Will Bottle the Water.

D. E. Miller and J. R. Rundell returned Sunday from Basin and Cheyenne, Wyo., where they turned a trick that will make them both millionaires in a short time. At Thermoplis, which is destined to be a second Denver, are the Big Horn Hot Springs, where the mineral water comes boiling out of the ground, in a stream about equal to the Logan. So Mr. Rundell says here the Wayne gentlemen found a bottling plant in operation, and doing a good business although for sale at $5,000. Then our sharp friends found that the state board of control, the springs being the property of the state, had given no franchise to a bottling concern, so they hie away to Cheyenne and after much dickering get the exclusive right to bottle this mineral water, putting all other parties out of business. The "state board of control," controls things in Wyoming, and the officers in it called by Wayne bankers to learn as to Messrs. Miller and Rundell's status before giving them a franchise. Work on the bottling works must commence within 90 days, the other condition being that the state gets a half cent per quart royalty. It looks like a good thing and will no doubt require both Mr. Miller and Rundell's entire attention.

Al Furchner accompanied by the family cat, left Tuesday morning for Plankinton, S. D., where he will probably go into some kind of business. Mr. Furchner has all ready to go to the Big Horn country but his folks made such a fuss about it he was forced to give it up.

A runaway item escaped the DEMOCRAT last week. George Dendinger being the victim of a serious one on Wednesday. George tried to make too quick a turn and the wagon upset and the team ran away, throwing him off the seat and hitting his ankles so he will not be able to do any butchering for a month or two.

Here is a pretty good one found floating around and perhaps some of you have not seen it: A man over in Johnson county, who patronizes the mail order houses, allows the children to play with the big catalogues. One morning the nurse came out and told them there was a new baby in the house. "Who brought it?" asked the children. The nurse replied that it had just come. "Oh, I know," said one little tot, "it's a Sears-Robuck baby and I bet it's adulterated just like the pepper and the strawberry jam was, and papa will have to keep it because the money was sent in advance."

The Holdoblers Again.

Last Friday the Holdobler family arrived from Chicago, being accompanied by a nurse from that city. The father, mother and two children were taken care of by Sheriff Mears, the parents being locked up. Saturday they were taken before the "insane board" and ordered committed to the asylum at Norfolk, being taken there Monday by Sheriff and Mrs. Mears. The two little ones, about 18 months and three years old, were taken along to Norfolk so as to get the old people the e without trouble, then brought back on the afternoon train, Sheriff Mears carrying the baby and Mrs. Mears leading the little girl, a comedy and a tragedy in one act. If there is any property left the family when Administrator Otto Kuhl gets through administering the estate it will go to pay expenses of keeping this family, otherwise the expense will be borne by the county. The parents did not appear to be at all violent and Sheriff Mears said he had little difficulty with them, but they are evidently way off, and liable to do mischief. The children are bright enough and were afraid of their parents, who evidently had been cruel with them.

John Massie was in Winside last Friday to see Grandpa Rays. E. W. Cullen's father-in-law, who was very low and not expected to live but a few days.

Geo. L. Mizer last week bought the Jones property south of the High school building and occupied by J. L. Winterburn, at $1200, a dirt cheap piece of property. The marshal will keep his "tenants" in it.

Geo. Savidge says that when he left Bingham Lake, Minn., last Friday night it was 10 below zero; at Manito it was a howling blizzard, and he remarked to a friend that the storm came from Nebraska, all right. Arriving at Sioux City he found a slight frost, and at Wayne a few hours later balmy sunshine. Stand up for this Italian climate.

Charley Chance, of Stanton recently had a peculiar experience over a bunch of cattle. A hired man on his ranch north of Stanton, went to town and told Mr. Chance some one had taken 40 head of cattle from the yards. Going at once to the farm, and taking plenty of help with him, it was found that the cattle had not broken out, but been stolen. The party started north in pursuit and a few miles from the ranch met a neighbor driving the cattle back. He told Mr. Chance the cattle had come to his place from the north and he was driving them home, the inference being that the thieves had turned them loose.

The DEMOCRAT understands there is likely to be a serious clash between the Agricultural Society and the Wayne Speed Association. According to the records of the Agricultural society F. E. Strahan's lease expired about Jan. 19, 1906, and at a recent meeting, the directors offered the speed association the use of the track, etc., if they kept it in good condition. This proposition was turned down. Mr. Strahan, who is the head of the racing association, because he claims to have a clause in his lease, giving him five years more use of the property at the same price, no account nor provision for which is made in the minutes of the Agricultural society. President John S. Lewis, of the latter society, tells the DEMOCRAT that legal action will be taken to recover possession of the grounds, and if this session it will no doubt tie up both organizations and tend to hinder if not prohibit any holdings on the track this season. There is considerable hard feeling between the two factions, Mr. Strahan and his following on one side and Mr. Lewis and the officers of the Agricultural society on the other hand.

SUPERIOR COURT

CLERK INDICTED

John A. Linn of Chicago, Accused in Twenty-five Counts.

EMBEZZLEMENT-FORGER

Numerous Hotel Proprietors Indicted for Allowing Public Gambling Through Alleged Convivance with Police.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—The grand jury today returned an indictment against John A. Linn, clerk of the superior court of Cook county, charging him with larceny, embezzlement and forgery.

Twenty-five separate indictments were returned against Linn on charges he entered in a conspiracy with Frank J. Chasler, a clerk of Cook county, to defraud out of $50,000 by false pretenses whether he embezzled money and used it for his own purposes or committed larceny against the county by taking different sums of money ranging from $1,500 to $10,000.

Twelve indictments declare Linn forged county warrants for sums ranging between $10 and $100,000, and charged Linn with having induced a conspiracy with various persons to remain away from the grand jury and refrain from giving testimony, another that he withheld the record of his office from his superior.

Linn furnished bail in the sum of $25,000.

Hotel Gambling Houses.

THE NEBRASKA DEMOCRAT

Wayne, Nebraska, February 9, 1906

BY DAD.

A Wayne father was telling his crying little daughter, who was apparently going to have the measles, that she should not give up so easily, there was the chicken-pox, the mumps, the whooping cough, and the diphtheria—that all she would have before she became an old woman, when a five-year-old who had gone through a severe scarlet fever bitted in with, "and she'll have to have the quarantine, too, paw!"

"I have been visiting," a former Wayne young woman writes me, "and so have missed two copies of 'by dad,' and therefore feel as though there was a screw loose in the world somewhere." Now, if all you readers who are going to miss it after this month—if you don't pay up—take it as badly as the above fair damsel, we will feel as though the DEMOCRAT was avenged for your negligence, by dad.

Many years ago, when "we were little fellows" on the farmstead, we used to cogitate upon what we rather be for the fun of it, a pig, horse, cow, goat or an elephant. "Time works wondrous changes, and although now we are only "boys grown tall," if you should ask me what I'd rather be to have a "—I of a time," my first choice would be the "Wayne Federation of Woman's Clubs."

Schuyler Free Lance: The B. and M. "fyer" on this line of road, running from Plattsburgh to the Black Hills, nearly met with an accident yesterday morning and it was only averted by the cool head of Engineer Miller. A couple women were seen standing on the track ahead engaged in earnest conversation and realizing what that meant the engineer stopped the train, rang the bell and tooted the whistle, but it having no effect he politely went forward and in his choicest language asked the ladies if they would please step off the track. With some reluctance they did and the train pulled out.

If Jim Hurst controls the whisky supply and D. E. Miller and Ralph Rundell the water output, of the Big Horn Basin, will we democrats have any business out there?

"Dear," said the fond mother, "I must punish you for disobeying my orders." Please, ma," said the little one, "may I go to my room first?" "Yes," consented his mother, and she cautiously followed her first-born up stairs. There Robert was kneeling by his bed, and his mother heard him say: "Dear Lord, if you ever wanted to help a little fellow in trouble, now 's your chance." The whipping was indefinitely postponed.

John Owen asked me the other day: "Gold! what did you want to write me up that way for?" When I asked him when, how and where it was, he replied: "Why, telling everybody I was chasing around after another man's wife!" And then John laughed, loud hearty and loud, just to make me think he was a guilty

John Owen is kicking and has a kick coming John attended the "so shu!" at the opera house last Thursday night, and was fined 25c for not being bald-headed. Then Banker Wilson and Captain John T. Bressler came in, and they were fined 15c each for being bald-headed. J. E. couldn't see the whyfore of this and it was explained that he was the better looking man, fard, said Mr. Bressler, "you wear better clothes than we do," where-upon John pulled his coat and said he'd trade with the plutocrat all the clothes he had on, and then the "so shu!" attendant fined him $1.00 for indecent exposure, which was just what he deserved.

The ground hog saw his shadow, but, by dad, he didn't see mine.

It counts to be a count. Just imagine what would happen to these gay married men of Wayne were they to buy a neckless for the other man's wife, as well as their own, and then have the bill go to the Mrs. instead of the Mistress for payment? Ouch! By dad, we'd have to publish "Down Topaz" instead of a staid old DEMOCRAT.

Postmaster McNeal tells the DEMOCRAT that January, 1906, broke all records in his line of business, the receipts from stamps alone being $747.30 a rate that would put the Wayne office in the second class order if kept up for a twelve-month.

The DEMOCRAT has received 1907 samples of calendars, banners, wall pockets, etc., from two of the largest houses in the United States, and we guarantee we can save every calendar buyer in this section from 10 to 25 per cent. of the prices paid to outside peddlers, whose personal expenses are more than we ask for printing, freight etc. Call early and make selections for future delivery.

Twins were born this morning to Mr. and Mrs. Halley M. West, being a pair of girls. This the seventh pair of girl twins born to this couple in the past twelve years of their married life and Halley is just as tickled as he was when the first pair arrived. Mrs. West's mother came over from David City yesterday to be with her daughter for some time. She said to the Free Lance reporter she was pleased, of course, to be grandma to such nice little girls, but still she thought there was such a thing as overdoing a good thing even.—Free Lance.

Very Successful Institute

An unusual interest was shown in the Farmers Institute held at the court house in Wayne on Friday and Saturday. The meetings were well advertised and ideal weather and good roads brought the farmers out. Considerable interest was aroused over the Boys' Corn Growing contest.

Friday morning was given to arranging the corn exhibits in the county superintendent's office. Over sixty contestants entered and the display of each was spread upon tables for inspection. Mr. D. P. Ashburn of Gibson, Nebr., as judge, made the awards of five cash prizes.

Shortly after the noon hour the first session of the institute was called to order in the court room by vice-president, Mr. W. A. K. Neely. Every seat was filled when Prof. Otto Voget rendered an inspiring selection on the violin. This was followed by an invocation by Rev. Osborne, when Mr. D. P. Ashburn was introduced to talk on "The Breeding and Selection of Seed Corn." His talk was especially to the country boys entered in the corn growing contest. He reminded them it was necessary that they raise more and better corn than their fathers did. This was to be accomplished not by planting more acres but by raising more bushels to the acre. By the aid of several charts he showed the kind and shape of ears to select for seed. The cylindrical ear of corn having deep kernels of wedge shape, straight rows and well filled tips and butts, with small cob was always to be preferred. His method of breeding corn for seed was shown. His talk was full of instruction and greatly enjoyed.

Following another violin solo by Prof. Voget which was received with a hearty encore, the chair introduced Hon. Henry Wallace of Des Moines, Iowa. "Cattle Feeding" was the subject. Mr. Wallace is nearly seventy years of age and his talk was the product of nearly a life of practical experience and painstaking thought. He suggested that perhaps all were not interested in cattle feeding, but the time was coming when it would be otherwise. The farmers could not go on taking crop after crop from the soil and not returning to it the elements that were being used up. It is essential that manure should be spread up on the land. Every phase of caring for and feeding cattle was touched upon by the speaker and many questions were answered.

Friday evening session was opened with the court room well filled. The program was enlivened by a male quartet composed of Messrs. Gamble, Johnson, Wilbur and Morris. Mr. Ashburn gave an entertaining review of his experience in "Raising Poultry." He evidently was not a fancy chicken man and did not hold to the idea that any one variety was the only kind to raise, yet he preferred the all purpose American breeds. He gave many helpful hints in coup building and showed that with little expense good quarters can often be provided for chickens. Incubators were considered, but experience and excessive care were deemed necessary for its success. The old hen was the safest means of hatching chickens. The kind of food adapted for the new hatched chick and the laying hen was discussed. Close attention was given to Mr. Ashburn as all seemed interested in the subject.

Mr. Wallace followed the male quartet in an earnest and thoughtful address on "Character Development on the Farm." Two ideas were important to him—ancestors and environment. The localities where the agricultural spirit ruled provided the best surroundings to develop character. Habits of industry gained on the farm often carries the country boy ahead when he turns his energy to other vocations or enters professional life. God preserved the great central west for His best people. Mr. Wallace flayed the shams and grafters wherever found, whether in commercial life, in politics, or upon the farm. It was an inspiring address and most thoroughly enjoyed.

The Saturday morning session opened promptly at ten o'clock. Mrs. W. H. Morris rendered a vocal solo and Rev. T. J. Wright offered prayer. While Mr. O. Hull of Alma, talked on "Economic Pork Production" to the men, Mrs. C. E. Welton of Alma, addressed a woman's meeting in an adjoining room. Mr. Hull's discussion of the various requirements in the hog and his surroundings in order to produce pork at a profit was listened to with rapt attention. He showed himself qualified in both knowledge and experience, and possessing an exalted idea of his business. Mrs. Welton's talk, we understand, was along the line of women's interests and part in the institute, and in the afternoon her suggestions were carried out in the organization of a woman's auxiliary of the farmers' institute, of which the following are local officers: Mrs. J. E. Abbott, president; Mrs. Ed. Rennick, vice-president; Mrs. Clyde Oman, secretary and treasurer. It is the intention of the women to hold sessions of their own during next year's institute. Following the appointment of three on nominations by Chairman Neely, Miss Edna Bush favored the institute with a vocal solo.

The afternoon session for Saturday was a great surprise in point of attendance. The court room was filled to overflowing and not a few were turned away. A vocal duet by Misses Gamble and Naugle opened the program. Mr. Hull talked on "Growing Alfalfa." It proved an interesting subject to all and the speakers brief and pointed method of handling it, held the closest attention. Hogs and alfalfa are evidently Mr. Hull's favorite subjects, for his heart and experience are in them.

Because of sickness and a throat ailment in particular John K. Kate was forced to disappoint not a few in the meeting by not being on hand to talk on "Hatching and Raising Chicksens." Miss Yakish, of the College, gave a reading that greatly pleased the crowd and their applause called her out for a second piece: Mrs. Welton enlarged the great importance of "Domestic Science in the Home." She thoroughly believes that the man who works in the field should be well fed. It's the wife's duty to be an expert cook and a good housekeeper. There was no disgrace in it, only in not doing it well. But the duties of the farmer's wife should be lightened. Her kitchen should be handily arranged, so as to save her steps. The mere price of one horse would put water in the kitchen and provide many conveniences. Her talk was full of helpful hints to the housewife and to the husband as well. A violin solo by Miss Yakish touched the institute in the right spot and they called her back for a second selection.

Mr. G. A. Marshall, of the Arlington nurseries gave many valuable hints on "Spraying for Fruit Diseases." He showed the need of spraying in order to insure a higher grade of fruit. The chair announced the presence of Mr. Chas. A. Scott, of the U. S. Department of Forestry, who concluded his talk begun at the morning session on what the Department of Forestry was doing in general and especially in Western Nebraska. Mr. Scott has charge of the Dismal river and Niobrara river reserves. They have a large nursery at Halsey, Nebr., where pine seedlings are grown to be transplanted in the sand hills. The success of the work is assured, and they expect to be planting from 500 to 1000 acres each year hereafter.

The committee on nominations made the following report on officers for the coming year, and recommended their election, which was done.

Owing to the heavy receipts and the slump in the market at Chicago and other points our market has suffered a decline of 10 to 15 cents on steers and is a shade easier on cows and heifers on Tuesday as compared with last Friday but Wednesday recovered 10 cents. The stocker and feeder market is not so active but prices are notably unchanged. The hog market is about 17 cents higher than a week ago. Range $6.50 to $5.65. Sheep values have suffered another heavy decline and the market is very weak.

The story of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, a double life is well portrayed by Mr. Strong, showing in outward form the hideousness of the evil spirit which dwelt in an otherwise clean and kindly heart. The story is interesting and its shadows, the hideous death of Mr. Hyde, are relieved by the noble character of Dr. Jekyll.—Evening News, Portland, Maine.

The Houston Post suggests that Colonel Mann be named for canal commissioner because of his success in making men "dig."

Getting Enough.

When the Nebraska implement dealers first banded together for mutual protection a few years ago, they alleged that their prime object was to secure better freight rates. However, the fact became apparent very soon that the state organization was a very close brother to the national implement trust. All went well for a while, the trust fixing uniform buying and selling prices for the members of the association, and refusing to ship the goods to dealers who did not join the state organization. But today there is every appearance of a rupture between some of the local dealers and the trust. The Telegram learns that in several counties the local dealers have joined hands in an effort to defeat the trust, and when the real fighting begins we shall probably learn as much truth about the implement trust as I am worried to tell about the grain trust. And the good result of the trouble will be that in the end the farmers in Nebraska will be enabled to buy farm implements in the open market. They cannot do that kind of buying now, because the average local dealer is bound to sell his goods at prices fixed by the trust. Not all local dealers are so bound, as is evidenced by the fact that some of them are printing advertisements that look like an open declaration of war against the trust. One of the rules of the association in some states required local dealers to place a very small limit upon their annual advertising account. The associations argued that the members might just as well save all the money usually expended by dealers for advertising. That argument looked good to many of the locals, but after a while discovered that the money they saved by cutting down their advertising bills was all going to the trust in the shape of increased prices. Hence the revolt. In those towns where the local dealers are breaking away from the trusts the advertisements inserted in the local papers by the local men are very interesting.—Columbus Telegram.

Can She Save Them?

Many a poor mother has seen that those she holds most precious are gradually slipping away from her over the terrible precipice of disease, would be thankful to know what Doctor Pierce's wonderful "Golden Medical Discovery" has done to restore thousands of weak and wasted children to complete rounded, rosy, healthy, active lives.

"Five years ago this last fall I was taken down with a fever and was very bad for several months. My Mrs. Henrietta Bell, of Diamond Ohio, who had been a doctor, recovered from the fever, but my lungs became very bad. The doctor said I had consumption, and that he had done all he could for me, and he did not think that I could get well. My case was a very dangerous one. I became very weak, had night sweats, and a very bad cough, night and day. At times would spit blood. I felt as though my time on earth would be short. I was almost dead when I got a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and perhaps it would help me. Before I had taken it I almost gave up. I had been told that if it had not been for my medicine I would not have been here today."

If mothers will only write to Dr. Pierce concerning the ailments of their family he will send them sound and valuable advice in a plain sealed envelope, and without any charge. He has a very wide and varied experience has qualified him to deal with diseases which baffled the local practitioners. Address Dr. R. P. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Frightfully Burned. Chas. W. Moore, a machinist, of Ford City, Pa., had his hand frightfully burned in an electrical furnace. Jack Dalton in the Mason Democrat: Rev. Jenkin Lloyd Jones has given up the "angel idea" in women. There's where Brother Jones loses out. Any time a man loses sight of the fact, or loses faith in the idea, that a woman is an angel, there is something the matter with his liver. Any woman you can love is an angel. The more you love her the more of an angel she becomes. Not one of those classical angels with ethereal wings, a lot of smoke or vapor clustering around their necks and a halo around their heads, but just ordinary female angels—the kind that get up in the morning and cook a nice breakfast for you, see that you get the thickest and richest cream and some nice, fresh butter, hot pancakes and crisp toast; the kind that excuses all your little whims and hobbies and considers you the best and noblest man in the world and freely forgives you even if you do go home to them with a smell of liquor on your breath and the hair of another woman on your coat collar. We'll bet a jack rabbit against a skunk, that Brother Jenkin Lloyd never had a little woman snuggle up to him and peek her arm around his neck, pat his cheek with her soft white hand, kiss him fondly and tenderly and call him her "dear boy," her "only boy" and "the best man in the world." If he has ever experienced any of that kind of heaven and then is mean enough to forget it and go back of the returns, he's in bad shape mentally and physically and ought to take something for it.

The World Herald says: Senator Morgan of Alabama is 81 years old and Senator Pettus of Alabama is 83. Both have announced themselves candidates for re-election. Joe Trigg has dealt his party a "fowl" blow. He says: "We see it reported that an Indiana hen stole her nest in an abandoned wheat stack and every fowl that strolled by the nest laid an egg in it. When the old hen marched proudly up to the farm house with her family she was followed by two juvenile turkeys, five chicks, an infant guinea and two ducklings, and seemed reasonably proud of the variety she had achieved, which is a good illustration of the fix the republican party in Iowa is in today."

A statistician has estimated that if one good grain were added to each ear of corn grown in one of the states of the corn belt, it would add $200,000 to the yearly product of the state. If instead of one grain a dozen were added or if a whole ear were added to each hill, the grain would be correspondingly greater, running into the millions in the latter case. Not only in corn, but in all the products of the farm, including live stock, improvement is the watchword of the times. A single county like Wayne county would be largely enriched by adopting the best methods in any agricultural or live stock line of work, as many of our farmers are already doing. A good agricultural paper like the Homestead, of Des Moines, Iowa, setting forth each week the best methods of increasing the size and value of the farmer's output, is a boon to any community. The NEBRASKA DEMOCRAT has completed clubbing arrangements with this excellent farm Journal and will be glad to forward your subscription for it.

Drafts all Over the World

The State Bank issues drafts payable in any of the leading centers of the principal foreign countries as well as the United States and Canada.
These drafts can be obtained for any sum over $1.00.
The party named as payee can deposit them to his credit in regular bank or, upon proper identification, convert them into cash at the option which they are drawn.
Bank drafts cost less than Postoffice or Express Money Orders and are safer.
