committee.

Earlier Sunday falls on April 23rd. Only five times in two centuries has it been later than this. The lateness of the event will not be without its advantages. Eggs will be cheaper and the Easter bonnets may be marked down to $9.99.

THE ORIGINAL.

Foley's & Co., Chicago, originated Foley's & Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered as no other preparation will give the same satisfaction. It is mildly laxative. It contains no opiates and is safest for children and delicate persons. Wayne Drug Store.

Women's Kidneys.

Women are more often afflicted with kidney disorders than men, but attribute the symptoms to diseases peculiar to their sex. Nervousness, head ache, puffiness or dark circles under the eyes, pain in the back, are signs of kidney trouble that must not be ignored, or a serious malady will result. Foley's Kidney Cure has restored the health of thousands of weak, nervous, broken down women. It stops irregularities and strengthens the urinary organs. It purifies the blood and benefits the whole system. Wayne Drug Store.
