Democrat Gets a Roasting.
It didn't take Wayne citizens long to find the fire when the whistle blew the alarm Monday evening. Before the alarm could be turned in the flames were shooting out the front of the Jones pool hall and bowling alley. An explosion of the gasoline lighting plant did the business in a hurry, and in five minutes the whole interior of the long building was a mass of flames. The fire quickly communicated to the DEMOCRAT office on the south, making it necessary for the firemen to hook on to the front of the structure and pull it down to get at the flames above the upper floor. In less than half an hour the fire was out, the Jones property being a total loss and the DEMOCRAT being a horrible mess generally. The building being almost worthless and type "piled" and stock well watered. D. A. Jones' loss is not all covered by insurance. He had $1000 on building, pool and billiard tables, bowling alleys, cigars, etc., and his total loss will be anything a few hundred over that amount.

The DEMOCRAT carried sufficient insurance had the stuff burned up complete, but not enough to pay for the "cleaning up" and soiling over.

The firemen did an elegant job on the conflagration, and the DEMOCRAT owes them and the half hundred men who helped save the material, etc., more than we can pay in print. Even after the fire was all over there was no lack of help to put things, such as heavy imposing stones and presses, in to other buildings.

The empty building across the street came in handy for the DEMOCRAT when this issue of the paper was set up.

A fellow never knows just whom his real friends are until adversity overtakes him. When Revs. Parker Smith and E. B. Young took hold of the job of moving the DEMOCRAT's heavy anti-prohibition artillery, while our saloon friends stood by and watched the sport, it kind of set a fellow to thinking some deep thoughts.

There was even considerable loss on the Jones brick building occupied by Meister & Bluechel. Plate glass was broken and cornice burned off. Rollie Ley was agent for a company about $200 worth on it.

Married.
A pretty home wedding took place Thursday evening, April 29th, when Father Hanley married Miss Lena Lerner and Mr. Arthur Oscar Hedge at the home of Nelson Grimsley, 115 Harvard Avenue, North Seattle, Wash. A profusion of spring flowers, maiden-hair fern, ivy and smilax, were gracefully arranged about the rooms.

The bride was daintily gowned in white muslin and lace, made in empire. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and maiden-hair fern. The maid of honor, Mrs. Mary Shutz, wore pink and carried pink carnations. Miss Hazel Foltz, formerly of Wakefield, Neb., played the wedding march.

After the ceremony and congratulations, a dainty luncheon was served in the dining room to about twenty-five relatives and friends.

Among the many useful and beautiful gifts showered upon the happy couple, and no doubt most appreciated of all, was an elegant writing desk from Mr. Grimsley, in whose home the bride has lived so many years, given in the name of his wife. Mr. Grimsley's personal gift to the bride was a check for $500.

Mr. and Mrs. Hedge left later for a trip to Canada, and will be at home after May 5th, at 1110 East Howell street.

All Ready For Two-Day Show.
W. H. Barnes, this morning received from A. G. Campbell a telegram saying that arrangements are complete for the show on the Beall triangle May 28 and 29, for the benefit of the Playground association.

Next Monday two advertising cars will arrive here and forthwith the bill boards will be clothed in gayly colored posters announcing the multitudinous acts in the Campbell shows. Not only will Sioux City be thoroughly billed, but all towns within a radius of twenty miles will be flooded with posters and advertising matter.

The circus will arrive here early on the morning of the 28th. A street parade each day will be followed by performances afternoon and evening.

In the meantime the men and women interested in the Playground association will thoroughly canvass the city with tickets. By the sale of the tickets it is hoped to secure sufficient funds to carry the playground project through its first season without asking the public for subscriptions.—Sioux City Journal.

Aye! Aye!
No greater courage has ever been displayed in the American congress than was shown last Saturday by Congressman Murphy, of Missouri. He actually had the audacity to introduce a resolution of inquiry regarding the railroad connections of two United States judges—McPherson and Phillips. It was a brave act. Congressman Murphy will bring down upon his own head the wrath of the money power which controls in congress. That power will attack Murphy with every weapon. He will be attacked by the agents of wealth in Washington, and in his own district. All the country will not stand behind him. Not yet. The hand of corporate wealth has not turned the screws far enough just yet to make the people mad enough to support Murphy in his bold attack upon a pair of judges who render decisions which please corporate wealth. But the screws are turning. The turning will continue until it will begin to hurt, and then the people will rise up and follow some leader in an effort to blot these federal courts out of existence. But the hour for the peaceable revolution has not yet come. Poor Murphy will be crucified on the corporation cross, and the people whom he seeks to serve will offer no protest. But he is sowing the seed. Other brave men will arise in the coming days, and they will take up the fight where Murphy lays it down, and ultimately the United States courts will be regarded in America as a farmer regards a cockle-burr, or as a woman regards a snake.—Columbus Telegram.

Marion Harland and Dame Curtsey
For more than half a century Marion Harland has been writing on housewifely themes and answering the questions of women in a clear and kindly way that has made her name beloved from one end of the land to the other. Many who read her cheery and helpful page every week in THE SUNDAY RECORD-HERALD have no idea that she is 77 years old, for she still writes with all the vigor and discernment of a woman of half her years. Huge as the task may seem, she gives her personal attention to the vast correspondence that her position of expert adviser on household topics involves, and every question is answered directly by her. No other department of THE SUNDAY RECORD-HERALD is more universally popular than hers.

Another department that pushes it closely however, is Dame Curtsey's "Novelties in Entertainment," which has been hailed with joy by thousands of hostesses who feel the need of new ideas. Dame Curtsey, whose real name is Ellye Howell Glover, seems to have a genius for inventing fresh schemes for decorations, menus, games and all the details that lend zest to dinners and entertainments. She also answers questions pertaining to etiquette and good taste, and otherwise furnishes just the information so often sought vainly by women.

When it is added that the Sunday Magazine of THE RECORD-HERALD is full of good stories and articles as interesting to women as to men, it is easy to see why that paper is the favorite among women.

School Building Sells for a Song.
The old high school building was sold last week to Jake Ziegler for $550. This is considered no price at all for the immense building but it was the best offer the board could get. There is some $6,000 worth of lumber, of the very best quality, in the structure. The contract calls for its removal in thirty days after June 1st, when school discontinues. Mr. Ziegler will build a few barns and probably sell a big part of it.

Seed Corn.

"And you are to promise not to say one word about it till then?"

"Yes, I can assure you that."

"Oh, yes, I promise. And you'll promise to give me the final answer on June first?"

"Oh, no, no, no, Rose. Don't say that. And, Rose, if it's yes—and it will be—I know it will—and I can have the money on the spot. Can't you see? I ought to be able to do that."

"But I shall say no, thank you. I must go my own way. I'll be cold as ice," she said, and she turned away. "I don't want to see you again."

Amos was going with him. At breakfast, he had always in the Hartwick house in the morning twilight, he had said to Rose, "Like the way that smoke's coming. It looks to me just as if the fire might be working over toward the Brown lot on the third mountain. I don't know, but I have to go with me. I'll send him over."

"But I can do just exactly as much good as Amos can. I'll hitch up Pomp and drive over. If it's getting dangerous, I can take fire gang just as quick as a man could."

"All right; but don't go too near. Rose, it's awful dry, and fire'll run like a hot iron."

"Now, don't worry about me. Papa's never ever caught me yet." She laughed up at him in her old girlish way.

"Sure enough, Rose, and there won't I be bet on you against all of 'em. Ho, ho, ho!" He chuckled her under the chin, laughing mightily.

"But look out for the fire, Dot. Don't go running any more. The valleys are awfully dangerous. Well, good-bye, Dot. Look out for yourself!"

At 1 o'clock, therefore, Rose was driving with Pomp along the second ridge. The sun had poured down on the cover of smoke as on a tin roof, and the dense blanket had seemed to rot in all that it received.

The wind was blowing from the north, and the smoke was being driven into the valleys. The fire was spreading rapidly, and the smoke was becoming thicker and thicker.

By 2 o'clock Rose was beyond the second ridge, in the chaotic valley known as Black Log Run. Here at length she left the road, which had been a narrow strip of earth, and struck into a wood road that some years before had been worn smooth by the lumbermen. This branch valley was Cherry creek. Three miles further on she reached the Brown lot, a magnificent bunch of pines which the squires had kept for themselves.

From the drift of the smoke, she saw that the fire had reached the second valley parallel to the one she was in. If the wind, which was rapidly increasing, did not shift, there seemed to be little danger to her father's place.

It was a wild, lonesome region that she was traversing, one seldom visited save by the trout fishermen in the middle of the winter. The woods were white with snow, and the ground was a mass of ice and snow.

When the squires came from seeing Karl off, he found Rose alone in the kitchen scolding her cat.

"You're a bad, bad boy," she was saying, and she was hitting him with the front of her paw. "You're a bad, bad boy, and I won't have you in my house any more."

"You're a naughty cat to catch poor little birds. Aren't you ashamed of yourself?"

"The old man seemed to be in great good humor."

"So you've settled it, have you, Dot? Ho, ho, ho!" He chuckled her under the chin, and she turned away.

"Settled what?" She put down the cat and turned to him curiously.

"Oh, Karl's told me all about his new house. He's going to have it built in before the snow flies. He's got the plans, and he's got the money."

"Why, is this you?" he blurted out. "I don't want to build any house. Don't do it."

"Why, father, why are you going down there in the valley? Rose, to be honest, I don't like you. You're a bad, bad boy, and I won't have you in my house any more."

"Oh, no, no, no, Rose. Don't say that."

"I don't want to see you again," she said, and she turned away. "I don't want to see you again."

"I don't want to see you again," she said, and she turned away. "I don't want to see you again."

"I don't want to see you again," she said, and she turned away. "I don't want to see you again."

"I don't want to see you again," she said, and she turned away. "I don't want to see you again."

"I don't want to see you again," she said, and she turned away. "I don't want to see you again."

"I don't want to see you again," she said, and she turned away. "I don't want to see you again."

"I don't want to see you again," she said, and she turned away. "I don't want to see you again."

"I don't want to see you again," she said, and she turned away. "I don't want to see you again."

They could hold him but an instant more. He ordered sharply, "We must leave him and run for our lives. Quick!"

"Here, take the laprobe and wind it round his head. Quick!" He obeyed automatically. In an instant she was on her feet, and she took the horse by the bit.

"Here! Let me take him!" she ordered sharply. Now lift the buggy round. She did it. It was turned in an instant.

"Get in," she commanded, and she obeyed her with a jump. "Take up the reins there! Quick!" She led the horse round, then bounded back and sprang into the buggy like a cat.

"Give 'em to me!"

Again they bumped and rolled and slid down the mad trail. She was driving now for her life, and it was a tight race. The horse was a wild creature, and she was a wild creature.

"Give 'em to me!"

He Was No Haysced.

From "The Bill." Many years ago when London's and not the excursion facilities for getting into the country that they enjoy now, Charles, a sockney friend, was staying at a farmhouse and soon made himself at home. Charles with his pipe, was wandering round the farm, and he was looking at the old stables and the old barns. He was looking at the old stables and the old barns. He was looking at the old stables and the old barns.

Bull Terrier Held the Fort.

From the New York Herald. Registering at the Hotel Knickerbocker, several days ago, a man placed the bull terrier in charge of the baggage room porter. The dog was very friendly to the strangers, showing a "professional disposition and a wag of the tail" as the man said. Dog kennels are being built in the city, and the bull terrier is being used as a guard dog. The dog was very friendly to the strangers, showing a "professional disposition and a wag of the tail" as the man said.

SUFFRAGE FOR WOMEN

By John Temple Graves in New York American. The average man is distinctly growing weary of the noisy and intemperate agitation of a few women for the correction of some imaginary wrongs of the female sex and for the establishment of some purely hypothetical rights.

It is calculated to dissatisfy some wholesome and happy women, and disturb a civilization with which there is nothing materially the matter. The agitation is a half-century old, but its present expression is notable for incessant complaints against men and a continuous depreciation of the male sex both in the matter of its morals and its manners.

It is time now that some reciprocal frankness of expression should be exhibited to the ladies. And this not necessarily flatteringly, but essentially for information.

The advocates of woman suffrage are making several serious mistakes. First of all, they should understand that men do not hold the decision; they will never be willing to grant woman equal suffrage until woman shows a more united front in asking for it. It is a comparatively small proportion of the sex who are engaged in the present agitation. It is freely stated and generally believed that the number of women who oppose suffrage is vastly larger than those who favor it.

So long as the feminine majority opposes the new movement it is simply folly to ask men to give woman what she may not want for herself. Her energy is expended in abuse of men. The present aggressive movement of the women seems to recognize nothing as a goal. Men are failures everywhere, in all walks of life, public and private, and "slaves" everywhere. The women seem to be everywhere, in all walks of life, public and private, and "slaves" everywhere.

This is dangerous ground for woman. The sharp rivalry of the sexes in the ordinary avocations of life have recently blundered away much of the chivalric glamour which enshrined the woman, and street cars and elevators and the like have destroyed the chivalry which has debilitated knight-hood. If now the tongue of the termagant is to speak for the sex in this new struggle, there will surely be found a more effective and more effective.

Where Justice Is Given to State Universities.

From Annual Report of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. Several states now contribute annually $1,000,000 each to the support of their respective state universities, and this is a very large sum of money.

It is not to be expected, or desired, that the state colleges and universities of New England and the middle states will ever seek a closer relation to the state system of education. It is not unlikely, however, that the state colleges and universities of the South and West will do so.

A High Class Kicker.

From the London Telegraph. Sir Charles Glynne (speaking at a dinner) told of a young man he once heard of who was paying attention to a lady to the great disgust of her father, who estimated the committee's desirability to make, but, having made his statement, he will, if he be a wise man, throw the entire responsibility of making the state college as low as possible upon the legislature. His duty is done when his case is fairly and fully stated, on the whole this position is a far more dignified one than that of the college president who undertakes to solicit money from individuals.

Corrected.

KATE'S

ONE PRICE OUTFITTERS FOR MEN AND BOYS

Be particular. The man who uses good judgment and exercises critical care in the selection of the clothes he wears is well repaid in results. His appearance is always pleasing for his clothes are always in good taste. Whether his judgment is good or not if he will confine himself to Kuppenheimer clothes he is doubly sure that his selection will be good.

These clothes are designed to meet the demand for clothes of unusual quality, and are worn by the people who insist upon having garments of exceptional value.

You may not know what Kuppenheimer clothes offer you, you may never have investigated. You're really doing yourself an injustice if you do not see the spring models. Other people are wearing them in preference to high priced tailored made clothes and are doing so because they find them more satisfactory.

We guarantee every suit we sell. Guarantee that it will please you. Money back whenever you feel that you are entitled to it. That's the only way we sell them.

Talk to a man who wears them. Prices $17.50 to $27.00.

BY DAD

"These good times don't make me any money no matter how much business I do," remarked a local restaurateur. And then he went on to enumerate butter and eggs round the quart-pole; beef higher than the moon, where it jumped in nursery lore; flour too expensive for a biscuit shooter; to use in lieu of face powder; potatoes almost out of sight for the rich bugs, and a big square, farmer's meal still chucked up to him at two bits. A "ham and eggs" with accessories practically costs more than a 25 cent patron pays for it, to say nothing of the labor. At present ordinary prices the restaurateur business pegs about as much wealth as a by-dad column in a newspaper.

A pretty woman went into a St. Louis drugstore and wanted something to cure the "blues." The accommodating drug clerk put his arm around her and gave her a soul-kiss, which cost him $12.10 in police court. But she was "cured" and the clerk said he got the worth of his money. The DEMOCRAT, by dad, has a better and cheaper remedy for the blues than even an affinity hug and a soul-kiss.

A fashion note says that "hats and shoes must match," but it is not likely that many of the women will want to wear clothes baskets on their feet. Teddy seems to be killing more lions than he did tigers. Blisters on lily-white hands will be fashionable for a week or two.

Walter Wellman announces that he will this summer make another attempt to reach the north pole by means of an airship. This will be Wellman's third attempt and third failure. He will never get started.

The Wrights have sold the German government $125,000 worth of airship patents, which again shows that they are right.

The worst is yet to come. Poet Laureat Austin is said to be writing a poem on Roosevelt at Mombasa.

The Winside Tribune says "some gallant exchanges asked their readers to wear a white 'flour' in honor of their mothers." We fail to see where the "honor" comes in. In the good old days of our mothers the ladies used powder.

Because Dahlman was re-elected the Winside Tribune states that "booze and hell will reign supreme in Omaha" for three more years. The Tribune evidently knows just as much about Dahlman and Omaha as some fanatical preacher does about the liquor question.

A hair dressing expert says that "rats" and big hats make the hair fall out. Married men should steer clear of them.

The man who bet that Cole Younger would never reform is a winner. Cole has taken to the Chautauque circuit.

I heard a good story on Tom Bell in Winside last Saturday. Tom was accused of stealing a shovel from the Turner & Brenner elevator, the initials of the firm being burned into the handle. In his defense Tom stated that the shovel was his. "Of course it's my shovel," hissed Tom. "It is," that's my name, Tom Bell.

If you don't get a copy of the DEMOCRAT this week it is because some of our subscription books got "pled" in the move.

The ice man is now coming in for a share of the business. D. S. McVicker will no doubt have "ice to burn" if the summer doesn't make a hotter finish than it did a start.

A printing office that goes through a fire comes pretty nearly being a job for the devil.

This week the DEMOCRAT is holding forth in the old butcher shop building, but it isn't making a killing by the change.

The Norfolk Press feels keenly the right of the moon to be full, and Norfolk so dry.

Winside Tribune: A Boston young man is courting a young lady who is attending college in Wayne. This goes to show that love will find a way, it being surmised that the young lady cannot speak Bostonese or the young man English.

You have had enough such experience in such matters, Clyde, to know that "love will find a way" without words.

Mac Miller, so Tom Bell says, has quit quizzing small boys about certain family accomplishments.

"Hens are a great deal wiser than they look to be," comments a poultry journal. All we old married men can verify that statement without reservation, by dad.

The kidnapers will go slow and more certain after hearing Boyle's fate. It costs something to raise a child, but it's cheaper and easier than stealing them; and each and every one of them is worth $10,000 whether we have the money or not.

Lincoln, Nebraska, in order to be as much unlike Omaha as possible, deliberately goes dry. —Chicago Tribune.

And why not pray? —Lincoln Journal.

That's what you might as well continue doing.

Isn't it funny how Omaha can consider paying six millions of dollars for water works when the whole city goes water-bent for beer and boozerine?

Between Omaha and Lincoln Nebraska ought to get well advertised all over the world, although in neither case is it as creditable publicity as Bryan has given the state.

Of course it was no friend of the DEMOCRAT who was witty to remark that we were simply getting a touch of what was coming to be our future portion in the sweet by and by.

You can't, in the face of events of the week blame the DEMOCRAT for being on the "wet" side.

The DEMOCRAT will appreciate your orders for job printing and can give you prompt and careful attention.

Governor Carroll of Iowa wears a celluloid collar, and the democratic papers are giving him a linen shower because of it. Here in Nebraska some (Omaha) people kick because our governor is all sell-you-lies.

College Notes

Mr. Henry Raubach and wife of Creston visited at the College over Sunday. Mr. Raubach has been elected superintendent of the South Sioux City schools at a salary of $1100. He will spend the summer in Wayne.

The mid-term examinations are being held this week. Next week will occur the state examinations. These examinations make an endless amount of work, but that is what we are here for.

Deputy State Superintendent Perdue was here Thursday checking over the graduating classes. He expressed himself as having found everything highly satisfactory.

The Fun Making Seniors.

Despite the threatening clouds in the horizon last Tuesday evening was seen the jolly Seniors speeding upon their way amid a cloud of dust to the home of Marguerite and Richard Förbes. They first participated in a game of pit, in which Chas. Nicholas showed the calmness and foresight of a second Mr. Patten. After enjoying many other new games, music was rendered upon the piano by Bessie Marsteller and Charlotte Ziegler, followed by a few selections upon a violin by Ben McEachen, which lifted his auditors beyond the cares of this world, then he slowly let them down again and the music slowly died away. After indulging in a delicious repast they again enjoyed themselves with games and music after which the wee hours of morning forced them to take a loathful departure.

SCOTTS BLUFF IRRIGATED LAND

IS SELLING ON SIGHT.
A SUCCESSFUL SALE.

WHAT THE FIRST BUYER SAYS.
"I think it is the very best proposition I have seen anywhere in the West, and I have been all over the Ft. Collins and Greeley district."

WHAT ANOTHER BUYER SAYS.
"There is no question but that there is a great future for the Scotts Bluff country. I wouldn't have bought if I hadn't thought it was all right."

The first excursion to the famous Scotts Bluff irrigated lands has returned. Every member of the party is enthusiastic concerning the country, only four returning without buying, and these may buy later.

can take only a limited number on each trip, so if you want to join us on our next excursion, let us know at once so reservation can be made.

The following statement of sales speaks for itself 1840 acres were sold in the two days the party was there, for a total consideration of $138,200.00. No one bought over 180 acres. Most of the sales were 80 acres, with one or two of 40 acres.

Speculators not wanted. This land is for farmers. We want men who are looking for homes; men who will improve the land and either live on it or rent it.

The men who bought this land are not speculators but farmers, every one of them. They are from Eastern Nebraska and Western Iowa and few of them had seen irrigated land before. But they know good land when they see it and they realize that here is a great opportunity to secure splendid land at a low price.

We are offering the best irrigated land in Nebraska. Men who know say it equals and surpasses the land in the famous Greeley and Ft. Collins districts in Colorado, and the price is only a third to a half.

NEXT EXCURSION TUESDAY, MAY 18, '09

It is under one of the best, largest and most substantial irrigation ditches in the United States. Experts declare there is absolutely no danger of there ever being a shortage of water in the Scotts Bluff country.

These satisfied buyers are proof positive that the Scotts Bluff country is the coming farming district of Nebraska.

At the price we are offering this land and the exceptionally easy terms (only a fifth cash, balance one to ten years), it's the chance of a lifetime. A regular excursion will be run every two weeks. It's to your advantage to go early.

WHAT AN EXPERIENCED LAND MAN SAYS.
"The best proposition I ever saw."

WHAT THEY ALL SAY.
"I think it's all it is represented to be and more."

Mrs. Peters feels keenly the death of the girl to whom they were very much attached having been in the family for five years, as she was an orphan. Hoskins News

From the Headlight. Ernest Behmer, Sr., returned from Wayne Thursday evening, where he had been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Frevort.

Harry Scheffel, an old friend of Scott Deal, and Carl Hoehn, a brother of Mrs. Dr. Schemel, were over Sunday visitors in town from Randolph.

Word was received in town this morning that Carl Alberts, who lives between here and Winside, had died during the night. He had been sick for some time and the end was not unexpected.

Sunday it was found that Willie Lenser, who has been sick for sometime had the scarlet fever and Monday they were placed under temporary quarantine. Dr. Williams was summoned from Wayne Tuesday and stated that it had been scarlet fever but the patient was about well. The house was then fumigated and the quarantine lifted.

Mrs. Carl Jochens had the misfortune to fall down the cellar steps at their home one day last week, from which she received very severe bruises.

The sad news was received this morning that Herbert Zutz, of Norfolk the twenty year old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Zutz and a grandson of our townsman, Wm. Zutz, had died. The young man was a senior student at the Northwestern University of Watertown, Wis., and when he returned for his Christmas vacation he was sick. From this sickness he never recovered and together with rheumatism it caused his death. We join their many friends in extending the sincerest condolence.

I wonder if Teddy in his travels in Africa has the opportunity to witness such sand and dust storms as we have in Nebraska now days. Maybe he does not go near the Sahara desert.

Mrs. Fred Schroeder came home from the M. E. Hospital of Omaha last Friday where she underwent a severe operation. She is slowly recovering.

Frank Puls called at the C. Albert home one day last week to see Mr. Albert, who is very sick.

One of our prominent citizens has to put cold towels around his head. He sprained it trying to decide whether it is the smallness of the holes or the closeness of the wires that constitutes the efficacy of a window screen.

We owe a most humble apology to our readers and especially to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Benser for not chronicling the arrival of a fine baby boy at their place on May 3rd. But nevertheless the young postmaster is a dandy and as soon as he is large enough to read postal cards and lick stamps he will be a regular assistant. The next time this occurs, Frank, we promise faithfully not to be so absent-minded.

We took a trip to the county seat Saturday and found all lines of business in a live condition. Work on the magnificent new school building is progressing rapidly and it will be a beautiful structure when completed. Bro. Goldie was out in the country taking subscriptions for the "By Dad," but his foreman and angels were very busy in the office. The saloons closed promptly at 8 o'clock despite the fact that they had a "full house." We also saw the thirty ones from up the "dry line" shipping a supply home. The automobile rage is worse than ever this year and a great many of them appeared to be exceeding the speed limit by several miles an hour.

The fire department will hold their annual meeting next Tuesday evening, at 8:00 p. m.

"Cleaning Up Day" in Wayne was a great success, everybody taking an interest in the mayor's proclamation. No one was allowed to forget the day, for at 7 o'clock the bells all rang and the whistles blew with music enough to enthuse even the laggard and those who had not their cleaning all done went to work. Alleys were cleaned, lawns mowed and all the paper and rubbish picked up off the streets and around the culverts until now a stray piece of paper or stick tempts the passerby to pick it up. The fine new auto belonging to Mr. Way, which he had kindly loaned for the occasion, was completely covered with white bunting and chrysanthemums and in it rode Mrs. Maud Miller, queen of the fairies, surrounded by her attendants, Ida Kingsbury, Natalie Harrington, Helen Felber, Cyril Naffziger, and Walter Goldie, Jr., with Mr. Way as chauffeur. They were all dressed in white, the children carrying golden wands, the girls wearing wreaths and the boys fancy peaked caps. At four o'clock they made an inspection of the town. Autos belonging to Messrs. Ley, Vail and Matheny were filled with ladies dressed in white, who followed and formed a short procession.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Berry enjoyed a delightful house party the latter part of last week. The out-of-town guests were, Mr. and Mrs. John Berry and son Ray, Miss Emma Berry and Miss Barclay, all of Sioux City, and Mr. Nels Orcutt, father of Mrs. John Berry, of this city.

At the regular meeting of the R. U. A., there were two candidates initiated and instructed in the mysteries of the order. After the session a May social was held, which had been prepared and arranged by Neighbors Schroer and Madden. Neat cards with a tiny pencil attached, and the definitions of fifteen flowers written on one side, and space for the answers on the other, were passed around; then we were given ten minutes to guess the names of the flowers. An angel food cake beautifully decorated with flowers, was carried off as first prize by Neighbor Foster, for guessing the largest number. Miss Emma Nissen, one of the candidates, booby prize, a lovely little May basket filled with cut flowers. All expressed an enjoyable evening.

GOVERNMENT ANSWERS WALSH'S CLEMENCY PLEA

Chicago, May 11.—Arguments of the government in opposition to the attempt of John R. Walsh, under sentence of five years imprisonment for alleged misapplication of the funds of the Chicago National bank, to obtain freedom on appeal to the United States circuit court of appeals, are contained in the brief filed today by Assistant District Attorney Dobyns in reply to the clemency plea of counsel for the defendant a month ago.

The Walsh banks, the Chicago National, the Equitable Trust company and the Chicago Savings, closed their doors December 23, 1909. Walsh was indicted two years later on 128 counts. A year later the case came to trial in the United States district court and a verdict finding defendant guilty on 54 counts was returned.

Judge Anderson sentenced Walsh to five years at Fort Leavenworth. The appeal followed.

Arguments will be heard by Judge Grosscup, Baker and Seaman last week in the month.

It is said the Walsh failure, caused losses to himself, stockholders and others aggregating $1,000,000.

Counsel for Walsh pleaded in their brief that the loans made by Walsh and his purchase of bonds of his own railroad with the bank's money were for the benefit of the bank and without loss to the bank.

"That counsel should seriously make such statement of fact to this court," reads the brief, "can be explained only by the necessities of the case. We contend that the following facts were established by the overwhelming weight of the evidence.

Bank Failure.

"That on December 18, 1909, the Chicago National bank was insolvent and while paying dividends at the rate of 15 per cent annually, although it was a going concern, that the notes made the subject of certain judgments rendered of a kind absolutely unknown to honest banking; that they were secured by bonds that were unmarketable and of little or no value; that the notes were never paid; that they belonged to a class of transactions that was a chief factor in the destruction of the bank and in causing a loss to the stockholders; that the notes were made of stock; that these loans were made in utter disregard to the interests of the bank for the sole benefit and advantage of the defendant; that the personal enterprises, that the defendant had entered into, were such as to cause the notes were used as alleged in the indictment; that the bond purchases which are the subject of criminal charges were not made in the ordinary course of business; that these bonds were unmarketable and worthless as bank assets; that they contributed to the destruction of the bank and to the loss of the stockholders."

Walsh's Method.

"Mr. Walsh," says the brief, "was engaged in the promotion of a large number of struggling enterprises which were in desperate need of funds. Generally speaking, the notes were made for him. He would learn of some enterprise that was bankrupt or about to go into bankruptcy and he would purchase it at a low price. He would then organize a new enterprise, taking in payment the capital stock of the new corporation and a sufficient number of bonds which at their face value would make the enterprise worth the price originally paid for the property. If the enterprise was successful Mr. Walsh made the profit and the bank got its interest. When the enterprise did fail, Mr. Walsh lost nothing and the bank lost the amount of the investment.

"When the banks closed Mr. Walsh made the profit and the bank got its interest. When the enterprise did fail, Mr. Walsh lost nothing and the bank lost the amount of the investment.

"When the banks closed Mr. Walsh made the profit and the bank got its interest. When the enterprise did fail, Mr. Walsh lost nothing and the bank lost the amount of the investment.

MRS. BOYLE CONVICTED OF AIDING KIDNAPER

Mercer, Pa., May 11.—The jury in the trial of Mrs. James H. Boyle returned a verdict of guilty as indicted for aiding and abetting the kidnaping of her son, Billy.

The second count charged her with aiding and abetting the kidnaping. Manifesting the same stoical indifference to her fate, which has characterized her in the past, Mrs. Boyle, sat immovable as the jury returned its verdict. A heavy veil which she has worn throughout the trial covered her features, so that it could not be seen whether her color changed, but there was not a movement of her body to indicate that she so much as heard her doom pronounced. Her indifference was contrasted with the fact that it has been during preceding portions of the trial.

The courtroom was crowded almost to suffocation when the jury filed in at 1:30 p. m. The foreman said they had agreed. The judge warned that any demonstration would be tolerated and the verdict was read in silence.

The jury reached a verdict on the first count by a vote of 11 to 1. The jury adjourned, however, until 1:30 in the afternoon and the verdict could not be reported until that time.

Addresses Are Made.

The address of Judge Miller, counsel for Mrs. Boyle, was read. He began at 2:30 o'clock. He presented to the court eight points of law which he asked to have submitted to the jury. In the first place, he asked that Mrs. Boyle be convicted of no overt act in a crime could only be punished in the jurisdiction where it was committed and that in the pending case there had been no testimony to show that Mrs. Boyle had committed any overt act in Mercer county in connection with the abduction of the Whitla boy. Instructions to the jury to bring in a verdict of guilty were refused.

Judge Miller intimated that powerful influences were velle, referring to the suppression of the efforts of the Boyle to bring into the case the name of the boy.

Judge Miller's address occupied an hour and he was followed by Quincy Adams Gordon for the prosecution.

Blames Some Other Women.

On her way to jail after her conviction, Mrs. Boyle was met by a woman who said she had been convicted to satisfy the venom and jealousy of some Mercer women.

"I have been a plain girl," she said, "these same women would have pitied me. If the jury had acquitted me I believe these women would have tarred and feathered me. A sacrifice had to be made for the sake of the boy. I am sure we will do the talking and the people will know upon whom the blame should fall."

She said that Boyle brought the boy to her at Cleveland, that carried off, was kind to him, entertained him. I never asked why he was there; never asked where Jimmie got him. He gave me a check for $100,000. I did not know for a few days and did not know that is a crime there are millions of wives waiting to be convicted.

"I tried to make this explanation yesterday, but they would not listen to me. They won't be able to choke me out."

KISS CURED "BLUES," MADE HER ANGRY

St. Louis, May 10.—Asked to prescribe treatment for a case of the blues, Druggist John T. Rutledge gave Mrs. Elsie Dusen a kiss. It cured the blues, but it brought on a bad temper, high strikes and resulted in a fine of $1 and $11.10 costs being levied on Rutledge.

Mrs. Dusen, according to her story to Justice Campbell, was mired deep in the slough of despond when she went to the drug store.

"I have a terrible case of the blues," she told Rutledge. "Can't you give me something to cure them?"

Mr. Rutledge was behind the counter. He looked over at Mrs. Dusen's sparkling eyes, and a daring thought crossed his mind.

"Certainly, Mrs. Dusen, I can give you something to cure your case of the blues," he said, as he walked around her and kissed her on the cheek.

Before the astonished customer realized what the remedy was to be Mr. Rutledge, according to his confession to Justice Campbell, slipped his arms around her waist, gave her a rousing hug, and at the same time planted a near-soul kiss upon her cherry lips.

"I am not sure my prescription cured Mrs. Dusen's blues, but it certainly paid over the $12.10 to the clerk of the court, but I certainly got the worth of my money."

AIR CUSHION CHECKS BULLET; AVERTS SUICIDE

St. Louis, May 10.—A cushion of air that saved her life was formed by the pressure of the wind against the head of a stenographer, 28 years old, tried to commit suicide by shooting herself with a revolver in the back of her head.

The muzzle of the revolver was pushed against the middle of her forehead just below the hair, and she fired. The bullet checked the air in the barrel of the weapon, driven forward when she pulled the trigger, and it did not enter the head.

The bullet was found against the bone. It was flattened to the shape of a 5-cent piece.

Miss Geiger was rendered unconscious by the shock. It is believed that she will recover.

HEROIC WOMEN CARING FOR WOUNDED HUNDREDS

Adana, Asiatic Turkey, Wednesday, April 28.—By messenger to Constantinople, May 10.—The news of the accession to the Turkish throne of Mehmed V., which reached here yesterday, was greeted with a great outburst of wild and wild rejoicing. The demonstration began with the firing of cannon from the barracks, and there was general shooting in the air from all parts of the city for more than an hour.

Mrs. Daughy-Wylie, the wife of the British consul at Adana, has taken charge of the hospital for wounded men that is being built near the railroad station. The wounded women are being cared for in the school building under the charge of Miss Wallis, an English nurse. Mrs. Daughy-Wylie and Miss Wallis have 400 wounded persons to care for.

WOMAN THREATENS TO GIVE THE REAL DEAL AWAY

Mercer, Pa., May 11.—The penitentiary would kill me in ten or 10 days and rather than submit to this I would take the Dutch route," said Mrs. Boyle today. Like her husband, she has been brought out in the morning of her husband regarding the kidnaping of "Billy" Whitla.

Jimmie and she are sent to the penitentiary. She said she will not give in. Others will go with us or join us soon there. Half the truth has not yet been told in this case. One other matter that I would like to see cleared up is being arrested. I am willing to go for any crime I may have committed, but there is no evidence that I have been mixed up in this case and rather than suffer injustice from the court, I will quit this earth and take justice from my maker."

LONGFELLOW STATUE IS UNVEILED AT CAPITAL

Washington, D. C., May 11.—The nations of the world through their diplomatic representatives joined with America in paying tribute to Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, whose statue was unveiled at the national capitol today. The unveiling was a grand affair, with a number of the nation's dignitaries assembled to honor the life and memory of the poet, in addition to the members of the diplomatic corps were Attorney General Wickersham, the personal representative of President Taft, and the representatives of the many of the descendants of Longfellow.

A feature of the exercises was that the unveiling of the poet, Mrs. Charles Thompson, of Cambridge, Mass., pulled the silken cord which unveiled the statue.

GLOSE CALL FOR TWO RAILROAD OFFICIALS

Private Car Burns While Two Officers of Pennsylvania Are Asleep

Fort Wayne, Ind., May 10.—First Vice President Joseph Wood and Third Vice President J. J. Turner, of the Pennsylvania railroad, had a narrow escape from death when their private car caught fire and was burning fiercely this morning while the occupants were asleep. The car was on its way to Davis Station and allowed to burn. Mr. Turner was painfully injured.

Mr. Turner, occupying a compartment near the center of the car, awoke by the heat and the shouts of his companions, opened the corridor door, only to find his exit blocked by the flames. He promptly turned to the window and smashed the glass with his fist, but the heat was too intense and he refused to budge. The train, answering Mr. Wood's signals with prodigious jerks, which alarmed the passengers, started on its way. The burning car was then shunted onto a siding and left to its fate. The fire is believed to have been due to crossed electric wires.

JUDGE TAKES OCCASION TO MAKE REPLY TO MURPHY'S MOVE FOR IMPEACHMENT

Kansas City, Mo., May 10.—Judge Smith McPherson, in the circuit court here, continued in force the temporary injunction recently granted by Judge John F. Phillips, restraining Siebert Jones, circuit attorney of St. Louis, from prosecuting the suit filed by him in the circuit court of that city seeking to restrain the railroads of Missouri from charging a 3 cent passenger fare. No other case was included in the injunctive order, which is "to remain in force" until differently ordered by the court.

Judge McPherson prefaced his decision with a statement referring indirectly to Representative Murphy's resolution in congress. He said he knew a year ago that the trial of the Missouri case would be a long one, and that it would do him no personal good. "I could see at that time," he said, "that whatever the result might be would get few compliments, no thanks, but great criticism, accompanied by abuse. But I have never had the slightest thought of running away from the case. I am confident I can prove my case, and do not intend to run away now. I have the kindest feelings for the attorneys on both sides, but I do not think it proper for counsel to come in here in this proceeding and state that my final decree was too broad."

Will Take Appeal.

Jefferson City, Mo., May 10.—Governor Hadley last night in an interview with the press, said that he would not from the decision of Judge McPherson.

SCORES ARE INJURED BY FALLING BALCONY

Seattle, Wash., May 10.—None of the persons injured in last night's accident during an athletic meet in the city, but a Guard armory is dead, but the condition of Captain Maurice W. Thompson, assistant adjutant general of the state of Washington, and of Judge J. J. Campbell, is not known.

The armory, a huge building, had just been completed, but had not been formally accepted by the state, and was being used for the first time, the occasion being a boxing meet, in which the most prominent amateur athletes of the northwest were entered.

The audience was very large and the balcony was crowded. There was keen interest when the 10-mile marathon runners came out, and when this contest was drawing to its finish, with F. J. Jackson, of Portland, running strong in the stretch, Jackson just a yard ahead, the spectators in the balcony, wildly excited, crowded against the railing, tripping that served as the only support around the balcony. The whole east railing swayed outward and snapped.

Chaos in Rush.

The center gave way first, but an instant later the whole railing, 40 yards long, went down, and scores of people fell onto the heads of the crowd below. Then in a moment a rush to the door was begun, and there was chaos. The crowd, in a moment, was rolling and tossing in agony, fighting to their feet, many dropping back with limbs broken or blood pouring from wounds on head and face, and spreading over the floor planks. The shrieks and shrill screams went up all over the hall.

From the armory, there began immediately a stampede of men and women to the outside. But many who had suddenly missed friend or relative from their side, stayed to run blindly from the group to the other, trying to find the family.

Insane From Fright.

The runners had finished between two solid lanes of spectators and many of these were badly shaken and knocked about and trampled on in the wild and aimless rush. Some were seriously injured, and many were temporarily insane from fright and the sight of streaming blood.

Jackson and Crabbe, the runners, each had a slight bruise on the back of the head, though neither was seriously hurt. A dozen physicians were in the audience and they with the athletes and guardsmen took charge of the situation so that order was restored.

The Injured.

Aid was given to the injured and the sufferers were taken to their homes or hospital. Captain Thompson and his wife are at the hospital. The captain suffered injuries to his back. His wife is being cared for at the hospital. One of the most seriously hurt is the wife of a hardware merchant. Others seriously injured are:

William Duhamel, leg broken.
Cecil H. Hays, leg broken.
Gustave Havers, secretary Seattle Horse Show association, back strained.
Ross E. Bibber, leg bruised.
Dr. C. A. Rutherford, ankle broken.
An English nurse, Mrs. Wylie, was injured by the fall of the balcony.
Miss Wallis, secretary of the state university, City Superintendent of Buildings, Francis W. Grant says the opening of the building before the accident was in violation of the law. The building was put up most improperly, Mr. Grant says.

John Murray, a bricklayer, and C. L. Johnson, who suffers internal injuries, are reported to be fatally hurt.

ARREST "BLACK HAND" MEN IN MINNESOTA

Duluth, May 10.—Charged with robbery, blackmail and murder, four alleged members of the "Black Hand" society, who, part of the time at least, have made their headquarters in Duluth, have been rounded up by William H. Dean, inspector in charge of the Duluth police. The men are being held in jail at Grand Rapids.

The government officers discovered that there is an organized branch of the Black Hand working in northern Minnesota and along the Canadian border. Its operations are being principally confined to the smaller towns because of fear of the police in larger cities.

Three of the men, Francisco Tino, Mike Massolino and Domingo "Apple" are in jail at Grand Rapids.

Speculators had anticipated a small decrease in acreage and considerable improvement in the condition of the crop and under early selling, mostly by the government, prices of futures dropped down an extreme of 14c in December to 2 1/2c in July, from the best price of the forenoon.

The government report showing a decrease in acreage and a slight betterment in the condition caused a sharp buying rally under which the market advanced to the best price of the day at Grand Rapids.

Activity was especially noted in the new crop months, September and December, the former rising to $1.07 and the latter to $1.05.

The market advanced sharply in the publication of the crop report. December wheat closed 3 1/2c over yesterday's price at $1.07 1/2. July wheat advanced to $1.21 1/2. The market advanced to $1.21 1/2. July wheat advanced to $1.21 1/2. The market advanced to $1.21 1/2.

BULLISH REPORT ON CROPS CAUSES RALLY IN WHEAT

Washington, May 10.—Average condition of 83.5 per cent for winter wheat and 83.1 for rye on May 1 last, against 82.1 and 81.1 respectively on May 1, 1908. This as well as other recent purchases of coal mines and measures in Illinois and Indiana by the steel trust is ascribed to an intent to provide a practically inexhaustible supply of fuel for the great steel producing plants of the corporation at Gary, Hammond, and South Chicago.

The area of winter wheat to be harvested in 1909, based on the area harvested in 1908, and 2,163,000 acres, or 7.2 per cent less than the area sown last year.

The average condition of winter wheat a month ago was 82.2 and a year ago 89 per cent. Rye averaged 87.2 a month ago and 80.3 on May 1, 1908.

The average condition on May 1 last was 83.5 per cent. Rye averaged 81.1 and 80.1 respectively of certain states for winter wheat and the same respectively for rye, 88 and 90.

Illinois—Winter wheat, 78 and 86; Rye, 80 and 90.

Oklahoma—Winter wheat, 81 and 87; Rye, 85 and 86.

The average condition of meadow (hay) lands on May 1 was 84.5 compared with 98.5 on May 1, 1908, and a 10-year average on May 1 of 89.5.

The average condition of pastures on May 1 was 80.1 compared with 92.6 on May 1, 1908, and a 10-year average on May 1 of 88.0; 64.1 per cent of spring growing is completed up to May 1 compared with 66.6 on May 1, 1908, and a 10-year average on May 1 of 66.4 per cent; 51.7 per cent of spring growing was completed up to May 1 compared with 51.7 on May 1, 1908, and a 10-year average on May 1 of 51.7 per cent, respectively.

The percentage of winter wheat planted was 70 per cent.

Speculators had anticipated a small decrease in acreage and considerable improvement in the condition of the crop and under early selling, mostly by the government, prices of futures dropped down an extreme of 14c in December to 2 1/2c in July, from the best price of the forenoon.

The government report showing a decrease in acreage and a slight betterment in the condition caused a sharp buying rally under which the market advanced to the best price of the day at Grand Rapids

PUT IT TO THE TEST—The republican party has long boasted of being the party of "God and morality;" it has had the support of a large majority of the ministers and religious papers, and it has constantly charged the democratic party with being an ally of the saloon and in league with lawlessness. The time has come to put it to the test.

The republican party is in absolute control of the federal government. It has the president, the senate and the house. It can pass any laws that it wants to pass and repeal any laws that it wants to repeal. The federal government is today issuing licenses for the sale of liquor in territory where the local authorities have prohibited the sale. In several states the sale of liquor is prohibited by statute, in a number of states its sale is prohibited in a majority of counties, and in all of the states it is prohibited in many villages, towns, cities and precincts. But in spite of the attempt of local authorities in these districts to prohibit the sale of liquor as a beverage, the federal government continues to issue licenses in contemptuous disregard of local sentiment and local law. The government receives $25 for each license, and in receiving the money it must either intend to collect that sum without giving anything valuable in return (in case the one receiving the license does not sell liquor to encourage the one receiving) the license to violate the local law, for he can not use his license without violating the law. Can the federal government afford to continue a partner with the lawbreakers? Can any party afford to longer legalize this partnership.

A democrat, believing in local self-government, and in the right of each community to attend to its own affairs, can consistently oppose the action of the federal government in thus overriding the laws of states, counties and communities.

It matters not whether a person favors prohibition or opposes it, he ought to be in favor of the enforcement of law whether that law suits him or not. Popular government rests upon respect for law, and nothing is more calculated to cultivate disrespect for law than this action of the federal government in not only ignoring the wishes of the people in various localities, but in actually reaping a profit from the issue of licenses which stimulated law-breaking.

Now, while the tariff bill is before congress, it will be an opportune time for the democrats to propose an amendment to the internal revenue part of the Payne bill prohibiting the issuing of federal licenses for the sale of liquor in states, counties or communities where the sale is locally prohibited.

Let the fight be in the open, and a majority of the voters will be found on the side of law and order whether they believe in the regulation of the liquor traffic by license or in its entire prohibition.—W. J. Bryson.

S. H. Alexander, who spent a few days here the past week on his way east, is feeling very optimistic over the outlook for King Solomon this summer, and says he believes it will be the big year for the company and that the next six months work on the tunnel and drifts on the veins will get results that will eclipse all that has been done before.

He said that the general outlook for business surpassed anything heretofore in the history of the company and that a great many bankers, farmers and business men of a conservative nature who had been backward about investing in the start were now taking hold of the proposition in dead earnest and a number of bankers who would not consider it at all two years ago had gone out recently, made a thorough inspection of the property with competent engineers, getting their own samples of ore from different veins, both on the surface and in the tunnel, and after getting their own assays and inspecting their mines as well as other mining camps, have been so thoroughly convinced that the King Solomon is bound to be a big paying mine that they have invested all the way from $10,000.00 to $30,000.

It is a very noticeable fact that all who visit the property are exceedingly well pleased, which fact is attested by the way they buy stock, and a great many are planning on visiting this property this summer.

In giving a summary of what had been accomplished, Mr. Alexander, reviewed the work from the inception of the King Solomon company when he made his initial trip and found the property composed of ten mineral claims with a tunnel which had been driven one hundred feet by hand and nothing in the way of machinery on the ground.

Since that they have acquired over five times the amount of property covering a distance of nearly two miles in length and from a third to a half mile in width, and all of this without additional cost to the stockholders.

They have erected the finest plant of machinery in the county; have put in side tracks from the main line of railroad, and have driven the tunnel straight into the mountain through solid granite for over half a mile having recently passed the 2700 foot point, together with a quarter of a mile of drifts on the ten veins which have been opened by the tunnel, giving them three-quarters of a mile of underground work so today the King Solomon stands along side with the big enterprises of the state.

Mr. Alexander made the remark that sometimes the casual observer, unfamiliar with mines and mining conditions, wondered why if the King Solomon had so many veins opened that they didn't go right to work shoveling out ore and paying their way. In reply he said, "that if such a person would visit the largest mines in the United States and talk with the superintendent and mining men their ideas of handling mines and operating them would soon be exploded."

It would be disastrous to any mine to begin pulling out their reserve and wasting their mill ore before they get sufficient amount blocked to keep a mill supplied night and day.

It is an undisputed fact that the Consolidated mine had several millions of dollars worth of ore in sight two years ago, yet they did not ship a ton of it until they had everything in readiness to keep the wheels turning night and day, which was this spring and now they are turning out ore at the rate of $14,000,000 annually, and their stock is worth several dollars a share, and one of Wayne's progressive business men is a stockholder in that company.

The King Solomon is making as good time and getting as good results as did the Newhouse or Yak tunnels or the Consolidated mine which after seven or eight years of hard work stand today as monuments of splendid investments.

Mr. Alexander and Mr. King as well as other faithful workers are devoting their entire time to the interests of the King Solomon stockholders and will continue to do so until every stockholder has been amply repaid in good size dividends.
