Jones' BOOK STORE

YOUNG men are recognized as the critical clothes buyers; they give more thought to style in clothes than older men; and they ought to. When a man gets established in business and in society he can afford to be a little less particular, though many such men are still very exacting.

But young men are apt to give so much thought to style that they neglect quality; if the clothes look smart and lively, young fellows are quite likely to forget to insist on having them good also.

There's no reason why you shouldn't have the smartest style, with the best and highest quality.

Hart Schaffner & Marx make our young men's clothes; the styles are very lively; but the fabrics are always all-wool, the tailoring is the best possible.

Have style and quality both; just as easy to have both, as to have one. Suits $15 to $30.

BIGGEST HAIL EVER

Lasted Ninety Minutes and Did Years of Injury.

WAS REGULAR CLOUD-BURST

It was a thriller, and made more racket than Roosevelt did the morning of the same day when he landed in New York—ice enough for all the highballs a wet town could use in thirty days. Some of the more superstitious Indians thought it was Halley's comet on the return trip and that it was charming its tail around in this dry town in search of a damp spot. After a heavily hot day, which only an ice man could properly appreciate, the hail began a bombardment at nine o'clock and kept up a constant grape-vine fusillade until it got to be a very painful sight for hundreds of homes and business houses until about 10:30. Water came down in bucketfuls, yea, beer barrel quantities, until Main street was full over the sidewalks and the draw in the west part of town, a part of the residence district, was a raging torrent, inundating many houses and deep enough and swift enough to float small barns, chicken houses, fences and culverts, and piling up old, wooden sidewalks until they were three or four thick. People had to wade in water in their homes, one of the worst places being Lee Buraker's residence, R. P. Williams' property. Mrs. Buraker was alone, having a bull dog for company. She and the dog stood on the bed and neighbors say they heard her yelling for help and they went to her assistance and helped her to a neighbor's. In the sunshine—and several inches of mud—of Sunday morning Mrs. Buraker said she was very much excited but that the dog howled, and perhaps like many of her neighbors—after the storm—they were only listening to what the wild waves were saying. Miss VanGilder also had an exciting experience. Alone in rooms over her millinery store she became frightened and made a run across the street to Whalen's bakery, right in the worst of the hail. Mr. Whalen met her at the door or the young lady would have fallen. The real thing, though, fell to the lot of portion of Messrs John Kay, chaffeur, and Paul Harrington, C. W. Sautsbury and LeRoy Ley. They had been on a pleasure trip to Wisner and had just reached the corner a mile south of town, when in trying to make the auto go by keeping on the grass, the machine slipped into the ditch. The young men sat in the auto in silent contemplation until they were yet on both sides and the water coming up over their knees. Then the hail began to pound them on the head and they took to the tall timber and clung to the trees. The storm continued until the water was seven feet deep in the ditch and about three feet deep on the grade, and they had to dive into the flood to get back to the road and wade home, sadder but wiser men.

Looking over the damages Sunday morning was an interesting sight for hundreds of people. Kate's clothing store got one of the worst soakings. Water poured through the floor from beneath, and also through the hail-riddled rubber roof. The proprietors and clerks worked in rubber boots all during the storm, covering goods with oil coats and stacking things on the counters. The new building being erected for a butcher shop was full and mason work and dirt caved in from nearly all sides. Gaertner & Beckenhauer had a cellar full of water—and considerable damage, the rear of the basement being caved in. The worst looking mess was Schnalsteig's tailor shop in the basement which was evidently a total loss—unless the mind could be washed out of the goods. All basements south of Gaertner's were full, with Piepenstock being the heaviest loser, having a thousand dollars worth of harness goods and oils in his basement. Three gasoline engines and pumps were worked all day Sunday, Monday and Tuesday to extract the dampness.

From the depot west and north, up through the draw, was an awful looking sight Sunday morning.

A new picket fence put up by Jake Roush was gone and nobody knew where. Simon Goenari's residence, that he recently bought from Magnus Paulsen, was surrounded by water. Some damage was also done the railroad track but it was temporarily repaired for trains to pass over early in the day. The new home of the Schusters, on north Main street was badly damaged, the brick cellar caving in and basement full of water. A number of other residences were as bad. The newschool house had eight or ten panes of glass broken and the wind damaged the swinging doors considerably. North of town the damage was slight, the college having only one window light broken, and two miles north there was no hail and but little rain. The storm only extended a short distance west—none at all at Winside, where the people don't fight over whether it shall be wet or dry.

A dance had been on the program for the opera house Saturday night, which was called off and a number of the would-be-dancers spent about three hours at Whalen's waiting for the storm to cease. Merchants on the east side of Main street kept the flood out of their basements by using brooms and mops, the water being just over the sidewalks before the rain ceased. Ted Perry's pasture south of town was a lake, a lot of the stock being transferred to his farm north of town. Broken windows were as numerous as flies, from one to a dozen being smashed in nearly every residence in town.

WERE SOME HEAVY LOSSES. T. R. Munising, who owns the Bartlett farm north of town, lost ten head of large cattle and three calves, presumably from lightning. Crops of oats, fall wheat, rye and spring wheat were demolished, the country from two or three miles west and south and nearly to Wakefield being clean swept. Ed. Owen, whose farm is just west of Wayne says his loss will be over two thousand dollars on crops, and he figures a lot of it will make a part crop. Late corn is the best now and in places there is something left of the wheat.

$20,000 More for Wayne.

The states attorney has now determined that the $90,000 appropriated to buy and use for the new state normal at Wayne is all available for that purpose, and as but $70,000 was expended to buy the property the remaining twenty will likely be taken to open the college as a state institution about Sep. 1st of this year. The daily papers of this week state that Prof. Conn has been in Omaha and Lincoln of late conferring with the state normal board to that conclusion. This is good news for Northeast Nebraska and will assist Wayne in recuperating from the evil ways into which the town has lately fallen.

Drouth Broken at Hoskins.

Judge Welch listened to the arguments over the Hoskins saloon matter Monday and soon decided against the remonstrator, August Duck and his lawyers Davis and Barry, and the saloon was opened up for business Monday evening. Duck was in Wayne Tuesday and appealed to the supreme court, but as it will be months or a year before that august body takes a fall out of it Hoskins will have time to forget that there is something heavy hanging over her head. This makes two wet points in Wayne county and will give the poor, over-worked barenders at Winside time to draw a full breath.

Had to Pay for His Milk.

There was an unusual commotion in Judge Elson's court Tuesday, a "milky way." Howard Whalen suing A. W. Newton for $140 milk account. A jury of old soldiers was empaneled, as Atty. Rooney for the defendant, states it, and the ex-restauranter had to make across. In other words Whalen milked him for the $140, some $20 costs, and Atty. Rooney got a ten-plaster out of it, so Newton will probably buy a dairy next time he is in need of the lactical fluid. County Attorney Davis was counsel for the baker and rather put it over the city attorney, but after awhile the city attorney can be the county attorney and the county attorney can be district judge, and then the milking will be easier for both of them.

A Ton of Pennsylvania Coal is Worth $10.50

A ton of Kansas coal is worth from five to six dollars. A gallon of Pennsylvania White Rose Gasoline is worth 25 cents, a like amount of Kansas gasoline is worth 20 cents per gallon. It is well known where coal is found oil and gas is usually produced in dependable quantities. It is also a well known fact that high grade coal fields produce the best quality of coal and gas and a corresponding low-grade oil and gas in cheap coal districts. It is safe to say every gasoline and oil on sale in Wayne except WHITE ROSE gasoline and NATIONAL LIGHT oil is from Kansas fields. White Rose gasoline and National Light oil are products of Pennsylvania, double refined and of a high degree of gravity.

Nearly three cars of these products have gone into general use in this community during the last three months. The factor of QUALITY has made such a demand possible. For gasoline stoves White Rose is found to be far superior to low-gravity products. The trifle advance in price will be supplied by satisfactory results. For automobiles and gas engines White Rose has proven a favorite whenever used. It will save all your engine troubles. A trial is sufficient. Special price in 55-gallon steel drums. Also half-gallon free with 4 1-2 gallons, that you may know the superior qualities of White Rose gasoline.

The High School exercises on Thursday evening passed off in charming manner. The orchestra, with Paul Harrington at the piano, was at the best. The solo by Herbert Welch, who is a favorite among music lovers, was well received while the quartette composed of Ernie Johnson, Herbert Welch, James Britton and Willis Fleetwood won for themselves laurels and for the audience an encore, when they responded with the popular classic, "Who Found the North Pole?" "The Soul of the Violin," by Nellie Strickland, was nicely rendered, followed by "The Revel of the Nails," a drill presented by the junior girls who in their nymph-like costumes of white and green and carrying fancy bows, made many pretty tableaux. All the parts in the class play "Ingram," were well taken. David Meeker was well fitted for the difficult part of Ingram, while

Mrs. Henry Ley and White returned from Crystal Lake on Monday, the former had planned to go back on Tuesday but was detained here on account of the Season Social at the High School on Friday evening.

So many hundred people wanted to attend the Season Social on Friday evening that the ladies decided to hold it in the lower floor of the High School building, which is cool and inviting with plenty of room. ## Ecker Wants to Know?

The democratic state convention has been called and Wayne county is entitled to 7 delegates. We wonder if the same tactics that has been in vogue for many years, i. e., a little coterie of Wayne politicians get together and select the delegates, choosing them so it is reasonable to expect that only one man, everyone acquainted with Wayne county politics knows who he will go. Or will the chairman of the county central committee go back to democratic ways and call a convention, making the call long enough before the convention so that every democrat in Wayne county will have a chance to know what is going on. Then if there is a light attendance the odium will no longer be thrown on what is generally known as the "Wayne ring."—Winside Tribune.

Winside Tribune: Monday night a man by name of Newton came over from Wayne and bowed up to such an extent that he and Gerd Jansson clashed and had quite a scrap. Marshal McKinney hauled them up but before a warrant was sworn out Newton made such a pitiful plea about his poverty, big dependent family and all that sort, that the tender hearted marshal let them go. But the release created a storm of disapproval and the marshal went after them again. Gerd was fined five dollars and a hunt for Newton showed that he had skipped for Wayne, but the next day papers were made out and sent to the sheriff to bring him back for punishment. At this writing nothing more has been heard of the case.

Married

In Council Bluffs, Iowa, on Wednesday evening, June first, Miss Mabelle Surber and Mr. Frank Simoin, both of Wayne.

Bailey of Albert Lea, Minn. The bridal couple were preceded to the altar by the little ring bearer Miss Francis Shacklock, the ceremony being performed by Rev. R. F. Shacklock pastor of the Methodist church, about thirty relatives and friends being present. Those attending from other towns were Misses Alice Brown Winside, Woolgast of Lincoln and the Misses McIntosh of Wayne.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with roses and smilax. The bride was becomingly dressed in white the groom wearing conventional black. They were the recipients of a nice assortment of beautiful and useful presents. After a beautiful wedding dinner the bride and groom left on the 1:00 P. M. train for a short wedding trip; to be at home after July 1st at Albert Lea, Minn., where the groom has a lucrative position. ## School Notes

The scholarships for the summer term at the College, which were offered by Mrs. Pile to the boys ranking first in grades seven, eight and nine were won by Richard Moeller of the seventh grade, Earl Schroer of the eighth grade, and Raymond Fox of the ninth grade.

The Class Day Exercises on Thursday evening were very creditably rendered, and a good house saw this splendid program.

Late Friday afternoon we learned that Dean Fordyce could not be here to give the commencement address but he persuaded Rev. Corkey of The First Presbyterian Church to take his place on that evening's program and he certainly did please everybody with his masterful address. Rev. Corkey took for his theme the same subject upon which Dean Fordyce was to speak.—The Forces That Determine Destiny.

Of the graduating class, James Britton took first honors and received the scholarship given by The Nebraska Association of Colleges.—James' average grade is over 95 Ruth Fortner and Paul Pawelski tied for second place, their average being over 90. All the rest of the class, averaged very close to 90.

James Britton has 34 university credits but two of these were earned at the college. David Meeker has 32 points and the rest of the class each have 31.

The Senior Class cleared about $20 on the commencement exercises. This will be expended for a class gift to the high school.

Certificates of Teachers in Cities.

From Wayne County Teacher—

In order that the county superintendent may legally apportion to a city school district its full share of the state apportionment of public school money, the secretary of the board of education of the city school district must file with the county superintendent, under oath, a statement showing that each and every teacher in such school district is legally qualified to teach therein. This statement must show the grade of the certificate held by each and every teacher, when, where, and by what authority issued, and on what qualifications. This report should be made to the county superintendent at the time the city school district files its report of the school census.

School officers, don't forget to enter the amount expended for library books during 1909-10 opposite the proper heading in the financial report submitted to this office. Failure to have expended this amount means the cutting off of the state apportionment. Superintendent Bishop says in his new bulletin for 9-0—"On the enforcement of the library law, Attorney General W. T. Thompson says:—

There is no question but that the county superintendent has a right to require the director to show in his report the amount of money set apart each year for the district library fund, and in case the report is silent on that subject to return the same for correction. In case a school district fails or refuses to make the census report properly or to make the proper financial report required by law, the district treasurer is not entitled to a certificate from the county superintendent that such report has been made. In that event the district treasurer cannot draw the amount of the state apportionment from the county treasury.

It will be the duty of the county superintendent therefore to refuse to the districts which have not complied with the free library law the certificate provided in section 0, subdivided, school law of Nebraska, and to notify the county treasurer in writing not to pay to such districts the money apportioned to them for the support of the common schools until their report on file in the office of the county superintendent shows compliance with the laws, and until the county superintendent has issued to the proper officers of such district a statement that their report filed in his office shows full compliance with all provisions of the school law.

At the National Educational Association which meets in Boston this July, President Taft gives the opening address and ex-president Roosevelt the closing. Such men as David Starr Jordan and Charles Elliott appearing as speakers make the program an assumed success. Only the fact that this meeting comes during the first ten days after the annual meeting keeps the writer from attending.

Institute was held in Pierce county last week.

Transfers.

In our efforts to get all transfers straight this year we have asked each director to notify us of any change or removal of persons transferred. If a transferred family moves, the transfer becomes null, but owing to the fact that directors have not notified the office concerning such removals we have carried null transfers for two or three years in some instances before finding out the removal. A prompt report on this matter will be greatly appreciated.

Mr. Ben Robinson of Sholes is one of the contributors. We also note in the last number an article by Will Forbes a former Wayne county teacher.

In the storm Saturday night considerable damage was done to the new school building at Wayne over fifty of the large windows being broken.

At a board meeting last Monday night Miss Wadsworth and Miss Claire Moran were selected to fill vacancies in the Wayne school.

The directors are now busy taking the school census. The law provides that this shall be taken within ten days preceding the annual school meeting. Since three-fourths of the state money is divided per capita it is of advantage to each district to get a complete census. The number of children as reported in Wayne county last year was 3174, and it ought not to be less than that this year.

The Director's Report Must be in this Office Within Ten Days after the Annual Meeting.

This report should be delivered in person, but of course if you cannot do so mail it not later than July 3d, so that we will have time to return it for correction, if necessary, before the 8th of July.

There have been 34 applications for free high school attendance in Wayne county. These are pretty well divided between Carroll, Winside and Wayne.

Directors will notice that there is a mistake in the election blanks on the census report. The blank space for the names of the youth is omitted and since this is necessary and the place of birth is not, we have headed that space with a rubber stamp, "Name of Youth." The mistake was not noted until it was too late to re-order.

Last Friday and Saturday were examination days at the office. There were forty-two prospective teachers writing.

When considering what wages a teacher ought to have, do not think of her wages as being $50 a month but rather $400 a year as the case may be. Rural schools only run seven or eight months, at most nine and owing to the increased requirements of teachers, it is always necessary to enter school during the summer months. Thus the teacher is not only not earning during the summer months but is in considerable expense. If you have a nine month school and pay $50 a month that is an average monthly salary for the year of $37.50. Now count out the board, laundry, the necessary expenses of attending teacher's meetings, the books and papers necessary to teach school successfully and the sum left is surely not magnificent. Of course some teachers are not at any price but the good ones ought to have a little more than "living wage."

Let the estimate of the money necessary to run the school for next year be sufficient to run the district for several months the following fall. Where this is not done the districts run short, for taxes do not come in, in the fall until December.

The school board in district No. 27 have retained their teacher, Miss Eugenia Madsen, at $65 a month for next year. Both school board and teacher deserve congratulations—the teacher for being worth so much to her district and the school board for recognizing the fact that they cannot afford to let untrained and inexperienced teachers practice on their children.

Of General Interest.

The following districts have not yet filed their term summaries: Districts No. 11, 38, 46, 68, 72, 81, and 83. The law speaks thus about these reports: "No teacher will be entitled to receive pay in full for a term's service until the term summary is filled out and approved by the director." The state superintendent has made the following ruling concerning teachers who neglect this: "A teacher who fails or neglects to make out a report ought not to be allowed to teach and should have his certificate revoked." The reason for such stringency is that unless this report is made the annual report to the state department cannot be made in full and the penalty is the forfeiting of the state apportionment for the district.

CHAUTAUQUA

The schools over the county are closed for the summer vacation and the usual skirmish for teachers and schools has begun. It used to be that there were three hundred teachers trying to get one hundred schools but now the tables are turned and three hundred school officers are trying to get the best teacher out of the less than a hundred prospects.

The Carroll school board have secured the services of Mr. Farrand as principal for next year. He comes highly recommended and no doubt will prove a good man for the place. They have selected as his corps of teachers Misses Gannon, Farrand, and Young. One of the teachers is yet to be selected.

Notices have been posted in district No. 62 calling for a vote on bonding the district to build a new school house. This is one of the largest and best schools in the county. They hire the best of teachers, pay good wages and furnish plenty of supplies, so in spite of the fact that they are cramped in the old building they have a fine school. Next year conditions will be better.

Some of our best teachers will not teach next year. Miss Vennerberg, who has been for four years at Carroll as principal, is going to enter school. Miss Siefen will enter a business college. Miss Lauman is not very explicit in her explanations but we give her the benefit of the doubt. Miss Francis Sparr will enter the Scientific department of the Wayne normal. Miss Miles is going to settle on her claim in Idaho. We are sorry to lose these from our corps but wish them the same success in their different lines of work as they have had in Wayne county.

Don't look for flaws as you go through life; And even when you find them. It is wise and kind to be somewhat blind And look for the virtue behind them. For the cloudiest night has a bit of the light Somewhere in its shadow hiding; It is better far to hunt for a star Than the spots on the sun abiding. The current of life runs every way To the bosom of God's great ocean; Don't set your force against the river's course And think to alter its motion. Don't waste a curse on the universe; Remember it lived before you: Don't butt at the storm with your puny form But bend, and let it fly o'er you. The world will never adjust itself To suit your whim to the letter; Some things must go wrong your whole life long, And the sooner you know it the

"RAM'S HORN" BROWN COMING TO CHAUTAUQUA.

From Infidel Lecturer to Christian Preacher.

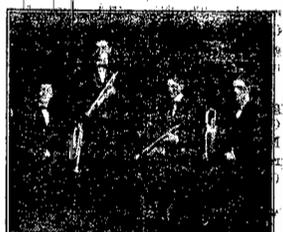

Because there was no love and lots of poverty in his father's dingy cabin a little boy ran away from his Ohio home. He went out into the world and became a successful publisher. Riches fell into his lap. He had a studious mind and he read much. He was hard and his mind worked overtime until he forgot that he had a soul. He became an associate of Robert Ingersoll and followed in his footsteps. He lectured upon the same platform and he preached the heresy of agnosticism and infidelity with a silvery tongue. He wrote books where in he denied his God and defied the Infinite. Once when in Chicago he heard that the great Moody was to preach to a vast audience. Curiosity prompted him to go. The sermon was about love and the beautiful story was told as only Moody could tell it. On that night a new soul was born and a new heart beat in the body of Eliph P. Brown. He who went to scoff returned to pray. Mr. Brown became an ardent evangelist of the religion of Christ as he had been an ardent enemy. He devoted his life and consecrated his millions to the spread of the gospel. All this happened several years ago, but Brown has never faltered in his purpose. The subject of this sketch is best known perhaps as being the founder of the "Ram's Horn," a non-sectarian religious paper that gave to the world a new literature and viewed the "church in an aspect that was "different." The paper did not pay and the publisher lost his fortune.

AN ENTERTAINFUL FAMILY.

Four Brothers Who Sing, Play Trumpets and Do Excellent Monologue Stunts.

A well balanced male quartette is the most universally popular of all musical organizations. There is something about the character of their programs that is different from the rest. People like the spirit, the dash and virility in good male quartette work. In this line of popular musical offerings the Weatherwax Brothers Quartette are making the hit of the season. Who ever heard of four brothers doing professional singing together? Talk about harmony, blending and balance—here is a combination that gives even the harmony of family resemblance. There is harmony of blood in the Weatherwax Quartette.

Wherever they have appeared they have been received with enthusiasm and have had to respond liberally to repeated encores. Their programs are varied, carrying classical, sacred and popular numbers in abundance. The catchy responses they have prepared never fail to reach the hearts of all. One of the very popular features with this organization is the Trumpet Quartette. Every one likes this style of music. The Weatherwax boys are artists on this instrument and never fail to make good. Then two of them are accomplished readers and with every program there are presented several rare selections that are a delight to all. Taken all around the Weatherwax Brothers Male Quartette is just the kind of musical organization that the Chautauqua needs, and we are glad to announce that they will appear here this summer under the management of the Western Redpath System.

A PICTURE PLAY.

An interesting Story Relating How "Lorna Doone" Was Transferred to the Screen.

Who has not read the beautiful story of Lorna Doone, that beautiful tale of English life 300 years ago? The story of days when the division of families and the injustice of the courts drove men to desperation and they became outlaws. Some little time ago the noted actor, lecturer, and traveler, Albert Armstrong, conceived the idea of presenting this beautiful story in the form of a play, all of the principal scenes in the book to be thrown upon canvass by means of the modern projecting machine, while he himself a past master in platform art, related the story. It is a great task, that of securing material for such a play, but Albert Armstrong is accustomed to great difficulties. He went to the historic points in England where the scene of the novel were laid. He studied the country, he read everything pertaining to the people and their customs two hundred years ago. Next he employed professional players and dressing them in the costumes of that day, he had them portray the characters of the novel. With Mr. Armstrong were a corps of photographers who took countless pictures of these players in action, and of these 227 of the finest pictures were selected, which Mr. Armstrong throws upon the screen while presenting the play. Mr. Armstrong is a great artist-actor and an impersonator without a peer. He is coming to this city for Chautauqua.

Their representation of an Episcopalian choir, arrayed in the conventional surplice, and majestically entering to the dulcet tones of the harp, singing sweetly "Holy, holy, holy," and used as a closing number, is a clever and beautiful piece of work and universally pleasing. A SENATOR AT CHAUTAUQUA

Robert L. Taylor, Beloved Orator of the Southland

It was years ago, during the reconstruction days in the Southland, when Robert L. Taylor first became known to fame.

A "carpet bagger" from Wisconsin was nominated for congress in the Tennessee district where Taylor lived and it did not look possible to beat him.

Taylor went to congress and the Wisconsin man went back to La Crosse.

At Washington he made a reputation for his keen wit and his sharp debate.

He was elected governor of his state but he had to beat his brother, who was the candidate on the opposite ticket.

Those who know him best say that he has never sought office voluntarily. He has been forced into every campaign and the people love him so much that he is always elected.

Senator Taylor is a deep thinker and seldom goes far wrong in his judgment of men and public matters. He is a valuable member of the upper house of Congress.

As an orator and lecturer Robert L. Taylor does not thunder from the forum. He is not a Cicero nor a Webster. His lecture is one of prose poetry. No man can draw a more beautiful picture of youth and innocence and love and noty than can the Tennessee senator. No man can draw the zenith closer and put man in closer fellowship with his astral brothers.

And yet Taylor is said to be one of the most successful humorists on the platform. He is an imitable story teller and his rapid transition from the sublime to the ridiculous, taking his audience with him willingly, goes to show that the vale of laughter and slough of tears are very close together.

CELDGREEN, VIOLINISTE.

Nell Bunnell Trio Will Be Pleasing Attraction at Chautauqua.

The Bunnell Trio is composed of three charming lady soloists.

Miss Bunnell is a soprano singer of unusual ability. She has a wonderful voice, expressive, full and rich.

Her articulation is particularly adapted for outdoor singing. She is accomplished and has many pleasing qualities that put her and her audience on familiar terms at once.

Miss Clare Kvallo is a piano soloist and accompanist. In both capacities she has proven herself an artist and her future in the musical world is assured.

Of Miss M. Annette Cedargreen, after she had appeared in recital at that city, the Rockford Daily Star says:

"Miss Annette Cedargreen, violinist, held her audience spell bound in her rendition of Waxtemp's Ballade et Polonaise. She is an artist, playing rapidly as one of Chicago's best violinists."

"Miss Cedargreen thoroughly captivated the audience in her next group of numbers, 'Romance,' by Godard, and a 'Hungarian Dance,' by Brahms-Joachim."

J. E. Hufford.

If I cite anything from geology, there is Prof. A., teacher of this science, right before me. If I use an illustration of Romah mythology, there is Prof. B.—ready to trip me up for my little inaccuracy. If I instance something in English literature that pleases me, I am covered by the presence of the learned man that teaches that branch. What shall I do?"

The sagacious old man replied: "Do not be discouraged. Preach the gospel. They probably know very little of that."

I find a man pushing his way through the lines
Of the cops where the work of the fire fiend shines.
"The chief?" I inquire, but a fireman replies:
"Oh no! why, that's one of those newspaper guys."

I see a man walk through the door of a show where great throngs are blocked by the sign "S. R. O."
"Is this man a star that no ticket he buys?"
"Star nothing! He's one of those newspaper guys."

I see a man start on the trail of a crook,
And he horns the police, but he brings him to book.
"Sherlock Holmes?" Inquire. Some-one scornfully cries:
"Sherlock h—! Naw; that's one of those newspaper guys."

And some day I'll pass, by the great gates of gold
And see a man pass through unquestioned and bold.
"A saint?" I'll ask, and old Peter will reply:
"No; he carries a pass. He's a newspaper guy."—Louisville Herald.

when the aviators are there and a good many people are figuring on going there to get some of it.

Another bad feature of the primary? It requires too long a time to determine which of the republican parties has won.

Every young fellow is cautioned by the Springfield Register to bear in mind that the day will come when he will know as little as his father knows now. But after a while, when the young fellow becomes 45 or 50 years of age, it will begin to dawn upon his intelligence that the "old man" really did know a little something.

An exchange tells of a woman who fell while walking down to the depot in such a manner as to break her leg. This manner of walking down to the depot should certainly be discouraged.

A bath tub trust has been perfected, and here it is nearly time to take our annual bath. But everything is so backward it may not be necessary this year.

Lyons Mirror: Just 50 years ago today, June 16, 1860, the Republican Convention met at Chicago, in which the father of the Editor of the Mirror, Col. J. F. Warner, seconded the nomination of Abraham Lincoln for President, as a delegate from Nebraska; and we have the credentials that admitted him to the convention—and he did not ride on a free railroad pass either.

The fellow who was born on April 1st is no fool this week, for one cent he will be admitted to the stupendous aggregation of scenes at the high school building on Friday evening, his ticket also giving him refreshments in the Spring room. See Madamoselle Kneeligh the daring tight rope walker on Friday evening with the Ringling Sisters Show.

That tug of war the fourth will surely be a great attraction. We town men don't believe that their farmer friends have anything on them in the way of strength. Dr. O'Neil will put his bunch into active training and provide each of his men with a bottle of his famous "Ozone Liniment." Come on you farmers.

Watch this newspaper for interesting and pertinent information concerning the Chautauquus, which will begin July 19th.

Chris Hanson Not Guilty.
That is at least Chris' was not bound over to appear before the grand jury as stated in the Democrat last week. The hearing was postponed from Wednesday of last week, Mr. Hanson giving bonds of $500 for his reappearance. Last Friday morning the witnesses were at the depot to go back to Tekamah to complete the hearing; the train was forty minutes late, and in the meantime a telegram was received stating that the examination was postponed to June 23d. Bridgford, the main squeeze against Hanson, has apparently jumped the job and weakened the case against defendant—what cause there was to start with.

Douglas, Tender and True.
Hark there, Douglas County! Be ware what you are doing! If you fellows had the brains of a schoolboy, you would quit your harping against County Option. With county option in vogue Douglas county will be wet "till the cows come home." If you don't shut up, and that pretty quick; an exasperated people will rise up throughout the length and breadth of this great state and place Nebraska in the prohibition column. Then Omaha will be dry for all time—and you fellows "will miss the water when the well runs dry," and can then go out in the back shed and kick yourselves for being such fools. Now take our advice and quit your bucking, if you want to save your own bacon.—Lyons Mirror.

Wayne Takes Another.
Wayne went to Wausa last Friday and put the Swede town to sleep by a 6 to 2 score with ease. Visitors who went up with the team say it was a fine exhibition.

A man advertised for a wife and requested each candidate to inclose her "carte de visite." A bride is deluded by the Quincy Herald as a person who has been talked into promising to work the balance of her life for her board and clothes. And the strange thing about it all is that so many are waiting for a chance to be persuaded by that old line of con talk.

Norfolk News: The Nebraska farmer is not insuring. He's a Taft man. He's a "regular" republican these days and he is decidedly with the administration. If there is any anti-administrationists in Nebraska, they're living in the towns and they haven't seriously thought the matter over.

The News doesn't believe any such tommy-rot as the above, and neither will such statements make "Taft men" of the farmers. Of course there are hundreds of farmers and city men "Taft men," but it is because they couldn't be anything else—if it cut their wind off to see things political clearly.

Prof. Hahn of Blair was a caller at the College last Saturday. Prof. Hahn is one of the recently elected faculty members of the Wayne State Normal.

The three boys from the public school who won the prizes offered by Mrs. Pile were Raymond Fox, Earl Schroer and Richard Moeller. This makes the third prize that Raymond Fox has won such a prize.

Rev. Corkey made his first visit to the College Thursday and conducted the morning exercises. His talk to students and faculty was an inspiration to us all. We hope he will come often.

Prof. Reese Solomon has a large class in vocal music. Prof. Solomon is an experienced teacher and those who attended the Norfolk Association could see the results of his work in the excellent manner in which the public schools of Norfolk entertained the teachers.

Prof. Hunter's classes in handiwork or manual training for all grades are very large.

A number of students who found themselves short of credits for University or College entrance are here making them up as far as possible. Latin and German seem to be studies in which many are lacking credits. As a result of this, Miss Kingsbury's classes are well filled.

The storm last Saturday evening worked havoc with the College garden as well as those of the neighbors. The other loss was light when considering the loss many down town people sustain ed.

 Lincoln, Nebr., June 21. Republican newspapers and orators are going about the state seeking to make political capital by comparing the expenditures of the democratic legislature of 1909 with the expenditures of the republican legislature of 1907. Democrats will welcome that sort of comparison, together with all the facts relative thereto. In 1907 Governor Sheldon voted appropriation bills amounting to $200,000 for new buildings at the institutions located in Kearney, Omaha, Beatrice and Hastings. His excuse was that he wanted to keep the expense within the revenue. At the time he vetoed these appropriations the feeble-minded wards of the state at Beatrice were sleeping two in a cot, were crowded into an attic never meant for human habitation, were sleeping in basements, and were herded together more like animals than like afflicted humans. When Governor Sheldon, on the plea of economy, vetoed a bill to enlarge the Norfolk asylum, there were scores of insane patients in the county jails of the state, held there because the three insane hospitals were crowded to the limit. The institute for the deaf at Omaha was crowded to the point of being absolutely unsafe, both physically and morally. The Kearney institute was in such bad repair that the property was fast falling to pieces. Yet, in order to make a record for economy, the afflicted wards of the state were deprived of decent shelter, and many were forced to remain in county jails pending vacancies in some of the overcrowded institutions.

The legislature of 1909 was compelled to provide for these unfortunates—a provision that should have been dictated by common humanity two years before instead of being sidetracked by petty politics. Governor Shallenberger and the legislature realized that Nebraska is a great and growing state, and that it should care for its unfortunates in a humane manner. For that reason the legislature appropriated the money to build necessary buildings and to repair buildings left to go to rack and ruin by a republican administration. The legislature of 1909 also appropriated $300,000 more for educational purposes than the legislature of 1907.

Deduct from the total appropriations of 1909 the amount appropriated for new buildings which should have been cared for by the legislature of 1907, and the $300,000 appropriated for education, and the total appropriations of 1909 are actually less than the appropriations of 1907 are actually less than the appropriations of 1907. This, too, in face of the fact that the state is growing and the demands upon her increasing at the same rate.

Yes, indeed. The democratic party in Nebraska will gladly welcome a comparison of its fiscal record with that of the Sheldon administration.

Warden Smith's latest report shows that the state penitentiary is now practically self-sustaining. In May it came within $112.00 of paying its own way, and would have paid it had it not been for the increased price of coal of $350.00 brought on by the strike.

The republican reports that the precinct assessors elected by the people are costing more than the precinct assessors appointed by a county assessor must be meant for a joke. Naturally enough some counties show a slight increase, but other counties show a decrease, in the cost. But under the present system the people of the precincts elect from among their neighbors their assessors, instead of having political favorites thrust upon them, and that is worth something.

Under motion made by Governor Shallenberger the tax levy has been reduced three-quarters of a mill while at the same time the assessed valuation of the railroads has been materially increased.

As a result of legislation enacted by the legislature of 1909 the state treasury will be enriched during the biennium by upwards of a $120,000 by the corporation law alone. During the first two years this corporation tax will bring into the treasury enough money to pay for the new buildings now under construction at several of the state institutions—buildings that should in all decency, have been erected two or four years ago.

The board of public lands and buildings continues to dilly-dally with the new building at Norfolk. The third contractor is now in charge and he is putting along. Once in a while the board's architect shows up on the scene looks wise and departs. In the meanwhile the insane men and women are herded in county jails awaiting the pleasure of the board.

"What will Mr. Bryan do at the state convention?" That is a question that seems to bother some people. It would seem that Mr. Bryan will seek to have the initiative and referendum endorsed rather than inject a county option plank. By the initiative and referendum, which is generally favored, he can achieve the same results without danger of dividing the party upon a matter that has no place in politics. The writer does not believe that Mr. Bryan is yet ready to inject the county option idea into the convention and take chances on a division in the ranks, when by another route the people may secure exactly the same thing.

Real Live Washington Gossip

(By Tavenner)

Washington, June 21—"I am through with it."
 So spoke Senator Dolliver of Iowa. He meant that he would never again raise his voice, either in the Senate of the United States or from the stump, in defense of excessive protection.

"I do not propose," declared Dolliver, "that the remaining years of my life shall be given up in dull consent to the success of all these 'conspiracies.' I intend to fight as a Republican for a free market on this continent."

In other words, the mighty Dolliver, for years an ardent protectionist, is conscience-stricken. He stands appalled at the magnitude of the sins that have been visited upon the Republic and people by a system which he advocated with his own voice.

His eyes, opened, Dolliver was courageous enough to say: "I am through with it." That is why his speech will live in history, because he said "I am through with it."

The philosophy of the Iowan, in itself, was not new, anymore than were his statements that Congress, in passing the Payne-Aldrich bill was dominated by the tariff trusts. Democrats have told the same story time and again. Dolliver has merely endorsed the Democratic viewpoint, which is that excessive protection robs the many for the few. Senators regard the Dolliver speech as the most impressive oratory the Senate has listened to in many years. It will take rank among the foremost examples of American eloquence.

Dolliver analyzed the cotton and wool schedules of the Payne-Aldrich law, revealing as he went along, the fraud and injustice and jugglery which will force the people to pay outrageously high prices for the necessities of life.

He also pointed out how the President had aided in the effort to deceive the public as to the true character of the law.
 "What a farse to send men around talking about the rule of the majority," thundered Dolliver, "when the most important business of the people has come down to the bargain counter, and men are authorized to say: 'This is the citadel of protection; if any of you have constituents that want anything, come here; we are the dispensing power; support what we want, and take anything you think you need,' and the man who does not like it, and has no stomach for the fight, is requested to depart."

If that is to be the continued practice of the government of the United States, I think it would be better for nearly everybody to depart."

Vice-President Sherman says Roosevelt "will indorse the tariff law, and will indorse Mr. Taft in every particular." If Mr. Roosevelt does this it will be his Waterloo.

The extent of official rottenness in Washington will never be known until the Democrats are again placed in power and get a half dozen investigating committees working.

"Standpat" successes in the primaries mean Democratic successes in November. But don't say who told you. This is a little secret between Democrats and Progressives.

Only $120,000,000 a year. That's all the wearers of ready made clothing will have to pay in excess of former prices as a result of the passage of the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill.

It would be no more difficult for a camel to enter the eye of a needle than for Roosevelt to indorse the Taft administration and get away with it.

Eleven employees of the interior department have been forced out by Ballinger. Fortunate men, to have their honesty and loyalty to the people pay them thus recognized!

To Kill The Oregon Law.

When Senator Burkett announced, on the occasion of his recent visit to Nebraska, that he was in favor of the Oregon plan, did he have his fingers crossed?

The question is interesting because the facts that give rise to it are interesting.

Senator Burkett is on record as publicly favoring the election of senators by the people, under the Oregon plan. The Lincoln newspapers that are preparing to lend him their accustomed support are also commending the plan. Burkett's lieutenants in Lincoln and elsewhere speak favorably of it. Listening to the sentiment that comes from these sources, one would think that the republican party, as well as the democratic party, was committed to the Oregon plan in Nebraska, even as both parties are committed to it in Oregon. And it would naturally be concluded that there was to be no opposition to the Oregon plan in Nebraska; that the people were to be permitted to nominate their candidates for senator and then to choose from among the nominees that man they favored most, and that the legislature would cheerfully register the popular decree.

But this is only half the story. The other half is just as important, and even more interesting. Here in Omaha it has been an open secret, since even before the time that Senator Burkett committed himself, that a prominent republican lawyer is preparing to attack the Oregon plan in the courts. It is said that he has all the necessary legal papers, including briefs and pleadings, already prepared. The mine is laid, the match is ready, and the explosion is due to occur whenever the signal is given. Backing this lawyer, it is said, are the national committeeman, Mr. Rosewater, and the secretary of the national committee, Mr. Hayward.

This means, of course, that the national administration, in the person of President Taft, and the national organization, in the person of Postmaster General Hitchcock are both involved in the plot to nullify Nebraska's "Oregon law." President Taft has the same hostility toward that measure, toward the election of senators by the people, that he has toward the initiative and referendum, the income tax, and other "populist" and "socialistic" measures. The republican leaders here in Omaha, from Mr. Rosewater on down, are reported as boasting that the Oregon law is as good as already dead; that there is the highest legal authority for the statement that it can be successfully attacked in the courts. There is manifested the same quiet confidence, indeed, that the supreme court of Nebraska, which happens to be so solidly republican, will sink the nuncification dagger into the heart of the Oregon law that was shown prior to the successful attack on the bank guaranty law and the non-partisan judiciary law.

And the question remains as to Senator Burkett. Is he a party to these plans? Is the attack on the Oregon law being arranged for with his knowledge and consent? Can it be possible that he is a stranger to the inside workings of the republican machine in his own state; that he and his federal brigade have no weight and influence in the management of his own campaign? It is almost impossible to answer these questions in any but one way. It would be ludicrous to conclude that Mr. Burkett, an astute, resourceful and sleepless politician, is ignorant of what is going on. And yet, if we conclude that he is not ignorant; that he is, indeed, the god in the machine and is himself pulling the strings and operating the

Delinquent Must Pay.

Under the above caption the Sedalia, (Mo.) Democrat editorially says:
 "Editor Fay of Lyons, Iowa, has been called to Washington because his subscription list is not as well paid up as the law requires."

"He will have to explain to the government officials why he has not compelled his subscribers to pay up according to rules."

"An inspector had visited him two months previously, and his subscription list was said to be pretty thoroughly paid up, but evidently it was not sufficiently so."

"It seems a little tough that a newspaper owner has to be hauled up before the government on the charge of having violated federal laws because he does not keep eternally damning his subscribers for the small sums they owe on subscription; but it is like the end of the world, no man knows when it cometh; and no editor knows what day an inspector may pop in and ask to see the lists."
