Hart Schaffner & Marx Clothes for You

Copyright 1908 by Hart Schaffner & Marx

DAN HARRINGTON, The Leading Clothier.

YOU may as well understand at the beginning that if you want good clothes you must go where they are for sale. You'll have no trouble finding a lot of clothes you don't want; the trouble with them is, you may think you want them until you begin to wear them; then you're sorry for yourself.

This Store is the home of Hart Schaffner & Marx Clothes

That means as high a standard of quality as we know how to set; it means all-wool quality in clothes, reliability in service, fine tailoring, perfect style.

These clothes are made for us; the fabrics are exclusive for this store; you won't find any like them anywhere else.

You ought to see the models in the Varsity sack suit—browns, tans, grays, fine stripes; the new, smart overcoats, auto coats, rain coats. We'll show you the finest line of good clothes ever made; or ever offered in this town.

You want our kind of clothes; and here they are for you, with plenty of other good things to wear—hats, shirts, underwear, hosiery, gloves, neckwear. We'll put the right things before you, at right prices.

While in the eastern Clothing Centers we spent a great deal of our time in the Hart Schaffner & Marx factory. We were able to secure first choice of all the good things. They are now in our store for your inspection.

Even the ladies are getting election excited. The other day one good housewife went to her neighbor's to get a five dollar bill changed and to the politics that followed the lady who changed the bill paid the visitor a debt of fifteen cents by giving her caller $4.85 for the "V," the latter going home in a happy frame of mind, unaware that she was 30 cents short in the transaction.

A Wayne man, who made a trip to register for a Tripp county farm, says that while enroute a gentleman insisted that a majority of the passengers were Bryan patriots. To prove he told a poll of the train, and Perry Benson, our Perry was going to show them that it was a Taft special. Perry hurried to the rear car, voted and walked passed the canvasser, took a seat and voted again; made another rush forward and voted a third time; same tactics and voted a fourth time for Taft. When the vote was figured up, out of 645 voters, Bryan had a majority of 50. If Perry expects to beat Bryan in November he had better take an automobile for it.

A cattleman in the western part of the state has wagered $500 that Bryan carries Nebraska by 80,000 plurality. That is making it strong for a wager—but the DEMOCRAT has insisted at all times that it would be no less than that figure.

Julius Hall, the wit of the Norfolk Press, has gone west on a year's vacation. Taking a year's vacation, for the ordinary country newspaperman, is always a joke.

The Randolph Enterprise says: "Chas. Thompson from Wayne was shot at Dallas, S. D., Wednesday. It is claimed that the pistol was accidently discharged while in his own pocket." How about this Charley? The DEMOCRAT has heard of several of the boys being "well shot" but it was from what they got "on the hip" at O'Neill; regular dead shot at forty rods.

C. A. Berry came home from O'Neill Saturday night to get a few hours of real sleep. "Albert says it is a strenuous life but there is money in the notarial business. He says he polled one of the heavily loaded passengers, going to O'Neill, and there was a big majority of Bryan men on it, and that the Bryan men generally predominate."

Harry M. Hammond, a few years ago publisher of the Randolph Reporter, is now publishing the Settler, at Prescho, S. Dak.

Elmer E. Thomas, our own noted Elmer of whiskey fame, appeared before the state conventions held in Lincoln recently and stated:

"TWO YEARS AGO GOVERNOR SHELTON RECEIVED THE UNITED SUPPORT OF THE OMAHA BREWERY INTERESTS, ALSO THE ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE."

When asked to explain himself Mr. Thomas said:

"GOVERNOR SHELTON HAS SIDE-STEPPED EVERY MORAL QUESTION WHICH HAS BEEN PUT UP TO HIM SINCE HE TOOK THE OATH OF OFFICE AS GOVERNOR."

The only safe thing to do, taking Thomas' word for it, is to vote for an honest man, A. C. Shallenberger.

This is certainly an amusing campaign to those who read the newspapers of both east and west. In the east the republican sheets are denouncing Bryan because his election means a continuation of "Rooseveltism," but state that Taft is the conservative, sane and safe man—for the trusts. Here in the west Taft is labeled "just as good as Roosevelt," while Bryan is scotched as a "dreamer," "a false prophet" and an "unsafe candidate." You can fool some of the people some times and all of the time fool some of the people, but darn the Nebraskan who can be fooled into voting for Taft. His heart may be in the right place, but his judgment is the wisdom of party prejudice and ignorance.

The Sioux City News reports a straw vote take at the Orpheum theatre in that city Sunday night. There were 750 men voted and of these 408 voted for Bryan and 342 for Taft. Perhaps some of you Nebraskans have not yet been informed that Iowa is going democratic Nov. 3rd?

An exchange remarks that the government could make another "good stake" by prosecuting the newspapers that print reports of President Roosevelt's land raffle. If there were a few million dollars in it for the corporations, such prosecutions would no doubt follow.

It is broadly intimated that Walter

Wellman will be unable to find the north pole next summer—if Bryan is elected.

Rockefeller gives up $20,000 this year to the g. o. p. management, as against $50,000 four years ago. Rockefeller always signs it down fine. $20,000 worth of votes is all the republicans can buy; this campaign.

It is a difficult matter for republican orators and republican newspapers to keep cases on themselves this campaign. The Omaha Bee distanced all competitors in the race for the monkey medal in battering the limberger out of the republican platform, under the impression that Bryan had written the claptrap. Last week the Wayne Herald published that beautiful article showing candidate Taft and Senator Foraker clasping hands over their recent agreement to fight shoulder to shoulder in a common cause to both—the preservation of the republican party. Voters will remember that it was shortly after the republican national committee sent out this literature, printed in the Herald, that President Roosevelt came out in a letter stating that Mr. Taft knew away back last summer what a heinous gratter Foraker was. But it took Hearst, the muck-racker, to draw Roosevelt out, and had Hearst's rake never dragged up Foraker's nasty record you can bet $700 that this article of the absent minded Herald would be "hot stuff" today.

There is one certain thing about Judge Taft, by dad. The gentleman is big enough now but he will never survive one defeat running for office. Mr. Taft is all right as a machine-made office holder.

"What the republican party has done for the laboring man," is the title of a little book issued from this office. It is short in language, but directly to the point and will be found of incalculable value to our horny-handed republicans who insist that they would not be allowed to exist if Taft is defeated.

Landlord Hoar of the Boyd hotel left a pair of gold-bowed spectacles at this office some two weeks ago that the real owner can't recover.

"It bends with the foot"

A SPLENDID shoe for every purpose. Red Cross Glazed Kid Mocha with Patent Tip. $4.

Do Your Feet Ever Hurt?

If you could look inside of your shoe with your foot in it, you would see why. The sole of your foot bends, the sole of your shoe bends scarcely at all.

Ninety-five out of every 100 cases of foot suffering can be traced directly to stiff soles. Their constant friction is what brings hard, callous places, what irritates the delicate nerves and tendons and makes your feet draw, burn, ache!

The Tenderest Feet Are Comfortable in the Red Cross Shoe

Its sole is flexible. Though of regular thickness, it bends with the foot. Not a movement is hampered, not a muscle restricted. The moment you slip it on, you notice its wonderful ease and suppleness. Come in. Bend it. Walk in it.

It doesn't cramp, bind or "draw" the foot—it fits like a glove. Try it once and nothing could induce you to go back to stiff sole shoes!

We have it in all styles. Let us fit you. High Shoes, $4.00 and $5.00. Oxfords, $3.50 and $4.00.

GIRL MURDERED ON WEDDING EVE

Suspect Groom, Because of a Clew Furnished by a Broken Horseshoe

Wadsworth, Oct. 13.—Wedding festivities are being held here for the wedding of Miss Lee, daughter of C. F. Lee, 21 years old, a handsome girl, whose body was discovered by two bullets, was found yesterday on the road between Wadsworth and the hamlet of Niagara Falls. The body of the young woman was found by a horseman who was riding in support of his client's marriage license procured at Wadsworth. The principal clew that led to the discovery of the girl was a broken horseshoe found on the road where the murder was committed. It was plainly seen that the tracks of a horse with one shoe missing. An examination of the stables at Rector's place, which is the only place where Rector's horses has a shoe missing. Rector refuses any explanation concerning this feature of the case. He declares he can prove an alibi for his horse. Another police theory is that a rival for the affections of Miss Lee may have shot the girl on learning of her approaching marriage to the groom. Miss Lee was married last night ostensibly to prepare for her wedding. When the body was found the hands were joined over the breast and the bride's dress on which the groom had been carefully arranged after death. The girl's suitcase was on the ground beside her. It had a key still in her right wrist, and in her left hand she clutched a handkerchief. There was no evidence of a struggle. Rector apparently is bowed with grief.

BIG RAIL MERGER IS UNDER WAY

New York, Oct. 13.—A new railroad alliance of gigantic proportions is forming and may lead to the merging of the Harriman and the "Rock Island party" interests, heretofore fierce rivals for prestige west and south of Chicago.

The Rock Island company, which controls railroad mileage second only to that of Harriman's Union Pacific, and which has long been a formidable competitor of the Harriman and southwest, has made arrangements with Kuhn, Loeb & Co., who back all of Mr. Harriman's financial projects, by that house will act as fiscal agents for the Rock Island and its subsidiary companies.

The transaction means that warfare between the rival systems is to cease. There is to be no costly competition in the way of invasions into each other's territories. The companies' two systems will co-operate in traffic matters, and that are expected to be mutually advantageous.

with the representative of the Oriental railway company. The Bulgarian government took over temporarily the running of the road. The strike, however, spread until the national security of Bulgaria was threatened at the moment because discontented with the state of affairs.

It then became the duty of the Bulgarian government to continue running the road and we asked the company to sell us its rights in Bulgaria in accordance with an understanding between the government and the company 10 years ago. Turkey then pretended that the line was her property and in a note the Turkish government demanded that the line be returned to the company. The Bulgarian government replied that it would treat only with the company. This was the second conflict.

The situation imposed upon the Bulgarian government the necessity of fixing definitely the relations between the principality and Turkey. The new treaty, which Turkey made it imperative for Bulgaria to accept, was the best of relations with her neighbors, especially as this fictitious condition of vassalage created feelings of suspicion and distrust which might at any moment result in disturbing the peace of the Balkans.

It was a murder mystery from the start. An investigation made by the local authorities, aided by the Pinkertons, led to nothing tangible, and the grand jury of Franklin county, after examining a score of witnesses, dropped the case.

Mr. Dexter, who though nearly 35 years of age, is strong and active, has added a codicil to his will naming his executors. In the event of his death, to pay the $10,000 reward during their lifetime to any person who may fulfill the conditions of his offer. Are You Ignorant.

There is a great deal of bluster from certain republicans as to the republican party making plenty of money and consequently good times. The "price" of an ounce of gold is $20.67. It has always been that same "price" if not that value. From 1881 to 1896 the world's production of gold was 1,782,246 ounces. From 1904 to 1907 the production in the UNITED STATES ALONE was 493,741,404 ounces. These figures are taken from the statistics of the United States treasury department and can be verified by any of you farmers who believe that the republican party is responsible for the finding and taking of gold from the bowels of the earth. This with a correspondingly increase in the coinage of silver is what makes "good times," what has doubled land values and made prosperity.

Col. Watterson Hits Em Hard

The plea of "no funds" put forth by the republican campaign managers is meant to perform the double duty of throwing dust in the eyes of the people and arousing the "rascally" corporations to a livelier sense of danger.

There has been no time when the republican treasury was not full to the brim. But never before has there been so great a need of money to meet the exigencies of the situation, which menace these corruptionists on every hand. There is scarcely a state which they have not to fight for. There are two debatable states at least in New England, Connecticut and Rhode Island. Big money will be required to carry them. Leave money out and both would go democratic. Even the state of Maine hangs in the balance. Michigan, Iowa and Kansas are doubtful. The democrats have a certainty in New York by no less than 50,000 majority. The same is true of Indiana and Nebraska, whilst they hold the better of it in Ohio and Illinois.

The republican managers know this and their sole hope is a campaign fund big enough to reach all the way from Hell to Breakfast, greenbacks to burn, money to throw to the birds. Quay is dead and Mark Hanna is dead. But, in there stands William Nelson Cromwell. Aye, Cromwell; Vanilla Bean Cromwell; Edouard Lampre Cromwell; Panama Canal Cromwell, the greatest promoter of modern times; that Cromwell who got up the Parisian scheme to bump the United States out of $40,000,000 for a worthless lot of pots and pans; that Cromwell who financed the fly-by-night republic of Panama, bouncing us out of $10,000,000 more; that Cromwell who then worked us out of ten additional millions of dollars for expenses—$60,000,000 in all—when a $500,000,000 job still before us—William Nelson Cromwell, the Robin Hood of the lobby at Washington, the Jesse James of Wall street—Ali Baba Cromwell—patron saint of the lawless rich and father confessor of the Forty Thieves.

Yet the president is still harping on Haskell. Cromwell could give Haskell two points in seven and beat him out of his shoes and stockings. Cromwell could shake the smallest of his money bags in Haskell's face and make Haskell go away back and sit down. Cromwell would play poker with Haskell and never need look beyond the backs of the cards. Still, the president harps on Haskell who is out and gone, like Ranger's eye; who, demanding a hearing and denying all accusations, resigned at once his post in the democratic management; whose voluntary withdrawal was concurrent with the enforced withdrawal of Du Pont, the predatory trust magnate under indictment who headed the republican spellbinders, yet, with Du Pont that was, and Cromwell that is, the president continues to harp on Haskell.

There is Sheldon, identified with seventeen trust companies. Still harping on Haskell! There is "Sunny" Jim Sherman, the middle-man between the president and Harriman. Still harping on Haskell! There is Aldrich, boss of the senate, whose only daughter is the wife of the only son of Standard Oil Rockefeller. Still harping on Haskell! There is old Joe Cannon, boss of the house, standing pat and holding firm for the trust-breeding tariff. Still harping on Haskell! There are the three musketeers of high finance, the he goats of protectionism, the self-righteous, self-glorifying, Beveridge, the steel-plated Dalzell and the nutritious, iron-clad Payne. All of these, led by Roosevelt, still harping on Haskell.

Nothing can avail them. The big stick even in the hands of a Cromwell cannot brain and blackmail money enough out of the steel ring and the sugar ring—out of all Pittsburgh, out of the whole Wall street, out of the waters of the Niagara, the people's cash. If Mark Hanna were alive he could save the day for Taft. If Matthew Stanley Quay were alive neither could he.

The president, picking and choosing like a spoiled child, balked of his will, following like an angry boy disappointed in his play, may take the stamp

It Was "Bryan" Day

It was an ideal day—the Almighty had not heard that ruin follows Bryan—an ideal crowd of vast proportions, and the ideal man of the universe to address it.

Bryan's special train arrived just a few minutes after one o'clock, and was greeted by the cheers of the thousands present. A special train from Bloomfield brought down over 400 from that town and intermediate places. The whole thoroughfare from depot east and a half block north and south was full of people, and while no accurate estimate can be made of the number present there was at least twice the number of voters that heard Taft two weeks previous. Democrats say there were three times as many people on the ground, and republicans—some republicans—about the same sized crowd.

Mr. Bryan hopped off the train like a schoolboy, the picture of health, activity and brainy intelligence. He got right down to business without any hesitation—or heavy weighing of words—and said more—and the truth—in thirty minutes, than Candidate Taft could loosen up in the next thousand years. Mr. Bryan first dwelt on publicity of campaign expenses and soon had the vast concourse of spectators voting on the proposition, it being unanimous. On the question of a bank guarantee law the audience likewise voted aye, there being no one present in favor of putting money in a bank and being unable to get it out again. He next dwelt on the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people, the audience voting in a affirmative on this proposition also. The speaker explained how Candidate Taft favored this and other reforms, but Taft couldn't get off the platform the interests had built for him to stand on. Also that Mr. Taft only talked calamity in the west—if Bryan was elected—and no word about the bank guarantee law, but in the east it was just the opposite. Mr. Bryan went deeply and plainly into these subjects so that all could understand—who had any understanding for the occasion. He said he had no president of the United States to get him a nomination; no rich relations to finance a campaign; no president and army of office holders to plan and campaign for the office of president. He was simply placed in nomination by the people; said the office of president was too grave and dignified a responsibility to be used for any party, and that if elected to that high office his one thought and action, without personal promise or corporation restraint, would be for the American people.

It was a telling speech; that is why some republicans are so "mad" over it.

There was some vigorous "pounding of the air" by a few republicans after Bryan had gone on his way. Several warm debates listened to where talks by republicans against guaranteed bank deposits, election of United States senators by vote of the people, etc. Isn't it peculiar how a man, after he has made up his mind to be gored by a bull, he will stand for the goring rather than admit he is mistaken? In every argument between republican and democrat it is the same result: "You wouldn't have any money if we had democratic hard times." This is the only answer a republican has these days, and although absolutely false, it has great effect on the average voter. People seem to forget that Cleveland's last administration was run on republican-corporation principles; he was abused the democrats and lauded by the same gang that is now behind Taft's candidacy. Don't you remember that in 1896 the republicans and gold democrats got together and put up a goldbug democratic ticket, a "Cleveland" ticket that was practically republican in its purpose. The democratic party of today, has not been in power since the days of Lincoln. But a national party being responsible for good and bad crops, high or low prices of grain, or anything aside from what the republican good and bad trusts control and fix for the

BY DAD

During the great struggle between Lincoln and Douglas it was a strong play of Lincoln to poll the crowds that he spoke to, same manner as Bryan is doing in Nebraska.

Fifteen thousand school children of Chicago are so poorly clad that they cannot attend school, and ten thousand are so poorly fed they cannot go. And yet according to the high tariff robbers, there is so much prosperity in the country, that nobody need suffer. The first reason given for this deplorable state of affairs is that farmers are at work on low wages and some have no wages at all. If such a condition existed under a democratic administration there isn't any question about where the blame would be placed by the republicans.

A fakir selling a hair restorer, told this tale: "A woman came to me the other day for her eighth bottle. She said she liked the taste of it so well. I was frightened, and took her in a private office and told her to show me her tongue. She stuck it out and there was a half inch of hair on it. To keep from hurting the business we had to fed her champhor balls all that summer to keep the moths out of her stomach."

Andrew Carnegie has contributed $20,000 to the republican campaign fund. Why?

"No one's business will be injured by the election of Mr. Bryan, except the business of the fellows who have their hands in other people's pockets," says the Manchester Democrat.

An exchange says that the man who comes nearest to representing President Roosevelt's policies will come the nearest to getting into the White House. The first thing to find out in such a proposition as this, says another exchange, would be to try and discover if possible, what the Roosevelt policies are. If they consist of "trust busting" somebody would have to show us, because there are more trusts now and worse ones than ever before. With every year of Roosevelt the trusts have increased, and the deprivations on the consumer have also increased.

Rip Van Winkle returned from his long sleep looking fresh as a daisy and made his way to the village barber shop, not only because he needed a hair cut and shave, but also because he wished to catch up on the news.

"Let's see," he said to the barber, after he was safely tucked in the chair, "I've been asleep twenty years haven't I?"

"Yep," replied the tonsorialist.

"Have I missed much?"

"Nope; we've bin standin' pat."

"Has Congress done anything yet?"

"Not a thing."

"Jerome done anything?"

"Nope."

"Platt resigned?"

"Nope."

"Panama canal built?"

"Nope."

"Bryan been elected yet?"

"Nope."

"Carnegie poor?"

"Nope."

"John D. paid that $29,000,000 fine?"

"Nope."

"Any big trust magnets put in prison?"

"Nope."

"Any trusts busted?"

"Nope."

"Price of meat come down yet?"

"Nope."

"Well, say," says Rip, raising up in the chair, "never mind shaving the other side of my face. I'm going back to sleep again."

—Giggles.

This is going to turn out to be a great year. It has been a great year for base ball, for King Corn, for flying machines, and Bryan's election will cap the climax.

Jas. P. Latta, candidate for congress, has simply a walk-away against John F. Boyd. Don't believe it? There are consumers, is the most ridiculous of argument. Might as well say that because the country dried up in '95, and '96, and land in the Dakotas was worth only 50 cents an acre, that the bounteous crops in that country of later years, and remarkable advance in land value, was all due to the republican administration.

Yep! Yep! You can't expect men who have grown fat off the government to have anything good to say of the democratic ticket.

It was a "dirty" political trick of Bryan to follow around after that republican, who couldn't talk, and make all you impregnable fellows feel like thirty cents. The kicking machines ought to be very busy the rest of week.

P. H. Kohl, who was on the Bryan train from Emerson, says he had a little personal talk with the conductor, the same man who run the Taft special, and that the Con told him there were just double the crowds to greet Bryan, at ever place, as met the Taft train. Bryan has visited this section on numerous occasions, he was no curiosity. Taft, on the other hand, is very new. Now, what are your deductions as to whom the larger body of Nebraska people wish to see elected president?

The DEMOCRAT is told that there is absolutely no truth in the rumor that a few local republicans are going to get Taft to come back to Wayne and answer Bryan's speech of last Tuesday.

Of course Bryan had a right to poll the crowd. But at the same time our republican friends who are boiling hot over this "injustice" would all vote aye to forbid Bryan doing any talking at all, but that this privilege of a freeborn American citizen should be the exclusive right of President Roosevelt, in this campaign.

THE RACKET

and Mr. Bryan and Mr. Smyth went to Nebraska City. They were met at the depot by a delegation of indignant citizens who protested the speakers with copies of the protest resolutions. At the same time angry threats of bodily harm were freely hurled at the two distinguished visitors.

Mr. Smyth contented himself with quoting the laws of the state and asserting that no threats of bodily harm would avail to keep him from performing his sworn duty. Mr. Bryan dealt with the trust question in his usual fearless manner. He told the citizens of Nebraska City that their starch factory would be managed in New York by men who were not in sympathy with them and wholly out of touch with their community. He urged them to assist the attorney general in ousting the trust and thus permit the starch factory to be operated by home people. "Just as soon as they can make some other one of their factories pay better dividends they will close this factory," warned Mr. Bryan.

But the republicans of Nebraska City knew better. Had they not received assurances from J. Sterling Morton, who was implacable foe? Surely Mr. Morton would not let the trust close the Nebraska City starch factory.

Mr. Bryan was defeated that year, Nebraska going republican. Shortly after the election he received a postal card bearing the Nebraska City postmark. It was sarcastic in the extreme. It called attention to the fact that Nebraska City had gone republican, and that Nebraska had gone republican, and wound up by stating that "the shadow of the starch trust seems to cover the whole state."

This postal card was signed and sent by William Hayward now secretary of the republican national committee.

But it seems that the shadow was merely hovering over the starch factory. A few months later the hours were shortened. Then the mill began running five days a week. Then half time—then it closed down for good. For many months its chimneys were smokeless, its wheels motionless. Once it was started up and the people took heart again, but the end soon came. The factory was abandoned for good.

Today William Hayward sits in his office in republican headquarters, but he tries hard to forget that postal card. The Lincoln newspapers and the press associations heralded it forth that Mr. Taft was introduced to the Havelock crowd by "the president of the local boiler-makers' union," and this gave the republican organs another excuse to say that Taft is not being opposed by organized labor. "This is a sample of the deceit practiced by their republican committee. Mr. Taft was introduced to the Havelock audience by a man named Holmes who is a gang foreman in the Havelock shops. Holmes is not a member of any union, and never was. Every effort was put forth to get a big crowd for Taft at Havelock. The morning was ideal and the meeting had been advertised far and wide.

What a Shame.

Bixby in State Journal: What a shame, what a shame. The World-Herald has been working for two mortal months to fatten the national democratic campaign fund and has succeeded in raising less than five thousand dollars. In the great state of Nebraska there are 29,000 democrats, including John G. Maher. A dollar apiece would yield the handsome little sum of $29,000 and greatly stimulate the good work in other parts of the country. But the boys hesitate. A democrat hates to let go of a dollar unless he gets quick returns.

Lincoln, Neb., 12—(Special Correspondence)—What was once one of the largest starch factories in the country is now desolate and deserted, and the name of Nebraska City is no longer carried to the four quarters of the earth as the seat of the Argo Starch Company. And thereby hangs a tale in which the democratic candidate for president, W. J. Bryan figures.

Early this spring the starch trust permanently closed the factory. Then it sold the building and machinery to the S. Krug Wrecking Company, of Chicago, and the work of demolition was begun. One section of the main building is already wrecked and work is progressing on the remainder of the huge building.

The Nebraska City Starch Co., was organized in 1891, J. Sterling Morton being responsible for the enterprise. He interested some eastern capital through his sons, Paul and Joy Morton, and Nebraska City and eastern Nebraska rejoiced. Surely Nebraska was surely about to step out of the "agricultural states" classification and enter the list of "manufacturing states." The starch factory was to be the forerunner of cereal mills of every description.

The factory was operated with considerable success for several years and was reported to be prospering in a most satisfactory manner. But the starch trust had its eye on the factory, and the usual plans were set on foot. One fine morning the stockholders who were not connected with the active management of the company were thunderstruck at the news that the indebtedness of the company had mounted up until it was considerably more than half the capital stock. When the information had soaked in they were told they must choose between an assignment amounting to the sum of their stock or selling their stock at 10 cents on the dollar.

Nearly one half of the stockholders sold their holds, but a larger number, hoping against hope, paid the assessment and held on. In June 1894 the stock surrendered at 10 cents on the dollar was transferred to the Argo Starch Co., and five years later the company was turned over to the United States Starch Co. In 1900 the United States Starch Co., which was a subsidiary company of the starch trust, turned over the factory to the starch trust—the National Starch Co.

During these various manipulations to get the Nebraska City starch mills in the hands of the trust, the then attorney general of Nebraska, Constantine J. Smyth a democrat, was watching and getting the facts well in hand. As soon as the starch factory was announced as under the control of the starch trust, Attorney General Smyth began ouster proceedings under the anti-trust laws of Nebraska.

Then the storm of denunciation broke loose. "What, destroy one of our infant industries!" "Fight the trusts that are not among us all you please, but let our own trust alone."

William J. Bryan then a candidate for the presidency, made a speech denunciatory of the trust and warned the people of Nebraska City that the future was dark for their favorite industry. But they jeered. Surely the starch trust would not think of closing such a model factory, situated in the very heart of the corn-raising section and with such superior railroad facilities.

The republicans thought they saw an opportunity to make political capital, so they called a "protest meeting," in Nebraska City. A judge of the district court—a republican—presided. The meeting adopted ringing resolutions denouncing the attorney general and demanding that he withdraw the suit. Shortly after this protest meeting Mr. Bryan and Attorney General Smyth made a date for a meeting in Nebraska City, and promised to deal with the starch trust question "in the shadow of the starch factory." The day of the meeting arrived factory, and keep up a "devil of a thinking."

C. J. Smyth was defeated for the reelection as attorney general, and his republican successor did not push the case against the starch company. But after all, it was not necessary. Not being engaged in charitable work the starch trust saw no reason why it should keep the Nebraska City factory going when it could make a better profit by closing down and making starch elsewhere.

So it is that the starch factory at Nebraska City is now throwing shadows on anything these days.

Mr. Bryan spent several days in Lincoln last week catching up with his correspondence and receiving reports about the progress of the campaign. Just before starting back to Chicago to resume his tour Mr. Bryan spoke at Havelock a suburb of Lincoln, and the site of the big Burlington shops a few days before Mr. Taft spoke at Havelock, and the shops were shut down thirty minutes in order that the shopmen might hear the republican candidate. Later the shopmen were notified to either make up the lost time or be docked the thirty minutes.

The Lincoln newspapers and the press associations heralded it forth that Mr. Taft was introduced to the Havelock crowd by "the president of the local boiler-makers' union," and this gave the republican organs another excuse to say that Taft is not being opposed by organized labor. "This is a sample of the deceit practiced by their republican committee. Mr. Taft was introduced to the Havelock audience by a man named Holmes who is a gang foreman in the Havelock shops. Holmes is not a member of any union, and never was. Every effort was put forth to get a big crowd for Taft at Havelock. The morning was ideal and the meeting had been advertised far and wide.

Yet Taft spoke to less than 100 people and not half the shopmen turned out to hear him. Monday of last week Mr. Bryan spoke at Havelock. It rained all day, and rained at night. The city park, where he spoke, was a sea of mud. The streets were almost impassable. Yet Mr. Bryan spoke to upwards of 3,000 people, and the enthusiasm was intense. A big delegation of union shopmen occupied the speaker's stand, and Mr. Bryan's analysis of the labor planks in the two platforms was greeted with wild enthusiasm.
