A Pleasant Surprise.

One of those pleasant little affairs that add joy and give zest to the life of a college professor, occurred at the College Friday evening.

According to the time schedule of the Tennis Club, Prof. Wolfe plays in the first set after supper. College Hill is beautiful now, but the groups of happy students who had found their way to the Tennis grounds on this particular occasion made that the most interesting place and every student was there before the professor came upon the scene ready for his usual game. A few wild balls were passed, for nobody was cool but Prof. Wolfe, then one of the boys called him aside and, in behalf of the assembled company in token of their appreciation of him in various relations between the students and professor, presented him with a bundle of gifts consisting of the following articles, a $5.00 gold barreled fountain pen, a small traveling case, for carrying papers etc., worth $1.50, a $1.50 gold pen point, and an Eastman negative album worth $1.00. With an effort that betrayed his deep feeling the professor expressed his surprise and gratitude for the handsome tokens in a short speech. He had scarcely finished when the student body emphasized their good will by rounds of applause and college yells.

In the matter of surprise parties Mrs. D. L. Sigworth has always considered herself immune against the surprise party, knowing the symptoms she would ward off the shock. But the symptoms of such parties are never twice alike, consequently a well developed case took her entirely unaware on Monday evening. It came in the form of the Monday Club ladies who brought their well filled baskets and proceeded to get a very fine supper, the gentlemen arriving at six.

Later in the evening charades were played, and Mrs. Sigworth presented with a set of sterling silver teaspoons, by the ladies, who were glad to welcome her home. Dr. and Mrs. Bradford were guests of the club on this occasion.

Dr. Powell, an eye specialist from Sioux City, was here last Friday evening to see the few days old baby of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Mildner, the child having very serious difficulty in danger of going blind. It has improved some the past week and will likely get entirely well.

Dell Stickland was in Winside Monday on horse business.

Sheriff Mears took Hans Petersen, the crazy man from Carroll, to the asylum at Lincoln Tuesday.

Wendel Nies went to Pender Tuesday. He will remain in Wayne this summer and take up some special studies at the college.

John Beckenhauer died at his home in Wakefield last Saturday morning. The funeral was held Tuesday of this week, the delay being on account of the late arrival of a daughter from Illinois. Deceased was a brother of Henry Beckenhauer and father of Mrs. D. S. McVicker of this city, and a brother also of Mrs. Holtz. Four brothers and two brothers-in-law were pall-bearers. Mr. Beckenhauer left a large estate which will go to his widow and ten children. A large number from Wayne attended the funeral.

OBITUARY: John Beckenhauer was born Dec. 15, 1833, in Pacine, Mecklenburg, Schwern, Germany. With his parents he came to America in 1852, landing in Quebec and going to Waterloo county, Canada. He was married in 1855 to Miss Mary Thaler, and after 18 years residence in Canada came to Cuming county, Neb. In 1880 he moved to Wayne county which has been his home until death, May 20, 1905. Their children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Beckenhauer, ten of whom are living, five girls and five boys.

Father Nugent's Lecture.

Rev. Joseph F. Nugent, of Des Moines, Ia., is undoubtedly one of the ablest lecturers now on the lecture platform. He is a thorough scholar, a philosopher, and an accomplished orator. His lectures contain more food for thought than the average popular lecture; they are philosophical and scholarly in their makeup, but the style is so simple, the manner so impressive and convincing that they are appreciated, enjoyed and understood by all.

Father Nugent is mentally and physically a giant. Strong of limb and body, his voice is resonant and deep, giving the impression of reserve and force. At no time does he impress one that he is doing all he can. And so, mentally he never struggles for an expression: It is there. He paints pictures with words and holds them up to view. The above opinion is from the executive committee of the Nebraska State Teachers' Association. His Lecture "The Philosophy of Civilization," will be given June 6 at 8:00 P. M.

Says She Didn't, Either.

What promised to be a spicy and bewildering sensation, something new and novel in life's tempestuousity was spoiled in Judge Hunter's court Monday because of defective complaint. Later in the day, however, the defendant, Fred Milner, a headless youth of "sweet 16," was re-arrested on the grave charge of breaking the 10th commandment, and he is cited to appear before the same court this afternoon to show cause why he should not be bound over to district court.

The scene of the plot is 2 1/2 miles northeast of Carroll. George Newham and his comely young wife and two little children live in the biggest house there is for miles around; the "victim," mentioned above, in farm parlance, is known as the "hired" man; Mrs. Newham has an uncle and his wife and children live in the big house while the uncle breaks prairie, etc.; the uncle "sees" things in a "real vision" and tells his troubles to his niece's husband; the latter is at first filled with wrath but after an investigation concludes there is "nothing in it," that the uncle was gazing at a mirage. Now, unable to get the real or imaginary apparition—seen through a window; a lounge, his niece and the headless youth; as the attorney for the defense describes it to the DEMOCRAT—the uncle files a complaint against the boy, charging him with adultery. Sheriff Mears locked the young fellow up, and Mr. Milner sr. came down and bailed his son out. After the dismissal last Monday the father of Mrs. Newham, John F. Davis of near Winside, took up the matter where his brother relinquished it, and made the complaint that calls for a hearing today, the defendant being released on bond.

Atty. Frank Berry says he has talked with both Mr. and Mrs. Newham, the lady being almost heartbroken over the scandalous affair and the husband holding his poor wife blameless of the shameful charges, Mr. Berry saying they even wanted young Milner to go back to work for them. All the parties have always been considered highly respectable and the trouble is much to be deplored, by their friends.

Miss Mabel Puck of Sioux City returned home Tuesday, after a few days visit with Mr. and Mrs. Clark.

The Troubadours at the opera house June 7th.

The court house boys are having all kinds of fun over Otto Kuhl's and James Harmon's effort to raise young pigs. As affairs stand now it looks as though pork might go up.

Marinus Jorgensen and Miss Chrissie Sundahl were married Wednesday of last week, and immediately left for the groom's farm near Carroll.

Fernandez, of Tampa, Fla., describing his fearful race with death, "as a result of liver trouble and a heart disease, which had robbed me of sleep and of all interest in life. So wonderful was their effect, that in three days I felt like a new man, and today I am cured of all my troubles." Guaranteed at Raymonds drug store; price 50c.

Dead But Not Forgotten

We look into eternity but see nothing; we listen for some voice to give us assurance of what awaits us when we leave this earth; but we hear only the beating of our anxious hearts. Hope springs forward and gives us consolation that all good people will receive their reward in eternity for the good done on earth. We enjoy the fact that when we are dead we still live in the hearts of those living and that each year our friends will decorate our graves with flowers and speak of the good deeds we did when living. Let us all spend the day next Tuesday in decorating the graves of our friends. It may be that we have a father gone or a dear mother or one of our own children, but no matter if we are fortunate to have all of these yet with us, we had friends that are no more with us, and it will make us better to cover their graves with flowers, and remember their good deeds done on earth. Then we have the graves of those who gave their life to save their country to decorate. We need not express our sentiment on the necessity of decorating the grave of the soldier for we all have the same feeling for our defenders. Let us remind you of the necessity of decorating yourself for this grand occasion. You will not get the full benefit of this noble work unless you make the necessary preparations before next Tuesday. To celebrate any event you should decorate yourself in the proper manner, and we are prepared to furnish anything you need to wear on this occasion. If you need anything in clothing to make you feel comfortable on Decoration day, please remember we have what you want. The occasion forbids us to go into details, and all we ask is that you make yourself comfortable so that you will enjoy to the fullest extent the good work done on this day. Leave your work no matter what it is and devote a few hours on Decoration day in turning your thoughts to those gone by decorating their graves with flowers and remembering their good deeds while alive, and you will be blessed for having done that good work, and have the consolation while living that when you are no more your friends will not neglect your grave.

C. B. THOMPSON, Proprietor.

BY DAVID

Martin Muth says the wet weather has been a little hard on fashionable farmers like Neal Thompson, who has had to tie the tails of their horses over the animals' backs while plowing corn.

By dad, I think Nan is all right. If she can get $2,000 plunks per week on the stage she ought to take it. That is better business than being a married man's darling.

Sam Davies can see through a riddle a little bit farther than Omaha's chief of police. Sam says that whole blackmailing job on Rosewater was put up by Rosy's political enemies—probably the Nebraska railroads—just to humiliate the old man.

Rev. E. N. Tucker, a former Sac City, Iowa pastor, has been having a school of a time at Waukegan, Wis., where he had become pastor of the Christian church and attempted to expel members who indulged in playing cards and dancing. Recently the church members got together and fired him bodily, and he was so afraid of his hide that he appealed to the authorities to send an officer to the meeting. The time has passed when these upstarts of preachers can dictate to sensible people how they shall conduct themselves in private life,—what they shall eat and drink and what games they shall play.

At this season of the year a girl never gets chilly as long as she looks better without alrwap than with one. The pink ribbon in her undergarment will keep her warm if anyone else can see it.

Any person desiring a nice quiet place to live in and one that is not likely to grow much larger, should go to Tingley, Iowa. An ordinance prohibiting profanity on the streets has been successfully enforced the past year and now the closing of restaurants and all public houses on Sunday will be enforced this year. It will be just like living in Concord, Neb.

An eminent neurologist has declared that men are being killed by "wine, women and worry." A good many men would cut out the worry if they could do it without cutting out the women.

The war in Jolo is making an effort to get on the front page again and is making quite a respectable showing. "Four hundred Moros and seven Americans killed in Philippines" isn't bad stuff for a slug head.

A certain young man, who is courting a certain young lady, in a certain house in town, now takes occasion to see that the blinds are Rosewatered before he commences to whisper love's sweet dream into his inamorata's ears. An indiscreet neighbor's little girl told what her pa seen.

Take all the rumors and stories you hear and divide the bunch 999; cut the balance in two, to make good measure for truth, and the result will denote that Wayne is traveling a rather dizzy pace.

Why not pass an anti-splitting ordinance for Wayne; I've been so dry all week I can't spit anyway.

Over in Iowa the secretary of the state board of health declares that every doctor should be forced to get rid of his whiskers, if he has any. It is claimed that, like women's skirts, whiskers of doctors carry disease germs into the homes. Now if we had such a ruling in Nebraska, what would Dr. Williams do?

Oh, we editors don't care a darn about railroad rates, pass or anti-pass. It's the cost of sugar that squeezes us during berry time.

John D. Rockefeller says he has no intention of giving $10,000,000 for retired ministers, as has been reported. An exchange says that probably he could be induced to do it if certain ones could be coaxed to retire and quit making the public tired.

The hoop-skirt is going to eradicate one evil of womanhood. Three of them will not be able to walk abreast and take up the entire sidewalk. They'll have to "whoop" it up Indian fashion, by dad.

Guess we'll all have to go back on Lydia Pinkham. Her medicine has been outclassed. I notice in an advertisement where Mrs. Emma Kitt of Jacksonville, Florida, says: "On the advice of Dr. E. K. Norwood I used several bottles of Cardui and we had born to us twin babies." Even the president ought to say a good word for that kind of medicine.

Henry Gaertner made a business trip to Randolph last Saturday.

For the best cultivator go to M. Kroger and get a Sattly.

At the gun-shoot Wednesday the score was C. Craven 19, C. R. Witter 13, Geo. Miner 13, Ike Walden 6, H. B. Craven 13, Harry Fisher 20.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Raymond were in Sioux City yesterday.

Theo. Barnhardt was a business visitor from Hoskins yesterday.

Fred Benschoff was sad and forlorn all day Tuesday because his bike was gone and, unlike Marshal Miner's dog, couldn't blow its bugle to make its location known. Fred left it in front of Billy Dammeyer's cigar store, about 7 p. m., and when he came out later it was stolen. After two days and sleepless nights of search he found the wheel on top of Mr. Carpenter's salt house, about two o'clock Wednesday morning, the thief evidently not being used to ride bicycles that jumped over water tanks and small buildings.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cherry Wednesday, mother and child doing nicely, and the county treasure—it's a good thing he isn't running for office he's so swelled up about it.

Buying the Cream!

That's just what we are doing at the

FAIR STORE

20c Cash or Trade on Cream
15c for Eggs, 15c for Butter

Saturday last; like all preceding Saturdays, we enjoyed a prize-winning trade. Why? Just because we treat all the people right all the time. Some people quarrel with us because we pay too much for cream, butter and eggs, and sell merchandise too cheap. But that isn't going to make "cheap ice" for our competitors so long as the farmers appreciate what we are doing to entitle us to their trade. We are making money; if we were not the price of your produce would fall with a "dull, sickly thud." Just so long as the farmers appreciate our efforts to keep prices of produce up and merchandise down we are going to do the square thing in return. Doubling our business at half the profits, is what pleases us. Now, bring in your cream; tell your neighbors about our prices and what we are doing for our patrons at

The Fair Store, WAYNE, NEBR.

Says He Was Robbed.

Ed. Olds of near Winside was in the city Wednesday evening on his way home from Omaha where he had cattle on the market. Mr. Olds was perceptibly provoked, and claimed he had simply been robbed, getting only $5.25 for choice, 1150 pound two-year old steers, and $4.65 for heifers, while the market was "strong" and prevailing prices $5.00 to $6.00. Mr. Olds sold his stuff through Nye & Buchanan, and says he simply had to "sit on the fence" and be robbed, that if some prominent shipper had taken his steers to Omaha they would probably have brought about six cents. He figures his loss about $300, but says the experience with the above firm is worth something to him.

Cheeky Chicken Thieves.

O. H. Berkhemmer was in town Wednesday and told the Democrat that on Monday evening petty thieves had robbed his hen roosts—or nests—of a hundred small chickens and several hens. O. H. has not been able to "track em" so far but figures the rascals hailed from Wayne, probably Doc Caldwell's pork has been all devoured.

Wm. Beckenhauer of Bloomfield attended the funeral of his brother at Wakefield Tuesday and also visited Wayne friends.

The graduating exercises of the Winside schools were held last Friday evening, county Superintendent C. H. Bright delivering the address to the graduates. There were five graduates and Principal Littell is very highly complimented on his management of the school.

Prof. A. E. Littell of the Winside schools will make his headquarters in Wayne during the summer and be in the employ of a book house.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Sneath arrived home last Saturday and are nicely located in their new home on the Mrs. Morrison farm two miles west of town. They were married at the home of Frank Russell near Meadow Grove, May 18th, Rev. Thorp of the M. E. church officiating. The Democrat wishes them happiness and prosperity.

Howard Porter is recovering from a severe shaking up with pneumonia. Mrs. Milder and baby are reported getting better, the Democrat is glad to state.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Phillel left Wednesday on their western trip.

Mrs. M. S. Davies went to Ponca and Sioux City yesterday on a visit. Miss Bettle Weber went to Emerson yesterday where she sang a couple of selections at the High school graduating exercises.

The Democrat extends condolences to Dr. and Mrs. Hells in the loss of their baby last Friday. The little one only lived a few hours after birth. Final burial services were held in the afternoon.

TO CASEY POST
G. A. R.
(By Whos Who)

I've never worn the suit of blue,
The suit that so becometh you,
My honored friend,
I've never heard the trumpets call
Or whistle of the minnie ball,
I've never seen my comrade fall,
Nor watched his glorious end,
I never marched beneath the fold
"Old Glory's" wars made manifold
On many a field;
Nor heard the rattle of the drum
Which said, "your Country calls you, Come!"
Nor heard your answer "Homo sum"
"I am the man your shield."
I've never felt the awful choke
Of dust and death and battle smoke
That called you "give!"
Give if need be your very all!"
But nothing could your soul appall,
It simply was your country's call
And she must ever live!

I never watched beneath the skies
Whose stars "O G. Ory" symbolize
Nor felt my heart
Burn with that holy, constant flame
Which patriotism has given a name
"A living and undying fame"
Which never will depart.

But seeing you, I feel the thrill
Of gratitude which e'er must fill
Us one and all,
As when beneath "Old Glory's" waves
You march to deposit the graves
Of our Country's bravest heroes,
Dead at their Country's call
So remnant of the "boys in blue"
We doff our hats we bow to you
In greeting once again,
And may each daughter and each son
Continuing work which you begun
Deserve the honor that you won
God bless you all, Amen

"Ghosts" at the Opera House May 31st. Prices 25-35-50 cents.

"OH! GET THE AX!"

Manson Democrat: Girls, don't cheapen yourself by allowing yourselves to be everybody's plaything. It is alright for you to have a "fellow" and go here and there with him; but don't be every fellow's girl, just because he asks you to be and then imagine that you will not cheapen yourselves in the eyes of everybody, especially the young men. It is a laudable ambition for a girl to have a "fellow" and she is entitled to the best if she is the right kind of a girl. But it makes no difference how really good she is, she loses the respect of everybody when she gets so boy-struck that she cannot walk down the street without "catching on" or without stopping to gab with every lobster she happens to meet. When she permits such familiarity and cultivates it she loses her dignity and that is one of the rudiments of being a lady. The average young man has no genuine respect for the girl who is familiar with all the boys of her acquaintance and she is the last girl in the world he would think of marrying. It is really a disgusting sight to see an otherwise sensible girl gadding up and down the streets, gadding with every wretch she meets, leaning around the shops and stores and sponging treats from all who have the price and the disposition to "loosen." That girl is marked for the bargain counter and when she marries it is invariably the last or only chance. Married life can be happy only when husband and wife have the most implicit confidence in each other and no man can have confidence in the cheap, gadding, gossiping, giddy girl, the one who imagines the boys are all eager for her company, when, in reality, they only use her as a plaything with which to pass away the time. Don't cheapen yourselves, girls, but pick out some really good young man, some fellow with an ambition beyond cigarette smoking, booze fighting or gambling and tie to him. If he does not suit you get some other fellow until you find the right one—that is if you must have a "fellow"—but don't fool around with a dozen of them at once and think for a minute that any of them really respects you. He does not. He is just four-flushing. An honest girl is the most beautiful thing in all creation, even if she is as homely as a hedge fence, but a cheap girl—oh, get the ax!

We know that we are making a very fine article; we want everybody to try it, so we put it where it won't break you up to buy a sack. There has been considerable talk about the flour that has been sold here in Wayne. Flour that has been shipped in and said to be superior to our own make. This we will prove to you to be fallacious. There is no question of our flour making a whiter, lighter, spongier loaf of bread than other flour you can buy. By Whose Who WINSIDE.

Some days ago I ran up to Winside and stayed over between trains. The time granted by the train schedule is scarcely long enough to do justice to our progressive, pushing, little neighbor to the west. Winside is a wide awake town, run on time and if any body figures that there are over sixty seconds in a minute in Winside, he'll miss his train; time and everything else goes right along there, fully twice as fast as Wakefield, and as for Hoskins the sand flies can't wake 'em up enough to scratch; they'd go to sleep at a dog fight. Winside is a living illustration of what concentrated action can do for a place; while in proportion to its population there are a surprising number of strong, progressive men in the town. The secret of their success is their cohesion of effort; they stick together like so many porous plasters and draw on everything with which they come in contact. When they wanted their park, which is perhaps the distinguishing beauty of the beautiful town, they got it with scarcely an effort; but they went after it right. F. H. Pelvey and John T. Bressler owned the land which is now the park. W. H. McCluskey cornered Bressler, and exacted the promise: "I'll do as well as the other fellow; I'd ought to do less than he will." So they got their park for nothing and I find that Chapin made Bressler pay for recording the deed. But that isn't all; when they got their park they beautified it and each was jealous if his neighbor did more in that line than he did. Winside, unlike Wayne, has never had any internal dissensions or law suits to raise up personal animosities, which make concerted action impossible. They have always stood together for the common good at Winside and what they have accomplished is best evidence of their wisdom.

It used to be almost an axiom "that nine farmers in ten who go into business will fail." Winside absolutely disproves this. I won't go over the list which is a formidable one, but from A. B. Carter, who was really the pioneer merchant to the present time, with but one notable exception all were products of the farm and not a "Reuben" id the bunch, and not a failure that I ever heard of.

I may be mistaken but I think Art Chapin has resided in Nebraska continuously longer than any other resident of Wayne county. Mr. Chapin doesn't look old enough to justify this statement. Coming to Omaha shortly after the close of the Rebellion, through which he served, he ran a very stable on the site of the old government building, on which he had an option of buying for $3,000; the first and last snap, I guess, which Art over looked. As a matter of historical interest, I recall that Mr. Chapin was seated in Ford's theatre, Washington, and witnessed the tragic assassination of President Lincoln, and the day following was, with a companion, placed under military arrest at Baltimore and detained until after the apprehension of Booth, the assassin.

I wonder how many of the fight fans around John Lewis' shop know that up at Winside lives a "pug" with a reputation? Ted Perry is, I think, the only one who knows that Tom Lound was a professional, bare-knuckle prize fighter, who in his youth fought for the "middle-weight" championship of England, and was defeated after a fearful fight. Tom is not especially proud of this distinction, but it speaks well for the man to say that he has never had occasion to raise a hand against a fellow-man since he has lived amongst us, more than twenty-five years. But Tom made his reputation as a professional cricketer, traveling all over England and her colonies, playing their national game.

"Lillywhite," the English sporting guide, gives him three "Centuries," the most notable being when playing with Hull vs Birmingham, he "carried out his bat" (that is not out) after making 137 runs in one inning. Tom's name is there spelled Tom Sound.

Speaking of names, did Doctor Crawford ever tell you how he christened and baptized Winside? Well, you just ought to get him to tell you in his own kitchen, glibly way. The doctor has a very keen sense of humor, —he doesn't realize it but he has—at times he is almost laughable. For a number of years there was no station between Wayne and Hoskins except Northside which (as its name implies) was a mere side track. Northside consisted of Leander McDuffy, Jim Elliott, Gene Jones and Aden Amell, all living within a radius of three miles of the sidetrack, where was a postoffice presided over by the aforesaid Leander. Judge from his name Leander was a Greek with an Irish accent. He was also section boss and custodian of the water tank, which was built on his own graceful lines of architecture, except it had two more legs and held water. Mr. McDuffy fought for the company maintaining a station at Northside and with him were associated the other gentlemen before mentioned. The road wanted a town a couple of miles northeast, and as they usually have their own way in such matters they located it on a piece of land belonging to the good doctor, and took him in partnership.

They allowed the doctor to have one-half interest in his own property under their contract, but in consideration of this they permitted him to name the town. Now, this is the joke, a diagram of which the doctor will show you on request: "I beat Northside in this fight—I win—Winside!" See the point? That isn't hard, is it, when you do see it? The whole trouble with the arrangement is, the joke is hard on the town and not many people up there fully appreciate and understand it. The doctor doesn't go up often enough to explain it.

Now, there is absolutely nothing the matter with Winside except its name —there is no more progressive wide-awake town in this state, or any other state; but like Wayne (only worse) it is ill named. A name should signify something. Wayne signifies something that will never happen (wane), Winside signifies nothing —except Crawford's joke. A good joke, naturally, but in a hundred years from now it will be ancient, and people don't like chestnuts. Why didn't he name it Slabside? Anything on the unusual attracts attention—a standing "ad." If a man from Medicine Hat goes down to New York and registers at the Waldorf-Astoria, the clerk puts on his ear-clips, the guests turn up their coat collars, and the janitor turns on the steam.

When a citizen of Tombstone registers at the Auditorium, the clerk says, "Residence, please, not occupation." So when the stranger from Tin Cup puts his name on the register at the Boyd, the clerk says: "No sir, solid silver." And so it goes. What you want is something suggestive—not a joke.

Doctor Crawford is now and has been for eight years engaged in writing a very comprehensive history of Wayne County. He has asked me to edit the joke department, requesting that I embellish same with copious notes. But my constitution, never robust, would not permit. My pump has all ways been a little unreliable and I fear it should run up against some of the doctor's cracks. It would "stop short never to run again," like our Grandfather's Clock. I can assure you however, from information "reliable and trustworthy" that the history will be replete with wit and humor; fairly bubbling over with fun and frolic. The "flourishing, like a green bay colobus" joke will be in it, illustrated in colors by the late Rosa Bonheur; also the green bay rum joke, which the doctor heartily recommends to bald heads—in other words, the thinking class. It will also contain Dick Galfraith's coon story, for which Cooh Creek was named; in addition, the Winside joke, with a period to indicate the point.

As nearly as I can now recall, the captions of the various chapters of the "History of Wayne County" will be as follows: "The Genealogy of the Crawford Family," "Ralphie, the Toddler," "The Boyhood of Ralph Crawford," "The Youth and Early Manhood of Ralph B. Crawford," "Ralph Bull Crawford, the Pioneer," "R. B. Crawford, County Superintendent," "Do-

Muscle boxes and blue light are two of the latest things in the line of anesthetics. The muscle boxes do not produce any of the usual effects of an anesthetic, but, according to Professor Redard, of Geneva, they do take away all the effects of an anesthetic. It is a well known fact that external impressions produced by light and sound of some kind have great bearing on the dreams. From this Professor Redard conceived the idea of utilizing music. He found that the music had a tendency to take away the disagreeable recollection previous to the use of the chloroform or ether. The disagreeable awakening was also found to be free from excitement.

The difficulty of avoiding "howlers" when one is translating from English into another language is well known. The Micmac Indians of Nova Scotia must be very great, says the London News. It is not that they are ignorant of the English language, but that they are ignorant of the Micmac language. The first edition of St. Matthew in Micmac the translator found, when he came to revise it, that the Micmacs had a habit of repeating the same words over and over again. "A pair of snowshoes shall rise up like a hawk," he translated. "A pair of snowshoes shall rise up like a hawk, yet there was only one letter misprinted—naoookitkinkimikjik (a name), hawallow (a name), hawallow (a name), hawallow (a name)." (A snowshoe).

OMAHA'S MAYOR SLATED FOR VICTIM

Acting Executive Zimman Was Also Invited to Murray Hotel on Business.

ALGOE THE BLACKMAILER

He and His Wife May Have Had Some Designs on the Character of the Official Same as on Police Water, if the Bee.

Omaha, Neb., May 23.—Acting Mayor Zimman believes that he had been marked by the Algeos as a victim, several weeks before Edward Algeos was detained in Mr. Algeos' room by her husband.

Acting Mayor Zimman says that about eight weeks ago Mrs. Algeos called on him in the city hall building and told him that she and her husband were both working people, but just out of employment and wanted to have the city. She suggested that he might be able to secure transportation for them.

Mr. Zimman informed her that he had no transportation at his command, but that the city had a car which he could secure this for her.

Wanted to Go Into Business. Later Mrs. Algeos called again in company with her husband and asked if he could not secure her concessions in some of the office buildings so that she could start a cigar stand.

The acting mayor discouraged this proposition. Mrs. Algeos then asked if he would not secure her a position somewhere.

She said he could not very well do this, but she might look around and was at liberty to refer to him.

Some weeks after Mr. Algeos called on the acting mayor and requested a private interview. After being ushered into Mayor Zimman's private office, Algeos told him he was dead broke and wanted to go into business.

Some time after Algeos met Zimman on the street and requested that he be invited to the Murray hotel. Mayor Zimman told him that he was studying law and might be able to take the case.

Invited to the Murray. Algeos said he was a very busy man and suggested that the acting mayor and his wife should stay at the Murray hotel.

For some reason the acting mayor did not keep his engagement to the hotel. On the day following that on which Algeos secured $200 from Mr. Rose, the acting mayor returned to the office and returned to him the $200.

Mrs. Algeos says that she called on the mayor several times, but it was for the purpose of having him assist her in some of her business.

For a time Mrs. Algeos was cashier at the Coney Island restaurant, a salary of $100 per month. At the same time she and her husband were occupying rooms at the Murray hotel which cost $40 per day.

Chief of Police Donahue today received a letter from Jackson, Mich. The chief declares that it contains a demand for $2,000 from a party whom they had blackmailed, but settled the matter for $700.

Chief Donahue also declares that he has the only true case of a maiden name was Lillian Watson. She had married a man named Shilberg, but after a year and then married him in about a year and then married him in about a year.

Chief Donahue refused to show the letter. Manager Hastings of the Murray hotel stated that until recently the Algeos had settled their bills promptly and he had never seen them in the same text of about $50, payment of which he demanded today.

ASTRAL BODY'S SEEN

Strange Hallooation of Sir Gilbert Parker Corroborated by Sir Arthur Haysley.

London, May 22.—Sir Gilbert Parker, who claims to have seen an astral body of Sir Carré Raich in the house of command, while the latter was ill in his hospital, is reporting a corroboration of his extraordinary hallooation. Sir Arthur Haysley writes as follows:

"I beg to say that I not only saw Sir Carré Raich, but called him to the attention of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, with whom I was talking on the front opposite the Admiralty building, and the papers inserted notices of Sir Carré's illness while he was sitting opposite the Admiralty building, and that he had been ill for some time."

It seems that this is not the first instance of the sort that occurred. In 1877, Mr. O'Connor, an Irish member, went to Ireland to be present at the death of one of his parents. Swiftly he gave his wife in his hospital seat on the third opposition bench. It also was seen from the press gallery.

Thirty years ago a member who went abroad, suffering from an acute malady, received an urgent five-line whip. He replied that he had been in the hospital seat on the third opposition bench. The house was divided on the matter at issue, and on division the lobby tellers gave the member a five-line whip. He replied that he had been in the hospital seat on the third opposition bench.

The lawyer then quoted from the testimony of the nurse who told her she had left the house because Mrs. Fischer insisted upon remaining there, with each other sufficient cause to justify the nurse's action.

SWEEPING REFORMS ANNOUNCED BY CZAR

At One Sweep the Russian Policy in Poland and Baltic Provinces is Revised.

WERE SOUGHT FOR YEARS

Natives Have Been Fighting for Greater Freedom, Which is Now Granted—Consequences of the Czar's Policy Assured.

St. Petersburg, May 18.—There is little room for skepticism as to the genuineness of the broad policy of imperial reform after the remarkable steps sanctioned by Emperor Nicholas in the imperial rescript issued yesterday modifying the restrictive policies in the western governments of Russia and giving the Poles greater freedom for acquiring farming lands, purchasing landed properties and industrial premises and giving permission to introduce Polish and other languages in primary and secondary schools where a majority of the inhabitants are non-Russian.

Almost at one sweep the whole burden of vexatious restrictive laws in Poland and the Baltic provinces is removed and privileges for which natives have been fighting for years are restored. Assemblies of Polish nobles are to be held in the provinces for purposes of state, after recommendation of council of state, they receive increased freedom of movement of religion and the prohibition of the purchase of land by Catholics is abolished.

In effect, the measures sanctioned amount to an entire reversal of the policy of Emperor Nicholas in the Baltic provinces.

A poor cyclone cave may be worse than none at all. In a report of the Oklahoma storm it is said: "Twenty people were rescued from a storm cellar this morning, having been imprisoned by light debris. Less than forty yards away in another storm cellar thirty-six people were found dead. The roof had been carried away and wreckage was sent crashing into the hole."

A pew in Grace church in New York city recently sold for $1,550. And the changes are it was paid for in tainted money.

Some people would be rich if they had the money they owe the dentist for the gold that is in their teeth.

Don't care whether it is called a cyclone or tornado; we're afraid of it.

"There is little wonder," the farmers of Illinois and Iowa gave the Harrington good roads a fair reception and that it was taken off. The members of the good roads association asked $150 to $200 from each city they visited to hear them preach, then insisted that whether the association took an interest in making good roads, the rollers and other tools be purchased of a certain firm in whom they were interested. Out as far west as the Missouri river this plan would be summed up in one word and probably called a "graft."

The Northwestern road had a good roads special which asked no money of a town and the speaker said the tools needed could be secured in the timber. It was a success, and already many roads have been much improved by the proposed method."

After the "cyclone" or "tornado" has struck it is easier to see how the storm cellar should have been built.

With a strike in Chicago, a black-mailed editor in Omaha, and an anti-splitting ordinance in Sioux City, the troubles of this section of the country appear to be evenly divided up.

LIKES OF HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

In a recent interview with Mrs. Lily Langtry, she very wisely said: "The fact that I believe in the superior force of mind over matter does not blind me to the truth that the foundation of every successful life is good health; that the key-stone to physical beauty is perfect physical health."

"A sick woman cannot be a beautiful woman, nor can she be anything but what we English call a poor-spirited woman."

"To a great extent a woman's beauty is measured by her vitality—by her health. Work, Sunlight, Exercise, Water and Soap, Plain, Nourishing Food, Lots of Fresh Air, and a Happy, Contented Spirit—these, as you say, honest and true, is my working rule for youth, youthful spirits and youthful looks."

"One great secret of youth and beauty for the young woman or the mother is the proper understanding of her womanly system and watching for every month, young or old, should know herself and her physical make-up. A good way to arrive at this knowledge is to get a good doctor book, such as instances as 'The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser,' by R. V. Pierce, M. D., which contains a fair and reasonable 'Fifty-two' twenty-one cents in one-cent stamps for paper-bound volume, or thirty-cent for cloth-bound copy, and addressing Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y."

"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can always be relied upon to cure when everything else fails, writes Dr. Robert C. Langley, Esq., Chicago, Ill. 'It is a certain cure for female troubles, such as irregular menstruation, suffering from years with ulceration, intense pain from the back, and such other ailments for my work. Finally I grew so ill I had to call to my bed. In this extremely used 'Favorite Prescription' for my trouble, and then I was well. Only those who have passed through such a sickness and I have well understand how much I value Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.'"

Dr. Pierce offers $500 reward for any case of Leucorrhoea, Female Weakness, Prostitution, or Falling of Womb which he cannot cure. All he asks is a fair and reasonable trial of his means of cure. No substitute for "Favorite Prescription" offers so much.

All through the corn belt there is an unusual interest now being taken in the growing of alfalfa. This crop belongs to the famous legume family and is therefore characterized by being exceedingly rich in flesh-forming constituents. When properly cured into hay it is possible the richest of all legumes. It is claimed that the crop will thrive on land that produces good corn. The Homestead of this week contains a very interesting article on alfalfa, prepared by Mr. N. C. Dunlap, of Kearney, Neb. Mr. Dunlap is foremost of an extensive alfalfa ranch, so that he speaks from actual experience. He tells how to prepare the seed bed, to sow, the amount of seed, etc. Farmers in this community who are not subscribers to The Homestead can scarcely realize what they are missing, because there is not an issue but what contains communications that are worth much more than the subscription price for a year. This office will be pleased to take your subscriptions at any time.
