Took Watch and Money

Bert Moore who has been high-muckadoodle at the Union hotel for several months, decamped last Sunday, taking with him Landford Bohner's gold watch and, as the latter says, $1 in money that he had collected for the house. Mr. Bohner says he had handed the fellow the watch, while making trains so that the only charge he can set him on will be for taking the money. County Attorney Siman and Sheriff Mears were put on his trail Monday.

Fred French from Craig and Gilbert French and Wallie Tucker from Windsor were in town over Sunday.

Miss Viola Willis had a very peculiar accident last Friday. She was lurching and went to the cupboard for some bread, holding the point of the sharp bread knife between her teeth. The handle of the knife bit the shelf and the blade just about cut her tongue clear off, a doctor having to sew it on. This incident might be of particular interest to some of the married men about town.

The Standard Oil people are going to make some large improvements on their property here, tanks to be turned around in more satisfactory shape and a commodious warehouse built. J. A. Gheen of Sioux City was here last Saturday consulting with Jack Crohan on the necessary outlay.

Dennis Newton has purchased the old M. E. parsonage, paying $250 for it. It will be moved out at once to make room for a new residence for Rev. Wright's comfort.

New buggies—at Powers warehouse A. Rosenthal and M. P. Ahern, by his attorney, had quite a round up in Judge Hunter's court last Saturday. Mr. Ahern, through his agent, A. J. Ferguson, leased his residence to Mr. Rosenberg, a clause in the lease providing for the sale of the property and change in possession upon giving Mr. Rosenberg 30 days notice. It appears Mr. Rosenberg objected to this provision, but Mr. Ferguson told him there would be no trouble on that score as it was unlikely the property would sell. The place was sold recently to Mr. Kenick and the tenant given 30 days notice, but he refused to move out, claiming there was a different understanding made verbally.

A. R. Davis was attorney for defendant and F. A. Berry for the plaintiff. Mr. Berry, the court returned a verdict for Mr. Rosenberg and he will have possession until August. Some amusement was occasioned by Atty. Davis' allusion to his old partner, Mr. Ferguson, as the accomplished witness with the slippery memory.

Holdoblers Hit the High Places

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stumph are having a most unenviable lot of grief with the Holdobler family, who lived on the Stumph farm last year. Recently the Holdoblers, who moved to the Vetsch place, returned to the Stumph farm and simply raised hell—the boys claiming certain property and threatening to kill Mr. Stumph. The latter swore out a warrant for Mr. Holdobler's arrest, and last Thursday Sheriff Mears accompanied by Robert Pettit drove out and served notice on the wife-beater. Mrs. Holdobler was in the house when the gentlemen arrived, and said her husband was in the field. After finding the man and notifying him to appear in court Friday afternoon, the woman came out of the house with a loose jacket over her shoulders and apparently something under her arm. As the men were driving away and she turned her back, they noticed the barrel of an ugly gun sticking out through a hole in her wrap. Thursday they came to town, saw the judge and made a circuit for everybody who happened to be in the court. Judge Hunter assessed Holdobler a fine, and Mrs. Holdobler said the money was hers and they wouldn't pay it. Then she got up and took a vicious poke at Mrs. Stumph, the latter not even taking any part in the jangle. County Attorney Siman essayed to interfere, and his face got several shades whiter than snow while trying to prevent an assault. Judge Hunter called on the sheriff to remove the whole family, husband, wife, two children and a dog, to the county jail, and the sheriff did so but had a time of it. He attempted to search the woman for a gun, and she said: "Megot gun, yah, yah," at the same time making disgusting gestures. In the sitting room of the sheriff's home, which "Who's Who" so grandiloquently described as the entrance to the jail—the woman squatted in a chair and refused to budge, the sheriff having to drag her into a cell. Late Friday evening the bunch was allowed to go home upon promising to come back Monday to answer a petition of Mr. Stumph that they be put under bonds to keep the peace.

On Monday afternoon Mr. Holdobler appeared as per agreement and after considerable skrimishing put up a bond in the sum of $200 to keep the peace, to be in force until the next term of district court next September at which time it will be taken before Judge Boyd for further consideration. For her assault upon Mrs. Stumph last Saturday Mrs. Holdobler was fined $10 and costs, the time to be suspended upon a long good behavior.

City Council Doings.

The city dads held a busy session Monday evening, allowing bills, passing the vote of the city election, passing ordinances, figuring on expenses for the ensuing year and allowing bills, the latter being as follows:

John Soules wanted $2, acting as special police at the 3d ward voting booth, where he had been directed "watch things" by Justice Feather. The council turned down Constable Soules' bill, claiming the squire should pay the obligation.

L. R. Tharp, who lives in the west part of town, was present with a petition signed by a large number of his neighbors asking for a street lamp, to be placed at the corner of Blaine and First streets, near the German Lutheran church. The matter was referred to the electric light committee.

J. M. Pile sent in a written request for a reduction in his light expenses, claiming the cost was nearly double what he had expected. The college buildings use 400 lights and the total run up even on the metric system. It also was referred to the electric light committee.

The ordinance increasing salaries of city clerk and marshal was passed for publication. The clerk will give $1,000 ($225) per annum and Marshal Miner $60 per month.

Mayor Britton delegated Aldermen Gregg and Goldie to canvass the vote of the city election.

Councilman Williams, as chairman of a committee appointed some months ago to investigate the cost of opening up a street crossing over the railroad tracks a block east of Main, said he was in favor of immediate action in the matter, and that the same should

Bloody First said he'd like to know what the council thought about the card tables, just to get an item for his paper, whereupon Alderman Gregg made a motion that the city attorney draft an ordinance providing for the exclusion of all cards and card tables from pool halls and bowling alleys. After a long death like pause the mayor or vice "things" up by stating that there were two motions before the house but neither had been seconded and Alderman Gaertner's motion putting the first second, the city dads decided for him.

Better be Dead Than Live Without Hope.

Expectation is the motive power of life. The thing we hope for is the mainspring of energy. If you have no hope you had better have some kind friend bury you. The season of hope is now here. Easter brings a promise of immortal life, and God has made the earth green, and sends us sunshine to warm up the soil ready for cultivation. Any one who will make the necessary effort can hope to reap an abundant harvest. There is no hope in sowing weeds in the public road. You must plant your seed where the conditions are made favorable to receive them if you hope for a reward for your labor. It is the same in planting your dollars. You cannot hope to receive a full return if you plant your dollars where the merchant has not made the necessary effort to give you a good investment. No other merchant in Wayne county has made the same effort to please his customers this year that we have. If you invest your money here you can hope to receive better returns than you would receive of any other merchant in Wayne. We have the largest stock of clothing and we have prepared prices that will please you. You have everything to hope for if you trade at this store. Easter is now nearly here and it is customary to dress up. Everything is putting on a new suit, and if you will commence the season with a new outfit from this store, you will feel like a new man and you can hope to have good health and meet all the trials of life successfully. Don't start out with an outfit out of date; old-style clothing makes a man feel discouraged when he meets his friends who have traded at this store. It costs no more to buy our clothing up-to-date than you will have to pay for old-fashioned, shop-worn, back-number suits. Let us have the pleasure of showing our spring stock even if you should decide to buy elsewhere. We hope to see you in this store before Easter. If you have reason to feel discouraged with other stores, try us. It is inspiring to do business here. Try it and you will be happy.

J. E. MARSTELLER

The Democrat is $1.50 per year on Time.

BY DAD.

Yesterday was a better day for "green birds" than Easter millinery. They say one of the town boys, who attended the dance at Altona Saturday night, has a very poor ear for music. When the orchestra stopped he continued on dancing, and when a friend tried to lead him to a seat he ejaculated: "What is the music stopped?"

John Soules accosted J. D. King, in the post office one day last week with: "Hello, Comrade!" "You shouldn't say that," replied J. D., with an annoyed aspect. "You are not an old soldier." "Yes, I am," answered John, with the cheerful assurance of a man who shoots to "kill." "I'd like to know when you were a soldier?" inquired the old vet, rather contemptuously. "Why, when I was up at your house the other day beating your carpets," answered the house cleaner. "Oh, that's only soldiering," said Comrade King, in a more scapable tone of voice; and hostilities were declared a draw.

Thank the Lord! what a change! One year ago all the Democrat force could hear from our north-door neighbors was: "You———!" "Take that you old———!" "I'll choke the gizzard out of you!" and many more equally endearing terms used by a husband and wife, winding up with a woman's shrieks, and a poor child's cry of terror, etc. Now the sounds we listen to are "Nearer My God to Thee," "What a friend we have in Jesus," "Just as I am without one plea." Of course we got accustomed to the harsh Hirsch profanity and cruelty—there was so much of it and it was so continual, but the new neighbors bring us comfort, sociability and better still, peace and decency with their gospel songs. We know the little boy and little girl in there have a good home, and have no pang of fear and regret over their welfare. The beer guzzling, beasts of a year ago are gone, and our only regret for them is that they'll never come back. A preacher might preach a practical sermon on the subject, I can only appreciate the change, and say that the only way is "the right way," is the "good way," and the "songs they sing" portend the lives our neighbors are living.

This calls to mind a "joke" on Phil Kohl one day last summer. It had been an unusually stormy day next door; the "can" had been "rushed" to and fro across the street until there was as much booze on this side—as the victims could probably hold. Phil happened down past the ruination restaurant just as the landlord was doing his last stunt with the landlady, and hearing a piercing, blood curdling shriek—"that ain't" over move the Democrat's devil to comment—Phil rushed into the middle of the street, shouting: "Where's the marshal! somebody get the marshal that fellow's killing the woman in there!" As soon as the people—this end of town—knew where the trouble was they all gave Philip the laugh, and it came near costing him something for getting so excited over nothing.

The man who hasn't gumption nor ambition enough to make a success of his own business, and goes about poking his nose into places to see if he can't find somebody doing a little "gambling," as they call it in Wayne, is a mighty poor citizen for the town to help support.

The ancient fannygram this week is on Jake Dornberger. When Jake first struck Wayne, direct from the land of sauerkraut and wooden shoes, he could neither talk Yankee English nor had he ever enjoyed an American birthday. John O'Hara who appears to have cut a good many capers in the early days, took Jake in tow, and one summer day, when prohibition was rampant in Wayne and there had been no BB nor hard cider come down from the clouds for some time, he and a man named Smith drove to Wakefield where the pasture was green and wet, and a fellow could get something his whistle to whet. After enjoying themselves they entered the hotel for dinner, the Yankees taking a seat on each side of Jake, who had been unable to express his delight over the new town owing to his lack of "words." Here they dined, filled Jake's capacious pockets, in his German coat, with silverware, napkins, etc., giving the waiter a wink. After leaving the hotel the landlord was "put on" their trail, and securing the services of the sheriff and an interpreter Jake was arrested, taken back to the hotel and made disgorge his plunder. The poor victim then fell on his knees, cried real tears of remorse and repentance, and of course, was finally allowed to go home, but it cost him a whole lot more to end the matter than if it had been a case of the real thing.

The man who was successful in inducing the partner of his joys and housecleaning to wait until "summer" time for the expurgating ordeal, is now out with a big "I told you so."

Show me the color of his hair! the fellow republican who is trying to beat J. M. Cherry or Charley Reynolds' out of a second term in office.

At St. Paul an ordinance has been proposed prohibiting women and girls from drinking intoxicating liquors in saloons unless accompanied by their husbands or fathers. This will make it necessary for a lot of women to get new husbands or fathers, but that will be easy in St. Paul.

The seventh pair of twins were reared here, to Mr. and Mrs. James Bradley of Manning, Iowa. The father is 78 years old and the mother 68. Iowa is a great state for hogs.

Bishop Joseph E. Berry of Buffalo has cautioned young ministers against calling on women when their hands are away from home. He says they should make their calls in the evening when the wife is surrounded by her husband's children. He might also have advised them to make no calls unless they were invited.

Wayne, Neb., April 11, 1905.

To Whom it may Concern:

Who are interested in having their teeth properly treated, filled and kept in a good healthy condition, I can safely recommend Dr. Eells to any person to be the best dentist I have ever had do work for me. He thoroughly understands his business. Only give him a trial and let him prove to you, by his work, what can be done. There is no need of any person in Wayne going to Sioux City, Omaha, or elsewhere to have their teeth attended to while Dr. Eells resides in Wayne. I have had sufficient experience with dentists to prove what I say.

Yours respectfully,

A Miraculous Escape.

Henry Claassen, who lives near La Porte, had about as narrow an escape from death Tuesday afternoon, as often happens. He was holding his team by the bits, standing squarely in front of the wagon tongue, while Ted Phillee rolled a big spool of wire into the wagon bed. As the roll hit the box the team jumped and ran quicker than chain lightning. Claassen was thrown up and caught his clothing on the end of the tongue where he stuck while the horses made a wild run for the Phillee yards to across the bridge south of town where he fell off, going between the horses and the wagon passing over him with other injury than a bad scare and severe bruising. White's drag wagon followed by the runaways, picking up the victim and the two men going on out to the Hodson place where the Claassen team was found.

By Whose Who

This is not the last I am going to write about "The Hoyd" or the "Boyd boys," far from it, but if it were I would say, "The last's the best of all the game."

How many of you were fortunate enough to have known W. J. McCoy? I was, and I've always been glad of it. I can no better describe him than by saying he was a healthy man, mentally, morally and physically; and I am of the opinion that when a man has had as "Mac" had it, it's catching. He was a modest man, and preferred that the boys who knew him well call him "Mac" and not "Professor."

He didn't "preach," nor did he show disapproval by "posture, glance or elevated brow," but in his conduct he showed you the difference between what a man often is and what he always should be. You would take him into your confidence freely, even about a card game, and he would be as much interested as if he actually knew the ace would take the little casino (which he didn't) and the next Sunday, probably, break up the "poker" game by suggesting a long tramp in the country, in which perhaps a dozen would join, and he would be the only one in the crowd (except Doctor Ivy) who didn't know what he had done. That's the kind of a missionary to the heathen I like.

Had the "Boyd boys" run the school board in those days, it would have been unfortunate for William J. McCoy and for Salt Lake City, but not for Wayne. More than once a bevy of us has walked up Main Street to the Dog town creek; and one bright Sunday afternoon we crossed the creek and over to the "dog town" itself. That then thriving village was located on the south end of Will Neely's farm. On the way back we sprang all over a hay stack near the Adam Miller farm, and talked of serious things. Mac kind of led the meeting—an impromptu affair, the like of which you don't often get a chance to attend; not an experience meeting—not, by a long shot—we were all too smooth for that; but a kind of commingling of hopes, aspirations, doubts and fears, a little advice, a whole lot of encouragement, and a better feeling in the heart; not a prayer so loud anybody could hear it—that we could see, and the nearest to the church a whole lot of that bunch had been in many a day. Pretty small thing to record in a history, isn't it? I don't know how I happened to think of it.

Another time nearly the same crowd went west to section 16-26 3, to see the fence which J. M. Strahan was building. So far as we knew or know now, it was the first barbed wire fence built in the county. Not much to see nowadays, and as a matter of fact not much then; there was much else of greater interest to be seen on all hands; the fence simply led us in that direction, better than hitting your knuckles on a hard table in a smoky room.

I wish now to make a passing reference to J. M. Strahan, than whom there are few more interesting personalities. Mr. Strahan's connection with Wayne, from the beginning, has been so intimate and pervading that we cannot go far in any direction without meeting him. I intend to tell you about him later from the standpoint of one of many who have profited by his wise, stern, but always kindly advice. The life of J. M. Strahan would be a book in itself, profitable and well worth the reading. When I write of Mr. Strahan I intend to do so in the form of a letter to my son.

Largely through the instrumentality and by the advice of Mr. Strahan such men as Tristram S. (John) Goss, Peter W. Oman, and the Frazier brothers (Randall and William) and many others later mentioned were induced to come to Wayne county.

"Pete" Oman was a good farmer—none better; I have Mr. Strahan's word for it, and the rest of the boys sized up their crops by comparison with his. Oman was a splendid man—hopeful, hearty, full of natural humor, and no one could beat him at a quick report. He had a "Ha! Ha!" which would shake the windows, and Tom Steele, up at the court house, would pinch himself to be assured it was not he himself, down in front of the bank, giving vent to his emotions. But Pete's laugh was his undoing. When Tom ran for County Commissioner, the opposition, thinking to beat him at his own game, nominated Pete's laugh. So the two "typical" Australian birds fought it out, and Pete won.

"John" Goss is living the kind of life on the farm, which will eventually settle the vexed question of the over-crowding of the cities. The man who owns a fine farm now-a-days (and runs it with his head) with mail delivery, telephone, and spanking team and carriage to take him to town when he desires; who can go to the city when he wishes, and can leave it when he gets ready, is to be envied. There are getting to be many such in Wayne county, the number is constantly multiplying. Mr. Goss was elected to the legislature, and made a good, honorable record, quiet, sensible and unassuming.

It is unfortunate that Wayne county is not large enough to be herself entitled to legislative representation; for unfortunately under the present arrangement a precedent has been established which allows each county in the district to alternately choose the representative candidate; and in consequence, about the time he has formed an acquaintance or "caught on to the ropes" his turn is over. Wayne county has sent some fine men down to Lincoln, when it came her turn, and so has Stanton county for that matter. But this turn of affairs is an arrangement that robs the effectiveness of our representation.

We have had such men as John T. Mettlen, James Britton, Henry Ley, A. B. Slater, Doctor Jones, T. S. Goss, and other men of high standing and ability, but not one of them was ever there long enough.

Henry Ley, I think, accomplished more for Wayne county than any other man who has represented us at Lincoln, and it was done in such a modest, quiet way that it is almost forgotten, but it should not be. Mr. Ley was in the legislature when the bill was introduced, authorizing the organization for Thurston county. The provisions of the bill, as originally introduced provided that Thurston county, as organized, should consist of certain portion of the Winnebago and Omaha Reservations (recently opened for settlement) and in addition, certain townships to be detached from adjoining counties, including our own rich and populous townships of Leslie and Logan. The promoters of this bill were on hand with a "lobby" and other influential things, but Henry beat it, so far as Leslie and Logan were concerned, and alone, although he was repeatedly urged that Wayne send down a delegation, to help him in the fight. Wayne county is certainly small enough geographically without the loss of these two splendid precincts, which, they are fractional, make up for that deficiency by a somewhat denser population and more material wealth.

In a broad sense, Wayne county can have no fault to find with her representatives either in the House or Senate. Wayne's law-makers in the lower House especially have never attempted to distinguish themselves as orators, although I heard one deliver a speech, from a dry-goods box in front of Chace & Neely's. I was a Democrat, and it cut me to the quick. How many of you remember it?

"Gentlemen, The Republican party stands for something tangible. (Cheers) Did you ever know such Democratic party to stand for anything tangible? (A voice: No, what is it?) Now, my friends and fellow citizens, what are we going to do—me and my cohorts—I mean colleagues? I will tell you. We are going down to Washington, and we are going to get something tangible, and we will bring it back with us. (A voice: Who'll pay the freight on it?) Thank you, my friends for your kind attention, and this expression of your confidence."

The story of early Wayne without Ran and Will Frazier would be like church without passing the plate—"there wouldn't be anything in it." I never could tell which one of these two brothers I liked the better; both, I think. But the thing I liked them both best for was their mutual attachment to each other. When, the first time I saw them together, I heard Ran call his great, big, six-foot brother "Willie." I knew which was the elder and which was and always would be the big brother; for I could see a couple of youngsters, and I knew which one had stood between the other and anything which might harm; which had lugged the other on his back and wiped his tears, and probably his nose, as mine has mine many a time. The little brother is the little brother still, and always will be. Ran and Will treated everyone well, too well. But to each no one else looked quite as good as the other. Ran and his sorrel team were known to almost every man, woman and child in Wayne county. And the rattle of his "backboard" up Main street was the signal at the Boyd that Ran Frazier was on the wing, and that pretty soon it would be time or the roosters to crow. When Frazier and Steele were partners, Tom hit off Ran's character in a single sentence—"Ran you're too hopeful—you ought to sell and let me do the buying."

That was absolutely true of both of them: Ran was an optimist, Tom a pessimist. Ran couldn't run a good thing down even to buy it cheap, and no doubt he bought many thousands and paid too much for them, hoping and trusting they would bring more money.

Ran's energy was proverbial. One of his men, when asked why he had resigned said, "I got tired meeting myself going to breakfast on my way to bed." This is doubtless an old story, but when I first heard of it, it was so quaintly applicable I have never forgotten it. Ran was as straight as a string, except his legs, which were decidedly parenthetical, and Ran used to joke more than anyone else about them. When asked once how they came that way he said he had gone up in a balloon and walked back. Ran could tell a story, and tell it well, with a homely quality, describing homely scenes, which it was a delight to hear. I have heard him tell the same story a dozen times, but to me it was a new story every time.

Very many tedious trips to Chicago on cattle trains have been alleviated by Ran Frazier and his quaint years. Randall Frazier never held an elective office in Wayne county, although he was long a potent influence in politics; his extensive acquaintance, and affable manner, making his services, as a worker, eagerly sought. He was a loyal Republican, and when a nominee did not suit him, his disapproval was manifested by indifference only.

William Frazier was for two terms County Commissioner. Did you ever stop to think what a truly remarkable set of men Wayne county has had for commissioners, men who have practically given their time to the county? Not the slightest taint or breath of suspicion was attached to one of them. It is a "Roll of Honor" from first to last and I don't believe even a postage stamp would stick to one of them. They have made mistakes no doubts but they have been few and far between, honest mistakes of judgment.

Politics have cut a title figure in the election of Commissioners and when the Democrats were in a hopeless minority John F. Mettlen could be elected any time he would run and this is as much of a compliment to the Republicans as to Mr. Mettlen. Mr. Richard Russell is the only County Commissioner ever elected from the city of Wayne and he has been elected so many times from the county that I really believe he moved to town to save the county mileage.

A collection should be made of the photographs of Wayne County's Commissioners—past and present.

It would be an inspiration to those to come later.

Please attend to this Dick. Charlie Reynolds will keep you.

M. S. Davies made a business trip to Carroll Wednesday.

Winside News.

Mrs. C. E. Neesham, of Laurel, arrived Thursday and will visit friends and relatives a few days.

LEIGH BROS.

Normal College Notes.

Seven new students enrolled Monday for remainder of school year.

The officers of the Alumni Association at a meeting Saturday arranged a program for the annual Alumni meeting, August 13.

Miss Paddock, a traveling secretary for Christian Associations, will address the students Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The public is invited.

The weekly meeting of the literary society will be Saturday instead of Friday. This change is made to convenience Miss Paddock. Program begins at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Fred French, before leaving for her new home, kindly remembered the library, by donating seven good books to the library. We have a fair working library but every addition is greatly appreciated.

Four basket ball teams have been organized by the young ladies and practice will be engaged in every evening when the weather is suitable. They expect some good games during the season.

The Military Company received a case of guns—Springfield rifles—this week. The young men are doing good work and as a means of physical training the department of the school.

Of the former well-known students who have returned this term we mention Messrs. Danit and Bashart of Holt county; Mr. Peters and Miss Stonebraker of Anselope county; Mr. Studing and Miss Kahn of Dixon county; Mr. Breithardt of Thurston county; Mr. Olson of Stanton county; Miss Keele of Holt county.

All classes are starting out well for the term. A large percentage of most of the classes have spent several terms with us and they set the pace for those not acquainted with the school. Several of the weather teachers are not so badly crowded as they were last term, all aspects a very successful term.

The plan of having a Roll of Honor so that the student who makes the highest grade in each class is thus recorded and public announcement is made of it has proven successful. The list is placed in the regular grade record book. This is open for inspection by any who may be interested in knowing a student's record.

The college farmers are getting busy with garden planting, potato planting, sowing oats and other seeds. Mr. Neiland takes Mr. Fairfield drops out of school a few months to do outside work, and Mr. Merrill looks after repairs and does light work around the buildings. A few of the young men do some work to pay for their schooling. The men will plant 100 acres for potatoes, an acre of cabbage and cucumbers. The garden will be about twice as large as last year.

The following new students are enrolled: Mr. Biglow, Knox county; Miss Stornob, Brown county; Miss Cresce, Cedar county; Mr. and Mrs. Sturjib, Holt county; Miss Swency, Platte county; Mr. and Miss Peters, Rock county; Miss Erbert, Cumpling county; Miss Stowell, Wheeler county; Miss Coleman and Miss O'Brien, Stanton county.

SPEECH TO LEGISLATURE

President Last Evening Addressed the Texas Lawmakers, and Attended a Big Banquet at Austin—Leaves San Antonio

San Antonio, Tex., April 10.—Never has a public demonstration been witnessed here that which greeted President Roosevelt. All the principal business men of the city were in the streets with flags and bunting, and the president's picture was in evidence everywhere. The weather is bright and clear.

The president passed a night of sound sleep in his special train, where a detail of police was on guard duty throughout the night. At 9:30 a committee of citizens called on the president and escorted him to Fort Sam Houston. The entire route was lined with people, who gave the president an enthusiastic welcome.

President Talks at "Some Length" to Texas Legislature

San Antonio, Tex., April 10.—After an eventful trip across a large portion of the state, President Roosevelt reached San Antonio at 8:20 o'clock last night. When the special train reached the station, the city was thronged with thousands and the lusty "rough riders" of the famous rough riders, who accompanied the president, were on the grumbling walls of the Alamo.

The city is a mass of color in honor of the president's arrival. The streets are lined with flags and bunting, and the city is a mass of color in honor of the president's arrival.

PRESIDENT MAKES A SPEECH IN KANSAS

Talks in the Early Morning to 5,000 People at Station in Town of Parsons

ON GOOD CITIZENSHIP

Says the Same Qualities Are Required to Be Useful in Public as in Private Life, and Promises to Do His Best for Country

Parsons, Kan., April 7.—President Roosevelt last evening here a few minutes late and departed for the south at 9:10. The train passed through Parsons, Kan., at 7:35. There were 5,000 persons at the station. The president appeared on the rear platform of the car and made a brief speech. He said:

"I am glad to be again in the Sunflower state. From the beginning I have believed in your people, and I am sure that you will do your part for the good of our country. It is not possible for any man to do his part for his country unless he is first a good citizen. The same qualities that are required to be useful in public are also required to be useful in private life. I promise to do my best for my country."

DRY GOODS CLOTHING

The German Store

The old, original German Store, leads them all for 1905, as it has been doing for nearly twenty long years past. We have received one of the best stocks of warm weather goods in the city of Wayne, and we sell at a uniform and less price than any of your so-called bargain stores. In butter and eggs we handle as much as half a dozen of our competitors, which is the best guarantee of the prices paid for produce. Trade at the old stand of FURCHNER, DUERIG & COMPANY

Herman's Place

Still here and willing to stay here if they let us sell you the best goods

In Town

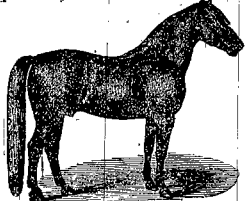

Come in and see me when you want an especially good article in booze. Something that will tone up your system and do you more good than a barrel full of patent medicine. I also am always pleased to fill all phone orders, our number being 66—as good a game as any dutchman wants. If you have no money bring your face, we will show you the best you ever had—in a looking glass. Call at 4:30 a. m. for special favors.

Yours for good liquors,

HERMAN MILDNER

NICHOLAS

This elegant full-blood Percheron horse will make the season of 1905 in Madden's barn, Wayne. He is a beautiful iron-grey and weighs over a ton. Was purchased of the Dunham, Fletcher & Coleman company of Illinois, and is one of their "good ones."

Breeders will find it to their interest to come and look at this magnificent horse. There is no better in the state.

Drafts all Over the World

The State Bank issues drafts payable in any of the leading centers of the principal foreign countries as well as the United States and Canada. These drafts can be obtained for any sum over $1.00. The party named as payee can deposit them to his credit in regular bank or upon proper identification, convert them into cash at the option which they are drawn. Bank drafts cost less than Postoffice or Express money Orders and safer.

Resolution of Respect.

Resolution Adopted by the order of O. D. H. S. at a Regular Meeting held on the evening of April 5, 1905. Whereas, it has pleased him who rules over all, to take from our midst our beloved brother, Henry Lucders; Be it therefore resolved, by this Lodge that in the death of our beloved brother we have lost a faithful and honored member; that in our humble and weak way we extend to his bereaved relatives our heartfelt sympathy.

Be it further resolved, that these resolutions be spread upon the records of the Lodge, that the copies thereof be published in the Nebraska Herald, Omaha, Wayne Herald and Nebraska Democrat.

Some of the Norfolk people are now wondering why it would not pay to put in a new beet sugar plant at that place, since the Ames beet sugar people can pay enough for beets, this year to insure three times the acreage of beets, about Norfolk and Wayne, grown last year for the American Beet Sugar Co. The beets now have to be shipped, 80 miles to Ames, and the latter factory pay 25 cents more per ton for them on the cars at Norfolk.

Rosa Hammond, of the Fremont Tribune says: Within forty-eight hours after the election of William Warner to the United States senate from Missouri he received annual passes over six lines of railroad. He was the same William Warner who was a private citizen only a short time before and the question arises as to what he had done that gave him the right to assume that he was thus entitled to the courtesies in question. Does anybody suppose for a moment it was not because he was in a position where he could be of greater service to the railroads?

Does the Tribune mean to say that Senator Warner's position in regard to the railroads is more pregnant of harm to the people than it is to have our district judges, here in Nebraska, riding on "courtesies of the railroads"? Why not pluck the beam out of our optic, Ross? It is a heap sight more damnable.

If all these, so suddenly reformed, republican newspapers stick to their text on the pass evil, Jan't it quite likely the railroad corporations will elect a democratic legislature two years hence?

A good many years ago the clerk of the district court in a certain Nebraska county was furnished with transportation on the railroads that passed through his county, and in exchange charged off the fees due to his office from time to time from the railroad company. The fees did not amount to much owing to the fact, as he explains in relating the story, that the railroads managed in the long run to win about all their suits, leaving the costs for to be taken to the other parties. The official understood, however that he had made a business arrangement under which he was to receive the fees in return for such transportation as he needed, and he had no thought of incurring an obligation to the railroad company. Some time after he had retired from office, however, he was requested by the legal attorney for the company to perform a service for the road which did not seem to him quite the right thing to do. He refused. A few days later he received a scathing letter from the solicitor general of the road informing him that he need never expect any further favors from his road, and implying that there would be obstacles in his path if he sought any further favor at the hands of the voters. This merely illustrates the fact that no man gets a railroad pass for naught. He serves for it, or he doesn't keep it.

HOW TO WIN A HUSBAND.

Woman's sphere in this 20th century is not limited any more than man's. She can occupy almost any business position, or profession, and yet the popular view of womanhood is that she best fits the position of wife and mother and head of the household. Every girl should know her heart and also know that her womanly system is equal to the strain of marriage. If a girl is nervous and irritable then chances are it is due to some trouble peculiar to womanhood.

Could a girl have no place in a girl's heart if she is nervous and irritable, feels dragged down, worried for no reason that she can not see, has black spots, dizzy spells and black circles about the eyes are all symptoms of the weak back, dizzy spells and black circles about the eyes are all symptoms of the weak back, dizzy spells and black circles about the eyes are all symptoms of the weak back. Stop the distress on the womanly system and the other symptoms will disappear. This can be done easily and intelligently. So sure of it is the World's Dispensary Medical Association, the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, that they offer $5000 reward for women who cannot be cured of leucorrhoea, female weakness, prostrations, or follow the prescription that they ask for and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cured me of neuralgia for many years," writes Mrs. Delphia Smith, residing at Santa Barbara, Laguna, California. "I had been suffering for years with neuralgia, which was completely broken down when I began its use and I was in dreadful pain most of the time, but in two bottles cured me."

Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong, sick women well, and desirably inactive for delicate women.

J. P. Larson and wife returned Monday from their several days' visit at Randolph, Mo. Larson bubbling over with good cheer over the hospitality of the people up there and the good time they had. J. P. says Lou Holtz got hold of them first, took them to his home for dinner and entertained them royally. Mr. and Mrs. Holtz have a fine residence, much better than they had in Wayne, and Lou, so J. P. says, is doing an elegant clothing business. Other old friends met there were Jim and Fred Fox, H. H. Chubb, Gerald Porter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Larson spending a couple of days with the latter who has a fine farm which he got at a low figure recently. Mr. Larson says Randolph is one of the busiest towns he was ever in and the people up there light up on their toes to show a stranger a good time, and that his little visit was enjoyed better than a week's trip to Omaha or Chicago.

Men Past Sixty in Danger.

More than half of unskilled over sixty years of age suffer from kidney and bladder disorders, usually enlargement of prostate gland. This is both painful and dangerous, and Foley's Kidney Cure should be taken at the first sign of danger, as it corrects irregularities and has cured many old men of this disease. Mr. Rodney Burnett, Rock Port, Mo., writes: "I suffered with enlarged prostate gland and kidney trouble for years and after taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure I feel better than I have for twenty years, although I am now 91 years old."
