Does Your old Separator GET ALL The Cream?

QUALITY COUNTS

Not Sometimes but Always

The Great Western Cream Separator Guarantees the Highest Type of Up-To-Date Construction

When you buy a cream separator you should demand an "up-to-date" machine. Don't buy a machine that was "in style" ten years ago—a high tank, exposed gears—plain bearings set in holes cut in cast iron frame are all evidences of a back number.

The Great Western is made throughout with the absolute accuracy of a high grade watch. Skins closest (hot, cold or stale milk) because it follows every law of nature. Equipped fully with imported ball bearings—guaranteeing the lightest running separator in the world. High crank, so the operator doesn't have to break his back. Self-flushing, self-draining bowl—gears enclosed, which work automatically in a bath of oil. Low down tank—low down and compact frame.

The Great Western carries the strongest guarantee ever issued—it protects you for five full years.

We furthermore guarantee satisfaction to you—any kind of a trial, without one cent of expense to you, or obligation either.

For a farmer who recently owned a good Wayne county farm this looks as though our good prohibition brother had gotten into Jim Sherman's class.

Alamosa Still Booms
Alamosa, Colo., Aug. 21st.

FRIEND GOLDIE!
Yours received today. Alamosa still grows. There has been wonderful improvements since I came. If it continues at this rate, will surely make quite a place. A company has recently organized to investigate the gas proposition; will bore wells north of town for gas and oil. They have plenty of gas in town but it will only burn a man's pocket. They are selling stock at 15 cents a share.

In regard to the sale of lots, quite a number have been sold. Two were sold and a building, 28x50 feet, put up on them within the last few days. Fifteen new buildings have gone up in one block on the south side and a great many others near. Not much doing in the Park addition, as most of the building is on the west and south sides. Your business lots are alright. Sullivan tells me you can get $4500 cash for them. Have heard a good many say, those lots are O. K., and that you will make good on them. A short time ago a party was looking for lots in 82, but I didn't know you had any there. He has since bought eight lots on the same street but farther east and has two cottages nearly completed. S. B. Sholz will have a sale about September 1st. There are seven houses to be sold, the money to be pro-rated to the purchasers of the 1500 lots. D. A. Jones can then look for a roll.

Two business houses just west of the Victoria are about ready for use. Fred Edmisten has put up a two story brick south of the tracks on State St. Two others will go up soon near this one. This is about half way between us and the depot. Several parties are raising their one story buildings. I think better buildings will be built hereafter. Land men are coming in every day.

We have had fine, cool weather all summer. Crops are being harvested in the valley now. Should there be any way in which I can help you let me know.
Yours, E. B. GIRON.

NEBRASKA OFFICIAL GIVES SALARY AWAY

Basing Division on Population Each Family of Six Will Receive a Cent. Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 23.—E. B. Coyle, commissioner of public lands and buildings of Nebraska, has decided upon a plan of giving away his salary for charitable purposes. Coyle draws a salary of $2,000 per year. Here is his plan: "Requests for donations will be favorably considered if the money is to go to pay for churches, to pay preachers' salaries, to libraries, to the Salvation army, to pay for wooden legs or arms or crutches or for surgical operations."

"No part of my salary will be given to skating rinks, baseball grounds, bicycling roller skates, trips to Europe, pet dogs or parrot license to veterinarians for doctors' services in case of obstetrics. Persons should not waste time in calling in person or squander postage in making requests to me for these purposes. "My salary is $2,000 a year. I estimate that there are 1,200,000 people in Nebraska, and the corresponding number of donations will divide my salary so that each inhabitant will receive his proper share. A family of six persons will be entitled to one cent. If the money is given to the society of church organization, the donation will amount to 50 cents. Each applicant can compute the amount coming by this rule."

GOVERNOR'S MANAGER CONCEDES HIS DEFEAT

Dahlman's Majority About 1,000—Hitchcock Gets 2 to 1 Over Opponents. Omaha, Neb., Aug. 23.—Although Governor Shallenberger has not yet conceded the defeat of his opponent, nomination for the head of the state ticket, a telegram was received here last night from one of his campaign managers, Chris Gruenther, vice chairman of the democratic state committee, giving up the fight. Mayor Dahlman's majority has been considerably reduced from first estimates, but will apparently be not far from 1,000 votes. Mitchell as returns from 11 counties. Five Congressman Hitchcock, for United States senator on the democratic ticket, a two to one majority over both his opponents and more than three times the vote of his nearest competitor, Richard L. Metcalfe.

Late returns from the republican primaries only increase the lead of Aldrich by 200 precincts. With but 200 precincts to head, Aldrich's lead is more than 3,000.

COMPLETE RETURNS FROM DIXON COUNTY PRIMARIES. Ponca, Neb., Aug. 23.—Complete official returns from Dixon county are as follows: [Senator—Burrket, 166; Whedon, 99; Adams, 22; Birmingham, 44; Sorenson, 11; Hitchcock, 189; Reed, 62; Metcalfe, 102.]

BRYAN DECLARES IN FAVOR OF HITCHCOCK. Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 23.—W. J. Bryan, whose activities prior to the statewide primary were in the interest of R. L. Metcalfe, has declared in favor of Hitchcock for United States senator. Last evening issued a statement declaring himself a hearty supporter of Mr. Hitchcock since his nomination as the democratic candidate. Mr. Bryan says: "Mr. Hitchcock has the best record in congress, and I shall do all in my power to secure his election to the Senate. He ought to have every vote he can get, and enough insurgent votes to elect him."

THINKS AIRSHIPS ARE GOOD FOR NAVAL WAR

French Minister of Marine Says They Contain Wonderful Possibilities for It. Paris, Aug. 23.—Admiral De Lapeyere, the French minister of Marine, has become an enthusiastic convert to the possibilities of the airplane in naval warfare, in view of the results attained in the Paris-London flight of Moisant, the great cross-country course just completed by French aviators, and other recent achievements in the air. "In a statement today he expressed the wish that the French fleet should include a dirigible in the world in aerial navigation and proposes the establishment of flotillas of aeroplanes at the French naval base of Cherbourg, Camp de Toulon and Bizerta, Africa, to protect the coast from the submarines and submarines of a possible enemy. "For the price of a single cruiser," said the minister, "we may have thousands of aeroplanes. They will be our scouts."

He prized greatly a seal ring on which was a coat of arms, and was believed to be a member of a noble family.

NEW YORK.—The support of the negro electorate of the United States for a possible third term was pledged in behalf of Colonel Roosevelt yesterday by the 1,100 delegates of the National Negro Business Men's League here in convention. PORTLAND, ORE.—Five hundred more troops have been called for by the forestry service to fight the forest fire which is burning in the mountains. Two hundred and fifty men will leave the American Lake encampment, and John J. Koster will lead two companies of mounted infantry.

RAIN SPOILS TENNIS.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 23.—A heavy rain that fell during the early part of the morning, put the courts of the Gaston in bad condition and it was doubtful whether any of the matches in the fifth round of the 80th annual all-congress tennis championship of the United States would be played today.

DAHLMAN IS MAN CHOSEN TO LEAD

Shallenberger Defeated by a Narrow Margin—Managers Charge Fraud in Omaha. Omaha, Neb., Aug. 23.—Up to noon complete returns on the vote cast for governor in 1178 precincts. These are about three-fourths of the precincts and it is estimated that they contain about four-fifths of the total vote. The total figures at hand show the following: Aldrich, 14,335; Joe Cady, 12,653; Dahlman, 23,441; Shallenberger, 20,462. There is now no question about the nomination of Aldrich, but the result on the democratic ticket is more complex. Shallenberger is constantly gaining and is approximately 600 votes ahead of the other candidates. Shallenberger should be maintained, he could not be more than 1,000 behind Dahlman. The Shallenberger managers maintain that the losing precincts are strongly for their candidate, while Dahlman insists that he ought to break it most even.

Charges of Fraud. A new and sensational feature injected itself into the race at the end of the night last night when Colonel Marshall and Lee Herdman, managers of the Shallenberger campaign, openly charged that Douglas county there were 2,000 fraudulent votes for their candidate. Here it will be remembered his vote was 7,190, or almost 2,000 more than that cast for any of the other candidates on the state ticket. Marshall and Herdman charge that there was not only repeating, but that men were registered from vacant houses and lots that were covered with weeds; that men were imported from Council Bluffs and even as far away as Sioux City. They claim that they have made a thorough and complete investigation and that if on the face of the returns it should be shown that Dahlman has won by a vote less than that of Douglas, they will go into court and ask to have the entire democratic vote of that county as cast for governor thrown out.

Managers of the Dahlman campaign contend that they know nothing of any fraudulent votes and if any were so recorded it was with their knowledge or connivance.

PARTY NOMINEES FOR CONGRESS BY DISTRICTS.

From returns so far received it seems certain that the following will be the state have been made as follows: First District—Wm. Hayward, republican; John A. Maguire, democrat. Second District—A. L. Sutton, republican; C. E. B. Smith, democrat. Third District—John E. Boyd, republican; James P. Latta, democrat. Fourth District—Charles H. Sloan, republican; F. Good, democrat. Fifth District—W. E. Field, republican; R. D. Sutherland, democrat. Sixth District—D. M. Kinkaid, republican; W. J. Taylor, or J. R. Dean, democrat.

FOREST FIRES ARE RAGING IN MONTANA

Ten Additional Companies of Troops Called for to Fight the Flames. Washington, Aug. 23.—Forest fires in Montana are spreading and ten additional companies of troops are needed to combat the flames. A joint telegram which was received by the interior department and forest service from their field agents. Supervisor Logan, of the Glacier National park, and Supervisors Haines and Bunker, of the Flathead and Blackfoot national forests, respectively, report that the old fires are practically under control, but that new ones are continuing to break out. Additional troops are needed to meet the emergency. They ask that four companies be sent to the Glacier park and three companies each to the Flathead and Blackfoot forests.

Chief Clerk Ucker, of the interior department, who is in the Glacier National park assisting in the fighting of the forest fires, says: "The fire situation could be met and the flames kept under control with additional troops, but that the conflagration could not be entirely arrested until the advent of rain."

Mr. Ucker suggested that some of the fires were of incendiary origin.

LOST SHIP MYSTERY IS NEAR A SOLUTION

Harpoon From the James T. Duncan Is Found in Big Whale at Sea. Philadelphia, Aug. 22.—A seven years' mystery of the sea may be solved through a mishap to the German steamship Pallanza, which struck a whale at sea, nearly cutting the mammal in two and dislodging a harpoon believed to have been used by the little whaler James T. Duncan, which was lost in 1903. The harpoon, which was found in the carcass of a whale, was found in the spring of that year and has not been heard of since. Captain Fendt, of the Pallanza, which has arrived here from Hamburg, reports that he ran into the whale on August 11. The monster was firmly imbedded in the hull of the steamer and died after a terrific struggle. Nine members of the crew were left down to chop away the carcass and one of the sailors found the harpoon imbedded in the whale. "On the end of the harpoon was an iron nail stamped 'T. D. 1902.' Captain Fendt keeps a close record of wrecks and he came to the conclusion that the whale may have been responsible for the loss of the Duncan."

CANNON'S TOWN GROWS.

NEBRASKA CORPORATION ENJOINED

From Connecting With Independent Concerns. Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 19.—In answer to the question asked by Attorney General Thompson, the Nebraska Telephone company has filed replies in the supreme court. The interrogations relate to the business of the Nebraska Telephone company which has been enjoined from purchasing or connecting with certain independent telephone companies on the ground that such purchases are contrary to the anti-trust law. In giving an account of its business, the Nebraska company says it has 55,877 subscribers, 17,000 lines owned and operated by the company. The company in its answers says it has no publicity agents in Nebraska and that it has not made appropriations for public or political purposes. In reply to an interrogation as to whether or not the company has ever given special inducements to prospective subscribers by besting other agents and paying a cash consideration therefor, the agent's only service being to speak a good word for the company, the company replies: "The inducements are too broad and indefinite to permit of an answer." For a comparison of its rates from year to year, the company refers the attorney general to its tariff sheets on file with the railway commission.

In accordance with her often expressed wishes for a simple private funeral, the ceremony was of the quietest nature, the only feature reminding of the life of the woman who served the nation being the presence of a squad of the Grenadier Guards, who acted as bearers. Outside of these, only members of the immediate family and a few friends were present. Public tribute was paid at a memorial service at noon in St. Paul's cathedral here, at which King George, Queen Mary, the queen mother, Alexandra, the war office, the army and the greater part of the British public bodies and colonies were represented. The United States ambassador, Whitelaw Reid, and Mrs. Reid were present in connection with the funeral. BRADSTREET AND DUN LAWYERS EXPENSIVE

Report on Business Crop Indications and Jobbing Trade, It Is Said, Are Showing Improvement. New York, Aug. 23.—Bradstreet's Saturday report has finished production show further improvements. This is most marked in the west, where general activity has improved, and where house trade has expanded as the result of the arrival of country buyers. Better than expected results from spring wheat have made for a more optimistic feeling also in the northwest. Reports from leading industries are not much changed. Iron and steel are active, but finished production alike restricted. Building remains active at many centers, and lumber and hardware are in demand at the west, while quiet has set in at St. Louis and manufacturers are working overtime, and eastern manufacturers report more orders coming in but production and shipments are still below last year's. Some resumption of woollen goods mills are noted. Curtailment is still in evidence in cotton goods. August 18 was the week ending August 18 were 222,000 bales of cotton against 201,236 last week, 183 in the week of 189, 236 in 1908, 153 in 1907 and 156 in 1906. Exports of cotton for the week in Canada number 26 which compare with 20 for last week and 23 in the corresponding week last year. R. Dun & Company's weekly review of trade conditions continues to show that while trade contractions continue, sentiment improves, and the basic conditions underlying the situation appears stronger. While quietness still prevails in most departments, iron and steel market, there has been practically no further decline in quotations. The general opinion appears to be that the lowest point has now been reached, and that a recovery is being effected from now on will be toward a higher level. The tone in the dry goods market was better, especially with jobbers and selling agents, but business is still in limited proportions, with buyers showing little desire to operate beyond well defined requirements. Cotton goods are quiet, with one firm, with buying showing more breadth.

Whenever we see E. C. Tweed or E. B. Young walking on the street we instinctively throw back our shoulders and endeavor to walk more erect. The Almighty didn't make us all alike but it is a shame some men—young men in particular—spoil an otherwise good job of the Almighty's by allowing their shoulders to crowd their lungs against their backbone.

Was it the school marm who made it so hot for us last Monday?

A. J. Ferguson says that big smoke last Monday evening came all the way from the forest fires in Montana, because the smoke had the odor of burning pine. Some other people would perhaps have known where it came from had it smelled of brimstone.

A Democrat leader wants to know why the homeliest man in town has the best looking woman for a wife, while the handsomest looking man has the most insignificant looking better half. No, thanks, we are not going to give the names of the couples mentioned.

Likewise in primary elections, there's many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip.—Omaha Bee.

Cup and the lid, you mean, don't you?

Hon. Geo. W. Wiltzie of Randolph was a passenger to Dakota City this morning to attend the old settlers picnic. Senator Wiltzie believes that Mayor Jimi has the governor "exposed" if the vote in the populist-voting counties is looked into. Of over 600 populist votes for Hitchcock and Metcalfe, each, Shallenberger should have had over 1200 populist votes, and most of them were apparently counted as democratic ballots for the governor. Mr. Wiltzie, in speaking of the early opening of the new state normal, said: "You people don't want to forget that I helped you get that school. At one stage of the game when the bill was adversely reported (which killed it dead as a salted mackerel) I made the speech of my life for its reconsideration. I told them that the state could afford to appropriate one hundred thousand dollars to build an amphitheatre and seat it with opera chairs, just for the review of stud horses, bulls and boar pigs, but was too poor to buy a grand, needed school for the education of our fair state's sons and daughters," etc. The Hon. George Wiltzie did save our bacon, alright, and is surely entitled to more than the rind.

For murders and suicides Wayne county appears to be as prolific as any community.

The nomination of Jas. C. Dahlmann for governor over Ashton A. Shallenberger is one of the riddles of politics. Of course the opposition party is undoubtedly responsible for half of Dahlmann's vote; but why? One year ago at most every republican you met was swearing allegiance to the governor because he signed the 8-o'clock saloon closing edict. The state control or conduct of state institutions has been better than heretofore, and the finances of the state could not very well be handled more economically. The Democrat believes Shallenberger's overthrow commenced from the day he defeated and succeeded Sheldon as chief executive. Shallenberger simply couldn't stand so much political prosperity. He became—in his mind—a bigger man than Bryan and greater than his party. His campaign speeches were to the effect that the then regulation of saloons under the Slocum law were amply sufficient for all time, and there can be no question that he made personal pledges on this score. When the early closing bill was passed by the legislature it was up to the governor to immediately veto it—as a foreign plank to his platform—but he hummed and hawed about for days to see how much attention he could attract from the nation, and then—he played to the galleries. When a bill was passed transferring the normal college at Wayne to the state why did not the governor at once dispose of it? Well, you see he had promised his best efforts to Wayne people to make this sale (the Democrat understands that he did about all he could to defeat it) but there was his trusted lieutenants, Majors, republican, and Mullens, democrat, to reckon with and after a long, expensive campaign in all northeast Nebraska it looked like the popular thing no doubt to the governor to sign the bill. This wishy-washy procedure and repudiation of campaign pledges has gradually had its effect upon the public at large. It's no credit to the governor of a great state to become entangled with such advisers as the Majors and the Mullens. It was no credit to the governor to sign a bill, no matter how worthy the measure, after he had pledged himself to veto it. The Democrat is of the opinion that county option cut little figure in the result. If it did prohibition sentiment in Nebraska is at very low ebb on face of the returns. Dahlmann does not get the nomination because of a demand for his sort of theory on the liquor question, but rather because the people are weary of the dilatory and shifty Shallenberger, and want a governor who has independence, individuality, who does things, and a man whose word goes unchallenged.

About the sickest looking proposition in print is that Sioux City Journal "piano contest." There doesn't appear to be many suckers among the stand-patters. Or perhaps it's because there are not many Joe Cannon enthusiasts in the northwest.

Monday the hottest day of the year and today the coldest—since the last snow storm. This is certainly a freak year in the weather as well as politics.

A Sioux City man tells the Democrat that the Sioux City Packers are long on the booze and due to go way back before the season ends.

Peculiar why President Taft thinks the best ever tariff bill needs fixing so soon, ain't it?

What do you know about a Wayne woman doing her neighbor's washing on Saturday, giving birth to a baby Saturday night, and getting out another neighbor's washing on Monday. These match-waisted women would die off like flies in hot soup in a race like that.

Wonder if there is anything in the superstitious Aug. "23"?

Dennison Bulletin: A Dennison boy who is working his way through college at Iowa City recently sent $26 to pay on a note he gave the man who lent him the money to go on. Another boy struck his dad for $25 about the same time to pay on a note he gave for money to have a hell of a time on.

Here is the way the Denver News puts it: "He is called a revolver carrier in the north, a pistol totter in the south, and a gun packer in the west, but all the terms stand for a constant menace."

Billy Sunday denies the report that he is going to quit working for the Lord, and it isn't likely that he will be asked to resign—so long as it's a easy money.

A clock has been invented that needs to be wound but once in 10,000 years. It will never become popular, because in that time a fellow would be sure to forget where he put the key.

This chap moved into a dilapidated cottage near the beach and set to work at once to whitewash it inside and out. While he was swinging the wet brush on the exterior a passer-by said approvingly: "I'm glad to see you making the old place so neat and smart. It's been an eyesore to the neighborhood for years."

"It ain't nothing to me about eyesores," was the reply. "The reason why I'm whitewashing is because the last couple wot lived here had twins twice. I understand that lime is a good disinfectant. Ye see we've got ten children already."

It begins to look as if there would be at least two months this year in which to wear our summer underclothes. We noticed one home yesterday where there was a blaze in the fireplace.

Notwithstanding all the rain we have had there is still some complaint. One fellow says the ears of corn are growing quite "fungy" on the side where the rain didn't strike them.

The Dry Farming congress is to be held in Spokane, Wash., Oct. 3 to 6. If there are any dry farmers hereabouts they should make ready to attend. No doubt some attention will be paid to irrigating.

Sioux City has succeeded in making arrangements to have Col. Roosevelt stop there 45 minutes Sept. 3, while on his western trip. He will give a short talk at the auditorium for the benefit of the man worshippers if the lemon dropped to him in New York doesn't cause him to change his mind.

Senator Tillman was attacking an offender who pleaded a hypocritical and false excuse.

"Why," he cried, "the man is lots worse than that rich coal dealer who said to his weight clerk during a blizzard: 'Frank, make the ton of coal for Bell 250 pounds short. Mrs. Bell is a poor, delicate widow, and she will have to carry all of it up two flights of stairs. I don't want her to overtax her strength.'"

Carrie Nation is reported to have pulled out a wad of $1,900 from about her clothing the other day while on a lecture tour. It isn't stated whether she pulled it out of her sock or some other hidden part of her duds, but it is an evidence that the old girl is making her graft pan out all right.

A Columbia City lawyer wrote to a prominent lawyer in an Arkansas town to find out what chance there would be for him in that part of the country. "I am a republican in politics," he wrote "and an honest lawyer." "If you are an honest lawyer," came the reply, "you will have no competition, and if you are a republican, the game law will protect you."

Rock Creek and Altona will play a game of ball Sunday in Pfuegers pasture. This game was to have taken place two weeks ago but was postponed on account of the rains.

The Mission Festival last Sunday was a great success, the weather being fine a larger crowd gathered than ever before. Rev. Snering of Pierce county delivered sermon in the forenoon and Rev. Fogel in the afternoon. The Logan Valley band which was greatly made up of Wayne men, played some good music which helped greatly to attract a crowd.

Here is another one on automobiles, and these little dabs probably won't be stopped until I get one myself and have trouble with them. Some time ago a fellow asked me what the difference was between a balky horse and an automobile. Well, at that time I didn't know, but while in town the other day I had a chance to see both. A farmer started to go home when one of his horses refused to go, so he laid down his lines, got out his corn cob pipe and filled it with corn cake tobacco and without any hurry lit it, then picked up his lines and said "git-dap" and he went. A little later a fellow started to go home with his auto and the thing refused to go. Well, he got off the machine and under it, and in it, wiped his spark plug, and looked at the wires and carburetor and for the "trouble-shooter" and couldn't find it, and said "Goldasted". So finally he got in with a neighbor that had been hauling hogs and left his machine to brood over it's troubles.

Teachers' Institute.

The Wayne County Teachers' Institute now in session at the court house is one of the most successful in the history of the county; and County Superintendent, Mrs. Littell, is to be congratulated on her selection of instructors and on her skillful management of the event which means so much to the schools of the county.

The enrollment to date is one hundred four, and the attendance and punctuality so nearly perfect as to be a source of pride to everyone concerned. It would be difficult to find a more earnest, enthusiastic company.

Superintendent W. L. Stephens daily discusses School Management, Geography and miscellaneous topics. Prof. Stephens is a school man of wide experience, keen and accurate observation, and a thorough appreciation of the responsibilities devolving upon a teacher; and he presents vital principles in so thoughtful and forceful a manner as to make his instruction so practical that it must result in great good to the teachers and through them to the schools of the county.

Prof. F. M. Gregg of Peru, so well known to the teachers, is for the seventh time a member of the corps of instructors; and yet, as is characteristic of the man, he always has something fresh and new to present, for growth, not stagnation, is his motto. His work in Parliamentary Law is especially interesting and instructive while his lectures on Educational Psychology are invaluable to the teacher.

Miss Lura Phillips, of Ames, Iowa, is again with us, as usual full of enthusiasm and energy. Her methods in primary work are so truly psychological and so clearly presented as to be highly valuable to teachers privileged to attend her classes. Her work in agriculture is also interesting and helpful.

The music conducted by Mrs. M. A. Phillips at the beginning of each session is participated in by all. The teachers are eager to become proficient in this subject which is being more and more widely introduced into the schools.

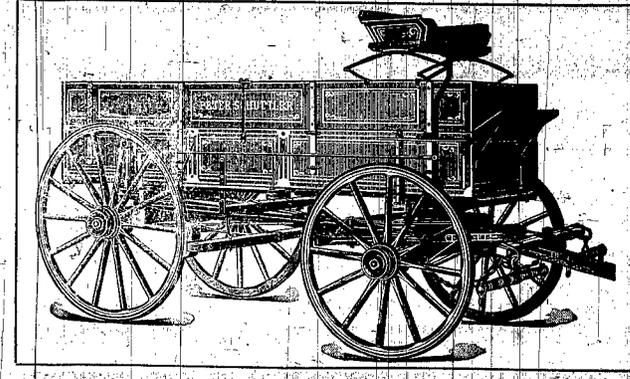

Wayne county is to be congratulated on her excellent corps of teachers, and her earnest, enthusiastic and progressive county superintendent. Under such efficient management the schools of the county must and will advance.

'Rah for the Dear Teachers!

Tomorrow, Friday afternoon, at three o'clock, the teachers in institute assembled, will hold a "parliamentary law tournament," the motion to be put before the assembly being: "That in the judgment of this assembly, the teachers of Wayne county exert a more beneficial influence than all the doctors, lawyers and preachers combined." A number of professional and business men have promised to take part in the tournament; everybody interested is requested to attend.

...Peter Schuttler Wagon...

About the Building of a Schuttler Wagon

Some men are so constituted that whatever they do must be done right. They can no more slight any part of their work than they can change day into night. Everything must be made as good as they can possibly make it.

That's the way the original Peter Schuttler did his work, and PETER SCHUTTLETS SONS HAVE BEEN MAKING WAGONS IN THE SAME CAREFUL WAY EVER SINCE. And today the name "SCHUTTLETS" on a wagon stands for the highest possible QUALITY, just as it did when the first Schuttler wagon was made.

Quality is the only thing known around the Schuttler factory. The cost of building a wagon is never considered in the beginning; but every wagon is made just as good as it is possible to make it, and the selling price fixed afterward.

This explains why, in the face of the ever increasing scarcity and consequent advance of wagon material on one hand, and a constant demand for lower prices from the consumer on the other, Schuttler wagons retain the same high standard. Their makers don't know how to make them otherwise. The difference between a Schuttler wagon and a common wagon is only a few dollars, so why take chances on a common wagon, when you can have THE BEST WAGON MADE.

Operator Dean, at the depot, has invented a fly catcher that is expected to gather in all the flies in that particular part of the city. Earl Perkins, the young man who lost two fingers and a thumb at the Stringer shop while operating a planer two months ago, was overcome by the heat Monday while at work on the Damme farm eight miles south of town. Mr. Vail went out with an auto and brought the patient to town, to his cousin's residence, W. Walker, Dr. Wightman being called to give medical aid. Tuesday Mr. Perkins was well on the way to recovery, but is probably looking for the next mishap. A couple of weeks ago he was scalded while handling a hot water hose. Mrs. G. F. Sebald was a caller on the Democrat Monday and gave notice that she would appeal to the highest court in the land and sue the citizens of Wayne for failure to give her protection from her husband. Mrs. Sebald has a voluminous lot of correspondence, from the menial city official up to several letters from the governor of Nebraska. We are not much surprised at City Attorney Rooney, Mayor Bressler and Sheriff Mears giving her the worst of it, but we are amazed to learn that Jim Stanton would turn a deaf ear to a woman in distress. You ought to compel the county attorney to make a move in this matter, Jim, or else forever be ashamed of yourself. The Democrat man saw Clyde Winterburn on the train the other day and in asking about Wayne people made the remark that conditions had changed for him since he left here. "I remember going into the First National bank and asking for a job as book-keeper; and, why, they just laughed at me," said Mr. Winterburn, "and that set me to thinking about what was the matter with me. I then started in on my present position a $10 per week and some doubt as to whether I could hold it. Last spring I refused a salary of $3,000 per year to stay where I am." Clyde talks like a different fellow than what he appeared to be just a few years ago in Wayne. We enjoyed his little dissertation on marriage-from personal experience-just the reverse of what you'd expect-from the dude that he was in Wayne. His son and heir is a few months old and the stem-winder of a happy, luxurious home.

ADAM GRIER HANGS HIMSELF Goes to the Barn of His Friend, Gus Hansen, to do the Deed. A SAD TRAGEDY YESTERDAY. One of the most unexpected of tragedies occurred early yesterday morning when Adam Grier, one of the best known Wayne county farmers hung himself in the barn of his neighbor and close personal friend, Gus Hansen. It was about six o'clock in the morning that a call came in for the coroner, and an hour later Coroner J. J. Williams, accompanied by the writer and John Kay made a trip out to the Grier farm, four and one-half miles north of town. After conferring with Mrs. Grier, her son Ed. and daughter Mary, the members of the household, the journey was continued to the Hansen place, about a mile west of the Grier farm. The first glance at the barn, a one story, low structure, brought the shocking sight of Mr. Grier hanging close to the door from a rafter. His feet appeared to be touching the bed of hay beneath and he might have rested on his toes had he wished to have done so. Dr. Williams immediately cut the rope and examined the body, but there were no other hurts and the victim's neck was not broken, death being caused by strangulation. F. M. Griffith and a couple of neighbors had remained in the barn while Gus Hansen came to town to report the death. From Ed. Grier, the youngest son, who lived at home, it was learned that he, Ed., had gotten up at 4:30 and gone out to do the chores. A few moments later Mr. Grier arose and when his wife told him to remain in the bedroom and sleep, he replied that he had not slept any during the night and he must go out. At five o'clock, when Ed. returned to the house, his mother asked him where his father was and an immediate search was made about the barn and yards and also the cornfield adjoining. Then Ed. got on a horse and rode to his brother Jim's nearby. Later he saw Gus Hansen drive into Frank Griffith's place and mistaking that Gus would know where his father was he went over, and learned the shocking news. Mr. Hansen says he got up at about 5:30 and went to his barn and that Mr. Grier was dead, but it must have been a very short time after Mr. Grier had reached the place as the old man was weak and would take a half hour to make the walk. The victim used an ordinary halter rope and had taken some old cloth and placed it on his throat to prevent the rope from cutting him. The body and limbs were not rigid when Dr. Williams cut it down. No inquest was deemed necessary under the circumstances. Dr. Williams states that Mr. Grier called to see him the day previous and he made an examination to determine what the man's physical ills were, and that about all the trouble was with the poor man's mind. His vital organs were in good condition and the only trouble apparent was a stiffness of the shoulders or rheumatism, Mr. Grier saying his shoulders were out of joint. About three years ago he had one shoulder dislocated by a fractious horse and last spring the other shoulder injured while at work on a windmill. This almost incapacitated him from doing any kind of work, and his son Ed. says that a few days ago his father nearly fell under horses heels in the barn while trying to do the chores. Dr. Williams endeavored to cheer him up; told him to quit work and get rested up, but Adam told him it was no use; he must work to make a living. His going to Hansen's to end his life was no doubt to save his family a greater shock, and he was such a constant companion of Mr. Hansen of late years that he knew Gus would not blame him for ending his life there. Ed. Grier was sent to Bloomfield yesterday morning to convey the sad news to his sister, Mrs. Ray R. Durant, who lives seventeen miles from that place, and who is not in the best of health, it being feared that a dispatch would be more than she could stand. The Grier family consisted of father, mother, two daughters, Mrs. Durant and Mary Grier, the latter being the youngest child; three sons, Jas. John and Edward. The parents came to Wayne county nearly thirty years ago. They lived on and owned one of the nicest farms in the county and are among the most respected and well-liked families. The tragedy falls very heavy on Mrs. Grier and the children fear will leave permanent injuries to her health and mind. While on his last visit to Wayne, Tuesday, Mr. Grier made his will and settled up some business affairs so it is apparent that his death had been planned the day previous. The funeral will be held tomorrow, Friday, at two o'clock from his late residence. Adam Grier was 37 years of age last Sunday, Aug. 21st. He was a native of Scotland. He leaves aside from his home family three brothers, George of Olathe, and William and James of Wichita, all of whom will be here to attend the funeral tomorrow. John Wier of Orland, Ill., an uncle of Mrs. Grier and well known in Wayne, is also in the city to attend the obsequies.

Better Than Ever

We feel that we have been here long enough now so that we may be held excusable for "Tooting Our Own Horn," just occasionally. Any time we don't toot true, call us down.

We have been here five years now, and every month that we have been here has shown a substantial increase in business over the same month of the previous year.

Every time we have bought a bill of goods in the market or of men on the road our especial care has been to obtain that for our patrons which is not only newest but also that which is best in quality.

We think that the fact of the quality in merchandise through conscientious buying and selling is the cause of our increased business. We think, too, that a continuation of the quality policy will bring a continued increase in the volume of our business.

And so, for fall, we make a bid for your business by promising that our stock will represent a higher standard and be better than ever. If we can offer a more varied assortment and higher class merchandise than ever before and not increase our prices it ought to appeal to you, as to any economical buyer.

The Fall goods are beginning to arrive and we will appreciate an opportunity to show them. Fall suits are already selling and by the last of this week we will be able to show the best and most complete line of Fall suits we have ever shown.

We will be glad to welcome Lookers as well as Buyers

IOWA YOUTH IS UNABLE TO GET RID OF HOODOO

"Dire Disaster Follows Fast, and Follows Faster," as the Boy Grows.

MISHAPS SINCE BABYHOOD

Des Moines, Special: Gail Chandler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chandler, of Des Moines, is probably the most bewitched boy in Iowa and holds a record of misfortunes second to none in the entire country. The boy added another chapter in his record of injuries by breaking a collar bone in a fall from a wood shed where he was trying to install a toy windmill.

Dog Bit Him.

One deep scar on his forehead was caused by a fall from his high chair when he was only a child. A year or so later he was bit on the head by a dog and the injury came near causing his death. While recovering from that injury he fell from his bed and broke his collar bone.

Breaks His Leg.

In a chase after a butterfly, when 5 years old, he stepped into a hole in the ground, falling and breaking a bone in his leg just above the ankle. The idea of stopping a butterfly by striking his fingers against the revolving knife. The inevitable result followed.

Suffers His Toes.

When 8 years of age he was attempting to break a yearling calf to ride and was thrown over its head, alighting on his right side, breaking the shoulder from this accident he fell from the tree and broke his left wrist.

Ribs Are Cracked.

When he was 12 years old, beating a horse with a board brought him more misfortune. The horse, resenting the blows, kicked him in the back, breaking ribs of them, which he scarcely recovered from this injury when a colt which his father was breaking ran away with the cart in which the boy was riding, the horse hit the ground and breaking another rib.

Clothes on Fire.

The year he was 11 years old proved another "hoodoo" for Gail. His clothes caught fire from an explosion of a gasoline stove and he was seriously burned about his face and hands, which were badly scarred as a result. His hands were bandaged and turpentine poured over them. In some manner the bandages were removed before the cloth could be burned.

In addition to these injuries he has received a number of minor ones, as is evidenced by numerous scars on his hands and face. He is now but 12 years old, and although the "hoodoo" has worked overtime, he expects to beat the game yet.

The Wail of a Bachelor.

I am a most unlucky man
In matters of the heart,
From youth it's been my wish to play
A matrimonial part,
I must have popped a hundred times
But all in vain, a bachelor
I'll have to end my days.

My first love I remember well,
Miss Shipp, her I adored;
But when I asked to be her mate
She said she'd rather be a maid.
Miss Cone was next, I told her that
For her I pined, but she
Said she'd never pitch on me.

FOR WIFE DESERTERS.

Washington Makes Them Labor and Support Families.

From the Washington Herald.
Experience under the family desertion and non-support law in Washington has proved that it is possible to bring deserting husbands to task and make them support their families, however much they may want to skip out and leave wives and children to shift for themselves.

Punishment in itself profits nobody. The law is not to punish, but to make the man decide whether he will work in confinement or out of it, and Judge William H. DeLoach of the juvenile court, sees that he does work in one way or the other. The judge is a good man, and he is not a many broken families that he knows what he can do; and the men know, too.

When a man brought up for non-support purposes to furnish his job is put on probation, and ordered to pay a specified amount to the state. If he fails to do so, the police station nearest his home. The sergeant turns the money over to the juvenile court and then the wife gets it in full on Monday morning, her pay day.

Beyond the money that the wife gets, the man is kept at work which is a nighty good thing for himself, and the family is kept together.

Men are not willing to furnish support under this arrangement, and the wife's default in payment or desert a second time are promptly sent to the workhouse. There they are made up into gangs and put to work in Rock Creek park, where Mr. DeLoach has a garden used to take his afternoon gallop. They have a hard day's work in the open air, with good food and for this the law requires the government to pay 50 cents a day to the wives as for any government work, and the man is kept in the workhouse until he can pay for his board and guard the men after the wages have been taken out. Congress appropriates $2,600 a year for this purpose, they setting a good example to state legislatures and city councils.

It pays to do so. A man who can get out at any time will work long in this way. Last year only one man out of nine who were sentenced to the workhouse got out after an average of six weeks. The government paid $2,340 for work, but the men outside earned $38,200, which was collected by the police and paid to the wives. Beyond the money that the wife gets, however, is the moral effect of the work and its compensation on the man in his relations to his family. Instead of escaping the punishment which he deserves, and so failing to realize that he has done the wrong, the issue is squarely made and the workhouse sentence is inflicted, revealing his conduct to him in its true character. Many men have reformed after this experience and it goes in large part to the compensation provided for the wife, which is able to inflict the punishment without hesitation where he thinks it necessary.

Judge DeLoach's execution of the law is certainly a success. The fact that desertion is a misdemeanor and is punishable almost every state and is punishable with hard labor in many. But to punish the man in jail the judge must also punish his wife and children by cutting off his wages. The wife must go to work or accept help from a charitable society or the city.

The Washington law does away with all that. In the three years and nine months during which the law has been in operation the amount paid to prisoners has been $1,375, while the amount collected from them through the juvenile court is $95,853.10. The writer believes it ought to be generally adopted.

President Johnson's wealth was estimated at $50,000.
President Polk left $150,000.

MAYOR GAYNOR TALKS IN PLAINEST FASHION

Following are some of the epigrams of Mayor William J. Gaynor, of New York, in public speeches in the past few years:

The worst sort of things have been done and suffered in the name of the law from generation to generation. We cannot stand still. We must either go forward or backward. That is the universal law of growth and decay.

The great man (President Roosevelt) is, through God's providence, in the leadership over this nation.

Railroad companies are not private companies, conducting private business and free to do as they please.

What would have happened if favored individuals had been permitted to drive their cattle on the hoof or their loaded teams through the toll gates at less rates than the rest of the community had to pay?

What would have happened if we had monopolies which we call trusts, but would do better to call by the plain and ordinary name, trusts?

We have to bless Mr. Roosevelt for what he has done and for the powerful influences, political and otherwise, but he has not done all.

Think of the franchisees of the people being used in this way to drain the pockets of the people for the benefit of the few.

It takes not only production, but a proper distribution of the total product to make prosperity.

But if (the government) is not fooled, it is entering upon a great future due to the intelligence and sense of right coming principally from our schools.

When the great state of New York decided to the United States Senate one who never did anything in his life except the work of a vulgar lobbyist, we all began to realize how low we had sunk.

DAISY AND THE CURATE.

BY CLIFTON BINGHAM.

COPYRIGHT, 1903, BY W. R. HEARST
GREAT BRITAIN RIGHTS RESERVED.

"Wonder if this one will fall in love with you?"
"Harry, don't be so horrid!"
"But you know very well they all do. I am sure I don't know why"—with brotherly candor.
"I know, and it's very disagreeable!" said Daisy.

"You don't seem to think so at the moment."
"The disagreeability comes when—when they propose," said Daisy ruefully. She jumped up from her seat suddenly. "I shall snub him unmercifully; show him unmistakably that I am—"

"Not indulging in curates," put in Harry, and dodged the sofa cushion thrown at him skilfully.
The scene was the morning room at Avondale vicarage, and the speakers were the only children of the Rev. Archibald Kemp, who adored them both, and as his parishioners—some of them—averred, spoiled them. Daisy Kemp—everyone called her that, though her real name was Margaret—after her long-dead mother—was 21, her brother 19. She was a curly-haired, round and rosy-faced kitten, with a dimpled chin, and, as may have been gathered, a horror of being made love to by curates! Her brother Harry was replica of his father—open-browed, tall, broad-shouldered and honest-eyed, a typical country English lad.

Perfectly true, and that all her father's curates fell in love with Daisy. She sincerely wished they would not. But they all did, so at first sight, some gradually—but they all did. Then they proposed to her, and she firmly refused, and went away in search of pastures new and forgetfulness. It was, as Daisy said, and she meant it too, very disagreeable.

"What is Mr. Bentham like?" was Daisy's question at lunch that day. Harry gave a grin; the vicar looked at his daughter innocently.
"Wait and see, my child," was all he said.

"When is he coming?"
"I told Mr. Smithers to have his rooms ready tonight."
"That night, then?"
"My daughter, Mr. Bentham," said the vicar, absently. "Yes, as you were saying, there is much always to be thought of and to do."

"Yes, indeed," replied Mr. Bentham, in what struck Daisy as a peculiarly unpleasant voice.
"Dad," she remarked, when indoors later, "he is absolutely ugly."
"Oh, no, dear. Plain, perhaps, but not so bad as that."

"I want you to be brave, my dear girl, and come and say goodby to—"

The vicar broke down here.
"Good-by?" whispered Daisy; "is he—?"
"Yes, he is dying."

Without a word Daisy Kemp went with her father hand in hand to Richard Bentham's bedside. She steeled herself for the ordeal, and with agony in her heart, knelt down beside the dying man whom she now knew she loved indeed.

His tired eyes turned to her drawn face; his thin hand clasped hers.

"I don't like him."
"Oh, my dear girl, you must be kinder to him. He is a very good man, and he is dying."
"I don't care. He is ugly."
"He is not ugly, my dear. He is a very good man, and he is dying."
"I don't care. He is ugly."

ELBERFELD STARTED IN GAME WHEN YOUNG

"Tabasco Kid" Was 17 When He First Appeared on Diamond in Fast Company.

The name of Elberfeld—the "Tabasco Kid"—has been a household word for some many years, that is, in every home where baseball has been discussed, says the Detroit Journal.

One would think the kid was 40 odd years old. He was playing with LaLoe at Philadelphia before the year 1900 rolled around, and he is now in Detroit, New York, and is now with Washington. The latter may be his last stand, but Kid expects to play baseball for seven or eight years to come, for he is a game, hard and as lively as a cricket and as energetic on the ball field as at any time in his career.

Manager McAleer will not permit him to engage in any wordy arguments with the umpires, and in this way he has kept the little fellow in the game up to the time hurt his hand.

It is now 16 years since Elberfeld strove into the game as a professional. He went to his home in Clarksville, Ky., and, according to his own story, he was a sorry-looking spectacle when he reported to the manager. "I was a sick man," said Elberfeld, "and I had a fever, and I had a cough, and I had a cold, and I had a headache, and I had a pain in my back, and I had a pain in my chest, and I had a pain in my stomach, and I had a pain in my head, and I had a pain in my feet, and I had a pain in my hands, and I had a pain in my arms, and I had a pain in my legs, and I had a pain in my neck, and I had a pain DEMOCRAT PRINTERY:
 "The Work That's Different"

Burkett a Big Fake.

The week preceding the primary election the republican weekly press of the state all printed an editorial in answer to Chas. O. Whedon's castigation of Senator Burkett. The deadly similarity of these articles proved beyond contention that they all emanated from one source—Senator Burkett. That the article was an untruth in every instance was not doubted by many, but it had its effect among the unthinking voters. It was in line with the well worn plan of campaign counted on by the staid-patters, some of whom in Nebraska occasionally take a fall-out of Cannon—for appearances sake when he is a lesser evil to the public than Burkett himself, for the Burketts make the Cannons. The Cedar County News took occasion to look up this Burkett "editorial", and exposed the sham of it as follows:

The statements it contained were to the credit of the Senator and if true would have proved his opponent Mr. Whedon a liar. The papers published the statement without verifying it. That is very evident, for had they examined the Congressional Record as to the votes mentioned they would certainly never have given the article publicity.

Mr. Whedon says that "Senator Burkett voted against an amendment reducing the duty on barb wire."

Senator Burkett introduced an amendment reducing the duty on barb wire from 70 per hundred to seventy-five cents per hundred and the record so shows.

This is a sample of the senator's veracity. He did indeed "introduce" such a measure, but it never was brought to a vote and there is no record that he ever tried to bring it to a vote any more than thousands of other bills "introduced" by various members for various reasons. But there is a record of his vote on barbed wire and other fence wire.

Cummins of Iowa introduced an amendment reducing the duty and Mr. Burkett voted "Nay." His vote recorded on page 3974 of the Congressional Record and was cast on June 28 21 democrats and ten republicans voted for the amendment; thirty-eight republicans voted against it and Mr. Burkett was one of them. On June 25, see page 3885, Mr. Aldrich introduced an amendment raising the duty on wire nails half a cent a pound. Mr. Burkett voted "yea." So did forty republicans and one democrat and it carried. 12 republicans and 21 democrats voted against it.

Mr. Whedon further says that "Senator Burkett voted to increase the duty on Boots and Shoes."

The facts in the case are that nobody voted to increase the duty on Boots and Shoes. On the other hand the duty was lowered 60 per cent on Boots and Shoes.

Here is another sample of senatorial truthfulness. See pages 3708, 3800, June 22 to 24 for the facts. Aldrich moved to raise the duty on boots and shoes from 15 per cent ad valorem to 20 per cent ad valorem. Mr. Burkett voted "yea" and it carried. Senator Stone moved to place boots and shoes on the free list and Senator Burkett voted "nay". On separate and distinct occasions when this question came up the Senator voted the same way five times.

Our republican contemporaries who claim to be the advisers and instructors of their party would do well for their party's good to look these matters up before they publish statements which are calculated to deceive.

There are intelligent republicans who have this information and others who are likely to drop a line to Washington and get it. And when they find that their party papers have been deceiving them it will be worse for the party and the paper than it would have been had the paper exercised itself to the extent of finding out and telling the truth. Better to be an insurgent than a believer and circulator of falsehoods. And it is safest to verify statements of men of the Burkett stripe before publishing them.

"SANITY IN NEBRASKA"

The esteemed Sioux City Journal, whose standstillism is of the most intense variety, rejoices with loud acclaim in the renomination of Senator Burkett in Nebraska. It sees in Burkett at least one lovely oasis in the western desert, and in his victory finds signs of hope that, whatever may be the case in Iowa and Kansas, there is "sanity" in Nebraska. The Journal says:

The vicious attempt to apply the snickersnee to Burkett's neck (in the primaries) was solely because Burkett is a republican and would not join the republican conspirators banded with democrats at Washington last winter, in their attempt to wreck the republican party, when the issue was put up to him by the L. A. Folettes, the Cummins and the Bristows. Thereupon Burkett's name was entered and doubly underscored in the black-list of insurgent headquarters, and thereafter no trick or device in the whole gamut of insurgent resources was for a day left unemployed against him.

He was especially marked for a victim to insubordinate vindictiveness because he is of the middle-west, where it is the insurgent program at all hazards and by any means to take the life of any public man who will not bow the knee to insurgent dictatorship.

This frank rejoicing on the part of Senator Burkett's enthusiastic stand-pat admirer and friend must be somewhat embarrassing to the senator who has just issued a statement declaring he is just as "progressive" and just as truly a friend of the "Roosevelt policies" and just as deadly a foe of "greed and avarice" as anybody.

gressive constituents think he never new with that flock of black-birds in his whole life.—World Herald.

It takes M. W. Warner of the Lyons Mirror to "point to a moral and adorn a tale." Editor Warner says:

"The result on governor at Tuesday's primary election is not definitely known although it is claimed that Dahlgren has defeated Shallenberger. Grant was about right when he said the fool Democrats could be depended upon to do the wrong thing at the right time to insure defeat.

But no matter who is nominated the heroes in this contest are the brave and true republicans who voted for Shallenberger and if there is a God in Israel they will surely receive their eternal reward. But as to those republicans who disgraced and dishonored themselves by voting for Dahlgren the less said the better."

The above loses force and the Mirror becomes dimmed with webs of inconsistency when you know that it was one of the staunch supporters of Willis Reed for U. S. senator, the man who wrote a "book" in defense of the brewers.

The Sioux City Journal's Burkett editorials look as thin as that big automobile contest the Journal is now trying to boost into view. It's hard sledding nowadays for the Burkett boosters.

The difference between the speaker of the house and our stand-pat senator is the difference between a pop-bottle report and the roar of a Cannon. Still there are "progressive" republicans who deride the Cannon and take to the bottle for local effect.

If United States Senator Burkett suits you, Cannon, Aldrich, and the whole stand-pat works ought to be yours also. The politician who lambastes Cannon and lauds Burkett is a deceiver of the shallowest sort.

J. T. Bressler now owns a newspaper when there is no fight on. But in peace prepare for war.

As a matter of finance it was cheaper for the governor to get his at the primaries.

The Sioux City Journal has a spasm of delight over the renomination of Burkett in Nebraska, whom the Journal paints as a most pronounced stand-patter. What do you Wayne republicans who voted for "Burkett" the progressive" think of this view of this peculiar politician?

Editor Huse has gone on record as stating that Dahlgren is a much better man than he is presumed to be, while Aldrich is a whole lot worse than public opinion holds him. The fact that this statement was made when Cady was supposed to have won the republican nomination for governor should not necessarily change the character of the respective candidates.
