

THE NEBRASKA DEMOCRAT.

ESTABLISHED 1884

WAYNE, WAYNE CO., NEBRASKA, JUNE 11, 1908

$1.50 PER YEAR

Over 200 Sacks of Wayne Flour Sold Last Week

This speaks for itself, as one man said, "It makes me smile to sit down at the table and cut the bread made from Wayne Flour." Another said, "I am afraid you will not be able to make it fast enough, it makes such elegant bread." Human nature is much the same the world over. The fact of an article being manufactured in your own city, Chicago, New York or Germany does not weigh with the average consumer. He wants a first class article and wants it cheap. We are making that article and are selling it cheap. It makes white bread. It makes a flaky loaf. It makes sweet bread without being tough. In fact the flour is neither too fine or too coarse. It sells for less money. It saves you from 15 to 25c a sack and it gives splendid results. Superlative, $1.50 per sack; Snowflake, $1.35 per sack, by all merchants. It is an "Ideal" housewife's flour.

Most delicious ice cream made, Whalen's.

Fred Koester, the Carroll druggist, was in Norfolk Tuesday.

Mrs. R. E. K. Mellor was a Monday morning passenger to Omaha.

Henry Pockrandt has moved from Winside to Laurel.

Although John E. Owen was limping around in one slipper Tuesday he was able to get back to Omaha to attend to business. Interrogated as to his disability J. E. said he had been out in Idaho May 10th when that country had a big snow storm. It seems J. E., from his story, had been hired by E. Cunningham to haul some oats. The storm came on and J. E. staying right with the job, froze his right foot. We don't know much about Idaho, here in Nebraska, but if a fellow can freeze his feet in May it's worse than "cold feet" here in June.

Nothing nicer for table use than a quart of ice cream. Whalen's is the best that can be made.

LOCAL NEWS.

Don't forget that Fisher & Sellers handle the best brands of flour in Wayne county and the right price.

Our ice cream is pure and of the richest ingredients. Whalen's.

County Superintendent and Mrs. Littell went to Fremont Tuesday morning, expecting to return tomorrow.

The D. A. Jones and F. E. Strahan autos are certainly beauties and fine running machines, about the best in this section of the country.

Mrs. E. E. Funston and F. H. Jones of the Presbyterian church, Mrs. C. Grothe of the M. E. church, and Mrs. Littell of the Lutheran church, went to Fremont Tuesday as delegates to the state Sunday school convention.

J. W. Bartlett went to Grand Island Tuesday to attend a trustees meeting of the Baptist college.

The DEMOCRAT is always pleased to fill your orders for job work.

H. D. Wilbur, son-in-law of G. P. Hitchcock, was an over-Sunday visitor from Marshalltown, Io. Miss Lila Hitchcock accompanied him to Marshalltown Monday and will spend the summer there.

J. E. Owen, who has just returned from Idaho and Tuesday went to Omaha, says E. Cunningham made $17 per acre on his big ranch out there last year. George Harrigfeldt, he says, has made at least a hundred thousand dollars; now a plutocrat and able to have a good time without working his weapons.

The DEMOCRAT is pleased to state that President Pile is improving from his serious illness, also that he has been selected as one of 500 teachers of America to attend an international school teachers' convention in England, by the National Civic Federation. The occasion will be from September to November, 1908, going, and from November, 1908, to March, 1909, returning. President Pile will no doubt, circumstances permitting, make the trip.

Good German Millet Seed at Fisher & Sellers.

DeWitt's Little Early Riser, the famous little liver pills, are sold by J. T. Leahy.

Simon Lessman was up from Wakefield last Monday. Mr. Lessman has all sorts of trouble getting his mail on the delivery route; missing his DEMOCRAT two or three weeks at a time, and he is of course provoked over the negligence of Uncle Sam's servants.

P. P. Huff, who has been at Norfolk for some time, went to Pender Monday where he will engage in the implement business.

Miss Effie Panabaker of Laurel is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Harmon, for a few days.

Big cuts or little cuts, small scratches or bruises or bug ones are healed quickly by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It is especially good for piles. Be sure to get DeWitt's. Sold by J. T. Leahy.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Mike Haley, Lucas, S. D., June 5th. This makes Mike a family of eight, pretty good for a Dakotan.

DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills are prompt and thorough and will in a very short time strengthen the weakened kidneys and allay troubles arising from inflammation of the bladder. They are recommended everywhere. Sold by J. T. Leahy.

Don Cunningham arrived home from Ames college last Saturday, where he graduated with high honors. Don will spend the summer on the ranch in Idaho.

Miss Helen Goldie came up from Sioux City last Thursday for a week's visit with her cousins, Marguerite and Goldie Chace.

Nels Orcutt and Jack Roush were Saturday passengers to Sioux City.

Nature has provided the stomach with certain natural fluids known as the digestive juices, and it is through these juices that the food we eat is acted upon in such a way as to produce the rich, red blood that flows through the veins of our body and thereby makes us strong, healthy and robust and it is the weakening of these digestive juices that destroys health. It is our own fault if we destroy our own health, and yet it is so easy for any one to put the stomach out of order. When you need to take something take it promptly, but take something you know is reliable—something like Kodol For Dyspepsia and Indigestion. Kodol is pleasant to take, it is reliable and is guaranteed to give relief. Sold by J. T. Leahy.

The Jackals and Debs.

From Success Magazine.

Eugene J. Debs, the socialist leader, tells the following story on himself.

"I was to address a public meeting and there was intense public prejudice against me, so the young man who had to introduce me thought he would try to disarm it.

"Debs is hated by some people," he said, "because he has been in strikes. This is not right. It is the law of nature to defend yourself. Why, even a dog will growl if you try to deprive him of his home. He is growling, a goat will butt if you get in his way, and you all know what a jackal will do if you monkey with him. Ladies and gentlemen, this is Debs, who will now address you."

The Text Book Effect.

From Everybody's Magazine.

Little Johnny, aged 6, had been to church and had displayed more than usual interest in the sermon, in which the origin of Eve had been dwelt on at some length. On his return from the services, there being company to dinner, he had also displayed a good deal of interest in the social, especially the mince pie and cakes. Some time afterward, being missed, he was found sitting quietly in a corner with his hands behind his back, and an expression of awful anxiety on his face.

The eczema was something terrible, and the doctors said it was the worst case they ever saw. At times his whole body and face were covered, but his feet. I used many kinds of patent medicines, to no avail. A friend teased me to try Cuticura. At last I decided to try Cuticura when my boy was three years and four months old, having had eczema all that time and suffering untold misery. I began to use all three of the Cuticura Remedies. He was better in two months; in six months he was well. Mrs. R. L. Kinsley, Piermont, N. H., Oct. 24, 1905."

A Little Bit Mixed.

Three hired citizens—a lawyer, a doctor and a newspaper man—sat in a back room recently in the cold gray light of the early dawn. On the table were many empty bottles and a couple of packs of cards. As they sat in silence a rat scurried across the hearth into the darkness beyond. The three men shifted their feet and looked at each other uneasily. After a long pause the lawyer spoke.

A young man who is very particular about his washing recently wrote a note to his washerwoman and one to his employer, and by a strange fatality he put the wrong address on each envelope and sent them off. The washerwoman was sent the invitation to take a ride the next day, but when the young lady read, "I'll come with my shirt bosom any more, as you did last time, I'll go somewhere else," she cried all the evening, and declared she would never speak to him again.

THE DISAPPEARANCE OF HANNAH ALFORD

BY FLORIDA C. ORR.

COPYRIGHT, 1902, BY W. R. HEARST. GREAT BRITAIN RIGHTS RESERVED.

This woman says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved her life. Read her letter.

Mrs. T. C. Willard, of Manning, Iowa, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude to you in words. For years I suffered with the worst forms of female complaints, continually doctoring and spending lots of money for medicine without any benefit. You, however, followed it as directed, and look Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has restored me to perfect health. Had it not been for you I should have been in my grave to-day. I wish every suffering woman would try it."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

ALFALFA IN CENTRAL IOWA.

Stiles, Inc., of Warren county, Iowa, in giving his experience in alfalfa culture in a recent issue of Wallace Farmer says: "My experience in starting a small field of alfalfa may be helpful to some of your readers. Last year I determined to have a field of alfalfa if it could be grown in Warren county. I had a small field that sloped to the south and both east and west from the center. It was well drained and very rich; had been in corn the year before and the corn cut for fodder. As early as possible in the spring I sowed this field to barley and cut it July 6. It was off the ground by July 25 and I loads of manure to it. I heavily loaded and we had to let it wait for rain. As soon as it rained I went over it with pulverizer lapping half, and followed with the harrow every few days until the ground was in as fine condition as could be. By this time it was the 31 of September. The alfalfa seed was sown on that date, using a press drill and seeding both ways of the field. I aimed to sow 10 pounds of seed each way and got about eight, making 15 pounds to the acre. In a few days I could see the little plants coming through, and I got an excellent stand. It came through the winter in the shape of a ground cover, and early in the spring and March 21 I harrowed it to break the crust. The 10th of May the ground was nice and mellow, and the alfalfa averaged eight inches high. It is a good stand and I have every reason to believe I am going to be successful with it in this county."

FIVE MONTHS IN HOSPITAL.

Discharged Because Doctors Could Not Cure.

Levi P. Brockway, S. Second Ave., Anoka, Minn., says: "After lying for five months in a hospital I was discharged as incurable, and given only six months to live. My heart was affected, I had something spells and sometimes fell unconscious. I got so I couldn't use my arms, my eyesight was impaired and the kidney secretions were badly disordered. I was completely worn out and discouraged when I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, but they went right to the cause of the trouble and did their work well. I have been feeling well ever since."

High Priced Meat.

That high priced meat is going to be out of fashion this summer is already evident. Industrial conditions will not admit of extravagant values, and the public has put the stamp of disapproval on the butcher's tax. High priced steers necessarily mean high priced beef on the block, for packers are not likely to continue business for their health. As long as the people pay $7.40 for finished steers first class beef will be out of reach of many people. The fact that thousands are out of employment and that thousands more are the slackness of business in general is bound to give the public an economic streak. It is already being felt, and it will continue to be felt. Have packers experienced so much trouble in getting rid of their meat supplies. May's receipts of cattle were the smallest in many years, yet there was more beef offered than could be sold. But it offers a bright prospect for the future. It was with the greatest difficulty that it could be moved at very much reduced rates. Possibly after all it is a good thing that the supply of cattle in the country is small.

Fair Sized Cornfields.

From the Nebraska State Journal.

Not much less than 5,000,000 acres of corn has been planted in the past 10 days in Nebraska. This averages close to 40 acres for every farmer in the State. The task offers no great difficulties, but it is a hard one. The report of two Rulo farmers who plowed and planted 30 acres each in the last few days of last week. The agricultural scientists and those who follow the method of planting, claiming the lister leads to erosion and imperfect tillage, but it offers a bright prospect for the future. It was with the greatest difficulty that it could be moved at very much reduced rates. Possibly after all it is a good thing that the supply of cattle in the country is small.

Thompson's Eye Water

The manager of New York's greatest theater sat in his private office. He wore a frown on his brow and gave an occasional impatient pat with his foot. Things had not gone well with him lately. The new play had fallen flat, and to crown his misfortunes this sickness of Mlle. Marie!

The office door swung open and the call boy came timidly in. He knew that the manager was in a bad mood, but he was wary accordingly.

With an impatient hitch of his shoulders the manager took the note the boy handed him. His air of impatience gave way to one of surprise as he read it, and presently, with a sharp glance at the boy, he said:

"Where is the person who gave you this?"

"She is in the waiting room, sir."

"Show her up," and he fell again to reading the note.

The call boy airily swung himself out of the room, and his expression of amazement was comical. "It do beat my time," he said. "The Lord High Mogul is again to see her when there's about 50 days left of the season. In the last two days that he wouldn't so much as turn his eyelids for."

"This way, ma'am," he said to the shabby, middle-aged woman who sat clasping and unclasping her hands, evidently restless and ill at ease.

She arose without a word and followed the boy, her feet making a heavy thud, thud as she walked over the tiled floor. Her extreme nervousness increased as she neared the mysterious door which shuts off the manager from all lesser mortals, and when she was ushered into his presence she was trembling.

The manager swept her with one glance from head to foot. The cold and measured gaze acted as a tonic and collected herself with one supreme effort. Hard work and long nights on the ground with a sapper, then the disk harrow was run over it, letting it lap half, and then plowed six inches deep. It was quite cloudy, due to a thick running sapper over it. The harrow was run over it, and we had to let it wait for rain. As soon as it rained I went over it with pulverizer lapping half, and followed with the harrow every few days until the ground was in as fine condition as could be. By this time it was the 31 of September. The alfalfa seed was sown on that date, using a press drill and seeding both ways of the field. I aimed to sow 10 pounds of seed each way and got about eight, making 15 pounds to the acre. In a few days I could see the little plants coming through, and I got an excellent stand. The 10th of May the ground was nice and mellow, and the alfalfa averaged eight inches high. It is a good stand and I have every reason to believe I am going to be successful with it in this county."

"The weather was fine Thursday night and notwithstanding the fact that this very play had previously proved unsatisfactory, the house was filled, for some very skillful advertising had been done in the meantime.

The opening was good, though there was a hitch in the machinery to do. It was one of those dramas where the star absorbs the soul of the play, and leaves nothing but husks for the other players.

There was a slight applause when Madam Barcelona, so she was billed upon the program, came upon the stage, although there was nothing specially remarkable about her, save her eyes, which blazed like two stars.

Presently a hush stole over the house, that hush one can feel when a multitude of people are silent, spellbound by the strange magnetic power of a strong personality.

A long drawn sigh closed the first act, there was no applause, only a curious stillness, as if the people were afraid to break the spell.

In the middle of the second act the people went wild and the manager was suspicious of a trick feeling around his her long and heroic line of acting for might act here always and look into those flashing amber eyes and drink in those words vital with the suppressed fire of a life. There was no thought in his mind of the commercial success he was achieving, he was unconscious of his trade and calling. He was not the manager any more, but a man who stood in a leaping and pulsing with delight.

The play was finished, the curtain down. The audience exhausted with emotion, could hardly grip itself away. The manager hurried to the scenes. Mlle. Barcelona had disappeared.

A week after this the manager happened to cast his eyes over an item marked "special" from a suburban newspaper, and cutting it out, he found in place in his daily paper.

"The community has been very much exercised over the mysterious disappearance of Miss Hannah Alford. After her long and heroic line of acting for her invalid uncle, Caleb Wilson, for she never had a thought except for his comfort, it seems that she might have been the recipient of her days in prison and quiet. But no one knows what has become of her. Caleb left a thousand dollars life insurance, and that, too, has disappeared. It is feared that Miss Hannah has met with foul play."

"Tangled."

From the Ladies' Home Journal.

Frederick of Prussia had a great reputation for entertaining guests. He invited the Royal Guards and paid an enormous bounty to his recruiting officers for getting them. One day the recruiting sergeants chanced to spy a Hibernian who was at least seven feet high; he accosted him in English and proposed that he should enlist. The idea of military life and a large bounty so delighted Pat that he immediately consented.

"But unless you can speak German the king will not give you so much."

"Sure I don't know a word of German."

"But," said the sergeant, "you can learn in a short time. The king knows very much in the Guards. As soon as he sees you he will give you and tell you how old you are, you will say '27' in German, next, how long have you been in the service; you must reply, 'Three weeks.' Finally, as to whether you are provided with food and clothes, you answer, 'Both.'"

Pat soon learned his German answer, but never dreamed of getting ready to go to the guard room. He reviewed the questions in the king's review. His majesty rode up to him. Paddy stepped forward with "present arms."

"How old are you?" said the king.

"Three weeks," said the Irishman.

"How long have you been in the service?" asked his majesty.

"Am I fool or are you?" roared the king.

"Both," replied Patrick, who was immediately taken to the guard room, pardoned by the king when the latter understood the facts in the case.

Of known iron ore the south has more than all the known ore supply in the rest of the country. In this it has the foundation for duplicating all the iron and steel industry of the United States.

STOCKING THROUGH HOGS.

An Iowa subscriber writes Wallace's Farmer that he has a large number of spring pigs and quite a number of last year's pigs left on account of the poor yield of corn. He has plenty of blue grass and prairie sod, and 100 acres in clover, which he would like to save for hay. He wishes to know what has been our experience in carrying through hogs on grass.

We would not advise carrying hogs through exclusively on grass for the simple reason that they can not possibly hold enough clover, alfalfa and much over a maintenance ration. Grass is from 80 to 90 per cent water. Hogs have been carried through on our North Farm for years exclusively on alfalfa, but the rate of growth is very slow. Clover should be of about the same general character as alfalfa, but not quite so good.

Hence we would advise our correspondents to take part of his clover meadow for a hog pasture, if possible, and feed them some corn at the same time. As early as the frost was out of the ground he should have sown some rape, which by this time would have been high enough to turn in on. By the time the alfalfa is cut in the dough stage he can feed them oats, and he should have some of the earliest variety of corn possible in order to carry them through on alfalfa.

In short, no matter what the price of corn, we would feed some corn to young hogs until corn of this year's growing is obtainable. It is only a question of about 30 days or 60 if cut as feed and a pound or two of corn per head a day will not amount to very much, even at a high price.

We called the attention of our readers this spring to the possibility of their being short of grain during the summer season, and urged them to prepare for it by sowing rape and a patch of early corn and utilize clover pasture. The Missouri experiment station conducted an experiment recently to which we have made previous reference, but the facts elicited may have some bearing on this problem. They fed different lots of hogs as follows: Corn meal and middlings, corn meal and alfalfa, corn meal and clover, corn meal and blue grass, corn meal and skim milk. With corn meal and middlings it required 5.48 pounds of grain to make one pound of gain, with corn meal and alfalfa 4.01 pounds, with corn meal and clover, 4.32 pounds, with corn meal and blue grass, 5.31 pounds of grain to make a pound of gain.

These figures show the vast superiority of alfalfa and clover pasture in connection with corn as a feed for hogs. They show also that alfalfa is superior to clover, but not quite so good as one might expect. The hogs on corn meal and middlings cost $47 for every 100 pounds of gain when corn was worth 40 cents a bushel and shipwreck $18 a ton, corn meal and clover, $27, on corn meal and blue grass, $36, and on corn meal and skim milk, $23. If the very best alfalfa and clover pasture with corn meal and clover, $27, when corn is worth 46 cents a bushel, it will be seen that he can afford to pay even the present price of corn and still make pork at a profit.

MISS JULIA MARLOWE.

"I am glad to write my endorsement of the great comedy, Peruna. I do so most heartily."—Julia Marlowe.

Any remedy that benefits digestion strengthens the nerves. The nerve centers require nutrition. If the digestion is impaired, the nerve centers become anemic, and nervous debility is the result.

Peruna is not a nerve nor a stimulant. It benefits the nerves by benefiting digestion.

Peruna frees the stomach of catarrhal congestions and normal digestion is the result.

In other words, Peruna goes to the bottom of the whole difficulty, when the disagreeable symptoms disappear.

Mrs. J. C. Jamison, Wallace, Cal., writes:

"I was troubled with my stomach for six years. I was treated by three doctors. I got bad again. I had nervous depression. I was put on a liquid diet for three months.

"I improved under the treatment, but as soon as I stopped taking the medicine, I got bad again. I had nervous depression. I was put on a liquid diet for three months.

"I saw a testimonial of a man whose case was similar to mine being cured by Peruna, so I thought I would give it a trial.

"I procured a bottle at once and commenced taking it. I have taken several bottles and am entirely cured."

Postmaster Brande in the Pierce Leader: We have heard Mr. Bryan on several occasions in years past and always found something in his talk that was of interest—something that convinced us of his sincerity. But his remarks last Friday was a source of disappointment in that regard. It had the sound of the demagogue, an appeal to the passion—insincere and an attempt to deceive. You poor, cheap, political postmaster chump. "Demagogue!" insincere!" Why you ought to be hit with a democratic presidential club, and hit so hard you will never again be eligible to sell postage stamps.

What's in a name? R. Y. Appleby, alleged railroad candidate for state senator is a member of the firm, Appleby & Pugh.

A Pittsburg woman who has kept her husband thirty-five years has suddenly decided that she wants a divorce. What queer notions some women get.

Now that the commencements are over with the weather man may do something different.

If Bryan has his way the only bar at the Denver convention will be the bar on bosses.

They say if a man will drink only buttermilk and eat only peanuts he will live twice as long, but it's a mistake. It would only seem twice as long.

Here is the Cherokee Democrat's definition of gall; Gall is sublimated audacity, transcendent impudence and immaculate nerve, triple-plated cheek, brass in solid slugs. It is what enables a man to borrow five dollars of you, forget to pay it, then touch you for twenty more. It is what makes it possible for a woman to borrow her neighbors' best bonnet, then complain because it isn't the latest style or doesn't suit her particular type of beauty. It is what causes people to pour their troubles into the ears of passing acquaintances instead of reserving them for home consumption. It is what makes a man aspire for the governorship, or to air his assiduity in the congress of the United States, when he should be fiddling on a stick of cord wood with an able-bodied buck-saw. It is what leads a feather-headed top, with no fortune but his folly, no prospects but his poverty, who lacks business ability to find bread for himself—to mention marriage to a young lady reared in luxury—to ask her to leave the house of her father and help him fill the land with fools. Gall is what spoils so many good ditchers and delivers to make peanut politicians and putty-headed professional men. It is what puts so many men in the pulpit who could serve their saviour much better planting the mid-eyed potato or harvesting the useful hoop pole. It is what causes so many young ladies to rush into literature instead of a laundry—to become poets of passion instead of authors of pie.

Dakota City also passed through the throes of an anti-saloon crusade that was demoralizing to the middle-class citizens, the city council passing a new ordinance refunding to the saloon keeper license money for the time he was kept out of business. An important ruling made by Judge Graves, in the district court where the case terminated, was that it is not even necessary for an applicant to designate the lot and building in a town in which he expects to conduct the business. The costs in the case were charged up to the remonstrators.

Norfolk whiskey is bad enough to fix even an Indian. The Walthill Indian ball team went home last Saturday from Norfolk, one dusky brave's head hanging outside a car window and the poor devil making a horrible effort to turn inside out. The team beat Norfolk 3 to 2.

A friend of Will Maupin, the Nebraska poet, once said to him: "Will, I'm in a quandary as to just what I should call my wife's mother. I don't like to call her 'mother-in-law' on account of all the comic paper jokes, on that name, and somehow there's a certain sacredness about the word 'Mother' that makes me hesitate to apply to it any but my own."

"Well," said Maupin, "I can only tell you of my own experience. The first year we were married I addressed my wife's mother as 'Say'; after that we called her 'Grandma.'"

In a sermon at Pittsburg "Rev." Billy Sunday said that many of the ministers are "grafters pure and simple." Billy knows positively that at least one of them is.

Upon being told of the possibility of Governor Johnson being placed in opposition to Bryan for the democratic nomination for president, Ole Skagner became very enthusiastic in his praise and opinion of the former. He said: "Ay tal you Governor Yonson has bane the greatest man what efer lived."

One of his listeners suggested that some very prominent men has existed since the days of Adam.

"Ay don't care," said Ole, "Governor Yonson has bane greatest man what efer trod this earth."

"Hold on, Ole," once more cautioned a listener, "you forget that Christ once trod this earth."

"That bane all right, that bane all right," said Ole, "but Governor Yonson has bane young faller yet."

A Little Falls, N. Y., pastor says he has traced all the gossip in the town to twelve persons. In the tracing he must have enjoyed some delicious gossiping.

Two Pittsburg bankers have been sentenced to serve ten years for stealing a million dollars. An Iowa boy got five years for stealing 40 cents. The chances are that the big thieves will serve the least time.

The Standard Oil company is now reported to be extending its ramifications into Central Africa. Carrying the kerosene light into the "dark continent," as it were.—Washington Herald

From the way the congressmen are clambering upon the Taft bandwagon, it looks as if the Ohio man has promised not to send in a daily message to congress if he is elected.—Washington Post.

It is said that the steel trust lobby earnestly supports the president's demands for more battleships. Is a lobby all right when it supports my policies and only wrong when it repels and conspires?—Florida Times-Union.

There are some streaks of lean and some streaks of fat in the "pork barrel" just completed by congress. For instance, Danville, Ill., gets $275,000; that's one of the streaks of fat. By the by, who is it that lives in Danville?—Washington Post.

That is a pretty hot fire they are building under Uncle Joe Cannon to make him move.—Chicago News.

However, it should be easier for Prince Helle to change "his religion" than to change a $5 bill.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

At last a nugget of gold has been discovered in a vermiform appendix. This must be what the arden surgeons have been so long looking for.—Boston Herald.

Another evidence of the return of confidence is shown by the way the rubber trees are once more venturing to stay out all night on the front porch.—Indianapolis News.

Fossils are reported to have been found on the Columbia University campus. Well, it is better to have them there than in the professorial lecture rooms.—New York Tribune.

Senator Aldrich lets a fairly obvious cat out of a very gauzy bag when he announces that if the Dingley schedules are revised at all they will be increased.—Nashville Tennessean.

President Roosevelt has decided that Geo. B. Cortelyou shall be the republican candidate for vice-president. Now, don't smile! President Roosevelt knows what's what and is doing it.

Have you seen the heatless cooker at Neely & Craven's? Yesterday it cooked a mess of beans, in the store, and never made a particle of noise about it. But more wonderful is the iceless refrigerator now in use. Traveling Man Smith says he uses one in his home at Sioux City; has not had a pound of ice in it this season; 40 cents of chemicals per month doing the business. While it doesn't look probable, it will only be a short time until we can wrap a sheet around a cherry tree in the back yard, in the evening, and next morning uncover a ten thousand dollar automobile or a necklace of diamonds. If some wise man like C. J. Rundell should write a "bible," now, instead of the "Book of Bryan," a few thousand years later, when the nation, through the intervention of the United States senate and republican tariff revisionists, had retrograded into a race of monkeys, why the "miracles" of this age would be scoffed at by the Prof. Durrins and Jim Brittons, by dad!

Who is going to be the first killing? By dad, if somebody doesn't get killed by these Automobile farmers—who not long ago held an indignation meeting on Dr. Leisenring using one—we miss our guess.

A big, loosely wrapped telescope fell to pieces this morning, at the depot, and it was most laughable sight to see Agent Moran try to get all the stuff back in the box. It was of course a woman's work; about seven pairs of slippers and shoes; dozens of pieces of lingerie that insisted on lingering on the outside. The railroad men were crestfallen and were all of the opinion that they couldn't understand how a woman could pack away so much stuff in her box.

Don't kick on the weather. Rather be glad that you are not blown to Kingdom-come and your property scattered over several precincts.

With all the rottenness the primary system has turned up in the republican party—while the democratic minority is clean as snow—don't you think it's about time to "put the rascals out?"

One of the most amusing incidents of this campaign will be to read the yelpings of the little g. o. p. postmaster editors as they "throw the soup into Bryan;" political insignificance who have barely ability enough to read the postal cards.

It will soon be hot enough, especially in a political way.

When a young man gets in such a condition that he would rather loaf about town than work for ten or twelve dollars a week, he is just as bad off, and as of much use to a community as the fellow who spends his money for late suppers and cheap booze. Brat a lazy boy, anyway. They are an eyesore to industrious people.

Atty. H. E. Siman of Winside was a passenger to Omaha Tuesday morning. Mr. Siman said there was a "good deal going on" in Winside, but they were "keeping it still." Harry didn't say who was doing the "dealing," but as the anti-saloon propagator, Rev. Lawson, left that city when the saloons opened up, it can't be that gentleman.

Street Sprinkler Wingert has a great snap—these days than the ice man;

it's all velvet with Jake. But wait until the 1st of July and see how we'll paste him in the eye.

A story being printed in Sioux City papers concerning Norfolk, will be "news" to this city. The story tells of a big "bank robbery" which took place in Norfolk, Neb., in 1885. "People in Charles Mix country are engaged in trying to locate the hidden treasure." The only difficulty with the tale is that Norfolk never had a bank robbery.—Norfolk News.

Probably a faro bank. One of which Norfolk would not have missed in 1885.

Funeral of W. M. Wright.

The remains of the late W. M. Wright, accompanied by Mrs. Wright and son Fred, arrived this morning from California. The funeral was held this afternoon at 2:30 from the Wright residence. Rev. Thos. C. Osborne preaching the funeral sermon, the services being attended by hundreds of old friends and acquaintances of the family. John Wright, brother of deceased, from Monmouth, Ill., and a sister, Mrs. Graham, and her husband, from Alexis, Ill., arrived on Wednesday.

William Warren Wright was born Oct. 31, 1843, in Adams county, Ohio. Moved when very young with his parents to Monmouth, Ill., where he grew to manhood. He was a student in Monmouth College at the beginning of the civil war. He responded to the call for volunteers, joining the 55th Regiment of Illinois, and served until the close of the war. He then re-entered college, completing his course in 1868. After which time he studied law, being admitted to the bar at Monmouth and taking up the practice of law soon afterward at Red Oak, Iowa, where he practiced many years. In August, 1882, he removed to Wayne, Neb., where he continued the practice of law, serving as county attorney several years. Owing to ill health he gave up his law business and engaged in real estate until about 1898 when he ceased an active business life.

Mr. Wright was of Scotch-Irish parentage, and was brought up in early life as a member of the United Presbyterian church. He died at Long Beach, Cal., June 2, 1908, leaving a widow and three children. One daughter, Mrs. R. H. James of North Dakota, two sons, W. E. Wright of Duluth, and F. R. Wright of Seattle, Wash.

Wedding Bells at Carroll.

The marriage of Miss Eleanor Buck and Mr. Roe, was the social event in June weddings at Carroll. The wedding march was played by Frances Bartel, the groom coming in from one room and meeting the bride at the foot of the stairs. They marched over a path of roses and ferns to an arch with same decoration, in the parlor where they were married at 10:30 Wednesday June 10th by Rev. Ringer of the Lutheran church of Wayne. Geo. Roe, brother of the groom, acted as groomsmen, and Florence Bartel, niece of the bride, as bridesmaid. The bride looked charming in a beautiful simple gown of white net over silk lawn, and carried white roses. After the ceremony all retired to the dining room and were served to a delicious three-course wedding breakfast, served by Celia Buck, Jessie Roe and Frances Bartel. The table decorations were very artistic. Only relatives and a few young friends were present. The out-of-town guests were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ahrend and daughter Kathryn of Primghar, Ia., Mr. and Mrs. George Buck and Herman Buck of Westside, Ia., Mrs. Henry Guible of Merriman, Neb., Miss Etha Shaw of Winside, Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Roe and Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Miller of Wayne. Many very pretty and costly presents were received. After breakfast an automobile took them to Wayne where they took the train for a short wedding trip.

The Carnival.

The Dixie Carnival company, which has been holding forth in Oakland the past week, has been having a hard time to get a crowd to their shows, owing to the rainy weather. They have good, clean shows and places of amusement, there being nothing immoral or vulgar about them. The Golden City is well worth 25 cents, and it costs but 10 cents.

Their moving pictures are some of the best we have ever seen, and are true to real life and strictly up to date. Mr. Dana Thompson, the genial manager of the carnival, is a good entertainer and wants everybody to have a good time and will see to it that they do. The Ferris wheel is another good feature of the company, and is a source of great pleasure for both old and young. If this carnival ever returns to Oakland they will be assured of a liberal patronage and a hearty welcome, and we sincerely hope they will return some time, and if they should, we will hope for better weather.—Oakland Mail.

Some Succeed Where Others Fail.

In looking about you are not able to understand why some are successful and others fail. There is not very much difference in humanity, and the only difference there really is, is that some people think they are wise and understand everything; others believe they know a few things and are willing to use the experience that others have, and to their advantage. The wise usually fail because life is too short to learn everything. The successful learn a few things and take advantage of the expert knowledge that others have for their own benefit, and succeed. We take for example the fact that you must buy shoes, and it is not possible, unless you have had years of experience in the shoe business, that you can know much about shoes. Now, we have gained that knowledge by being in the business for more than thirty years and you can take advantage of what we know by patronizing this store, or you can buy shoes of some one who has but little knowledge of the shoe business, and you may fail to get the full value for your money. Why not see us before you buy shoes for men or boys? We have more to show you, and have shoes that we have sold the same make for more than twenty years. You will not fail to get the best if you trade with us. You take no chance here of making a mistake in buying shoes. Our "Bad Boys" Shoes will out-wear two pair of any other make, and no boy can wear them out. Better try a pair on your boy if he is hard on his shoes. Now, you may have trouble in fitting your feet. Come to us and see how nice we can do that for you. Your feet will not hurt and you don't have to wait until your shoes are old before you get any comfort wearing them. We can fit your feet so you can get comfort at once. Just give us a chance. Work shoes should be just right, and we have them. Better see us for the next pair you need. Fine Shoes, we beat them all in both style and quality. We have more of them and beat them all on low prices. For small boys for the feet to spread and grow. Just see them, and you will understand why your boy should wear them. Our prices are as attractive as our shoes, and our experience is longer than any merchant's in the county. If you want to be successful you surely will try this store for shoes. Let us show you them before you buy the next pair, no matter if you are satisfied with the shoes you have been buying of others. It will do no harm to see what we have and we know you will find better satisfaction wearing our shoes. Any shoes we sell we warrant them to give satisfaction.

Give us the next chance at your feet.

A Radical Departure.

The most popular illustrated weeklies and monthlies are produced at enormous cost. Competition for the work of the leading authors and illustrators has established a scale of expense that is almost prohibitive.

Yet in addition to its many attractive features THE CHICAGO SUNDAY RECORD-HERALD furnishes its readers with a Sunday Magazine which compares favorably with the independent periodicals in every way and has some merits peculiar to itself. The most famous writer and illustrators contribute to it. Fine paper and press work and handy size make it a pleasure to read this entertaining publication which marks a radical departure in Sunday journalism.

Of Interest To Democrats.

The National Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee has begun active operation at its headquarters at Washington, D. C. In addition to its regular work, it is now preparing a Campaign hand-book which it hopes to have ready for distribution by July 1—two or three months earlier than heretofore.

The Committee is charged with the duty of assisting, in every way possible the election of a Democratic Congress. We wish the active co-operation of every voter in the United States who believes, with us, that the election of a Democratic Congress would greatly benefit the country. We must rely upon the people to sustain our work by giving information as to local conditions and suggestions, for our guidance. Each individual can at least aid us by making a contribution. Will he not do so and interest others in helping us too? We wish our Campaign hand-book distributed as generally as possible, and we will furnish a copy, as soon as published, to every one who contributes to our Committee.

Send remittances to me at Washington, D. C.

John Sprecher, who has been splitting his gullet in denouncing editors for holding office, is out for Editor Howard for congress, probably on the theory that Howard cannot be elected.—Fremont Tribune.

Tell another lie, you pap sucking Mongolian! John Sprecher never objected to editors holding office in the proper way and he considers that congressional and legislative offices are especially proper for editors who are—or should be—men with ideas. There is nothing wrong with an editor aspiring to office before the people any more than there is for a man in any other walk of life aspiring. What Sprecher did denounce was the pie-counter editor, of which despicable breed the Mongolian of the Tribune is a very good example. The editor who is a subservient tool of the political bosses and gets a political hand-out as his pay for his subservency is the sort of animal we object to. An editor is supposed to be a leader of men and a moulder of public opinion and he should be clear of all such undue influence so that his paragraphs may not be of the pie-counter breed. The Mongolian of the Tribune is one who is always in line and he supports and defends a Joe Bartley as he would for Sheldon and when he does his regulation stunt he wants his pay for it and a post office or collectorship is necessary to satisfy his demands for his services. There is nothing as degraded in public life as an editor who always has his belly up to the pie-counter and demands the biggest piece as a reward for his services just as if an editor should be paid for expressing his honest sentiment. Sprecher despises the pie-counter editor because he is a degraded specimen of a great calling and is one who has sold his birthright for a mess of pottage and is ever demanding another help. And Sprecher is for Editor Howard for congress because an editor who has ideas of his own based upon principles, as Howard has, is the proper person for such a position. And Howard will be elected if nominated, as will Senator Latta. While it would be proper as an editor for the Mongolian of the Tribune to run for congress, it would not be a wise thing to elect him for he would be a subservient lickspittle in that body who could ever be depended upon to vote with the elements, provided he was always allowed to belly up—Scutlyer Free Lance.

RESOLUTIONS of respect adopted at a regular meeting of the Tribe of Ben Hur held in their Lodge Room on the evening of June 4th 1908.

Whereas, it has seemed good to the Ruler of the universe to remove from among us our beloved Sister, Nancy Garwood, therefore in view of the loss we have sustained, and the still greater loss to her loved ones. Resolved, that we, sincerely sympathize with the husband and children of our late beloved Sister, and that we respectfully commend them for consolation to that Divine Power which, though somewhat inscrutable in its dispensations, yet doeth all things well, feeling sure that to them as to us there is comfort in the knowledge that the deceased was a devoted and consistent Christian.

Resolved, that the Secretary of this meeting is instructed to send a copy of these resolutions to the husband and children of the deceased as a testimonial of our grief and sympathy and that a copy of these resolutions be published in the Wayne Herald and Nebraska Democrat.

Mr. Bryan a Strong Candidate.

(The Financial World, May 30)
Mr. W. J. Bryan made quite a hit by his speech before the Bankers' club of Chicago. Before all Mr. Bryan was anxious to impress the bankers with the fact that he was no socialist. He classified himself as an "individualist" who does not want to see the government engaged in any business which could be better done by individuals.

What he advocated before the bankers and to which republicans will hardly object, was absolute security for depositors, a criminal penalty clause to the national banking law which forbids the loaning of more than 10 per cent of the capital and surplus to one person. And an emergency currency to be issued by the government and not the banks. These policies of Mr. Bryan cannot be called financial heresies. They are very conservative considering that they came from a man upon whom the bankers usually look as a socialist and a fire-eater. Especially does Mr. Bryan lay strength on the depositors guarantee stating that whenever a bank fails, it was not due to misfortune and panic, but to the misuse of funds by those on the inside—and that between the 20,000 banks and their 15,000,000 depositors he prefers to side with the latter and to insist that the banks should offer security to those who entrust them with their money.

The bankers had expected quite a rampant demagogue and were surprised at the moderation and conservatism of the probable presidential candidate of the democrats, who, if nominated, will this time go stronger into the campaign than before, made stronger through the policies advocated and enforced by Mr. Roosevelt which Mr. Bryan calls his policies. He will be found stronger for the support he will receive from that wing of the democratic party which once called itself the "safe and sure democracy," and with a few exceptions is now with him. He will have an enormous labor vote, drawn into the democratic ranks by the failure of congress to legislate on the injunction question, which is a thorn in the flesh of labor. He will profit by those republicans who don't approve of Rooseveltism and look upon the present tendency to centralism and paternalism as a danger to the republic. He will profit by the many shortcomings of the present congress, by the fruits of the panic and by the dissensions inside the republican party. If he ever was strong, he will be at his best and fullest strength this year. If the financial circles look upon Taft, as excellent and desirable as he is, as a sure winner, they are liable to experience a rude awakening. If "the Peerless" ever had a show to win it is at this election.

Lincoln was created for the accommodation and benefit of the state of Nebraska and her citizens have grown to realize that all we are here for is for your service, and that is the reason state people like to come here.

The State Journal is being conducted along these lines. It is peculiarly a state paper realizing its obligations to Nebraskans. It is a staunch advocate of all things for the upbuilding and uplifting of her people, and always stands for that much used and sometimes abused "square deal." It is the one state paper that can print all the news all the time about everybody and everything. No office-holders or office-seekers in any of its department, from top to bottom.

We are obeying the new rules of Uncle Sam's post-office and require all subscribers to pay in advance. In this way you pay only for your own paper; you are not helping to pay for the paper of someone who doesn't pay his bills.

Therefore, to introduce The State Journal into thousands of new homes, we will send it every day, except Sunday, from now until after the National Election for ONLY $1.50. Make it $2.00 and we will add the BIG SUNDAY PAPER. This will carry you through the exciting nominating campaign and then through the presidential race. This is just an introduction offer and the PAPER WILL BE STOPPED at the end of that time. We stop all papers when time paid for is up. The sooner you send in your money the more papers you will get under this cut-price offer.

The Journal prints more reading matter than any other state daily, and we will let you judge of the quality.

MANY ARE KILLED
AND INJURED BY
WIND AND FLOODS

Nebraska Wind and Flood Sweep—Many Suffer Loss
of Life and Property.

Lincoln, Neb., June 8.—Violent storms
of wind and rain, amounting in places
to tornadoes, prevailed last evening in southern central Nebraska. Telegraph and telephone service is badly demoralized. In the sections visited, but it is known that four persons were hit, and there were some fatalities. The property damage has been extensive and a number of persons have been injured.
A special to the State Journal, from Fairfield, Clay county, says a tornado descended striking the western part of the town at 7 o'clock. Thirty residences were damaged, some of them badly; the Congregational and Christian churches were destroyed. The Baptist church damaged and the high school building partly demolished. A number of persons were hurt, but no one, it is thought seriously. The stock was killed and the crops ruined.

Burlington, railroad reports say a bad
storm prevailed six miles east of Franklin, Lincoln county, hit the town. The towns of Inavale and Chocoma were struck and considerable damage done.
At Inavale it is reported a number were injured.

Further west it is reported that high wind did some damage at Lexington. A terrific downpour of rain followed the wind.

There was a high wind at Beatrice,
but the only loss was blowing down
of trees and minor damage to outbuildings.

3-YEAR-OLD CHILD
CAUGHT IN FLOOD

Fairfield, Neb., June 9.—Heavy rains
are reported all over south central Nebraska today. Every stream is out of its bed. Property in the hot-tom lands is badly damaged and railroad traffic is blocked. A washout of a bridge south of this city has compelled
the suspension of traffic on the main line of the Rock Island and all trains on the St. Joe & Grand Island
road between Fairbury and Marysville, Kan., have been annulled. The rainfall in this county last night varied from five to seven inches.

Near the town of Janes, east of this city, a fatality is reported. Joseph Flaming, a farmer, was aroused
at 4 o'clock on Monday and found the flood waters of Cub creek flowing into his house. Flaming and his family fled on horse back, the father leading the animal while his wife and two children clung to his back. Their 3-year-old child was swept away and drowned. Several other houses near Cub creek are submerged.

TWO KILLED IN WRECKED HOUSE

Geneva, Neb., June 8.—A tornado
which passed near Geneva last evening caused two deaths, fatally injured two others and destroyed several thousand dollars worth of property.
One mile west of Geneva in the farm house of John H. Shiveley was struck and totally demolished. Mr. Shiveley's 14-year-old daughter and a young boy, Joseph Smith, employed in the house, were killed. Mr. Shiveley was injured so badly that he can survive
but a few hours. A farm hand named Fussell was probably fatally hurt.
The storm wrecked a number of other buildings in the vicinity, including the engine house at the industrial plant. Several other persons are reported injured, but none
fatally.

ONE KILLED AT CARLETON.

Carleton, Neb., June 9.—A woman was killed and a number injured in a tornado here last night.

LEGISLATURE HAS POWER
OVER LIQUOR LICENSE

Lincoln, Neb., June 9.—The Nebraska
supreme court, in a novel case from Minden, holds that the legislature has the right to prohibit or license the sale of liquor in this state. The point at issue is the same as that which Judge Artmann of Indiana passed upon recently. Artmann held that the sale is without a nuisance and the state is without the power to license the sale
of liquor or to authorize the issuance of a license to issue one.

The case was presented by C. L.
Goffrey, lawyer of Minden. He insisted that the licensing of saloons was contrary to the constitution, in that the sale of liquor was vicious and demoralizing and opposed to the laws
and spirit of the fundamental law.
The supreme court holds that the right of the people to prohibit the traffic in liquor is not a constitutional provision. It is a matter of public policy and the legislature is the repository of the power to either prohibit or license.
Regulation is traced back to the days
of Edward VI of England, and has been followed by every legislature in every state. In Nebraska that power was assumed back in 1855, made a part of the general statutes in 1873 and re-enacted in 1892. The constitution passed. The legislature having acted it does not lie within the courts to annul what the legislature could not
undo by law.

Goffrey contended that the applicant
was not a man of good character, as required by law, because no man of respectable character would apply for a liquor license, but the court declines
to take this view of it.

FARMER KILLED AND FAMILY INJURED

Franklin, Neb., June 9.—A tornado
struck the farming country five miles
north here last evening, wrecking houses,
killing a man and wounding several.
Henry Madison, a farmer, was instantaneously killed and three members of a family named Tucker badly injured.
Others were injured, but how seriously
cannot be estimated.

Corn, alfalfa, and clover pasture will lay flat on their sides as fast as anything else that grows.

HEFFERNAN PROJECTS
DEMOCRATIC NEWSPAPER

Hubbard, Neb., June 9.—Hubbard
may have a newspaper. Judge and Representative Dan G. Heffernan has under consideration the project of launching into the journalistic field. As the town is about 18 to 20 miles from the nearest newspaper, he is a strong advocate of the cause, of course
the paper would advance the political principles of its editor and town.

PRICE OF PRISON
LABOR IS BOOSTED
BY STATE OFFICIALS

Board of Public Lands and Buildings Raises Convict
Wages to 75 Cents.

Lincoln, Neb., June 8.—The board of public lands and buildings, acting with Warden Beemer and Governor Sheldon, has decided to end the privileges involved by the Lee Broom and Duster
company at the penitentiary, the board
this morning adopting a resolution whereby it becomes the sense of the board that the Lee company may not employ the convict labor of the state
after June 17, unless the company is willing to pay 75 cents per day per convict. Under former contracts the company paid only 50 cents per day.

The meeting this morning followed
a long executive session yesterday afternoon. Mr. Lee then offered an advance of 25 cents per day per man
over the present price. The board turned this down at once. Mr. Lee then withdrew his offer.

It was necessary to use a ladder to fasten the rope to the ceiling. When
this was done several men were
while pulling the rope for a moment.
He was seen sitting there a few moments before he jumped, out. No thought of his attitude. The head of the falling body and the crowd
of lumber brought the men into the
rear room, where Wilber's body was found swinging from the ceiling. He had dropped seven feet. A physician
called in once, but Wilber was dead.
His neck was broken.

The dead man had a family consisting of a wife, son and daughter. No
definite motive was ascertainable this
morning, but the outside was of a
rather morose disposition. It was regarded likely that he was demented.

Wilber had made his home in Beat-
rice for more than a quarter of a century. Most of this time he was in the meat trade. When he sold out about a month ago he did not make known
his reasons.

GAME WARDEN
CAUGHT SEINING

Invited Friends to Participate
in Lawless Act and All
Get Caught.

Lincoln, Neb., June 8.—Fred McGrew,
a deputy game warden at Hebron, was
fined $25 and costs because he violated
the game laws by seining for catfish.
McGrew supposed that as a warden
he was a privileged character, and
invited a party of friends to go seining
with him, assuring them that it was all
legal. Somebody gave the tip to the state warden and he had his traveling
deputy, E. Hunger, go down from Lincoln. He caught the party red-handed.
McGrew paid $25 and four other $5 as
fines.

tion. Eleven hundred delegates were present at the first meeting, 2,000 at the second. The committee has arranged for 2,500 at the one this fall.
One delegate will be appointed for each
congressional district.

NELLOR WILL NOT
REMOVE FROM RANDOLPH

Dixon, Neb., June 8.—It is learned with much regret that there is no basis for the report that Dan Nellor, of Randolph,
would remove his newspaper to this place.
It is understood that parties from Dixon made him a flattering proposition to make the change but he would not consider it.

WINSIDE SALOONS
IN BUSINESS AGAIN

Winside, Neb., June 8.—After a drought of five weeks, Winside is again wet. Two saloons opened up last night and the click
of the beer glasses is heard in the town.
The "ants" have not an yet filed their appeal to the district court, and ten days
having passed since notice of appeal was given, the saloon men were advised by their attorneys to open up which they proceeded to do on Monday.

SPANISH WAR VETERANS
HOLD A REUNION

Lincoln, Neb., June 8.—A reunion of Spanish-American war veterans, attended by nearly 200 members of the three Nebraska regiments, was held yesterday. Among those who attended were Bryan, who was colonel of the Third Nebraska, and Governor Sheldon, who was a captain in Mr. Bryan's regiment. A campfire

empty bottles from a man without ask-

LIGHTNING BOLT WRECKED
DAM; TWO DROWNED

Guajuato, Mex., June 8.—Two

drowned and a score of persons are reported injured by lightning which value of $20,000 was destroyed as the result of the breaking of the dam across the river at this place. The dam had just been completed.
A bill of lightning struck and destroyed a smaller dam just above the main structure, allowing the water to rush in such volume as to destroy the latter.

own head, killing himself instantly,

lieved he was insane. Mrs. Rosent

FRIENDS BEHELD
SUICIDE PLANNED
BY OLD SETTLER

Wilber Deceived His Companions as to His Purpose in Arranging Rope.

Lincoln, Neb., June 8.—C. F. Wilber,
who has been in the meat business
here for 23 years, until a few weeks ago, yesterday morning prepared for death in the presence of several workmen. He improvised a gallows, jumped from a ladder and broke his neck.
Wilber shortly after 8 o'clock entered the building on Fifth street where he had conducted his meat business, and with a long rope, to be attached to a hook in the ceiling, he arranged for arrangements for suicide. Workmen were employed in the front of the building. To their inquiries he said he intended to raise some boxes from the cellar and attach to a barack. Little more attention was paid him.

It was necessary to use a ladder to
fasten the rope to the ceiling. When
this was done several men were
while pulling the rope for a moment.
He was seen sitting there a few
moments before he jumped, out. No
thought of his attitude. The
head of the falling body and the crowd
of lumber brought the men into the
rear room, where Wilber's body was found swinging from the ceiling. He
had dropped seven feet. A physician
called in once, but Wilber was dead.
His neck was broken.

The dead man had a family consisting of a wife, son and daughter. No
definite motive was ascertainable this
morning, but the outside was of a
rather morose disposition. It was regarded likely that he was demented.

Wilber had made his home in Beat-
rice for more than a quarter of a century. Most of this time he was in the meat trade. When he sold out about

GAME WARDEN
CAUGHT SEINING

Invited Friends to Participate
in Lawless Act and All
Get Caught.

Lincoln, Neb., June 8.—Fred McGrew,
a deputy game warden at Hebron, was
fined $25 and costs because he violated
the game laws by seining for catfish.
McGrew supposed that as a warden
he was a privileged character, and
invited a party of friends to go seining
with him, assuring them that it was all
legal. Somebody gave the tip to the
state warden and he had his traveling
deputy, E. Hunger, go down from Lincoln. He caught the party red-handed.
McGrew paid $25 and four other $5 as
fines.

McGrew has appealed to the governor
to permit him to file second informations against the other members of the party and to restore his commission.
The governor has refused to do so,
but the reason why he wants to have the others fined again is that he will get half of the fines assessed against them.

"SPILLS," THIEF IS FREED

St. Louis, June 6.—"Why did you steal
a piece of pie from the outer guard
at the city jail?" asked Judge Taylor
in the court of criminal correction,
when Ernest Holdridge, 6 feet 5 inches tall, was asked why he had stolen a piece of pie from the outer guard.
"Your honor, I couldn't resist it," said
the prisoner. "I was being taken into

empty bottles from a man without ask-

when I saw that I couldn't keep my hands off of you do with the pie?"
asked the judge.

DESTROY FLOWERS
ON HUBBY'S GRAVE

Parents of Dead Man Arouse
Wife's Ire by Confiscating
Her Last Tribute.

Lincoln, Neb., June 5.—An angry
woman, who declined to give her name,
called upon a Lincoln undertaker yesterday to know whether the parents of her dead husband have any right to remove flowers she had put on his grave and substitute some of their own.
When she was told they had not she left the undertaker going into court and stir her grievance.
Saturday she decorated her husband's grave with a choice collection of flowers. She expected to return that way
a little later and at some distance saw
a man and a woman take her flowers,
destroy them and put others in their place. She says they were the father and mother of her husband and while later they denied having done so, she proposes to vindicate her superior right
to control of his last resting place.

SOUTHERN NEBRASKA
STORM STRICKEN

Wymore, Neb., June 5.—Southern
Nebraska was rain soaked yesterday.
The Republican river is out of its banks west of Superior and traffic was

ident Willard's special on the Burlington was caught between two stretches
of water covered track last night and delayed by the water for 15 minutes.
Superior was opened today, but is still in bad shape. The Blue river is out of its banks in places and much higher than it was last week.

At Marysville the water is over low water mark and still rising. Six inches of rain, according to telegraphic
reports, fell at Deshler, west of here.

COPIOUS RAINFALL,
LOW TEMPERATURE

Lincoln, Neb., June 5.—Weekly weather bulletin for week ending June 1, 1907.
The week was cool and cloudy, with an excess of rain in most parts of the state.
The daily mean temperature was between 60 and 64 degrees in the eastern and southern counties, which is two to three degrees below the normal. But in the northwestern counties it was about 10 degrees below the normal. It was the warmest day, with a maximum temperature quite generally about 55 degrees. Frequent and Saturday mornings were the coldest, with minimum temperatures about 50 degrees in the eastern sections, and five to ten degrees
colder in the western.

The rainfall was above normal, it exceeded an inch
in most of the northern and eastern counties, and in several southeastern counties. In some central and southern counties the rainfall was less than half an inch. The total rainfall from April 1 to date averages slightly above

PLATT PAID WIFE
$15,000 TO "GIT"

New York, June 5.—Details of the agreement of separation signed on November 11, 1906, between United States Senator Platt and his wife, who was Mrs. Lillian Janeway, were revealed today during the trial before Justice Ford and a jury in the supreme court of the city. Mrs. Platt's lawyers against the senator to recover money
due her under the agreement. The agreement of some pressing bills incurred by Mrs. Platt before the agreement was signed.

It developed that Senator Platt agreed to pay her $15,000 in lieu of all her claims upon him, besides recognizing her as the owner of Tigea Lodge, the senator's well known place at Highland Park, and to give her all small pieces
of property he had deeded to her.
In return Mrs. Platt agreed not to this county, and to institute no other action for divorce against him anywhere or at any time, based on a substantiated charge.

BABY CRIES FOR DOG;
NEWLY WEDS STEAL IT

New York, June 5.—Lawyer Richard W. Hill and wife, Mrs. Newell, were went out for a drive. Sitting up beside "Popper" on the front seat was R. W.
Hill, Jr., aged eight months.
"Mr. Hill," said the driver, "the Morris Heights engine house when Master Hill slept Sport, the firemen's
spotted couch dog, and began to cry
for his dog."
"Does toothie wootsie want the dog?"
asked Popper.
"Wow!" yelled baby, pointing at Sport.
"Hill drive wow!" replied the dog, which
all of a sudden seemed to take a fancy
for the Hill cherub, and was attempting to jump up into the wagon.
Hill started to drive on, but was appalled by the volubility of Sport and how-lows that proceeded from the infant
and from the lovestruck canine, and there was nothing left for Hill to do
but to stop the car and get it beside the baby. For a full hour he never seen each other before they were wonderfully affectionate.
Hill drove three miles to his home
and there he and his wife and baby and then drove three miles back to the fire house with the dog—making nine miles for Popper on a genuine Newell-wed proposition.

said that the duke's death was caused by heart disease and that he was not in bed and screaming in pain
as the Duke was reported to be.
"The duke and my daughter were kneeling at their bedside in prayer,"
said Mr. Shonts. "When the stroke came upon him that carried him off
before he could get up, he was kneeling
in prayer."
"Suddenly he lurched forward and
then fell unconscious at my daughter's feet. He was a big man and she is a slight girl, but she held him bodily
on the bed and screamed in pain."
He was dead before anything could be done
for him.

FOR CONGRESS.

I desire to announce myself as a candidate for the nomination for congress. In this, the Third Congressional District, subject to the will of the democratic and populist voters at the primaries to be held next September.

J. P. LAITTA, Tekamah, Neb.

FOR STATE SENATOR.

I desire to announce to the Republican Voters of the Eleventh Senatorial District, that I am a Candidate for the nomination for Senator of said District at the Primary Election to be held September 1st, 1908, and hope by earnestly soliciting the vote of every Republican in the District.

R. Y. APPLEY

The Chicago Inter-Ocean, most-covered republican organ, speaking of the Taft platform, says:

What sort of a campaign can a republican congressman make for re-election on a platform which merely echoes what Mr. Bryan has been saying since 1896? Which is merely what Mr. Bryan said first, and said better?

How can a republican stump speaker explain to the people that what he condemned as false all along, the line in 1896, and ever since, has suddenly become true?

How can he demonstrate the absolute political heresy of the democrats and the absolute political soundness of the republicans?

How can republican newspapers and republican spellbinders argue to the people that what they have denounced for years as falsehoods has become saying truth?

How can any republican congressman hope to confound his democratic opponent under such circumstances.

That's it in a nut shell. Every able-bodied, sane, republican in the state of Nebraska should stand up for Bryan for truth! for honesty in politics, and as a just rebuke to the hypocrisy and double-dealing of the Taft campaign.

A Well Deserved Rebuke.

The DEMOCRAT has often wondered why prohibitionists as a rule were so ashamed of their work. In nearly all crusades they hire an irresponsible fool with more nerve than brains to "get out in the open." Even here in Wayne they push out a paper with no "man" at the helm, simply published by the league, so that "no one" is responsible for the "dirt" it may dig up. The following, from the pen of Edgar Howard does this matter justice and is reprinted for the benefit of the local readers, wherever they may be. Some one said that "conscience makes cowards of us all."

It would be difficult to determine whether it is conscience or something else which moves men to the cowardly course of writing anonymous letters to persons with whom they do not agree. And yet the coward who writes an anonymous letter sometimes thrusts opportunity upon the one he seeks to hurt. The editor of The Telegram desires to thank the coward who addressed to him the following postal card this week.

Yes, Edgar, Sam Small was right. Editors that print saloon ads for pay are not fit for congress. ENRIQUE NOUS

We give thanks to the coward who was afraid to sign his name to the above, because it gives us opportunity to have a bit of newspaper conversation on the subject which is not always clear to good men who really desire to be fair and honest in their opinions.

Perhaps it is true that in The Telegram a smaller number of saloon advertisements are carried than in the average weekly newspaper in Nebraska, but we want all men to know that we offer no apology for the appearance of the liquor advertisements which we carry. Why condemn a newspaper for printing saloon advertisements? Is the editor who accepts advertisements for liquor more to be censured than the good men who in their capacity as mayors and councilmen have voted the license to the dealer who carries his advertisements to the newspaper? Is it true that the editor who receives saloon advertisements is more of a sinner than the clothing merchant who sells nice clothes to the saloonkeeper, thereby making him attractive to his customers? Is it a fact that such an editor is more of a monster than the painter or the wall-paper merchant who paints signs or puts pretty paper on the walls to draw trade to the saloon? Is such an editor more to be condemned than the good family physician who recommends to his sick clients some particular brand of pure beer or whiskey sold by the saloon? Is such an editor worse than the respectable insurance agency which guarantees to protect the saloon-keepers from loss or damage to his goods by fire?

And, finally, is the poor editor who accepts liquor advertisements in due course of trade any more to be censured than the coward who cures the editor, but who at the same time accepts the license money from the saloon-keeper, and uses it to educate his children?

This liquor problem is a large problem, and it cannot be settled and settled right by men who are so lacking in courage as to write an anonymous postal card. It is a question which needs the best thought of all good citizens. Men may honestly differ as to the mode of dealing with this great question, some men are honest in the opinion that traffic in intoxicating liquors should be wholly prohibited. Other men honestly believe the traffic should be regulated by law. Why should it seem necessary on part of those who believe in prohibition to always question the honesty and integrity of those who do not believe in prohibition? Our cowardly friend who wrote the above postal card thinks an editor who prints saloon advertisements is not fit to be elected to congress. It is his privilege to think that way, but we would have more respect for him if he should meet us face to face and speak his honest conviction, or write them above his own signature. Is he ashamed of the name which his father and mother gave him? In place of his own name he runs away to a foreign nation and borrows a name for the occasion. He signs himself "Entre Nous," which in gay Paree means "among ourselves." That's what the scandal-monger says when telling some foul tale to hurt his neighbor. He says entre nous, or "this is on the quiet," "among ourselves." God guard humanity against the attacks of the devil's agents who say "entre nous" when hurling a cowardly harpoon in the direction of one whose fault is that he holds an opinion contrary to the harpooner.—Columbus Telegram.

Where Did They Get It?

The metropolitan newspapers often point gleefully to the fact that the two patron saints of plutocracy—Rockefeller and Carnegie—have in recent years "given away" to public charity and education over one hundred millions of dollars.

Yes, that is true, but—where did they get it? Any American school boy can answer that question, and base his answer upon the official records of our national administration. Every dollar of the vast sums contributed by Carnegie and Rockefeller to public or christian causes was taken from the pockets of the people by aid of special legislation of congress, giving them advantages over all competitors, or by criminal manipulation of railroad freight rates or railroad stocks.—Columbus Telegram

A local employe of the railroad company whose salary had been cut to bluff the people into a belief that the railroads of the country were going bankrupt, took occasion to look up the receipts of the local office, and found the total amount of business for April, 1908, to be just $10 less than April, 1907. Owing to the general depression in business for April it might easily make the receipts $500 to the bad instead of $10, but this item of "$10.00" probably covers the whole state. The railroads are out for Taft because Taft is for the railroads. See?

Stomach troubles are very common in the summer time and you should not only be very careful about what you eat just now, but more than this, you should be careful not to allow your stomach to become disordered, and when the stomach goes wrong take Kodol. This is the best known preparation that is offered to the people today for dyspepsia or indigestion or any stomach trouble. Kodol digests all foods. It is pleasant to take. It is sold here by J. T. Leahy.

The Boston Herald says the failure of the Anti-injunction bill leaves the country at the mercy of the law, that is not true. It merely leaves the country at the mercy of federal judges appointed for life.

That's where Marshal Miner is sending the untagged dogs, these days. If you want to keep your hound in town pay dog tax at once.

"Once more" remarks the Salt Lake Herald "We rise to inquire as to the whereabouts of one Leslie M. Shaw." Gracious, is the Herald unable to accumulate enough grief without going out and looking for it?

Mrs. S. Joyce, Claremont, N. H., writes: "About a year ago I bought two bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy. It cured me of a severe case of kidney trouble of several years standing. It certainly is a grand, good medicine. Raymond's Drug Store."

Among other amusing things is the spectacle of a republican congressman who dare not call his congressional soul his own talking about the incapacity of the Filipinos for self government.

All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. Call at my new billiard hall and enjoy a good game on first-class tables. HARRY BURNETT.

Of course a man should at all times control his temper, realizing that he who does so is greater than he that taketh a city, but once in a while something takes place that gives one license to maintain a degree of righteous indignation until he comes to the turning of the road, and it is a long one that has no turn.

Mrs. S. L. Bowen, of Wayne, W. Va., writes: "I was a sufferer from kidney disease, so that at times I could not get out of bed, and when I did I could not stand straight. I took Foley's Kidney Remedy. One dollar bottle and part of the second cured me entirely." Foley's Kidney Remedy works wonders where others are a total failure. Raymond's Drug Store.

Lincoln has a humane citizen who has made the discovery that when a dog is extremely restless and devotes a great deal of time to licking its paws the condition is one of ingrowing toenails, and the poor beast may be relieved by snipping the "climber" which curls like a ram's horn.

W. R. Ward, of Dyersburg, Tenn., writes: "This is to certify that I have used Foley's Orino Laxative for chronic constipation, and it has proven without a doubt to be a thorough practical remedy for this trouble, and it is with pleasure I offer my conscientious reference." Raymond's Drug Store.

Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup is the one that children like so well to take as it tastes nearly as good as maple sugar. It is different from others as it does not constipate, but on the other hand it acts gently yet freely on the bowels and thereby it drives the cold out of the system. It is sold by J. T. Leahy.

Foley's Kidney Remedy will cure any case of kidney or bladder trouble that is not beyond the reach of medicine. No medicine can do more. Raymond's Drug Store.

We didn't use to believe in hanging, but now we think the man who is utterly selfish and unmindful of the rights of his fellows deserves nothing less.

NO HUMBUNG.

No humbug claims have to be made for Foley's Honey and Tar, the well known remedy for coughs and colds and lung troubles. The fact that more bottles of Foley's Honey and Tar are used than any other cough remedy is the best testimonial of its great merit. Why then risk taking some unknown preparation when Foley's Honey and Tar costs you no more and is safe and sure. Raymond's Drug Store.
