SPECIAL SHOWING Of Wooltex Coats and Suits Next Saturday, September 26th.

Next Saturday we have arranged to have a special showing of suits and coats which represent in full the fashions for fall. The high standard for quality, which this store maintains, can be seen in every garment shown. Many of our other fall lines are here, such as dress goods, waists, skirts, suitings, percales, etc., and we will greatly appreciate an opportunity to show these different lines.

Wooltex Suits are Honest

ALL THE WAY THROUGH

WOOLTEX styles are good—the result of the combined efforts of a fashion authority stationed in Paris and a large staff of trained designers.

WOOLTEX materials are good—the wool is tested by acid. The silk is pure silk. The interlinings are of high quality. The silk thread is tested for purity of dye.

WOOLTEX garments are good—as good as conscientious workmanship, expert cutting and artistic designing can make them and the price is very reasonable.

Look for the label

It insures satisfaction

Wooltex Coats are Nearly Perfect

They are nearly perfect—not entirely so, for WOOLTEX tailors are constantly devising improvements—but you'll find none others so good.

A fashion bureau in Paris and thirty-five experts in the designing department have produced 470 distinctive styles this season.

Skilled tailors have spared no time or trouble in working up these styles.

Every practicable labor-saving machine has been employed in order to reduce the cost.

The result is garments of superior quality in every detail at a moderate price.

Look for the label

It insures your satisfaction

There are no better values in ready-to-wear clothing than you will find here

WAISTS

New silk and net waists in pretty designs, to look well and wear well. We are sure that you will be more than pleased with our selection. No one, so far, has been displeased with our prices.

SKIRTS

So many people are acquainted with our line of skirts that we need hardly speak of them but we do want to say that if you are not already on the Buckingham skirt list you will be if you will come in and try some of the skirts on.

DRESS GOODS

Our dress goods department is well filled with the best things for Fall, many of the new materials now being in stock. We are in a position to give you extra values in almost any material you may wish to see.

Make up your mind NOW to come to this store next Saturday. Our grocery department is full of good things at bargain prices. Your produce will buy more at this store.

Hard on the Irish.

At least, it was a mean, humiliating reception, that Chas. W. Irish of Omaha got in Wayne last week. Last week's DEMOCRAT stated that Mr. Irish would be "master of ceremonies" at an initiation of new members into the order of the Mystic Legion, Tuesday night, but even while the DEMOCRAT was in course of construction the Hon. Chas. W. indulged himself in the county jail, where he remained until Friday morning, when the sheriff from Nebraska City took him to that place on charges of selling mortgaged property. Some of the members of the local order were not only terribly surprised at this turn of affairs, but Marshal Miner, who took the Irish into camp, says some of them, the gentler sex, were indignant to 100 in the shade. The lodge delegated Prof. Durrin to go to Nebraska City with the accused, and give him what assistance developments might make him worthy of.

Prof. R. Durrin returned Sunday evening and stated that Irish was in jail, although he, Durrin, didn't think there was much of a case against him. The trial was to have been held yesterday.

Mr. J. W. Mason accompanied his brother and sister, Mr. and Miss Dressler, as far as Sioux City Tuesday, on their way home to Pennsylvania.

Henry Volpp was in Wayne Saturday, returning to Bloomfield from Scribner. Henry says it is "all for Bryan" wherever he has traveled.

For an Artesian Well.

It is the intention of the railroad company to endeavor to get an artesian well at this point, Geo. Savidge now drilling for the same with his immense well machine. The hole is some 500 feet deep. Aside from the expectation of a flowing well there is no telling what else Mr. Savidge may bring up before he quits the job; perhaps gold, silver, coal, gas, or maybe only "hot air."

Two good farms to rent for cash rent. Call or address Phil Sullivan, Wayne, Nebr.

Wayne is to Have Sewerage.

Developments are now under way for the city of Wayne to have a good system of sanitary sewerage within a year from this date. A sanitary sewerage plant only takes care of the city water and flushings, the surface water from rainfalls not drawing into it at all. Large cities have a combination for both, but it is mighty expensive and very unsatisfactory, unless the streets are paved, and perfectly clean the dirt soon filling them up.

The plans call for a main sewer on First street, starting three blocks west of Main, running east to the Phileo lumber office, thence around north of the railroad tracks and east of Weber Bros.' mill where it will be carried to the creek. This much of the plant will be built out of the city's general funds and will cost about $2500. Sewers will then be put in from 8th street north, in each alley; the district now mapped out being from the new school building on the west, and the three alleys east of Main street, that is, as far east as College street. A petition to all property owners will be presented for signatures in about ten days, the law providing that a majority must agree to the proposition before it can be put in. There will no doubt be more or less objectors who fail to understand that their property will be greatly enhanced in value, while the out-lying property will correspondingly decrease. The cost is now roughly estimated at 70 cents per front foot. All residences within the sewer district will sooner or later be compelled to discard all out-houses and clean up their premises in this respect, and use city water to flush toilet rooms, etc. It will be possible for any block of residence property to come inside the sewer district at any time by a majority vote of the property holders therein.

A movement for sewerage is the best proposition Wayne ever went after. It will clean up all the business alleys of their unspeakable filth and make the town not only cleaner but a thousand per cent, healthier and better in every respect. No property holder can afford to "vote no" on the proposition if the whole matter is thoroughly understood.

Druggist Fred Koester of Carroll was in Omaha last week buying holiday goods.

Messrs P. H. Kohl and C. M. Craven were passengers to Norfolk Sunday night.

C. R. Witter and Frank Gaertner went to Norfolk Sunday evening to report for jury work in the federal court.

Henry Kloppen went to Omaha Sunday to see if he could pick up a bunch of cattle.

Good Men Wanted.

Good men are wanted in every business and they are hard to find. You can find plenty of men who appear to be just right, and are satisfactory for a short time, but soon fall back to the usual average and then they are not wanted. You can not tell if a man is what you have been looking for, by trying him one day, but you can find out if you give him a fair trial. It is the average that decides. You can not Judge this store by a single purchase, but if you will give us a fair trial you will find that we on an average will give you better satisfaction than any other store.

We have been in business longer than any clothing store in the state of Nebraska, and our trade is better today than it every was. Don't that look well to you? We are selling the same make of clothing (and at lower prices than our competitor) that we have sold for so many years. So you see the chances are we will please you better than any other store, if you will give us your trade. We don't change our way of doing business or sell any goods that have not been tested. So you can always feel sure that you take no chances buying clothing of us. We will be pleased to have you call on us and see our new method of showing every suit we have at one time. More new goods to show than we ever had and you can see them all in five minutes. Just drop in and take a peep, they look good and will please you.

Mr. and Mrs. Worm and the whole family HAVE TO DIE

It is a sad day for the Worm family when you give your pigs WORMITE for worms.

There won't be any mourners either, because Grandpa and Grandma Worm and all the cousin worms will be dead, too.

But it will be a happy day for the pigs. Every time they eat there won't be several hundred worms in their stomach and intestines to eat the food and leave the pigs nothing to grow on.

There won't be any worms eating holes in their intestines and other parts.

It will give the pigs a chance to grow and gain in weight.

Remember There is Nothing That Equals WORMITE As a Worm Killer.

Last week we called attention to the argument of the members of the Taft club, predicting a low price for corn in case Bryan should be elected. We stated that several farmers had authorized us to offer the members of the Taft club 45 cents a bushel for all the corn they could deliver in Columbus next May.

We are now ready to raise the offer. As confidence in the certainty of the election of Bryan keeps growing, just so with confidence in the belief that corn will be good price next year after Bryan shall have been inaugurated as president. This confidence has led a responsible farmer to leave some good money at The Telegram office, with instructions to contract with the Columbus Taft club for all the corn they can deliver in Columbus during the month of May, 1909 at 47 cents per bushel. -Columbus Telegram

"A Few Facts About Flour"

"An Erroneous Impression"

There are many people who think that flour made from northern wheat is always best. This is a mistake. It has been proven that blended wheat (that is, winter and spring) makes the best and sweetest bread. Flour made from using hard spring wheat entirely, makes tough bread. By using partly spring and partly winter wheat you get an ideal flour, which makes a nice white, sweet, flakey loaf of bread. The fact of Minneapolis buyers paying 2 cents more for winter wheat than for spring wheat on our markets today, shows that they must have winter wheat to mix with their spring wheat for milling purposes. We blend our winter and spring wheat and make the best of flours. Our Superlative is SUPERIOR; Our Snow Flake is the best flour on the market today for the money. All Wayne merchants handle Wayne flour.

Store your wheat at the Wayne Roller Mill and you will always get good flour.</

We received this week our fall stock of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Coats. They show all the latest styles and colors worn this fall. The semi-fitting, tight fitting and directoire coats are all shown.

We received this week four shipments of fall skirts, direct from New York. We arranged with the buyer for one of Lincoln, Neb.'s, largest stores to get us these lines of skirts, as they do not sell to towns of this size; so we are showing you styles and prices which you cannot help but take advantage of.

New, Fall Dress Goods

We have taken lots of time to select our fall stock of Dress Goods and we know we are showing in this department nothing but the very latest colors and weaves. We have the New Browns, Blues, Wines, and a big lot of fancy suitings.

A nice line of goods suitable for children's dresses are also on display.

Don't fail to see our line of buttons for trimmings.

Fall Waists

In this department we are showing more colors and styles than has ever been shown in Wayne. We have an elegant line of white and ecru net waists for $4.00 to $7.00.

Our leader in waists are Brown, Blue and Black Taffeta, to sell for $4.00

We are showing a big line of Madras waists, just the thing for every day wear.

Pitiful appeals from Roosevelt, almost daily, for his heir to the presidency, Wm. H. Taft. There must be something awfully wrong with Taft's candidacy to make it necessary for such extreme and strenuous doings.

Taft was only a "Mark Hanna" he might make some votes in Nebraska, but since he is only a mark, Hanna, he'll not do us much harm.

A man in Ohio worth $50,000 still works at his trade of a bootblack. Lots of people would shine if they had that much money.

E. W. Closson of Sholes went to Omaha yesterday to buy merchandise for his big store.

Taft will make the whirl through Nebraska, Sept. 30th, at Emerson, Wakefield, Wayne, Winside, Norfolk, Stanton, West Point, Scribner and Fremont, thence to Lincoln, where he will make what the Norfolk News calls his "set speech." Everybody in this vicinity should come to Wayne and hear Taft. He is a big man and candidate for president, representing the interests of the country. No matter what your politics are hear Taft anyway.

"An Iowa woman insists that heaven is filled with pianos," says the New York World. Well, that doesn't leave any room for phonographs.

Vests are to be flashy this year, which means that we will have to flash more money to get them.

Candidate Taft has spent the past couple of weeks preparing his speeches.

Now, just imagine William J. Bryan having to spend several weeks in preparation of what he wishes to tell the public. The difference all lies in the fact that Taft has to be mighty careful what he says when he opens his mouth, or he will "put his foot in it."

Bryan, being honest, frank and above any deception, with no millionnaire corporations to pay for the democratic campaign (for favors of the future) can tell his story just as truly as water runs down hill.

Do Surber returned last Friday night from South Dakota where he has considerable land.

Fremont news: Have you seen the woman who spits on her handkerchief and then wipes the dirt off her baby's face? It is a practice old as it is unclean. Not long since we heard a number of women discussing the practice and one of them was particularly strong in denouncing the "dirty trick," until her young hopeful butted in with, "That's what you do with us kids, Mama." And Mama's embarrassed deplals didn't silence the kid. "Fools and children speak the truth."

Fremont News: A girl weighs 180 pounds, wears number 2 shoes on number 10 feet has an 18 inch waist and a merry widow 8 feet in circumference, what is the size of her brain? Also her capacity for ice cream?

Just depends on whether she removes her brains to make room for the cream.

President Roosevelt certainly has made an awful mess of the Foraker matter, proving that the republican managers have got to say very little and be careful what that little is. Just a few days ago Taft and Foraker fixed up their political differences, and Foraker was to put on the armor for his candidacy; then Hearst sprung the Standard oil letters on Foraker, and now out comes Roosevelt with the proof that Taft knew what manner of a knave Foraker was "way last summer."

dict hard times and low prices if Bryan is elected. Get that cheap wool out of your ears, you men of lost minds.

Denison Bulletin: They were breaking in a new brakeman on the Northwestern passenger service recently.

He was a Swede fellow from Boone, and in calling the stations he did a good job of it. Coming west he swelled all up and yelled out: "Grand Junction, Grand Junction." Just then he looked out of the window and yelled, "By Yessus, no; it ain't Grand Junction, it is Yesserson."

It has come to pass. Wm. Taft has caused it to rain in Indiana. He is now known as the "rain maker."

"Hot demand for Roosevelt to make speeches," the morning paper states. No doubt of it. There will be "hot demand" for anything that will save the poor party.

The correspondent of the Sioux City Journal says there will be 5000 people in Wayne to see Taft. That looks like counting chickens before you even get the eggs.

Skadden-Kelchmark

The marriage of Miss Gussie Skadden and Mr. Wm. G. Kelchmark took place yesterday, Rev. Parker Smith performing the ceremony, and the happy couple leaving at once for Blair where the groom is in business. The bride has been stenographer in Atty. Berry's office the past year or two and was a decided favorite among old and young and business people. The DEMOCRAT extends its most sincere congratulations.

GAMBLE--EBERT

On Tuesday evening at the residence of the bride's parents occurred the marriage of Miss Daisy Gamble and Mr. Ernest Ebert, a large number of friends witnessing the ceremony.

The elegant new home presented a beautiful appearance, the decorations being exceptionally artistic. The large colonial porch was illuminated with red lights. The parlors and central hall were festooned in garlands of pink crape paper and simplex. Under the chandelier in the east room was suspended a pink and green bell while in one corner was arranged a bower of pink and green with a large bell under which the bride and groom plighted their vows.

Mrs. Jas. Miller presided at the piano and after the beautiful solo "Because," sung by Miss Miriam Patterson, the march was begun with the sweetly blended voices of Mesdames Morris, Wilbur, Johnson and Nangle singing, "Lohengrin's Wedding March," as they slowly wended their way down the broad stairway. Miss Kate Gamble made a dainty ring bearer. Mr. Gamble gave away the bride. Rev. Osborne pronounced the words which made them one. After congratulations the guests were served in the dining room, which was "a thing of beauty" in its pink and green and was presided over by a bevy of prettily attired young women the Misses Elsie Scace, Ellis, Morgan and Dora Lewis. Mrs. Lowery of Omaha having charge of the catering. Upstairs the numerous gifts of cut glass, silver, handwork, etc., were viewed with much pleasure for Daisy is a Wayne girl and her many friends shared with her in her happiness over the adornments for her new home.

The bride's dress was of French lawn with an exquisite yoke of imported lace, made in traine. Her going away gown was of dark blue cloth with hat and gloves to match.

Mr. Ebert is a fine looking young man who made many friends here, while he was employed at the Neely & Craven hardware store. NOW TO MAKE PRETTY BOOTEES FOR BABY

Use the Tops of Kid Gloves Cut from Long Ones—Other Uses of Glove Tips.

The rapidly lengthening sleeves, which have been causing the long glove problem, have left us with many remnants of kid, which the handy girl utilizes for Christmas gifts.

This past season when bright-colored glove kid has been in favor again, many women have long gloves of blue, pink, lavender or rose color that they no longer use. These make charming booties for the baby.

Rip the tops where they are joined to the hand, and cut open the long seam. This will give an abundance of kid to make two pairs of booties. A good pattern can be bought for 10 or 15 cents, and a few yards of narrow ribbon will complete a welcome gift at little cost.

Bootees Are Made.

Or a single pair of booties may be cut from one glove top, and the other can be made into dainty bags for buttons or thread. These should be cut in the large circle that the glove was born in. The edge can be stitched or buttonholed and eyelets pierced about an inch from the top, for a ribbon or a girt cord.

A somewhat larger bag can be made by covering a square or round piece of pasteboard with kid and cutting the rest of the glove into strips. The mouth of the glove top at the narrowest part so that the pieces may be evened. Join the strips together and shirr to the bottom.

Face the top to the depth of an inch and a half with a flowered silk or one in a contrasting color, leaving room for a casing between two rows of stitching at the bottom.

Glove tops can easily be turned to good account as strips or geometrical figures to be applied to silk coat sets or belts. Silk the same shade as the kid or a slightly lighter tone, can be shaped over a thin canvas. The kid is then cut out in bands, half moons, diamonds or any shape desired and arranged on the belt, cuff, and collar.

The edges are basted carefully and are either turned in and stitched or can be appliquéd with a narrow button hole stitch in black.

The glove tops can be used to make charming covers for note books or engagement calendars. A monogram should be painted or embossed in the center of the top.

Knife cases and small handkerchief pads also can be made. If white kid is selected, it should be bound in a colored ribbon or can be dyed any desired tint.

RAW APPLES ARE GOOD HEALTH TONIC

Many persons fancy that raw apples are indigestible, and only edible in the early morning. Doubtless the old adage, that fruit is gold in the morning, silver in the middle of the day, and lead at night, is to some extent answerable for this (to my way of thinking) erroneous impression.

Dietitians tell us that ripe, raw apples contain more phosphatized in proportion to their bulk than any other article. Food is not excepted. The reader writes on this point: "I am a large man, in this the secret of health longevity. They restore fitness and act as a sedative upon rickety nerves and ailment insomnia."

"Eat uncooked apples constantly, although, of course, in moderation, and drink distilled water only, and years will be added to your life, while the evidences of age will be long in coming."

This argument is based on the supposition that, as age advances, the deposit of mineral matter in the system increases, and requires a little more than a gradual process of assimilation.

Phosphoric acid contains the least amount of earth salts, and, for that reason, is probably, the nearest approach to the elixir of life known to the scientific world.

If you want to live long, to retain your youth at the same time and to increase your brain tissue, eat plenty of apples, drink only distilled water and eat as little meat as possible.

"Apples are far more wholesome than sweet, and all like potatoes, should be fully ripe when eaten."

NERVES AND THE SLEEPER.

A Wonder Too on Slumber by One Who Is Qualified to Speak.

From the New York Evening Post.

"It is a great pity," said the specialist in nerves to the young woman "that all of you will not learn and practice the most important lessons in maintaining health and beauty. There is more truth than fiction in the old saying that 'beauty sleep' should be taken before midnight."

The object of sleep is rest and refreshment. It is not enough merely to sleep. In the first place sleep should be made a habit. Sleep at any time is practically wasted if the muscles are taut and the brain active. Work while you work, play while you play, an energetically as you will, but, also, rest while you rest. Give yourself completely up to it. If you don't know how—learn. Then form the habit and never lose it.

"Open the windows wide, winter or summer; throw aside the pillow, and let the muscles go every single one of them—they are like rubber bands that have been stretched all day. Relax. Don't cling to the bed, unless you want to get it would get away from you. It is strong enough to hold you down your cares and worries, shut out all plans and conjectures and schemes, breathe deeply and regularly—meaning to inhale and exhale rhythmically—and, before you know it, you have slipped away."

THE CARE OF IRONS.

The woman who is going away for a week, and who is a shrimper, or who is not having the laundry done in the house, should be careful that her flatirons are not allowed to rust.

When she needs them she may not realize how rusty they are until she finds out that they do not keep enough heat in them to do but a few seconds' work.

They will be practically useless for a quick dry work, unless the entire surface is again carefully worked up to a smooth polish.

The damp weather of the end of the summer is quite apt to rust any metal that is left unprotected. Irons should be well wrapped in newspaper and then put away in a dry spot.

TO FRESHEN DRESSES.

A white or colored cotton dress usually becomes creased and crumpled long before its dispatch to the laundry. A white dress, if made of a light material, will, however, be found excellent as a means of stiffening the skirt where it has become limp, a sponge dipped in the starch being used with which to dampen the material. The garment should then be spread over an ironing board and pressed.

Florence Nightingale.

Florence Nightingale, who was recently depicted by King Edward in a picture, died in London on June 12, 1882, when she went out with a few helpers, to nurse sick and wounded British soldiers during the Crimean war. Her ability and kindness won the esteem of the troops, and she completely transformed the military hospital arrangements. Owing to overwork over the time she has been an invalid ever since. She is now 78 years old and has been bedridden for many years.

In China there are match factories, in which only hand labor is employed. One of them, at Hsien Chang, has 600 workers, 400 of whom are women.

WHERE KISSING IS COMPULSORY.

Odd Customs of English Villages—Grateful Austrian Maidens.

From the London Answers.

The charming country town of Hungerford, in Berkshire, has an annual kissing day each April, when it celebrates its Hocktide festival. Then certain duly appointed officials hold a court, collect the tithes and claim a kiss from the woman of each house they have to visit during the ceremony. The more fortunate officials are known as "tithe men," or tithe men, and usually there is no small competition for the honor among the citizens of Hungerford. The custom is hundreds of years old, and neither husband nor wife, as a rule, objects to the advent of the tatty man, with the inevitable result.

Once every five years the good town of Newcastle on Tyne has been in the habit of holding a festival known as "harrying," and the mayor and corporation go down to the church in a fine state barge to claim the tithes from the town to certain dues at an appointed spot. Then the procession returns up the river to well known stone, where the mayor selects any woman he likes from the large crowd generally there and kisses her before the assembled company, and—let it be softly said—before the good mayress herself. His worship then gives the favored woman a sovereign as a present, while the mayress, to show that there is no need for reticence, adds a gift of her own, such as a satchel, purse or other appropriate article.

"I had forgotten it until I read the book. Then it came back to me as I heard it from one who was at the funeral. The man who told it died twenty years ago."

"The soldier had enlisted in Georgia from his home, where his father remained undisturbed during the struggle. The young man had fought through the war without a scratch, save a slight wound which had left him slightly deaf. That affliction he had never referred to in any of his letters."

"Not only is it the duty of the mayor to do the kissing in this fashion, but the appointed sheriff not willing to be left out in the cold, on such occasions, also duly carries out a similar privilege. He chooses another lady, and after saluting her gravely—or otherwise—he also hands to her a useful present. This curious ceremony, which is supposed to take place quinquennially, was last performed, I believe, in the year 1801. But of course it always rests with the mayress for the time being whether it shall be performed."

When the pretty Thames town of Maidhead takes it into its head to have a "beating of the bounds" the steward appointed for that purpose is always accompanied by a large crowd of curious people. These help him, or think they do, when he has to climb over houses which stand in his path, or to get through windows under which the bounds pass. Also, a similar privilege. He chooses another lady, and after saluting her gravely—or otherwise—he also hands to her a useful present. This curious ceremony, which is supposed to take place quinquennially, was last performed, I believe, in the year 1801. But of course it always rests with the mayress for the time being whether it shall be performed."

"After the surrender he communicated with his father, saying he would reach home on or about a certain date. Travel was uncertain and he was not positive as to when he would arrive.

"His father prepared to receive him, believing that his son would come as promised, he arranged a spread such as the conditions of his surroundings at that time would permit. He had brought out his best plate, the last he had secured for a long time, and with gold which had been exchanged he bought some delicacies and substantials as the southern market at that time afforded.

Nor is our own country the only one with such compulsory kissing ceremonies. Hallmagen, in Austria, has an annual fair on St. Theodore's day, at which every man present has the right to claim on one and to kiss her without her having any right to object. This strange custom is the outcome of a rite which was once made by the Turks when they invaded the country.

"The only creature on the old place that could be awaked was a dog. As the soldier entered the gate of the grounds the dog began barking.

"The sound aroused the owner of the manor. The country was overrun at the time with stragglers, some of whom had not hesitated to commit burglary.

HIS RECEPTION.

"The father of the returning boy arose, stepped into the doorway with his shotgun and saluted the approaching stranger, and the party meets any man by chance during his progress, proceeds gravely to "bum" the individual; but if the person should be a lady, she is given the choice as to whether she will be "bumped" or leaped.

ATCHISON GLOBE SIGHTS.

Everything comes the way of some men but cash.

The women who have the big dinner to prepare are more thankful after it is all over.

Which is there more of in the world: Abuse of men by women and of women by men, or courting?

Your friends do not ask you to praise your rival, but they do think you should not expect them to hate him as you do.

If you show your dislikes very strongly you cannot be accused of being a hypocrite, but people will say your are exceedingly impolite.

It is a part of the love disease for a girl to worry more if her young man gets a splinter in his thumb than if father gets a telegraph pole in his arm.

After a woman has been married as long as six months, there is nothing in the world that seems as big to her as the salve she used to get as a girl, and the longer she is married the bigger it seems.

We wonder that it never occurs to a drunkard that he could attract a lot of favorable attention by remaining sober. Every man that would congratulate him on his sobriety would be pleased.

Lincoln, Nebraska, Sept. 21. (Special Correspondence.)—A Singer sewing machine of the latest and best patterns sells in Nebraska, Missouri, Iowa, Kansas, Oklahoma and throughout the west for $60. This may be represented by a line thus:

This same sewing machine is shipped 5000 miles to Uruguay, South America, and sold by the South American merchant for $35 which may be represented by a line thus:

And the South American dealer pays ocean freight out for 5000 miles, ocean insurance and Uruguay import tax.

Query, how much is the American buyer of American made sewing machines benefited by the protective tariff on sewing machines?

Twelve years ago Judge Ong of Nebraska was making democratic speeches in Indiana. At one place he was addressing an audience of farmers and said:

"I want to ask you farmers a question, and I want you to take time to think it over. After you have thought it over, write me your answer, addressing me at Geneva, Nebraska. Here is the question.

"What is there that you farmers sell that you get more for, and what is it you buy that you get for less, on account of the protective tariff?"

A few weeks later Judge Ong received a letter from an Indiana farmer, who wrote.

"I've been thinking your question over arrived at an answer to it. The answer is: There ain't a d—d thing."

If you want to get a definite line on the political outlook. Just ask yourselves these two questions:

"Are there any men in my neighborhood who have habitually voted the republican ticket who are now supporting Bryan and Kern?"

Are there any democrats in my neighborhood who are supporting Taft and Sherman?"

Here is a sample of what the answer will be: James Watson is the postmaster at Marple, Box Butte county, Nebraska. He has always been a republican, but this year he is supporting Bryan. He says he has talked to many republicans in his neighborhood, but so far as he is able to learn, only three are supporting Taft. Similar reports come—with names and corroborating facts—from every section of the country.

The real facts of the situation are that the republican committee's private and confidential reports were so pessimistic that it was deemed imperative that Mr. Taft's campaign of "dignity and reserve" should be abandoned and a rear platform campaign inaugurated. After blowing for ten or twelve years about Mr. Bryan's "undignified methods of campaigning," and for weeks pointing with pride to the fact that their candidate would "observe the proprieties" and would not belittle the dignity of a candidate for such high office, the republican managers, fearing and trembling, have abandoned that high and mighty position—and Mr. Taft is striving to emulate an example that he and his managers so long denounced.

All this is merely the last, for the time being, of a long sequence. First they denounced Bryan for demanding that the Filipinos be treated as the Cubans have been treated, and the reply was, "Where the American flag has been raised it will never come down." A few months later the American flag raised in Cuba came down. They denounced Bryan for advocating what they termed a 50-cent dollar, and said there was plenty of money and only confidence was needed. Confidence was restored, the per capita circulation increased 50 per cent—and then a republican congress issued a no-cent asset currency. They denounced Bryan for making a campaign tour—and now they put their own candidate on the stump. They ridiculed Bryan for dictating into a phonograph—and before the echoes of their ridicule had died away their candidate was dictating into the phonograph—and selecting, too, the same topics that Mr. Bryan had used. They denounced Bryan for advocating a bank guarantee. They denounced the idea of publicity of campaign contributions—and how seek favor by saying they will make public all contributions after election.

From Wisconsin, Minnesota, Ohio, Iowa, Nebraska, Colorado and from the Pacific coast comes the cry to the republican national committee: "Come over and help us or we perish!"

The republican committee practically admits that Indiana is hopelessly lost to the republican ticket this year. The special elections in that state last week showed clearly the trend of events. The legislature being called to meet in extra session, it was necessary to hold special elections to fill several vacancies in the legislature. The democrats were uniformly successful registering immense gains, while the republicans scored discouragingly—to them—large losses.

The democratic state convention in New York was another huge chunk of gloom for the republican managers. The had counted on the democratic dissensions, especially in Greater New York, and they were dismayed when they discovered that New York democrats were never so harmonious and never so unflinching and untiring in their support of the national ticket. The nomination of Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler will contribute hugely to democratic success in the Empire state. A millionaire lawyer, he spends his time as an attorney in taking the cases of the poor, the friendless, and the hopeless. He is known throughout the East Side in New York as "the poor man's lawyer." He was elected lieutenant-governor on the independence league and democratic tickets when Hughes was elected governor. His nomination last week spikes the schemes of Hearst, so far as the league is concerned, and kills the last hope that Hughes will poll the undivided good citizen vote.

Chanler's nomination is, admittedly the strongest that could be made.

The trickery of the republican managers is well evidenced by their attempt to stem the rising tide of opposition to Mr. Taft on the ground of religious belief. While it is admitted that a man is entitled to freedom in his religious beliefs, it can not be denied that religious bias always cuts more or less of a figure in politics. Mr. Taft is a Unitarian, and the republicans are scared to death lest the orthodox churches throw their influence against him on that ground. In order to combat this supposed danger, the republican committee is sending out thousands of little circulars explaining the Unitarian belief. The first page of the circular bears the following:

"Should Unitarian belief bar its disciples from the confidence of Christian men and women?"

On the inside pages appears an article from the pen of Dr. John Chadwick, an eminent Unitarian divine, and printed in the Universal Cyclopaedia, page 28, volume 12. This is the exact way the first paragraph of Dr. Chadwick's article appears in the republican committee's circular:

"Unitarianism—in theology, the doctrine that God exists in one person only. * * * Ever since thinking man has been in the world there have been speculations about the cause of all things—its nature or action or the mode of its existence."

Note the asterisks in that paragraph. They denote the omission of some words. Here are the words omitted from Dr. Chadwick's article on Unitarianism:

"THIS INVOLVES THE DENIAL OF THE TRINITY AND THE DIVINITY OF JESUS CHRIST."

Cheerfully admitting that Mr. Taft and his Unitarian brethren have a right to their religious beliefs, why was it deemed necessary to make an attempt to deceive the people by omitting one clause concerning the Unitarian belief that is of most interest to the people at large? If this is not a plain attempt at deception, what is it?

That religious beliefs always cut a figure in political results may be demonstrated by reference to the campaign of 1880. Garfield the republican candidate, had been a minister in the Disciples church, and while in congress often occupied the pulpit in the little Disciples' church in Washington, Indiana is one of the states in which this church is strongest in numbers. When the democratic committee began attacking Garfield's character the membership resented it as an attack on one of their ministers. The result was that Indiana was carried by Garfield, and the Disciples' vote is what turned the scales.

On Labor Day 3000 union workingmen in Lincoln paraded the streets. When the parade passed under the Taft banner on O street there was not the ghost of a cheer. But when the parade went by the Lincoln hotel, the front of which is ornamented with a huge portrait of Bryan, the cheers were loud and long. Several unions paused in the line to give "three cheers for the next president."

Of course this is only a straw.

At Youngstown, Ohio, one of the chief centers of Steel-trust and the Tube trust, 10,000 steel workers paraded before Taft. But the steel and tube mills declared a holiday "on pay" and the employees were given to understand that they were expected to parade. At the central point of the parade an enthusiastic republican spectator shouted: "Three cheers for Taft!" But the cheering was desultory. Then some one in the line shouted: "Three cheers for Bryan," and immediately thousands of men were cheering, waving banners and flinging their hats in the air. The Associated Press did not report this but the local papers did.

The hot liner from Mr. Bryan's bat in the direction of Joseph G. Cannon has already been scored at republican headquarters as "too hot to handle."

Mr. Taft declares that some of the Dingley schedules should be revised upwards. The sugar trust has just added another twenty cents per hundred pounds to the price of its product. Presumably the sugar trust has seen to it that its schedule shall be included among those to be "revised upwards."

The way to get rid of Cannonism is to get rid of Cannon.

Before Illinois could get rid of the infamous Allen law, Joe Cannon and his brother grabbed off a rich slice of the pickings that the Allen law meant to provide.

The way to get rid of Cannon is to elect a democratic house.

"The Republican platform says ex-Senator Carmack is like a Mother Hubbard. It covers everything and touches nothing."

Kodol will, in a very short time, enable the stomach to do the work it should do, and the work it should do is to digest all the food you eat. When the stomach can't do it Kodol does it for it and in the meantime the stomach is getting stronger and able to take up its regular natural work again. Kodol digests all you eat. It makes the stomach sweet and it is pleasant to take. It is sold here by T. Leahy.

"It is the same old Bryan," says the New York Press. It is not the same old Bryan, for he was a young Bryan in 1896. Bryan is today supported by 99 out of every 100 Democrats who opposed him in 1896. They were opposed to him on the silver question. Nature having eliminated that question, the Democrats are now all united.

DeWitt's Carbolized Witch Hazel Salve is recommended as the best thing to use for piles. It is, of course, good for anything where a salve is needed. Beware of imitations. Sold by J. T. Leahy.

Treasurer Sheldon of No. 3 wall street promises to make public all contributions to the Republican campaign fund—after the election. He complies with the New York statute. Mr. Bryan has brought it to pass that all contributions above $100 shall be published before the election. Certainly, it will not be difficult to see a wide difference in these plans. One serves as a deterrent of improper contributions; the other leaves the people in ignorance of the nature of the support which is being received.

Is Bryan Dangerous?

The following is an extract from an article in the Extension, a monthly magazine published by the Catholic Church Society, written by Hon. J. C. Monaghan of Notre Dame University, is a high tribute to our next president: Is Bryan a radical? If so, is he dangerous? The dangerous men in this Republic are the men who think William Jennings Bryan is dangerous, or that he would be a dangerous president. Bryan believes in law, he believes in order. His whole life is full of facts, as well as words, to prove it. He is no more a dreamer than I am, than are hundreds of his countrymen. I hope, as I would at a mother's knee in this broad land, that he is an idealist, that he has high ideals. God only knows what the nation would be now had it not had its idealists, its Hancock and Henrys, its Otises, and its Lincolns and Lees. But say some "Bryan is to bring in government ownership of railroads, socialism, anarchism." Nobody is in any doubt about the dangerous men in this Republic. Some are even to be found in railroad offices. They are the unscrupulous men who would run up the freight rates or run down the wage-scale to pay dividends for sublimely watered stock. Against these, Bryan is iron or brass. No Mr. Bryan is not dangerous. That is the last thing to think of in connection with his candidacy for the presidency.

Is he fit? Bryan, bred in the brawn and brain breeding west, will bring to Washington not only what he went there with, in the early nineties, but the ripened result of fifteen years of careful plowing, hoeing, reaping and harvesting of the golden grain fields of the world. No man has such a chance to study, not even Taft. No man ever made better use of his time. On the basis of his college education, Bryan has been able to build up a superstructure surpassing anything of which we have knowledge. In a day that is dawning, when we are to be one of the world's great powers, politically as well as commercially, his knowledge of the world's affairs, his splendid share in the world's work, will fit him for just such work as he will find on his desk at Washington, D. C., every day, if he is elected president.

College Notes

Prof and Mrs. Pile attended the Stanton county fair last Thursday. They met many former students.

Miss Bellows visited friends at Madison over Sunday. She taught in Madison several years ago.

Mrs. McManigal of St. Charles, S. D., returned home Tuesday after spending a week with her daughter.

Mr. Osborne of Baynard enrolled Monday for the Scientific course. He is a brother of Rev. Osborne.

Mr. and Mrs. Crawford of Lyons spent Sunday visiting their daughter at the dormitory. The young lady will remain in school all the year.

Miss Edna McManigal who was operated on last Tuesday is around the house and will go to her home Saturday to remain till opening of next term.

Miss Meek who came up a week ago Monday to nurse the sick student returned to Omaha Monday morning, leaving the patient able to sit up.

Miss Haskins was made glad Saturday and Sunday by a visit from her parents. They came over from Madison in their automobile and had a pleasant trip.

At the request of the National Civic Federation, Mrs. Pile will take Prof. Pile's place to visit the European schools. She leaves New York Oct. 15th. The physicians thought the trip might prove too hard for Mr. Pile.

The first car of our winter's supply of coal was placed in the bins this week. A fine grade of coal has been ordered and bins will be filled before bad weather comes. From 10 to 12 cars are required for the season.

Prof Bright gave an interesting address to the students at the one o'clock Saturday meeting. Miss Bellows makes the address next Saturday. Most all of the students attend the faculty lectures. It is required of the graduating classes.

Sixteen students took the county examination last week. These examinations will be held at the college monthly as they have been for the past two years. This saves students the time and expense of going to their home counties for the examination.

Socials for faculty and students are held in gymnasium each Saturday evening at the close of the literary program.

The exercises of the literary begin promptly at 7:30 and continue an hour or more. Excellent programs are given.

Some students come from town to take the four o'clock Manual Training work. Several classes have been organized in this work and are proving most interesting as well as valuable.

The Bench work, the lathe work, the forge work, the elementary work and the drawing are all organized. Visitors are always welcome.

Prof. Pile is enjoying good health and expects to be stronger in another month than he has been for several years. He attends to the office business daily but will spend fewer hours at work than formerly. 30 years of hard school work without any vacation will put anyone in condition for some rest.

Our correspondence shows a large increase in attendance for next term which opens October 28. Both new and former students will enroll for some of the regular courses and remain for the school year. Next summer's graduating classes will be the largest the school has ever had, numbering more than 100.
