College Notes.

Miss Edna Blackman enrolled this week to be in for the remainder of the term.

Miss Jennie Bellows spent Thanksgiving Day in Emerson, as did also Prof. Sauntry.

Miss Eva Christensen, Teachers' '06, was a visitor for several days last week. Miss Christensen has a good position in the school at Meadow Grove.

One of the most pleasant socials of the term was held in the gymnasium Thanksgiving evening. The committee in charge had arranged a very pleasing program and all entered into the spirit of the occasion.

Pres. Pile, Prof. Sauntry, Misses Kingsbury, Anna and Jennie Bellows, and Fred Pile attended the "North Nebraska School Folks" banquet at Norfolk Friday night. They report that a large crowd was present and a very pleasant time enjoyed by all those present.

The following new students enrolled this week: Messrs. Dan Borg of Allen, Mathias Ardeser of Belden, Clarence Furst of Stanton, E. A. Sandin, J. F. Peterson and C. G. Youngquist of Newman Grove, August Kruse and Carl Pfeil of Wayne, and Miss Pearl Montgomery of Stanton.

Miss Ardilla Van Conett, Scientific '07, spent the Thanksgiving vacation visiting school friends. Miss Van Conett is meeting with marked success in her work at Central City where she has charge of the Normal training department in the high school.

A number of the students spent the Thanksgiving vacation at their homes. The most of them returned for the work Friday, but several spent the remaining two days visiting. The work now will not be broken up again this term, and all are planning on doing a great deal of work the three remaining weeks of school this term.

John Power, Scientific '06, came over from Norfolk Saturday morning and spent the time until Sunday evening visiting school friends. Mr. Power is principal of the school at Stuart where Misses Bessie Eaton and Louisa McGee, both former students of the N. N. C., also have positions in the school.

Henry Raubach, who is principal of the school at Creston, visited friends on the hill Thanksgiving Day. While here, he secured Miss Antrim to teach his primary department, as the present teacher, Amelia Reeves, is unable to attend to her school duties on account of sickness. Miss Antrim will make a success in this as she does in her student work.

Nearly every person thinks he has a license to laugh at the man who has lumbago.

After a man reaches 40, he cannot be expected to tell the truth in speaking of his age.

When a man falls in business, some people are sure to say, "I'll bet he feathered his nest."

When a boy goes on a visit, his good-natured friends will carry him in and out without being told.

When people try to give the impression that they are rich, it is a dead sure thing that they are poor.

A man imagines he is misunderstood; that he is too deep to fathom, though everyone sees through him.

A boy gets an orange so dirty when he peels it that no one but his mother will take a bite when he tries to be gallant.

Times are so hard since the financial flurry that men are cutting their mustaches off that they may smoke their cigars shorter.

After a widow has read the lovely inscription she has had engraved on her husband's tombstone, all doubts as to whether he was a good husband vanish.

In the savage countries, as soon as a man becomes a burden to himself or others, he is put out of the way; in those countries a man of 40 is compelled to walk mighty straight, or get killed.

Do you think that smoking conduces to tranquility of mind?

SORES AS BIG AS PENNIES.

Whole Head and Neck Covered—Hair All Came Out—Cured in Three Weeks by Cuticura.

"After having the measles my whole head and neck were covered with scaly sores about as large as a penny. They were just as thick as they could be. My hair all came out. I let the trouble run along, taking the doctor's blood remedies and rubbing on salve, but it did not seem to get any better. It stayed that way for about six months; then I got a set of the Cuticura Remedies, and in about a week I noticed a big difference, and in three weeks it was well entirely and I have not had the trouble any more, and as this was seven years ago, I consider myself cured. Productive Power of Western Canada Soil.

Winnipeg correspondent:

There has never been any who have doubted the productiveness of the soil of Western Canada, but there are sometimes found those who question the fact of its superiority. During the past season it has been shown that in grain raising qualities it possessed the very best. The late spring prevented grain being sown in many cases before the middle of May. Yet a large percentage of that sown at that time produced excellent yields. Had it not been for the frost early in August, which visited most of the north half of the continent, there would have been a magnificent yield in every district in Western Canada. Throughout the Southern Alberta district, where about 100,000 acres was sown to winter wheat, the yield will be enormously large. There are vast tracts of valuable grain-growing land in Western Canada that are available for homesteads, the Canadian Government giving 160 acres free, and entry may be made by proxy, by any near relative, thus saving considerable cost to the American who may have entry made in this way. Any Canadian Government Agent will give you the particulars.

Now OPEN for Settlement

Some of the choicest lands in the grain growing belts of Saskatchewan and Alberta have recently been opened for settlement under the Revised Homestead Regulations of Canada. Thousands of homesteads of 160 acres each are now available. The new regulations make it possible for entry to be made by proxy, the opportunity that many in the United States have been waiting for. Any member of a family may make entry for any other member of the family who may be entitled to make entry for himself or herself. Entry may now be made before the Agent or Sub-Agent of the District (or, in certain conditions, by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

"Any one numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-West Provinces, excepting 3 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person the sole head of a family, or man over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 40 acres, more or less."

The fee in each case will be $10.00. Churches, schools and markets convenient. Healthy climate, good crops and good laws. Grain growing and cattle raising principal industries.

From Lippincott's.

A distinguished professor of bacteriology, wishing to study infected insects, went into a butcher shop and asked the butcher if he had any mealy pork.

"No, no, sir!" answered the indignant butcher. "All our meats are fresh."

"I'm sorry," could you not get any mealy pork for your study?"

"Why, yes, if that's the kind you want."

A few days later the professor occupied his time with some "mealy pork."

"Why, yes, if that's the kind you want. I had it for you for your dinner last night."

Tableau With a Moral.

Dr. Albert B. Palmer, who won the blue ribbon at the recent Chicago Husband and show, was talking to a reporter about marriage.

"Marriage will grow happier," said Dr. Palmer, "as men are still too much like the savage. They still incline to dig their wives too much in the light of servitude."

"Why, not long ago at the seashore, do you know what I saw? I saw a little tableau that revealed to me in miniature, the chief cause of unhappy marriages."

"And that is?"

"A man in the white sand with toy spades and buckets. The little boy laid down his tools and said: 'Glad you want to be my wife?'"

"Yes," said the little girl, with a happy smile.

"The boy sat down on the sand and put up his feet towards her."

"Then," he said gruffly, "take off my shoes and stockings."

This is the age of the variegated sock. We have seen the brilliant and colorful socks with red stripes, black with pink stripes, and startling blends of mauve, brown and magenta brighten the window displays of our war-somewhat nowadays is to put yourself at once outside the pale of society. Indeed, so fashionable is the brilliant color in socks that the great makers "sock competitors" among the gilded and flannelled youths.

BEGAN YOUNG.

Had "Coffee Nerves" from Youth.

"When very young I began using coffee and continued up to the past six months," writes a Texas girl.

"I had been exceedingly nervous, thin, and very yellow. After quitting coffee and drinking Postum Food Coffee about a month my nervousness disappeared and has never returned. This is the more remarkable as I am a primary teacher and have kept right on with my work."

"My complexion now is clear and rosy, my skin soft and smooth. As a good complexion is something I had greatly desired, I feel myself repaid even though this were the only benefit derived from drinking Postum."

"Before beginning its use I had suffered greatly from indigestion and headache; these troubles are now unknown."

"Best of all, I changed from coffee to Postum without the slightest inconvenience, did not even have a headache. Have known coffee drinkers who were visiting me, to use Postum a week without being aware that they were not drinking coffee."

"I have known several to begin the use of Postum and drop it because they did not bolt it properly. After explaining how it should be prepared they have tried it again and pronounced it delicious."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the booklet, "The Road to Wellville," in page "There's a Reason."

MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING.

How lonely the house is when Edward is away, said Mrs. Hester, her friend, Isabel Morton. "I always feel as if the place were haunted unless he is here at night."

"There is certainly an 'eerie' look about this room," replied Miss Morton, glancing round the spacious apartment with its black oak wainscoting and old-fashioned, comfortable furniture, on which the freighting was playing fitfully. "The furniture in the night, and the shadows are something terrible. If I hadn't a night-light I should go out of my mind."

"But it is the light which makes the shadows?"

"All the same, I should die without it. But for the consciousness that my room is between yours and Edward's I really could not stay here."

The entrance of a servant with a supper tray put a stop to the conversation.

Oldy Manor was an ancient and large house in Chesterton, England, which had been handed down from father to son, generation after generation.

On the day of the death of Edward, the solitary domestic was all that could be seen. The young man had a right to his room, but he was not there. The room was locked up and deserted. It was hopeless to go out of my mind."

"Suppose we light some more candles, and try to get on?"

"We should look so washed out tomorrow, and you know Edward is going to be here," said Isabel.

"And we must look charming, in order to fascinate this rich and desirable young man," said Mrs. Hester.

"Here is your candle," said Mrs. Hester, rising. "Susan has gone to bed, and we must go to bed."

It was just after the church clock had solemnly sounded three that Isabel sat up in bed, her eyes staring with horror. For she had distinctly heard a loud report in the house, like the report of a pistol, and she knew that there were no dreams in the house except Edward's, which were always locked up. Who, then, was this, in the dead of the night, had invaded the premises?

The sound had aroused Mrs. Hester, who walked in the next minute in her dressing-room, her face white with terror. She saw one another and said nothing. "What Mary spoke."

"We can't," said Isabel.

"But suppose someone has attacked poor Susan?"

"What good could we do? We can't go." "If a burglar has broken in he will probably murder us also if we make no effort to escape," said Mrs. Hester. "The spirit was not roused. 'Let us dress, and then look round.'"

With trembling fingers they managed to attire themselves hurriedly; and, in deadly fear, armed themselves with fire-arms, and made their way toward Susan's room, which was near the kitchen.

But within a few paces Susan's room they stood still, appalled, for from beneath the wainscoting they could not do a dark-red stream was slowly creeping.

With a shriek they fled down the corridor, clinging to each other in terror, and trying to make their way to the front door.

Then Mary remembered the many and heavy fastenings to that door, and knew that her hands would refuse to undo them quickly enough.

"We must break one of the drawing-room windows," she said; and, after much stumbling over the furniture, they managed to traverse the hall toward Susan's room, which was near the kitchen.

With desperate courage, Mary took up a footstool and dashed it through the glass.

"Where are we going?" asked Mrs. Hester, as they went down the stairs to the police station at Everton, the nearest town, for they were quite away from any neighbors.

"Most of the night in the by-lane at some little distance."

The girls walked steadily for three miles, their trepidation too great for conversation.

The morning began to dawn, when the clatter of horses' hoofs was heard, and the two horses were soon in the dim light of night. They would have passed as rapidly had not Isabel screamed:

"Stop! stop! we want your help!"

The two gentlemen reined in their horses, and one dismounted.

On hearing the facts, the chief consulting doctor took place between the two gentlemen. Mr. Parker was in favor of taking the young ladies into Everton, and returning to the police station, but Edward urged that, as poor Susan might not be killed, but only injured, it would be inhuman to leave her longer in the hands of the enemy. If there were any ruffians about, you and I will show them," he said. "We shall go quicker if we take the girls on our horses."

So he lifted Isabel up in front of him, putting his arm round her waist, and Mr. Parker did the same for Mrs. Hester, in spite of the dreadful circumstances, he discovered that she was a very pretty girl, and that he was very comfortable.

"You are too valiant young women, were afraid to see poor Susan, afraid even to unlock the front door," said Edward; but at the same time his face wore a look of grave concern.

The struggling light caused every object to look black. The girls advanced the corridors their way through the corridors to a short distance from Susan's room.

"Now, said Edward, sit on my ruffian count to take up Mr. Parker and I will settle him, and you girls had better scream. Screaming has rather a good effect on burglars, but Edward urged that, as poor Susan might not be killed, but only injured, it would be inhuman to leave her longer in the hands of the enemy. If there were any ruffians about, you and I will show them," he said. "We shall go quicker if we take the girls on our horses."

So he lifted Isabel up in front of him, putting his arm round her waist, and Mr. Parker did the same for Mrs. Hester, in spite of the dreadful circumstances, he discovered that she was a very pretty girl, and that he was very comfortable.

USED 'PE-RU-NA'

Mrs. Lizzie Lohr, 1155 W. 12th St., Chicago, Ill., writes:

"I take pleasure in writing you these few lines, which may be of some use to others suffering the same as I did. I had my complaints for over a year, night sweats all winter and no appetite. I was run-down so far that I did not try to do my cooking. I was so weak. I tried many different medicines and doctors also. Nothing seemed to do me any good. The doctors wanted to operate on me.

"At last I wrote to Dr. Hartman, and I told him just exactly how I was, and he told me what ailed me and how I should take Peruna.

"I did as he told me for four months, and now I am all cured.

"No one can tell how thankful I am to him, for I had given up all hopes of ever getting well again.

"I am a widow and the mother of six small children who depend on my support. I work all day and seldom get any rest.

"I took five bottles of Peruna in all. I am now able to do my work and I will gladly tell all about it.

"I thank Dr. Hartman for what he has done for me."

CONTAGION A QUESTION OF PREVENTION.

Sinks, drains, eating and cooking utensils, sick room linen and clothing frequently carry the dreaded disease germ unnoticed by the household.

Thorough and hygienic cleansing is the best safeguard against infection, and such a safeguard is found in the universal household necessity—BORAX.

This simple preventive curries in itself, disinfecting qualities which enter the fabric or act upon the article to be cleaned in a hygienic manner, eliminating every unwholesome property, rendering it contagion-proof, while at the same time Borax is of itself as harmless as salt.

Unlike most disinfectants which depend upon their strength of odor or harmful-to-the-system qualities, to arrest or prevent contagion, Borax is Nature's remedy, being easy to obtain and easy to apply, a simple solution in hot water being all the application necessary and requiring no prescription, it can be obtained from any grocer or druggist in convenient, economical household packages.

In addition to its disinfecting qualities, Borax is especially a household necessity, and can be used for softening water, cleansing and whitening clothes, clearing the skin without hurting, making an excellent dandruff remover and can be used on the finest laces or most delicate fabrics without injury, while as an adjunct to the bath it removes all odor of perspiration and leaves the skin soft and velvety.

"SPECIAL MERIT" SCHOOL SHOES

"Wear Like Iron"

Mayer "Special Merit" School Shoes are especially made for the hard knocks and severe wear of healthy, romping school children.

They are made of thoroughly seasoned upper leather and tough, old-process and limo-tanned soles, the strongest and most durable material obtainable—that's why they "wear like iron."

Plenty of room for growing feet, sensibly shaped shoes, strong enough for the hardest everyday use, dressy enough for Sundays.

Your dealer will supply you; if not, write to us. Look for the name and trade-mark on the sole.

Don't put money in your mouth. Put it in the banks.

Humorist Julius Huff says that a Norfolk telephone girl received a proposal of marriage and she was in such a hurry to say "yes" that she got tangled up and said "line's busy."

The world is growing better, at least at Hartington. Both editors go to Sunday school. Now if the lawyers would only attend, the millennium would surely dawn.

A bevy of Laurel young women have organized a J. U. G. (Just Us Girls) club. It would have proved far more popular if they had organized a H. U. S. (Hug Us Girls) club and asked the young men to join.

The good Methodist people of Wakefield have presented their new pastor, Rev. W. G. Limer, with a set of harness, and he says now he is all harnessed and ready for business.

Superintendent Frank Pilger, of Pierce, is spoken of as an available democratic candidate for state superintendent next year.

"I have seen and heard of many swift towns," said a traveling man, "but never in my life have I been in a place where the women had to carry an alarm clock around their waists, as did a Creston lady last Wednesday, in order that she might know when it was time to cease shopping for the day."

Four of the Schupper brothers are now conducting blacksmith shops along the Short Line, Andrew at Belden, Carl at Randolph, Ernest at Osmond, and William at Plainview.

When asked what he thought about the removal of the motto, "In God we trust," from the double eagles, W. M. Morning, of Lincoln, said, in view of the size of the coin and present day tendencies, he would like to suggest that they put on, "God Be With You 'Till We Meet Again."

A man with a hand like a college professor's thinks "this one good enough to print:

That they spooned two hours in the rain.

Colonel Moses M. Warner, of Lyons, an old timer himself, and official historian of Dakota county, writes: "While we are enjoying this beautiful fall weather, it might be well to glance backward over the fleeting years that have passed away and see what kind of November weather our pioneers sometimes experienced. At least twelve times the Missouri river has frozen over in November since the advent of the first settler, and on the 18th of November, 1871, one of the greatest three days blizzard swooped down upon the people from the northwest, with a fury which was never witnessed before by the pioneers, lasting three days and three nights."

At last the profession has been disgraced. A newspaper man has been sentenced and taken to the penitentiary. He hails from Boone county, and was convicted of an unmentionable crime. To make it still more mortifying, an attempt is being made to send up another from the same county. It is alleged in the second one's case that money left in his care for the heathen in Africa was misappropriated. That is, he scattered it among "heathens" in his own town. Tomorrow, Sunday, I'll be thirty-one, My, how the years roll by, A fellow hardly gets started right, Until it's 'bout time to die.

If one gains wealth he has no friends, Unless a good fellow to blow it, And if he's poor, it's the same old thing, He soon finds out to woe it. So there's nothing left but to do your best, And in crooked stunts don't dicker, Be true, be pure, be honest, be good, Aim high and let 'er flicker.

District Court Next Week.

District court convenes next week, a week being devoted to equity matters and assignment of cases before the jury is called. The Wayne county agricultural society occupies a prominent place on the docket, the county suing for possession of the property, while certain stockholders are fighting the county's contention; John S. Lewis, James Britton, et al, having a majority of the stock. The trouble all started when the Speed association—certain stockholders—and Lewis, Britton, et al, got into a difference over the property, the latter parties getting a controlling interest of the stock; the county, through its board of commissioners, claiming the property had reverted to the county by reason of no heirs being held, and which view of the matter the minority stockholders take, as the DEMOCRAT understands it. The Agricultural society retained Ex-Senator Allen as counsel, and the county Judge Evans as assistant, and the county attorney, Mary Kean vs. Franz E. Moses is over a bull belonging to plaintiff, that the defendant transferred to a steer. The case has been hanging fire since appealed by the plaintiff from the county court. City of Wayne vs. J. C. Pawelski, appeal for the fracture of a city ordinance. Hornby Bros. vs. I. D. Brugger, scrap over a manure spreader defendant sold and got paid for, and plaintiff claims would not work well. Fredrick Jensen vs. Anton Jensen et al; this is the outcome of a salubrious divorce case of over a year ago; Frederick now seeking by the sale of certain property to recover alimony given her when the decree was granted. Anton is the man with the game leg who staid at Dan Roush's with a female whom the officers got after. Spencer vs. Jackson, over an insurance account. State vs. Chas. Hargitt, peace bond. Gamble vs. Ferdig, action in replevin. DeWitt vs. John Gustafson, foreclosure. Peter Matz vs. James E. Hamilton; plaintiff sues for $5000 damages alleged to be due for injuries received in falling off a defective platform the Winside play house, the alleged property of said Hamilton. Si-Man and Berry are attorneys for Matz, A. R. Davis for defendant. Hamilton claims he had leased the property to another party, repairs to be made by lessee; that defendant knew of defects in platform; and also tells the DEMOCRAT that Matz does not appear to be injured. The cases against the saloonkeepers, from last spring's mixup, doesn't appear to be understood by even the attorneys interested. If put on for trial there will probably be further complications. Kohl vs. Munson and Kellogg, is a suit to recover commission in the sale of some 2200 acres of South Dakota land to Charles Shulteis and Mr. Kellogg, and will be a matter of considerable interest to Wayne people. Young vs. State, assault case from Carroll. State vs. John Muth, another assault with intent, the result of a row at a dance held southeast of town last spring. Perry Booram vs. Julia Booram, divorce case from Winside. Mrs. Booram a few years ago ran the boarding house west of the postoffice. Art League vs. A. C. Goltz, action on account. Willard Campbell vs. Della Campbell, divorce. State vs. Raymond Larson, assault.

Ten cases of the Nebraska Land Co. individual incorporators vs. Wayne County, over the matter of the corporation paying taxes. Farmers Nat'l bank of Pilger vs. Robert and Joseph Baird; the bank has a judgment and seeks to have a deed given by Robert Baird set aside so they can recover on the judgment. Edith B. Kelly vs. Geo. L. Kelly, divorce desired. Johannes Hansen vs. Lars Larsen, F. A. Berry for plaintiff and A. R. Davis the defense. The parties are well-to-do farmers living north of Wayne and evidently have not felt the pangs of the money panic. The plaintiff, it appears, heard that Larsen said that he, Hansen, shot Larsen's duck or ducks, hence a $5000 suit for slander. City vs. Mike O'Connell, appeal from a fine in police court. Spencer Hardenbergh vs. Emma Schulz foreclosure.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Carlson extend their thanks to the good friends who gave them assistance during their sad bereavement, the tragic death of their son Henry.

The county commissioners were in session Tuesday and allowed all bills for road work and election expenses. The DEMOCRAT being unable to publish proceedings this week.

According to a "want ad" in a Kansas City paper, C. R. Munson of Wayne has "1 million dollars to invest in good city property and farms." That doesn't look like any stringency.

LOST—Saturday evening, November 30, between Wayne and Strahan's farm, one brown horse blanket with light color border, brand new. Finder return to this office and receive reward.

The DEMOCRAT learns that Frank Ulrich was shot and dangerously wounded the past week. The young man went hunting on Saturday and was not found until Monday, having accidentally shot himself in one of his legs. He is now at the home of his mother in Wayne.

It is reported about the depot that the morning passenger will arrive here at 7 a. m., instead of 7:30, which is peculiar since it has as hard time getting here at 7:30 as people have in getting to it. The evening train west will also be ten minutes later, 7:05.

Harry Armstrong received a letter this week from Louie Paff, who at one time worked here in Steen's bakery. Mr. Paff is now keeping books for a mining company in the Black Hills, that has recently come into production. He said that the last ten days they made a clean up of $21000.00.

Ben Elliott had word this week from a brother-in-law, Mr. Weston, of Denver, that he recently came in possession of some mining claims through an old prospector who was hard up and needed a little money. An old shaft was down a hundred feet on the property and Mr. Weston immediately got to work and shipped two carloads that netted him over $2000.00 per car.

J. P. Connelly of Norfolk was in the city yesterday on his way to Bloomfield on business. Mr. Connelly is the man who captured Herman Boche last summer, his reward, $600, being held up until Boche is convicted, although it was offered simply for his capture. Through his attorney, Wm. V. Allen, Boche this week got a continuance from Judge Welch until the spring term of court, the defendant now being out on $15000 bonds by grace of Supreme Judge Barnes.

Good farming, based on sound principles of science and practice, was never more important or profitable than now. The Homestead, an agricultural and live stock paper published every Thursday at Des Moines, Iowa, is the best exponent of good farming. The Homestead is edited by farmers who live upon and operate their own farms right here in the middle West, so that their teachings are thoroughly practical. It has departments devoted to horticultural, poultry, sheep, dairy, veterinary, laws affecting farmers, current events, house and home, Sunday school lessons, editorial comment, live farm gossip, etc.; and its contributors include able and successful farmers and experiment station experts throughout the West. Many farmers in this vicinity are already subscribers for The Homestead and all should be; as whatever adds to the practical knowledge of the farmer increases the value of land and enhances the prosperity of the community. We take subscriptions for this splendid farm paper at this office; and, by special arrangement with the publisher, can give you a low subscription rate for it in connection with The Democrat.

Strahan Precinct.

The Winsor family spent Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Hooper.
Mr. Simons was down from Hoskins and spent Friday and Saturday with his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis.

There is great rejoicing among the farmers around here, as most of them have finished picking corn. Most any of us can pick a hundred and fifty bushels in ten hours.

One of our good-natured bachelors finished picking corn the day before Thanksgiving, and is now laboring to get his correspondence in shape as he expects many calls during the year 1908. So wake up, girls, leap year will soon be here.

You Can Easily Operate This Typewriter Yourself

Don't worry your correspondent. Don't write him anything by hand that it takes him time to make out—that may leave him in doubt—that he can't easily read. And don't fill out legal papers or card memos—or make out accounts or hotel menus in your own hand writing. It looks bad, reflects on your standing, makes people think you can't afford a stenographer, and is sometimes ambiguous. You can write out your letters—make out an abstract—fill in an insurance policy—enter your card memos—make out your accounts or a hotel menu—or do any kind of writing you need, on any kind, size or thickness of paper, space any way you want on

The OLIVER Typewriter

The Standard Visible Writer

You can write any of these things yourself if you do not happen to have a stenographer. For you can easily learn, with a little practice, to write just as rapidly, and as perfectly, as an expert on the OLIVER. Because the OLIVER is the simplified typewriter. And you can see every word you write. About 80 per cent. more durable than any other typewriter, because it has about 80 per cent. less wearing points than most other typewriters. So per cent. easier to write with than these other complicated, intricate machines that "require" "humoring"—technical knowledge—long practice and special skill to operate. Than machines which cannot be adjusted to any special space—with which it is impossible to write abstracts, insurance policies or odd-size documents, except you buy expensive special attachments requiring experts to operate. You can adjust the OLIVER to any reasonable space—you can write on any reasonable size and thickness of paper, right out to the very edge, without the aid of any expensive attachment or special skill, and your work will be neat appearing, legible and clear. For the OLIVER is the typewriter for the doctor, the lawyer, the insurance agent, the merchant, the hotel proprietor—or any man who does his own writing. Write us now for our booklet on the simplified features of the OLIVER.

The Record's Review of Market Conditions.

There will probably be some surprises sprung with relation to the increase in the mineral production of the country. This increase for 1907 will likely not be nearly so large as it will be in 1908 and 1909. The reason for this statement is the growing interest not only on the part of the small investor, but with the larger interests in the financial world relative to western investments. This is nature. While the East continues to grow in population, in wealth and in business transacted, its growth is not nearly so great as that in the Western states and territories. We can readily understand that the wide awake Eastern investor will become more keenly alive to the opportunities in the West as time passes. Money will accomplish much greater results now than it will in fifteen or twenty years from now, because every class of property, mineral other, in the West, is undergoing the same growth that took place a great many years ago in the East. This is practically true in mining, where modern methods and the expansion and transportation and railroad facilities make it possible to treat ore that could not be handled in 1893. Word from Goldfield shows that the transfers of stock to buyers are becoming heavier than they ever have been during any period of depression. The Cripple Creek stocks are being bought more readily than they have been in a great many months past. While capital is going into the various districts it is being invested very quietly and without a show of boom conditions that have been so apparent in times past.

The country cannot maintain the position of hoarding, nor is this true in any country where a field for new development is at all open. There is no country in the world, considering climatic conditions, transportation and other natural conditions and facilities that has the opportunities open that are to be found on every haud in the United States.

That a much heavier buying of mining stocks is to take place in the very near future is only natural. This is in direct harmony with the growth that is destined to be shown in all lines of industries. The day has past when mining must be segregated from other industries of the country. Those who have lived through the conditions do not fully appreciate the gradual blending that has been taking place between mining and the other classes of business. Men interested in practically every class of enterprise in the country knows they have become more and more enthusiastic regarding mining. Thus instead of industrialists holding a place purely speculative and romantic, it is now accepted as one of the legitimate fields of investment.

In consequence, the majority of persons interested in mining learn to gauge their enthusiasm as much by the general conditions of the country as by the booms in the mining regions. While we may expect, in varying degrees, periodical booms in different camps, the wild wave of enthusiasm is not as essential today as it was fourteen years ago, or for that matter even as recent as six or seven years ago. The business has been getting on a more legitimate and more business-like basis during the past few years. It is regarded by men in the higher financial and industrial walks as a good place for some of their surplus. A revival in all markets, including both listed and unlisted stocks, is very certain to take place.

The paragraphs are having plenty of paragraphs on Mrs. Bryan and her daughter Mrs. Leavitt going to Europe to spend the winter, but not a word about Ruth's husband. What we want to know is where is Leavitt?

The Fort Dodge messenger says: "T. J. Mahoney, a traveling man, got funny in the Budweiser saloon Friday night." By dad, what was he doing in the Budweiser saloon unless he wanted to get funny—or foolish—or working up sentiment? As a rule men don't shed tears until after they get out of the Budweiser saloon.

Howard Whalen made a "rough house" in the postoffice yesterday, the lobby being full of waiters, by stepping on a dog's tail and at the same instant giving W. O. Gamble's leg an awful pinch where the calf ought to be. "Ouch! Get out! Get out!" yelled the little colonel; and then as the howls of the dog disappeared there went up a great shout by the ticketed multitude.

A MONEY SAVER

"One Dollar Saved is Two Dollars Earned"

We are now giving in exchange for a bushel of wheat—winter wheat or spring wheat—28 lbs. of Superlative flour and 10 lbs. of bran or 8 lbs. of shorts or 33½ lbs. of Snow Flake flour and 10 lbs. of bran or 8 lbs. of shorts. We also return to you your screenings. It will pay you to store your wheat with us for your year's flour. If you have no wheat let us buy you a load or whatever amount you want. If wheat or flour advances—which it surely will—you will have bought your supply and need not worry. Come and see us about this.

The Norfolk News was the first to get here with it—the president's message.

Won't somebody please whisper to the butchers that the price of meat has been reduced.

The pops have called their national convention for April 2—just a day too late to make good meat for the paragrappers.

There must be something in hypnotism. That woman never kept her mouth shut twenty-four hours of her own accord.

The New York stock exchange took a four days' Thanksgiving vacation. There would be no general regret if it had forgotten to meet again.

The Columbus Telegram says the kind of small pox they have down there is like the money panic which we had a few weeks ago. It scares more than it hurts.

By dad, these holidays are a nuisance for a printing office. They upset everything, even to the devil. However we can give thanks that there are no more of them.

While the whole world knows that Mrs. Bradley was entitled to the job of killing Brown, the verdict of "not guilty" makes her a disgusting, sickening sort of a heroine.

A Milwaukee policeman claims to have found forty-two cockroaches in an unopened bottle of mineral water. It is certainly time to put the lid on in Milwaukee if the cops are that far gone.

"Old mother Hubbard, she went to the cupboard, to get herself a new dress, but when she got there the cupboard was bare and so—was Mother Hubbard, I 'dees," is what a little Wayne girl was heard singing the other morning.

The corn pickers are limbering up. Thanksgiving day I heard one say that he was making from "three dollars and a half to three dollars and fifty cents a day." He didn't say how much he hucked in a day, but he said, "You bet I'm the boy that's hard to catch."

It is pretty hard to imagine such a thing as too much temperance, but the anti-saloon forces are bound to carry their ideas so far that there will be a great reaction again. The temperance forces are anything but temperate when they get a jag of enthusiasm on.

Over at Atlantic, Iowa, the bankers are advising the farmers to hold their projects for better prices and have banded together to furnish them money to help them do it. That is real practical way of minimizing the effects of the flurry—if it brings the higher prices.

A Chicago woman dropped a piece of coin in the slot, turned on the gas to kill herself and started the phonograph to singing: "There will be a hot time when the Lillies bloom again!" By dad, I should think the present price of coal in Wayne would be all the music desired for any one going—where the fires never go out.

Editor Brande of the Pierce Call is the greatest humorist of the age. Bro. Brande accuses W. J. Bryan of stealing Congressman Boyd's bill to make bankers' credit good.

A German farmer, who lives south of town, was an early, breathless caller on the DEMOCRAT Monday morning, and the first thing he was able to ejaculate was, "Am I too late?" Upon being told that he was, stuff was all off and it was $1.50, he sorrowfully explained that he sent his son to town Saturday with particular instructions to call and pay up ahead on the DEMOCRAT, and the first thing he asked the boy on his return home was if he had done so, but "the tam boy had forgot it." Of course under such excruciating circumstances we had to take a dollar for it. Wouldn't you?

"Removed from the state!" That's what the postmaster at Wisner writes me regarding the whereabouts of Alta J. Lewis, who owes me for the DEMOCRAT since April 1, 1904. Wonder if she didn't "remove from the state" April 1st? And since the postmaster at Wisner does not state to what state Alta J. has gone may we hope it at least is not—Texas.

There's a little old account, Alta J., that dates back to 1904, Alta J., and it makes me make a roar.

That you cannot pay the score; Alta J. But suppose your only fooling, Alta J. Since 'twas April 1 you got it, Alta J. So we'll simply take your name off.

To the subscribers who can best finish this verse and write one more on this subject I will pay a prize of $1.00 to first and 50 cents to second. Copy to be in this office not later than Tuesday next. Name of contributor to be printed with verse.

A dozen years ago I stole the following little squib from some sheet and it brought such a favorable comment that it is worth keeping before the public: A German addressing his dog said: "You vos only a dog, but I wish I vas von. Ven you go mit de bed in, you shust durnd round dre times and lay down. Ven I go mit de bed in I haf to lock up de blade and vind de clock and put de eat out and dress myself, and my wife vakes up and scoles me. Den de baby cries und I haf to walk him up and down; den maybe ven I shust go to sleep, it's time to get up again. Ven you get up you shust scratch yourself a couple of times und scratch, and you vas up. I haf to quick lite de fire, und put de kittle on, scrap mitt my vife already, und maybe get some breakfast. You play all tay and haf plenty of fun. I haf to work all tay and haf plenty of drouble. Ven you die, you's dead; ven I die I haf to go to hell yet."—Ex.

By dad, this DEMOCRAT enjoyed an experience last Saturday that we have reason to feel falls to the lot of but few country weddies. Fact every day had been a "bargain day" for a couple of weeks, but Saturday, Nov. 30, 1907, made all other days look like a country poor farm. From 7:00 a. m. until 9:30 p. m. (when I had to go home for fear some creditor would get me) the money panic continued, only every thing was coming our way, part of the time taking the whole office force to shovel the filthy lucre back out of the way. Now that it is all in—the bank where we borrow money to do business on—we can't help thinking about the mean things such saints as Preacher Hughes of the Fender Republic says of the DEMOCRAT and wonder if, while his paper would not keep a church mouse on a cob diet, all the people who put over two hundred plunks on the DEMOCRAT's subscription books last Saturday are accomplices of and abettors of such a wicked institution as this paper? Dear readers I thank you for such a liberal contribution. By dad, if I thought it would make you do it again we'd raise the price to $2 per year January 1st.

A "mother" at Emerson writes the World-Herald a caustic letter on the Teddy Bear fad, that has so completely put the Christmas dollies out of place; that such a deplorable state of affairs will stultify the instincts of maternity, etc., in the hearts of the children. If some of these "mothers" would just turn back a few pages of good old times when the girls were taught how to do housework, the Teddy Bear would pass into the forgotten past with—Roosevelt. Otherwise let us hope the innovation has come to stay and that "the petticoats" will soon become a race of Teds, typewriters and affinites. Eleven out of every dozen "grown females" that try to cook for poor mankind, to-day, it has been my experience at "four dollars per week," to say a teddy bear you can give a swift kick in the ribs is much less objectionable. A girl, six-teen years old, who makes coffee that reminds you of what it cost to get a cess-pool emptied, oatmeal that tastes like burnt-cork or rubber, meat that is either uncooked, burned or unseasoned—bread—ye gods what an awful insult to the staff of life—may not be to blame, but ten chances to a fiddler's ghost par-ty her mother is, and she belongs to several clubs, goes to church seven to ten times a week—to see what the other women wear, takes a strenuous activity in trying to put the "damnable saloon" out of town—some poor devil's only refuge who his home becomes "a hell on earth."

N. E.—This is only a mean, cynical man's version of it. Any of you "mothers" got anything to offer, to enliven newspaper space, we'll be glad to put your piece in print next issue.

Christmas Presents. Every year photos are becoming more popular for Christmas presents, but nearly everybody puts off having them taken until about the last week and then we have more than we can do in order to induce people to come in early, we will give fifteen pictures for the price of a dozen to everyone who orders before December 15. Remember the days are getting short, so come in early in the day if possible. 12-12 CRAVEN, the Photographer.

Mrs. Chas. Beebe is still suffering considerably from a serious illness. She went to Sioux City Tuesday morning and was examined for the purpose of determining whether an operation will be necessary.

At the carnival meeting held Monday night in Dr. Lovig's office a set of officers were elected. W. L. Robinson was elected president, John Mellick secretary, and Ed. Trautwein treasurer. Five hundred dollars of the money now on hand was set aside for the purpose of buying land for a public park and the officers instructed to look after securing some desirable land. The land just north of the depot where the corn cribs now stand is considered favorable. The balance of the money on hand about $100, was turned over to the ball club.

Geddes, South Dakota, Nov. 27, 1907. Mr. Walt Goldie.

Dear, Delicious, Delightful Friend Walt—You will know that I need the Democrat from the fact that I am taking advantage of the dollar rate before Dec. 1, 1907. Enclosed find draft for $5 to boost my subscription a little. I have been figuring on coming to Wayne for the last two years, but don't seem to find time, may come down New Years, am not sure. Business is good, crops are fair, and prices are out of sight. The financial flurry doesn't affect us at all. Lots of money here. Best country on earth. R. Philleo Badly Injured.

While getting a piece of lumber out of the shed last Friday afternoon, R. Philleo fell to the ground, a distance of twelve feet, and sustained serious injuries. Sunday evening Dr. Conniff was called up from Sioux city and after an examination found the injured man's hip bone was shattered. Dr. Conniff told the DEMOCRAT it was a serious proposition owing to Mr. Philleo's age, and that he was very nervous. At best it will be a long time before the old gentleman can get about again.

A trained nurse came up from Sioux City Monday night to take care of R. Philleo. The patient is doing as well as could be expected, but to lay in one position all the time with one limb in a plaster-cast is decidedly irksome to a man who has hustled every moment of a long, busy life.

A Deplorable Case.

One of the worst accidents that ever occurred in Wayne county happened last Tuesday evening at the farm home of Victor Carlson, 9½ miles northwest of Wayne. One of the older sons had been out hunting and in the evening left his gun beside the barn. Later Henry, aged 14, and a brother aged 12, got into a friendly scuffle over the "unloaded gun," the older boy pulling it toward himself and the trigger catching in the younger boy's clothing. The shot tore through Henry's left leg above the knee, mashing up the bone and making a horrible wound. A doctor was called from Carroll, at first, and later Drs. William and Naffziger from Wayne. Friday forenoon the boy was brought to town and taken to Dr. Naffziger's hospital and preparations made to amputate the limb, but about five o'clock the poor boy passed away; the shock and trip being more than he could stand.

The Norfolk Press says: The bankers are all in a willing frame of mind, just like Billy Bryan.
