Steinkraus-Bell Nuptials

A happy surprise was sprung in our city last Friday evening at 8 o'clock, when R. S. Steinkraus and Miss Blanche Bell were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The marriage was performed in the County Judge's office by Judge Kelly, and E. B. Kane, and J. H. Wanner, were witnesses to the ceremony. It had been suspected for some time that Cupid would play an important part in the lives of these two young people and thus when the news leaked out, it did not come unexpectedly.

Both of the contracting parties are popular young people and well known to the people of Pierce and Winfield counties. The groom is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Steinkraus of our city and was reared in our midst. Having resided here practically all his

W. F. Nieland was in Wayne from Emerson Tuesday and called to get the Democrat sent him. Mr. Nieland is just back from the Pan-handle of Texas where he built a schoolhouse. He does not think much of that country down there. Too much sand, no water—in the rivers—and level, lake-bed country.

R. G. Fleming of Blackfoot, Idaho, was in Wayne the past week advertising his country for land buyers. From '89 until '92 Mr. Fleming was passenger conductor on the U. P. train from Columbus to Sioux City, and the first introduction the Democrat man had with him was twenty years ago when he gave him U. P. mileage, belonging to the late A. P. Childs, to ride to Sioux City and back. Mr. Fleming's son-in-law, Chas. Burket, is at the head of the land firm. Mr. Fleming is a man of 59 years of age, being now married a second time to a girl of not near half that age. P. H. Kohl is local agent for the land company, and they ought to do business on any kind of soil.

W. B. McDonald who owns a lot of land near Carroll, just completed husking corn last week and was in Wayne Monday. Mr. McDonald had quite a time with his tenant whom he charges with trying to beat him out of his share of the corn. Mr. McDonald finally placed a man "on watch" in the barn and one in the hog house. Two loads of corn—Mac's corn—were hauled to the place to be unloaded, but when there was from ten to fifteen bushels in each wagon the teams were started for the tenant's home. The watchmen called McDonald from the house and the three men caught the two men red-handed. McDonald had figured he was over a hundred bushels short and when he demanded that his tenant make good, the latter disappeared. Atty. Witsie of Randolph was called into the game, the parties rounded up but allowed to go without prosecution by returning some two hundred bushels of corn and paying expenses.

A Peculiar Law Suit.

Looking West From the North and South Road--Clark's Valley

Looking West From the East End of Perry's Valley

The litigation over tiling this valley is of considerable interest to land owners as a decision from the supreme court where it is now pending will establish a strong precedent in future differences of this kind. As the Democrat impartially understands it, the parties to this suit first talked of prorating the cost of tiling the whole valley, the statute providing for such contingency. Then Mr. Clark went to tiling his property independently; a restraining order was asked by Perry, and later a temporary injunction was granted by the district court, but indications are that Clark got his land pretty well tiled. Last fall, on a hearing for a permanent injunction, Judge A. A. Welch, after two or three months deliberation, found a verdict for Mr. Clark. The court's decision is based largely on the fact that there was a culvert on the road, in the center of the valley, although the traveled road more often was at end of culvert, the grade very slight, and no ditch nor flow of water down the valley except from excessive rains or melting snow. Under the rulings of Judge Welch it would not be permissible for Perry to tile his valley and run the water onto his neighbor below, for at this juncture it is a broad valley with no county culvert to cloud the judicial mind. It will therefore be readily seen that Perry is easily "between the devil and the deep sea." He is compelled to take the water-cure in the summer time and an ice thing all winter, unless the supreme court shall decide that it is not "in the interests of a good husbandry" to allow one landowner to wantonly destroy the usefulness of the fields of his neighbor.

BY DAD

"Why, John," exclaimed the mother as she entered the room, "what in the world makes the baby cry so?"

"I don't know, my dear," answered the father, as he handed the infant over to its mother, "but I imagine he is thinking of what the governor of North Carolina said to the governor of South Carolina.

When the republicans get through with the investigations already started there will be no trouble in finding other things to investigate.

The Standard Oil company of New Jersey has declared a quarterly dividend of 15 percent. The high cost of living must be something fierce to those poor stockholders who are getting only 60 percent a year on their money.

"I didn't do nothing," said a sorrowful individual from up the line last Saturday forenoon. "Well, by dad, didn't I tell you a few days ago that the city of Wayne had very poor accommodations for a $7 per day house? That's what you read in the Democrat." "Yep," I know," replied the poor booze fighter, "but you see I got in a day and a half for the $7."

The St. Louis City papers can now plan to give their readers something besides plan bosh.

When you go to the court house to pay your taxes this year you will discover another unmistakable exemplification of the high cost of living and doing business in your own home and place of business and home. There should be a boycott started on high taxes.

It is announced that Halley's comet will be visible to the naked eye on the night of April 23th. Halleylujah.

Taft's Lincoln day speech is to be printed at public expense and circulated as a republican campaign document. We presume the democrats will be permitted to pay their share of the expense.

Padded hips have gone out of style, so they say, but in this day and age the women are bound to pad something and I understand that a large number of Wayne women have recently provided themselves with a sort of pneumatic apparatus with which they can at will produce instantaneous development of that portion of their anatomy where most of us, as infants, did our first nosing around. One of them tells me that the apparatus works so perfectly that it, or they, cannot be distinguished from the real thing. I felt—that she was telling the truth. But there is a "give away" to most everything. The other day a lady who had company was appearing at her best. Her little daughter suddenly jumped up in her lap and bumped her head against the place where it had a right to nestle. There was a noise not unlike that produced by pulling one's finger out of the neck of a rubber bottle. "Oh, mamma," shouted the little one, "I bet I busted that rigamagig you're wearing." The subject was not discussed further at that time.

In the natural course of events we may expect the bottom of the strawberry box to be a little higher this spring.

The girl who can put a good square patch on a pair of pantaloons or command a regiment of pots and kettles, may not, in the eyes of ten per cent aristocracy, seem as accomplished as the girl who can embroider and work a worsted dog on a blue ground or hum the "Sweet Bye and Bye," but the working girl in every day battles of life is worth a ten-acre field full of the other kind.

Some species of dogs seem to have more intelligence than their frivolous mistress. A collie dog in Maine resented the familiarity of a Brunswick girl who attempted to kiss it, and it took thirteen stitches to sew up the wound his teeth left in her face.

A big lot of slush is being printed about what Roosevelt will do when he comes home. He will do just as he always has done—discover what is popular with the people, then jump right to it.

Aviator Paulhan has been enjoined from continuing his flights up in the air. Wish somebody would get "one of them things" on the hog.

Senator Jeff Davis says he would like to see John D. Rockefeller "wrapped in the flames of hell." When the time comes Jeff will no doubt be close enough to see the spectacle.

A judge in Missouri has shown the country a bit of sense regarding the qualifications of jurors. In the trial of a case one of the lawyers, with the evident intention of challenging, asked the familiar question whether the talesman has read accounts of the case in the newspapers. "What's the difference if he has read the newspapers?" demanded the judge. "He'll make the better jurymen. To say that a man ought not to serve because he has read the newspaper accounts is saying in effect that a jury of intelligence is objected to. That is not justice; neither is it law." As the Springfield Republican observes, it is a satisfaction to have so sensible a suggestion clothed with the authority of a judge.

Of course you'll see that "Geo. Washington" ad of Dan Harrington's in today's paper, but you will be more interested to know that a representative of Hart, Schaffner & Marx actually went to Harper's Ferry and pulled out the old carriage President Washington used to ride in, and that the picture is taken from an actual photograph of this occurrence. Hart, Schaffner & Marx clothes wear just like this old rig does in the hearts of the American people.

Cy Hunter's Golden Wedding

County Judge Britton and wife, Clerk of the Courts Feather and wife and Hon. John T. Bressler and wife were a party of pioneers of Laporte to go to Wakefield yesterday to attend the golden wedding of Judge and Mrs. Cy Hunter, also residents of Laporte in the days of "Who's who."

Carroll Baptist Church Notes

Last Sunday was a cold day and the attendance at the Bible school and at the preaching services was small compared with the week before.

The offering for Home Missions was postponed for another week as we desire that all have a part in this important work of the church.

Rev. H. E. Wolcott of Dawson county will assist in a series of meetings to begin about the 9th of March. Rev. Wolcott comes highly recommended as a pastor's helper.

The ladies gave an excellent dinner and supper last Saturday and met with their usual success. There was so much food brought in that they had to serve supper to get rid of the eatables, then quite a quantity was sent to some who were not able to attend. The ladies were greatly pleased when one of the loyal and enterprising citizens tendered them with a check on the Carroll bank for a goodly sum to aid them in putting in a cement walk. The gentleman in question has the ladies best wishes for his success and tender their thanks for his kindness.

Bids are now wanted for the work of putting in the walk around the church property. Address all matters to the Ladies Mission Circle of the Baptist church.

Tidrick-Shalms

A very pleasant wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Brown four miles south of Wayne, on Feb. 22, 1910, when Mr. George C. Shalms and Miss Carrie R. Tidrick were united in marriage by Rev. C. J. Ringler at high noon, in the presence of about forty invited guests. After the ceremony the party sat down to a bountiful repast, where all did ample justice. The wedding presents were numerous and valuable.

Both bride and groom have grown up together in this community and are highly respected by all who know them.

The young couple will start life together on the Shalms farm seven miles southwest of Wayne, where the new friends will join in the well-wishes of the new couple.

There will be a $5,000 display of water colors, by an American artist, at Mrs. Bressler's home Thursday, today, and evening. The Acme club has charge of the art exhibition.

The Acme club celebrated their 25 anniversary last Tuesday evening by entertaining their husbands at a Washington party at the Jacobs' home. The parlor and reception hall were decorated in club colors, pale yellow and blue by festoons and cut flowers daffodils and carnations, while the dining room was in red, white and blue. The guests were all seated around two tables and were served to a four course dinner by the Misses Helen Blair, Mary Mellor and Ruth and Kate Bressler at 6 o'clock. Below each chandelier a large wheel was attached and on this were small stars which were taken down by means of a wand, which were given to each of the guests after dinner, inside of these stars was a slip of paper containing the horoscope of each guest the reading of which created much merriment. Conundrums completed a most delightful evening's entertainment.

The O. E. S. will hold a special meeting next Monday evening when Mrs. Scott, the Grand Worthy Matron will be here to inspect the chapter.

The Fortnightly club had a delightful party at the E. B. Philcox home Saturday evening.

A progressive dinner is to be given by young ladies to the young men next Friday evening.

The ladies of the Federation will hold an exchange at Craven & Welch's hardware store Saturday afternoon.

The Bible Circle meets with Mrs. Albert Siefken next Wednesday.

To Democrat Subscribers

The Democrat this month has mailed statements of account—where there was anything due—to all readers, and also a suggestion to those whose time has expired, to renew. No attention being paid to these notices the paper will be discontinued to such addresses, and where there is any obligation to this office the account will be given to the National Rating League of Chicago, a concern that does collect the money.

Sam Temple finally admits that he is going to move. He will get down near "democratic headquarters," taking the little room at present occupied by Warren Emery as a barber shop.

You have heard of such things before, but never one that would actually stand investigation and prove to be practical and worthy of every-day use. But the oil-burner now on exhibition at Meister & Bluechel's, by Wm. Nies, is first-class in every particular, and only invented six months ago. It consumes kerosene, makes a red-hot, cheap fire; no dirt, ashes nor other fuel needed. Seeing is believing, and you not only believe but want one when you see it. Call at once at Meister & Bluechel's.

News from the Capital

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 24th, 1910. Special correspondence: "The Democratic Valentine Party," as the g. o. p. press sneeringly called the democratic meeting and banquet of Monday evening, Feb. 14th, was an eye-opener to those same g. o. p. editors. It was the greatest democratic meeting held in Nebraska in recent years, and instead of showing up the ranks of democracy as hopelessly divided, it showed the democratic ranks marching shoulder to shoulder. Instead of internal bickerings it showed absolute unanimity on party policies in so far as those policies pertain to the coming campaign. There was the widest expression of individual opinion, but this is so essentially democratic that it was not surprising. Democrats have a habit of thinking for themselves—a habit that emphasizes the difference between the average democrat and the average member of the g. o. p. People who fondly imagine that democratic differences mean that those differences will be carried to the polls are reminded of the famous feline story so often told by the late James Laird. The democratic banquet was noticed to the opposition to democratic reform and democratic policies that the democracy of Nebraska is united and ready to face the issues. Like other political parties there are democrats in the ranks who take radical and extremely unreasonable positions, but if the Nebraska democracy as displayed at this most representative and enthusiastic gathering stands for any one thing more ardently than another it is for conservatism on every great issue.

The more one studies the Crabtree matter the easier it is to understand some of the motives behind the members of the board who demanded Crabtree's resignation. State Treasurer Brian is a partisan before he is anything else, and he is insisting on disciplining Crabtree because that great educator refused to make the Peru Normal an adjunct of the g. o. p. Ludden, the political minister, who is secretary of eighteen or twenty things and drawing a salary from most of them—illegally in the case of the Normal School board—seemingly desires to use Crabtree as a "horrible example" to those who would have political ministers obey the laws just the same as common folk. McDonald of Kearney would seem to be acting on the assumption that any thing calculated to injure the Peru institution would naturally work to the advantage of the Kearney institution, and McDonald is from Kearney. Just why Shellhorn should lend himself to the plans of the others is rather puzzling, for Shellhorn is a Peruvian. But there is no doubt that he lent himself willingly or ignorantly, to the plans of the Brian-Ludden-McDonald combine. The threatened removal of Crabtree just before the summer normal period will, of course, cripple the summer work at Peru, and McDonald hopes that this will help Kearney. The deeper a taxpayer delves into this whole mess the more apparent it is that something is needed to remove a lot of manipulators from the control of the normal schools of the state, and give those schools over to the keeping of men who think more of the schools than they do of partisan or personal advantage.

All the g. o. p. shouting about trouble in democratic ranks does not avail to hide the fact that the republicans of Nebraska are hopelessly divided on the tariff question, and almost as hopelessly divided on the liquor question. For years the g. o. p. in Nebraska has posed as the party of "God and Morality," yet in twenty years it did absolutely nothing along progressive temperance lines. It denounced democracy as the "whiskey party" and made its annual tie-up with the men it pretended to oppose, playing the political game both ways from the middle. Now that its hypocrisy has been exposed it is dodging and trimming at a lively rate. In order to conceal, if possible, its own internal troubles it is trying to make democrats believe that democracy is divided. The attempt, however, will deceive only those who love to be deceived. The republicans have all they can do to settle their own quarrels. Democrats are united and are up and doing.

Of course the republican managers are opposed to the "Oregon Plan" of electing United States senators. Under that plan it will be possible for the people to select their own senators instead of leaving that important work to the corporations and the republican bosses. But the republican machine managers have not yet mustered up enough courage to openly attack the law, so they are pretending that it is not good because of a misplaced comma or two. The Oregon plan is simple in its provisions, and no one who favors honest representation can oppose it. Under that plan the legislative candidate may make one of two pledges or remain silent. He can pledge himself to vote for the candidate receiving the highest number of votes at the general election, or he can sign a statement that he considers that vote merely as an expression of opinion not binding on himself, or he can refuse to sign either. The legislative candidate's name appears on the ticket alongside the pledge he signs.

Naturally the republican managers who have always tied up with the corporations in the election of senators oppose the idea of allowing the people to have any say as to who the senators shall be. These managers lack the constitutionality of the law, but they declare they will ignore it altogether. It remains to be seen whether an independent and self-respecting people will submit to such dictatorial methods as those promised by the g. o. p. managers.

The attempts of Senator Burkett to line up with the "insurgents" without endangering his standing with the Aldrich-Cannon machine would be laughable if they were not pitiful. An analysis of the Burkett votes on the Aldrich tariff shows that he has succeeded in giving little "All-Right" valuable pointers on the art of balancing on the slack wire. He voted with the "insurgents" 49 per cent of the time, and with Aldrich 51 per cent of the time. But the "insurgent" percentage was when things of little moment were under discussion, while his Aldrich votes were invariably at times when they would help out the big trusts.

When Uncle Mose Kinkaid took a speculative "flier" in Alaska lands he stored up more trouble than Alaska coal. Uncle Mose says it was purely a business transaction on his part, but there are a lot of people in his congressional district who are just old-fashioned enough to believe that a congressman should not establish too close connections between his official acts and votes and his private business enterprises. As a result of Uncle Mose's Alaska speculation he will not have a clear field for re-nomination in the Big Sixth. When caught with the goods on, Mose offered to close out the deal to any person who would pay him the amount of money he had invested. This sounds a good deal like the horse thief who is caught offering to turn over the horse if the officer would just let him go.

The Winside Tribune says: The county entitled to furnish the democratic candidate for the state senatorship in this district had better get busy and select a good man. Things are different this year and the right kind of a democrat can be elected.

Why all this fuss about "Bryan for county option?" History of the democratic party proves that Bryan has won no victories—for it. Even in 1908 it is doubtful if Bryan could or would have carried Nebraska were it not for the forces back of Candidate Shalleberger for governor. Under the leadership of such men as W. H. Thompson, Gilbert H. Hitchcock, Edgar Howard, Jas. C. Dahman, Ash-ton C. Shalleberger and even our Phil H. Kohl, the democracy of Nebraska can win ten elections to one with Bryan as chief dictator. All this notwithstanding that William Jennings Bryan is the greatest statesman and the best man in the world today. The success of the republican party has not been due to the righteousness, the integrity nor the personal purity of party leaders. The modern-day politicians, with neither a public conscience nor a desire to better mankind in general or the men who "win elections."

For the Public Good

One hears a good deal about the power of the press, but the fact is that no newspaper has very much real power over men or events in these days unless it is known to be standing safely and steadfastly for the welfare of the whole community and nation. The pay of party organs is past. Sensational papers appealing to popular passions cannot move thoughtful men—the men who make history. The only kind of newspaper that really has tremendous power in these days is the independent, reliable, disinterested journal of wide circulation whose columns are known to stand always for the general good—for public honesty and a square deal, whatever happens. An excellent example of this sort of journalism is The Chicago Record-Herald. It has the enormous circulation that deservedly goes with the printing of all the news, but its power lies in its wise, conservative, independent editorial policy, which is shaped with one sole end in view—the public good. Its news and critical columns show the same spirit.

"Some folks make this Golden Rule of Rubber," says the Judge: "It is easier to adhere to the straight road of righteousness if your prescriptions are filled at Raymond's. A registered pharmacist always in charge."
