

THE NEBRASKA DEMOCRAT.

ESTABLISHED 1884

WAYNE, WAYNE CO., NEBRASKA, AUGUST 19, 1909

$1.50 PER YEAR

BROWNE

Kodak Pictures

Are Worth While

Brownies $1.00 to $12.00

Anybody can Kodak--simple, easy, no dark-room for any part of the work

JONES' Book Store

Every Man

who shaves himself will appreciate

CUTICREAM

It is excellent for massage. Removes all the soap from the pores of the skin and takes away that unpleasant stiff feeling.

FOR SALE ONLY AT

Felber's Pharmacy

The Drug Store of Quality."

Wayne, Nebraska

For Shore or Mountain

rough walking anywhere in fact you'll find nothing so conducive to comfort as the CROSSETT'S of which we have a great many pairs in many sizes for the outfitting of men, women, boys, misses and youths for outing delights. Prices range from $3.00 to $5.00. Examine this capital shoe.

25 per cent Discount on Ladies' Waists

Our new line of fall Skirts are just in.

Jeffries Shoe Company

For Cool, Refreshing Summer Drinks

GO TO

Leahy's DRUG STORE

Coolest, Cleanest Room in Town

HOME MADE PURE ICE CREAM

Sundaes	Sodas	Phosphates
Grape Juice	Lemonade	Egg Drinks
Try a Club House Sundae

We serve the best Ice Cream that skill, experience and good material can produce. You can buy it by the dish, pint, quart, gallon or larger quantity. We appreciate your patronage. Always pleased to have you call.

Phone 143

J. T. LEAHY

John Robinson's Philosophy

Late Congressman from 3rd District Showed Real Bravery

The following article appearing in the Western Medical Review was written by Dr. J. H. Mackay of Norfolk, and describes the scene at the deathbed of the late John S. Robinson, of Madison, formerly congressman from the Third District of Nebraska, says the Norfolk News.

Whatever may be our views regarding the future life, few persons in full possession of their faculties can face impending dissolution with equanimity. The aged may philosophically welcome death, weary of a life of suffering. Not so with persons in middle life, surrounded by family and friends, honors and emoluments. The bravest person in the face of impending dissolution ever seen or known by the writer, was a man in the forties, once a member of the national house of representatives, who was stricken with perforative appendicitis and died in less than three days. A noted surgeon saw him, declined to operate, and advised ice bags. Some hours later one of the medical attendants came to the room and the patient, holding out his hand, said: "Well, doctor, we have fought the battle—and lost. Is there need of keeping this ice on longer?" On being told in the negative he said: "Nurse, take this ice away." His family and friends were called to his bedside, and he gave each one goodbye with a shake of the hand. He noted his symptoms and remarked that his fingers were getting cold, that they felt numb, and finally said his eyesight was getting dim, told his wife that he could not see her any more, but could feel her hand, and presently with a gurgle expired. Not a tear, nor a word of regret, hardly a tremor in his voice as he said the words of the last farewell. He had lived the life of a philosopher, and he died as one.

In the Home

Of particular interest to the ladies is this new Aldrich tariff law, which two senators from Nebraska helped the tariff trustees to fasten upon the shoulders of the people. The Telegram has been making a study of the effect this new law will have upon the home life of the people, and that study shows that the tax upon the home is increased all along the line. In the new bill there is no provision to increase the salary of the man who works, but there are scores of items to make it more difficult for his wife to maintain the home on the old salary. We have a friend who has made a better study of the bill than we have had opportunity to make, and perhaps we had better quote him. That friend is Editor Hubner, of the Nebraska City News. He is a walking bureau of information on the tariff question. Discussing the effect of the Aldrich bill upon the housewife Hubner says:

"When she goes to prepare breakfast she will notice that the beef trust has not been injured in the least, but when it comes to sugar it is a different question. A family of five uses on an average of about four hundred pounds a year; it costs two cents a pound more here than elsewhere, so that is $8 gone. Lemons are advanced 40 per cent, and figs, dates, pineapples, etc., have also been given a good boost; Shoes will not be of as good quality, because of the advance in price, but Milady will be angry when it comes to stockings and cotton clothing. Stockings retailing at twenty-five cents a pair will pay a duty of seven cents a pair, which will tilt the price, after they have passed through the hands of the retailers, to about thirty-five cents per pair. Milady wants a piece of mercerized cotton cloth, selling at wholesale at fifteen and one half cents per yard, and to benefit the New England manufacturers the duty has been advanced 80 per cent. This adding about seven cents per yard. The woolen trust has such a close grasp on the people that it is useless to attempt to tell how much of a rake-off they have under the new bill. The American sheep supply only wool enough to provide each person a suit of clothes every three years, but they manage to keep out all competition, and her goods are nearly doubled in cost, but not in value. When she goes to the clothing store she will find that her husband's $15 winter suit pays $5.64 tariff tax. His $15 winter coat pays the same rate. He could get better clothes for $10 if it wasn't for the tariff tax. Milady's daughters are fond of pretty hair ribbons, jewelry, etc., but on these they will pay an advanced price, and silks are also tilted. With her linens, Mr. Aldrich was very considerate, as the price has only been increased from 35 to 45 per cent, but her soaps, cosmetics, china service, and a whole lot of other things she will pay an advanced price. The tariff has been increased upward instead of downward at a rate of from 50 to 75 per cent, so the common man on a salary can now begin to retrench."

Think it over ladies, and then make your husbands explain to you what they mean when they tell you that the foreigner pays the tariff tax.—Columbus Telegram.

For Sale

Fourteen (14) lots on College Hill, small house, small young orchard, good cistern, and some other improvements. Just the place for chickens, pigs and small fruit.—E. B. Sherman, Phone 328.

Go to Walthill August 23-28

Miss Amanda Clement, the famous lady umpire, has been secured to officiate at the baseball games during the week. There will be six of these teams. The Bancroft, Lyons, Rosalie and Walthill teams will play. The Indian team will be in championship form.

"Farmer" Burns, once champion of the world, will wrestle with G. A. Taylor of Burke, S. D., on Friday of the carnival week.

Walthill holds the record of big, fat pow-wows and for the big crowds.

Sholes News

Warren Closson was transacting business in Sioux City last Friday.

E. W. Closson was in Omaha on business Saturday.

Asher Hurlbert returned from Boyd county last Friday, where he had been looking for land.

Mrs. Asher Hurlbert is expected home in a few days from St. Joseph's hospital at Sioux City, where she underwent an operation for gall stones, three weeks ago.

John Jackson is building a fine new residence in Sholes. Many are wondering who the lucky housekeeper will be, but Warren Closson says that John can be heard daily singing. When Springtime comes gentle Annie.

Asher Hurlbert purchased a car load of fine mares on the Sioux City market last Friday. They are certainly fine.

Notice to School Patrons

Provision has been made whereby the boy, of grades 6, 7, 8 and 9, of our public schools, will be given an opportunity to take manual training at the Normal College, under the instruction of Prof. Hunter.

It is essential that the college authorities know how many of the boys, of the above named grades, will take the manual training work and for the purpose of determining this I kindly request all the boys, who will be in these grades, to call at my house (just east of the new school building) at 9 a. m. on Saturday, Aug. 21, 1909.—J. H. Kemp, Sup't.

Local News

You want to clean house soon. Better engage Leonard Liedecker ahead of time as they are all after him when the rush comes.

G. W. Suhr was a passenger to Blair yesterday.

D. A. Jones left yesterday morning on a trip through Colorado.

F. A. Berry and W. H. Gildersleeve were in Sioux City yesterday.

The sewer machine is an object of great interest these days. The big machine moves right along, elevating the dirt from a clean cut ditch as deep as twenty feet where that depth is desired. It is working in the alleys near the B. F. Feather residence.

Wanted—Girl for general house work. Phone Ed. Owen farm—Mrs. Oscar Lewis.

Ed. Fork of Carroll returned Tuesday night from Chicago where he was called to attend the funeral of his father.

J. H. Wright came over from Dixon Tuesday evening and is moving the Philo barn at the rear of the Democrat to lots north of the court house where it will be reconstructed into a dwelling.

N. B. Cullen now of New Castle, was a Tuesday night passenger to Winona to visit his mother and brothers, E. W. and Joseph.

Mrs. Chas. Madden and Mrs. L. H. Eaton left Wednesday for Alexandria, and Brookings, S. D. to visit their sister, Mrs. C. S. Welch and brother, M. McRae.

The Interstate Live Stock Fair Association believes in plenty of music, for the week of Sept. 20 it will have the world-famed band of Liberati, the great Italian music master, and Reed's Fourth Regiment Band of Sioux City, Iowa.

A daughter arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Noakes Monday, and Elmer will get over it by and by.

Miss Carrie Stringer returned to Lincoln yesterday.

Mrs. Henry Ferrell suffered an operation for appendicitis at the Samaritan hospital at Sioux City last Monday, from which she is recovering nicely.

Mr. Otto Sorenson was in Emerson Sunday.

The Misses Merrill and Nieland left Sunday morning for Council Bluffs.

"Hello, Central! Give me Whalen's where they make the best ice cream in the state."

Geo. Miller is visiting Wayne relatives.

Miss Jennie Mines, a sister of J. G., and Miss Uhling, her friend, were the guests at the Mines home from Sunday until this morning when they left for their home in Philadelphia. The ladies were on a special train carrying some 150 easterners who had made a ten thousand mile tour through the west.

Conductor Adair has been taking a lay off the past two weeks, genial ticket puncher Hopkins taking the place.

Rob. Armstrong was a passenger to Sioux City Tuesday.

Ben Elliott got home from Denver Tuesday.

Geo. Warner, for over two years with Jas. Ahern, is now out of a job and went to Sioux City Monday to hustle up another one. George says the two

Here's the Reason Until Saturday, Aug. 28

We will make very special prices on undermuslins for the following reasons:

You do not care to come out trading in this kind of weather unless you can benefit greatly by it and we would rather take a severe loss now and invest the proceeds in fall goods than to carry this merchandise over. We feel that the stock is complete enough that the matter of selection will be easy for you.

Price 1-3 Off until Saturday Aug. 28

25c garments for	17c	$1.00 garments for	67c
50c garments for	34c	$1.50 garments for	$1.00
75c garments for	50c	$2.50 garments for	$1.67

See the display in our South window.

New Fall Skirts

Several arrivals in the new Fall Skirts will be in stock ready for your inspection before the last of this week. Come and see them and you will be sure to appreciate the merit of this line of Buckingham skirts.

Orr & Morris Co.

Phone 247
Wayne, Nebr.

Delicate Skins

Which are easily roughened and irritated by exposure to extremes of weather, become velvety and smooth when

Brookside Violet Talcum

Is used. It is healing and protective, and gives a healthy skin with its natural color. An excellent application after shaving.

A Magnificent Powder in a Magnificent Can. ONLY 25c.

FOR SALE ONLY BY Raymond's Drug Store

Wayne, Nebraska

Theodore Mildner

Fred Eickhoff

The Champion Well Makers of Wayne County, Nebraska.

The above gentlemen have a record that is hard to beat when it comes to digging wells, caves, cisterns, cess pools or cellars. All work is done well—particularly the well work—and their prices are as modest and unassuming as their faces. Call upon Eickhoff & Mildner if you have any dirty work to do.

Baseball Tournament

September 2d and 3d

Norfolk,
Bloomfield,
Walthill Indians,
Wayne.

$250.00 IN PRIZES

THE CRYSTAL THEATRE

Changes Pictures

Mondays, Wednesdays

and Fridays

TWO SHOWS

Evening begins at 8 and 9

Matinee Saturday

at 3:00 p. m.

ILLUSTRATED SONGS

Admission 10c

Best Pictures money can get

J. Lester, Mgr.

THE WILD GEESE

BY Stanley J. Weyman.

Copyright, 1900, by Stanley J. Weyman.

CHAPTER I.

ON BOARD THE CORMORANT SLOOP.

Midway in that period of Ireland's history during which, according to historians, the distressful country had none—to be more precise, on a spring morning early in the 18th century, and the reign of George the First, a sloop of 100 tons burthen was beached up Dingle Bay in a teeth-chilling easterly breeze. The sun was two hours high, and the gray expanse of the bay was flecked with the white horses hurrying seawards in haste to leap upon the Blaskets, or to disport themselves in the field of ocean. From the heaving deck of the vessel the mountains that had been so bravely visible to the northward had disappeared, and the southern rampart, the former sunlit, with patches of moss gleaming like emeralds on its breast, the latter dark and melancholy, clothed in the midst of tradition and fancy that in those days garbed so much of Ireland's bog and hill.

The sloop had missed the tide, and, close hauled to the wind, rode deep in the chop, lashing little way with each tack. The breeze hummed through the rigging. The man at the helm humped a shoulder to the sting of the spray, and the rest of the crew, seven or eight in number—tarry, pigtailed, outlandish and merrily dressed under the windward sail. The skipper was on the deck of the skylight, oblivious alike of the weather and his difficulties, his eyes fixed on his neighbor, in wondering admiration.

"Never!" he murmured, respectfully.

"Never!" his companion answered.

"My birth," Captain Augustin rejoined. "We were born between a Frenchman and an Irishman. For 20 years he had carried wine to Ireland, and returned laden with wool to Bordeaux or Fadiz. He knew every inlet between Achill Sound and the Head of Kinsale, and was so far a Jacobite that he scorned to pay duty to King George. 'Never! My faith!' he repeated, staring, if possible, harder than ever."

"No," said the Colonel. "Under no provocation, thank God!"

"But it's done," Captain Augustin rejoined. "It would bother me sorely to know what you do!"

"What all should do," his passenger answered gently. "Our duty, Captain Augustin, is to help the poor."

"To the poor, no more to question."

"But west of Shannon, where there is no law?" Augustin answered. "And in Kerry—where we'll be, the saints helping, before noon—what with Sullivan, and Mahonies, and O'Bearnes, that wear coats only for a gentleman to tread upon, and would sooner shoot a friend before breakfast than spend the day in a parson's chair? I'm not saying what you'll be doing there, Colonel."

"A man may protect himself from violence," the Colonel answered soberly, "and yet do his duty. What he may not do—is this: he may not go out to kill another in cold blood, for a point of honor, or for revenge, or to sustain what he has already done amiss! I hope I may never see you again, Captain Augustin," he added courteously.

He asked because the skipper's face of wonderment was not to be misread. And the skipper answered, "Quite clear!" meaning the reverse. Clear, indeed! Yonder were the hills and bogs of Kerry—where impetrable, abominable—a realm of Tories. On the south, itself, was scarce a man whose hands were free from blood. But Augustin, mild mannered, any smugger on the coast, had spent his life between feuding and fighting, with his four caravans ever drammmed to the muzzle, and his cargo ready to be jettisoned at sight of an cruiser. And this man talked as if he were in church!

Captain Augustin cast a wild eye at the straining, shrinking rigging; the stoppers, the hunches, the hawsers; whether he would or no, his eye fluttered back and rested, fascinated, on the colonel's face. Indeed, from the hour, 10 days earlier, which had seen him mount the side in the Bordeaux river, Colonel John Sullivan had been a subject of growing astonishment to the skipper.

Captain Augustin knew his world tolerably. In his time he had carried, once, a single passenger from strand to strand, and had talked with them, learned their secrets, and more often their hopes.

But such a man as this he had never carried. A man who had seen outlandish service, but who neither swore, nor drank above measure, nor swaggered, nor threatened. Who would not dice, nor gamble, nor fight? Who, on the contrary, talked and acted with peaceful word! for all openly condoned the duel, and was cold as mud, as gentle as an owl. Such a one seemed the tailed "Phaenix" or a bat with six wings, or any other prodigy which the fancy, Irish or foreign could conceive.

Then, to double the marvel, the colonel had a servant, a close tongued fellow, William, by name, reputed an Englishman, who, by name, reputed as such, was as quiet spoken as the colonel, as precise, and as peaceable. He had even been heard to talk of his duty. But while the colonel was tall and spare, with gentle eye and long, kindly face, and was altogether of a peaceful cast, Billie was short and stout, of a black complexion, and very forbidding. His mouth was thin, and his silence invited no confidence. His brow scowled, his lips sneered, and his silence invited no confidence.

Such being the skipper's passenger, that Captain Augustin's astonishment had not long to be manifested into contempt. But it had not. For the young seaman had been born here, and the colonel had exhibited a skill in the treatment of wounds which would not have disgraced an experienced chirurgeon. Thus in the bay the sloop had met with half a gale, and the passenger, in circumstances which the skipper knew not, had tried to hand him over to the same ring bolt with the skipper, while the southwest wind overhead and the gallant little vessel lay over, willing to her beam ends, praised the conduct of the crew.

This is the finest thing in the world," he had shouted, amid the roar of things. "To see men doing their duty, who would not have missed this for a hundred worlds! I'd give us much to be safe in Cherbourg," had he watched his master.

Augustin had not forgotten the colonel's name. A landsman, for whom the trough of the wave has no terrors, was not a man to be despised. Indeed, from that time, the skipper had begun to find a charm in the colonel's gentleness and courtesy. He had fought against the feeling, but it had grown upon him. Something that was almost affection began to mingle with his awe, and astirred his wonder. Hence the patient, the listening, while the colonel sang his strain song.

"He will be one of the people called Quakers," the skipper thought, after a while. "I've heard of them, but never seen one."

Unfortunately, as he arrived at his conclusion, a cry from the steersman roused him. He sprang to his feet. "The sloop had run too far on the northward, and simultaneously the wind had shifted, driving the boat toward the west. She had been allowed to run into a gulf of the north shore, and a tempest was on her to the eastward, leaving small room to leeward. She might still clear the westerly rocks and run out to sea, but the skipper saw that this was doubtful, and with a seaman's quickness he made up his mind.

"Keep her on—she can't get away."

"Child of the accused! We must run into Skul haven! And if the men of Skul take so much as an iron bolt from us, and I misdoubt them, I'll keep haul you! I'll not leave an inch of skin upon you!"

"But in this instance," the sea captain, covering over the wheel, obeyed the little vessel ran up the now flowing water in an ever-widening easterly breeze. The sun was two hours high, and the gray expanse of the bay was flecked with the white horses hurrying seawards in haste to leap upon the Blaskets, or to disport themselves in the field of ocean. From the heaving deck of the vessel the mountains that had been so bravely visible to the northward had disappeared, and the southern rampart, the former sunlit, with patches of moss gleaming like emeralds on its breast, the latter dark and melancholy, clothed in the midst of tradition and fancy that in those days garbed so much of Ireland's bog and hill.

The sloop had missed the tide, and, close hauled to the wind, rode deep in the chop, lashing little way with each tack. The breeze hummed through the rigging. The man at the helm humped a shoulder to the sting of the spray, and the rest of the crew, seven or eight in number—tarry, pigtailed, outlandish and merrily dressed under the windward sail. The skipper was on the deck of the skylight, oblivious alike of the weather and his difficulties, his eyes fixed on his neighbor, in wondering admiration.

"Never!" he murmured, respectfully.

"Never!" his companion answered.

"My birth," Captain Augustin rejoined. "We were born between a Frenchman and an Irishman. For 20 years he had carried wine to Ireland, and returned laden with wool to Bordeaux or Fadiz. He knew every inlet between Achill Sound and the Head of Kinsale, and was so far a Jacobite that he scorned to pay duty to King George. 'Never! My faith!' he repeated, staring, if possible, harder than ever."

"No," said the Colonel. "Under no provocation, thank God!"

"But it's done," Captain Augustin rejoined. "It would bother me sorely to know what you do!"

"What all should do," his passenger answered gently. "Our duty, Captain Augustin, is to help the poor."

"To the poor, no more to question."

"But west of Shannon, where there is no law?" Augustin answered. "And in Kerry—where we'll be, the saints helping, before noon—what with Sullivan, and Mahonies, and O'Bearnes, that wear coats only for a gentleman to tread upon, and would sooner shoot a friend before breakfast than spend the day in a parson's chair? I'm not saying what you'll be doing there, Colonel."

"A man may protect himself from violence," the Colonel answered soberly, "and yet do his duty. What he may not do—is this: he may not go out to kill another in cold blood, for a point of honor, or for revenge, or to sustain what he has already done amiss! I hope I may never see you again, Captain Augustin," he added courteously.

He asked because the skipper's face of wonderment was not to be misread. And the skipper answered, "Quite clear!" meaning the reverse.

"To the poor, no more to question."

"But west of Shannon, where there is no law?" Augustin answered. "And in Kerry—where we'll be, the saints helping, before noon—what with Sullivan, and Mahonies, and O'Bearnes, that wear coats only for a gentleman to tread upon, and would sooner shoot a friend before breakfast than spend the day in a parson's chair? I'm not saying what you'll be doing there, Colonel."

"A man may protect himself from violence," the Colonel answered soberly, "and yet do his duty. What he may not do—is this: he may not go out to kill another in cold blood, for a point of honor, or for revenge, or to sustain what he has already done amiss! I hope I may never see you again, Captain Augustin," he added courteously.

He asked because the skipper's face of wonderment was not to be misread. And the skipper answered, "Quite clear!" meaning the reverse.

"To the poor, no more to question."

"But west of Shannon, where there is no law?" Augustin answered. "And in Kerry—where we'll be, the saints helping, before noon—what with Sullivan, and Mahonies, and O'Bearnes, that wear coats only for a gentleman to tread upon, and would sooner shoot a friend before breakfast than spend the day in a parson's chair? I'm not saying what you'll be doing there, Colonel."

"A man may protect himself from violence," the Colonel answered soberly, "and yet do his duty. What he may not do—is this: he may not go out to kill another in cold blood, for a point of honor, or for revenge, or to sustain what he has already done amiss! I hope I may never see you again, Captain Augustin," he added courteously.

He asked because the skipper's face of wonderment was not to be misread. And the skipper answered, "Quite clear!" meaning the reverse.

"To the poor, no more to question."

"But west of Shannon, where there is no law?" Augustin answered. "And in Kerry—where we'll be, the saints helping, before noon—what with Sullivan, and Mahonies, and O'Bearnes, that wear coats only for a gentleman to tread upon, and would sooner shoot a friend before breakfast than spend the day in a parson's chair? I'm not saying what you'll be doing there, Colonel."

"A man may protect himself from violence," the Colonel answered soberly, "and yet do his duty. What he may not do—is this: he may not go out to kill another in cold blood, for a point of honor, or for revenge, or to sustain what he has already done amiss! I hope I may never see you again, Captain Augustin," he added courteously.

He asked because the skipper's face of wonderment was not to be misread. And the skipper answered, "Quite clear!" meaning the reverse.

"To the poor, no more to question."

"But west of Shannon, where there is no law?" Augustin answered. "And in Kerry—where we'll be, the saints helping, before noon—what with Sullivan, and Mahonies, and O'Bearnes, that wear coats only for a gentleman to tread upon, and would sooner shoot a friend before breakfast than spend the day in a parson's chair? I'm not saying what you'll be doing there, Colonel."

"A man may protect himself from violence," the Colonel answered soberly, "and yet do his duty. What he may not do—is this: he may not go out to kill another in cold blood, for a point of honor, or for revenge, or to sustain what he has already done amiss! I hope I may never see you again, Captain Augustin," he added courteously.

He asked because the skipper's face of wonderment was not to be misread. And the skipper answered, "Quite clear!" meaning the reverse.

"To the poor, no more to question."

"But west of Shannon, where there is no law?" Augustin answered. "And in Kerry—where we'll be, the saints helping, before noon—what with Sullivan, and Mahonies, and O'Bearnes, that wear coats only for a gentleman to tread upon, and would sooner shoot a friend before breakfast than spend the day in a parson's chair? I'm not saying what you'll be doing there, Colonel."

"A man may protect himself from violence," the Colonel answered soberly, "and yet do his duty. What he may not do—is this: he may not go out to kill another in cold blood, for a point of honor, or for revenge, or to sustain what he has already done amiss! I hope I may never see you again, Captain Augustin," he added courteously.

He asked because the skipper's face of wonderment was not to be misread. And the skipper answered, "Quite clear!" meaning the reverse.

"To the poor, no more to question."

"But west of Shannon, where there is no law?" Augustin answered. "And in Kerry—where we'll be, the saints helping, before noon—what with Sullivan, and Mahonies, and O'Bearnes, that wear coats only for a gentleman to tread upon, and would sooner shoot a friend before breakfast than spend the day in a parson's chair? I'm not saying what you'll be doing there, Colonel."

"A man may protect himself from violence," the Colonel answered soberly, "and yet do his duty. What he may not do—is this: he may not go out to kill another in cold blood, for a point of honor, or for revenge, or to sustain what he has already done amiss! I hope I may never see you again, Captain Augustin," he added courteously.

He asked because the skipper's face of wonderment was not to be misread. And the skipper answered, "Quite clear!" meaning the reverse.

"To the poor, no more to question."

"But west of Shannon, where there is no law?" Augustin answered. "And in Kerry—where we'll be, the saints helping, before noon—what with Sullivan, and Mahonies, and O'Bearnes, that wear coats only for a gentleman to tread upon, and would sooner shoot a friend before breakfast than spend the day in a parson's chair? I'm not saying what you'll be doing there, Colonel."

"A man may protect himself from violence," the Colonel answered soberly, "and yet do his duty. What he may not do—is this: he may not go out to kill another in cold blood, for a point of honor, or for revenge, or to sustain what he has already done amiss! I hope I may never see you again, Captain Augustin," he added courteously.

He asked because the skipper's face of wonderment was not to be misread. And the skipper answered, "Quite clear!" meaning the reverse.

"To the poor, no more to question."

"But west of Shannon, where there is no law?" Augustin answered. "And in Kerry—where we'll be, the saints helping, before noon—what with Sullivan, and Mahonies, and O'Bearnes, that wear coats only for a gentleman to tread upon, and would sooner shoot a friend before breakfast than spend the day in a parson's chair? I'm not saying what you'll be doing there, Colonel."

"A man may protect himself from violence," the Colonel answered soberly, "and yet do his duty. What he may not do—is this: he may not go out to kill another in cold blood, for a point of honor, or for revenge, or to sustain what he has already done amiss! I hope I may never see you again, Captain Augustin," he added courteously.

He asked because the skipper's face of wonderment was not to be misread. And the skipper answered, "Quite clear!" meaning the reverse.

"To the poor, no more to question."

"But west of Shannon, where there is no law?" Augustin answered. "And in Kerry—where we'll be, the saints helping, before noon—what with Sullivan, and Mahonies, and O'Bearnes, that wear coats only for a gentleman to tread upon, and would sooner shoot a friend before breakfast than spend the day in a parson's chair? I'm not saying what you'll be doing there, Colonel."

"A man may protect himself from violence," the Colonel answered soberly, "and yet do his duty. What he may not do—is this: he may not go out to kill another in cold blood, for a point of honor, or for revenge, or to sustain what he has already done amiss! I hope I may never see you again, Captain Augustin," he added courteously.

He asked because the skipper's face of wonderment was not to be misread. And the skipper answered, "Quite clear!" meaning the reverse.

"To the poor, no more to question."

"But west of Shannon, where there is no law?" Augustin answered. "And in Kerry—where we'll be, the saints helping, before noon—what with Sullivan, and Mahonies, and O'Bearnes, that wear coats only for a gentleman to tread upon, and would sooner shoot a friend before breakfast than spend the day in a parson's chair? I'm not saying what you'll be doing there, Colonel."

"A man may protect himself from violence," the Colonel answered soberly, "and yet do his duty. What he may not do—is this: he may not go out to kill another in cold blood, for a point of honor, or for revenge, or to sustain what he has already done amiss! I hope I may never see you again, Captain Augustin," he added courteously.

He asked because the skipper's face of wonderment was not to be misread. And the skipper answered, "Quite clear!" meaning the reverse.

"To the poor, no more to question."

"But west of Shannon, where there is no law?" Augustin answered. "And in Kerry—where we'll be, the saints helping, before noon—what with Sullivan, and Mahonies, and O'Bearnes, that wear coats only for a gentleman to tread upon, and would sooner shoot a friend before breakfast than spend the day in a parson's chair? I'm not saying what you'll be doing there, Colonel."

"A man may protect himself from violence," the Colonel answered soberly, "and yet do his duty. What he may not do—is this: he may not go out to kill another in cold blood, for a point of honor, or for revenge, or to sustain what he has already done amiss! I hope I may never see you again, Captain Augustin," he added courteously.

He asked because the skipper's face of wonderment was not to be misread. And the skipper answered, "Quite clear!" meaning the reverse.

"To the poor, no more to question."

"But west of Shannon, where there is no law?" Augustin answered. "And in Kerry—where we'll be, the saints helping, before noon—what with Sullivan, and Mahonies, and O'Bearnes, that wear coats only for a gentleman to tread upon, and would sooner shoot a friend before breakfast than spend the day in a parson's chair? I'm not saying what you'll be doing there, Colonel."

"A man may protect himself from violence," the Colonel answered soberly, "and yet do his duty. What he may not do—is this: he may not go out to kill another in cold blood, for a point of honor, or for revenge, or to sustain what he has already done amiss! I hope I may never see you again, Captain Augustin," he added courteously.

He asked because the skipper's face of wonderment was not to be misread. And the skipper answered, "Quite clear!" meaning the reverse.

"To the poor, no more to question."

Orr & Morris Co. WAYNE NEBRASKA

Groceries that are always fresh. Read carefully prices quoted below and remember they are for goods that are guaranteed to be as good or better than you usually get for these prices.

Canned Goods

Red Salmon tall cans 2 for	25c
Red Salmon flat cans 2 for	35c
Red Salmon flats, very best each	25c
Baked beans large can 2 for	25c
Heinz baked beans, can	10c
Heinz baked beans, vegetarian	15c
Condensed milk, 2 cans	25c
Campbell's Soups, can, all kinds	10c

Breakfast Foods

Post Toasties, 2 packages,	25c
Puffed Rice, 2 packages,	25c
Puffed wheat, 3 packages,	25c
Corn Flakes, 3 packages,	20c
Rolled oats, 2 lb. package,	10c
Shreddedwheat biscuits, 2 pkgs	25c
3-Star baking powder and spoon
1 lb can	25c
Tomato catsup 10c, 15c and 25c

3 STAR TEA

3-Star Tea none better (1 lb and one cup and saucer)	50c
Lipton's Teas Ceylon and India, 1b cans,	75c
Green Gage plums—standards—worth 20c, 2 cans,	25c

Butter Eggs and Poultry at highest Market Price.

Orr & Morris Co.

BY DAD

"Don't you think Editor Closson might be looking for a postoffice if he could get Postmaster Baker into the city judge's office?" asks a Democrat reader.

If Prof. C. H. Bright is the man I take him to be he should rejoice in his defeat as much as any of us.

As an example of how the people will flock to a prohibition look at the vote S. E. Ankner got in Hunter precinct for assessor. There were only two democratic votes cast in this precinct, the democrats being P. M. Corbit and W. A. K. Neely. Mr. Neely said he didn't want to be assessor—but on the republican ticket Mr. Ankner only got one vote out of the fifteen republican ballots, while Mr. Neely, democrat, received fourteen. A man's practice beats his preaching to a frazzle.

There is one old girl that Harry Thaw doesn't care to stay with, Mattie Wan.

Monday evening, after Editor Closson got through peddling tickets advising republicans to vote for Jas. Baker for county judge, he disputed a statement of the Democrat man that the only contest in the election would be on county superintendent, and that he would show us there was another contest on when the primary votes were counted. And here is where we failed to make a first installment on that ten thousand we owe him for his cheapened character, as per his statement in court. We wanted to make him a wager on the result of the election, and when he said he didn't have enough money we generously offered to advance him the required sum on the big roll he was coming next term of court. But he refused, evidently wishing to keep the ten thousand intact so he can buy an air ship. If he would just promise to go up in one and never come down again we'd buy it for him right now.

The city must be very short of water judging from the amount Bill Hogwood gets on the streets. It took old Jake Winger to do this business. They were wet down late at night and early in the morning when Jake was on the water wagon. Brother Bill isn't used to riding that kind of a vehicle, probably.

The Democrat is told that Dr. R. B. Crawford is going to buy the old Baptist church and turn it into a hospital. Well, we'd just as soon die in a church as any place we know of, and a little water might be handy about that time.

O. D. Franks came out in a slick, snappy suit Tuesday, and when we guessed he was off to see his affinity said we hit it the first time. But of course he lied when he said it.

The primary law under the new ballot and regulations is certainly a warm proposition. The party who has the candidates filed for office, on this ballot, can figure on the minority party with no candidates to do the nominating.

The washerwoman who supports a drunken husband is up against it in two ways. She soaks her clothes and clothes her son. So says the Manson Democrat.

Some queer things happen occasionally in the "old Kentucky home." A Louisville paper tells of a drummer who returned home to find his son dressed in rags and leading a prohibition parade, with a banner on which inscribed: "My father is a drunkard." What the old man said on the spot would sound better in the place where it was said, as it is supposed to go that it would look like.

One morning recently a barber in a large shop in a city severely cut the neck of a customer whom he was shaving. The break was a bad one for the reputation of such a shop and the forman was very angry about it. When the customer had gone out he took the barber to task very severely about the matter.

"The idea of a man of your experience doing such a trick as that," he exclaimed, "is more than I can understand. You have worked at the business twenty years and pushed your way up to the second chair in a shop of this kind and then go to work and try to butcher a man. You ought to be fired right now. What do you mean, anyhow?"

"I know it looks bad, boss, but I just couldn't help it," replied the crest-fallen barber.

"Couldn't help it? Heavens, man, do you mean to say that you couldn't help it?"

"That's just it," said the barber. "I started in to give that man a good shave and before I had touched his face he asked me if it was not hot enough for me. Now, I've tried to keep my mind off the weather for nearly a month and this question riled me all up. But I kept still and worked away trying to give him the best shave possible. Pretty soon he asked me if I ever tried to talk a customer to death. I hadn't said a word to him at all and he made me pretty sore. Still I kept on and did the best I could. When I put the razor on his face he said 'If I had a good a philo politics as I had with the razor I'd be an alderman. Now, what do you think of that?'

"Pretty hard," said the boss.

"I should say so," continued the barber, "but that was easy. Pretty soon he asked me if all the rest of my family had blue eyes. I was getting pretty sore, but I thought I could finish him if I hurried, because I really didn't want to hurt him. I did my best, boss, but he finally called the turn."

"What did he say?" asked the boss.

"Why, the idiot looked me square in the eye and never batted an eyelash when he asked me what I thought about the thief, and then, boss, I just couldn't stand it any longer and I cut him deep."

The barber held his job.

Talk about the effects of the hot weather! You ought to have been attending Judge Britton's court last Monday, when Lawyers Berry and Davis lambasted each other to their heart's content and to complete satisfaction of the court, all over a wagon reach worth 70 cents. The parties in the suit were John Coleman vs. Soren Larsen the former claiming that the latter had secured the reach during a threshing and refused to return it. Mr. Coleman hired Atty. Berry and had the vecal replevin, and Mr. Larsen hired Atty. Davis to keep Berry from getting the reach, but the court reached the conclusion that the reach belonged to the plaintiff. The addresses of the learned legal lights was decidedly impressive dealing mostly with "hogs" of a better breed though the hogs who would take ten thousand dollars from a poor newspaper devil.

We understand from some source that you have stomach trouble, and if such is the case we would like to have you read the enclosed pamphlet very carefully," begins a letter from an unknown friend at Portland, Or. By dad, we'd like to know where the "some source" comes from. But I'll bet if I ever read the pamphlet carefully it will be after giving Closson that ten thousand.

Again it has been demonstrated that the best place for a pistol is about six feet under the earth in the alley. Damphines shouldn't carry guns in their pockets, and any boy or man who carries one is a damphine.

A clergyman, pastor in a Madison church is said to have received a call at his home yesterday morning, a young matron carrying in her arms a chubby faced youngster. "I want the baby christened," said the mother. After the ceremony the clergyman started to write out the baptismal certificate. Forgetting for the moment the date of the month, he remarked to the mother: "This is the 6th, isn't it?" "No, indeed sir," remarked the matron indignantly. "It's only the third." —Madison Post.

Billy Sundys opened his circus at Boulder, Colo., Aug. 22. As Boulder is the east of the state university of Colorado there is considerable speculation as to the success of the meetings critics of Sunday claiming that he will not be a drawing card in an intellectual center. That's a rather hard slam on some Iowa cities.

One of the Wrights has purchased another steamship ticket for Europe. Probably didn't feel like flying.

With some it will be "the Payne bill," with others "the pain bill," and still there are others who will find it a "payin' bill." Letter rip.

Rivers have been tunneled, wireless a success;

Airships have been invented, flying more or less.

Deserts made to blossom, North pole all but found;

Moving pictures taken, photographing sound.

Wonderful inventions

In all things but one;

Women's dresses gaping

Like they's always done!

Boston Herald.

The legislative freak who "improved" the primary election ballot should be compelled to print them within the few hours allowed by law. Some damphiles goes to Lincoln with a freak idea in his head, and all the other damphiles vote for it to get some ridiculous measure of their own invention put upon the statute books.

It would be better and cheaper if we could send the legislature to Europe on a jumeting tour, or keep them in state prison.

Some women in White Plains tried to kiss Harry Thaw as he was taken from the jail to court. Over that way they evidently don't take all the insane to Matteawan.

Carriagemakers have raised the price of their vehicles, but they are still cheaper than automobiles.

Chautauqua lecturers in both houses of the national congress were hard hit by the delay in getting to the lecture platform. It is said that Champ Clark lost $7,000, Senator LaFollette $3,000 and Senator Tillman $2,000. But possibly Senator Tillman was a visitor here Sunday.

H. C. McClusky of Sioux City was a visitor here Sunday.

J. H. Metcalfe and family left Wednesday, for Colorado where they expect to make their future home.

Furniture at Auction

Saturday, August 28th, I will sell at auction west of Roe & Fortner's the following furniture: Mahogany parlor cabinet, mahogany Rocking chair, Morris chair, 4 rocking chairs, 4 tables, 1 settee and chair, 1 couch, 8 rugs, 1 iron bed spring and mattress, 1 white bed room suit, wardrobe, heating stoves and various other articles.—Mrs. Phil H. Kohl.

It begins to look as though pretty soon there won't be enough kings to make a full deck.

Now days you have to have a license to hunt, fish, to keep horses for service, and to do most anything in the ordinary run of events. The Democrat would suggest that the license system should apply to fellows looking for damages to character. Editor Closson "had no license" to sue the Democrat.

The Madison Post wants a city park in that city with "flour pots" as an adornment. The flour dealers will have a scrap over who shall sell the flour.

Oh, if some Burbank of the west

Would patent, make and sell

An onion with an onion taste

But with a violet smell.

Senator Gore said at a Kansas Chautauqua: "An old hen once hatched a brood of twelve chickens, six each of pullets and roosters. Afterwards when they had gone out to go it alone, she called to see them and found only the pullets. 'How does this come, where are the roosters?' she asked. 'Oh,' said one of the pullets, 'they've all gone into the ministry.' 'Well, it's well enough,' said the old hen. 'They never would have amounted to anything as lay members.'

Nothing the matter with the weather now. It has been nice for corn and nice for the stackers. The farmers say if it isn't enough for you you can go to h—l.

A little boy in a neighboring town came in the house the other day and told his mother he had been playing postman like they do in cities. "And I gave everybody on the street a letter," he said. "You did," said the fond mother, "and where did you get the letters?" "Oh they were the old ones in the bureau drawer that you had tied up in pink ribbon."

97 to 17 on the republican ticket for Jas. Britton against Jas. Baker ought to delight the political manager at Carroll of his prowess as a "fixer" in Wayne.

Might just as well call it an election and declare the stuff all off.

A very poor vote for a candidate is not always conclusive evidence of a candidate's standing in a community or the county. It is the fellows who are plugging for an office seeker that often times means the politician's undoing.

Did you know that there was an awfully kind hearted old gentleman in Wayne? Yesterday morning Mrs. Little met A. J. Ferguson, and of course the latter was very anxious to learn how election went. The newly elected county superintendent sorrowfully told him that it was bad, but neglected to say it was bad for Mr. Bright. "My dear girl," exclaimed the sympathetic gentleman, "I could have told you that three weeks ago."

Wanted—Good girl for house work.

Enquire at this office.

New Paper at Carroll

The Democrat man was in Carroll today and made a deal for a business property there in which will be published the Carroll Independent, a new publication to be edited and managed by H. M. Stuart, a practical newspaper man and printer, from Mapleton, Ia. The Independent will be out just as soon as the building can be put in shape and new material and presses installed.

State Normal Boards Meet.

Messrs. Henry Ley, J. T. Bressler, A. Welch, Jas. Britton and President Fred M. Pile went to Lincoln this morning to attend a meeting of the state normal boards to be held tomorrow. It will be remembered that there are two boards, and a controversy is now on as to which is the lawful one, that question now hanging fire in the supreme court. The matter of turning the normal school at Wayne over to the state has now been cleared up and as soon as it is determined which board will have the handling of the matter it is probable that the state will pay for the school. The Wayne delegates there this week are not very confident that it will be settled at this time as the supreme court does not meet until next month. However they are on the ground to take care of Wayne's interests.

Winside News.

Special Correspondence.

Mrs. L. W. Jones returned from her western trip the last week.

Bonlander and Woodward received their new automobiles Monday.

Mrs. J. C. Eckler and M. H. Boyle and wife went to Dixon Saturday.

C. H. Bright of Wayne was on our street Monday.

One of the Stamm boys living about eight miles west of here was taken by Sheriff Mears Saturday and taken before the board of insanity.

An attempt to black mail Sam Rew was made last week. Mr. Rew received an unsigned communication stating that unless he left a thousand dollars at a designated place his buildings would be fired and his stock potened. At the present writing the thousand dollars has not been deposited as the letter contained in the envelope had been consumed. Suspicion points very strongly towards a certain party and chances are that enough evidence will be developed to warrant his arrest in the near future. If however, an attempt should be made to carry out any of the threats the undertaker will be required rather than the sheriff. People generally would contribute liberally for flowers to provide a fitting funeral for some of these gentlemen with fat Crow problems.

H. C. McClusky of Sioux City was a visitor here Sunday.

J. H. Metcalfe and family left Wednesday, for Colorado where they expect to make their future home.

Furniture at Auction

Saturday, August 28th, I will sell at auction west of Roe & Fortner's the following furniture: Mahogany parlor cabinet, mahogany Rocking chair, Morris chair, 4 rocking chairs, 4 tables, 1 settee and chair, 1 couch, 8 rugs, 1 iron bed spring and mattress, 1 white bed room suit, wardrobe, heating stoves and various other articles.—Mrs. Phil H. Kohl.

Threshing Outfit for Sale.

A Buffalo Pitts threshing outfit, separator 36-60, Parson feeder and wind sticker, 18-horse Coleen engine and tender. Write or call Dean Hanson, F. R. D. 4, Wayne, Neb.

Some Choice Shorthorns.

Young bulls, best strain of the breed, for sale cheap. A. B. CLARK.

For Sale

Duroc Jersey Boar, 1 year old, a grandson of old Kant Be Beat. See H. M. Stillsmith, R. F. D. No. 3, Wayne, Neb.

Some Good Thoroughbreds

I have a few choice pure-bred Duroc boars and Shorthorn bulls, for sale. See me at the harness shop. JOHN S. LEWIS JR.

To My Customers:--

I leave for Chicago Sunday to buy my fall and winter stock of merchandise. If there is anything you will need this fall in particular, which you might not find in our regular stock I will be glad to get it for you while in Chicago.

If you require an extra or odd size suit or skirt or coat or if you want anything in the merchandise line which is not generally carried in stock let us know your wants Saturday and I will give the matter my best attention while in market.

Yours truly,

J. J. AHERN.

Local News.

The Royal Neighbors will hold their food exchange next Saturday afternoon at 2:30 in the M. W. A. hall.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Chace, Mr. and Mrs. McLeod and Mrs. Sigworth were a party on the way home last evening to Stanton from Okoboji. Mr. and Mrs. Chace were feeling first class.

Dr. Lutgen, physician and surgeon.

Dr. Naffziger's office will be closed during September, the doctor going to Eastern Medical centers for post graduate work.

Those desiring an experienced dress maker phone 106 after Aug. 22.—Emily Kilton.

Advertised Letters—Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. Mary Sweeney, Mrs. Alberta Bunnell, Miss Hazel Ebersole, Mrs. W. S. Eversole, Charles Endres, Mrs. Dora Lucas, Sunderland Bros., Co., fed Williams, Thomas N. Woolman.

FOR SALE—1 Hereford bull registered 4 years old.

Emil R. Spittiger, route 2, Wayne.

Frank Weber is entertaining relatives from the western part of the state.

F. R. Pryor of Chapin precinct spent Sunday with his parents in Wayne.

Dan Shannon of Carroll was down Tuesday to see his sister, Miss Agnes, who has been very ill.

The Sunday School children of St. Mary's church had a picnic at the Wm. Baumgardner grove south of town today.

The Anchor Grain Co. for all kinds of hard and soft coal.

Rev. Kearns was a passenger to Carroll Tuesday.

J. H. Brugger and wife of Chapin precinct were shopping in Wayne on Saturday.

E. W. Cullen and daughter, Lauretta and Mrs. Hays of Winside attended services at St. Mary's church Sunday.

Mrs. Wm. Baumgardner is enjoying a visit from her niece, Miss Jackson, of Iowa.

Dr. Geo. J. Hess, First National Bank, phone 369, country calls answered promptly.

J. H. Meyer, son of Henry Meyer of north of town who has been in a bank at Lawton, Ia., for two years took a position in the Citizens bank in Wayne, commencing work last Monday. Mr. Meyer is a bright young man and will doubtless be a valuable acquisition to the clerical force of the Citizens.

Miss Bell Temple was a passenger to St. Paul yesterday to buy millinery stock. Miss Temple will vacate the building opposite the postoffice and take a section of a room in J. J. Ahern's double store, which will be stocked with new goods.

J. T. Kinney was down from Sholes yesterday.

Arthur Tucker and Howard Porter were visitors from Carroll yesterday.

See yourself enjoying yourself eating cream at Whalen's.

Clarence Liverhouse and family got home Tuesday evening from their trip to North Dakota.

Judge and Mrs. A. A. Wolen and C. A. Chase were arrivals home yesterday from the west. Mrs. Chase went on to Okoboji.

Mrs. C. O. Fisher returned last week from an extended trip to Denver and other western points.

A prominent republican from Deer Creek precinct tells the Democrat that politics will cut no figure with them when it comes to voting for a county commissioner and that Jas. Stanton will poll the big vote. Jim has got what the people in the western part of the county want and are entitled to according to this reptilian view of it, and they are going to keep him in the office for a second and his best term.

WILL MORGAN.

Rooms and board wanted for teachers at county institute. Phone Mrs. Little at court house.

O. A. King went to Plainview this morning.

Chas. Stout is back at Sholes again.

A. B. Nichols got home from Chicago Saturday, where he spent seven weeks in a hospital, undergoing one of the most delicate operations known to surgery. He is now in a fair way to recovery.

The W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. R. B. Crawford at 2 p.m. Friday. A full attendance is desired.

WAYNE, NEBR. AUG. 19, '09.

Primary Election Results.

	Primary	Election Results.
For Supreme Judge
Hamer, rep.	71	The best and cleanest game ever seen on the local diamond this season
Duffie, rep.	49	was played yesterday with Correctionville. For six scores there was an even dozen goose eggs. Then in the last half of the 7th Ditz for the visitors seemed to weaken, or the locals commenced to find the leather easily.
Yeiser, rep.	80	It was the first time Wayne ever got to 1st base. Mr. Henry, a cousin of T. W. Moran, who is visiting in the city, got to 1st on a safe hit and then the killing commenced, the visitors making a nice bunch of errors that easily made three runs for the locals.
Sedgwick, rep.	170	The visitors scored one in the 8th
Calkins, rep.	142	the locals a goose egg, and the same for Correctionville in the first half of the 9th. Time 2 hours.
Barnes, rep.	179	The beauty of the game was Umpire Fisher's fair work, no wrangling and with the exception of two innings as good game of ball as Sioux City, Omaha or Wichita ever put on the diamond.
Fawcett, rep.	144	NOTES
Cobbey, rep.	76	Sahs was the stuff yesterday—to put on the Iowa heads.
Sullivan, dem.	78	Blain Skeen taught the Correctionville fellows that they had better obey the injunction, "thou shalt not steal."
Dean, dem.	79	About six or seven of the would-be-base thieves bit the dust.
Good, dem.	74	If Wayne had the ball team early in the season we have today we could easily carry off the pennant.
For county clerk		Even Ed. Ellis must have had a bunch. He was talking for home industry.
A. Bohlander, rep.	300	Guess we'll go some at the tournament, what?
Chas. Reynolds, dem.	89	If you get anywhere around the grandstand and don't root for your home town, look out for an umbrella. There are several of the Wayne player's wives there who can make you go some.
For county treasurer		It was an "off" day for Sam. But the beauty of it for Sam is when he loses some other dampfle puts up the coin.
Chas. Beebe, rep.	258	Catcher Skeen's wife had just washed and ironed her husband's baseball suit. That's one reason why Blaine played a clean-up game.
Henry Bartelle, dem.	5	"Rusty" Witter landed on the leather after a harness maker, after he learned the visiting pitcher's grade of hides.
on republican ticket	20	It was "our meat," imported, and no tariff on it.
on democrat ticket		Now, for a win today.
For sheriff		In a baseball game it is three gone, as a rule. But one Wayne man who bet on Correctionville was heard to remark at the finish: "Five gone, by dad!"
G. S. Mears, rep.	304	We want hundred and fifty dollar crowd today and are entitled to it. The boys won it yesterday.
G. L. Miner, rep.	98	Correctionville couldn't open our "gait," by dad.
Dan Maher, dem.	7	Chase 'em!
For county judge		Mrs. P. L. Miller is Worse
Jas. Britton, dem.	216	A telegram from Lincoln last night stated that Mrs. P. L. Miller's condition had taken a turn for the worse and that she would be brought home the first cool day, her arrival being expected this evening. This will be sad news to friends of the family who had expected her to recover.
on republican ticket	69	Repine-Lund
on democrat ticket		Yesterday, Aug. 18th, at Sioux City occurred the marriage of Charles Lund of Wayne to Mrs. A. E. Repine of Wakefield. Congratulations to Charley and his buxom bride. May their shadows never grow less.
Jas. Baker, rep.	296	For steam threshing coal, Longhollow, Hiawatha and Hocking coal go to Graves & Lamson.
For Surveyor		Crab Apples and Apples
Guy Strickland, rep.	296	A big lot, all kinds, cheap. Phone Carl Baker, two and one-half miles south-west of Wayne.
For coroner		1843
Clyde Ecker, dem.	3	Peter Schuttler
J. J. Williams, rep.	17	1909
For commissioner		Get Together
Jas. Stanton, dem.	33	and stand together is the keynote of Forrest Crissey's second article on the farmer in his fight against dishonest commission merchants. Don't miss it.
W. A. McEachen, rep.	17	Then read "Happiness"—one of the prettiest boy and girl stories ever published. All in the
For county superintendent		Poland China's for Sale.
C. H. Bright, rep.	137	A few hours for sale. Call or write John Coleman, Route 2, Wayne, Neb.
Elsie Littell, rep.	288	September Everybody's
C. M. White, dem.	49	J. E. Hufford's and Jones' Book Store

Wayne Wins Great Game

The best and cleanest game ever seen on the local diamond this season was played yesterday with Correctionville. For six scores there was an even dozen goose eggs. Then in the last half of the 7th Ditz for the visitors seemed to weaken, or the locals commenced to find the leather easily. It was the first time Wayne ever got to 1st base. Mr. Henry, a cousin of T. W. Moran, who is visiting in the city, got to 1st on a safe hit and then the killing commenced, the visitors making a nice bunch of errors that easily made three runs for the locals.

The visitors scored one in the 8th the locals a goose egg, and the same for Correctionville in the first half of the 9th. Time 2 hours.

The beauty of the game was Umpire Fisher's fair work, no wrangling and with the exception of two innings as good game of ball as Sioux City, Omaha or Wichita ever put on the diamond.

NOTES

Sahs was the stuff yesterday—to put on the Iowa heads.

Blain Skeen taught the Correctionville fellows that they had better obey the injunction, "thou shalt not steal."

About six or seven of the would-be-base thieves bit the dust.

If Wayne had the ball team early in the season we have today we could easily carry off the pennant.

Even Ed. Ellis must have had a bunch. He was talking for home industry.

Guess we'll go some at the tournament, what?

If you get anywhere around the grandstand and don't root for your home town, look out for an umbrella. There are several of the Wayne player's wives there who can make you go some.

It was an "off" day for Sam. But the beauty of it for Sam is when he loses some other dampfle puts up the coin.

Catcher Skeen's wife had just washed and ironed her husband's baseball suit. That's one reason why Blaine played a clean-up game.

"Rusty" Witter landed on the leather after a harness maker, after he learned the visiting pitcher's grade of hides.

It was "our meat," imported, and no tariff on it.

Now, for a win today.

In a baseball game it is three gone, as a rule. But one Wayne man who bet on Correctionville was heard to remark at the finish: "Five gone, by dad!"

We want hundred and fifty dollar crowd today and are entitled to it. The boys won it yesterday.

Correctionville couldn't open our "gait," by dad.

Chase 'em!

KINDERGARTENS HELD

GREAT BOON TO SOCIETY

Systematic Child Training Becoming Popular in Homes of Rich and Poor, Says Mrs. J. N.

Crouse.

Among the new educational interests which are forging to the front there is not one which is making itself felt more generally than the kindergarten. Whether in the home of the millionaire or in the poorest of our foreign-born tenement-houses, wherever there is a child in the family the word kindergarten is likely to be known and loved. Our cities are learning that if we are to rear colossal buildings, we must build strong foundations. Our nation is fast learning that if we are to lead in the van of the world's progress our education must begin not at the top of the structure but at the bottom, with the little children.

There is no greater boon to society, high or low, than the introduction of the kindergarten into the complex social life of the present. There are three classes to whom it comes as a welcome helper, instructor and sharer of the mother's multitudinous duties. The mother with little children finds that some of the senators almost missed their Chautauqua engagements.

In the beginning, too, August had twenty-nine days, and it was pretty generally felt that this was enough, but Julius Caesar added two days, and Consul Ultimus, the leader of the opposition, was made a galley slave. The fight was one of the most thrilling in the history of Rome, and it kept the Senate in session so late in the summer that some of the senators almost missed their Chautauqua engagements.

In the beginning, too, August had twenty-nine days, and it was pretty generally felt that this was enough, but Julius Caesar added two days, and Consul Ultimus, the leader of the opposition, was made a galley slave. The fight was one of the most thrilling in the history of Rome, and it kept the Senate in session so late in the summer that some of the senators almost missed their Chautauqua engagements.

In the beginning, too, August had twenty-nine days, and it was pretty generally felt that this was enough, but Julius Caesar added two days, and Consul Ultimus, the leader of the opposition, was made a galley slave. The fight was one of the most thrilling in the history of Rome, and it kept the Senate in session so late in the summer that some of the senators almost missed their Chautauqua engagements.

In the beginning, too, August had twenty-nine days, and it was pretty generally felt that this was enough, but Julius Caesar added two days, and Consul Ultimus, the leader of the opposition, was made a galley slave. The fight was one of the most thrilling in the history of Rome, and it kept the Senate in session so late in the summer that some of the senators almost missed their Chautauqua engagements.

In the beginning, too, August had twenty-nine days, and it was pretty generally felt that this was enough, but Julius Caesar added two days, and Consul Ultimus, the leader of the opposition, was made a galley slave. The fight was one of the most thrilling in the history of Rome, and it kept the Senate in session so late in the summer that some of the senators almost missed their Chautauqua engagements.

In the beginning, too, August had twenty-nine days, and it was pretty generally felt that this was enough, but Julius Caesar added two days, and Consul Ultimus, the leader of the opposition, was made a galley slave. The fight was one of the most thrilling in the history of Rome, and it kept the Senate in session so late in the summer that some of the senators almost missed their Chautauqua engagements.

In the beginning, too, August had twenty-nine days, and it was pretty generally felt that this was enough, but Julius Caesar added two days, and Consul Ultimus, the leader of the opposition, was made a galley slave. The fight was one of the most thrilling in the history of Rome, and it kept the Senate in session so late in the summer that some of the senators almost missed their Chautauqua engagements.

In the beginning, too, August had twenty-nine days, and it was pretty generally felt that this was enough, but Julius Caesar added two days, and Consul Ultimus, the leader of the opposition, was made a galley slave. The fight was one of the most thrilling in the history of Rome, and it kept the Senate in session so late in the summer that some of the senators almost missed their Chautauqua engagements.

In the beginning, too, August had twenty-nine days, and it was pretty generally felt that this was enough, but Julius Caesar added two days, and Consul Ultimus, the leader of the opposition, was made a galley slave. The fight was one of the most thrilling in the history of Rome, and it kept the Senate in session so late in the summer that some of the senators almost missed their Chautauqua engagements.

In the beginning, too, August had twenty-nine days, and it was pretty generally felt that this was enough, but Julius Caesar added two days, and Consul Ultimus, the leader of the opposition, was made a galley slave. The fight was one of the most thrilling in the history of Rome, and it kept the Senate in session so late in the summer that some of the senators almost missed their Chautauqua engagements.

In the beginning, too, August had twenty-nine days, and it was pretty generally felt that this was enough, but Julius Caesar added two days, and Consul Ultimus, the leader of the opposition, was made a galley slave. The fight was one of the most thrilling in the history of Rome, and it kept the Senate in session so late in the summer that some of the senators almost missed their Chautauqua engagements.

In the beginning, too, August had twenty-nine days, and it was pretty generally felt that this was enough, but Julius Caesar added two days, and Consul Ultimus, the leader of the opposition, was made a galley slave. The fight was one of the most thrilling in the history of Rome, and it kept the Senate in session so late in the summer that some of the senators almost missed their Chautauqua engagements.

In the beginning, too, August had twenty-nine days, and it was pretty generally felt that this was enough, but Julius Caesar added two days, and Consul Ultimus, the leader of the opposition, was made a galley slave. The fight was one of the most thrilling in the history of Rome, and it kept the Senate in session so late in the summer that some of the senators almost missed their Chautauqua engagements.

In the beginning, too, August had twenty-nine days, and it was pretty generally felt that this was enough, but Julius Caesar added two days, and Consul Ultimus, the leader of the opposition, was made a galley slave. The fight was one of the most thrilling in the history of Rome, and it kept the Senate in session so late in the summer that some of the senators almost missed their Chautauqua engagements.

In the beginning, too, August had twenty-nine days, and it was pretty generally felt that this was enough, but Julius Caesar added two days, and Consul Ultimus, the leader of the opposition, was made a galley slave. The fight was one of the most thrilling in the history of Rome, and it kept the Senate in session so late in the summer that some of the senators almost missed their Chautauqua engagements.

In the beginning, too, August had twenty-nine days, and it was pretty generally felt that this was enough, but Julius Caesar added two days, and Consul Ultimus, the leader of the opposition, was made a galley slave. The fight was one of the most thrilling in the history of Rome, and it kept the Senate in session so late in the summer that some of the senators almost missed their Chautauqua engagements.

THE DEMOCRAT

Sweeping Order Affecting Foods and Preparations

W. S. GOLDIE, Publisher
WAYNE, NEB., NEBRASKA.

The effort of George Brandes to induce the Norwegian government to prohibit and banish the German apothecary shop is meeting with the endorsement of many literary organizations all over Europe. The little crumpling building in the south of Norway was the scene of Henrik Ibsen's earliest activity as a writer. He was a helper and then an apprentice in the apothecary shop and enjoyed the first four hours of sleep by writing. "There," he writes in his appeal, "I discovered himself. The place had at that time about 800 inhabitants and the apothecary shop was its exchange, the congregating place of the town's business leaders, where they discussed the events of the time. There he wrote his poem, 'To Hungary' and 'Catalina' and the place should be preserved for all time."

A west side man whose youngest child attempted to blow himself up on the Fourth of July has just settled a pecuniary claim for damages. The child's clothes caught fire in the street, and the number set him afire by the minute set of alimony which caused him into a convenient barrel of liquid. A week later the father got a bill for $20, which represented the cost of a barrel of ruined lemonade into which the youngster had been plunged. The father was willing to pay several times $20 for the preservation of his son, but to place that valuable on a barrel of street lemonade struck him as a bit of unconscious but delighful satire.

After lying at the bottom of the sea undisturbed for a century and a half one of the guns of H. M. S. Ramillies, which was wrecked near East Tali, on the coast of China, has been recovered. One side of the weapon has been worn away with the action of pebbles and sandstone washed over it by the tide to such an extent says the London Chronicle that at the muzzle the thickness of iron is very little, and for its whole length the metal has the appearance of being gradually filed away. Even the trunnions which originally took its weight on the gun carriage have been worn to spires.

The voices of the summer which make sleep difficult for so many persons in New York do not interfere with the repose of one citizen who is happy in the possession of an invention which deadens all sound. This is a small metal device which fits into the ear of the user and stops it up so it is kept in place by a narrow rod no thicker than a pin which fits against the shell of the ear. These deadeners of sound are rare here, but popular enough in Europe, whence this one came.

SEVEN ARE HURT IN FREIGHT COLLISION

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 17.—In a head-on wreck between two Rock Island freight trains one mile east of Rockford, Neb., 30 miles east of heretofore Beattie, last night, seven persons were injured. The locomotives were derailed.

Fireman Gateley, collar bone broken; Mrs. Curen, St. Louis, arm broken; George Smith, Lewiston, Neb., leg broken.

Mrs. R. Burns, Virginia, Neb., cut and bruised on body; Mrs. J. H. Hale, Lewiston, Neb., head cut; E. J. Cook, Lewiston, Neb., side cut; internal injuries.

Mrs. Mary Hobbs, Virginia, Neb., body bruised.

Three engines, were demolished. The wreck is said to have been caused by a misunderstanding of orders.

FOUR PERSONS KILLED IN COLORADO WRECK

Pueblo, Colo., Aug. 17.—At least five persons were killed outright and more than 20 injured in a train wreck between two Denver & Rio Grande passenger trains near Huston, Colo., today.

The locomotives and forward cars of both trains were badly damaged. It is believed the wreck was the result of one of the crews overlooking their orders.

VETERANS ADJOURN THEIR ENCAMPMENT

Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 17.—The forty-third national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic ended last night with a fireworks display on Ensign peak.

In the contest for chaplain, Rev. Daniel Ryan, of Columbus, Ind., won the honor from Rev. Thomas Hardwick, of New Mexico, by a vote of 330 to 232.

After the final details of the convention were disposed of, Commander in Chief Van Sant and his fellow officers, elective and appointive, were installed.

The Woman's Relief corps elected Mrs. Fannie W. D. Harden, of Denver, senior vice president, and Mrs. L. Jones, of Salt Lake, junior vice president.

EUROPEAN CROPS WON'T BE HEAVY

Washington, Aug. 17.—With harvest reached in Europe, the department of agriculture today issued a report showing the conditions of the crops in foreign countries. The conditions are the least promising in Central Europe.

While the European harvest is a whole will undoubtedly be larger than those of the last two years, there was a serious crop shortage. It is unlikely to come up to that of 1906, or even the 1907.

Outside of Europe and the United States, Canada is the only important producer which harvests its crops in this season. Latest reports thence are decidedly encouraging, indicating the Moors of eight Spanish laborers.

Destroying Moors' Camps.

Melilla, Morocco, Aug. 16.—Friendly natives bring in reports that, although the Spanish artillery fire is destroying the camp of the Moors, it is not causing great loss of life, as the Rifles have built a series of subterranean chambers and passages under their locations in which they take refuge.

The Moors made an attempt last night to cut the Spanish railroad. Searchlights, however, revealed their purpose and they were driven back.

There is as yet no evidence here of the beginning of General Marina's march into the interior.

Moors Keep Up Fire.

Penélope La Gomera, Morocco, Aug. 16.—The Moors who surrounded the Spanish garrison here kept up an incessant attack all day Thursday.

One by one the telegraph wires connecting Alhucemas and Ceuta with Melilla and Gibraltar were cut by the Moorish bullets and it is probable the garrison here very soon will be in her home.

"And would you have whipped him?" asked Judge Clarity.

"I would," replied Mrs. Lockhart.

Powell was charged $1 and costs on a charge of talking too freely.

MISSOURI FARMER GIVEN LIFE FOR BRUTAL MURDER

Chicago, Aug. 17.—Mrs. Mandie Locke, 62, widow of a wealthy attorney, has been found guilty of killing her husband, Mr. Powell, 619 West Seventy-eighth street, to fight when Powell, she asserted, made an uncomplimentary remark about Mrs. Blanche Gittings, who lives in her home.

"And would you have whipped him?" asked Judge Clarity.

"I would," replied Mrs. Lockhart.

Powell was charged $1 and costs on a charge of talking too freely.

MISSOURI FARMER GIVEN LIFE FOR BRUTAL MURDER

Mexico, Mo., Aug. 17.—Luther Anderson, a farmer, was today found guilty of murdering his friend, August Wagner, at the latter's home near here. In 1904, Anderson was sentenced to life imprisonment.

The murder of Wagner was revolting. He was struck with a hatchet while working in the cellar of his home, and his head crushed. The motive for the murder was robbery.

After a long study of such questions in London, the Medical Record says, Dr. Hartman finds nothing to show that good schooling hairs children's eyes.

Vain Forbearance.

The trials we're enduring
In the world we're living in
Are beyond the hope of cure.
The people who are foolish,
People who are far too gay,
People swift at people's foolishness—
They are always in the way.

But to a thoughtful creature,
Opposed to all that's rude,
The world's most vexin' feature
Is its rank ingratitude.
Though my nerves I keep a-wrinnin',
Puttin' up with all the things,
Never taken much on me;
Money talk, but it doesn't always make
a satisfactory financial statement.

STRIKE BREAKERS IN CAR COMPANY PLANT

Fog Aids Them in Getting in Before Strikers Know of Their Coming.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 18.—Taking advantage of a heavy fog which enveloped the Ohio river early today, the Bessemer Steel car company landed about 200 new men at McKees Rocks, whom they succeeded in getting into the plant before the strikers' pickets were aware of the movement.

The men arrived on two trains at Bellefonte and were ferried across the river. As soon as the alarm was given for a mass meeting at Indian Mound, but there was no trouble.

Strikes in the Pittsburgh family started yesterday. Did the being aided by 25 negroes hired by the rental agency of the company.

A package is defined to be any filled carton, bottle, bag or other container.

The wholesaler as well as the retailer must see that the package is stamped with the weight or measure of its contents, and this weight or measure must be indicated on the label, and by the order sent contained in the bulletin just issued by the department, and cover practically everything that is offered for sale for food purposes. In addition all extracts, liquids, liquors or other drinks must bear the net weight or measure and also the percentage of alcohol.

The new order, which is a synopsis of the new law, which recently went into effect, is sweeping in its character.

REVENUE COLLECTOR ASKS EXPLANATIONS

Randolph, Neb., Aug. 17.—A. L. Statler, a United States internal revenue collector, visited Randolph, the first of the week and called several citizens "upon the carpet" and wanted to know what they were doing with the liquor when they received. He informed them that if they desired to receive more than one case at a time, shipment had better get a government license or suffer the consequences.

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 17.—In a head-on wreck between two Rock Island

freight trains one mile east of Rockford,

Neb., 30 miles east of heretofore Beattie,

last night, seven persons were injured. The locomotives were derailed.

Fireman Gateley, collar bone broken;

Mrs. Curen, St. Louis, arm broken;

George Smith, Lewiston, Neb., leg broken.

Mrs. R. Burns, Virginia, Neb., cut and bruised on body;

Mrs. J. H. Hale, Lewiston, Neb., head cut;

E. J. Cook, Lewiston, Neb., side cut;

internal injuries.

Mrs. Mary Hobbs, Virginia, Neb., body bruised.

Three engines, were demolished. The wreck is said to have been caused by a misunderstanding of orders.

FOUR PERSONS KILLED IN COLORADO WRECK

Pueblo, Colo., Aug. 17.—At least five persons were killed outright and more than 20 injured in a train wreck between two Denver & Rio Grande passenger trains near Huston, Colo., today.

The locomotives and forward cars of both trains were badly damaged. It is believed the wreck was the result of one of the crews overlooking their orders.

VETERANS ADJOURN THEIR ENCAMPMENT

Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 17.—The forty-third national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic ended last night with a fireworks display on Ensign peak.

In the contest for chaplain, Rev. Daniel Ryan, of Columbus, Ind., won the honor from Rev. Thomas Hardwick, of New Mexico, by a vote of 330 to 232.

After the final details of the convention were disposed of, Commander in Chief Van Sant and his fellow officers, elective and appointive, were installed.

The Woman's Relief corps elected Mrs. Fannie W. D. Harden, of Denver, senior vice president, and Mrs. L. Jones, of Salt Lake, junior vice president.

EUROPEAN CROPS WON'T BE HEAVY

Washington, Aug. 17.—With harvest reached in Europe, the department of agriculture today issued a report showing the conditions of the crops in foreign countries. The conditions are the least promising in Central Europe.

While the European harvest is a whole will undoubtedly be larger than those of the last two years, there was a serious crop shortage. It is unlikely to come up to that of 1906, or even the 1907.

Outside of Europe and the United States, Canada is the only important producer which harvests its crops in this season. Latest reports thence are decidedly encouraging, indicating the Moors of eight Spanish laborers.

Destroying Moors' Camps.

Melilla, Morocco, Aug. 16.—The Moors who surrounded the Spanish garrison here kept up an incessant attack all day Thursday.

One by one the telegraph wires connecting Alhucemas and Ceuta with Melilla and Gibraltar were cut by the Moorish bullets and it is probable the garrison here very soon will be in her home.

"And would you have whipped him?" asked Judge Clarity.

"I would," replied Mrs. Lockhart.

MISSOURI FARMER GIVEN LIFE FOR BRUTAL MURDER

Chicago, Aug. 17.—Mrs. Mandie Locke, 62, widow of a wealthy attorney, has been found guilty of killing her husband, Mr. Powell, 619 West Seventy-eighth street, to fight when Powell, she asserted, made an uncomplimentary remark about Mrs. Blanche Gittings, who lives in her home.

"And would you have whipped him?" asked Judge Clarity.

"I would," replied Mrs. Lockhart.

MISSOURI FARMER GIVEN LIFE FOR BRUTAL MURDER

Mexico, Mo., Aug. 17.—Luther Anderson, a farmer, was today found guilty of murdering his friend, August Wagner, at the latter's home near here. In 1904, Anderson was sentenced to life imprisonment.

The murder of Wagner was revolting. He was struck with a hatchet while working in the cellar of his home, and his head crushed. The motive for the murder was robbery.

After a long study of such questions in London, the Medical Record says, Dr. Hartman finds nothing to show that good schooling hairs children's eyes.

Vain Forbearance.

The trials we're enduring.

In the world we're living in.

Are beyond the hope of cure.

The people who are foolish,

People who are far too gay,

People swift at people's foolishness—

They are always in the way.

But to a thoughtful creature,

Opposed to all that's rude,

The world's most vexin' feature

Is its rank ingratitude.

Though my nerves I keep a-wrinnin',

Puttin' up with all the things,

Never taken much on me;

Money talk, but it doesn't always make a satisfactory financial statement.

rendered.

Malta, Aug. 17.—The British battleship Swiftsure has left here for the Island of Crete. It is understood the other protecting powers, Russia, Italy and France, will send warships to Crete, and in view of the islanders' attitude, that they are resolved to enforce respect for the rights of Turkey.

BISBEE, ARIZ.—A. Thoy and William Beckholz, Illinois operators of the Bisbee Daily Review, were murdered yesterday. When the police came to the office, the editor and his wife were found dead in their beds. The murderer, John P. Myers, entered the office without a word, drew a revolver and opened fire. The murder grew out of a miners' strike in the Review office, which was always in the way.

But to a thoughtful creature,

Opposed to all that's rude,

The world's most vexin' feature

Is its rank ingratitude.

Though my nerves I keep a-wrinnin',

Puttin' up with all the things,

Never taken much on me;

Money talk, but it doesn't always make

a satisfactory financial statement.

But to a thoughtful creature,

Opposed to all that's rude,

The world's most vexin' feature

Is its rank ingratitude.

Though my nerves I keep a-wrinnin',

Puttin' up with all the things,

Never taken much on me;

Money talk, but it doesn't always make

RUSSIAN SUBMARINE SCENE OF EXPLOSION

Two Sailors Are Killed, Others Seriously Hurt and Dozen Penned Up.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 17.—A serious explosion today on the coast of Massachusetts off the coast of Massachusetts yesterday will be investigated by a court of inquiry consisting of Captain Caperton, Commander Hull and Commander Bush.

DOVER, ENGLAND.—Montague Hobbin, the well known English long distance swimmer, has failed in his second attempt to swim across the English channel. After a splendid flight he was forced to give up a few miles out of Dover.

FAMOUS BUILDING HIT.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 17.—The count house at Washington, Mason County, in which "Uncle Tom" of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" fame was sold, was struck by lightning and destroyed yesterday. The building was erected in 1754.

FIRE IN FORT WORTH.

Fort Worth, Tex., Aug. 17.—Fire in the business district here today caused a loss of $200,000.

EXPLOSION ON SUBMARINE.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 17.—There was an explosion today on a Russian submarine anchored in the Neva and two men were killed and several others wounded.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Aug. 16.—The American Poultry Association, in convention here, expelled T. DeGraw of exhibiting birds with painted wings.

ROCKPORT, MASS.—Caplain Evans and Engineer Belfio were picked up by the Dollyviers Neck life saving crew and landed here at noon. Dr. Trotter was washed off the gratings and drowned. The men were picked up inside of Ipswich bay, about four miles off shore.

BOSTON, MASS.—The Nezinscot, bound from Portsmouth for Boston, capsized on Half Point, Cape Ann, early today, carrying down four members of the crew.

ROCKPORT, MASS.—Aug. 13.—In庄严的清晨，波士顿附近，一艘名为“Nezinscot”的渔船在半点礁石附近翻覆，造成四名船员丧生。

NEW YORK, AUG. 14.—Catherine Donan, 27 years old, fell from a fourth-story window to the sidewalk in front of her home, 200 West Sixty-eighth Street, and was injured so slightly that she will be able to play again soon.

The boat, the Catherine, owned by Captain Evans, who was leaning from a third-story window, was saved by the crew. There have been laid out some territories by which waters are conserved and distributed and nearly 700,000 acres already brought under irrigation, with returns to the fund amounting already to over $1,000,000.

FUND OF $62,000,000.

"The government reclamation fund has been larger than was expected upwards of $62,000,000 being available to December, 1909, this being increased as much as was foreseen.

There have been laid out some territories which involve the ultimate reclamation of several million acres.

Large works, whose magnitude is such that they have been passed over by private and corporate enterprise, have been built.

"All may be stated that in round numbers there were ready for irrigation at the beginning of the irrigation season of the present year over 5,000 farms, with an aggregate acreage of 700,000 acres.

Faults in Act.

"Of course, there is always another side to every large problem. It is not conceivable that the reclamation act could be wholly perfect or that its administration could be without flaw.

Captain Evans, the surgeon, the engineer and several seamen were drifting out to sea before the gale on the life raft. Half an hour later a dozen fishermen boats put out from here as well as a life saving crew from Straitsmouth and Gloucester to rescue the men adrift.

The Nezinscot left Portsmouth at 8 a.m. today, with a cargo of anchors, anchor chains and searchlights for the battleship Missouri. The tug was a boat of low freeboard and her cargo brought her down under her decks as well as her superstructure. She was manned by five officers and a crew of about 10 men.

Captain Evans, who was in command, falls from Quincy, Mass., and has been in charge of many battleships for the Fore River Shipbuilding company during their trials on the New England coast.

The gale was blowing when the Nezinscot left Portsmouth, so Captain Evans hugged the shore as far as Ipswich. Then he headed across for Cape Ann. As the tug went off shore the tide rising seas and began to roll. Off Half Point a big sea bore the little boat over until the water flooded the engine room and she became helpless.

Captain Evans ordered the single boat carried to be lowered and put in it his wife and little boy and the second officer. Scarcely had the boat touched the water when the Nezinscot lurched and plunged under the waves.

The captain, surgeon, engineer and all the crew were lost except the man adrift.

The Nezinscot left Portsmouth at 8 a.m. today, with a cargo of anchors, anchor chains and searchlights for the battleship Missouri. The tug was a boat of low freeboard and her cargo brought her down under her decks as well as her superstructure. She was manned by five officers and a crew of about 10 men.

Captain Evans, who was in command, falls from Quincy, Mass., and has been in charge of many battleships for the Fore River Shipbuilding company during their trials on the New England coast.

The gale was blowing when the Nezinscot left Portsmouth, so Captain Evans hugged the shore as far as Ipswich. Then he headed across for Cape Ann. As the tide rising seas and began to roll. Off Half Point a big sea bore the little boat over until the water flooded the engine room and she became helpless.

Captain Evans ordered the single boat carried to be lowered and put in it his wife and little boy and the second officer. Scarcely had the boat touched the water when the Nezinscot lurched and plunged under the waves.

The captain, surgeon, engineer and all the crew were lost except the man adrift.

The Nezinscot left Portsmouth at 8 a.m. today, with a cargo of anchors, anchor chains and searchlights for the battleship Missouri. The tug was a boat of low freeboard and her cargo brought her down under her decks as well as her superstructure. She was manned by five officers and a crew of about 10 men.

Captain Evans, who was in command, falls from Quincy, Mass., and has been in charge of many battleships for the Fore River Shipbuilding company during their trials on the New England coast.

The gale was blowing when the Nezinscot left Portsmouth, so Captain Evans hugged the shore as far as Ipswich. Then he headed across for Cape Ann. As the tide rising seas and began to roll. Off Half Point a big sea bore the little boat over until the water flooded the engine room and she became helpless.

Captain Evans ordered the single boat carried to be lowered and put in it his wife and little boy and the second officer. Scarcely had the boat touched the water when the Nezinscot lurched and plunged under the waves.

The captain, surgeon, engineer and all the crew were lost except the man adrift.

The Nezinscot left Portsmouth at 8 a.m. today, with a cargo of anchors, anchor chains and searchlights for the battleship Missouri. The tug was a boat of low freeboard and her cargo brought her down under her decks as well as her superstructure. She was manned by five officers and a crew of about 10 men.

Captain Evans, who was in command, falls from Quincy, Mass., and has been in charge of many battleships for the Fore River Shipbuilding company during their trials on the New England coast.

The gale was blowing when the Nezinscot left Portsmouth, so Captain Evans hugged the shore as far as Ipswich. Then he headed across for Cape Ann. As the tide rising seas and began to roll. Off Half Point a big sea bore the little boat over until the water flooded the engine room and she became helpless.

Captain Evans ordered the single boat carried to be lowered and put in it his wife and little boy and the second officer. Scarcely had the boat touched the water when the Nezinscot lurched and plunged under the waves.

The captain, surgeon, engineer and all the crew were lost except the man adrift.

The Nezinscot left Portsmouth at 8 a.m. today, with a cargo of anchors, anchor chains and searchlights for the battleship Missouri. The tug was a boat of low freeboard and her cargo brought her down under her decks as well as her superstructure. She was manned by five officers and a crew of about 10 men.

Captain Evans, who was in command, falls from Quincy, Mass., and has been in charge of many battleships for the Fore River Shipbuilding company during their trials on the New England coast.

The gale was blowing when the Nezinscot left Portsmouth, so Captain Evans hugged the shore as far as Ipswich. Then he headed across for Cape Ann. As the tide rising seas and began to roll. Off Half Point a big sea bore the little boat over until the water flooded the engine room and she became helpless.

Captain Evans ordered the single boat carried to be lowered and put in it his wife and little boy and the second officer. Scarcely had the boat touched the water when the Nezinscot lurched and plunged under the waves.

The captain, surgeon, engineer and all the crew were lost except the man adrift.

The Nezinscot left Portsmouth at 8 a.m. today, with a cargo of anchors, anchor chains and searchlights for the battleship Missouri. The tug was a boat of low freeboard and her cargo brought her down under her decks as well as her superstructure. She was manned by five officers and a crew of about 10 men.

Captain Evans, who was in command, falls from Quincy, Mass., and has been in charge of many battleships for the Fore River Shipbuilding company during their trials on the New England coast.

The gale was blowing when the Nezinscot left Portsmouth, so Captain Evans hugged the shore as far as Ipswich. Then he headed across for Cape Ann. As the tide rising seas and began to roll. Off Half Point a big sea bore the little boat over until the water flooded the engine room and she became helpless.

Captain Evans ordered the single boat carried to be lowered and put in it his wife and little boy and the second officer. Scarcely had the boat touched the water when the Nezinscot lurched and plunged under the waves.

The captain, surgeon, engineer and all the crew were lost except the man adrift.

The Nezinscot left Portsmouth at 8 a.m. today, with a cargo of anchors, anchor chains and searchlights for the battleship Missouri. The tug was a boat of low freeboard and her cargo brought her down under her decks as well as her superstructure. She was manned by five officers and a crew of about 10 men.

Captain Evans, who was in command, falls from Quincy, Mass., and has been in charge of many battleships for the Fore River Shipbuilding company during their trials on the New England coast.

The gale was blowing when the Nezinscot left Portsmouth, so Captain Evans hugged the shore as far as Ipswich. Then he headed across for Cape Ann. As the tide rising seas and began to roll. Off Half Point a big sea bore the little boat over until the water flooded the engine room and she became helpless.

Captain Evans ordered the single boat carried to be lowered and put in it his wife and little boy and the second officer. Scarcely had the boat touched the water when the Nezinscot lurched and plunged under the waves.

The captain, surgeon, engineer and all the crew were lost except the man adrift.

The Nezinscot left Portsmouth at 8 a.m. today, with a cargo of anchors, anchor chains and searchlights for the battleship Missouri. The tug was a boat of low freeboard and her cargo brought her down under her decks as well as her superstructure. She was manned by five officers and a crew of about 10 men.

Captain Evans, who was in command, falls from Quincy, Mass., and has been in charge of many battleships for the Fore River Shipbuilding company during their trials on the New England coast.

The gale was blowing when the Nezinscot left Portsmouth, so Captain Evans hugged the shore as far as Ipswich. Then he headed across for Cape Ann. As the tide rising seas and began to roll. Off Half Point a big sea bore the little boat over until the water flooded the engine room and she became helpless.

Captain Evans ordered the single boat carried to be lowered and put in it his wife and little boy and the second officer. Scarcely had the boat touched the water when the Nezinscot lurched and plunged under the waves.

The captain, surgeon, engineer and all the crew were lost except the man adrift.

The Nezinscot left Portsmouth at 8 a.m. today, with a cargo of anchors, anchor chains and searchlights for the battleship Missouri. The tug was a boat of low freeboard and her cargo brought her down under her decks as well as her superstructure. She was manned by five officers and a crew of about 10 men.

Captain Evans, who was in command, falls from Quincy, Mass., and has been in charge of many battleships for the Fore River Shipbuilding company during their trials on the New England coast.

The gale was blowing when the Nezinscot left Portsmouth, so Captain Evans hugged the shore as far as Ipswich. Then he headed across for Cape Ann. As the tide rising seas and began to roll. Off Half Point a big sea bore the little boat over until the water flooded the engine room and she became helpless.

Captain Evans ordered the single boat carried to be lowered and put in it his wife and little boy and the second officer. Scarcely had the boat touched the water when the Nezinscot lurched and plunged under the waves.

The captain, surgeon, engineer and all the crew were lost except the man adrift.

The Nezinscot left Portsmouth at 8 a.m. today, with a cargo of anchors, anchor chains and searchlights for the battleship Missouri. The tug was a boat of low freeboard and her cargo brought her down under her decks as well as her superstructure. She was manned by five officers and a crew of about 10 men.

Captain Evans, who was in command, falls from Quincy, Mass., and has been in charge of many battleships for the Fore River Shipbuilding company during their trials on the New England coast.

The gale was blowing when the Nezinscot left Portsmouth, so Captain Evans hugged the shore as far as Ipswich. Then he headed across for Cape Ann. As the tide rising seas and began to roll. Off Half Point a big sea bore the little boat over until the water flooded the engine room and she became helpless.

Captain Evans ordered the single boat carried to be lowered and put in it his wife and little boy and the second officer. Scarcely had the boat touched the water when the Nezinscot lurched and plunged under the waves.

The captain, surgeon, engineer and all the crew were lost except the man adrift.

The Nezinscot left Portsmouth at 8 a.m. today, with a cargo of anchors, anchor chains and searchlights for the battleship Missouri. The tug was a boat of low freeboard and her cargo brought her down under her decks as well as her superstructure. She was manned by five officers and a crew of about 10 men.

Captain Evans, who was in command, falls from Quincy, Mass., and has been in charge of many battleships for the Fore River Shipbuilding company during their trials on the New England coast.

The gale was blowing when the Nezinscot left Portsmouth, so Captain Evans hugged the shore as far as Ipswich. Then he headed across for Cape Ann. As the tide rising seas and began to roll. Off Half Point a big sea bore the little boat over until the water flooded the engine room and she became helpless.

Captain Evans ordered the single boat carried to be lowered and put in it his wife and little boy and the second officer. Scarcely had the boat touched the water when the Nezinscot lurched and plunged under the waves.

The captain, surgeon, engineer and all the crew were lost except the man adrift.

The Nezinscot left Portsmouth at 8 a.m. today, with a cargo of anchors, anchor chains and searchlights for the battleship Missouri. The tug was a boat of low freeboard and her cargo brought her down under her decks as well as her superstructure. She was manned by five officers and a crew of about 10 men.

Captain Evans, who was in command, falls from Quincy, Mass., and has been in charge of many battleships for the Fore River Shipbuilding company during their trials on the New England coast.

The gale was blowing when the Nezinscot left Portsmouth, so Captain Evans hugged the shore as far as Ipswich. Then he headed across for Cape Ann. As the tide rising seas and began to roll. Off Half Point a big sea bore the little boat over until the water flooded the engine room and she became helpless.

Captain Evans ordered the single boat carried to be lowered and put in it his wife and little boy and the second officer. Scarcely had the boat touched the water when the Nezinscot lurched and plunged under the waves.

The captain, surgeon, engineer and all the crew were lost except the man adrift.

The Nezinscot left Portsmouth at 8 a.m. today, with a cargo of anchors, anchor chains and searchlights for the battleship Missouri. The tug was a boat of low freeboard and her cargo brought her down under her decks as well as her superstructure. She was manned by five officers and a crew of about 10 men.

Captain Evans, who was in command, falls from Quincy, Mass., and has been in charge of many battleships for the Fore River Shipbuilding company during their trials on the New England coast.

The gale was blowing when the Nezinscot left Portsmouth, so Captain Evans hugged the shore as far as Ipswich. Then he headed across for Cape Ann. As the tide rising seas and began to roll. Off Half Point a big sea bore the little boat over until the water flooded the engine room and she became helpless.

Captain Evans ordered the single boat carried to be lowered and put in it his wife and little boy and the second officer. Scarcely had the boat touched the water when the Nezinscot lurched and plunged under the waves.

The captain, surgeon, engineer and all the crew were lost except the man adrift.

The Nezinscot left Portsmouth at 8 a.m. today, with a cargo of anchors, anchor chains and searchlights for the battleship Missouri. The tug was a boat of low freeboard and her cargo brought her down under her decks as well as her superstructure. She was manned by five officers and a crew of about 10 men.

Captain Evans, who was in command, falls from Quincy, Mass., and has been in charge of many battleships for the Fore River Shipbuilding company during their trials on the New England coast.

The gale was blowing when the Nezinscot left Portsmouth, so Captain Evans hugged the shore as far as Ipswich. Then he headed across for Cape Ann. As the tide rising seas and began to roll. Off Half Point a big sea bore the little boat over until the water flooded the engine room and she became helpless.

Captain Evans ordered the single boat carried to be lowered and put in it his wife and little boy and the second officer. Scarcely had the boat touched the water when the Nezinscot lurched and plunged under the waves.

The captain, surgeon, engineer and all the crew were lost except the man adrift.

The Nezinscot left Portsmouth at 8 a.m. today, with a cargo of anchors, anchor chains and searchlights for the battleship Missouri. The tug was a boat of low freeboard and her cargo brought her down under her decks as well as her superstructure. She was manned by five officers and a crew of about 10 men.

Captain Evans, who was in command, falls from Quincy, Mass., and has been in charge of many battleships for the Fore River Shipbuilding company during their trials on the New England coast.

The gale was blowing when the Nezinscot left Portsmouth, so Captain Evans hugged the shore as far as Ipswich. Then he headed across for Cape Ann. As the tide rising seas and began to roll. Off Half Point a big sea bore the little boat over until the water flooded the engine room and she became helpless.

Captain Evans ordered the single boat carried to be lowered and put in it his wife and little boy and the second officer. Scarcely had the boat touched the water when the Nezinscot lurched and plunged under the waves.

The captain, surgeon, engineer and all the crew were lost except the man adrift.

The Nezinscot left Portsmouth at 8 a.m. today, with a cargo of anchors, anchor chains and searchlights for the battleship Missouri. The tug was a boat of low freeboard and her cargo brought her down under her decks as well as her superstructure. She was manned by five officers and a crew of about 10 men.

Captain Evans, who was in command, falls from Quincy, Mass., and has been in charge of many battleships for the Fore River Shipbuilding company during their trials on the New England coast.

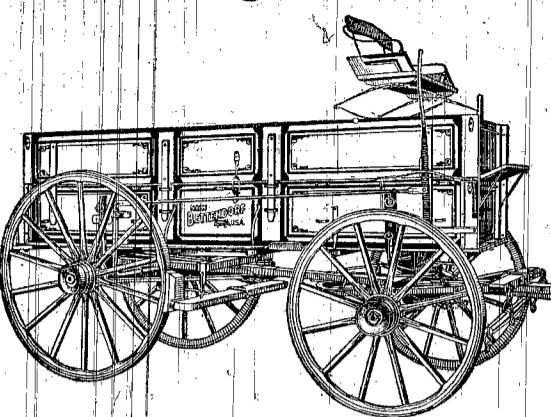

The gale was blowing when the Nezinscot left Portsmouth, so Captain Evans hugged the shore as far as Ipswich. Then he headed across for Cape Ann. As the tide rising seas and began to roll. Off Half Point a big sea bore the little boat over until the water flooded the engine room and she became helpless.

Captain Evans ordered the single boat carried to be lowered and put in it his wife and little boy and the second officer. Scarcely had the boat touched the water when the Nezinscot lurched and plunged under the waves.

The captain, surgeon, engineer

The BETTENDORF

Best Wagon on Earth

Cold Steel Axles.
Built of fine Materials.
A guarantee goes with every wagon sold.

NEELY & CRAVEN

Wayne Agents.

Prof. R. Durrin Judson Garwood
Wayne Marble & Granite Works

PROF. R. DURRIN & CO., Props.

All kinds of Monumental Work. Fine Lettering a Specialty.
Original Designs Artistically Executed
Special attention paid to German Inscriptions

We employ no Agents and ordinarily sell our work at prices less the 20 per cent commission of an agent.
Every job guaranteed to be as represented.

PROF. R. DURRIN & CO.

Oldest Bank In Wayne County

CAPITAL, - $75,000.00

SURPLUS, - $15,000.00

FRANK B. STRAHAN,
President.

JOHN T. BRESSLER,
Vice President.

H. T. WILSON,
Cashier.

H. S. RINGLAND,
Asst. Cashier.

Accounts whether Large or Small Appreciated.

Interest Paid on Time Deposits.

Farm Loans

At lowest rates
and best options
see

Phil H. Kohl....

Novelty Repair Works

Located 2d door north German store. Sewing machines of all kinds cleaned and repaired. Razors, knives and scissors sharpened. Shoe repairing.

W.M. BROSCHEIT.

Western Nebraska Land

Irrigated and dry land, in Cheyenne, Boxbutte and Morrill Counties. We have some of the finest land in the state of Nebraska, which can yet be bought cheap and on very reasonable terms, don't neglect to ask for information about these lands.

GRANT S. MEARS or BERT BROWN

How About Those Walks?

The season is nearly here for cement sidewalk building. This year I shall be better prepared than ever for this work, and will be pleased to get your orders early that the work may be done when desired.

I have made some of the best walks, gutters and crossings ever put in Wayne. Call and see me at the Philo Lumber office if you are going to have any cement work done.

RAY PERDUE.

ORDER OF HEARING ON ORIGINAL PROBATE OF WILL.

The State of Nebraska, SS

At a County Court, held at the County Court Room, in and for said County of Wayne, on the 26th day of July, 1909.

Present, James Britton, County Judge. In the matter of the estate of Carl Peetz, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of P. Sievers praying that the instrument filed on the 26th day of July, 1909, and purporting to be the last Will and Testament of said deceased, and may be proved, approved, probated, allowed and recorded as the last Will and Testament of said Carl Peetz, deceased, and that the execution of said instrument may be committed and that the administration of said estate may be granted to Henry Ley as executor; ORDERED, that August 23d A.D. 1909, at 9 o'clock P.M., is assigned for hearing said petition, when all persons interested in said matter may appear at a County Court to be held in and for said County, and show cause why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted; and that notice of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, be given to all persons interested in said matter by publishing a copy of this order in the Nebraska Democrat, a weekly newspaper printed in said County, for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing.

JAMES BRITTON, County Judge.

RAY PERDUE.

RAY PERDUE.