DEATH'S HARVEST

J. J. W. Fox Dies

J. J. W. Fox died at his home in Randolph last Friday shortly after the noon hour. The demise of Jim Fox brings sorrow to his scores of old neighbors and friends in Wayne country. He was one of the "rightest" men among the pioneers of this section of the state. Jim was always open hearted and above aboard; in politics, religion and moral turpitude. He had a big heart in him for the dependent and unfortunate, was a man who saw humanity from all sides, shadow and sunshine, and entitled to the reward laid up for the best of mankind if not a pronounced disciple of any creed or church.

J. J. W. Fox was born in Marshall county, Ind., in 1848. He moved to Illinois in '61 and to Wayne county in 1873, settling on a farm three miles east of Wayne, where he resided until four years ago, when he sold his place and bought a home in Randolph. His mother, now nearly 90 years of age, bears up well under the strain of her son's death, and is still able to get about quite well. S. C. Fox, another son who lives at Randolph, was in Wayne last Saturday arranging for the funeral which was held on Monday.

The Odd Fellows had the funeral in charge, Monday afternoon, a large number of Odd Fellows from Randolph, Carroll and Wayne attending. Services were held at the Lutheran church, Rev. Ringer officiating.

Mrs. A. B. Jeffrey died quite suddenly last Sunday. Deceased had been in poor health for a number of years, but her death came unexpected by Wayne friends of the family. Miss Margaret Hermiston was born in Scotland, Sept. 27, 1836. Dec. 25, 1858, she was married to A. B. Jeffrey, and left Scotland, settling in Canada. Later, in '70, the family moved to Baltimore, and thence to Jones county, Iowa, in '81, where they lived four years before coming to Wayne county. Ten children were born to them, nine of whom survive the mother. All were present at the funeral except one daughter who lives in Baltimore and Mark who lives in Chehalan, Wash. Mrs. Jeffrey was one of the best of wives and mothers, beloved by all who knew her, and her demise is a great loss to the partner of her life and their children. She was a faithful member of the Presbyterian church, the funeral being held from that edifice on Tuesday, Rev. C. J. Ringer officiating in the absence of Rev. Osborne.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Thompson died last Thursday and was buried Saturday afternoon. The death of the little one, the first born, was a severe blow to his parents.

The babe born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brudigan a couple of weeks ago died last Saturday, the funeral being held Tuesday afternoon.

Tom Hays and his uncle, Alex Hays of Craig, left Saturday night for Boe steel, S. D., in response to a telegram that the former's father was dead at that place. Jas. Hays, deceased, moved to Boe steel with his sons Charlie, John and Beech, a couple of years ago. He was about 67 years of age and died of paralysis, having had heart trouble for a number of years. He leaves one brother and sister, both residing at Craig.

Later it appears that there was an error in the telegram as to Mr. Hays' death, but the old gentleman passed away Monday forenoon of this week. The remains were taken to Burt county, Neb., yesterday, for interment.

LOCAL NEWS.

Pat Coleman was in Norfolk Tuesday.

A. L. Tucker was a passenger to Norfolk Tuesday.

Harry Tidrick had cattle on the market Monday, finding prices ten cents lower than last week.

A. N. Matheny went to Belden Monday to put in the week there looking after his business.

Jas. Ahern accompanied Fred Remender to McLean Tuesday to invoice a stock of goods the latter traded for.

Prof. Snodgrass, now of the state school at Kearney, was in town Monday looking after his residence property.

Meister & Bluebel put out two fine buggies this week, one to John Kay and another, a single-horse, two-seated surrey to Dr. Wrightman, one of the newest vehicles ever sold in Wayne.

J. R. Manning went up to Carroll Tuesday to attend some business affairs. After a week or so about these diggings he returns to Lincoln. J. R. says that as postmaster of the senate he made more money the past winter than the senators.

Louis Needham and bride were arrivals in Wayne Monday evening, changing cars here and going to Carroll, and then driving to Winside, just to "avoid the rush" upon getting home. Winside parties here Monday said they would see that ample preparations were made to meet them any old time in the night. They were married at Emerson, Mrs. Needham being a very handsome young lady whose maiden name the DEMOCRAT failed to learn. Later—Mr. and Mrs. Needham returned to Wayne Tuesday, on their way home to Winside.

Dr. O'Neill was called up to Carroll last Thursday night on professional services.

Mrs. Cbas. Beebe was visiting Wayne friends last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Whalen were visitors to Sioux City last Friday.

A. F. Brenner of Minneapolis was in town last Thursday night.

Misses Lund and Huff were visitors to Sioux City last Friday.

A most jolly birthday party was served on Miss Hazel Fritts last Saturday afternoon at the home of Miss Belle Liveringhouse, where Hazel visited the past week. It was a "surprise" in every particular and a happy occasion the young ladies will long remember.

G. P. Hitchcock has been visiting his family the past couple of weeks, making a big delivery from the Arlington Nursery last Saturday.

Bills Turned Down.

The city council had a business session Monday night, attended by all save Alderman Gaertner of the 1st, who is ill. Bills for election expenses were all allowed, and also the following incidentals:

Nebraska Democrat, ptg.	3.85
Frank Powers, dray	2.90
Fred Hinrichs, rent	2.00
Wait Cook, labor	1.00
Jas. Lucky, supplies	1.32
Jones Bookstore, supplies	2.95
Julius Peterson, dray	8.85
L. Hogan	23.15
E. J. Raymond, sup.	3.40
Boyd Hotel, meter	17.00
Vincent Kinnie, boiler rep.	76.87

A large number of bills were "laid over" for future reference. Geo. W. Griffith donated one for $14 for labor, that none of the councilmen or mayor had guaranteed and which was objected to. Justice of the peace or police judge, B. F. Feather, had a bill of $7.40 for docketing cases of "Nellie Roe," "John Doe" and "Wm. Walker," et al, another of $7.00 for some work, all "colored bills," and still another of $29.15 for expense of the law suits he has had in behalf of the city with J. C. Pawelski, and which it appears to the DEMOCRAT the squire ought to stand himself since he had all the fun out of it, and the city none. A judgment for $133.70 in the case of Jane Dixon vs City also loomed up, but was quickly laid face downwards. The same fate struck another item of $2.75 in the same case.

The mayor appointed Aldermen Roe and Harrington to canvas the vote of the recent unpleasantries, after which council adjourned.

WEDS HIS SUPPOSED WIFE AS SHE DIES

Mrs. Thomas O'Brien Nods Faint Assent to Priest in Hospital.

FATHER IN EXPLANATION

Nineteen Years Ago Each Believed That the Merri Marriage License Was Enough.

St. Louis, April 9.—With none but the sisters as witnesses, Mary Main was married to Thomas O'Brien in the little chapel of St. Mary's hospital, East St. Louis. Seven hours later, at 3 o'clock yesterday morning, the same sisters saw her die, with her husband holding her hand at the bedside. To date she will be buried from St. Henry's church.

Mary Main was Mrs. O'Brien to the man, to the world and in the eyes of all but the law. For thirteen years she had believed herself married and O'Brien was proud of her and their seven children.

O'Brien is a railroad laborer and lives in a little cottage on the Union Pacific's Relay station, East St. Louis. He is 47 years old; his wife was ten years younger.

Thirteen years ago, both unfamiliar with customs and conventions, obtained a marriage license. This license was the equivalent of a marriage certificate.

Wife Becomes III.

Mrs. O'Brien became so ill one month ago she went to St. Mary's hospital, suffering from neuralgia, a bone disease, and day by day her condition grew worse.

O'Brien went to his priest, Father Wiemer, of St. Henry's church, and told him of his son's illness.

"She is a good woman, father," he said. "A good mother to the children, and I sense hard I have to lose her."

The priest consoled him. "The Lord controls us all," he said, "and I am sure you will be cured."

"What?" asked O'Brien, the mother of many children, "my wife cannot be cured? Of course she's my wife."

He was made to understand and vowed he would marry her as soon as possible.

At the hospital, Thursday afternoon, the woman lay still, as death. Her cheeks were as white as the pillows upon which she rested. She was conscious, but could scarcely rouse a finger.

O'Brien and his oldest daughter remained at the wife's bedside through the remainder of the evening and into the night. Desperately, the physician took a hand from the husband's clasp long enough to feel the pulse.

At 2 o'clock yesterday morning he felt for the pulse, placed the hand back gently in the husband's and shook his head.

Priest Reads Ceremony.

Father Wiemer stood before O'Brien, who stood beside his wife's bed, and read the service. The ceremony delayed just thirteen years. Mrs. O'Brien could hardly nod an assent to the questions.

The priest and sisters withdrew and the husband was wheeled back into the room.

Presently she closed her eyes and dropped into a sleep. As she slept the sisters noticed a more peaceful expression on her face.

SALVATION GIRL BEATS INSULTER WITH TAMBOURINE

Saloon Patron Offers Her $50 to Say Nothing and She Runs Away.

St. Louis, Mo., April 9.—Isabelle Woods, a 16-year-old worker in the American Salvation Army, complains to the police that a man embraced her in the saloon of "Cuddy Mack." She says:

"I was holding out my tambourine to the men when someone threw his arms about me from behind and held me. The other men laughed and the bartender seemed to think it was a good joke. None of the men offered to help."

"I didn't scream, but I put forth all my strength and wrenched loose from the man. Then I began to beat him off with my tambourine. I struck him in the nose several times, and at the same time held on the edge. I think the man followed me as I backed toward the door and seized the tambourine. I jerked it loose from him and several of the boys came off him and I am pretty sure off his hand was cut too."

"All of the men crowded around me. They didn't stop until I had backed to the door and got out into the street. The one of the men who was drinking with the man who attacked me, rushed up with a roll of bills in his hand."

"There's $50 for you if you don't say anything about this," he said.

"I pushed him away, but he held out the bills again and told me I could have all of them if kept quiet. I wouldn't listen to him."

NO BATHS IN TEN YEARS, IS SENTENCED

Cleveland, Ohio, April 9.—Judge Fielder, in police court, sentenced a man to a year and a half of confinement for neglecting his four small children, hasn't taken bath in ten years. Humane officer Poole told the court he had been working on the man almost every minor charge," the officer said, "and have tried for ten years to make him keep clean."

"Unwashed for ten years, oh?" commented the court. "I'll fix him so he won't be dirty for a long time. I shall send you to the workhouse with instructions to the superintendent to keep you there eighteen months and put you to light labor, and have you scrubbed twice a day during your incarceration."

GETS INCUBATOR BABY.

Wichita, Kas., April 9.—Today that Mrs. Charlotte E. Bleakley, of Lawrence, is entitled to the incubator baby exhibited in the St. Louis world's fair.

This upholds the decision of the circuit court of Illinois, that Mrs. Bleakley is the real mother.

It takes a woman to sympathize with her friends in a manner that is calculated to produce a feeling of genuine uneasiness.

EXCESSIVE HEAT WARPS GRAFT CAPITOL'S FLOORS

Washington, D. C., April 9.—How Houston, the half-million dollar architect, and Sanderson, the capitol "trimmer," worked together for the "limbing" of the $13,000,000 state capital, long before the building was finished, was a striking feature of the testimony before the legislative investigating committee.

Under oath, C. J. Hamilton, representing the manufacturers of parquetry flooring, told how he was introduced to Sanderson by Houston, and the subject discussed a year before the "limbing" schedule of 1904 was advanced.

His testimony refuted Houston's assertion that he had not talked to Sanderson about the capitol job before the project was advertised.

Fults' experts had insisted how his company was to "get it in the neck," how the parquetry flooring had been warped by excessive heat, intimating that it was part of the design to "freeze out" his concern.

Houston also gave instructions to the maker of the Moravian mosaic tiles for Sanderson's benefit, protecting the "limbing" of the floor, and the cost for which were sold for $1.02.

Fraud practiced by Sanderson in substituting Beaver county-made glass or imported barometer and liqueur for mercantile glass, was exposed by the take in the "Baccarat" glass, for which Sanderson collected $132,770.09, was exposed. W. B. (Tom) Stevens, general manager of the Tiffany studio of New York, was the witness. He swore that the Tiffany furnaces are the sole proprietors of the favrile glass, which was supposed to be used in the capitol's floor. Although favrile was specified, there was not a pipel of that glass in the building.

Mr. Thomas said that the process of manufacture of parquetry glass was secret and the name patented.

"Favreille glass can be obtained only from Tiffany," asked Mr. Scarlet.

"You'd never sell any to the Pennsylvania Bronze company to John H. Sanderson?"

"We did," said Mr. Thomas.

"Is there any favorite glass in this building?"

"There is none."

Mr. Thomas said that Baccarat glass is manufactured in northern France. He was asked if it could be obtained in America, and he replied that there is a Baccarat glass agency in New York.

The Chandeliers.

"Can it be used for chandeliers, for lighting fixtures?" asked Attorney Scarf. At the time of the hearing, his mother-in-law, Pedro G. Salom, who, trying to excuse the fake, declared that Baccarat glass was a type, and the imported glass was utilized only for tableware. Said Mr. Thomas:

"It can be used."

COREY LEASE IS MADE OUT TO READ "MR. AND MRS."

Owner of the House Stipulates That Contract Shall Be So Worded.

New York, April 9.—It became almost certain today that William Corey, president of the United States Steel corporation, will marry before many months.

An agent, acting for Mr. Corey, stated for a year, the home of Mr. James J. Keay, 309 West 46th street, Mrs. Martin would grant the lease.

Mr. Corey's agent willingly met this restriction and agreed to a sure induction that Mr. Corey would take another wife before moving into the Martin house.

Meanwhile, Mabelle Gilman is living in the Paris chateau.

TEACHER CURES GUM HABIT BY OVERDOSE

Mixes Quinine and Compels the Boys to Chew for Hours.

Racine, Wis., April 9.—Principal Edward S. Martin, of the McMynn school, put upon a novel plan to stop the gum-chewing habit among the pupils of the upper grades. It was heroic treatment, but Mr. Martin believes it has worked.

He stood a dozen of the biggest boys in the class in a row, in the presence of the entire school, furnished with a judge. Marshall, the principal, then told the boys that if Mr. Coreys agent would not do this, he would assured that by doing so he would save "Tenele" trouble in the courts.

"My real name is James Mathias Williams," he said, "I was born in Racine, New York City, in 1854. When I was a young fellow I worked as a Western Union telegraph operator in the old Philadelphia office and Atlantic Telephone Company. In 1882 I married Varina Christiana in a little German Lutheran church in St. Louis. My wife is the woman known as Mrs. Ross, and has been my neighbor, and friend ever since we lived in Rochester, N. Y., for a time, and have lived in several other cities."

Marshall, or Williams, refused to tell of any other marriages, but the detective found him to be a man of at least twenty-two matrimonial affairs.

The reason for the why principal had smeared a large quantity of very bitter quinine upon the gum supply during the noon recess.

"I didn't scream, but I put forth all my strength and wrenched loose from the man. Then I began to beat him off with my tambourine. I struck him in the nose several times, and at the same time held on the edge. I think the man followed me as I backed toward the door and seized the tambourine. HARRINGTON, Leading Clothier

WOULD MEET REQUIREMENTS

If a pure clothes law should be passed and pure clothes inspectors appointed by the government, the brands of clothing we handle would be found to more than meet requirements. Special honorable mention would be given us and the reputation of our goods would be immensely increased. Everyone would want to buy of us. But without a pure clothes law some stores will continue to sell sweatshop clothing.

Are you getting clothing of the best quality and style, and made in sanitary shops? Are you, for a fact? Or is it doubtful? There is no use trying to convince yourself that you can buy as good clothing anywhere else as we handle. It is useless to try to save money over the prices we ask. To assume that you get the service or satisfaction from cheap sweatshop clothing that you would get from our high-grade, "Best Quality" clothing, is to argue that right is not right and that value does not count.

If you had lived in the last generation you could have been more or less indifferent about the quality and style of clothing you bought, but in this day and age of the world you must insist on getting the "Best Quality," sanitary-made clothing and to do so you must necessarily make this store a visit before you buy. We would welcome a pure clothes law.

That Anti-Pass Law.

The World-Herald here reproduces entire one of the most heartfelt editorials that it has printed for a long while in the columns of its always enterprising contemporary, the Beatrice Sun:

The anti-pass law, as finally passed permits all to ride, on passes except the newspaper man. The attorneys and politicians and doctors will all be provided with passes, but not the newspaper men. This is as it should be. "Lead us not into temptation."

Colonel Marvin, we believe, has stated the facts with reasonable exactness. And the situation is not hard to explain. There were lawyers, doctors to take care of the doctors, and politicians to see that the politicians did not suffer. But where was the news paper man?

The newspaper men were all outside the legislature, and were all demanding an anti-pass law. The lawyers weren't demanding it; neither were the doctors nor the politicians. It was only the newspaper men and the other common people. And so the lawyers and doctors and politicians in the legislature kindly consented to give the newspaper men and other common people what they wanted, taking care at the same time not to force it upon others who didn't want it.

And that is why we have an anti-pass law with holes in it so big that the lawyers and doctors and politicians can drive through with a span of oxen—if the railroads are willing—while at the same time it shuts and bars and bolts the door against the irresponsible newspaper agitators that forced all parties to declare in favor of such a law and the legislature to pass it.

As Colonel Marvin remarks: "This is as it should be," so far as the newspaper men are concerned. For being delivered from temptation they will grow better, purer, happier, more independent, more a terror to wrongdoers. Who knows but that even the lawyers, doctors and politicians, when they note how the anti-pass law benefits the newspaper men, will yet come clamoring at the legislative doors for a new law that will deliver them, too, from temptation?—World Herald.

Ex-Senator Burton of Kansas, who went to jail instead of to congress past term, says he will now write when he is not talking, and talk when he is not writing. A Kansas paper says that was his failing before he went to the pen, in that he did both without thinking.

A Lincoln man with a grievance was telling a friend the other day that he would have "revenge." That was the chief burden of his communication. Somebody had done him a wrong, and he proposed to even accounts by doing him a greater one; thus securing principal and interest. An injury inflicted by way of revenge is a double back-action affair and hurts the one who does the deed more seriously than the one against whom the shaft of malice is directed. When a man deliberately plans revenge upon a fellow-man for an offense real or imaginary, he is looking for trouble and will find it at every turn of the road! For his own sake he can't afford to harbor the spirit of hatred that delights in an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth. Be not swift to take offense. Forget it; let it go. Life is too short to waste its precious moments in wanting to harm another because someone has inadvertently stepped upon your toes. Bixby, in State Journal

Somebody has figured out that while the profits of trade between the nations of the world amount to $2,400,000,000 a year it costs $5,000,000,000 a year to maintain the military and naval strength of the trading nations, and the worst of it is for Uncle Sam that his outlay seems to be largely displayed in quarters of the world where he gets little or no trade.—Boston Herald.

A Quitter.

Roosevelt is a quitter. He boldly declared one year ago that never should the national treasury be used to help out the Wall street gamblers. But when the gamblers needed government money for their gambling operations President Roosevelt permitted Secretary Cortelyou to carry off an offering of fifteen million dollars from the national treasury to the banks which are controlled by the gamblers.

And that is not the first time our good president has displayed the white feather. When he started out on his crusade against the railroad managers who were engaged in the criminal business of granting rebates to big shippers he said he would bide to the line, and let the chips fall where they might fall. But he didn't. He did have the federal courts stick a litte fellow here and there, but he never harmed a hair on the heads of the big ones. One day the lawyers connected with the department of justice told him they had evidence sufficient to send Paul Morton to jail for criminal practices as a railroad manager. Did Paul go to jail? Not much. He went into the president's cabinet.

On another occasion our good president said he would no longer permit corporation lawyers to sit as judges on the federal bench. But again he proved himself a quitter, and since that date he has appointed just such men as the railroads agreed upon for United States judges, including the notorious Senator Quarles of Wisconsin, and our own T. C. Munger, the ablest political manager on the Burlington staff in Nebraska.

One does not like to regard the president of one's country as a quitter, but one must so regard President Roosevelt. In no instance has he ever made good his pledges as touching Wall street gamblers or railroad criminals.—Columbus Telegram.

Eastern Stars Go West.

One of the greatest banquets ever given in Northeast Nebraska occurred at Randolph last Thursday evening, and was attended by ten members of the Eastern Star order from Wayne. The reception was in honor of the state worthy matron, Mrs. Winebrenner of Randolph. Heretofore this office has invariably gone to Omaha or Lincoln, or Lincoln or Omaha, and Northeast Nebraska felt so proud of the distinction that the ladies had to jubilate a little over it. The Wayne visitors say the Masonic hall at Randolph is furnished "fit to kill," and the banquet was "out of sight."

The floral decorations were magnificent, carnations being presented all the guests. The menu—strawberries and other southern delicacies—was a revelation to the Wayne ladies. About sixty-five visitors from surrounding towns attended the affair, those from Wayne being Mesdames Welch, Chace, Main, Blair, Marsteller, Roe, Cherry, Williams and Walter Weber.

As there appears to be a good deal of inquisitiveness as to "making a civilized voter" of the Democratic man we herewith reproduce a copy of the queries propounded to young truly by O. A. Grothe, the challenger in the "Bloody First" for the anti-saloon league. After asking all the following questions, to which he got a courteous reply, Mr. Grothe appeared to feel the ridiculous position he had placed himself in, and came to the conclusion that he was a "Jerkom" and not a "Fitzgerald" and that perhaps it was the place of the judge of the election board to administer the oath, which also was accomplished without bloodshed or even isolated feelings.

O. What, and questions propounded to W. S. Godde, a challenged voter, challenger at the city election of the city of Wayne, Nebraska, held in said city on April 2d, 1907?

Q. Do you solemnly swear that you will fully and truly answer all such questions as shall be put to you which touches your place of residence and qualifications as an elector at this election?

Q. Have you resided in this state for six months immediately preceding this election?

Ans. Yes

Q. Have you been absent from this state within the six month immediately preceding this election?

Ans. No

Q. Have you resided in this county for six months last past?

Ans. Yes

Q. Have you resided in the city of Wayne, Nebraska, for the three months last past?

Ans. Yes

Q. Have you resided in this ward for the last ten days?

Ans. Yes

Q. When you came to this city was it for temporary purposes merely, or for the purpose of making it your home?

Ans. Yes

Q. Are you now an actual resident of this ward?

Ans. Yes

Q. Are you now a student at the Nebraska Normal College and is it your intention to return to your parental home upon the completion of your studies at said college?

Ans. No

Q. Have you formed any purpose as to your movement after leaving or completing your studies at said Nebraska Normal College, if so, what are your intentions?

Ans. No

Q. Are you dependent upon your parents or anyone else for support and maintenance?

Ans. No

Q. How long have you been attending the Nebraska Normal College and when you commenced said attendance was such removed for the purpose of making your home at said college?

Ans. No

Q. At this time have you any future residence in view upon leaving the said college?

Ans. No

Q. Have you voted at any general or special election elsewhere than at the said City of Wayne, during the six month immediately preceding this election? If so, where?

Ans. No

You do solemnly swear that you are a citizen of the United States; that you have been an inhabitant of the State of Nebraska, for the last six month and of the county of Wayne, for the last forty days, of the City of Wayne for the last three months, and of this ward for the last ten days; that you have attained the age of 21 years to the best of your knowledge and belief. YES.

The above is rather a long rigmarole to print at this stage of the game, but it is a fair example of the tactics pursued by the anti-saloon league, as common horse-sense and "effectiveness."

One For Dan.

Norfolk Democrat: D. F. Neillor, the fearless editor of the Boskins Headlight, was in the city Monday between trains. Dan is a shoulder striker and has put the Harding Creamery out business, so far as selling stock in the institution to farmers is concerned, in his "neck-to-the-woods." If we had more editors of Daniel's stripe there would be fewer trusts and less corruption in this part of Nebraska, at least.

SUPPLEMENT.

To the Nebraska Democrat
Wayne, Neb., April 4, 1907.

PARTITION - SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

By virtue of an order made and entered by the District Court of Wayne County, Nebraska, on the 20th day of March, 1907, in an action pending in said court for the partition of real estate hereinbefore described, in which Eliza Cannon, Joe Casson, John R. Casson, Walter Casson and Mrs. Walter Casson, are plaintiffs; and William Casson, Mr. William Casson, Emma Craven, Annie Arkland, William Thomas Arkland, Charlotte Bridal, Joe Bridal, Alice Rainbow, William Rainbow, and the First National Bank of Randolph, Nebraska, are defendants.

Notice is hereby given that the said order will be carried out in accordance with the decree of the court of the Clerk of the District Court in the County of Wayne, on the 25th day of April, 1907, at 10 o'clock A.M., commencing at the office of the Clerk of the District Court in the County of Wayne, in the Court House in Wayne, Nebraska, and will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder the following described real estate, to wit: North East Quarter of Sec. Democrat $1 Year

BY DAD

Mad Sebald's theory would be good doctrine for certain Wayne people to follow. Fred puts it: "You tend to my own business, and I'll tend to yours."

Just learned the other day that Herman Milder was going to take a job counting boards for R. Philco, had the town gone dry. By dad, we'd all voted no license had we known so much before election.

Down in the "Bloody First," Editor Goldie was called to account when he came to cast his ballot, on the ground that he was born in Canada and had never taken out his naturalization papers—Wayne Herald.

Thanks, awfully, for the information as to what the "ground" was, as no intimation of such a deep, dark plot was given until gleaned from your valuable paper. I presume that where a chap is born in the United States, graduated from the Wayne High school, carries a diploma from the Nebraska Normal College, gone to war to fight for his country; studied law, been admitted to practice the profession in the great state of Nebraska, entered the newspaper business, etc., etc., etc., and then is so densely ignorant that he doesn't know that a foreign born resident of the states can become a citizen without taking out "his naturalization papers," he is excusable for taking his inspiration from the peculiar individuals of whom you obtained the above very valuable information.

A maiden whose years were not tender eloped with a fellow named Bender. Her mother was mad,

It tickled her dad, And he laughed till he broke a suspender.

The Danish steamship company, Dampskibskasselskab Kjøbenhavn is said to have been put on the Supreme Court docket without the clerk having a brain storm.

An Oklahoma editor is said to be guilty of this: "How sweet is spring when the birdies sing, and the baseball fans and the 'also rans' commence to plan their annual plans, and the good housewife, with her head in a towel, tears up the home, while the babies howl."

Butler County Press: "A farmer living a short distance from the city in a moment of weakness the other day blew 25 cents at a millinery store for a spring hat for his wife. On returning he was so overcome with remorse that he went out to the barn and did the hangman act from one of the cross beams. The hired man happened along just before the curtain dropped on the scene, promptly cut the old hayseed down. He revived and apparently repented of his rashness. At the end of a month, however, while expressing his appreciation of his employee's act, he excused it by regretting the latter's extravagance in not untangling the rope instead of cutting it and docked him the price thereof! The hired man believes he cheated hell out of the meanest man on this side of its asbestos gates."

Manson Democrat: If any more evidence was needed to prove the real dirt in President Roosevelt's makeup, it was produced when he buttoned into the mayoralty fight in Chicago, telegraphing that he "very much desired the election of Mr. Busse." As a czar and autocrat, Roosevelt, the Texas Steel of the White House, has never had an equal in these or in ancient times. His buttoning in on everything, whether he is wanted or not, makes him the most contemptible bulldozer that ever rattled around in the presidential chair.

"See that name on that empty beer case?" shouted a drayman, at the depot the other morning. I almost broke my suspenders jumping sideways to get a glimpse of it, but I got it—the name. There are some prohibitionists, lots of them, who do not drink any kind of intoxicating liquors, but darn the rich cuss who can keep a stock of booze in his cellar and doesn't want to give a poor devil the chance to buy a glass at a time.

They had not met for several years, and greeted each other warmly, the other day, in a famous Wayne refreshment establishment, and just to show how time sort of plays the old nick with humanity it appeared awfully funny to listen to a short dialogue. "Let's see, is your shother-in-law living with you in Wayne?" "How's that?" queried the other man, very bashful-mindedly; "I mean your wife's mother, does she live with you now?" "Oh!" replied the quizzed, as though the subject was tiresome to him; "I've got a different wife now!"

At Sioux City Judge Oliver fined a saloonkeeper $850 and costs for violating an injunction by selling liquor on Sunday. The fine was later cut to $500 and costs. Good enough for him. There are a lot of men in the saloon business who would like to conduct it decently, and then there are a lot of other fellows in the business whom you couldn't pound sense into with Roosevelt's big stick.

The Topeka Capital says that Roosevelt will go down in history as "the Barnum of presidents." Well, hardly. He can't humbug the people all the time.

Rev. Hunt, co-respondent in the Bassett case resigned from the ministry and married the divorcee, Mrs. Bassett. Hunt certainly was a bird ofminster.

Pat Coleman returned yesterday from Norfolk where he visited at the insane asylum for the purpose of identifying a young man from Everett, Wash., a son of a client of Mr. Coleman's son, who lives at Everett. Mr. Coleman found the young fellow alright, and others. He says the first crazy man he met rushed at him, shook hands and called him "Pat," which filled the old gentleman with wonderments. I asked Pat if they, the inmates were very wild, and he facetiously answered: "Oh, I saw lots of people there who are more rational than yourself."

"What do you suppose will become of all these do-nothing boys when they grow into men?" asked an old man, the other day. "Well I wonder! Did you ever stop and think how many boys there are in Wayne who are not doing anything that will assist in making valuable citizens later on?" And say, this great army of young fellows who learn no trade but do an old day's work here and there and when parental support is cut off will exist from hand-to-mouth, or even fare worse, how many of them owe their poor bringing up to the saloon or its influence? If the people of Wayne who want to do real reform work will get busy on this subject of interesting the boys and girls in something more conducive to a grand life than loafing by day and gadding by night, they will strike a field much richer in results than trying to coerce hard-working folk to their peculiar and fanatical way of looking at conditions.

The most disagreeable proposition a newspaper has to contend with is the contemporary who, afraid to put any ideas or principles of his own—if he has any—into print, is continually clipping derogatory comments from his exchanges about his townsmen, or turning the column of his paper over to some revengeful cuss or cusses to do what the aforesaid alleged editor is afraid to do himself.

Relatives have received a letter from Mrs. Fred Wadsworth, Ashton, Idaho, on the E. Cunningham ranch, in which the writer says the climate is pretty tough. It was a boast of Mr. Cunningham that the beauty of that country was no wind—like we have in Nebraska, and Mrs. Wadsworth says the statement is absolutely correct, that they have to bury the cabin to the ground or the wind would blow the d—d thing into the canyon.

The WAYNE DEMOCRAT reads like a catalogue for a big brewery these days—South Sioux City Record.

Glad to learn a little something from the Record after having it discomode our exchange table for a dozen years. As there are now some 1400 people willing to pay for the "catalogue" at a dollar per, and more customers coming in every day by mail, team or auto, we're also glad to discontinue trading the said catalogue for your beautiful Record or seven weekly pages of plate and one of very cheap South Sioux City gossip Adieu!

The Washington Democrat tells of a woman in that town whose boast is that she has taught sixty terms of school and who still says "Havent."

A Lexington, Ohio, man claims to have a hen that lays eggs which measure 8 by 10 inches in diameter. They must be kin to the eggs John Hufford is offering to sell at $150 per setting.

Why should we think it is queer that women should be so fond of pet dogs and Teddy bears when we see the kind of men they can love?

In the latest North Dakota divorce the case was called at 8 a. m., and it was 9 before the fair plaintiff could board a train for the east to marry someone else. There seems to be a lot of unnecessary time consumed in some of these North Dakota courts.

Two or three years of good stinging hard times is what is needed in this country to bring both capitalists and laboring classes to their senses.

What will we do with ex-President Roosevelt? Forget him, of course.

Pearry, it is said, has found suckers to put up the $200,000 necessary, and he will start for the north pole in June. As his ship is named The Roosevelt he should have no trouble in getting it to butt right into the pole.

When the political combine gets that $5,000,000 distributed among the leading men of the country and the newspapers the price of print paper won't seem nearly so high.

Every application for a liquor licence should be published in the DEMOCRAT to make it a legal notice. The law is plain on this proposition; notices must be printed in the county paper having the largest circulation. The DEMOCRAT now so far out-steps all contemporaries that there can be no controversy over the subject.

Advertising gets about everything but a girl to do housework. By dad, the princess wants a girl and wants one badly or rather goody. If some young lady—out in the country would like to earn a fabulously sum of money and do it easy, here's the opportunity. She won't have to arise in the morning until the breakfast bell tinkles; she shall have the best room in the house; take as many afternoons and nights off as she pleases; get "comps" to all the shows; etc., etc. Now, please apply at once to the Mrs. By dad for the place.

J. C. Rundell has some cheap Plymouth Rocks to sell. J. C. sold two dozen to Pete Zeelen, the other day to be shipped to Sioux City. When the wagon went after the fowls "some cuss," as J. C. puts it, let 15 of the birds out of the box, just enough to even up a store account of ancient date against Pete. It was an unique way of collecting a bill, but J. C. is prolific in framing up—chickens.

Mike Dendinger is in town today. Mike says "I see your town went wet. Say, if some of these tack heads know as much about the prohibition towns as we travelling men who try to sell goods in them, they would quit that kind of foolishness."

Let's all shout for the Chautauqua.

Society Gossip.

At the meeting of the O. E. S. on Monday evening the following officers were elected for the coming year: worthy matron, Mrs. Kathrine Chace; worthy patron, Mrs. A. A. Welch; Assoc. matron, Mrs. Jean Mines; secretary, Mrs. Culler; treasurer, Mrs. Clara Ellis; conductress, Mrs. Julia Bressler; Assoc. conductress, Mrs. Anna Kohl.

The Bible Circle met with Mrs. Hitchcock on Tuesday afternoon the members turning out in time to fight the fire at John Sherbahn's residence.

This afternoon the Missionary society of the Presbyterian church met with Mrs. Nangle, reporter being given of the convention at Pender. In honor of Mrs. Funston, who has been efficient president for several years, the ladies took a bounteous supper and also presented Mrs. Funston with a set of sterling silver teaspoons.

On Friday evening Mrs. Lee, field secretary of the Home Missionary society, gave an interesting talk at the home of Mrs. Leisering to the members of the society and the Christian Endeavor.

The special services at the Methodist church increase in interest. Dr. McKaig will speak Sunday morning and evening. The morning service will begin at 10:30 instead of 10:45 and the evening will begin service at 7:30 to be preceded by half hour Epworth League session in the lecture room. Mrs. Beck will speak on Saturday evening. The colored singers render three plantation melodies each evening. Biblical readings are held every afternoon at three o'clock except on Monday and Saturday. Dr. McKaig is a preacher of unusual ability, having served the church in Minneapolis in his youth at a salary of $4,000 per year. To hear a man of such mature judgment and tact is a rare opportunity.

A Woman's Back

Has many aches and pains caused by weakness and failing or other displacement of the pelvic organs. Other symptoms of female weakness are frequent, long-drawn urination, irregular periods, dark spots starting before the eyes, gnawing sensation in stomach, dragging or bearing down in lower abdominal or pelvic region, disagreeable drains from pelvic organs, faint spells with general weakness.

If any considerable number of the above symptoms are present there is no remedy that will give quicker relief or a more permanent cure than Dr. Pierce's Patent Feminine Remedy. It is the most potent invigorating tonic and strengthening medicine known to medical science. It is made of the glycerine extracts of native medicinal roots found in our forests and contains not a drop of alcohol or harmful, or habit-forming drugs. Its ingredients are all printed on the bottle-wrapper and attested under oath as coming from Dr. Pierce's office. Entering into "Patent Prescription" has the written endorsement of the most eminent medical writers of all the several schools of practice—more valuable than any amount of non-professional testimonials—though the latter are not lacking, having been contributed voluntarily by grateful patients in numbers to exceed the endorsements given to any other medicine extant, for the cure of women's ills.

"I am afraid to employ any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for this well proven remedy or known corroborative, even though the dealer may make a little more profit thereby. Your interest in regaining health is paramount to any selfish interest of his and an insult to your intelligence for him to try to palm off upon you a substitute. You know that you are safe with me, business as usual," the article called for.

The Ignorant Farmer

H. Morris, the president of the Automobile Club of America, has on his hands some Long Island estate one of the finest chicken farms in the world.

At a dinner in New York Mr. Morris, in response to questions on the success of his farm and on his knowledge of chickens, said with a laugh:

"And yet I was as ignorant of chickens a few years ago as—as a farmer on his first visit to New York was ignorant of cows."

"Everything was fine," this farmer said, when he got back home from New York. "Everything was fine except the light. They kept the light burning in my room all night. I thought it must be a thief, and I could sleep on account of it."

"Well, Bill, why didn't you blow it out?" said his wife.

"Blow it out? How could I?" said the farmer. "The blame thing was inside a bottle."

He who loses his dog may lament, but not too much. Who loses his wife? He rejoices, but not greatly.

When it comes to a wife, one might think a wife was of more value than a dog, and we know that such is not the case.

TRED BACKS.

The kidneys have a great work to do in keeping the blood pure. When they get out of order it causes backache, headache, dizziness, languor and distressing urinary troubles. Keep the kidneys well and all these sufferings will be saved you. Mrs. S. A. Moore, proprietor of a restaurant at Waterville, Mo., says: "Before using Doan's Kidney Pills I suffered everything from kidney troubles for a year and a half. I had pain in the back and head, and almost continuous in the limbs and felt weary all the time. A few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills brought great relief, and I kept on taking them until in a short time I was cured. I think Doan's Kidney Pills are wonderful."

DEPTH OF DEATH VALLEY, CAL.

It is the "Lowest Point in the United States."

The United States geological survey has just completed a line of spirit levels through Death Valley, California, and to the surprise of everyone, it was found that the depth of the valley is not so great as was supposed. The final computations of the results have not yet been made, but the preliminary figures for the lowest point a depth of 276 feet below sea level. Bennett's Well, which is near this point is 266 feet below sea level. These figures may be altered by two or three feet, but the final computations are made, but they are probably not more than three feet in error. The geological survey now has elevation marks on the highest and lowest points of dry land in the United States.

It is a strange coincidence that these two extremes are both in southern California and only seventy-five miles apart. While they are one or two over 14,500 feet above sea level, Death Valley, as above stated, is 276 feet below. Before the Salton Sink, also in southern California, was flooded by the Colorado River, it contained the lowest point in the United States, a spot 287 feet below sea level.

Precious estimates of the depth of Death Valley based on barometer readings, and other physical figures varying from 26 to 450 feet below sea level. The level line of the geological survey is believed to be the first accurate determination of elevations of that locality that has ever been made.

FIND OUT

The Kind of Food that Will Keep You Well.

The true way is to find out what is best to eat and drink, and then cultivate a taste for those things instead of poisoning ourselves with unproper, indigestible food, etc.

A conservative Mass. woman writes:

"I have used Grape-Nuts 3 years for the young and for the aged; in sickness and in health; at first following directions carefully, later in a variety of ways as my taste and judgment suggested."

"But its most special personal benefit has been a substitute for meat, and served dry with cream when rheumatic troubles made it important for me to give up the 'coffee habit.'

"Served in this way with the addition of a cup of hot water and a little fruit it has been used at my morning meal for six months, during which time my health has much improved, nerves have grown steadier, and a gradual decrease in my excessive weight adds greatly to my comfort." The Holladay Case

BY BURTON E. STEVENSON.

Copyright, 1903, by Henry Holt & Co.

CHAPTER XI.

I UNMASK MY ENEMY.

Tirel mature asserted itself and took the full twelve hours. But I felt like another man when I left the house next morning, and was eager to get to work again. I had made two reports awaiting me at the office; Mr. Royce had passed a good night, and was better; the clerks who had spent the afternoon with him were still studying as you discovered nothing, and were continuing their search.

I picked up a time card of the Long Island railroad, and found that Miss Holladay's coachman could not reach the station until 7:30. I paid a call at Aspinwall, sought a secluded table at Wallacks, and over a cigar and a stein of beer, drew up a resume of the case—clear, the atmosphere as it were. It was time to call in outside help. I fancy to myself that I had made a good beginning, and I want to see what comes of it.

I shook my kindly by the hand.

"I like your grit," he said approvingly, "and I've confidence in you. I don't lack the courage that prompted the aggression. Only, don't overdo the thing, and break down as Royce has. He's better, by the way, but the doctor says that he must take a long time to get well again."

"Let me go on by myself a day or two longer, sir," I said. "I believe I'll succeed yet. If I don't then will still be time to call in outside help. I fancy to myself that I had made a good beginning, and I want to see what comes of it."

"I'm glad he's better. I'll be careful," he said.

I entered the store, and spent ten minutes looking at some neckties. When I came out again Martigny was just passing by. He stopped, cut and looked quickly up and down, his columns, like a man who is searching for some special item of news. Perhaps he was a reporter, or a man who had come to do some detective work in imaging that he was following me. I had no proof of it; it was the most natural thing in the world that he should be in this part of the town. He should want to get up straight, I fancy, to clear the atmosphere as it were.

March 13, Thursday—Holladay found murdered; daughter drives to Washington square.

March 14, Friday—Coroner's inquest; Miss Holladay released; mysterious note received.

March 16, Sunday—Holladay buried.

March 18, Tuesday—Will opened and probed.

March 23, Friday—Miss Holladay returned from drive bringing new maid with her and discharged old one.

March 29, Saturday—Gives orders to the coachman to bring his son to $100,000.

April 1, Wednesday—Gets it.

April 3, Thursday—Leaves home, ostensibly for Behar, in company with new maid.

April 14, Monday—Butler reports her to police.

"I am afraid to employ any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for this well proven remedy or known corroborative, even though the dealer may make a little more profit thereby. Your interest in regaining health is paramount to any selfish interest of his and an insult to your intelligence for him to try to palm off upon you a substitute. The Ignorant Farmer

H. Morris, the president of the Automobile Club of America, has on his hands some Long Island estate one of the finest chicken farms in the world.

At a dinner in New York Mr. Morris, in response to questions on the success of his farm and on his knowledge of chickens, said with a laugh:

"And yet I was as ignorant of chickens a few years ago as—as a farmer on his first visit to New York was ignorant of cows."

"Everything was fine," this farmer said, when he got back home from New York. "Everything was fine except the light. They kept the light burning in my room all night. I thought it must be a thief, and I could sleep on account of it."

"Well, Bill, why didn't you blow it out?" said his wife.

"Blow it out? How could I?" said the farmer. "The blame thing was inside a bottle."

He who loses his dog may lament, but not too much. Who loses his wife? He rejoices, but not greatly.

When it comes to a wife, one might think a wife was of more value than a dog, and we know that such is not the case.

The Famous No. 9 Deere Edge Drop

This is the show me planter. When we say that it is light, strong and durable, we mean it. There never was a planter put on the market that has met with the instant and lasting popularity as has the Deere No. 9.

You can change from hill drop to drilling without getting off the seat.

We do not take the back seat for any man on the corn planter question and are anxious to meet the man that has to be shown.

Our Correspondents.

Winside News.

From the Tribune.

After spending the winter at their home here in Winside, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McClusky returned to their North Dakota home Tuesday.

A new front has arrived for the Cherry building which the doctor will occupy as an office, and we understand that the whole building will be remodeled and fixed up in fine shape.

C. E. Shaw, the usually retiring and modest tonsorial artist is around this winter plying into other people's affairs to beat the band. He was appointed assessor for Winside which accounts for it.

A farmers' telephone company has been organized south of Winside with thirty members. A meeting for the purpose of paying stock subscription contrace is to be held tomorrow evening at the Kant school house.

Tom Prince bought the Peavey elevator last week, consideration $4,500.00 possession given the first of May. This includes several lots in the north part of town. We understand T. A. Strong will retain his position as manager. Mr. Strong has built up a good business for the Peavey people after he took charge.

Henry Asmus' father died Sunday morning from the effects of a cancer, which has been troubling him for some time. The funeral was held Tuesday noon at St. Paul's Lutheran church, Rev. Press officiating, and the interment made in the Winside cemetery. The Tribune extends sympathy to the bereaved family.

Hoskins News.

From the Headlight:

Ernest Behmer, Sr., left Wednesday noon for Wayne, where he will visit his daughter Mrs. H. Frevert, a short time.

Mrs. Chas. Jaynes arrived here from Iowa Wednesday and is visiting relatives. She is a sister of the Weatherholt boys and Mrs. Fred Zellmer.

Mrs. Joseph Dobbin left Sunday for Pierce, when she will go with her sister to Omaha. The latter will undergo an operation for a tumor, in St. Joseph's hospital.

Another big dance will be given at Wittsie's hall on Saturday evening, April 13th. Collins Bros. will furnish the music and supper will be served at Hotel Hoskins.

On last Friday a bouncing baby boy came to gladden the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Buss. Mother and child are doing nicely, while it takes the whole d-n street for papa to walk in.

Electron day, Tuesday, passed of very quietly, no special issue being before the people. A fair vote was out and was as follows: R. E. Tempkin, 28; Chas. Green, 13; H. F. Wittsie, 11; J. A. Huebler, 29.

The engine house is now down over the creek and we have a supply of water at present. Our hose cart and hose were taken out Monday and found to be in working condition. A more complete and adequate system is needed, and a standpipe and well are our only source of protection in the future.

What might have been a serious accident occurred yesterday. H. G. Wittsie was called to repair a pipe in the morning and having to fix the pipe slid down on the inside of the 15-inch tiling. When down about 12 feet he became wedged in the tiling and began calling for help. Fred Zellman, who was helping him, ran for help and he and George Weatherholz let a rope down and pulled him out.

For Hydraulic and cased well work see Geo. Wadsworth the expert well maker.

Mrs. Welch and Mrs. Madden and daughter Pearl spent last week with friends at Hartington.

Bo do not cause heart-burn nor affect the throat. Why? Because they contain tobacco; nothing else.

LOST—Ladies pocket book, somewhere near the Wayne cream station. Finder, please return to Mrs. Henry Giese or this office.

Fred French sold out his bank at Craig, giving up possession April 1st. Mr. French returns to Wayne to reside.

A few of the old soldiers surprised Tom Bell last Friday, it being the old veteran's birthday. Refreshments were taken by the guests and the party finished up with a "smoker".

C. M. Madden and John Welch left the first of last week for Alexandra, S. D., to spend the summer breaking prairie for Mr. Philleo. Mrs. Madden and Pearl will join them as soon as school is out.

Security Gall Cure will cure a neck or shoulder gall while the animal works as usual. It's an infallible cure and if you are not convinced come and get a package and pay when satisfied. Do not work the horse with an inflamed shoulder; he's too painful.

RALPH RUNDELL.

The remains of Dietrich Meyer, south of town, arrived here from Denver last Sunday afternoon. Deceased moved from Wayne to Denver some three years ago, being afflicted with consumption. The funeral was held on Monday.

Paul Hagman, who has been tailor for Henry Schorer, left Tuesday for Tekamah where he has gone into the tailoring business for himself. Paul is a pretty nice young man, making many friends in Wayne, and here's hoping Tekamah people treat him properly.

Pearl Bell, who teaches the Bush Union school, met with a serious accident ten days ago. She had given a social in the school house and after locking up for the night returned for something, stepped on a nail in a plank that had been used for a seat, the villainous projectile going almost through her foot.

Marshal Dan Maher of Carroll brought a couple of "show coons" to Wayne last Saturday and lodged them in the county jail to serve a three days sentence imposed by Justice Baker of Carroll. The colored company got into a fracas at the Carroll hotel, among themselves, and on the complaint of the landlord were arrested and fined $5 each or three days, and had more days coming their way than fifty lures.

Best In The County.

I have a fine, half section, improved farm, 44 miles from Wayne, very cheap.

R. H. JAMES.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to extend our sincere thanks to the friends who so kindly assisted us in our bereavement, the loss of our baby son.

MR. AND MRS. C. B. THOMPSON.

Drilling, Leveling and Laying Tiling.

Will order materials for you and give you estimates on same. Leave all orders for work at Fisher & Dickerson's lumber yard.

ANDREW SORENSEN.

One Dollar Cheaper.

During the one week of April 22 to 27 inclusive, the Lincoln Daily News will accept $2 from mail subscribers for a whole year to May 1, 1908. The regular price is one dollar more than that.

This cut price is good only during this bargain week and all you have to do is to mail your $1 to The Daily News, Lincoln, Neb., during that time and you will receive the paper until May 1, 1908.

The News does not receive any free railroad tickets and has cut off several traveling solicitors. Instead of paying out railroad fare, hotel bills and other expenses, these savings will be given to our subscribers direct by this big bargain offer. More things are being done this year for the people in Nebraska than ever before. The new deal seems to suit everybody who has not had some sort of a pull. The Lincoln News keeps in the midst of the fight and wants every man who believes in a square deal on its list.

At $2 for a whole year there is not a family in the state who cannot afford a daily paper. The News has the reputation of printing the truth and printing it plainly, no matter where in it is. It's the liveliest, snappiest newspaper proposition in Nebraska and if you become a subscriber at this cheap rate, you will stay with it for a long time to come. Remember the bargain week—April 22 to 27. The price will be $8 after that week.

Order to Show Cause.

In the District Court of Wayne County, Nebraska, in the Matter of the Guardianship of Edna Ethel Whitney and the heirs of Hyphen Whitney, Decedent.

Now on this 25th day of March, 1907, it being a day of the regular March term of said Court, this cause came on for hearing upon the petition of C. F. Whitely, the guardian of the estate of Edna Ethel Whitney and Jennie Gladys Whitney, minors, praying for license to sell the interest of said minors in the following described real estate, to
