WEBER BROS.

BUTTER PLANT FOR WAYNE

Messrs J. E. Marsteller and C. A. Grothe Will Build Butter and Ice Freezing Plant

The foundation is already in for one of the best enterprises Wayne could expect to secure, a butter and ice making plant. It is located just south of Weber Bros.' mill, close to the tracks. The main building will be ready for butter making by first of December. Messrs J. E. Marsteller and C. A. Grothe are the promoters, and the institution will be known as the Wayne Butter Co. Mr. Marsteller was in Norfolk Saturday looking up cement block material for its construction. He says the same power will be used to make ice, and that it can be manufactured as cheaply as can be secured when frozen by nature, taking into consideration the great superiority of the article. It is estimated that two or three carloads of butter can be made per month and that a much better price can be paid for cream than at present. Not only will the price be better but the cream received will make a much better product than when shipped a great distance and spoiled. The butter making business is a good thing, not only for the owners of the plant, but for the country, the cream sellers and butter eaters.

WANTED—A man with family to work by the month. Write or phone HARRY TIDRICK, Winside, Neb.

Parties from Carroll tell the DEMOCRAT that at a republican rally held there last week, the speakers being Congressman Boyd, Senator Randall and A. R. Davis, that State Representative Adam Pilger, candidate for re-election, was referred to as a "Dutch boozer." There is nothing in the record of the above named gentlemen that entitles them to this privilege without criticism. Mr. Pilger is no more a "boozer" than Congressman Boyd. As to Randall the DEMOCRAT is told that he doesn't take a back seat for anyone, our own A. R. Davis is rather a peculiar combination on this subject. He is a prohibitionist for the money there is in it and an adherent to the saloons when the saloonmen hire his services, as they have been doing here in Wayne. Although he was, and may be yet, a member of the local anti-saloon league, he cannot surely be a very

"It bends with the foot"

A SPLENDID shoe for every purpose. Red Cross Glazed Kid Rubber with Full Cut Tip. #4.

Do Your Feet Ever Hurt?

If you could look inside of your shoe with your foot in it, you would see why. The sole of your foot bends, the sole of your shoe bends scarcely at all.

Ninety-five out of every 100 cases of foot suffering can be traced directly to stiff soles. Their constant friction is what brings hard, callous places, what irritates the delicate nerves and tendons and makes your feet draw, burn, ache!

The Tenderest Feet Are Comfortable in the Red Cross Shoe

Its sole is flexible. Though of regular thickness, it bends with the foot. Not a movement is hampered, not a muscle restricted. The moment you slip it on, you notice its wonderful ease and suppleness. Come in. Bend it. Walk in it.

It doesn't cramp, bind or "draw" the foot—it fits like a glove. Try it once and nothing could induce you to go back to stiff sole shoes!

We have it in all styles. Let us fit you. High Shoes, $4.00 and $5.00. Oxfords, $3.50 and $4.00.

W. S. GOLDIE, Publisher
WAYNE

As long ago as 1795 a Leipzig house published a German novel illustrating the life of a young man named G. Reutgen, picture. The story tells of the Countess Abillina, who gave her heart to the knight Gibelet. The knight, however, was thoughtless enough to let his lady love go. She then turned to hatred, and vowed to kill him. In a dream she saw the man who had fascinated her, and she stood ready to murder him. She then changed her mind, and before her stood a grinning skeleton saying: "I have already been punished." This scene is illustrated in the old book, and the picture is not unlike that of Reutgen's photograph. When it was published no one probably would have believed that science within a comparatively short time would make it possible to produce this picture, which the author's imagination invented.

Count Von Zepelin, the aeronaut, was born in 1838, and devoted what is for most men the best years of his life to military service. Reeling in 1880 from a series of military disasters, he turned with boyish enthusiasm to the pursuit of his hobby, aerial navigation. To the solution of the problem which had had him as a investigator of two centuries he sacrificed his health, and his apparent progress toward the goal. Poverty spurred him to greater effort. In 1892 he made a successful balloon journey. His next year he was killed, but his work was lightly esteemed until 1900, when the surprising success of the first dirigible caused a genuine sensation. Since that time his progress has been steady.

While in America societies are being formed for the suppression of street noises, Paris has added to the terror of the streets. It is a new form of bicycle alarm. The bell and the horn have had their day and now the "gong" is being used. It is a sort of miniature tambourine, which is struck by a small wooden hammer operated by contact with the spokes of the front wheel. It is initially effective, but the noise is said to be enough to revivify a cadaver. So great is the new alarm that in less than eight days a single shop sold more than 100 of them.

A firm of shady London brokers was prosecuted for swindling. It is known that the firm had been in existence since 1850. There is no sufficient evidence to convict you, but if any one wishes to know my opinion of you, I hope they will refer to me. Next week the firm will advertise in every available medium with the following well displayed: "References as to probity, by special permission, the lord chief justice of England."

Fortescue Correspondence, Mound City, Mo. Jeffersonian: Answer to the below correspondence of Jeffersonian in regard to Mr. Britton falling in the lake: There was no scare on the south end of the lake. Throw all your big folks in at the north end, you can't scare the south end.

Fires have had many strange causes, but the one on the night of the great conflagration, says the St. James Budget, "which broke out in Elgin street, Walton, was found to have originated in unusual fashion. A circular shaving brush, which was left open and came up with it shut and caused a 13-inch fall. Throw all your big folks in at the north end, you can't scare the south end."

The construction of the canal for barges of large size between Steffen and Berlin has been commenced. The government is making the work to be pushed forward with all possible speed, and it is hoped that the canal will be ready for traffic by 1912. This canal will be of great advantage to Steffen; it will be the best of the canal, with lighters of 600 tons at reduced freights.

The great trees of California, it has been said, began life before the earliest dawn of Chinese history, and at the time of the deluge were older than the ark. It is estimated that the tree Professor Charles E. Tokio, Oct. 20.—The Associated Press has secured signed statements from the whole of the Japanese empire, including Prince Ito, the foremost Japanese statesman, containing words of welcome to the American battleships of the "Great White Fleet." The statements are to the effect that the fleet will further cement friendship and commercial relations between the two countries and be a guarantee of peace to the Pacific.

The fleet will arrive at Yokohama at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. Wireless dispatches say that on the morning of October 12 the fleet ran into a typhoon off the northern coast of Luzon. ### WAR INEVITABLE

ARMENIA AGAIN RED WITH BLOOD

Berlin, Oct. 20.—There have been frightful massacres in Armenia, according to the Constantinople correspondent of the Berliner Tageblatt. The Armenians are being persecuted by the Turkish cavalry, which says: "Armenians in Wiransehkir have been massacred by Turkish troops. Women and children have been subjected to fearful treatment. ### COMMISSION WANTS TO MAKE PHYSICAL VALUATION OF ROADS

Claims It Has the Power and Now Wants the Money With Which to Do the Business.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 19.—The Nebraska state railroad commission, under an appropriation from the legislature for the purpose of making a clear cut and comprehensive physical valuation of all of the railroads of the state, says in its latest report, that it is ready to proceed with the governor, the commissions of Wisconsin, Washington, Michigan and Texas have decided that the physical valuation of railroad properties is essential to the proper performance of the duties for which they are created. The Nebraska commission is of the opinion that it now has the power to make such a physical valuation, and it reports that it has the firm conviction that such information is necessary as a basis for the intelligent regulation of rates, but it has thus far been unable to make the task on account of the small amount of money appropriated and the lack of necessary facilities. In order to perform a work of such magnitude it asks for a staff of competent engineers and accountants, as well as of expert stenographers and clerks.

The railroads now make a return of the physical value of the roads to the state board of equalization as a basis for taxation, but the commission does not wish to take this inventory and list as correct.

WORKING FOR DIVISION OF KNOX COUNTY

Bloomfield, Neb., Oct. 19.—Knox county is already in the midst of a fight against the division of the county. The people of Bloomfield and vicinity, tired of having the county seat in an inland town in the hills, are becoming restless. The county, because of its size and location, would make the Bloomfield county seat of one. The people in other parts of the county do not question with favor upon the division, and are strenuously fighting it. The question will be settled at the November election.

A Lively Time.

Using his shotgun in a battering ram, he shot through the door and was met by Mrs. Hearst, partially disabled, apparently on the verge of hysterics. Wayne's New High School Building.
(To be completed August 1, 1909.)

The city of Wayne is to be congratulated upon the grand, new school building now in course of erection. A careful investigation of the proposition shows most conclusively that our school board has used excellent judgment, both as to appearance of the structure, nicety of interior of plans, comfort for the present and coming generations of teachers and students, and economy in cost of the edifice. Members of the school board spent many days and long hours in debating and figuring on getting not only the best school building in the country, but in securing what the public needs and demands within the proscribed limitations of the capital to be invested. A most fortunate circumstance was the selection of an architect, J. H. Craddock of Omaha, who has given the board the great benefit of his years of experience in letting contracts and buying materials. For instance the first cost of the stone to be used was given at $6,500. Architect Craddock assumed that this was too high; and by interesting himself with members of the board got a reduction for the same material to $4,700, a saving of several hundreds of dollars more than the amount paid the architect for his entire services. This and other matters that were most satisfactorily adjusted caused the gentlemen comprising the school board to virtually "shake hands" with themselves over the enterprise and satisfied them that the public at large will be simply delighted when the building is ready for presentation.

The ground space of the building is 30x123 feet. The basement will be a place of beauty as well as convenience. It contains two grade rooms, domestic science hall, manual training, and a gymnasium 28x30 feet, aside from the boiler room all heated with what is termed "double system." Toilet rooms equipped with shower baths and wash sinks. The heating system is what is known as a "direct indirect," which would have to be personally investigated to be understood by the uninitiated. This system gives a complete change of air in all apartments every twenty minutes. The ceilings in the basement are all ten feet high except in the boiler room, and in the gymnasium they are fourteen feet high. There is also a large vault for school records, etc. The plans of the basement provide for a separation of the girls and boys with the exception of when they are in the immediate charge of the faculty. The first floor contains eight grade rooms, each seating 45 pupils, estimating 16 square feet to the student. A three-main hall, fifteen feet wide, runs through the building, two drinking fountains in the same. There are three main entrances to this floor, and each room has two exits; also a teacher's locker for each room. Ceilings are fourteen feet and rooms about 23x30, all seated with single desks.

The upper floor will have an assembly room that will seat 150 persons; superintendent's office, library, teachers' toilet, two class rooms, three recitation rooms, laboratory, two drinking fountains, two exits down stairs, all rooms two exits except two of the apartments.

The basement of building above grade is of Kasota stone, trimmed with stone roof. Each side of entrance, as shown in cut, will be supported by stone pillars; cornice galvanized iron, slate roof. Every room in the building is to be wallpapered with Keen's cement.

The architect, as before stated, is J. H. Craddock of Omaha, a gentleman of long experience in school building. Robert Butke of Omaha, contractor, who gets $8,200; for stone $4,700; heating plant, E. L. Dimmick of Laurel, $5,200. The building to be completed by August 1, 1909.

The members of the school board who had the responsibility of this public expenditure and improvement are F. L. Neely, president; S. R. Theobald, vice-president; E. Hunter, Secretary; and P. H. Kohl, D. C. Main and W. M. Orr. From the best of information the DEMOCRAT can glean they have performed an arduous duty in most commendable manner, and we believe that when completed and ready for occupancy the people of Wayne, irrespective of friendship or personal indifference, will congratulate them on their good judgment and zealous interest in the undertaking.

Bluff and Bluster.

The republican campaign is taking on the old aspect, made familiar in other contexts of bluff and bluster and threats. The republican leaders have found themselves unable successfully to attack the democratic platform. They have found themselves unable to attack Mr. Bryan personally. They have found it impossible to explain away the fact that "the system" is lined up solidly in support of the republican candidates. The have seen their lines breaking as the serried democratic hosts advance.

And now, in genuine affright, they resort to the last desperate play of the campaign. They will attempt to frighten, to bully, the country into submission. They will raise scarecrows and bogey men. With their feet mired in a panic of their own making still they cry "panic" and ruin unless their lease of power is renewed.

It is the resort of cowards and tricksters.

The Chicago Record-Herald lends itself to this shameful plot. Under prominent headlines on its first page Monday it proclaims the news that "business recuperation depends upon the election of Taft." It asserts that "contracts for the delivery of large orders of merchandise or manufactured articles are being made contingent upon the success of Taft." It declares, on eminent authority, that "the election of Bryan would bring business to a standstill."

Who are the authorities, cited for these statements?

The World-Herald cheerfully names them, as named by the Record-Herald: J. Ogden Armour, president of the beef trust.

Enos M. Barton, president of the Western Electric company, closely allied with both the electric supply and the steel trusts.

Clyde M. Carr, vice president of J. T. Ryerson & Son, manufacturers of iron, steel and machinery, under the domination of the steel and machinery trusts.

John V. Farwell, the multi-millionaire "merchant prince" with extensive trust holdings.

James B. Forgan, president of the First National bank; George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental National bank; George E. Roberts, president of the Commercial National bank, all of Chicago.

And these three banks, singularly enough, are the very three Chicago banks named by the Wall Street Journal as a part of the ninety-two great institutions that comprise the "business oligarchy" of the United States, under the Rockefeller-Morgan domination! These banks are "the system" banks in the west. Each of the presidents named takes his orders from the system, with the possible exception of James B. Forgan, who has a higher dignity. For Forgan is named, both by Senator La Follette and by the Wall Street Journal, as one of the seventy-two men who control the industry, commerce and finance of the country.

Here, then, we have identified the eminent "business men" of Chicago who are threatening ruin to the country unless Taft and Sherman are elected. And the identification shows them to be what might have been expected—the western representatives and spokesmen of "the system."

It is the beef trusts, the steel trust, Standard Oil, the electric trust, the machinery, the great banking interests that are belching forth all this blood and fire; that are threatening to pull down the pillars of the temple if the people, with besoms of wrath, scourge them from the seats of power.

And it is all a bluff. A cheap, pitiful, frightened bluff. The bluff of the tyrant who has been oppressing his country and despoiling his people, and who threatens to "ruin" everything and everybody if his people do not continue submissive.

It is the bluff of the burglar who threatens to shoot unless he is left unmolested; of the highwayman who levels his pistols at your head and demands your money or your life. And it is a bluff because the highwayman knows there are nothing but blank cartridges in his weapons. It is a bluff that won't work, this time, because the people know it too!

For the man who has many millions is just as careful of his millions as a man with only a few hundreds or thousands is of his capital. The one who is as anxious as the other to save his fortune intact; to make it earn more. The one is as interested as the other, therefore, in helping keep conditions such that capital can work and multiply.

If Bryan is elected and democratic policies are put into operation the trusts will not be able to plunder or oppress as they have been doing. The earnings of their component parts will be reduced from extortion to a reasonable profit. But let no one think for a moment that Armour will petulantly destroy his packing plants, for example, and render himself a pauper, or refuse to take that reasonable profit! Business will go on as before. Only the hundreds of millions of which the people have been robbed, annually, will be saved to them. These savings will be converted into capital and be put to work, creating new employment and new demand, instead of being frittered away, as at present, in riotous waste and extravagance, or converted into new gyres and manacles with which "the system" still further enchains the nation.—World-Herald.

Down in Columbus a large Bryan plotter, oil painting, was assaulted and ruined. The republican county committee made a proposition to the democrats that if the perpetrator could be detected they, the republicans would prosecute the subcontractors. It soon was proven that two prominent republican campaigners committed the dirty work, but the republicans failed to utter even a word of censure when this act of vandalism, was laid rights at their own door. At Pender's youth did a similar trick with a picture of Candidate Taft and being brought before the court got fifteen days in jail for the job, presumably from a republican judge.

They Never Met Roosevelt.

Sioux City Tribune.—Bryan got close to the J. Sterling Morton family again in his speech at Nebraska City yesterday. There is a feud as old as his political life involved in the starch works of that city—now as he says gone without leaving a shadow. But it survived long after Sioux City's starch works were bought for a million dollars and closed up. But whatever has happened to Nebraska City every Morton is rich. That's more than can be said of the men who built the Sioux City starch works.

D. C. Patterson, in the World-Herald: "If we had had a guarantee of deposit insurance twenty-five years ago." "I would never have quit the banking business. I was at the time cashier of the First National bank of Wayne, and president of the Cedar County bank of Hartington, both successful banks, but during every fall, then as now, deposits ran low and at the same time the demand for loans increased.

"To satisfy the wants of my customers I would borrow money from the city banks to lend them rather than to say we had no money to spare. I feared the depositors might all want their money, if they were told we were out of funds, and the result was that my peace of mind was disturbed and I enjoyed a consequent loss of sleep. To unload this responsibility I sold out all my banking interests.

"I cannot comprehend why any banker should oppose the insurance of deposits. Their arguments against the proposition are no more logical than were the arguments of the general public against fire insurance 125 years ago. The bitter opposition then against fire insurance was based on the claim that it was a tax on the honest owner of property to pay the losses of the dishonest owner, who might fire his buildings to get the insurance, and now we hear that the honest banker would have to pay for the losses of the dishonest banker.

"Under the guarantee of deposits system with bank inspection that inspects, the losses would be no more than the cost of burglar insurance now carried by all bankers. The safety in deposits would call out millions of hidden money to increase deposits and the assurance of no ruin would permit banks to loan out large reserves now carried, thus adding large sums for use in commercial transactions, resulting in better times throughout the land."

Last Wednesday the republican papers were gleefully quoting what Hearst had to say about Haskell's suit against him for $600,000 damages for slander. But Hearst's story was all a bluff for he hid in the toilet room of his car when the sheriff appeared with papers to serve on him, and like any yellow coward let his wife fight the officer off. The only thing Hearst is good for is to help Roosevelt "dig mud"—when it's dirt against the democratic party.

Looks Bright For Bryan.

Although the republicans endeavor to be cocksure of Taft's election to the presidency, there is a vast amount of bluster and fake in the newspaper reports sent out from national headquarters. The best showing the big republican dailies have been able to make in their polls of states shows an enormous slump to the democratic ticket, and the reading public may be assured that these papers would only tell half the truth. For instance they poll subscribers or readers of their own newspapers, so the DEMOCRAT is informed, instead of a general run of voters. A couple of prominent traveling men, one Joe Diamond, for years president of the Lincoln republican club, the other a gentleman who travels over several states, were in Wayne yesterday, and stated that Bryan would surely win, both of them staunch republicans and both strong Bryan men. Indications are that Bryan and Kern will carry every doubtful state, and say, wouldn't it be a dirty shame if the voters of Wayne county do not fall in line with the great army of reform, and stand by the greatest statesmen of the times, from our own state.

We have already had too much anti-saloon leaguism in this office, and Mr. Berry is the best temperance advocate in the county.

Celebrated Sheath Gown Makes Its Appearance in Wayne. Is of Cerise Velvet, and Will Be Worn By a Charming Young Lady.

When Miss Belle Rosa, the charming young actress appears at the Opera House in the title role of "A Bachelor's Honeymoon," she will wear one of the much talked of "Directoire gowns." It is of a beautiful cerise pannee velvet of exquisite shade, and the trimmings are of cream and silver with here and there a touch of the required gold. Panels of cream velvet and eruc lace and spangles are set in the skirt, which sweeps the ground and along train is caught up the side with large silver buttons. This is not the only beautiful dress worn by the charming little actress, in the play. Not by any means those who go daffy over her Directoire gown will want to see her Copenhagen Blue street suit and hat worn in the first act. A Grecian dress of white silk and chiffon and a dream of a negligee gown of pink liberty silk, cream lace and black velvet and "last but for from least, a handsome black velvet princess gown with a large lace hat with the prevailing shade of green ostrich feathers. This last mentioned gown also came from "Redfern" in Paris and was built from a design drawn by Miss Rosa who is as clever with her pencil and needle as she is a clever actress.

The Directoire gown will be worn in the third act of "The Bachelor's Honeymoon" when the attraction plays at Wayne, Oct. 28.

Guarantee of Bank Deposits. Banks receive for safekeeping the surplus money of those who have more than they require for immediate use, and loan it out to those who have less than they require for such use. The interest on the money thus loaned out is the principal source of profit in banking. While bank deposits are generally payable on demand, under ordinary conditions a very small percentage is withdrawn from day to day, so that the banks may safely loan out all of their deposits over and above what may be necessary to meet current demands. Time and experience has taught that a bank under ordinary conditions, may safely loan out 85 per cent of its deposits because of the improbability that more than 15 per cent will be withdrawn from day to day by the depositors.

But it is the extraordinary conditions that try men and institutions. So long as all the depositors feel that they can get their money, whenever they ask for it, a fifteen per cent cash balance on hand no doubt is ample, and there will be no run on the bank. But let the suspicion get abroad that a bank is in failing circumstances, however unfounded such suspicion, then the people begin to realize that 15 per cent cash on hand will not pay one hundred per cent, and the result is each depositor hurries to the bank to withdraw his balance before the 15 per cent cash on hand is exhausted. As soon as that is exhausted, if not before, the bank closes its doors and the unfortunate depositors are compelled to wait the slow process of converting the banks assets into money before getting any portion of their deposits.

But the depositors are not the only sufferers. The failure of one bank arouses a suspicion as to other banks. Banks themselves begin to get frightened. In fear of a run they begin to call in their loans at the very time men need to borrow to carry on their business. People in their fear of banks generally begin to hoard their money, and it is taken out of circulation. Factories and mills close and business comes to a standstill for want of money, and men willing to work are unable to find employment.

But suppose every depositor could be assured that his money was absolutely safe in the bank, whatever might happen to the bank? Suppose he was absolutely certain that no matter whether he got to the bank this morning, tomorrow morning or the day after, he could withdraw from the bank every dollar he had in it, would there ever be such a thing as a run on a bank?

THAT IS THE PURPOSE OF THE GUARANTEE BANK DEPOSIT PLAN IN THE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM. It pledges the party to the enactment of a law whereby every deposit in a bank will have the guarantee of the United States back of it. With that guarantee back of every deposit, no depositor would lose any sleep over the safety of his money in the bank. It would make every bank an interested party in the operation of every other bank, because the guarantee fund would be taxed to the banks at large. It would keep money in circulation, and prevent a withdrawal of money from circulation at the very time it was most needed to transact the business of the country. It would prevent such a spectacle as presented itself last fall, when a Wall street magnate had only to touch a button on his desk to stop the banks of the west from paying out currency over their counters. It would do for bank deposits what the national banking act has done for the bank note—make them as safe as the government itself.

While the proposition to guarantee bank deposits was brought to the attention of the platform committee of the republican party at Chicago, that committee would have none of it, and the platform contains no reference to the measure.

Nine out of ten republicans in Nebraska believe United States senators should be elected by direct vote of the people. Nine out of ten republicans in Nebraska believe the government should guarantee all bank deposits. Nine out of ten republicans in Nebraska agree with President Roosevelt that all contributions of money for campaign purposes should be made public, so that the people may know from whence the campaign money comes. And yet the great financial interests were able to defeat the will of the common republicans who asked the national convention to speak in favor of those reforms. And for this reason about nine out of ten Nebraska republicans are ashamed of their own national platform, and wholly indifferent as to the fate of a presidential candidate who stands upon such a platform.

Says Roy Caswell in his Denison Bulletin: "I note in the society department of an exchange the write-up of a wedding which closes with this: 'The bride's traveling gown was a suit of London smoke with hat to match.' Heavens! What chance the brides take nowadays! Suppose the wind should blow that smoke away and leave her bare to the cruel blasts of the October weather and the critical stare of the guests assembled to see her off at the train?"

A man advertised recently in a London paper, to forward, on receipt of postage stamps, "sound, practical advice that would be appreciable at any time and to all persons and conditions of life." On receipt of the stamps he sent his numerous victims the following:

"Never give a boy a penny to hold your shadow, while you climb a tree to look into the middle of next week."

A Chicago pastor says he has decided to reach people by writing plays. He might get them by playing "The Devil."

Nebraska has probably never been more safely Republican than it is now.—Norfolk News.

What's that? If you mean Nebraska was never more safe, well, and good, safe from republican misrepresentation.

A Cherokee, Iowa, business man who went out to Presho to register says he saw two straw votes taken—one going out and one returning. Going out there were 93 votes for Bryan and 13 for Taft. On the train coming back on another line of road, there were 199 votes for Bryan and 124 for Taft. He says the votes were taken on the square. The gentleman has always been a republican, and although he will vote for Bryan he has had little hope of his election. While on this trip he saw and heard so much Bryan sentiment that he may change his mind about what the result will be.

If you have borrowed your neighbor's lawn mower it is time to take it home. You may want to borrow his snow shovel.

Chafin says he will stop the manufacturing and sale of liquor within thirty days after he is elected president. Perhaps he could be coerced to wait until he is inaugurated.

The Mansion Democrat says: "You might ask your republican friend why bank and other business failures are on the increase right along in this great era of republican prosperity. And you might ask him why 15,000 school children in Chicago are going to school hungry and half starved every day. If these things happened in a democratic administration, democrats would have to take to the cyclone cellars."

Charles Nagel, who is in charge of the Republican National Committee western headquarters in Chicago, is an attorney for the Standard Oil company and recently defended that trust in a suit brought against it by Attorney-General Hadley of Missouri.

Up-to-date, the federal government has failed beautifully to put one single criminal trust official in jail. Judge Taft belongs the distinction of sentencing a labor leader to the penitentiary for six months for alleged conspiracy in restraint of trade.

The old game of trying to secure working men to vote the republican ticket by threatening to close factories and reduce wages if Bryan is elected is in full swing again. Don't forget that John Mitchell said: "The election of Bryan would be for the best interests of the whole nation."

Hear the disreputable calamity croaker:

"Thousands of business orders are marked 'withdrawn if Bryan is elected.' There will be many more unemployed in case of Bryan's election than there are now."—Norfolk News.

We presume the News will quit business also. It ought to quit before Bryan is elected. The News ought to be ashamed to give voice to such damnable stuff, that it well knows is the cheapest kind of rot.

The republican papers have been full of threats of business stagnation "if Bryan is elected." According to their columns all goods being ordered from the factories and wholesalers are to be cancelled if Taft does not succeed to Roosevelt's seat. Tuesday's rock-ribbed State Journal by some oversight allowed the following paragraph to slip into that paper, to the public.

A manufacturing company which has its sales department in the New York wholesale drygoods district received in two mails delivered before 11 a. m. one day last week twenty-seven letters from customers in five states asking that goods purchased from the concern's traveling salesman be rushed. In addition to these letters the house received several telegrams on the same subject. The manager said that the shelves of western dealers had become so depleted in the course of the recent slump in business that stocks had to be replenished, and that the dealers were justified in prodding the manufacturers and jobbers. He added that it was an unpleasant situation, with the redeeming quality that it was a first-rate indicator of the improved condition of trade. With every letter which the house sends in answer to the "rush" letters, under which head this correspondence is enclosed, which bears the concern's firm name and address and this legend:

We have more orders than we can fill. Give us a chance. Good times coming. Don't worry!

ON THE STUMP

The Drummer Takes a Spellbinder's Place, and Tells Why He Looks for an Avalanche in November—Stangely, but Straight He Talks—"Injunction Bill" and "Errand Boy Sherman," and Assumes the Role of Cannon-Cracker—The Scared Householder and the Burglar.

Monroeville's Democrats, assisted by the county committee, had planned what the posters called "A Monster Bryan Ratification Meeting." The Republican school teacher remarked that the first three words of the placard said more truth than all the rest of the sheet; but then, he was a recent importer from Boston, and so was expected to sit in the seat of the school. Undisturbed by any such grammatical peccadilloes, most of Monroeville's thousand voters, and several hundred men from the outlying country, turned out to hear the music and the speech-making.

There was no concert in the stacks of the committee when the evening train brought no Lawyer Squires, the bright oratorical light upon whom their faith had been pinned. The meeting had begun before the train arrived; the preliminaries had been disposed of, and the local talent well exhausted when the nonpareil committee arrived with the bag of tricks. Before it could be broken, however, Ted Bamford, the hotel-keeper, whose committee badge outshone his diamond, had an inspiration. Why not ask Tom Harkins, Ware & Tar's star drummer, to give the crowd the same sort of talk he had made to the boys in the hotel lobby that afternoon? It wasn't bashful, being a salesman, and he knew human nature better than he knew anything else except Ware & Tar's line.

Thus it came about that instead of a pompous orator in a frock coat, there was introduced a well-groomed young man in brown, who began by saying "I ain't 'erit, habel!" It blew into this burg to talk Ware & Tar's dry goods, and here they've put me up to show a line of Republican green goods. Instead of a big gun, you've got a Cannon-cracker, for I want to take a crack at Joe, since he and Senator Cronin-law Ghirich are more of an issue than Teddy's band of letters. Harkins, Injunction Bill, wouldn't be afraid of the big stick in Taft's hands, any more than Wall street is afraid of it; but Taft is only the respectable cigar-store front of the meanest gambling joint that ever attacked the cards against a socker. The real owners are Cannon, Aldrich, Rockefeller, Harpman, and the whole push. Uncle Joe's lightest cuss word is weightier than Taft's most delicate deliberance. For what Cannon says goes, because he does not speak until he has been spoken to by the men 'higher up'—and the higher up where Cannon goes for orders is not heaven, either. Do you catch my point? There is no voting for Proctor, Taft, or Errand-Boy Sherman, without a voting for the continuation and strengthening of the Republican ring in house and senate; a ring so crooked that, except for a few months in presidential year, even the Republican editors are kept busy telling the nasty truth about it. The real issue of the reign of the gang that has preyed, itself mightier than even 'Terrible Teddy,' then vote for the amiable Taft and the shrinkling Sherman."

The crowd had been rather too dazed by the rapid-fire, unconventional talk of the drummer at first to make any response, but quickly it began to murmur approval by such phrases as: "We're going home," "That's the talk," "Give him another hot one," etc. The speaker paid no heed to these interruptions, but continued: "I had a next-door neighbor once who woke in the night and found a hall light burning downstairs. He thought it was a burglar. What do you suppose he did? He stood upstairs shivering in his nightgown, hoping the burglar would go away. He thought, 'What you do, when your wife shakes you out of your beauty sleep and tells you that there is a burglar downstairs?' "Not on your life!" ejaculated a bushy man in the audience; "I go after him."

"Of course you do. So does every other man who has red blood instead of skimmed milk in his veins. It's because you are a man, the head of your house, and responsible for its safety, and the safety of your family, and you face any danger that threatens your home. In the exercise of this primal right, which every male who grows hair has considered sacred and binding since the days of the stone age, when a man guarded the entrance to his cave-home with a club, you would be willing to front the devil himself."

"Well, gentlemen, that is just about what is up to you to-day in this political campaign. Your fundamental, inherent manhood rights are at stake. The country, which is as sacred to you as your home—myriads of patriots have left their homes at the call of country—has been invaded by thieves and robbers. The ideals of American government have been violated. Your property rights have been taken from you. Some of you have become so averse to the power and the rule of the men who have plundered and shamed you. You say they're mighty smart, and that you'd do the same if you had the chance. A man who talks like that is at heart a crook—here the speaker grew vehement and jabbed his fore-finger viciously into the crowd, "and no decent citizen of this republic."

"A tempest in the atmosphere and low murmurs of approbation, rather than cheers, greeted the speaker's reasoning here. "But that sort of fellow, while the majority of the Republican organization, is not a majority in America, not by a long way. Like the honest Republican his estate, my jesty, I've been going to and fro on the earth's good deal, and I've talked with all sorts of people. Frankly, I tell you I'm amazed at the deep seriousness of the voters of to-day. Men are thinking things through for themselves; and whenever you find a man thinking the present situation through, there you find a vote for Bryan. This election is not going to be decided by campaign speeches, but by the course of practical events during the past years of republican control. The people have come to see that the principles of Democracy, as represented by the slogan, 'Shall the people rule?' are the nation's only hope in the present hour." And when Drummer Harkins got through, the crowd was ready to spare a vote of thanks to Lawyer Squires for having shaken his train.

BRYAN REPUBLICANS.
They Are Organizing Clubs in a Number of Western States—Heargan "Comes Across" for Taft.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 22.—The Republican national platform which was framed at the dictation of the trust interests has driven thousands and thousands of Republicans to the support of the Democratic national ticket. In every state in the west, where are Bryan clubs composed of Republicans who were forced to leave the G. O. P. because of its allegiance to a connection with the trusts. A striking instance of this revolt is afforded by students attending the University of Minnesota who have organized a "Bryan Republican Club." Within a period of three days a membership of 800 Republicans who will support Bryan has been enrolled and the list is still growing.

While declaring allegiance to their party, these Republicans believe that the election of Bryan is a good sign of the Democratic national ticket. In every state in the west, where are Bryan clubs composed of Republicans who were forced to leave the G. O. P. because of its allegiance to a connection with the trusts. A striking instance of this revolt is afforded by students attending the University of Minnesota who have organized a "Bryan Republican Club." Within a period of three days a membership of 800 Republicans who will support Bryan has been enrolled and the list is still growing.

1. We, the undersigned students of the University of Minnesota, declare our allegiance to the Republican party, and pledge our cooperation to progressive Republican principles.

2. We believe the campaign convention adopted a platform which does not embody those principles, and nominated candidates whose views do not reflect the will of the people.

3. We hold that it is the right and the duty of the people to re-elect party leaders whose policy is to favor political organizations to be influenced by considerations of private interest.

4. In the exercise of this right and duty, we express our intention to vote for candidates who are pledged to further progressive principles, without regard to the party to which those candidates belong, and to exert all our influence to secure the election of William Jennings Bryan as president of the United States.

5. To make our efforts in this direction the more effective we hereby associate ourselves in the Bryan Republican club of Minnesota.

Judge Taft complains that this is the day of the campaign organ, and shouts "Hear!" and "Hear!" and person said that he thought that one dollar a day was sufficient compensation for the laboring man. Mr. Bryan and Chairman Mack both quoted the statement in the Hearst's paper that the Democratic national committee had received a $60,000 fund from the oil trust for the purpose of making the campaign, and yet President Roosevelt repeated the slander several weeks after its authoritative refutation by Chairman Mack in the various press associations of the country. The Democratic national committee has never circulated the hoop of which the Republican candidate is the presidency campaign. The Republican campaign managers have not only depicted a campaign document the same words in ex-President Cleveland's mouth, but the president has given expression to the charges created by Mr. Hearst's paper and have never made correction of his error.

A CONVINCING CERTIFICATE
That Every Voter Should Read Who Believes That Bank Deposits Should Be Guaranteed Against Loss.

The Democratic platform favors secured bank deposits. The Republican platform is opposed to the subject and its leaders, Mr. Taft notably, oppose it.

The following certificate published in The Economist is of the most interesting at the present time.

"Guthrie, Okla., June 17, 1908.—The depositor's guaranty fund was passed December 1, 1907, and was made operative February 1, 1908.

"Bank reports show that the effect of the law began working before the law was in actual operation.

"There are now 531 banks under the law in this state, including 14 national banks. There are 155 unsecured banks (all national) in the state.

"The dates of statement calls were as follows:

"For national banks, December 3, 1907; February 14, 1908, and May 14, 1908.

"For state banks, December 12, 1907; February 12, 1908, and May 12, 1908.

"From December 1, 1907, to February 14, 1908, the deposits in the unsecured banks decreased about one-half million. The secured national banks for the same period gained in deposits about $20,000. State banks (all secured) for the period from December 11, 1907, to February 14, 1908, show an increase in deposits of $718,749.47.

"For the period ending May 14, secured national banks show an increase in deposits of $645,418.11.

"State banks (all secured) for the period ending May 14, show an increase in deposits of $2,100,508.14.

"For the period ending May 14 the unsecured banks (all national) lost in deposits $621,871.25.

"Deposits of state banks show a decrease in both classes of banks as follows:

In secured banks..... $1,100,000.00
In unsecured banks..... $1,100,000.00
Total increase in deposits in all secured banks, December to May, per reports, $4,237,755.21.
Total decrease of deposits in all unsecured banks, December to May, per reports, $1,100,000.00.
Total decrease of deposits of state funds in both classes of banks last period, $521,433.25.
"So it is apparent that there are $2,628,410.00 more individual deposits in banks in Oklahoma than before the depositor's guaranty law was passed and the secured banks have been beneficiaries.

The above is correct.
"BOY C. BAKER,
Secretary State Banking Board.
"GEORGE W. HELLANT, Chairman State Banking Board."

If you want to vote for the most competent attorney in Wayne county, and the best living example of temperance among the fraternity, you will help elect F. A. Berry county attorney.

Frank A. Berry should have a big majority of the votes as candidate for county attorney. Frank is not only rated the most able man among the lawyers but he is the most consistent on local affairs. His judgment on matters of prosecution will be worth a whole lot to Wayne county, and politics should cut little figure in the matter. Vote for Mr. Berry and tell your friends to support him at the polls.

Speaking about the poll of certain states by the big eastern dailies reminded a traveling man of a little incident that happened the other day. Teller of the tale was a republican but a Bryan voter this year, and he insisted that these polls of states didn't give even an indication of the slump to Bryan all over the country. A certain grocer bought a hundred pound sack of walnuts from another salesman of the same house. When the traveling man, who tells the story, called on his next trip the grocer takes 22 nuts out of the sack, cracks all of them, and then, looking up remarked: "Don't that beat h—!! The other day I broke 22 of those nuts and 18 were rotten; now, that I want to show you every nut of 22 is good." Every nut will be good when the democrats get a fair count.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 19.—(Special Correspondence.)—Thursday night of last week Mr. Bryan wound up at Nebraska City. "In the shadow of the starch trust" the most enthusiastic round of receptions ever tendered to him in his home state. Starting from Omaha on Tuesday morning, he addressed an average of 35,000 people a day for three days, winding up at Nebraska City with a speech that was remarkable for its incisiveness and argument.

Nebraska anti-trust laws and thus keep Nebraska City's starch factory from falling into the hands of the starch trust, Mr. Bryan was threatened with bodily violence if he attacked the trust while in Nebraska City. He did attack it, and warned the people of Nebraska City that they had no assurance of their starch factory's continuance if it fell into the hands of the trust. They laughed at him, and when Nebraska went Republican they wrote him mocking letters asking, "Isn't the shadow of the starch factory extending over the whole state?"

Thursday night Mr. Bryan, standing within a few blocks of the dismantled factory buildings—now in the hands of the wrecking crews—asked his political opponents how far the shadow of the starch factory extended these days. He handed the chairman of his meeting a five dollar bill to be given to the Republican committee if the Republicans would carry in this year's parades the banners they carried eight years ago.

The Republicans of Nebraska City are not asking "what Bryan prophecies have been fulfilled?" They know of at least one. They see the answer in the huge piles of brick and stone that once formed the buildings of their starch works. And 500 people who once earned fair wages in the starch works now having little else to do than ponder over this expensive object lesson in "trust busting" under a Republican administration.

W. A. Woodward, one of the leading business men of Lincoln, a lifelong Republican and a member of the city council elected on the republican ticket, has publicly announced that he will vote for Bryan and do all that he can to bring about the election of his distinguished fellow citizen.

Normal precinct, the home of Mr. Bryan, is usually reliably Republican. Six years ago the Republican state and congressional committees spent over $300 in Normal precinct in order to secure the "satisfaction" of carrying Bryan's home precinct against him. Normal has less than 200 votes. Now a move is on foot, engineered by Normal Republicans, to give Mr. Bryan the unanimous vote of the precinct. All but a dozen or fifteen Republicans have agreed to help, and pressure is being brought to bear to induce the obdurate ones to get in line. The "pressure" consists wholly of appeals to neighborly pride.

A few days ago Mr. Bryan received an unique and valuable present from a Lincoln admirer. It is a center table that was made by Estine King, a union printer of Lincoln. It is a sample of "parquetry work," and is made of upwards of 5,000 different bits of wood, hundreds of them being of almost microscopic size. Mr. King started the work twelve years ago, and has put in his odd moments on it. It follows a "16 to 1" design, and it shows artistic as well as mechanical talent in a high degree. "When Bryan is inaugurated," said Mr. King, "my happiness will be complete if that little table stands by his side and bears the pitcher of ice water."

"There was a pathetic incident at Tecumseh last week, when Mr. Bryan visited that town. Mr. Ross an aged citizen, lay upon his death bed. For days his one wish had been that he might live until Mr. Bryan came to Tecumseh that he might once more grasp the hand of his hero. Mr. Ross, 80 years old, has been one of Mr. Bryan's staunchest supporters ever since 1890, when Mr. Bryan entered political life and was elected to congress. The Democratic leader cut his visit short that he might hasten to the bedside of his old friend. The old man lay upon his bed near the front door, surrounded by relatives and friends, waiting for his hero to come. Mr. Bryan entered the room and without a word hastened to Mr. Ross' bedside. The dying man could scarce raise his hand, but a smile flickered over his wan face as Mr. Bryan took the wasted hand in his own strong palm. With a few words of cheer that visibly brightened the dying man, Mr. Bryan left the house, his eyes glistening with tears. The people who witnessed the incident will never forget it.

Last week Mr. Bryan was called upon to mourn the death of one of his staunchest friends and supporters, Judge Jefferson H. Broady of Lincoln. When Judge Broady died one of the staunchest and ablest Democrats in the west, a distinguished jurist and an exemplary citizen, passed to his final reward. He was a pioneer in Nebraska and had a distinguished record as a judge and as a lawyer. He was one of the democrats who rallied around Bryan in 1894 and wrested the control of the democratic party in Nebraska from the hands of those who strove to make it a business asset. He never failed to respond to the call of duty, and he was a power in democratic councils. In the legal and political history of Nebraska the name of Judge Jefferson H. Broady is writ large and in enduring letters.

Senator Beveridge came to Lincoln last week and spoke at the Auditorium. He asked Mr. Bryan a few questions—Mr. Bryan being about 500 miles away. When the senator mentioned the name of Bryan the audience cheered much louder than it did at any of the speaker's arguments. Senator Beveridge took the interruptions goodnaturedly, but he was seemingly convinced that he was in a "Bryan crowd." In an effort to rally the labor vote to Taft, Senator Beveridge said: "All the rights the labor has, or will have, we have given and will give." The assertion was greeted with laughter and jeers from the workmen present.

"About this time of year look out for a change in the weather." This is the way the old almanac makers used to predict things. So, also, "about this time of the campaign look out for roorbacks from the g. o. p." The wily managers of that foxy old machine are cooking up some broadsides to fire during the closing hours of the campaign, experience proves that no account will be taken by the g. o. p. managers to ascertain the truth or falsity of their roorback charges. The writer predicts that the chief broadside to be fired by the g. o. p. managers will be a lot of misstatements, false charges and silly lies about Mr. Bryan in connection with the Bennet estate. Also, they will again attempt to appeal to the old soldiers with that alleged pension speech. The alleged speech was really an editorial in the Omaha World-Herald, and appeared therein three years before Mr. Bryan became connected with that paper, and while he was still in congress. The pamphlet sent out by the republican managers asserts that it was a speech made by Mr. Bryan on a certain date in congress. Unfortunately for their contention the date happens to be during a congressional recess.

A few weeks ago this department made reference to a visit paid to Mr. Bryan by P. S. Morrison, of Big Horn, Wyo., who is a democrat who voted for Andrew Jackson. Now comes word of a man who makes Mr. Morrison look like a lad in knickerbockers. He is Abner Dunton, of Hope Maine, who expects to vote for Bryan next month, and who voted for John Quincy Adams in 1828, and Andrew Jackson in 1832. Mr. Dunton lives on the farm where he was born, and has never lived anywhere else. Yet he has lived in two states, three counties, a plantation and a town. This is explained in this way: Maine used to be a part of Massachusetts and under the plantation system. The present county of Knox, in which Hope is situated was formerly a part of Waldo county, and before that a part of Lincoln county. The town of Hope is located upon a part of the original Dunton farm. Mr. Dunton is 101 years old, and every now and then seeks diversion by making a pair of shoes. He followed too shoemaker's trade for upwards of seventy years.

Can that democratic record be beaten by any man in this country?

Governor Hughes is attacking the trust plank of the democratic platform by ridiculing the 50 per cent clause. He says the idea of limitation is puerile and ridiculous. Yet Governor Hughes advocates identically the same plan in regard to insurance companies. He asserts that it is foolish to attempt a limitation upon the output of a corporation, but insists on limiting the business of a life insurance company to $150,000,000 a year on the plea that it is enough for one company to handle.

What has become of "Old Figgers" Grosvenor? He hasn't made a prediction this year. But C. V. Mitchell, of Zanesville, O., who claims to be a political prognosticator with a record for hitting it off right comes forward with this prediction:

"Taft will probably carry Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Washington, Oregon, Rhode Island, Wisconsin and Delaware. Hisgen will get Massachusetts, Bryan will carry all the rest."

It might be well to paste that up.

James Schoolcraft Sherman, republican nominee for vice-president, is a very versatile gentleman. In addition to drawing $7,500 a year as a congressman he also draws $1,200 a year from the state of New York as attorney for the Utica Hospital for Insane and has been drawing it for eleven years. This is a direct violation of the law against holding positions in the public at the same time. He is also president of a bank, a canning company and the Utica ice trust.

And, by the way, have you noted how strangely silent the republican organs are about "straw votes?" The "straw votes" show up very badly for Taft and Sherman. Perhaps that is the reason for the republican silence.

BY DAD

If Bryan is elected president it will be with the united opposition of every trust magnate, every paid follower of Hearst, every socialist leader, every dishonest money king, every tariff-protected monopolist and every corporation thief out of jail, says the Manson Democrat. Scoundrels like Rockefeller, Archbold, Bowers, Harriman, Carnegie and their ilk, and their paid servants—Joe Cannon, Jim Sherman, Depew, Platt, Aldrich et al—present a solid front against Bryan.

What a sad commentary on American patriotism it would be to defeat the greatest patriot since the days of Lincoln with a man whose claim to fame is his injunctions against honest laboring men and his pliability in the hands of the trusts.

If Hughes had been governor of Iowa and he vetoed the 2-cent fare law, would he have had a chance for the nomination? I should say not. And yet this calamity howler and slanderer has the effrontery to tell a free people how they should vote.

The poor ignorant, half starved foreigners who are tending his furnaces down in Pittsburgh will pay that $30,000 Andrew Carnegie gave to the republican campaign fund. It will only mean a little less meat in the dinner pail, but they must be "protected."

We would like to see Joe Cannon defeated by some honest republican.—Sheldon Sun.

Yes, but how in hell is an honest republican going to get into Joe Cannon's place?

Let's see, didn't we have corn to burn under a republican administration. My recollection is that I bought it for 15 cents a bushel and burned it.

It is to be presumed that if Bryan is elected there will be no more lap-dog funerals down east.

Senator Aldrich, the republican leader of the senate, said in that body at its last session, "the financial crisis, which culminated in a serious panic in October, was the most acute and destructive in its immediate consequences of any that has occurred in the history of the country." And we had the republican high tariff all the time.

"A republican tariff has always been followed by business prosperity, a democratic tariff by business adversity," was the popular republican platform declaration a few years ago. It was not put in this platform in this year of 1908, because under "a republican tariff" this country has had "the severest panic the world has witnessed."

Just before the republican national convention met in Chicago, John D. Rockefeller said in an interview that he preferred Taft for president. Taft has been nominated, and now President Roosevelt is trying to make the people believe the trust and trust magnates don't want Taft. Is that the reason the big trust men are working for him?

Any man who has thought of voting for Bryan will change his mind in a hurry if he will candidly ask himself this one question: "Would the election of Mr. Bryan help business anywhere or in any way?"—Norfolk News.

Say, if you met a hold-up artist in the middle of a dark night, in a dark alley, and you had a gun in your hand and "got the drop" on the footpad, say would it help your business any if you pulled the trigger just a little bit.

The Norfolk News complains that all the straw polls of trains are taken by democrats. Well, apparently a republican has had nothing to gain by doing such disappointing duty.

Walter Wellman, of the Chicago Record-Herald dug up a remarkable coincidence in concluding last Friday, that Bryan would carry the state of
