Liveringhouse Case Reversed

Atty. F. A. Berry last week received notice from the supreme court at Lincoln that the case of State vs. Will Liveringhouse had been reversed and remanded back to Wayne county for retrial.

The grounds for the reversal were not given, but Mr. Berry anticipates it was insufficient evidence and errors in trial.

Liveringhouse was convicted in the district court last year of statutory rape upon the person of Miss Maudie Webster, who lives with her mother and stepfather south of Wayne. The defendant has been in the penitentiary nearly a year and will probably be returned to Wayne in a few days.

The Democrat understands a brother at Fremont has put up for the appeal, and Mr. Berry thinks the accused man will now be able to get bonds and given his liberty.

Will Make Them Trouble.

A great many complaints are being made about the garbage gatherers dumping refuse on the public highways and the county commissioners have taken up the matter—not the garbage—and will make it interesting for the next offender.

The commissioners will bring an action against these parties upon information being given them that that will convict. The public roads should be kept clean and not be made a dump for town rubbish and an example of one or two will no doubt put a stop to the practice.

In the meantime it might be a good plan for the city to secure a "jumping off" place for manure, tin cans, etc.

Dog Owners.

Will bear in mind that now is the time to pay dog taxes, all canines untagged after May 11th being subject to killing by Marshal Miner. The tags may be secured from City Clerk Witter upon payment of the tax.

We Invite Investigation.

It is a business proposition.

We have the ore opened up in great quantities.

We have machine drills and power to drive it; two railroads at our door; honest, conservative management and we have hardly touched the mineralized zone. We will open much larger veins ahead of us.

A late telegram received today shows we are opening some exceedingly fine ore in vein number four. Now then help us to erect ore bins, build a mill, drive the tunnel, then reap the dividends. I have sold Twenty-Eight Thousand Shares in Wayne the past two weeks. ARE YOU NEXT?

There is a legend among the Cornish miners that St. Piran, an Irish hermit, was the discoverer of tin. His ancient cell in the north of Ferranabado, in Cornwall, laid bare of sand by the sea many years ago, has recently been discovered by the Cornish miners. It is the feast of St. Piran, forgetting that their forefathers long previously sold to the Phoenicians. Possibly the legend refers to the fact that this Irishman was a skillful metallurgist.

Lloyd George, now a member of the British cabinet, was addressing a meeting in Wales, and his chairman said: "I introduced you to the world of Carnarvon boroughs. He has come here to reply to what the bishop of St. Asaph said the other night about Welsh disestablishment. In my opinion, gentlemen, the bishop of St. Asaph is one of the biggest rascals in creation; but he has his match in Lloyd George!"

I will resign first," and resign he did.

After that time the girls for the next few years surpass the boys both in weight and height, but the boys continue to grow and are heavier than the girls. The parents are taller and heavier than those of laboring parents. The heads of girls are a little rounder than those of boys, and always a little smaller.

"Oh, much do we suffer," declared Signora Fabri, the prettiest of the lot. "We have lost all of our belongings. The Herr Director make the ocean ship desirable the moment we reach New York. But the tale is not yet told of him."

PAT CROWE TRIES TO KILL HIS SWEETHEART

Breaks Down Door of Her House and Terrorizes the Inmates.

She essays a new role as a notorious kidnaper of the Cudahy boy wanted to commit murder, but as usual, he escaped the police officers.

Omaha, Neb., May 2.—Pat Crowe, kidnaper of Edward Cudahy, figured in a sensational house breaking and shooting in the night at the home of George A. Warner Tuesday night. He threatened to kill her if she did not reveal the hiding place of Miss Montgomery, and he threatened to kill her if she did not reveal the hiding place of Miss Montgomery.

Meanwhile Warner telephoned police headquarters and Detective Peris was sent out to await Crowe's return. The detective secreted himself in front of the house and entered the yard from the alley and knocked at the back door. He was answered by a woman, who shot at him and Warner, armed with a revolver, rushed to the backdoor and fired a shot. The detective fled. He fled to the alley. The detective fled. He fled to the alley.

NEBRASKA WOMAN COMMITS SUICIDE

Recently Released Insane Hospital Patient Takes Her Own Life in Fear of Being Returned.

O'Neill, Neb., May 2.—Mrs. Helen E. Howe, wife of C. H. Howe, living in McClure township, this county, committed suicide at the Dewey hotel in this city by drinking a quantity of carbolic acid. She died shortly thereafter. She was about 63 years of age and came to the county something over a year ago from Lincoln at the instance of or on complaint of her husband. She was not known when she was released from the asylum, but it seems that she had been at Ponca, this state, for some time. She was committed on Wednesday of last week. She manifested a fear of being taken back to the asylum. On Tuesday, the county jail discovered the woman and the empty bottle just after she had swallowed the poison and asked what she had done. She refused to answer. Her physician, Dr. Coroner Flynn was called and found her dead. He empaneled a jury and an inquest was held, a verdict of suicide being returned.

The city of Pierce sought to take in adjoining property, containing the mill race and the building. They also claimed that they did come into the city, but they could not be reached by hose from the water mains.

The boys will be encouraged to raise at least enough for their own use.

Too Late to Plant Corn

Nearly every year for more than twenty-five years some of our customers have said "It's getting too late to plant corn now, for it will never get ripe!" Yet they planted corn, and with few exceptions had a good crop of corn and in most cases it got ripe. We cannot understand why men will look at the dark side of life, when all nature smiles. Some men believe without investigating that they cannot find clothing in Wayne that will satisfy them and at the right price. Some men plant corn believing that it will never mature, but fail to find out where their dollars will do them the most good. It costs money to put out a crop and then take chances on getting something for your labor, but it costs nothing to see how cheap we sell clothing, and if you don't get full value for your money you can return the goods and we will make it satisfactory.

Plant your dollar in this store this year and see if you don't reap the biggest harvest you have ever reaped for your investment in clothing. Try it one year and if you are not satisfied that you have received more for your money and better treatment than you ever received before, tell us so and we will make satisfactory arrangements with you. Our store this year is more complete and arranged to meet your wants better than any time before. Of course this is only an advertisement and unless you look into this matter we cannot convince you that this store will save you money. Let us have the pleasure of your presence and then you can see for yourself that what we claim is true. Will you come in? Eggs same as cash.

THE LEADING CLOTHIER

Bixby's version of it is that Mrs. Stanley called at Governor Hoch's office and told him that his daughter, who she had seen but a short time before, had sent "lots of love and kisses." "Aren't you going to deliver the goods," he asked. "And that's the whole story."

The sale of the Wolcott or Haas lands last Saturday was well attended and the property sold for good figures considering it was a partition sale of real estate. Wm Koch bought an unimproved 160 at $10,000, and August Danburg an improved 160 at $11,100. The other 80 acres was bought by the heirs at $4.10.

Before leaving for Mandan, N. D., W. C. Bonham paid up for the DEMOCRAT for Jan. 1, 1906. By dad, this is a case of where the first shall be last or the last shall be first. Which is it?

Here is a brief extract says Bixby, from the letter of a Kansas girl to her chum: "I told him he didn't dare kiss me," and then she adds in a scornful tone that she "sized the blockhead up just right."

One of the latest fads to strike Wayne is for young men to walk with a limp. It's a safe bet the innovation wasn't made necessary by using Lemp's, either, although they do say it was all caused by a corn cobb.

The meanest man in town is the fellow who found A. Tidrick's pocket book last week, and refuses to give it up and take a liberal reward for his honesty (?). The man who steals in this manner is worse than a highwayman, for he would follow the robber's profession only for the fact that he is a coward as well as thief.

The town council of Woodhams, Prussian Saxony, has passed an ordinance prohibiting women from allowing the trains of their dresses to drag in the streets as a "measure for the protection of health and for the prevention of tainting the air with dust." It doesn't say a thing about avoiding necessity of taking a bath every day.

One of the funny sights to see yourself as others see you—was Sam Davies 4-10 in height, talking to a traveling man, who was at least 7 foot 4—in his stockingless feet. Sam had to strain his eyes to see so far up, and when a friend yelled at him to "go get a step ladder," he grinned a sickly grin. Later on he complained of a stiffness in the back of his neck, from which he has not yet recovered.

Conductor Adair tells a good story on a couple of Wayne women, who were on the train for Sioux City the other day. The ladies were violently tickled about something, and a gentleman at their rear thought they were weeping copiously, and asked the conductor about their grief. Charley told the sensitive passenger that both ladies had just lost their husbands. After making a more critical examination the stranger wanted further information and was told the now gay creatures had—lost their huddies at the Wayne depot.

Alton Democrat: By a vote of nearly three to one Tuesday the house decided to continue free seed distribution and you may look for a packet of canary feed from your congressman most any time now. It is unfortunate that the matter was not settled till the garden making season was nearly over. In previous years when the editor of this paper was a bachelor and had no need of seeds the congressional packet came right on time. Now this year when he is married and has his garden all spaded ready to plant—the seeds come dragging in along in July. Darn such a government.

CHARLES ROBBINS

"She's Dangerous, Judge"

Sioux City Journal: On the witness stand, in the police court, where he had been placed to defend himself against his wife's charge that he had been disturbing peace, H. Hirsch yesterday morning dramatically fumbled through his pockets, took off one shoe and pulled down his sock and extracted a document, which in silence he unfolded handed to the court and said: "There your honor, is our marriage license. That will show you how long I've been married to that woman."

The memorial of plighted troth indicated that Hirsch had been wedded to his wife since 1899.

"See this scar on my forehead," he said. "That's her foul work. She did it with a butcher knife. My little son who is sitting there beside her will testify to it. Many another scar am I carrying around that was inflicted by that woman. She isn't faithful to me and when I remonstrate she has me arrested. She did it in Sioux City a year ago and I got thirty days. She did it in other towns where we have lived. She is dangerous, judge I am afraid of her."

Hirsch then explained that he always carried his marriage license about him well concealed for on occasions his wife had denied being his better half and had caused him annoyances.

Mrs. Hirsch on the other hand contended that her husband was shiftless of a mean disposition, addicted to liquor, and by her opinion, insane. She said she was going to have him taken before the board of insanity at once. More than once, she testified he had come home drunk, mutilated the furniture and even threatened to shoot her, drawing a revolver. "Yes judge I think if you look close you will find he has a revolver somewhere about him at this moment," she said. "I'm not afraid of him because my life is not worth living anyway, and I don't care if he does shoot me. But I do believe he is crazy, and I am going to have him examined today."

Judge Page returned the marriage license and dismissed Hirsch. They continued to "jaw" each other out of the court room, down the stairs and up the street.

Hirsch claims to be connected with the Elks restaurant, 618 Fourth street but his wife says his only connection is to eat there while she does all the work.

The annual convention of the Wayne County Sunday school association will be held in the Presbyterian church at Wayne Neb., on the 23rd and 24th of this month. Prop. Steacie and Miss Haines the state secretaries, will be present. Every school should send the full number of delegates to which it is entitled and as many others as possible. Full entertainment will be given. The names of all who expect to attend should be sent to F. H. Jones of Wayne several days before the time set for the convention.

Thos. Holtz has sold the brickhouse formerly occupied by the family, to Mrs. McLeash, a sister of Mrs. F. M. Corbit, price $1350.

David C. Patterson Jr. of Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., nephew of W. O. Gamble, was one of ten cadets chosen as special escort to the French officials at the Paul Jones memorial service or demonstration last week.

A gasoline stove came near "burning the house down" at A. A. Welch's home Tuesday. The stove was in the basement and burning, when Mrs. W. remarked to Mr. W. that it needed fixing, and being used to obey the first command Mr. Welch made a break for the stove, not knowing it was lit, pulled over the tank and set the whole works a blaze. An attempt was made to smother it out with blankets, but that failed and for a time things looked serious, but the infernal machine was finally served with a mandamus, evictment or injunction.

Rev. Duley Resigns.

At a recent congressional meeting of the Baptist people the resignation of Rev. Duley was duly accepted, and that gentleman leaves Wayne on or before Sept. 1st. The DEMOCRAT has heard a good deal of talk about the troubles church and pastor were having, but it is bad enough for christian people to quarrel without getting their difficulties into print.

Reports from different parts of the country, particularly Iowa points, are that the frost the past week did great damage to fruit and gardens. Here in Wayne county there was a slight freezing, but garden truck was not injured in the least. Squire B. F. Feather says he has made a careful examination of the fruit trees and the buds and blossoms are all right.

THE WELD THAT HELD

Science has developed something infinitely better than the old-style wrap or clamp.

"PITTSBURGH PERFECT" FENCES ARE WELDED BY ELECTRICITY.

This is the modern method of construction. Years of life are added through the elimination of serious fence defects.

A WRAP holds moisture, cracks the galvanizing and allows the water to attack the bare wire. A small amount of displaced galvanizing on "PITTSBURGH PERFECT" REINFORCES THE PROTECTION AGAINST RUST AT THE ELECTRICALLY WELDED JOINT; examine the joint.

STAYS CANNOT SLIP. They are always just where they were put. Stay and strand wires become one piece when the union is made. The fence is like a solid sheet of perforated steel.

Every Rod is Guaranteed Perfect.

Don't allow your prejudice in favor of the rapidly-declining and now antiquated methods you have heretofore known, to warp your good judgment.

"PITTSBURGH PERFECT" FENCES REPRESENT PROGRESS, because hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of standard material is daily welded by electricity.

The hoop on the average sugar barrel in the isolated country grocery store is an electrically welded product.

If your wagon was made in a large factory, its tires were welded by electricity. Its fenders and washing machines, on many tubs and sockets. Examine them.

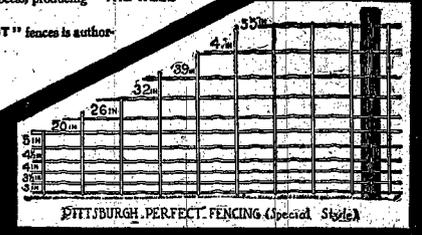

"PITTSBURGH PERFECT" fences are made by this modern, simple and marvelous process, producing "THE WELD THAT HELD."

MR. FARMER: LISTEN, NOW. Every agent handling "PITTSBURGH PERFECT" fences is authorized to guarantee this:

That the wires are not injured at the joints.
That the joints are perfectly adjustable to uneven ground.
That the stays will not separate from the strands.
That the fence is all right in every particular.

Could you ask any more definite protection? Your complete satisfaction is absolutely assured.

Percy jumped on his riding horse and overtook the runaways just as they were coming up Main street, and catching the reins on the off horse he pulled them up so bystanders succeeded in helping him stop them at the Boyd corner.

Died.

Mrs. Maria Sophia Harder, mother of John Harder died at the home of her son last Tuesday at 10:30 a. m., aged 89 years, 2 months and 7 days. The funeral was held yesterday from the German church, Rev. Karpenstein officiating. Deceased was born March 1, 1817, at Vilschow, Melkileburg, Germany. She accompanied her son John to Three Rivers, Mich., in 1872, to Dodge county, Neb., in 1882 and to Wayne county in 1890.
A large concourse of friends and neighbors attended the funeral to attest their respect and love for the grand old lady.

Innate modesty was the thing that prompted Edward Rosewater to leave to his son the announcement of his candidacy for the United States senate while he himself is doing service for his country on foreign shores. This announcement while falling suddenly upon us, like the steeple of a church in an earthquake, did not take us entirely by surprise. There has been a deep-seated conviction all along that this very thing, or something exactly like it, would come to pass sometime during the present semester. Here it is, and here we are; but where are the rest of the fellows? In what position does this leave our mutual friend Chas. J. Greene? And what will John L. Webster do when it comes to gathering up the Douglas county delegation in the republican state convention? Will it be a divided delegation or will it stand by one of these three candidates? If any man thinks this will be a dull, dead summer in Omaha's political parks, there will be another guess to store for him when he gets his eyes open. Already Mr. Greene is active, already Mr. Webster is in the saddle ready to lead the charge and to die if need be at the head of his brigade.

All honor to Edward Rosewater for the good and noble things he has stood for during his brilliant and breezy newspaper career. His labors have been great, and his rewards not insignificant. There are people who believe that on top of all the rest he deserves a seat in the senate of the United States. What is your opinion? What the thought of those whom he has knifed politically in the years that are gone? Is it good to know that the fight is to be made the open; that it is not to be a boodle campaign, and that there is hope of settling the question in the state convention?
I do not say these things to taunt. The statement is the fact; but say, if Rosey is the man we want. Let's give him then, full right of way. How often is the happy days. That never shall return I've said. In this old chair and penning his praise To readers up and down the Platte. And I have taken pains to say That while in stature my old friend is just above a sale of hay Majestically stood on end. His head is more than standard length And from his lustrous optics beam A light suggestive of great strength And pent-up wisdom—that's no dream. His fault's—ah, friends, it is no lie That he has weaknesses preposse, But I prefer to pass them by As of no vital consequence. If he has ever gone the way That evil minded people go; If he was ever led astray— You may have learn I do not know. If father is the people's friend; As Victor says, excuse the thought That Rosey is the man to send To do the people's work. Why not?—Blaby in State Journal.

A Plan for Making Wayne the Prettiest Town in Nebraska

The following was written by a former resident of Wayne, who as may be seen, still retains a lively interest in our little city and all that would lead to its up building. All these ideas appeal to every interested and progressive citizen, while other good points might be added.

It is a noticeable fact that when one family begins to improve their lawn and back yard or garden, the neighbors begin to do likewise.

Another item commented on is the amount of material thrown out which would make good fuel—papers, for instance, orange and lemon peel which contain so much oil that they burn readily, and pasteboard boxes.

Might there not be something done to prevent school-children from scattering tablet paper etc? People living in close proximity to the school house have complained of having their yards littered with these offending scraps.

Other items of importance might still be added. This matter of beautifying the city of Wayne is at present filling and agitating the minds of our people until it seems that each individual citizen is on an inspection committee. Therefore it behooves us all to get our premises fit for inspection.

Wayne is a town, the natural situation of which is admirable and the homes are for the most part well kept and modern. The streets and alleys are not every where so well cared for as they might be, and are too often overgrown by foul weeds in the summer time. With the proper amount of public interest in this matter, Wayne could easily be made the most attractive town in the state.

A plan that would lead to the desired result would be to interest the residents along a whole street in making their street the finest and best kept in town. To this end a system of prizes or some form of public recognition could be arranged for. For instance, if the town council were to place on the light of the inter section of the best kept east and west, and north and south streets, it should result in a wholesome strife and bring the residents along the various streets into united action. This would go a long way toward arousing the indifference. Prizes might also profitably be offered for the best kept square and the best kept block alley.

An additional incentive would be to have a good sized committee of judges make an inspection of the town, say just before or on the fourth of July, and also just before the week of your county fair, or as a part of the proceedings of that week. When men have been at the trouble of keeping their premises in good shape they naturally enjoy having everyone recognize the fact.

The plan if put into practice would have several beneficial results. In the first place it would make a fine town. But what is of even greater importance, it would interest the boys during vacation time in useful services and as they themselves became interested in the work it would give them a more wholesome regard for property both public and private, and give them important lessons in matters of public spirit and the public good. It would result in short, in civic, moral and material betterment.

During an electrical storm at Windsor last week lightning struck a telephone wire and ran into the switchboard at central, putting the telephones all out of order and most of the 'phones could not be used for two or three days. People sitting around in the postoffice when the lightning struck received quite a fright, as the telephones snapped like pistols and the whole box seemed on fire.

SUPPLEMENT

To the Nebraska Democrat, Wayne, Neb., May 11, 1906.

Interesting Letter From Our "Hoodlets."

Denver, Col., April 29, 1906.

Dear Sir—I will try and write a few lines to our friends and neighbors at Wayne. We arrived in Denver on Wednesday April 18th at 9:15 a. m. and it was raining and continued to rain all day and night, then it turned off warm until April 25th, when it commenced to rain turning into snow until Friday. There was about two feet snow on the ground, but it was all gone by yesterday. Denver is partly surrounded by mountains and you can look on the mountains and see snow on the peaks any old time. Denver is a very small place compared with Wayne, about 185,000 to 190,000 population and from ten to twelve miles through it, so you see what a big spot Wayne would make dropped in it. We live three miles from the Union depot and one block from the street car line. We erected a fine, large house—three bed rooms, a parlor, sitting room, dining room and kitchen all in one room 14 x 20. The floor and three feet of the walls are lumber and the balance of the walls and the roof are canvas. But we are enjoying ourselves nicely. A house like we have here will rent for $8 per month, and to show you what rent is like my property that I sold in Wayne would rent for $40 per month, but while rent is high we make it back on other things. I can get 50 cents per hour and eight hour days in plumbing. Potatoes are from $1.15 to $1.35 per hundred pounds, eggs 25c per dozen, butter 20c to 30c per pound, the best grade of flour $1.15 per sack or $2.25 per hundred pounds, delivered to any part of the city. Strawberries have been 15c per box for a week and peaches get as low as 50c per box, and all kinds of vegetables at half what they are in Wayne brought to your door every day. The one big item is coal, soft $4 to $5 per ton, delivered, hard $8.50 delivered. So you see it is just about as cheap to live here as down there, except the water you drink. There are several millionaires here that own the water works and they come around every six months and you simply hold up your hands and they go into your pockets and take all you have. For an example J. T. Bressler's house, barn and lawn would cost him about $55 a year and my old place house and lawn about $30 a year. So you can see that water is cheap. The water comes from the mountains and runs down to their plumbing stations and they pump it to your house. It is fine water. Common laborer from $1 75 to $2 25, eight, nine and ten hours; plumbers 50c to 75c, eight hours; carpenter $2 50 to $3 60, eight hours; paper hangers $4 40, for eight hours; brick masons $4 to $5, eight hours. Every body building inside of three to five miles of the central part of Denver has to build of brick as the fire ordinance extends out that far. There is lots of building going on all the time. Every body seems to think that there will be quite a boom from San Francisco this year on account of the earthquake. There have been great numbers of them go through Denver. One day last week they fed 700 people from Frisco at the Union depot, and sent for more grub for the next day. A great many of them were very scantily dressed, but the people here dug up generously in many ways. There was one theatre company came from Frisco and got out one day and sold paper from 12 to 1 o'clock and sold $185 50 worth of paper, they never made any change with anybody, but kept all that was handed them. Well, I guess I have told all I know at present, will write more when we get out and see some of the sights.

Yours truly,
FRANK HOOD.

Mrs. J. W. Carroll, a popular young woman of Carroll, died suddenly last week, the remains being taken to Matritias, Ia., for burial, accompanied by the heart-broken husband, deceased's mother and John Mellock. Mrs. Johnson had been in Wayne only a few days previous to her death, doing some shopping and preparing for a visit to her home in Iowa. She was married less than two years ago, and she and her husband had just made a new home for themselves at Carroll, when death entered and took away the wife.

Johnson on Freight Rates.

(From Sioux City Tribune.)

To the Editor of the Tribune: There is to my mind no more entertaining spectacle in present day politics than the loud and blustering opposition of the railroads and railroad senators to the "Dolliver-Hepburn railroad rate bill," when one considers that this bill after all leaves the conditions in regard to the rate making practically where they are at present. One is tempted to believe that this apparent opposition is merely to fool the people into believing it is something it really is not; a radical change in railroad rate making.

One of the most crying outrages in railroad rates has been the long and short haul discrimination. Is there any sense, for instance in the coal rates from Rock Springs, Wyo., to North Platte, Neb., being $1.00 per ton more than from Rock Springs to Omaha, when Omaha is twice the distance over the same line of road? Or, is there any sense in the rate on sugar from San Francisco to Omaha being about 60 cents per hundred less than to North Platte, when North Platte is about 300 miles shorter haul? Or take Fort Dodge, Iowa, on sugar from Chicago as compared to the same commodity shipped from Chicago to Sioux City or Omaha from the same place. Or take the rate from Chicago to Spokane and the rate from Chicago to Seattle; the latter place having a rate so much below that of the former over the same line of railroad that Seattle merchants can pay freight on their merchandise received from Chicago back to Spokane, clear across the state of Washington, and still compete with Spokane merchants in price and profits. In fact the long and short haul of discriminations are as numerous as most as there are cities in the union, and yet the patient people say nothing, but pay the bill.

The one excuse, "waterway terminals," which is made for this discrimination, is about as thin as the liquid ozone that permeates some of the railroad stock. How, for instance, would San Francisco proceed to get sugar into Omaha or Sioux City by water? Just think of it in a moment. A cargo of sugar is started from San Francisco by water to Sioux City! Would it ever arrive, and when, and how and would it be cheaper than the taking of a trainload by rail, which would consume but eight or ten days. When flying machines have been perfected the rates will have to be adjusted to meet "air competition" I suppose. The whole thing has a tendency to give one a touch of that tired feeling whenever one thinks of our people, our railroads and of the patient people who pay the freight. Respectfully,
N. H. Johnson,
Wayne, Neb., April 22, 1906.

Clem Almspa Disappears.

Friends of Clem Almspa are wondering what what has become of that gentleman, as he has not been seen since last Monday afternoon. Clem has been working for Frey Bros., butchers, and was let out of his job owing to a sale of the shop to W. J. Breslin. Mrs. Almspa and little girl are left here, and the DEMOCRAT understands, in practically destitute circumstances, and it is said they do not know where Mr. Almspa has gone. Clem was a clever and apparently good sort of a fellow, and it is probable he has simply gone in search of a job somewhere.

Calendars For 1907.

The DEMOCRAT wishes to impress upon the minds of Wayne merchants and business men that this office is in the calendar business. From now until late in the fall traveling agents will call on you to sell your calendars for next fall, and we are reasonably certain that these agents will receive a few orders. It is a peculiar fact that some men would rather patronize strangers than the home printers, the same as other people prefer to patronize the catalogue houses. For next year we have got the finest line of samples ever exhibited, and we will be able to sell them for a great deal less money than the agents can sell them and make expenses. The distribution of calendars the first of the year is becoming more popular each year, and it affords an inexpensive way to remember your friends. Do not fail to see our samples before placing an order.

Storz
IN Storz Beer we guarantee you purity. It's use promotes good health and true temperance. Keep a case of it in your home.

DEEPER AND DEEPER.

Figures given publicly by State Treasurer Mortenson show that the debt borne by the state of Nebraska has been constantly increasing during the past five years of unexampled prosperity. The question naturally arises: "If the republicans cannot keep the state out of debt in a time of great prosperity, what would happen if the country should meet another era of financial depression, or hard times?" The easiest way to answer this question will be to run back over the record, a record which will show that the chief occupation of the republican party during all the years of its power in Nebraska has been to plunge the state deeper and deeper into debt. Discussing this matter, the Hastings Democrat offers some comment worthy the serious consideration of every man who hopes to live to see the day when an honest effort will be made to reduce the state debt. The Democrat says: "Would it be possible for a republican administration at Lincoln to collect enough money to satisfy all hands, fill all the leaks, supply all the grafts and have something left to apply on the public debt? In forty years this has never happened. While the fusionists had full charge of Nebraska affairs a few $10,000 were paid on the public debt, depreciated state warrants were brought to a premium, taxes were reduced and the state finances were placed upon a creditable basis. The republicans then came into power, and immediately came an era of extravagance and profligacy, taxing and spending the public funds, shouting prosperity all the while, until the whole taxing bunch was red in the face. The increased state debt proves the truth of every statement made by the Democratic press in the last five years regarding misrule in Nebraska. The plain statements of fact, and the correct conclusions drawn by the Hastings editorial writer should set the people of the state to serious thinking. Prejudice should be cast aside, and the people should inform themselves on this serious topic. The Telegram does not ask that the statements of the Democratic newspapers be accepted as gospel. We know they are true, but in order to awaken interest in a subject which should be close to the heart of every good citizen, we trust that every doubting Thomas will make an examination of the official records. Treasurer Mortenson has published enough damaging figures to set the political chills chasing up and down the backs of the republican politicians. He will doubtless give publicity to even greater records of republican mismanagement before election day.

All of the while the state debt is growing, and all the while the people are getting madder and madder at the railroad machine in charge of state affairs, and nearer and nearer draws the day of Nebraska's redemption from railroad rule. Barum and Lincoln both said that you could fool all of the people some of the time, but both denied that all the people could be fooled all the time, and the people of Nebraska are getting ready to show the railroad-republican machine next fall that Barum and Lincoln knew what they were talking about.—Columbus Telegram.

Was Wasting Away.
"I had been troubled with kidney disease for the last five years," writes R. R. Watts, of Salem, Mo. "I lost flesh and never felt well and doctored with leading physicians and tried all remedies suggested without relief. Finally I tried Foley's Kidney Cure and less than two bottles cured me and I am now sound and well." During the summer kidney irregularities are often caused by excessive drinking or being overheated. Attend to the kidneys at once by using Foley's Kidney Cure. Wayne Pharmacy.

Columbia Blade: Hon. J. J. McCarthy reported, so his friendly papers say, when he returned to Congress, that he anticipated no particular opposition against his third term nomination. It's nice to have a sure thing and be able to tell about it. However judging from the impression which judge Boyd is reported to be making wherever he goes this "sure thing" like most other sure things may prove a poor tip to guess on. The hoodoo still follows McCarthy: What has he done?

Pender Republic: A certain man has complained that in a recent issue this paper published a statement that brought disgrace to his family. This man in question has been a disgrace to his family for the past 10 years and it has never seemed to bother him in the least.
That is always the case. The most sensitive (?) man in Wayne, on his family's account, is the dirtiest hog to his family—of all the shameless boozers in town.

Sure cure for biliousness, neuralgia, weakness and all stomach, liver, kidney and bladder derangements. A wonderful tonic. At Raymond's drug store 50 cents.

Pender Republic: C. A. McKim, state veterinarian, was here Tuesday and in company with Dr. Berg drove to the farm of Harvey Queen, three miles northwest of Thurston, where he killed five horses belonging to Mr. Queen and Mr. Peete that were afflicted with the glanders. A diseased animal was brought from Valentine last fall and had been running with the other horses ever since. There are thirteen more horses on the place and it is probable the other cases of the disease will appear among them. The horses killed had been driven by Pender and Thurston and indiscriminately sold to the neighborhood. The veterinarian will visit the farm again in a short time to look for other evidences of the disease.

Of Interest to Teachers

In order to familiarize teachers and others interested with the new school laws and the rulings of the state superintendent I take this opportunity to present a few phases of them. These no doubt will be of most interest to teachers. There are some important changes that are of special interest to school boards, which I will mention later.
State Superintendent McBrien in his circular letter of January 30 said: "We are now in the thick of the fight on the greatest crusade ever made for teaching much of few things rather than little of many things. We are fighting under the banner of the five essentials. No five branches of equal importance can be named in the common course of study."
Our campaign will force the high schools to give a thorough review of the five essentials in the high school. It will also force them to make thorough the eight grade work before promoting to the high school.
To encourage better preparation on the part of the teachers the following amendment to rule No. 10 was made at a conference of county superintendents: "All teachers who attend a summer school, approved by the state superintendent, all (last) six weeks, will be required to take an examination in "Reading" and one other of the five essentials at their own selection with the advice and consent of the county superintendent of the proper county. Six weeks or more of attendance at such a summer school and creditable work done in the other three of the five essentials, approved by the county superintendent, will be taken in lieu of an examination in the other three essentials. Such attendance will not be taken for granted in advance. There must be bona fide attendance before credit is given. All other (passing) grades now held will be certified to the state superintendent and made state grades, on condition of professional work approved by the county superintendent.
"Professional work" in the foregoing means: Doing the required amount of reading circular work, and meeting the requirements of the county superintendent in attendance at institute and county associations. A professional teacher is prompt in making out all reports, and furnishing to the office any data requested of them by the superintendent. Aside from this (imbed with the proper spirit) is always in evidence in any educational movement.
Rule No. 24 is as follows: Those who have never taught must take an examination in all branches required for the certificate desired; provided, that such persons who attend summer school, approved by the state superintendent, at least six weeks will be required to take an examination in reading and one other of the five essentials at their own selection with the advice and consent of the county superintendent of the proper county. Six weeks or more attendance at such a summer school and creditable work done in the other three of the five essentials, approved by the county superintendent of the proper county, will be taken in lieu of an examination of the other three essentials. Such attendance will not be taken for granted in advance. There must be bona fide attendance before credit is given.
Creditable work will be interpreted in this way: A written review will be given in each of the three essentials, based upon five questions selected from lists furnished the state department by the various approved summer schools. The grades obtained on the review and the class record of each teacher, after being graded and averaged by the proper instructor of the summer school, will be the grade to each teacher; provided, that such persons must be forwarded to the state department for inspection and approval by the state committee. They reserve the right to raise, lower or reject any grade obtained on such review for proper cause.
Under these and other rules the indications are that the non-professional teacher will be ruled out and none but the truly professional teacher remain, making it possible for them to do the best of the good they can do where the field cleared of the less desirable class."

Notice is hereby given that on March 17, 1906, Articles of Incorporation of the Weber Telephone Company were filed in the office of the county clerk of Wayne County, Nebraska, and that the same were approved by the county superintendent, will be taken in lieu of an examination in the other three essentials.
