Which Do You Prefer?

A Tailor-Made Suit or a Chicago Buzzard

Those who are hard to fit and wish to have their suits made to measure should patronize their local tailor who UNDERSTANDS HIS BUSINESS and is here to stay. Should anything prove unsatisfactory he is here to MAKE IT GOOD.

The man who is "here today and there tomorrow" taking orders for suits may know how to count inches on a tape measure, but it is very probable that he never saw the inside of a tailor shop. Good cutters do not have to travel through the country taking orders. If they are competent their place is at the cutting table where they may easily be kept busy.

A person who is hard to fit or has an odd-shaped form must have his coat and vest made to try on before it is completed, to be assured of a fit.

Leave your orders for clothes with your home tailor and you will get satisfaction.

COMING TO WAYNE

World Famous Medical Specialist to Visit Here Three Days, May 25, 26 and 27.

Word has just been received here that Dr. F. Earl Gordon, who is consulting physician to the Hot Springs doctors, who have their Nebraska State Institute permanently located at 14th and O streets, Lincoln, has decided to pay a three days visit to Wayne and while here will stop at the Boyd hotel where he will receive patients. Dr. Gordon will make examinations and give consultation free of charge and all curable cases will be treated free of charge except for the bare cost of the medicine used.

This wonderful Hot Springs system of all home treatment which Dr. Gordon is bringing to Wayne has a national reputation as is attested by the fact that the United States government owns Hot Springs, Ark., and has established its army and navy hospitals there where soldiers and sailors are sent after all other methods have failed to cure. The United States government highly endorses the Hot Springs system of treatment and the Hot Springs Doctors hold a government license to treat all chronic diseases of the nerves, blood, heart, lungs, bowels, kidneys, liver, skin including rheumatism, neuralgia, paralysis, catarrh, gall stones, piles, goitre and diseases of women and diseases of men.

The daily papers throughout the country are continually publishing reports of the wonderful cures that have been made by these wonderful Hot Springs doctors. The Hot Springs system is all home treatment so that frequent visits to the office are not necessary and it may be used in any home anywhere, without inconvenience, publicity or annoyance and without detaining the patient from his or her usual occupation.

The Nebraska State Journal in a recent issue published the following remarkable article:

"Rufus E. Geiger of 210 South 10th street, Lincoln, tells an interesting story of how he was cured of epileptic fits by the Hot Springs Doctors and is now able to go back to work at his trade as a machinist without fear of falling among the heavy machinery and being killed, while having a fit, because he has no more fits."

Mr. Geiger also tells another story of how his letter, which was published in this paper, telling of his cure has brought him a host of visitors. In a letter to the Hot Springs Doctors he says: "Gentlemen: Since that letter I wrote you telling you how the Hot Springs treatment cured me of epileptic fits, after I had been treated and experimented on by fourteen doctors for six years without receiving any benefit whatever, I have had hundreds of inquiries from people who wanted to know whether it was a fake advertising scheme. Some evenings when I return home from work I have five or six callers to ask about my cure. It seems funny that so many people would think the letter a fake and come to ask about it, but I guess it is because of the experience they have had with other doctors like I had with those fourteen that treated me and took my money, but did me no good. I think some of the people are sent by other doctors—the doctors who could not cure me themselves and it is hard for them to believe that any one else could cure me. But here I am sound and well; Hot Springs treatment cured me after fourteen doctors failed. No more fits for me—let the skeptics keep on coming, I am here as a living testimonial and glad to help any sick person to a cure by sending them to you."—R. E. Geiger.

While calling at the office of the Hot Springs Doctors at 14th and O streets, the reporter asked Dr. Ben W. Kinsey, who is chief of staff of the Hot Springs Doctors, if it was the custom of the doctors to publish a testimonial from each patient. "There would not be enough room in your paper to do that, so we publish only a few of the thousands that come to us from patients who express a desire or willingness to have them published for the benefit of others," said Dr. Kinsey. The waiting rooms of the Hot Springs Doctors are now filled every day with patients who have come from all over the state and adjoining states to consult with these noted specialists and diagnosticians.

This wonderful Hot Springs treatment is what Dr. Gordon is bringing to Wayne. He will be here but three days, May 25, 26 and 27 and while here will receive patients at the Boyd hotel. Examination and consultation is free to all who call and curable cases will be treated free except for the cost of the medicines used. If your case is found to be incurable, you will be frankly told so and you will not be accepted for treatment at any price or under any condition as the Hot Springs Doctors absolutely refuse to accept an incurable case for treatment. Remember the dates and place May 25, 26 and 27 at the Boyd hotel, Wayne, Nebraska.

Bankers Waking up to the Great Possibilities of the West

The National Banker in a recent issue says: "The unparalleled prosperity of the mining industry at the recent time is attracting widespread attention, and thousands of people are acquiring wealth by judicious investments in high-class mining stocks."

Mining occupies a unique position in the industrial world today, for it is the only industry not affected by trusts, business rivalry, the law of supply and demand, limited market, hard times and financial panics. The supply is so far below the demand that the consumer eagerly seeks the producer; there can be no over-production or lack of consumption; no decline in values and no chance for any combination to control the volume of production.

The work of mining continues uninterrupted, regardless of all these outside influences, and therefore a mining investment is at once the most stable and profitable line open to the investor.

In fact no other field of investments can show the great profits that are being made as in mining and the past five years have brought forth untold millions from the deeper working of the old mines and countless new mines.

The New York Engineering and Mining Journal gives a list of 236 mining companies, a 1000 shares of the stock in any one of which would make a handsome income for the owners.

The Claumet and Hecla has paid the first investors $1500 for each dollar invested and the stock has advanced from $1 to $840 a share.

The company paid over 50 per cent dividends last year to more than ten thousand stockholders.

The LeRoy mine was sold entire in 1890 for $12,500 and has since had a market value of $10,000,000. An investment of $100 in the LeRoy stock a few years ago is now worth $250,000 and has paid in dividends $35,000.

The stock of the Gold Coin has advanced 55 per cent since 1896 and is paying annually 8700 per cent dividends on that price. An investment in United Verde of $300 has realized $90,000.

One thousand shares of Quincy and Tamaqua would insure an income of $5000 annually at the present time.

This list might be extended to several hundred if we had the time and space to list them, which give a combined output annually of several billions. There is enough gold mined every year to capitalize every national bank in the United States. Without the mines the whole industrial structure would go to the wall.

People who a few years ago were prejudiced against mining are now getting their eyes open to the great possibilities that are now offered and the business methods used in handling the ores economically and people who a few years ago would not consider a proposition of this nature are now taking hold with a great deal of zeal.

Correction as to Orrin Garwood.

Jud Garwood and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Orrin Garwood, arrived here from Washta, Io., last Saturday. The latter is entitled to a slight correction and apology from the DEMOCRAT as to comments made by this paper last week. Mrs. Garwood tells the DEMOCRAT they got along splendidly and it was an awful shock when Mr. Garwood left her as he did. The following from the Washta Journal is more correct as to the domestic affairs of this young married couple:

Orrin Garwood, who until recently was manager of the Jas. Robertson lumber yard, left town last Wednesday without informing anyone of his destination. After reaching Sioux City he wrote back to Mrs. Garwood, saying that he was going many miles away and telling her not to look for him. He wrote a similar letter to his father at Wayne, Neb., but added that his head was troubling him again and that he would come back when he recovered. The elder Mr. Garwood arrived here Friday and assisted his son's wife to pack up and move back to Wayne, which she did Monday. He informed us that Orrin has been subject to severe headaches, so bad at times as to compel him to give up study when at school, and he fears the young man's mind is affected now.

Orrin Garwood came here from Wayne, Neb., about eight months ago and was married two months later, bringing his bride from his old home. He was a model young man, upright in his dealings and courteous to everyone, and his many friends here hope to soon hear that all is well with him.

Watch the date May 9th, the day when the Campbell Brothers Great Consolidated Shows appear here. Each succeeding year new features are hunted up and added to the already famous circus—startling acts, that play upon the imagination; hair-breadth escapes in mid-air by daring acrobats and the various ring acts that never fail to amuse. Horses always take a prominent part in every circus, and this is no exception to the rule. Beautiful silky-coated horses with glittering trappings and mounted by a bevy of pretty girls in natty costumes, catch the eye on all sides; no matter where it is in the parade, or under canvas, in the sawdust ring, horses reign supreme. Campbell Brothers are famous for their thoroughbred horses and the number and beauty of their circus horses this season are beyond comparison. Watch for the grand street parade at 10 a. m. and the big shows at 2 and 8 p. m. under new water-proof tents, rain or shine.

Campbell Brothers Big Consolidated Shows have added another big feature—the Imperial Cossack Troopers from the Steppes of Russia. Their marvelous riding has astonished the whole world. They will be seen in the brilliant street parade and at both performances in Wayne, May 9.

J. C. Ecker was down from Winside Tuesday on tornado insurance business, having some losses near Concord. Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup—the cough syrup that tastes nearly as good as maple sugar and which children like so well to take. Unlike nearly all other cough remedies, it does not constipate, but on the other hand it acts promptly yet gently on the bowels, through which the cold is forced out of the system, and at the same time it allays inflammation. Always use Kennedy's Laxative Syrup. Sold by J. T. LEAHY.

The farm of J. W. Mason, southeast of Concord, was touched up by a cyclone Thursday of last week, one end of the house being torn out, outbuildings wrecked and buggies and wagons made into kindling wood. Wm. Sprague, the oil man, was driving to Dixon, and saw the infernal machine as it twisted its tortuous way over the country, dipping to the ground, and then raising up in the air, carrying death and desolation wherever it struck.

To have perfect health we must have perfect digestion, and it is very important not to permit of any delay the moment the stomach feels out of order. Take something at once that you know will promptly and unfailingly assist digestion. There is nothing better than Kodol for dyspepsia, indigestion, sour stomach, belching of gas and nervous headache. He was a pleasant caller at the Gazette office and put down a few plunks on subscription, also telling us that he was in search of a suitable residence, as he expects to move his family here by the first of next month. That he has for the last three months been engaged in the saloon business at Crofton, but is glad that he is again out of it and is satisfied in taking his family and moving to a dry town.—Wausa Gazette.

Fullerton News-Journal: George D. Meikeljohn has booked passage from New York for the last Saturday in May for Colombia, South America. Dame Rumor has it that Gentleman George goes to that warm climate to claim the hand in marriage of perhaps the wealthiest widow in that land of flowers, palms and minerals. He will go at once to Bogota, the capital, where his affianced lives in one of the finest mansions of that tropical country. Dame Rumor also has it that the widow is a most beautiful Brazilian, and her entertainments and receptions far exceed that of the royal family. The attachment was formed while the governor was assistant secretary of war and has been growing with increased ardor with the years.

Randolph's lighting plant was wrecked Wednesday night of last week in a most peculiar manner. The escape of Mayor Reed, Engineer Fox, Mrs. Fox and an expert by the name of Thomas from Minneapolis, who were in the engine room at the time, seems almost miraculous. Although pieces of machinery flew in every direction, large holes were torn in the floor and ceiling, belts were torn to shreds and shaftings bent and twisted, yet all escaped without a scratch. The accident was caused by the breaking of the big belt leading to the generator. When it broke it wrapped about a shaft and then everything went to pieces.

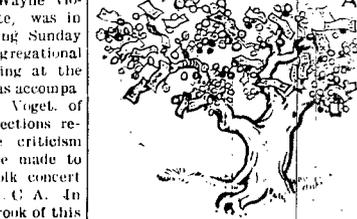

The street parade that will be given May 8th, at 10 a. m. by the Campbell Brothers Consolidated Shows will be a brilliant spectacle, consisting as it does of hundreds of high-spirited horses with their natty trimmings; South American Gauchos and Australian boomerang throwers; bright-eyed señoritas from Mexico; desert-born Bedouin Arabs; Japanese athletes and Hindoo fakirs; detachments of cavalry troopers of many flags; master horsemen of the universe; Mexican, Indian and American bands and strange Oriental music, of many nations, funny clowns with their funny mules and ponies and the magnificent cages containing the wild beasts of the desert and trained animals. In fact it is a parade that is in itself a grand and beautiful show. Everyone be sure and see it at 10 a. m.

Kodol for Dyspepsia has helped thousands of people who have had stomach trouble. This is what one man says of it: "E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, Ill.—Gentlemen—In 1897 I had a disease of the stomach and bowels. I could not digest anything I ate and in the spring of 1902, I bought a bottle of Kodol and the benefit I received from that bottle all of the gold in Georgia could not buy. I still use a little occasionally as I find it a fine blood purifier and a good tonic. May you live long and prosper. Yours very truly, C. N. Cornell. Rod- ing, Ga., Aug. 27, 1906."

Of all the plays the incomparable Shakespeare wrote the most popular is the Merchant of Venice. This great masterpiece contains both comedy and tragic incident. It is the play that is read most in schools and colleges, and like a good friend improves upon better acquaintance. Shylock, the Jew, has from time immemorial, been the synonym of all that is despicable among men, as the most heartless of money lenders, while on the other hand the beautiful Portia has been the example to feminine grace, loveliness and mental excellence for all women. These two great characters who are as different as Heaven and Hell, together with other creations as conceived by the "myriad minded" Shakespeare, interwoven with conversation, the language of which has been an example for all time for

The Hoosier..... Kitchen Cabinet

This Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet is made of solid oak and will not warp in the kitchen heat.

Come in and see our Hoosier Kitchen Cabinets, look them over. Observe how the flour comes out through the sifter, so that none can be wasted or become moldy. See the dust-proof sugar bin, the metal cake and bread boxes, the spice cabinets and the extension aluminum work table top—all the Hoosier Special Features.

Some Hoosier Special Features

The Flour Bin

The flour is put in at the top, passes through the entire bin and is taken out entire sifted at the bottom, thus no moldy flour can accumulate. The bin is self-cleaning, made of metal and white wood.

The Sugar Bin

The sugar bin is the most cleverly devised bin in the Hoosier. The bulk of the sugar is held in the upper part of the bin, as the opening is only large enough to allow a small quantity to run into the lower part. When a scoopful is taken out the same quantity drops down.

The Recipe Cabinet

This outfit consists of 100 recipe cards, 10 guide cards labeled bread, cake, dessert, eggs, fish, meats, miscellaneous, salads, sauces, soups and vegetables. The cards are in a neat rack attached to the same door as the spice tins.

The Aluminum Work Table

This extension top can be drawn out or extended beyond the front of the cabinet over 11 inches, adding one-third to the working space.

The Bread and Cake Box

The place for keeping bread fresh and moist is one of the best features of the Hoosier. The Hoosier bread box takes the place of the lower drawer. It is 8x11x24 inches, made of metal and has close fitted lids. One end is partitioned off for cake.

FOR CONGRESS.

I desire to announce myself as a candidate for the nomination for congress, in this, the Third Congressional district, subject to the will of the democratic and populist voters at the primaries to be held next September.

J. P. LATTA, Tekamah, Nebr.

No one who reads the daily papers can fail to comprehend the gigantic and expensive campaign being made by the moneyed and corporate interests to defeat Bryan's candidacy for president. History tells the unvarnished and actual conditions in 1890 and 1896 as to how Bryan was put to the bad. The same interests unquestionably arrive at but one conclusion, that Bryan must be deprived of a third race because the third time will prove the charm. It behooves every Nebraskan, republican or democrat, to well consider why the politicians and millionaire grafters want Bryan thrust aside. In whose interest is the candidacy of Johnson put forth? Remember the millions in insurance and other funds put into the campaigns of McKinley and Roosevelt; watch the pendulum of the Record-Herald and other "independent" organs, and see how much "velvet" there is in it for these great "moulders of public opinion" before you swallow all the anti-Bryan dispatches as being anything but damnable lies. "The pen is mightier than the sword," it likewise beats the devil doing deviltry.

Sanford Dodge Coming Again

Mr. Sanford Dodge whose name in the theatrical world is a synonym of dramatic excellence will pass through this territory again soon enroute to the Pacific Coast where he is engaged for the summer months to play in the big stock theaters of the John Cort circuit. It has been some time since Mr. Dodge has visited Wayne and during that time he has played successfully over the larger part of the United States and Canada and is now conceded to be one of the foremost exponents of the legitimate drama on the American stage. His engagement will consist one performance when he will present "Merchant of Venice." Friday night, May 1.

Senator Latta's Announcement.

In sending the DEMOCRAT a card to publish stating that he would be a candidate before the primaries for the nomination for congress, Mr. Latta introduces himself as follows:

With respect to my candidacy, I wish to say that I have an extensive, and here and there, an intimate acquaintance in every county in the district. I have lived in Burt county forty-five years. I came here when a boy, before the railroads arrived, and walked the entire distance from the Mississippi river, over 400 miles. I secured work on a farm and have been a farmer ever since. Although I take other business interests in Tekamah, I still own and operate my farm of 2,500 acres.

This county gives a normal republican majority of 800 votes but I have twice been elected to public office on the democratic ticket, serving in the lower house of the State legislature several years ago and in the senate of the last legislative session, representing Burt and Cumming counties. In the last contest I lacked but 72 votes of carrying Burt county against a good man living in the county.

It has been a matter of great pride to me to know that in my long residence here, constantly employed in building up business enterprises, I have been able to command the love and respect of my neighbors and friends, as shown by the vote I have always received in this county—a vote which would have easily elected either Judge Robinson or Judge Graves.

If nominated, rest assured I shall do everything in my power that is honorable to carry this district and I believe that such a campaign as I shall be able to make will greatly assist Mr. Bryan in carrying the State.

Yours very truly,
J. P. LATTA.

Good News from Lincoln.

For the credit and good name of Lincoln the World-Herald is glad to find this promise of better conduct printed prominently in the Lincoln Journal.

It has been informally agreed among the people here that Lincoln is to be polite and non-partisan this year. When democrats from outside came to Lincoln in 1896 and again in 1900 they found the town plastered with McKinley pictures. It was so humiliating to Mr. Bryan that he preferred to go away to see the leaders of his party than to have them come here to see him. Now a general feeling of tolerance and good nature is in the air, and when the democratic statesmen come they will be received with tolerance. A part of the change will be due to business conditions, but most of it comes from the reaction from the extreme partisanship that prevailed here eight and twelve years ago.

If our esteemed contemporary, the Lincoln Journal, would be entirely frank, it would add that a large part of the change comes from a healthy sense of shame for the contemptible way in which Lincoln people treated their great and distinguished neighbor in 1896 and 1900. And under this hypothesis of entire frankness, the Journal would go a little further, even, and add that its own shame led all the rest, for the Journal's treatment of Mr. Bryan, petty, mean, malicious and dirty, had much to do with misleading the people of that city into taking the unworthy attitude toward Mr. Bryan they did.

In part, too, this change must come from an awakening which many Lincoln people have experienced concerning the fine character of their neighbor. The years have taught them to know William J. Bryan and to respect and love him for the man he is.

Mr. Bryan's enemies have made much of the fact that his home town and his home precinct have invariably gone against him, as his home state has often done.

Wouldn't it be funny if, at this time, when all the world is doing honor to a Nebraskan, Nebraska herself should decide to do a little honor on her own account to one who has reflected such honor and renown upon the state of his adoption?

Wouldn't it be funny if partisan old Lincoln should do honor to her great citizen who has given her a recognized place on the map of the world, and wouldn't it be funny if Mr. Bryan's own precinct wheeled into line?

On the other hand wouldn't it be something of a joke on the town, which William J. Bryan has made famous by making it his home, should the people of the United States elect him president while Lincoln registered her vote against him?

These questions are purely speculative, of course, but whatever happens, and however Lincoln votes, Mr. Bryan's friends and admirers in both parties, but particularly the millions of loyal democrats, will be grateful to Lincoln for just a little ordinary decency toward Mr. Bryan this year.

As an Omaha newspaper, the World-Herald rejoices that Omaha will always have it to her credit that always she has treated Mr. Bryan with the highest respect, and in 1896, when Lincoln was insulting him whenever a public reception was given him, Omaha at all times showed a spirit of courtesy and neighborly kindness.—World-Herald.

C. A. Berry Sells Out.

A deal was closed up Tuesday by which John Hufford takes possession of the C. A. Berry bookstore next Monday, at which time the stock will be inventoried. The DEMOCRAT understands that Mr. Berry will probably go west in quest of a new location. While one good man goes out of business Wayne people will be pleased to see Mr. Hufford remain in the city, and here's hoping he will meet with the success he deserves.

On Again, Off Again, Stout Again!

Wayne, Neb., April 27, 1908.

Editor Democrat:

We had decided sometime ago to keep our old lace closed up and not allow any more of our baldness to be published in the "only newspaper in Northeast Nebraska," the Nebraska DEMOCRAT, but since my last visit in Wayne I have somewhat changed my mind. Now, if you will allow me a little space in your paper I will turn loose again. I have no doubt but that it is fresh in the minds yet of quite a number of your readers that a temperance wave struck me some two months ago. Now, my intentions at the time were all right, but it seems that my resolution proved to be a little weak, for last week while in Wayne I took a relapse, a different kind of a wave struck me and I drifted back into the old road again. Now the only way that I can account for this is that I got Wayne's politics, religion and drugstore whiskey, all mixed together. I tell you that is a bad mixture. Neither Wayne's politics nor religion, nor both of them together, will put a strong minded man off his feet, but that drugstore whiskey! My God! Take the old boy's advice and leave it alone. I can't buy any whiskey and I don't want it. I got it just the same. It may be that what I drank came out of the "mechanical purposes" bottle, for I was told by different ones that know me that they never had heard me run off such a batch of lingo as I did on this occasion. One party told me that he made up his mind that he had discovered perpetual motion. We have finally made up our mind now that the only place for us is where there is a free and unlimited use of booze, and we will try and get our 16 to any of their 1. Down in Oklahoma, the way the law is at present, ought to be, for an eye-opener in the morning anyway, but when I was champion it wouldn't have made me a snail. We may not be in Wayne again for some time, but we are compelled to see some of our real friends that we forgot the other trip. They will perhaps excuse us for this last deal, hoping now that we may learn of some place on earth where the supply of booze would somewhere near fill our demand.

Respectfully,
CHAS. W. STOUT.

YOUTH IS VICTIM OF SUICIDE POEM

Girl's Verses Prompt New York Man to End Life in a Park

SUICIDE.—I had my hollowed life and look like a man who has left a purple stain. Behold the plain, where haptness has been. If I should shatter down this empty vase.

New York, April 25.—Nora May French's poem, "suicide," claimed a third victim in New York, when Rosalie Peck pulled a pistol, trigger and sent a bullet into his heart as he lay on a bench in Prospect park, Brooklyn.

Peck was only 18 years of age. He was troubled from his family and had been estranged with an affection of the eyes, for which he had tried Christian science treatment.

The poem was copied in nearly every newspaper in the country. Within a few weeks a young woman killed herself in this city.

CHURCHILL'S DEFEAT IS LAID TO ASQUITH

Liberals Get a Setback in Election of Manchester—Premier Overlooked Election.

Manchester, England, April 25.—The northern division of Manchester by the heaviest poll ever in 29 years reversed its verdict of 1906 and by a majority of 429 votes, unseated as its member in parliament Winston Spencer Churchill. He has just been made president of the board of trade in the new Asquith cabinet, and who last year so brilliantly wrested the seat from the seafaring Hicks, unionist, his chief opponent.

The defeat of Mr. Churchill is a crushing blow to the prestige of the government and the young and confident minister which is bound to have a marked influence on several pending bye elections.

Among the many influences and cross currents at work in this extraordinary contest, it is not wholly beyond reason to suppose that Mr. Asquith himself was partly responsible for the defeat of his young colleague.

It is certain that the saloons and breweries will make an organized fight on this proposed law and Tuesday's vote in a county election, in addition to the municipal elections now provided.

Denver, Colo., April 25.—Formal announcement is made in the Mines' Magazine, official organ of the Western Federation of Miners, over the signature of C. E. SALOONS MAY HAVE TO RUN GAUNTLET OF TWO ELECTIONS

Dakota Liquor Interests Prepare to Fight Proposed County Option Bill.

Yankton, S. D., April 27.—The late vote on high license by towns and villages all over South Dakota, indicates that if the county option bill is approved at the polls next November it will win by rural votes.

The present law provides that the question of issuing licenses to saloons shall be voted upon at the annual municipal elections. If the voters against license do not satisfy the temperance sentiment of the state, and the initiative and referendum provision of the constitution was utilized to submit a law to the voters through the last legislature, a county option bill, which provides for a vote upon license by any county upon petition by 10 percent of the electors.

It is certain that the saloons and breweries will make an organized fight on this proposed law and Tuesday's vote in a county election, in addition to the municipal elections now provided.

The results of Tuesday's license election, summarized, follows: For Dry Town.—Majority Town—Majority Clinton 51 Burlington 22

For Wet Town.—Majority Town—Majority Brookwater 59 Deadwood 22

DUC CHAUNES DIES SUDDENLY IN PARIS

Theodore P. Shonts' Daughter, Two Months a Bride, Is a Widow.

Paris, April 27.—The Duc de Chaunnes today was found dead in his bed in his apartments at the Hotel Langham, in Rue Becquerel, by his wife. Death was due to embolism, the obstruction of an artery.

New York, April 27.—A cablegram to Theodore P. Shonts today announced the sudden death, in Paris of his son-in-law, Duc de Chaunnes. The duc and Miss Theodora Shonts were married in this city February 15 and were in Europe on their wedding trip.

The Duc de Chaunnes, whose full name was Emanuel Theodore Bernard D. Albert de Luynes, duc de Chaunnes, was 29 years old and was a member of one of the most aristocratic families of the French nobility.

The wedding took place at the home of the bride's father, 123 East Thirty-fifth st., the ceremony being performed by Monsignor M. J. Lavelle, rector of St. Ignace church.

At the Langham all information relative to the death of the duc was refused with the exception of an unofficial statement that the duc died at the home of a member of his family and not at the hotel. It was explained this was the way the family desired the announcement to be made.

AGED BRESFORD WOMAN FATALLY HURT IN CYCLONE

Beresford, S. D., April 27.—The home of Mrs. Erickson, eight miles south-west of here, was struck by a heavy cyclone which passed through here at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The aged woman was the only place struck. Three people were in the house at the time John Erickson, Mrs. O. Erickson, his mother, and Miss Mary Erickson, his sister.

PUBLISHERS INVITED TO TESTIFY BEFORE CANNON COMMITTEE

Washington, April 27.—Telegrams inviting testimony were sent out today to Herman Rieder, president, and E. N. Baker, secretary of the American Newspaper Publishers' association, and to Melville E. Stone, general manager of the Associated Press by Chairman Mann, of the select committee of the House appointed by the speaker to investigate the charges that the high price of printing paper is due to a combination or conspiracy in restraint of trade, fostered and permitted by the tariff.

NOTED ACTOR IS SUED FOR DIVORCE

Mrs. Dustin Farnum Didn't Like Howard Gould's Charges of Intimacy.

New York, April 25.—Dustin Farnum the young actor, who was mentioned by Howard Gould in his answer to the suit brought by his wife, Katherine Clemmons Gould, for separation, is being sued by his wife, Agnes Johnson Farnum, for absolute divorce. The papers were handed to Justice Dowling in supreme court late yesterday.

The young leading man's middle name may be "Henry," but that was not mentioned by him by "A. Johnson Farnum" is not at all suggestive of Mrs. Dustin Farnum.

Farnum's first cause is to prominence on the stage in "The Virginian," in which he took the title role. Being a new star on Broadway he became somewhat of a sensation. That was in 1902. He played in buckskin trimmed cowboy clothes and carried revolvers.

Howard Gould's answer to his wife's petition is understood to be the last straw which broke the back of the Farnums' marital relations. This document, fraught with extraordinary statements, was loaded with charges of "immoral conduct" on the part of Mrs. Gould as well as charges of Mrs. Gould's fondness for intoxicants, beginning as alleged with two or three cocktails before breakfast, which became a habit, and brandy highballs and unlimited supplies of champagne at dinner, whereby on one occasion, it is alleged, she fell into a chair to the floor.

Mr. Gould further claimed that his wife would Dustin Farnum to Philadelphia in October, 1906, when his company, the "Farnum," was playing "The Actor" and the actor both started at the Hotel Bellevue-Stratford and later went to Atlantic City together, putting up at the Hotel Marlborough-Blenheim. Mr. Gould again accuses his wife of improper conduct at Atlantic City, but he is in no case makes any charge that his wife Farnum.

PRESIDENT OFFERS HIM ANY JOB HE WANTS

New York, April 25.—Frank B. Faynor, life-saver, formerly connected with the Belport life-saving station on the southern coast of Long Island and now a resident of Newburg, can have any office in the gift of President Roosevelt that he wants, provided nothing in his head is so big that it will not fit.

REPLEVIN'S WIFE; PAR VALUE, $10

Memphis, Tenn., April 25.—One of the most novel pictures in the courts of this section is that of W. J. Riggin, a white man, who replevined his wife, formerly Miss Ada Templeton, from her parents. Evidently, Riggin, replevined a bond of $10 on the value of the property in question. Riggin placed a value of $10 on his wife, giving bond in the sum of $20.

LAW IS CONSTITUTIONAL

Springfield, Ill., April 25.—The supreme court today rendered a decision in the McBride case, declaring the new law constitutional. Upon this decree depended the effects of the three saloon elections which had been held under the provisions of the present law. The court's decision resulted in 36 counties barring out saloons altogether, while 36 other counties turned liquor dispensaries out of all but one or two towns in the county. At least 2,500,000 population in the law, who have lived in prohibition districts, would perhaps be put back into saloon territory if the supreme court had declared the law unconstitutional.

Why They Love Him.

Ask any man who admires William J. Bryan why he loves him, and that man is always ready with an answer. Ask the average Nebraska democrat to give a reason for the faith that is in him, and nine times out of ten you will get an answer which will convince you, even though you may not agree with the man, that his faith is founded on a rock. In fact there are thousands of Nebraska democrats out on the farm, in the workshop, and in all vocations, who can write excellent newspaper articles, picturing to other men the reasons for the faith they hold. Out on a Platte county farm lives a man who wrote a splendid letter for the Omaha World-Herald the other day, a letter for the writing of which thousands of democrats will give thanks to the writer. As it appeared in print that letter ran as follows:

Monroe, Neb., April 20.—To the Editor of the World-Herald: I am writing a few lines to express my opinion of what Mr. Taft said in regard to Mr. Bryan leading the democratic party against its will. My advice to Mr. Taft would be to let him get out among the people and talk to them a little, then I think he would soon change his opinion. I think it is safe to say that 999 democrats out of every 1,000 are for Mr. Bryan as their standard bearer.

It seems to me that Mr. Taft's memory must be very poor or else he would remember two years ago, when one state convention after another would pass resolutions endorsing Mr. Bryan as their candidate for president, and him at that time in a foreign land thousands of miles away from home. And why is it that Mr. Bryan is the choice of the democratic masses? And why is it that he is so dear to the heart of every democrat? I will tell you why. It is because of the principles he advocates; it is because his heart throbs in sympathy with the people; it is because he believes that every man should be treated equal. He does not believe there is one law for the rich and another law for the poor, and he has courage and ability to fight for those things which are right. Although twice defeated for president, he stands higher in the estimation of the American people than any other man today. And is it any wonder that they are ready to enlist under his banner for the grand cause that he is advocating? My advice will be to every one who believes in the noble fight he is making for humanity to get to the front at once so that he will not have to bear the battle's brunt alone. And I think if each one of us will do our duty this coming campaign, and if Mr. Taft should be the republican candidate, he will find out to his sorrow whether Mr. Bryan is leading the democratic party against its will.

EDMUND MILES.

It is with a sense of genuine pride that The Telegram prints the above letter. We are proud of the personal and political friendship of Edmund Miles, and we know he speaks the real sentiment of the great majority of our people. His tribute to Bryan's principles is high, but not too high. His tribute to Bryan's personality is magnificent, but every word is deserved. We hope every reader of The Telegram will read the above letter twice, and then read it again. And we desire to particularly urge an acceptance of the advice which Edmund Miles gives us. He pleads that every friend of Bryan and his principles will get active, and not leave Bryan to do all the fighting in the battle for the cause of humanity. We suggest that it would be well for the cause if the World-Herald would take that letter and reproduce it in prominent position in the next Sunday issue of the paper. It is an inspiring letter, and it will encourage every man who reads it, if he be friendly to the cause of human rights—a cause which claims for champion the noblest citizen of the nation.—Columbus Telegram.

The Sanford Dodge Company.
Mr. Sanford Dodge and his splendid company will visit Wayne for a brief engagement of one night, Friday May 1. It is only by accident that he is able to be with us at this time as he is filling in time preparatory to commencing his summer engagements in the large coast cities of the John Cort circuit. Since he was here Mr. Dodge has been playing continually in the East, South, North and West having just completed a tour of twenty weeks in Canada and his press notices show that he has literally captured that country. He is surrounded by a splendid company consisting of the old-time favorites, Miss Louise and Miss Eleanor Marshall, Miss Cowlyn Carr, Mr. Jose Fox, and many others equally good in their various roles. He retains many of his popular old plays in his repertoire as they are the best that ever have been or probable ever will be written. Don't miss this one dramatic treat of the season.

Card of Thanks.

The Leigh World is publishing items of "sixteen years ago" from its old files and last week published this item which brings back to mind a time when United States Senator Burkett was teaching school there and had trouble. The item will recall the matter and is as follows: "The community is much wrought up over the difficulties which have arisen at school in the case of Reuben Johnson, a pupil in the intermediate department, who wrote an excuse for himself and Irving Walling, signing his mother's name to the same. Mollie Dickinson, his teacher, investigated matters and with the consent of Prof. E. J. Burkett administered a judicious punishment commensurate with the offenses of lying and deception. Charles Johnson, an older brother, sought to interfere with the punishment and Miss Dickinson summoned Prof. Burkett who requested Charles Johnson to leave the school building, and upon his refusal ejected him. On Friday morning Mel Johnson, father of the two boys, swore out complaints against Prof. Burkett and Miss Dickinson, for maliciously assaulting, bruising, etc., both Reuben and Charles Johnson. In his haste to vent his spleen Johnson did not wait until after school hours to have his papers served, but caused the constable to go up the school house and place the teachers under arrest before the whole school. The complaints were filed in Justice W. I. Walling's court where Prof. Burkett and Miss Dickinson were arraigned, pleading not guilty. A. M. Walling appeared for Johnson and F. J. Everitt for the defendants. The school board, consisting of V. W. Graves, E. J. Smith, G. W. Kibbler, J. A. Phillips, Isaac Blattner and J. H. Hamilton, adopted resolutions approving the course pursued by the teachers. After an exciting trial the jury returned the verdict of not guilty."

That happened sixteen years ago when Burkett was teaching school at Leigh, a little town with two teachers in the schools. Burkett, was a young fellow just starting out in the world then and in sixteen years he has made rapid strides upward, especially swift for one of his very ordinary abilities. He is a pleasant fellow and has a smile and a handshake for all and that makes up in popularity what he lacks in real brains. Burkett went from Leigh to Lincoln and became a lawyer and he was not a brilliant one nor did he have any notable practice. But he went into politics and lined up with the elements of Lincoln and was sent to the front. He was elected to the legislature and then went to congress from that 1st district and re-elected and was chosen for a third time, but did not serve that, for he was elected to the United States senate before the time came. Burkett was running for congress and the senate at the same time and was successful in both runs, so took his choice. That double aspiration well illustrates Burkett and his way of doing things—hold on to a sure and good thing while he reaches for a better. And he has even presidential dreams. You know that there is nothing small about Burkett's ideas as to Burkett and he evidently thinks he is in line next to Taft. But Burkett will spoil it all with his overwhelming ideas as to his own greatness. He is so affected that his gestures and tone of voice in making an address causes one to get the tired feeling.

Burkett made an address in Schuyler a couple years ago and he nearly drove this Observer out the hall with his tones of voice and his affected movements of his hands in gesturing, plainly indicating that he was a grand statesman and knew it so well himself. He talks like a poll parrot, saying what he has heard others say, for he never had an original idea of his own. But the poll parrot has Burkett skinned because while it talks much and says over what it has learned, it has a striking originality along with it that entertains, while Burkett is very wearisome and now that he shows so plainly that he knows that he is a great man, he wearies you more than before. Poor Burkett will go down one of these days rapidly, will hit bottom with a sickening thud and to rise no more, for accidents don't happen twice in the same manner.

Senator Elmer Jacob Burkett, of Nebraska, is sketched in an imposing attitude by the artist-correspondent of the New York Telegram. With palms uplifted and eyes searching the blue sky he is depicted murmuring smilingly, "Come Down, My Evening Star." The provocation for this melodious pose is explained by the correspondent in this way: Senator Burkett is probably the last rising young western republican for whom the late Mark Hanna predicted presidential honors and ever since his gaze has been turned upward toward that particular star in the political zenith, which is supposed to lead to the chief chair in the White House. He was found after a long search in a committee room of the capitol building. He was rather lazily leaning against a radiator, just as on cold mornings fifteen years ago he used to lean against the radiators in the class rooms of the Nebraska university law school. He wore a western frock coat and his eyes frequently were cast upward as though he might at any minute be expecting a ray of the presidential star to filter down through the light of day. I saw him first, and, besides, he had a would be postmaster to place. So he submitted.

"I don't like interviews," he said, as I approached. I reminded him that was a phase new to the Nebraska politician, but he parried by replying, "I am a public servant, not a politician." He seemed to forget that Mark Hanna had said he was born to the latter. I mentioned that fact, whereupon he looked far over my head with a sort of star-away gaze.

"Are you"—I began, but he broke in at once, saying, "I am in the hands of my friends."

I saw I had begun on a wrong tack, so hastened to ask:

"Who is your choice for president?" "My state has declared for Taft," was the answer, but the senator smiled in a guilty sort of a way when I glanced at his rather slender figure and wondered how he ever could hope to catch even a single ray of the star's light as a running mate to the rotund secretary of war.

"But you were very agile and active on your feet in your college days," I commented.

"Political sidestepping has kept in form," he replied, hopefully. Then he seemed to realize the gravity of the situation.

"You know," he exclaimed, "I have been and, with due modesty, might say I am, being talked of as a vice-presidential possibility. But I am hampered by tradition. Just look at all the Nebraskans who have been similarly talked of. There was Senator John M. Thurston and Senator Manderson and the late Edward Rose water—well, and many more. The talk never seemed to be more than a whisper by the time it got outside newspaper offices. What can I do?"

"It pays to advertise," I said, and made a mental note to send him a rate card. "From 'Plow Boy to President'—how does that sound?"

"S-s-h! Not so loud," he exclaimed. "That won't do in Nebraska any more."

"Then there is another thing," he went on. "You easterners don't realize what a power Nebraska has come to be. You don't appreciate it."

"But how about your vice-presidential hopes?" I interrupted, and emphasized the word that in this instance meant second place. "Was there ever a 'plow boy' candidate whose hopes soared no higher than that? Is it not true that your friends are planning to spring you on the Chicago convention as a western dark horse, and thus force, as did Bryan's golden cross, the public gaze to again turn westward?"

Surprised by my boldness I waited silently for an answer, but none came. Glancing up I saw the senator standing motionless before me, his face turned upward, his eyes seeking the rays of the star, and grim determination showing in his cleft chin. I still waited for an answer, but—

I must have leaned too far back in my chair for just then I bumped my head and woke up.—Schuyler Free Lance.

"In Loving Remembrance."

That is the sentiment that pervades one's being in taking a view of the beautiful monuments that are being carved into history by Prof. R. Durrin. Mr. Durrin has just got in a shipment of emerald pearl granite from Aberdeen, Scotland, where it is put in a finished state, the handsome material being quarried in Finland. Prof. Durrin states that it takes about a year to get an order for this granite laid down in Wayne. That of late years people of Wayne county and of the vicinity demand the best materials obtainable in the world with which to build everlasting monuments to the departed. Among orders of local customers at present in Durrin's studio and workshop is one for Judge Moses, 14000 pounds being the size of it. Also handsome stones ordered by Mrs. J. W. Nichols, John Swanson, David Cunningham, John Schalnus, and Fred Luth, the latter being Quincy, Mass., granite, the same material the Bunker Hill monument is made of. It is an interesting study, this monument business, and Prof. Durrin has a broad fund of information about the various underground formations, as well as being a master builder and having rare artistic ability.

$1000. For A Woman.

There may be nothing new under the sun, but "When the Mummy Moves" is certainly an original title for a story. It is, of course, a story of mystery and it is so ingenious and interesting a mystery that THE CHICAGO RECORD-HERALD, in which it appears serially, offers a first prize of $1000 to the woman who makes the best solution, with 115 other cash prizes for women and girls who make the next best solutions. The story begins in RECORD-HERALD Thursday, April 23, and the conditions of the contest will be found, accompanying each installment, in that paper. Those who have been unable to get THE RECORD-HERALD containing the early installments may obtain a reprint of those installments by writing to the Prize Mystery Editor, THE RECORD-HERALD, Chicago. While the masculine sex is not eligible in this competition it is probable that it will interest the whole family circle and there is no reason why men shouldn't help their wives, daughters, or friends to a successful solution.

The DEMOCRAT hereby tenders thanks to the World-Herald for being reinstated on its exchange list, although it was not done at the DEMOCRAT's request. Ten years ago, when this paper was in abject poverty, it had easy "exchange" with the Chicago Tribune, Chicago Record-Herald, Omaha Bee and World-Herald, Sioux City Journal and Tribune, Kansas City and St. Paul papers. Then as good times came along—republican prosperity—the Bee couldn't make such an unfair exchange, the Tribune and Record-Herald dropped off, the World-Herald quit coming, and the Sioux City Journal sent us a bill for $16 on subscription. The Sioux City Tribune and Norfolk News also quit, and it looked, by dad, as though we "were all in." Why this thushness we are unable to explain. The DEMOCRAT has enjoyed probably more financial prosperity than any other weekly paper in the whole state of Nebraska. The circulation has increased from 400 to 1400, and that in face of an increase in price from $1.00 to $1.50 per year. The plant has made the owner a good many thousand dollars; got him married and paid for a crop of pretty good-looking youngsters. And yet there is abject failure when passing judgment under the eye of daily journalists, one of whom—the Sioux City Journal—writes: "we have no use for your paper." It is therefore with a feeling of appreciation that we welcome the World-Herald to our exchange desk. This matter is not one of pecuniary interest; we are able to buy all the papers we want; but when every little burg hereabouts is honored with an "exchange" it makes the DEMOCRAT feel decidedly incompetent and immaterial.

Among new students to enroll this week are: Miss Edith Beemer, Oakland; Miss Effie Lauman, Wayne; Miss Ora McCance, Carns.

Mrs. Mary Seace-Schofield, Scientific 1897, of McClean, and little daughter visited some classes and took dinner with President and Mrs. Pile last Friday.

The term musical given Monday evening under the direction of Miss Hewins was very good. All who took part did nicely and the program was enjoyed by a good attendance.

Among Saturday and Sunday visitors on the Hill were: Messrs W. Vaught, and Frank Driscoll; Misses Grace Ellis and Ethel Doty, all of Pilger. All were once students with us and are most welcome callers.

The social given in the gymnasium Saturday evening by the Scientific class was indeed a successful one. Those present pronounced it among the best of the year, and great credit is due the members of the class.

Mr. Elmer Lundburg delivered an interesting and instructive address at the joint meeting of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. last Sunday. Mr. Lundburg always pleases the students, and his subject on this occasion was "The Bible as Literature."

Mrs. Pile went to Randolph Saturday morning to remain until Monday afternoon. She attended the Foreign Missionary Convention of the Norfolk district, of which she is secretary. Mrs. Pile says Randolph is one of the busiest towns around, a dry town of which the citizens are proud and well may be.

About thirty of the K of P boys went to Norfolk Tuesday night and attended a meeting of Morning Lodge No. 20 of Norfolk. There were candidates for all three degrees and the Winside team put on all the work. After the work was completed an elegant banquet was provided by the Norfolk lodge and a most enjoyable after meeting time was had. It is generally reported that Ike Brown, Frank Tracy and Harry Tiedrick had considerable trouble to convince their wives that the odor of their breath was caused entirely by brick cheese and that they had not been out to a dutch picnic.

There is a temporary lull in the trouble between the village and Mr. Benschopf over fencing certain streets, and things will remain as they are, at least until next Saturday when the matter will be presented to judge Weich.

While there is no indication of any remonstrances being filed against issuing licenses to any one of the prospective saloon keepers, it is probable that the Board will be petitioned to limit the number of saloons in Winside for the coming year to one.

Miss Hattie Jeffrey Passes Away.

A sad death occurred in Wayne yesterday, the demise of a bright young woman to whom life should have held the greatest promise. It was with much compassion that Wayne people heard of the death of Miss Hattie Jeffrey, who passed to the great beyond at 11 a. m. Conscious to the last and believing that she would get well again, is what the DEMOCRAT is told of Hattie Jeffrey's last hours on earth. Deceased had been sick for about six weeks, although friends say the girl had not been herself since the death of her mother, April 7, 1907. The funeral will be held from the Presbyterian church at 2 o'clock tomorrow (Friday) afternoon, Rev. Osborne presiding. Miss Jeffrey was 25 years of age, born at Anamosa, Iowa. She leaves father, sisters Mary, of Baltimore, Md., and Mrs. Henyon and Mrs. Frank Spahr of Wayne; brothers Robert, Mark, Alex, Chas. and Roy.

Jumped the Quarantine.

There was considerable excitement about town Tuesday forenoon when it was learned that D. C. Patterson of Omaha, who was quarantined at the home of W. O. Gamble, where his little daughter is confined with diphtheria, had jumped the town, getting a team to drive him to Wakefield where he took the early train for Omaha. Tuesday afternoon Sheriff Mears was dispatched to Omaha to bring the fugitive back, arriving here Wednesday evening. After taking supper at the restaurant Sheriff Mears and his prisoner proceeded to the residence of Justice Alter where arrangements had evidently been made for a trial, according to City Attorney Berry. It took only a few moments for the justice to dismiss the defendant, who plead his own case. Mr. Patterson personally told the DEMOCRAT later, that he beat the city because the state board of health has in the last five years made regulations—which he followed—that put city ordinances to the bad. He had a written copy of these rules with him, and upon telling his story to Alter he got a dismissal. Local authorities state that it was a specious plea, an outrageous miscarriage of justice. City Attorney Berry produced the latest laws on the subject stating the duties of county boards and city councils in the premises. At any rate Mr. Patterson got a clean bill from Justice Alter and departed for Omaha on the 7:05 train this morning. One peculiar thing about the affair, that Patterson did not tell the DEMOCRAT, was why he drove W. O. Gamble's rig to Wakefield in the early hours of Tuesday, having "Red" Henyon go down on the train and bring the rig back, instead of boarding the cars at Wayne, and going away like an honored guest of the town. Going to the depot this a. m. he hailed the DEMOCRAT man across the street: "Say, Goldie, it was the middle saloon I was in; you want to keep out of there!" Closer connections with D. C. disclosed that it was evidently not his first visit to the "middle saloon," and that he was at least no prohibitionist when away from home. City Attorney Berry states that Mr. Patterson cannot again be arrested under charge of violating a city ordinance, but the county or state officials may take the matter up. There is at least one consolation, this is probably I. W. Alter's last official act as justice of the peace, as he was simply drowned like a rat by the voters at the last city election.

It appears that Mr. Patterson phoned to Dr. Wightman, chairman of the board of health, for permission to get away. Dr. Wightman told him the quarantine was still in force and that he could not leave, and also that Miss Patterson was not yet out of danger. Dr. Wightman was highly incensed when he learned that Patterson had taken French leave. The family are being generally condemned and little pitied over the affair, and since it is only a short time since they took so much interest in making other people "toe the line of the law" the lesson is very well deserved.

At the trial last evening Dr. Wightman represented the board of health and Marshal Miner affirmed the quarantine. Attorney A. R. Davis, who drew up the complaint in the absence of the city attorney, had concurred in the opinion that the charge against the defendant was ample under the law. The DEMOCRAT is further informed that Mr. Patterson remained at the residence of Mr. Alter for the night, but this is merely heresay. He was refused accommodations at the Boyd hotel. Whether anything further will be done in this case is not yet determined, but it is a safe wager that all similar cases will be prosecuted.
