A NEW INDUSTRY.

J. F. Sherbahn Goes Into the Tile Making Business.

Still waters sometimes do the most business, and this is probably the case with the dirt John Sherbahn has been making into brick business blocks, but a new feature of the mud business has been pushed to a successful issue in Wayne and nobody the wiser except the manufacturers. Some time ago Mr. Sherbahn ordered the necessary fixtures to go on his brick machinery to make tiling, and, although it was an entirely new business and there was no practical tile-maker to show them how, the force at the yard turned out 15000 six and eight inch tiling in the first two days. They are smooth as glass and look to be of the very best and most durable material. They are now in the drying process, a couple hundred thousand, and will shortly appear on the market, and no doubt be a better quality at a cheaper price than what are shipped here from other parts. Besides it doubles the working capacity of the big plant and will give employment to more people.

Wausa Enjoyed It

The Wausa Improvement Club Ben Asuav II, the "Rare old Bird," Clowns women, children and kids all turned out in response to the invitation from the Wayne Commercial Club, to visit that city today and help them in their festivities. In all they were about seventy-five in number, some which had gone down on Wednesday. The day was an ideal one and they all enjoyed themselves as evident by the broad smiles which illumined each and everyones countenance. Reaching Wayne the Club formed in line for parade headed by the Wayne Concert band followed by Ben Asuav II and his guide. Then came the six Roman guards with their gold helmets and spears, dressed in full uniform. These were followed by the balance of the members of the Club about forty in number who each carried the club parasol. Last but not of least came the "Rare old Bird" and the clown who did not fail to draw attention of the spectators. They marched up Main street for two blocks, then turned west one block, then north one block, east one block thence south through Main street again for two blocks making an inverted turn and coming back north for one block after which they were invited to come up to the Wayne Commercial Club Headquarters. Let us say right here that those Wayne fellows covered themselves with glory in the way they treated the strangers. They had a fine room with plenty of chairs for the tired and all the free cigars and lemonade they wished. At three o'clock Senator Tillman began his speaking in the tent on the Chautauqua grounds, speaking on the Race Problem, which he seems to have made a life study. Hon. Tillman is a forceful speaker and has probably justly acquired the name pitchfork Tillman. The crowd all returned home on the evening train, and all the same accord, that they had received courteous treatment at the hands of the Wayne people and the Wayne Commercial Club.—Wausa Gazette.

Normal Notes.

Some new students enrolled this week while several dropped out. There are only two more weeks in this term, so there will not be many new ones to enroll now.

About 130 took the state examination held at the college on Friday and Saturday. In addition to these, many of the students took the examination at the court house.

L. H. Currier of the class of 1898 visited friends at the college for several days last week. Mr. Currier has been principal of the schools at Ashton, Nebr., and is candidate for the nomination as county superintendent in Sherman county.

The Commencement programs and the caps and gowns were given out to the members of the graduating class at their meeting Saturday afternoon. The programs are made up of 24 pages and contain a full program of all sessions during the week.

Several of the students were notified this week of their selection to positions for next year. Mr. Campbell goes to Anselmo as principal of the schools, Mr. Boshart having a like position at Springfield, and Miss Marsh was elected to a position in the grades at Bristow.

Tuesday morning, we were fortunate in having some fine talks at Chapel. Dr. Jenkins gave a fine talk on "What is the purpose of Education." Mr. C. B. Moore, Asst. Sec'y of the State Y. M. C. A. also spoke a few words which were very much enjoyed by all who were present.

Rev. Coon of Grand Island visited the college one day last week and delivered a very interesting address to the students at the Chapel services. Rev. Smith also was a visitor last week and made a pleasant talk at Chapel. These visits are very much enjoyed by both students and faculty.

Supt. Pilger of Pierce county came over this week to take charge of his class work. Supt. Pilger has had experience in this kind of school work and he will, no doubt, give his students some good things. Supt. Stahl of West Point finds it impossible to be here at this time, but he will probably be over for a few days before the close of the term. The work he was to take has been taken care of by dividing it up among the other teachers.

The following is the order for Commencement week:
August 2, 8 p. m., Contest of Literary Societies.
August 3, 8 p. m., Department of Eloquence—Play.
August 4, 3 p. m., Baccalaureate Sermon.
August 4, 8 p. m., Joint meeting of Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A.
August 5, 8 p. m., Prize Oration Contest.
August 6, 8 p. m., Prize recitation contest.
August 7, 8 p. m., Prize Debate contest.
August 8, 8 p. m., Graduating Exercises.
August 9, 9 a. m., Alumni Program.
August 9, 6 p. m., Alumni Banquet.

Porter-Wright.

The marriage of Prof. Claud Wright and Miss Ora Porter occurred at the home of the bride in Norfolk at high-noon last Saturday, parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Wright, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Munson and Miss Pilger of Wayne attending the ceremony. Presiding Elder Bithell officiated, and a large number of relatives and friends were present. Prof. and Mrs. Wright go to Dixon where he has charge of the schools next year. The DEMOCRAT extends well-wishes for this most estimable couple, both of whom are talented school teachers and leaders of the best of Nebraska society.

Crellin-Webster

The nuptial knot uniting the destinies of Miss Olive Crellin and Mr. William Webster of Plainview was tied at the Methodist Parsonage Saturday at noon, Rev. Horn officiating. Mr. Webster was formerly a student at the Nebraska Normal College. They will reside at Plainview.

Jack Cherry would make Judge Hunter go some.

If Judge Barnes isn't "vindicated" in his libel suit he ought to get off the supreme bench.

"All the world may love a lover" but when he "loves" under your window, you would love to kick the lover.

Just why the country papers should do any free advertising for the Sioux City Interstate Fair will have to be explained to us.

In one way Gov. Johnson of Minnesota would be a very acceptable candidate for president. He could carry Wausa, Concord, Wakefield and Oakland.

The appointment of Joe Johnson, a notorious railroad capper, to office by Gov. Sheldon, a "reformer," isn't being swallowed conscientiously over the state.

The society editor of the Laurel Advocate is up against the red ant problem. The only way to get rid of the little pest is to pry their mouths open and file off their teeth.

B. W. McKeen of the Elgin Review, a former editor of this paper, has announced himself as a clerk of the district court of Antelope county. His many friends here hope that his ambition will be satisfied.

AUGUST ZIEMER.

The Interstate Live Stock Fair, which is held every September at Woodland Park, Sioux City, is growing better each succeeding year. This year the Association which conducts this Fair is offering for purses and premiums the most unbelievable amount of $60,000.00—$25,000.00 in purses, $35,000.00 in premiums. Only the state fairs of Minnesota and Wisconsin are offering so large an amount of money in purses.

That was an awful article the Norfolk News printed about Senator Tillman. It was just about what one would expect of a rabid republican newspaper where the information all came from hearsay. There is not one statement made in the News that is correct, the whole being warped into something "that the News would like to report Senator Tillman as having said." A public speaker often makes a statement that has an entirely different meaning, coming from the maker of it, than when repeated. As an example Tillman once said "to hell with that law," making the blacks masters of the whites in his state, and he explained to his Wayne audience how the newspapers interpreted it to the public as "to hell with the law," any law.

Piano Character

Character is as essential in a first-class piano as in a first-class man. The difference is in kind and not in degree. In its relation to the Piano, character means tone, the soul of the instrument; the one trait that gives it a distinct individuality. To win lasting approbation a piano must have this sort of character. If the tone be musical and sympathetic the effect is enduring because it appeals to an aesthetic sense that never tires of beauty in sound.

Of Interest to Women.

Too often women are not seriously out of health, but who have exacting duties to perform, either in the way of domestic cares or in social duties and functions, and who seriously tax their strength, as well as their brains, find that the most valuable supporting tonic and invigorating medicine, by its timely use, much serious sickness and suffering may be avoided. The operating table and the surgeon's knife would be unnecessary, seldom have to be employed if the most valuable woman's remedy were resorted to in good time. The "Favorite Prescription" has proven a great boon to expectant mothers by preparing the system for the coming of baby, thereby rendering childbirth easy, and almost painless. Bear in mind, please that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse, because of the uncertainty as to their composition and harmless character, but is a MEDICINE OF KNOWN COMPOSITION, a full list of its ingredients being printed, in plain English, on every bottle-wraper. An examination of this list of ingredients will disclose the fact that it is non-alcoholic in its composition, chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol, in its make-up. In this connection, it may not be out of place to state that the "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce is the only medicine put up for the cure of woman's peculiar weakness and ailments, and sold through druggists, all the places where the commonly used alcohol, in its make-up. In this connection, it may not be out of place to state that the "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce is the only medicine put up for the cure of woman's peculiar weakness and ailments, and sold through druggists, all the places where the commonly used alcohol, in its make-up.

In Praise of Old Missouri.

From the Wellsville, Mo., Record.

Missouri is the garden spot of the earth. There is but one kind of penicils, would excuse a man for leaving that state, and that is to avoid being lynched. We have noticed that a majority of those who leave here in search of fame and fortune, return in rags and rags, and of course there is not a place in all the wide world where so small an amount of energy will produce so many of the necessities and comforts of life as in Missouri. Here we have everything that heart could wish. There are mountains and shade, water and wood, fruit and flowers, grain and grass, corn and cash. There are spritless, stately mules, splendid cattle, superb swine and such swine as Missouri alone can grow. Best of all, we have the most beautiful women in the world. In our homes there is happiness, in our lives there is love, in our hearts there is charity. In Missouri we reap the richest blessings of divine favor.

A German invention promises a new era in the production of lead pencils. In the new process of manufacture a composition made principally from the potato takes the place of the cedar in the pencil.

A short walk daily will benefit any man in the long run.

Is Pe-ru-na Useful for Catarrh?

Should a list of the ingredients of Peru-na be submitted to any medical expert, of whatever school or nationality, he would be obliged to admit without reserve that each one of these was of undoubted value in chronic catarrhal diseases, and had stood the test of many years' experience in the treatment of such diseases. THERE CAN BE NO DISPUTE ABOUT THIS. NEVER. Peru-na is composed of the most efficacious and universally used herbal remedies for catarrh. Every ingredient of Peru-na has a reputation of its own in the cure of some phase of catarrh.

Peru-na brings to the home the COMBINED KNOWLEDGE OF SEVERAL SCHOOLS OF MEDICINE in the treatment of catarrhal disease; brings to the home the scientific skill and knowledge of the most eminent medical authorities; and brings to the home the varied experience of Dr. Hartman, in the use of catarrhal remedies, and in the treatment of catarrhal diseases.

The fact is, chronic catarrh is a disease which is very prevalent. Many thousand people know they have chronic catarrh. They have visited doctors over and over again, and been told that their case is one of chronic catarrh. It may be of the nose, throat, lungs, stomach or some other internal organ. There is no doubt as to the nature of the disease. The only trouble is the remedy. This doctor has tried to cure them. That doctor has tried to prescribe for them.

BUT THEY ALL FAILED TO BRING ANY RELIEF.

Dr. Hartman's idea is that a catarrh remedy can be made on a large scale, as he is making it; that it can be made honestly, of the purest drugs and of the strictest uniformity. His idea is that this remedy can be supplied directly to the people, and no more be charged for it than is necessary for the handling of it.

No other household remedy so universally advertised carries upon the label the principal active constituents, showing that Peru-na invites the full inspection of the critics.

FACTICAL PRACTICAL

POULTRY TOTTINGS.

Quite a number are complaining of their small chicks pining and sometimes dying, and it is not until they are a few days old that the cause is discovered. It is the fact that the chicks are not getting enough to eat, and that the food is not of the right kind. The chicks are not getting enough to eat, and that the food is not of the right kind. The chicks are not getting enough to eat, and that the food is not of the right kind.

HANDLING THE FOAL.

When one has only a team of mares and both of them have young colts, it is a practical question as to just what is best for both mares and foals. The brood mare can do her share of the farm work, if she must, but when ever it is feasible allow the brood mares freedom from work after foaling, and give them the job of raising, feeding and caring for their young. Worked after foaling, the colt should be kept at the barn, in a roomy box-stall or paddock, or in a dry lot, and a real luxury, to both colt and mother, to allow the colt to follow along after its mother, and to be with her, and to be patient the colt may be taught to stay away from its mother, without fretting and after a few days the mother does not get so nervous, and the colt is at home there is no danger of barbiture, or other accident, which are liable to occur any time when the colt is running around. When the mother is to be taken away from home for a few days, it is best to take the colt with her, and if it has been brought to the farm, it is best to have it lead alongside of its mother. It will be a long time before the colt will be long jaunts, and they had best be avoided whenever possible, until the colt is a few months old. It is best to keep the colt in a stretch, keep both mare and colt from fretting. The mare should be kept in a stretch, and her colt, and she goes about her work without any fuss or inconvenience.

LOOK AFTER THE YOUNG HEIFERS.

An exchange says: "Heifers poorly fed and poorly handled will never make good cows whatever the breeding may be."

While we might not be quite as positive about it as the Stockman, still there is more truth in the statement that most calves are not properly bred, than there is in the statement that if there is any stock on the farm that is neglected, it is the heifer in her calf. She is the one that needs the most attention to her care, and the most attention to her care when young to keep them healthy. The heifer needs such care more than the cow, and the cow more than the bull. It is the heifer who is the one that needs the most attention to her care, and the most attention to her care when young to keep them healthy. The heifer needs such care more than the cow, and the cow more than the bull.

FEEDING GRAIN HAY.

Many farmers are feeding grain hay to their cows, and it is a mistake. Grain hay is not a good feed for cows, and it is a mistake to feed it to them. Grain hay is not a good feed for cows, and it is a mistake to feed it to them. Grain hay is not a good feed for cows, and it is a mistake to feed it to them.

SPREADING MANURE BY MACHINE.

In watching farm work and the practice of different farmers I have been struck by the fact that the results of spreading manure vary so much. I had an opportunity recently of comparing the results of machine spreading with those of hand spreading on two adjacent Illinois farms. The work was done on meadow lands. The field upon which the machine was used was the one that had been plowed and sown in the fall, and the field upon which the manure was spread by hand was the one that had been plowed and sown in the spring. The results were very different. The field upon which the machine was used was the one that had been plowed and sown in the fall, and the field upon which the manure was spread by hand was the one that had been plowed and sown in the spring.

FARM FACTS.

Mark out your line of business and then how to the line for all your days of active life. Not that changes must be made, but that you should be ready to change if you begin to breed pure bred cattle or hogs stay by the deal. If you are a farmer, you should be ready to change if you begin to breed pure bred cattle or hogs stay by the deal. If you are a farmer, you should be ready to change if you begin to breed pure bred cattle or hogs stay by the deal.

A WOMAN'S SUFFERINGS.

A Dreadful Operation Brings it to Be the Day of Release.

Mrs. Clyde Pixley, Bridge street, Redding, Mich., writes: "I had inflammation of the bladder, and the trouble had gone so far in five years that my physician said that I was a lost case. I had lost all my strength, and I was unable to do anything but lie in bed. I was unable to do anything but lie in bed. I was unable to do anything but lie in bed."

Only a Decision.

In a jury trial in New York recently the attorney for the defendant started in to read to the jury from a certain volume of the supreme court reports. He was interrupted by the court, who said: "You know, to read law to the jury."

The better acquainted a man is with himself the better it is to fool him.

How to Exercise the Bowels

Your Intestines are lined inside with millions of little suckers, that draw the Nutrition out of food as it passes them. But, if the food passes too slowly, it decays before it gets through. Then the little suckers draw Poison from it instead of Nutrition.

This Poison makes a Gas that injures your system more than the food should have nourished it.

You see, the food is Nourishment or Poison, just according to how long it stays in transit.

They do not waste any precious fluid of the Bowels, as Cathartics do. They do not relax the Intestines by greasing them inside like Castor Oil or Glycerine.

They simply stimulate the Bowel Muscles to do their work naturally, comfortably, and nutritiously.

And, the Exercise these Bowel Muscles are thus forced to take, makes them stronger for the future, just as Exercise makes your arm stronger.

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

TWO SISTERS HAD ECZEMA.

Cuticura Cured Soap Bozema of Two Illinois Girls—Another Sister Took Cuticura Pills.

"I must much praise to all the Cuticura Remedies. I used but one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment, as that was all that was required to cure my disease. I was very much troubled with eczema of the head, and a friend of mine told me to use the Cuticura Remedies, which I did, and in a few days they cured my eczema entirely. My sister was also cured of eczema of the head by using the Cuticura Remedies. Another sister has used Cuticura Resolvent and Pills and thinks they are a splendid tonic. Miss Edith Hamner, R. F. D. No. 6, Morrison, Ill., Oct. 3, 1906."

SENSE OF SIGHT IN ANTS.

Experiments indicating that they do not depend on smell.

The old theory that ants could not see and were guided entirely by sense of smell had been demolished by a series of experiments reported in the Revue Scientifique. A little platform of the inclined plane leading conveniently down to the entrance. Then a number of the insects and a quantity of their eggs were placed upon the platform.

SPREADING MANURE BY MACHINE.

In watching farm work and the practice of different farmers I have been struck by the fact that the results of spreading manure vary so much. I had an opportunity recently of comparing the results of machine spreading with those of hand spreading on two adjacent Illinois farms. The work was done on meadow lands. The field upon which the machine was used was the one that had been plowed and sown in the fall, and the field upon which the manure was spread by hand was the one that had been plowed and sown in the spring.

Too many police. Saturday last looked as though the chaquetaqua, beat the saloons to it, by a dash.

In Germany a jury in an important murder case was selected in ten minutes. Perhaps it doesn't take so long over there to pick out men who are stupid and ignorant, or perhaps they do not look for that sort.

Why is it called a chaquetaqua? The name comes from Lake Chaquetaqua, N. J., where the first meeting of the kind was held. It is presumed to be anti-saloon from the fact that it started on Chaquetaqua water.

The railroads have decided that clergymen shall no longer be permitted to ride on half fare and all permits will soon be called in. As I have heretofore remarked, there never was any good reason why a preacher getting a salary of several thousand dollars a year should be permitted to ride on half fare while the poor widow washerwoman with a family to support was compelled to pay full fare.

When a farmer puts a team up at Bonawit & Son's barn nowadays, the hostler invariably asks, "want em shot?" A few days ago a transient asked Eli to feed his team and then get them shot for him. Eli did so all right, only making a slight mistake in the team, the result being that one farmer was shot when the other was not. Eli didn't want it done at all, and the jolly liverman was beat out of two plunks. The poor newspaper man isn't the only brain stormer on the list, is he, Eli?

Says the Sioux City Journal: It is a penitentiary offense in Texas to sell a copyrighted article. The attorney general says it is his firm determination to enforce the law. The merchants of the state are trying to persuade the governor to call the legislature together to repeal the extreme provisions of the law. If they fail in this there is whispering among them that they are left to the alternative of bankruptcy of the penitentiary. One embarrassment that confronts the attorney general is that the legislature did not enact suitable provisions for the enlargement of the penitentiaries.

Columbus Telegram—Editor Miles, who is being prosecuted on a criminal libel charge by Supreme Judge Barnes, declares he is ready for the fray. Norfolk News: Judge A. A. Welch, of Wayne, was in Norfolk at noon enroute for a short session of court at Neligh. W. E. Hoff, representing the Interstate fair at Sioux City and the Western Brew Brewery, was in Wayne yesterday and broke a few straws that startled the natives. "Beube," Hoff is an old circus, circuitous cuss who has traveled the states from Maine to Mexico. In the last city election at Omaha he was the "cuss" that made Dahlgren mayor, being one of the best speakers the democrats had "under cover" of the Benson brigade. Speaking for the Western Brew he said: "The boy stood on the burning deck 'He didn't have a fear 'But he said, 'Hi! Mr. Bartender! 'Give us a bottle of Western Brew beer!"

A Minneapolis boy, aged four years, is causing considerable concern to the humane society because of his attempts to swear like the historic trooper, and concerted efforts are to be made to stop him. The interested people might follow the instructions of a fond auntie and simply break her string nephew of a similar reprehensible habit. The young man was told of the very hot place where a big, black, hairy man would take this swearing, erasing, small boy and hold him over the coals and turn him and turn him, so that he would be continually roasted. "Will he do that to me?" asked the boy, more angered than frightened. "He would sure beat you if you didn't stop." "Then d-n him!" exclaimed the proficient youngster.

Best To Come.

Today and tomorrow the Chaquetaqua association put on the highest priced talent of the whole course with the exception of the oratorics and Tillman. This afternoon there is a fine concert and this evening a magic entertainment by the world-famous magician, Ritchie. Tomorrow after noon Dr. F. The district indebtedness amounts to $117 73. The value of the district property $99844.

The school census for last year was 3748, which is an increase of 113 over the preceding year. There are 2122 children between the ages of 7 and 15, of these 1633 attended school two-thirds, of more of the school year. There were enrolled 1362 males and 1232 females between the ages of five and twenty-one. The average daily attendance males was 744, and of females 761. Eight months was the average term of school while the average voted for next year is eight and one-half months. $605560 was voted at the last annual meeting for the maintenance of the schools for the ensuing year. The average salary paid to our teachers was $40 per month. Twenty-five schools are well furnished with text books, maps, globes, etc. The five schools in the county having two or more departments employ 28 teachers and have a school census of 1307.

The school officers of this county have been very active in securing teachers for the coming year, if all reports are true there are very few schools not supplied, and we believe that a more promising force of teachers can not be found in any county.

Nearly every day letters come to this office from teachers of other counties asking for positions in our schools; some of these of course offer a very good reason for wishing to be located here. The majority we are proud to state furnish the very best of reference from both school board and county superintendent, stating the salaries paid by our schools warranted the position can be secured.

While it is true our schools pay better wages, it is also true that we lose none of our better teachers and import only the best.

Superintendent Pilger of Wayne county, again heads the list of those getting their reports to the state superintendent early.

The Wayne county teachers' institute will be held in Wayne August 28-31.

Prof. J. A. Dimmick the principal elect at Winside paid this office a very pleasant call this week. Prof. Dimmick comes from Avoca, Neb., and is highly recommended, and will no doubt meet with even greater success than he has in former positions.

A Saloon Prosecution

The general public of Wayne county is no doubt familiar with the fact that a few months ago Mrs. Martin, through her attorney Geo. Wilbur, brought suit against Herman Mildner for some $5000 damages alleged that she incurred through the death of her husband, "Scotty" Martin, said demise being caused by intoxicants served by said defendant, while Mr. Martin was ill, shortly previous to his death. Mr. Mildner paid him and his wife $50 to settle any damages they might have against him, taking a receipt, signed by Martin and his wife, in full for same, the paper being approved by an attorney as binding. Mr. Mildner was criticized for doing so by his counsel, as it was not believed the Martins had any claim against him, but he wanted to be "on the safe side." Then Atty. Wilbur took up the matter for Mrs. Martin, as above indicated. Last week, against the advice of his attorney, Mr. Mildner made a second settlement paying $400 to the clerk of the district court for the case plaintiff, and seeing this time that there could be "no more to follow." Now, it transpires, as told by various parties who have consulted Mrs. Martin, that Atty. Wilbur got the money from Clark of the Courts Feather and paid Mrs. Martin $200, keeping one-half himself for the GREAT SERVICE rendered her. The DEMOCRAT is also informed by a party to the suit that at one time it was in the hands of Atty. Lundberg, as attorney, for plaintiff, so that, as the Herald stated last week, it may be true that defendant, Mildner, saved the cost of hiring attorneys—such high-priced ones as Wilbur and Lundberg—by settling for only $400. There are some other incidents cropping out about this affair that may look good to the average prohibitionist, the protector of the widow and fatherless, but not to the DEMOCRAT, and we believe the community would have a decidedly different opinion of all the parties connected with the case if all the facts were published concerning it, which may be possible to do later on.

Mrs. Hern Marries Again.

Amos H. Merchant, for long years a railroad man in Omaha, then secretary of the Omaha Grain exchange and more recently resigned from that position to look after his extensive Nova Scotia mining interests, with residence in Boston, has taken unto himself a wife, after being a widower for several years. When Mr. Merchant left the grain exchange and opened an Omaha office to organize his mining company he long sought a stenographer who would attend strictly to business and cut out telephone calls and other frivolities during business hours. He finally found his ideal in Miss Grace Dickover, who was pretty, modest and attentive to business. In the months that passed Mr. Merchant found that his ideal of a stenographer was also his ideal of a wife. He fell in love with his pretty stenographer, she loved him in return and now they are wedded—World Herald.

(Mrs. Hern secured a divorce from D. K. Hern, the former Wayne planor, by the latter was failed in Omaha for forgery, she also recovering her maiden name of Dickover.)

Eldorado of the West

When you talk to a stranger about the beauties and possibilities of that portion of the valley of the North Platte river lying immediately east of Wyoming, he treats the matter with incredulity or remarks that the region is too far out of the world to attract any but those of an adventurous spirit. But the same thing has been said of every section of the country west of Jamestown, Virginia. When Daniel Boone and his boon companions moved across the Blue Ridge mountains into the blue grass valleys what their old friends in North Carolina said about the bunch would not do to print in a religious newspaper. "Out of the world," that was the verdict unanimously rendered. It is about twenty-one years since the very early settlers began their way up the valley from Bridgeport, and to infringe upon the rights of the cattle kings who thought the country was created for grazing purposes only. On the south side of the river, almost under the shadow of the mighty bluff that gives the name to the county, Martin Gering took a homestead which he afterward cut up into town lots and where is now located the county seat bearing his name. Three things were observed by the early settlers: that the soil of the valley was deep and productive; that the width of the same would invite a populous settlement, and that the supply of water for irrigating purposes was unlimited. Enough and more than enough. A railroad was wanted and seven years ago the Burlington followed up the valley on the north side, some distance beyond the state line to the rich mining point of Gurnsey, Wyoming. This stimulated the growth of irrigation enterprises, and the desert is now blossoming like the garden of the gods. And the beautiful villages that have sprung up along the line, just far enough apart so that the business interests of one do not conflict with the commercial calculations of the other, and nothing more vicious than a spirit of friendly rivalry animating business men of either center. There are Bayard, Minnator, Scott's Bluff, Mitchell and Morrill, all having a goodly share in the prosperity that is blessing this western county. For the first time in its history Scott's Bluff organized a Chautauqua. Rev. E. E. Thompson was made president, and most everybody in town took a little stock and pushed to make the enterprise a success. The society bought eleven acres of ground, for which it paid $4,000 and erected a tabernacle that ought to be a model for other Chautauquas. It is patterned somewhat after the great building in Salt Lake City, with the result that a timid speaker can make everybody hear without having to "hold his head off." A genuine thing about this new Eldorado of the west is that it is settled by the right kind of people.

Some day when I have had enough of this infernal dirt grind I'm going out there to old Scott's Bluff To work my bones and ease my mind Below an irrigating ditch I'll buy a piece of real estate, And plow and sow, and get as rich As I may be decreed by fate.

And when this form, once fair and fat, Shall whither like the flowers in fall, I'll have it buried by the Platte To wait for Gabriel's trumpet call.

Chas. Beebe and wife were visitors from Carroll Tuesday, and Wednesday. Mr. Beebe yesterday filed his certificate of nomination as a candidate for county treasurer, subject to the vote of the electors of Wayne county.

Wilson Pingrey has been looking after his Nebraska farms the past week. Mr. Pingrey says he left home because he got so disgusted trying to make hay—while it rained, but said he didn't care, anyway, that 40 acres of cut-up corn would feed more cattle, in Iowa, than 160 acres of hay land.

The Hite-Monroe Co., gave one of the very best entertainments of the Chautauqua course Tuesday night. "The moving pictures" is the best thing of that kind ever seen in Wayne.

Yesterday afternoon the lecture by W. McClary is said to have been very inferior to the one Tuesday by Hon. G. A. Gearhardt, which was exceptionally good.

James Hamilton, now of Fordyce, was in Wayne Monday looking up a little lawsuit he has been having over a party getting drunk in his own home at Winside. Mr. Hamilton has just traded his opera house at Winside for a stock of goods at Fordyce. He also has a half section of land at this town and doing a fine live stock business.

The Bloomfield Monitor, like a lot more country weeklies, raises its subscription price to $1.50 per year, beginning Sept. 1st. The only reason the Wayne papers will remain at $1.00 in advance, the DEMOCRAT has always been $1.50 per year unless paid in advance) is because they are not worth more in the eyes of the publishers.

Quite a bunch of Wayne "fans" went to Emerson again last Sunday to see Wakefield and Homer play. It was a sensational game, the last half of the 9th inning, with two men out, Wakefield got a batting streak and scored three runs, tying the score, 7 to 7. For five innings both teams got warm going up and the game none at all to be called to allow the visitors to catch their train.

Sam Davies was feeling pretty good Tuesday, no birthday, or anything like that, but notice that he had won second prize in the Omaha Bee contest, $75 cash. The first money, $100, went to Fremont, and the 4th, $25, to Norfolk, showing the relative strength of these cities as a reading public. The DEMOCRAT congratulated Sam on his heap, big luck, but we are sorry he is unable to spend it as he should.

Secretary Wilbur of the county central committee tried to hold a little democratic side-show of his own last Saturday, the chairman of the committee and a big majority of the local democrats not getting a "bid" in to George's office. The DEMOCRAT is informed that Lundburg "was in it," so the Herald will no doubt be in position to give us the details of this democratic hankering for that sort of news.

Last Saturday the Norfolk News stated that it was probable a big crowd of Norfolk people would attend the Wayne chautauqua on Sunday, did you see them? All the DEMOCRAT man could count Sunday afternoon was Mr. and Mrs. Robert Uter. Wayne people could not help but be pleased with the treatment the News has given the chautauqua, but any old time you see a Norfolk crowd in Wayne, you simply don't.

Recently the county commissioners of Pierce county granted a liquor license to Mrs. O. M. Schinkel, in face of representations that a woman cannot be granted a license to sell liquor. Judge Wakefield last week reversed the ruling of county commissioners, stating in part as follows: "If the term 'man' in the statute was used in the sense which would include a woman, it would also include children. I do not think anyone would contend that license should be granted to a minor. It is held in 97 N. W., 247, that infants who are free-holders cannot be counted as resident free-holders in determining the total number nor would they be qualified to signers. The use of the word 'man' in the statute must be given some effect and meaning, for if that word had been left out and the statute read: 'A petition for license to be granted to any person of respectable character and standing, etc., it would have covered the point, if license could be granted to a woman.'

A correspondent, who says he is a republican and never belonged to a labor union, and who has attended the Elywood trial at Boise, writes as follows: "The Association Press assists in every possible way to bolster up Orchard's story, and no mention is being made by the big dailies of the 'fishy' parts of his narrative. In fact, only those who are 'on the ground' and listening to his story, and then read the accounts sent out by the Associated Press, can form the least idea of the desperate efforts being made by four means or fair—to prevent the world getting onto perhaps the darkest and most infamous conspiracy ever formed to put to death three men who are believed to be innocent. This fact, by a large majority who hear the testimony as it is really given. Unless a mass of corroborating evidence is given, no jury of twelve will ever convict the prisoners. Too many 'raw' spots in Orchard's story, but they are not sent out. It is impossible to predict at this time how long the trial will last, but I can assure you that if the Orchard story and all its peculiar features were given correct publicity, the farce would be liable to terminate at any moment.—Humphrey Democrat.

Senator Ben Tillman spoke for two and one half hours last Thursday afternoon, and although there were several hundred standing all the time none left during the discourse excepting two or three parties who got too warm—under the collar—to listen to the fiery orator. While all kinds of opinions are expressed on Tillman and his talk, with few exceptions his audience was with him at every accentuated point in his speech. The senator's language might be termed a little rough; the speaker "brooded his subject, so to speak, but he hid the matter in matter, full justice and his discourse was full of "colored information" at least. The chief point on the race question that Tillman demands is that the southern states, which are the backbone of the big majority over the whites, be given right to deal with the subject, that the northern people, who know nothing about the "niggers," be restrained from coming in and meddling with the laws governing the whites and blacks in the south. The speaker explained that it was all politics on the part of the northern states, and that if we just had the negroes up here we would all be democrats, or that, if we the most rabid of us, went to live in the south, it would only take six months to make democrats of us all. The senator touched up the republicans a little bit hard, but that which makes him a great chautauqua attraction. He scathingly denounced slavery as a "most damnable institution," but went back into history far enough to show that it was the negroes who had the man who brought the negroes over from Africa. He also paid a soul-stirring tribute to the memory of Abraham Lincoln, "the best friend the south ever had," and he said that he had not been struck down by an assassin, would have done so much for the south after the war, as the crafty statesmen left in power did the south harm. The English language is spoken in literature and society, fell far short of describing the "carpet-buggers" sent by the north to control affairs in the south, and Tillman was not afraid to express his heartiest opinion of these scallawags. Tillman looks like a fighter born to the manor, and the loss of an eye and the evident bullet holes in the back of his neck, rather lend color to such an opinion of him. It is to be hoped that the regeneration in this country could not stomach him at all, there is no statesman in the public service today who has any business going up against the North Carolinian in a debate on the coon question.

Who is responsible for the negro being in the southern states? Some of those who listened to the talk of senator Tillman the other day, showing the dangers of the race problem, and showing the mistake in giving the negro the elective franchise, and being unable to gainsay his propositions, undertake to ease their conscience by saying: "They got the negro there, now let them keep them and suffer the consequences." These people are not well posted in the history of their country and I am glad that there are not many of them.

In the convention that formed the constitution of the United States, Mr. Mason, a delegate from Virginia, said that this "infernal traffic" (meaning the slave traffic) originated in the avarice of British merchants; the British government constantly checked the attempt of Virginia to put a stop to it.

Before the constitution was formed Maryland and Virginia had prohibited the importation of slaves expressly, and North Carolina had done the same in substance.

Bancroft's History of the Constitution, Vol. 2, Page 153:

To aid commerce, the British Parliament in 1730 gave liberty to all the subjects of the king of England, to engage in the slave trade, so that the colonies might be filled with slaves. And every effort made by the colonies to prevent slaves being imported into the colonies was thwarted by Parliament.

Bancroft's History, Vol. 2, 42: Virginia, through its legislature, repeatedly showed its abhorrence, by enactments to obstruct the trade, but England negatived every act tending to diminish or obstruct the slave trade.

Bancroft's History, Volume 3, 278: South Carolina, appalled by the great increase of the black population, endeavored by its own laws to restrain importation of slaves, and in like manner came into collision with the same British policy.

Bancroft's History, Vol. 3, 278-279: And as long as the states were colonies of great Britain, they were unable to stop or hinder the importation of slaves.

When the constitution was being drafted an effort was made to permit congress to prohibit the importation of slaves. The first draft provided that the prohibition should not be exercised until after 1800. Then a motion was made that the time should be extended to 1808. Mr. Madison, one of the delegates from Virginia, spoke earnestly against the prolongation and Virginia voted against the motion. The new constitution gave power to prohibit in new states immediately upon their admission and Louisiana, by annexation to the union, lost the license to receive slaves from abroad. Before the time limited had expired every southern state had passed state laws prohibiting the importation of slaves, and Georgia prohibited it by a constitutional provision.

On the second day of December, 1806, Thomas Jefferson, President of the United States, addressed this message to Congress:

"I congratulate you, fellow citizens, on the approach of the period at which you may interpose your authority constitutionally to withdraw the citizens of the United States from all further participation in those violations of human rights which have been so long continued on the unfending inhabitants of Africa, and which the morality, the reputation and the best interests of our country have long been eager to proscribe."

Almost unanimous legislation followed the words from this southern president, and as the year 1808 broke upon the United States, the importation of slaves had ceased. In the House 113 representatives voted for the law and only five voted against it. Two of these five were from the north—one of them from New Hampshire and one from Vermont.

Thus, at the very threshold of our government all the southern states, and a southern president took steps to prevent negroes from being imported into the southern states.

Has it ever occurred to you, my reader, that the first importation of negro slaves into the United States was in the Salem ship "Desire"? I am not sure that even now, if those Massachusetts republicans could see the almighty dollar in it, they would not "desire" to own and operate another slaver. Following this importation, a Dutch man-of-war dumped 20 negroes into Virginia. Soon after this, one James Smith, a member of a church in Boston, and one Thomas Keyser fitted out a slaver and sailed for Guinea to get a cargo of negroes, and they got them and sold them out in the colonies.

Bancroft's History, Vol. 1, 137: And New England men kept up the importation of negroes until the passage of the federal law. But do not imagine that the majority of the New England people approved of it. It was the few who engaged in the trade, just as was the few in the south who bought the negroes.

But, someone says, southern men bought these negroes. Of whom did they buy? Answer: Of northern men, English merchants and Dutch traders. Very few, if any, southern men engaged in the slave trade. The majority of the southern men did not buy them, and by state legislation tried to prevent them from being brought into their states.

Individuals will break laws, and the majority of the people cannot prevent it. They can only punish the violators of the law. South Carolina complained bitterly that she could not, with the power she possessed, entirely prevent the importation of slaves. The state was sparsely settled. Slavers could slip up the rivers and in some secluded place unload their cargo and slip away before the authorities knew they were there. She therefore called for the aid of the federal government. When the violators of the state law got out of the state they were safe, for no state process could follow them outside of the state, with a federal law the case is different. For a violation of a federal law the criminal can be apprehended in any state in the union.

It is a safe estimate that three-fourths of the negroes in the southern states are descendants of negroes shipped into those states by Dutch, British or northern slavers, and in direct violation of the laws of those states. It is, therefore, unjust and untruthful to charge the south with getting the negroes there. The south did not have as much to do with getting the negroes there as the north. Now, you northerner, after having so large a share in getting the negroes there, and they having become a nuisance and a menace, don't be a sneak and a coward, but step forward and do something to undo this wrong you have done, if it be possible. This will be an application of loyalty and love of country. Don't, like Old Adam, try to throw the blame on someone else.

Before northern people talk so glibly about the shortcomings of their southern brethren it would be well for them to learn a little American history, out of histories written by northern men. But none are so ignorant as those who do not want to learn.
