County School Notes.

(By County Supt. Littell)

A Diploma of Honor was issued this week to Marie Stanton, of Dist. No. 52. Teachers who find it "impossible" to keep their school rooms neat and clean should visit the school in Dist. No. 31, taught by Gertrude Bayes and take an object lesson.

An error occurred in these columns a week ago relative to the eighth grader who made the highest average on the March examination. The article should have read Geo. Madsen first and Louise Wendt second.

Nine times out of ten the appearance of the hall of a school house determines the condition of a school room as to neatness and largely the efficiency of a teacher's work. If a teacher is careless about the appearance of the school house she is invariably careless about her teaching.

While visiting the school in Dist. No. 21 taught by Eugene V. Huckleberry we had the pleasure of noting the most substantial improvement seen in any school in this county; this improvement applies to both discipline and intellectual advancement. Mr. Huckleberry is a teacher of rare ability.

Prof. J. M. Pile will give his lecture entitled "Some Evils and Their Remedies" at the afternoon session of the teacher's meeting to be held the 27th inst. Prof. Pile gave this lecture at the Norfolk meeting and it was considered by all the strongest lecture that Prof. Pile has given. Teachers, school officers and school patrons should hear this lecture.

Parents desiring to take advantage of the Free High School Law should read in these columns carefully the instructions as they will be published from time to time. There is considerable "red tape" connected with the matter and we will try to familiarize those interested. Any additional information than will be found in this paper will be cheerfully furnished upon request. All parents need to do now is to see that their children, doing eighth grade work, take the eighth grade county examination which will be given during the first part of May, provided they did not take the examination given in March.

At the next teachers' meeting the subject of "School Grounds and the Preservation of School Property" will be discussed. In a circular letter to teachers and school officers, dated September 12, 1906, I said: "The condition of the district property in many districts is a matter to which I wish to call the attention of every teacher. If you would go with me into certain school districts you would be amazed at the wanton destruction of property that has been going on. In very few schools the furniture shows little signs of attacks by idle scholars, but in the majority of cases the indications are that there is need of some strong discipline along this line. It seems to me that the highest aims of the public schools is to aid in making good citizens, but if we allow children at all ages to sit under our very eyes and permit them to mark and mark the desks, tear and deface the books without making it an offense against school government, we are and ought to be, criticized for falling far short of the mark to which we are presumably aiming. Teachers, let us at least call these children's attention to the fact that it is a violation of our state laws to destroy public property, if we do not make it one of the gravest offenses that can be committed while the children are under our charge. It is not so much the loss of the property as it is the withering effect it has upon that little germ that otherwise might develop into good, loyal citizenship." I am more convinced than when the above was written that this is one of the difficult problems we have to solve. Some of our teachers have made wonderful progress toward its solution, while others have evidently failed to realize its significance. I am in hope that we have present at the afternoon session of the meeting in which this subject is to be discussed a few school officers who favor improved conditions along this line. A word from this source would add much to the discussion.

There is no reason why Wayne county cannot have the strongest force of teachers in her history for next year. With a few exceptions the work of the present school year has been very satisfactory thus far, but with a little weeding out of the unprofessional class, and careful selection on the part of school officers we can reduce the "exceptions" to a minimum. Too often teachers are hired because certain members of the school board know them to be a "nice young lady" without any knowledge of their ability to teach school. Often teachers make a success in one district and make a dismal failure in another, hence it is important that school officers know what their school needs and then hire a teacher who is strong in that particular point. It is very common to find a school in which the pupils are a year or more back in certain branches, and apparently there is nothing being done to improve the condition, if we mention the fact the answer usually is "I am doing all I can for them," which is no doubt true, but the best thing that could happen to such a school is for the board to look after that particular qualification in the next teacher. I wish to urge that school boards be not too hasty in hiring their teachers, unless you know them to be what you want, also to hire only those who have a valid certificate for the term of the contract, and expect they are from the Normal and expect to get a certificate upon graduation. In this case they should present a written statement to that effect from Pres. Pile and signed by the county superintendent. No permits to teach will be issued after the close of this school year unless it is impossible to get teachers without resorting to this.

I do not believe that a parent ought to attempt to dictate to a teacher as to how her school is to be conducted, neither do I believe that a parent should send word to a teacher that their children not do "so and so," but I do believe that every successful teacher needs the council of the parents in a great many cases. I believe that when such requests come from parents that a teacher should go, at the earliest possible moment, and show the parent wherein she is right. If then a parent insists that the teacher is wrong there are other remedies. As I have said before in these notes, the great per cent of trouble arising between teachers and parents arises because parents are prone to listen to childish exaggeration. Scarcely a month passes without a teacher sending a note to this office written by some angry parent; these notes are usually very emphatic and to the point. In such cases teachers should and most do bear in mind the common failing that all parents think that their children are perfect, and in a kind and reasonable way show wherein the said parent's darling has for once in his life failed to come up to the standard. Such dealing is as much as a teacher's duty as it is her duty to prepare a lesson. Not long ago a case of this kind was forcibly impressed upon my mind. A parent wrote a very civil note to a certain teacher about a matter that had been exaggerated by a child; the teacher instead of discharging a duty that would have been ennobling, stooped to reply in a most harsh and sarcastic way. I contend that such an act on the part of the teacher is a disgrace to the profession. I am ready and willing to assist a teacher in holding her "ground" in what is right, but in such an outrage—never. Altho this teacher invited us to publish the note I feel that I would fail in my duty if I allowed it to go into print without remonstrating. For such a thing to be hurried over the state, in all the educational journals would cast a blot on the fair reputation of our teachers. The short coming of this one who has evidently lost sight of the attributes of a true teacher ought to be an object to all.

Normal Notes.

Eugene Moore, of Decatur, visited with his brother Robert over Sunday. Dr. and Mrs. Heckert and daughter were the guests of Prof. and Mrs. Pile at dinner Sunday.

Miss Dugger and her brother enjoyed a visit from their cousin, Mr. McCame, of Carns, Saturday.

Dr. McKenzie, of St. James, visited his son and daughter at the College Friday. Mr. Rothleutner, of Cherry county, spent Saturday with his son.

Today occur the regular final examinations for the term. The work for this term has been very good in most cases and good results are looks for by the teachers.

The office force was busy Saturday enrolling the present students who will be in school next term. This leaves the latter part of this week for the enrolling of new students.

A number of visitors spent part of last week at the College. Among the former students who were noticed are: Walter Power, Misses Nellie Palmer, of Norfolk, and Hattie Benedict, of Norfolk.

Mrs. Pile and the ladies of the large dormitory entertained the ladies of the new dormitory Saturday afternoon at the president's residence. The dining hall Saturday evening was in charge of the young men who performed their duty well.

Mr. LaVelle, of Sioux City, who installed the heating plant, spent some time on College Hill Saturday. The cold weather of the past few weeks has made it necessary to keep the heating plant in operation the greater part of the time now.

Mrs. Chas. Beechel, of Fairfax, S. D., visited over Sunday with her sister-in-law, Jessie Beechel. Mrs. Beechel is the wife of Chas. Beechel, who was a student here last winter. Mr. Beechel now has a good position in a lumber and grain company.

Ex-county superintendent of Cuming county, Mr. Manning, spent some time at the College last week. Mr. Manning has given up school work as a profession and is now located on a ranch near Rapid City, S. D. Mr. Manning had not been to Wayne for some time and was surprised to see so many new buildings on the Hill.

At a meeting of the graduating classes Saturday afternoon, Arthur Anderson, of Concord, a member of the State Certificate Class, was elected president of the classes. W. P. Schneider, of Filger, was elected president of the Scientific Class, and W. L. Campbell, of Belden, has the same office in the Teachers' Professional Class. We were not able to learn the names of the other officers elected.

TWO MORE DEATHS

Another pioneer of Wayne county has gone to his just reward. William B. Slambaugh was born Feb 22 1831, at Blain, Pa., and at his home southeast of Wayne, April 13, 1907. Funeral services were held at St. Paul's Lutheran church Monday, April 15th, conducted by Pastor C. J. Ringer.

Deceased came to Wayne county in 1885 and has always been known as an honored citizen. In January, 1900, he suffered a stroke of paralysis from which he never recovered, but bore his affliction with the fortitude and patience of a true Christian. Two sons and a daughter survive. Robert and Ada of Wayne and Martin of Tacoma, Wash. THE DEMOCRAT conveys with the bereaved in their great sorrow.

John Swanson, for four years a resident of Wayne, residing in the east part of town, died last Monday afternoon after a long illness. Deceased was born May 3, 1835, in Sweden. Came to the states in '69, locating at Omaha until 1880 when he settled on a farm three miles northeast of Wayne. He leaves a widow and one son, Cedrick. Funeral services were held at the Lutheran church yesterday, conducted by Rev. C. J. Ringer.

We'll Excuse You.

Goldie says we have disgraced our calling as a minister by designating our contemporary here a "flannel-mouthed Irishman." Of course one wrong does not justify another, but if the President of the United States can rush in and call a man a liar it ought to be no great disgrace for a corpulent and pin headed preacher, and contemptible christian to call a man a mild name like flannel-mouth. —Pender Republic.

Life is too short for any person to waste time trying to raise chickens without chick feed. You will waste time and money if you buy chick feed that is not the right kind. Some merchants sell chick feed because they can buy it cheap and make a good profit, but such feed will not prove satisfactory to anyone raising chickens. We sell chick feed that we have tested for years and we know it will raise a larger percentage of chickens than any other kind. It costs you no more than other kinds. Why not have the best?

The Ben-Hurs will give a box social in their lodge room on Saturday evening, April 20th. The public is invited to join with us. Let the ladies prepare and bring the boxes and let the gentlemen come prepared to buy them. A fine program has been arranged and let every one come and have a good time.

John Hays was in Wayne Saturday on his way home to Gregory from the funeral of his father down in Burt county. John says Geo. Cook, now of Omaha, was an attendant at the funeral of his father, and that he looks and sings the same as of yore. Up in the Rosebud country business is more than booming—excepting for young Kortright who has recently gotten out of jail. John says the young newspaper man is regarded as a kind of a dambule, up there, and lacks judgment and horse-sense.

There was all kinds of big doings at the 250 lbs. avordupois and 700 lbs of jag, kept a couple of men very busy taking care of him until the train arrived, but they didn't succeed very well. Somebody phoned for the marshal and sheriff and then the train came in sight and it was even money as to whom or which would get to the depot first. Just as the two attendants had the big drunk as far as the car door, both pushing or pulling for dear life. Sheriff Meares arrived too late to make a catch. Then the news agent and Johnny Soules had a round-up, the former being called down by Walt Miller, who rightly resented the kid being abused, but it all blew over like the smoke from the departing cars.

THE DEMOCRAT understands that certain parties have been "blacklisted" recently, as to buying or imbibing liquors. That is no doubt a good move and there are others whose names would look well on that sort of a subscription list. However, the DEMOCRAT is better posted on where the boys spend their loose change than that. It is customary to blame the saloons and liquor sellers for all the devilment going, and the business no doubt warrants a lot of it, but the system of allowing certain places in town to run petty gaming tables will be found responsible for the lack of change in some pockets. Some years ago the city got a great reform streak and ordered all the cigar slot machines taken out of business houses, and about that time the card tables went in and they have been, as the "Wayne Issue" said of the saloons, "a booming success." The DEMOCRAT has no quarrel with the parties conducting these joints, but a system that will allow a pack of cards and a pine table to reap a harvest of three to five dollars per day is devoid of any redeeming features. Playing cards for cigars is just as bad as cigar slot machines, but paying "the house" a cash dividend of ten or twenty cents per game is gambling, under every provision of the law. The only method of eradicating the evil is to abolish all card tables from public places, and the DEMOCRAT puts it up to the new city administration to evolve this reform.

Well, it looks like a quiet summer, anyway, and Thaw might just as well stay where the grub is cheap.

The Norfolk News carries only 21 applications for liquor licenses. Norfolk must expect to be "damnd" wet.

A Sioux City man was arrested for allowing his chickens to run at large. Even in Sioux City justice is sometimes meted out.

Sam Davies tells the DEMOCRAT that Mrs. Mae Parker is to be married again very soon to a farmer. Sam of course is good authority.

Cleveland, Ohio, park police have ordered that women bathers must wear bath robes on the beach. Those policemen must be getting awfully old.

London alienists say they never heard of such a thing as "brain storm." They are so slow over there that such a thing would be impossible with them if it could be anywhere else.

men are not moved by the nobler impulses of humanity. The fact that White was a dirty beast made no difference to the New York jury, so long as he was also a brilliant man of money and society.

The Norfolk Daily News issued a special edition last Friday giving the Thaw verdict. The News is always "the news," and is second fiddle only to the DEMOCRAT which gave the "Thaw verdict" Thursday evening—wrong.

Printers, printers, booze, booze; they mix to perfection, and that mixing simply raises hell in the print shop. Our helper went out on a booze Tuesday evening.—Hoskins' Head-light.

Must have been "on a freeze," too. He was found slumbering in R. Phillips' manure pile the other morning.

A South Boston young couple were appointed for the fourth time last week by the addition of a daughter and not a son to their family.

"Never mind, Pat, she will marry a boy anyway," said the wife pressing her husband's hand.

"Yes, you've told me that before, Mary," said the gloomy husband. But I am resigned to it now. Marrying is the only way we are ever going to get a boy into our family."

The local telephone girls may be thankful that they do not live in a Russian settlement. Imagine a man going to his 'phone and shouting: "Hello! Is that you. Dvissaktvsv-atroelck?"

Cherokee Democrat: Swamped by the birth it was organized to promote, the American Birth insurance society has gone into the hands of receivers. The society started operations about two years ago and was intended to pay from $150 to $200 upon the birth of a baby in a family of a policy holder. Though it secured much new business the society was unable to keep up with the births it had to pay for. Here is another chance for Teddy to butt in and help this struggling infant out of the hole.

Here's a good story from the Cherokee Democrat, published in the prohibition districts of Iowa: A good subscriber at Washta writes me as follows:

"Dead Dad: I always aimed to pay for the Democrat when I paid my taxes, but my taxes were so d—d high I did not have a dollar left, so I just saved a dollar on a hat and a pair of shoes from Montgomery Ward & Co., so I enclose the same to the Democrat to keep it coming. Yours for Montgomery Ward & Co."

The colored evangelist had been doing the exhorting, according to an attendant at revival meeting, as related in "Temp's" the other day. The good colored sister told of an enthusiastic revival held "way down south" at which the white men got so full of religion they up on the platform and begged the colored women; the speaker then hoping for a spiritual demonstration that would make the Wayne converts color-blind. That sort of religious fervor might suit Col. Temple or jolly Joe Love, but, by dad, I don't want any of it in mine.

Manson Democrat: Two Irishmen met on the street the other day, so a recent story goes, and one of them asked excitedly:

"Pat, did ye hear th' news?" "Th' devil a news did I hear. Phwat has happened?"

"Th' pope is dead!" "Musha, man alive! Is that so now?" "An' who's goin' t' be afther takin' his place?"

"Well, th' paypers say 't will be some Eyetalian, but afther Teddy Roosevelt has been so successful in buttin' in an' havin' his way about iv'rything else, I'm bettin' that he puts some Protestant on th' job."

Roy (as well in Denison Bulletin: I visited the legislature the other day and found the 108 members of the house squabbling and debating over the bill offered by Representative Teeter prohibiting chorus and theatre girls from appearing in tights or in dresses that are less than four inches below the knee. Everybody there wanted the job of measuring the skirts, and because they couldn't have it the bill was killed. But it isn't much worse to have stage girls dressed in tights or short petticoats than it is to have a high priced lecturer telling you on the stage that the savages of Africa dress in cocoonut oil and it is a good way because then you can see what you get when you want a man. Teeter ought to include Geil in his bill.

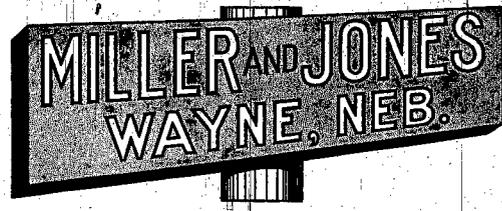

A spring post up in Minnesota jerked off this bunch: "The frisky lambs afield will race; and then against their mother brace, and while they draw the lacteal cheer their tails will stir the atmosphere. Ah, little lamb, enjoy your life, ere long you'll meet the butcher's knife.

The playful calf is full of glee and makes the cow moo anxiously. It soon will be subdued and quiet enfeebled by a skim milk diet. Ah, little calf, your stomach soon will be swelled out like a young baloon.

The bluejay scolds and chews the rag because the tardy spring days lag; the turkey gobbler's neck turns red, the hens are cackling in the shed, down by the creek the goose is found, she's laid an egg that weighs a pound. The crows are nesting. In the wood, the rabbits are no longer good, the squirrel, from the hollow tree, looks saucily down at you and me, but none of these knows what it means to fall up on a mess of greens.

The New Primary Law.

One of the most complicated pieces of legislation ever enacted by a Nebraska legislature is the new state primary law. Under that law every nomination for a state, county or district nomination must be made next fall. We have heard it said that this new law will prove a bonanza for the newspapers, but we have failed to locate the bonanza in any section of the bill, for nowhere can we find a sentence calling for any part the paper shall play under the new programme.
The bill means that Nebraska will have two elections each year instead of one, as the primary is to be conducted in the same manner, and under the same regulations practically as provided for general elections. This will add a great expense to the counties. To meet this expense the bill provides that every candidate for office shall pay to the county treasurer a specified fee for getting his name on the primary ballots.

When a voter goes to the primary polls to vote he must tell the judges of the primary the political party with which he affiliates. If some fellow tells the judges that he is a republican, altho his record shows that he has been in the habit of fighting his party ticket, he may be challenged, and required to take an oath which is
as strong as an oath can be framed.
Doubtful democrats can be challenged in the same way. The oath makes the man hold up his right hand and swear before God that he will support the ticket to be nominated by the party to which he says he belongs. A challenged person will be absolutely barred from voting unless he shall take such an oath. It appears to the Telegram that such an oath will be responsible for almost as much perjury as the assessment oath to which men subscribe in the presence of the assessor.

All good men hope for good results under the new primary law, but we fear bad results. If we may judge by past experience in politics men will not take the trouble to attend two elections each year. Thousands of Nebraskans are even now so lacking patriotism that they fail to attend the annual elections. We fear the result will be a complete control of nominations by the professional politicians than under the convention system of making nominations. By this statement we do not mean to be classed among those who oppose primary elections. We simply state a belief that this new law is so complicated as to make its benefits doubtful.

We are pleased that the law was enacted in manner to make men state their political preference. Under the law democrats will make nominations for democrats and republicans for republicans. When a man goes into the voting booth he will be given but one ballot, and that ballot will contain only the names of candidates before the party of his choice. Under the so-called "open" primary a voter is given opportunity to make nominations for another party with which he has not affiliated, and with which he does not intend to affiliate.

All men interested in good government should carefully study the new primary law, and endeavor to make its provisions known to others.—Columbus Telegram.

Chancellor Andrews is constantly bewailing the lack of honesty and integrity on part of university students.
He says there is a growing disposition
on part of students to steal their way through school. In his indignation the chancellor says, in effect, that a student who steals the answers required at the examinations is no better than a man who steals money. It is indeed strange that Chancellor Andrews should denounce the university students on charge of theft. Let him reflect a moment and perhaps he may discover from what source the students have drawn their inspiration to steal. Chancellor Andrews has forced those students to listen to his own high praises of John D. Rockefeller, the king of thieves, and perhaps it is true that the student has been imitating the Rockefeller in order to please their chancellor.—Columbus Telegram.

Madison Star-Mag. (Dem.): "He is going to make a great judge." It is the way the members of the Madison court bar talk of Judge Welch.

One gentleman was unkind enough to say that Judge Welch was appointed to succeed Judge Comes and that there had been a vacancy for a long time on the bench of the 6th judicial district.

No man can accuse Judge Welch playing to the galleries. There is no grand-stand in his make up.

It can be said to the credit of Judge Welch that he passes on his case while on the bench and not at hotels, depots waiting rooms and in the clerk's-office.

A year from now the people of this country will be entering upon an active national campaign. The way to achieve victory next year is to orga-injustice.

It is reported that J. Pierpont Morright.

"I am an honest man," says Mr.
Carnegie. It pays to observe laws that you cannot evade, but it pays better to buy laws that will enable you to acquire honestly—or legally—what would have been stolen. A lot before the law was purchased.

Mr. Cleveland is quite certain that the next campaign should be fought on the tariff issue. But if anybody

the tariff subject long enough to administer a "stinging rebuke."

Showing is Good.

President Dinmore has returned from the King Solomon Tunnel and is delighted with the showing he found. About a week ago while making an upraise on vein No. 2 a streak of very fine ore carrying high values in gold, silver and copper was uncovered. It is from six to eight inches wide where it was opened and continues to widen out as the upraise is advanced. Old miners who have prospected on Royal mountain for years are enthusiastic over the strike, declaring it is to be one of the biggest things in the district, and a good indication of what may be expected when the King Solomon tunnel reaches and develops the larger veins at depth.

The drift being driven on vein No. 4 is also looking very promising, says Mr. Dinmore. A large quantity of water is coming from this drift the last few days and pay streak is getting wider. The miners who are working on this drift say they expect to break into an ore shoot, at any time. Work on the new power plant is being rushed and as soon as it is completed these veins will be thoroughly explored with power drills.—Denver Daily Record.

English as She Spoke.

Do you speak English?
Well, then—do you speak it CORRECTLY?
How long has it been since you said "between you and I" instead of "between you and me," or, worse still, "between he and I," instead of "between him and me?"

It is not because you don't know any better. Of course not. It is because you forget. Still, you did not forget to wash your face this morning did you?

It is amazing how many people go through life smacking the English language (which never did anything to them) in the eye day after day. We know one exceedingly well-to-do professional man who WILL say "I do it," yet he is a master of arts from a famous university.

Suppose you take stock of your grammar. Do you use "the do not?" Then why do you use the expression "he don't?" They are the same. If you do not say "She am not," why do you persist in saying "She ain't?" Or why use "ain't" at all? Why do you utter such mouth-burdening sentences as "I would have liked to have gone," when it would be so much easier to say "I would have gone," besides being more grammatically proper?

Or it might be even possible that you say "you was."
And there are FIFTY similar little errors in our DAILY CONVERSATION.

If people judge you by your appearance, don't forget that they judge you by your grammar as well, and that all the high hats in Christendom will not efface the impression left by uncouth English.
Talk it over with your friends. You might even organize a Society for the Improvement of Our Friends' Grammar as well as Our Own. You will be surprised to find how much good it will do you, and then you can laugh at the reply of the illiterate streeturchins, who when told by a passerby that their mother was calling them, replied: "Her ain't calling we; us don't belong to she."—Daily News.

A Boon to the Hog Raiser

I desire to call your attention to the above hog waterer, which is valuable for you to investigate. It has been a long felt want of every prospective farmer to find a hog waterer that will NOT OVERFLOW NOR FREEZE in the cold of winter. The "Only" will fulfill your wants in every way. We guarantee it to do so. If not we will refund you the price paid for it. Come in and see it, and also get testimonials and recommends of our Wayne county farmers that are using the "Only" today. Space does not permit us to give you but one of our many testimonials:

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN—

I have been using two of the "Only" since last November and fixed them to run in winter and they never gave me a bit of trouble. I would advise any hog or sheep raiser to buy one. I would not be without one for three times the price. I especially recommend the "Only" for winter use.

Sioux City defeated Omaha yesterday in the first league game, 8 to 4.

Next Monday is Arbor day according to a proclamation by Gov. Sheldon.

D. E. and J. V. Francis of Hoskins returned this morning from Omaha.

W. F. Ramsey was the only brave man to come to town today with a sled.

Mrs. D. C. Reitz and daughter of Sioux City returned home Tuesday after a few days visit with her sister Miss Julia Sullivan.

The members of the Sodality and their friends were royally entertained at the home of Miss Margaret Pryor last Friday evening.

Rev. J. Kearn was in Carroll Tuesday instructing a class of children in that parish for confirmation which takes place in May. A class in Wayne is also being schooled for this ceremony.

The Minerva club ladies and husbands enjoyed a most delightful evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Mines Tuesday, a delicious four-course supper being served. Mrs. Myers of Lincoln and Mrs. Harker of Carbondale, Ill., were guests of the club.

The DEMOCRAT understands that the anti-saloon league is very busy these days fixing up a strenuous dose for the saloons, and that the league intends to play even for their recent disastrous defeat election day. Some time before election Beys, Horn and Osborne stated that all the league wanted was the "majority to rule in this matter," but no one who opposed their actions probably took that view of the matter. The scrap has ended so far as the DEMOCRAT is concerned, saloons or no saloons.

HOLDING THE SKIRT.

Did you ever watch a crowd of women as they passed down the street or stepped mindfully over a muddy crossing, and did you notice the many different ways they kept their skirts from trailing?

Some skirts are grabbed up awkwardly with both hands in a manner that may protect them from soil, but skirt holders do not do this to the effect. Others are clutched in a way at one side that when dropped again leaves the skirt trailing. Still others are held up by a long cord, which is caught up to the knees, just enough of a trail dragging to sweep a little path along the way.

There are many ways to hold a skirt, but the one that is certainly yet to learn the art of holding the skirt properly. Fashion women have developed the hold that is now so satisfactory. They lift the skirt high, displaying not only a trim foot, but a dainty heel, and they do this with a certain effect, is not, displeasing in the French woman. It is not for the American woman, who is not so certain that she lifts her skirt a bit high, the suggestion, dainty and chic, in the former, is lost and she only makes of her skirt an object of course, remarks and ridicule.

There are fashions in lifting the skirt as well as in holding it. It is not necessary for every woman to practice the different methods before a hand is laid on her skirt. It is possible, however, to hold a skirt in a certain way. The long clinging skirt that has an inch or two on the ground all the way around, with a decided train in the back, is a different thing from the full skirt with its numerous pleats and folds. No set rule can be given, but it is a matter that is a difficult subject for as plenty of practice before a mirror large enough to see the whole effect.

Grace is, or should be, the foundation of holding up the dress. When clutched in the hand, it is a matter of fact to hold it up, or if the shoulder is raised and the arm thrown out in some angular position, the effect cannot be good.

Actresses, that is most actresses, understand the management of a long skirt, and they are certainly not the graceful movements across the stage by those women whose gowns generally trail round the feet, but who, however, they are living, they can later on be practiced in the privacy of one's own dressing room.

It happened during a smallpox scare. No child could go to school unless vaccinated, and the teacher had gone around the room asking all the children if they had been vaccinated. She looked around to see if she missed any one and saw that she had missed a small boy in the corner. So, she went over to him.

"William, have you been vaccinated?"

"Yes, ma'am," he replied, "I've been vaccinated."

"And then, what?"

"I've been vaccinated."

The Right Remedy.

The late Bishop Seymour of Illinois was remarkable for the power and beauty of his sermons. A Springfield man said of him: "At an Easter celebration in one of our churches Bishop Seymour and a half dozen laymen were present."

"One of those divines, a stern, stately old fellow, with white hair, told Bishop Seymour in my hearing that whenever anyone went to sleep in his church the sexton had orders to go and wake the man up."

"Bishop Seymour smiled."

"Wouldn't it be better," he said, "when anyone goes to sleep under your preaching, that you should have orders to come and wake you up?"

Stubb—That wealthy Mrs. Glider learning to hold up a mannequin! Why, I am sure, she is a mannequin!

Stubb—"Nothing remarkable. You see, her husband has been patronizing a professional lady mannequin and Mrs. Glider can't bear to think of any other woman holding his hands."

NERVOUS PROSTRATION CURED BY DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS.

By Toning up the Blood and Nerves Patients Recovered Strength and Good Spirits.

When the nervous system is broken down from overwork, or whatever cause, life loses its joys. Not only is the nervous system a sufferer himself but he is usually a trial to the whole family. Nervous breakdown is a common ailment, appearing at first to be merely a usual fretfulness. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills tone up the nerves in the most effective manner and cure minor troubles but in more serious cases, Mr. W. W. Munroe, of 16 Hazel Park, Everett, Mass., says: "About four years ago this September I became all run down from overwork and was confined to my room for several weeks. For two months I grew steadily worse. I lost in weight and strength and had no appetite. My memory failed me quite frequently and I became very nervous. I took no interest in life, neither in business nor recreation. In my position, as foreman in a large manufacturing concern, this established my nervous condition. My memory is absolutely essential to my success because of the immense amount of detail that must be carried in the head. I grew very despairing, could not get any sleep, and my whole system was in a state of nervous prostration. About the middle of December a friend took me one day that he had tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and found them reliable. I commenced taking them at the end of two weeks of change. The letter was remarkable by friends. I continued using the pills until I was thoroughly recovered. I regard them as the best medicine I have ever used. I voluntarily give in gratitude for the benefit I received from them."

FANS FOR SUMMER DAYS.

The newest little fans, copies from ancient models, are, as a rule, of the shape of a fan, and are made of paper, silk, or other material, and are painted in various designs. They are very useful and are also good for decoration. They are made in various sizes and are very popular for summer days.

How It Happened.

"If you will please permit me to specify a word or two, Pabson," respectfully said a girl who had entered a chambermaid's office before the beginning of a sermon, "I'll take pleasure in disambiguating and sifting your information. I regret that he can't be wily up all, as expected, uh-kaze why, he's dead."

"Muh name is Magoon-Brudner, Looze Magoon, or Magoon, call it, turn over boyant Mounville; and de eldahn descended upon mah household yiste-day, and waz a very fine, squishy pader, baked chad chud mize pie for dinner, and somehow or nudder, in her zeal, muh wife—like a lady as dar in de land, too—she took and anonomously put boss into meast stid brandy into de mizec mut, and it killed de eldahn plumb dead. 'Twas a sorrowful loss, and mah mizec mut, and I s'posed all de rest of us wuz de eldahn's mizec-walkin' on de glory-ill hills of immortality had in hand wile de eldahn is 'twain' in de state of de eldahn's man beat us to dat 'ar pie. Yass!—he beat us to 'em, ladies and gentlemen, I thank yo' for yoh attentness!"

Not the Student Type.

Upton Sinclair, during a recent reunion of Columbia students, said that he had been in athletics to once exerted a harmful influence on undergraduates.

"When I was in Chicago," Mr. Sinclair said, "making holes for the Jungles, I knew an old lodging-house keeper, and one night the old man said to me suddenly: 'Do you know, I don't believe that there student who has taken my fourth floor back is a student at all.' 'Why not?' said I. 'He studies too much,' said the old man."

Canadian Government FREE FARMS.

Over 100,000 American farmers who have settled in Canada in the last few years testify to the fact that Canada is, beyond question, the greatest farming land in the world.

Over Ninety Million Bushels of wheat from the harvest of 1920, means good money for the farmer. Western Canada, where wheat farming is also profitable, has a large surplus of wheat. The Canadian Government is now offering free farms to American farmers who wish to settle in Canada. For more information, write to the Canadian Government, Ottawa, Canada.

WASHINGTON'S NEW UNION STATION A GREAT PLANT.

Washington, D. C. Special: Great interest centers here now being built in this city. To the new station to the nation's capital, the city, no doubt, seems slow, but to the occasional visitor great changes are apparent. The close of 1907 should see practically all of the remaining work completed. Most of the walls and piers, which for a time stood with their summits thirty to thirty-five feet above the surrounding ground, and which were so confusing to the public, are now surrounded by a partly completed building, which, from an architectural standpoint, gives promise of rivaling in beauty, when completed, the best modern examples of classic architecture.

This mammoth work is being done by the Washington Terminal company, which is jointly owned by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company and the Pennsylvania Railroad company.

Large figures, are applicable not only to the materials moved or used in this work, but to the finished product as well. The new house alone, 220 feet by 820 feet, covers 140,000 square feet, or 3 1/2 acres, while the concourse, 120 feet by 220 feet, covers an area of about 2 1/2 acres. The general waiting room, 130 feet by 220 feet, will cover two-thirds of an acre, itself being arranged on the average city station. In addition to this room there are the usual other rooms found in a big city railroad station, including dining room, lunch room, ticket office, toilet rooms, etc.

The space which will be occupied by the fourth-floor shops and engine yard, will approximate 55 acres; the space covered by the coach yard, proper, 10 acres; the space covered by the coach and train yards, 5 acres; the train yard, which will occupy the space between the north line of the concourse and the south line, will cover 10 acres; the space occupied by the station and a portion of the plaza, between the north line of the concourse and the north side of Massachusetts avenue, 9 acres—making a total of 160 acres occupied by the new terminal improvements in Washington.

REVIVAL OF COTTON CARRYING TRADE.

Receipts at New Orleans by River the Largest in Great Many Years.

Whether it is done unintentionally or with purpose, little remarks are in the end what count. Just a word dropped here or a word dropped there sets one to thinking, perhaps, and it is not long before the word has become a proverb. It is natural for a dog to growl over his dinner, but a man doesn't always have the same excuse.

ported back to the river, as they have observed that while there has been a great cry about the shortage of cars, and that the shortage has been much less noticeable at points where the railroads are in competition with the river, the latter has been hurried back to his door.

It is in business associations that an untimely or ill-willed remark does the harm. Many a man and woman have lost positions simply because of a remark made by some one who would have been horrified had he known that such a grave charge lay at his door.

Not long ago a woman remarked to a man who was sitting at a table in a restaurant, "You are a very unkind and thoughtless remark against business associates."

Unkind and Thoughtless Remarks Against Business Associates Have Weight.

CHILDREN'S APPAREL.

There is no very radical change in the pretty fashions for young folks this season. The prevailing styles are those prevailing to a great extent, and the becoming convenience of the pleated dress, which is made in one, in two, or three pieces, is still the favorite variety. You should study the juvenile dresses made in this style, for they are made in countless ways, all neat and attractive.

A dress suitable for a child of 12 years is fitted at the shoulders, while the front and back portions are cut in a graceful in folds, being held in place with a narrow belt. Practically the same style is worn by the younger child, the little boy, and the so-called one-piece dress will be worn throughout the season.

The checked fabrics are neat for children, and look well with tab yokes, which may be carried down the front of the waist, with the sleeves cut in a match. Few long sleeves are worn by young folks, which will be a saving on lace yokes, embroidery ones, and those of dress material are very stylish. There is a very nice juvenile dress for a young girl made in the blouse effect, with a very high collar, which is of blue madras, having the sailor collar, puffs and belt of finest Swiss lace, which is very nice. The material is all made separate, especially the pink, red or checked materials, though not necessarily on blue.

ROMANIC DEVONSHIRE.

The Land Made Famous by Philpotts' Novels.

Philpotts has made us familiar with romantic Devonshire, in his fascinating novels, "The River," "Children of the Mist," etc. The characters are very human; the people there drink coffee with the same relish as elsewhere. A writer at Rock House, Orchard Hill, Bideford, North Devon, states: "For 30 years I drank coffee for breakfast and dinner, but some 5 years ago I found that it was producing indigestion and heart-burn, and was making me restless at night. These symptoms were followed by brain fog and a sluggish mental condition. When I realized this, I made up my mind that to quit drinking coffee and having read of Postum, I concluded to try it. I had it carefully made, according to directions, and found to my agreeable surprise at the end of a week, that I no longer suffered from either indigestion, heartburn, or brain-fog, and that I could drink it at night and secure restful and refreshing sleep. Since that time we have entirely discontinued the use of the old kick of coffee, growing fonder and fonder of Postum as time goes on. My digestive organs certainly do their work much better now than before, a result due to Postum Food Coffee, I am satisfied. As a table beverage we find (for all the members of my family use it) that when properly made it is most refreshing and agreeable, of delicious flavor and aroma. Vigilance is, however, necessary to secure this, for unless the servants are watched they are likely to neglect the thorough boiling which is most healthful. Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the little book, "The Postum Way to Well-being," in pkg. "There's a reason."

A writer at Rock House, Orchard Hill, Bideford, North Devon, states: "For 30 years I drank coffee for breakfast and dinner, but some 5 years ago I found that it was producing indigestion and heart-burn, and was making me restless at night. These symptoms were followed by brain fog and a sluggish mental condition. When I realized this, I made up my mind that to quit drinking coffee and having read of Postum, I concluded to try it. I had it carefully made, according to directions, and found to my agreeable surprise at the end of a week, that I no longer suffered from either indigestion, heartburn, or brain-fog, and that I could drink it at night and secure restful and refreshing sleep. Since that time we have entirely discontinued the use of the old kick of coffee, growing fonder and fonder of Postum as time goes on. My digestive organs certainly do their work much better now than before, a result due to Postum Food Coffee, I am satisfied. As a table beverage we find (for all the members of my family use it) that when properly made it is most refreshing and agreeable, of delicious flavor and aroma. Vigilance is, however, necessary to secure this, for unless the servants are watched they are likely to neglect the thorough boiling which is most healthful. ### ROMANIC DEVONSHIRE.

The Land Made Famous by Philpotts' Novels.

Philpotts has made us familiar with romantic Devonshire, in his fascinating novels, "The River," "Children of the Mist," etc. The characters are very human; the people there drink coffee with the same relish as elsewhere. A writer at Rock House, Orchard Hill, Bideford, North Devon, states: "For 30 years I drank coffee for breakfast and dinner, but some 5 years ago I found that it was producing indigestion and heart-burn, and was making me restless at night. These symptoms were followed by brain fog and a sluggish mental condition. When I realized this, I made up my mind that to quit drinking coffee and having read of Postum, I concluded to try it. ### CEREUS RARE NO MORE.

It's an Ordinary Thing to Have Night Blooming Cereus Plants in the Home.

"This, the Skirt!"

"Yes."

"We have one of those rare, beautiful, night blooming cereus plants. Wouldn't you like to send somebody out to see it?"

"Nearly every night, sometimes three or four times, the inquiry comes over the telephone. And the owners usually wonder why they have never before seen their plants are no longer in the variety or curiosity class. Not long ago the night blooming cereus was scarce and rare indeed. Now it appears they are in many households. Florists say they don't know the reason, but they seem to be made to introduce the plant here.

"In fact," said one flower grower, "the cereus is a very common plant, a species of the cactus family. Most flower lovers care little for the plant. While the occurrence of flowers is very beautiful, the plant itself is rather unsightly and requires not a little care. Of course, many are owned by collectors and are curious and unusual in the botanical line."

The flower of the night blooming cereus is a very beautiful thing, and is known by botanists, buds and fades in a single day. The bud resembles a pear-shaped bell, and begins to open in the morning. At midnight the flower is in full bloom. A reddish sheath surrounds the large funnel-shaped flower with a variety of colors. The center of the bloom is a bright yellow color. Scarcely is the flower open than it begins to fade, and by morning it has fallen to pieces. The plant is columnar and spiny and grows to a height of six or eight feet. It is known by the name of 'Queen of the Night' according to the attention it receives.

The night blooming cereus, as are the 200 other species of this plant genus of the order of cactaceae, is a native of Mexico, and the southwestern part of the United States. The most common of the plant, the cereus giganteus, called by the Mexicans 'sawdust,' grows to a height of 100 feet. It has a very peculiar smell, a species has long gray bristles growing about the top which give it the appearance of the head of a gray haired man.

The plant has medicinal qualities and the most common of the cereus is used for more rapid heart action. Medicine made from it is often used in the treatment of heart and other diseases among the Mexicans.

JUST LIKE THE REAL RUBY.

Chemist Produces Stone That Stands All the Tests.

From the Chicago Chronicle.

The ancient alchemists directed their energies to transmitting what they were pleased to call 'gold' into precious metals, particularly gold, but their success would not have been achieved had they not discovered the everyday commercial production of artificial jewels at the present time. The classic researches of the French chemist, M. Moissan, in 1895, when he succeeded in the artificial production of diamonds have been heralded far and wide, and the scientific world has been demonstrated the commercial value of the problem is as unsolved as ever.

On the other hand, Verneuil, who has devoted his attention to the production of synthetic rubies, which are jewels, are amorphous forms of alumina, has been remarkably successful, and, according to the Watchmaker and Jeweler, in producing rubies up to 16 carats, the artificial rubies being indistinguishable from natural ones.

The secret of Verneuil's success which has made possible this apparent miracle is the fact that the synthetic rubies (the ingredients must be fused at a temperature just sufficient to produce the synthetic rubies, which are made in a very simple principle is extremely simple. They are made of alumina mixed with a little sesquioxide of chromium and the mixture is fused in a special apparatus, the fusion point by the use of a blow-pipe temperature. After fusion has taken place the material is slowly reduced in temperature.

The majority of fusions, it is reported, are of the same quality as natural diamonds, being cut and polished in a similar manner.

This Is Pruning Season

This is the season of the year to go through your orchards and trim off all the dead branches from fruit trees and bushes, so as to give appearance to the trees and make room for the new growth. If you have not already done this go at it at once. It will assure you of a better crop of fruit the coming season. Some people do not stop pruning when they are through with the trees and shrubbery, but start in on their feet, trimming corns. Now that is one kind of pruning that is unnecessary if you buy your shoes right. If your feet hurt and are tired at night your shoes are uncomfortable, if you have corns and ingrowing toe-nails, your shoes are not properly fit to you. Have you ever bought shoes from us? This is a very important question. We are expert shoe men and can give you satisfaction. The shoe business is a trade and we have learned it from A to Z and unless you are sure your shoes are the proper shape for your particular shaped foot you cannot hope to get satisfaction, either in wear or comfort. Why trust your feet to an inexperienced merchant? You would not let an inexperienced man shoe your horse. Use the same horse sense when buying shoes for yourself? You not only get the proper shoes here, but you get them for less money than at any other store in Wayne, quality and workmanship taken into consideration. We can fit you with a plow shoe that will be as easy as your dress shoes. Buy men's and boy's shoes of us and enjoy life. Every pair warranted to give satisfaction.

Your eggs the same as cash with us.

Howell's Journal: "Like all true, sincere men, Cox was fearless in doing what he considered to be his duty, and he died a martyr to sobriety. No such death is ever in vain. Sam Cox has been taken from the family freestone, the newspaper fraternity has lost a shining light, Nebraska one of her best citizens—but the spirit of Sam Cox, like that of John Brown goes marching on." In Scottsbluff county on Tuesday's election, it was strongly evidenced—all four of the incorporated towns in that county went "dry." There will not be a saloon in that county." That is identically what was written of Rev. Haddock of Sioux City, about a quarter of a century ago. His murder put all the saloons out of Sioux City for a few months. To visit Sioux City today one would have to admit that a great and good man was sacrificed in vain. A pity 'tis true, but true nevertheless.

Don't Swear, Young Man.

Dear Sonny: Don't swear. Swearing is the most senseless and coarse and extravagant habit a boy can get into. Your mother will tell you profanity is wrong. But you will not mind your mother, perhaps. Then let us talk it over in another way. The habit of swearing is without sense, because it is useless. If you want to say things, say them in a proper way. The more oaths you use the weaker your statements will be. The habit of swearing is also, as proven by the fact that oaths are not used on the presence of the best company. Men and boys do not swear when good women are about. The habit of swearing is extravagant because it is not necessary for comfort. It does not minister to a single natural pleasure. On the contrary, it develops a bad temper and other things. But here is the strongest argument against profane speech: The use of oaths is prima facie evidence that the man or boy who uses them is ignorant. When you drag profanity into your speech you show that you are not sufficiently intelligent to express yourself in good English. And the more you swear the greater the evidence of your lack of education and culture. When you swear habitually and in almost every sentence you show your lack of knowledge of the ordinary adjective of the language. You lack the first principal of expression. If you don't care to be put down by intelligent men as ignorant leave off your swearing. Does that touch you in a tender spot? It ought to, because it is true. —Omaha Daily News.

Congress recently raised the salary of the secretary to the president from $5,000 to $6,500 per year. A writer in the New York World says: "The late J. Addison Porter thought the term 'private secretary' incommensurate with the dignity of the job, and an obliging congress changed the title to 'secretary to the president' without increasing the salary. Mr. Loeb received whatever of added dignity Mr. Porter and Mr. Cortelyou had, and is now to enjoy that more tangible pleasure—an increase of 33 per cent in his compensation. When Salmon P. Chase was chief justice of the United States supreme court his salary was $6,500. That is today the salary of the chief justice of the United States court of claims. It is $500 more than the salaries of the judges of the district courts. There are eighteen rear admirals in the navy. Nine of these receive $7,500 when on sea duty and $6,375 on shore duty. The others receive $5,500 on sea duty, $4,675 on shore. The commandant of the marine corps and brigadier generals in the army are paid $5,500. The pay of chief naval constructor is only $5,500. Such are the rewards of technical training and faithful public service. Kenbucky pays its governor $6,500 a year in Indiana, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania pay more and all the other states less. Mr. Loeb undoubtedly has many duties that never before fell to the lot of a private secretary, and there are many who would say he earns whatever he can get but the essential fact is that his office is one of increasing importance.—Commoner.

One of the best demonstrations of local prohibition that the Democrat knows of is in Vermillion, S. D. We say best, because in Vermillion the business interests are not hampered particularly by doing without the licensed saloon. For over twenty years the town has been as dry as "eternal vigilance" on the part of the authorities could make it. Being a university city its people are largely of a literary and musical turn of mind, the city and its population being as neat, clean and industrious a little place as there is on the face of this earth. The Democrat man lived there a couple of years, '95-'96, and knows a little something about how prohibition worked when it was strictly enforced by the watchful "Thomases." The other day we were surprised to read that Mayor Ferry, whom we know quite well, had made a stand for the introduction of saloons, that prohibition was a farce, hence there is now a big fight on for a decision on the matter. Mr. Ferry was always one of the one of the warmest advocates of prohibition, but conditions are such, under local prohibition, that he deems the licensed grog-shop the lesser of the evils. The Democrat will guarantee that statistics will bear out the statement that there are six drunks in Vermillion to one in Wayne, that there may not be the same amount of liquor sold, but that ten men die from its effects to one in Wayne, (It is only a short time ago we noted the death of a well-to-do citizen from this cause, that while here in Wayne the saloons do not interfere with the College, in Vermillion there is constant trouble over students drinking, or always was while this writer resided there. That the drug stores—there are four or five there now, we understand—make more money, each of them, selling booze than any saloon in the city of Wayne. Individual permits, printed blanks to sell liquor, are printed in ten thousand lots. That the expense of prosecuting illegal dispensers of that sort and keeping them in jail, exceeds the cost of sending fifteen men to Lincoln every year. If you think prohibition is a success, go visit this beautiful little city on the state line, look at its grand college buildings, churches and stone-front residences. Then meander down to the lower strata and you'll see more blue-eyed, drug distorted faces and bull pen pastures than have been in Wayne for a quarter of a century.

A "Package" for Wayne.

Hoskins, for progressiveness, can teach a great many of the larger towns a lesson worth their learning. The people are of one accord, having but one object in view, and that is, the betterment of our burg. The only way to merit the patronage of the farmer is to be courteous and extend as many favors as good business management will permit, which all our business men do. The farmers are an appreciative bunch of fellows and of course return the compliment by giving our business men a liberal patronage. Our people taken as a whole, both in town and the surrounding country, always pull together to do all in their power toward the upbuilding of anything that will benefit either town or country. The farmers will stand by any town so long as the town stands by them, but just let strife enter the business circles of any town and it is soon numbered among the dead ones. Jealousy often causes friction and strife among the business men of a town, so if you are inclined that way smother it before it smother you.—Headlight.

A very serious accident occurred on Thursday afternoon, when Eric Norling fell from a disc perhaps fatally injuring himself. He was in the field discing in small grain and the bolt fastening the seat spring to the frame of the disc gave way letting Mr. Norling fall. In some manner he fell on the corner of the spring, cutting the cords of the bladder. Two physicians were called and they labored diligently with him until Friday morning, when he was taken to the hospital at Sioux City, where he will be operated on. We sincerely hope he recovers, which at this writing seems quite doubtful.—Hoskins Headlight.

 In the Matter of the Guardianship of Eda Edith Whitney and Jennie Gladys Whitney, minor heirs of Isipheny Whitney, Deceased.
 Now on this 25th day of March, 1907, it being a day of the regular March Term of said Court, this cause came on for hearing upon the petition of C. F. Whitney, guardian of the estate of Eda Edith Whitney and Jennie Gladys Whitney, minors, praying for license to sell the interest of said minors in the following described real estate, to-wit: The northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section four, in township thirty-two, range nine west of the 6th P. M., in Wheeler County, Nebraska, containing forty acres; and lots one and two and the south half of the northeast quarter of section four, in township twenty-two, range nine west of the 6th P. M., in Wheeler County, Nebraska, containing 160 acres; and lot one in block twenty-six of the First Addition to the City of Hartington, lot one in block six and the north half of lot one of Park Addition to said City of Hartington, Nebraska, for the maintenance and education of said minors, also for the purpose of investing the proceeds of such sale in some income paying investment and that said guardian be permitted to dispose of the interest of said minors in the said real estate at private sale. It appearing to the Court from such petition that it is necessary and would be beneficial to the wards that such real estate be sold.
 It is therefore ordered that the next day of said estate appear before A. A. Welch, judge of the district court, at his office in Wayne, Nebraska, on the 29th day of April, 1907, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon to show cause why a license should not be granted to said guardian to sell the interest of said minors in the real estate above described, for the purposes above stated; that a copy of this order be published in the Nebraska Democrat, a weekly newspaper published and of general circulation in Wayne County, Nebraska, for three successive weeks, and that personal service of this order upon the next of kin or other persons interested is not required. Dated this 25th day of March, 1907.
 ANSON A. WELCH,
 Judge of the District Court.
