

You Want the Best Base Burner

Here's the one you are looking for. It's the FAVORITE. The FAVORITE requires but 2 1-2 tons of coal to heat a home perfectly all winter. Any other base burner requires from 4 to 6. How much coal did you burn last winter? If you used more than 2 1-2 tons you are wasting money. Get a FAVORITE base burner and cut your coal bill in two.

Let me tell you some things about a base burner.

Base Burners are made to get all the heat they can out of a certain amount of coal, and send it into a room or home. The Base Burner that sends the greatest amount of heat into the home from that amount of coal is the best.

The coal must be thoroughly burned in order to get the utmost heat from it. To do this, the base burner must be air tight, so that all the air can pass only through the coal, thus insuring complete combustion.

This heat, extracted from the coal by the air tight Base Burner must now be gotten into the room. To do this all base burners have hollow flues through which the heat from the fire passes before it can go out the chimney.

You see if the heat passed directly into the chimney it would be lost. The flues radiate it into the room before it can reach the chimney.

The best flues are those which have the greatest surface from which the heat can radiate into the room.

Now, you see, that the best Base Burner must be absolutely airtight, and it's flues must have a larger radiating surface than any other Base Burner.

Is there such an ideal base burner that combines these two essential qualities? Just one—the FAVORITE.

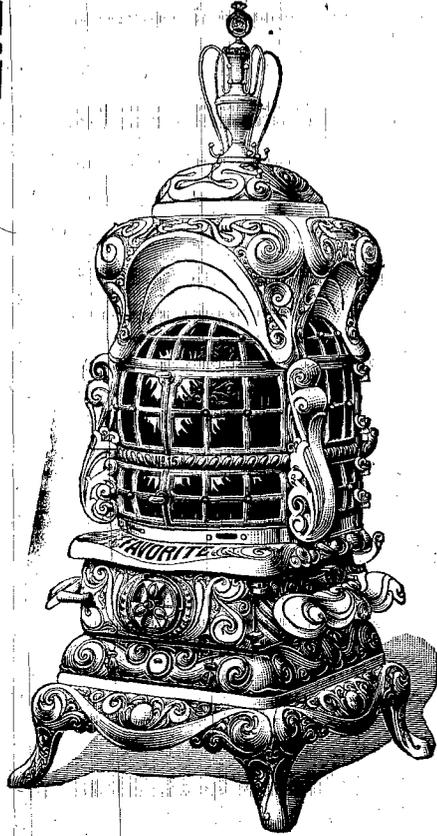

Every Favorite is fitted air tight. The Doors, registers and frames are milled and planed by special machinery, just as wood is planed, until each part fits into its proper place just as closely and tightly as a watch case fits.

There is no guess work about this fitting. It HAS to be right. Every Base Burner is carefully inspected before it leaves the factory, and a base burner that isn't air tight does not go out.

The flues of the FAVORITE Base Burner have over double the radiating surface of any other base burner.

These three flues are built separate from the back of the stove and from each other, a construction that no other base burner can have, because it is patented.

That means the same amount of coal in a FAVORITE will give twice the amount of heat that another base burner will.

PHIL SULLIVAN WAS NAPPING.

Goes to Holt County to Effect a Settlement with His $120,000 Sweetheart and is Sinched For a Trial Up There.

The suit of Miss Mary A. Cauley, to mulct Phil Sullivan out of $120,000.00 for breach of promise, which action was filed in the Wayne county court about August 10th, was last week dismissed without prejudice. The street rumor was to effect that Phil had gone out to O'Neill and settled with his erstwhile sweetheart, but F. A. Berry, one of the attorneys for Miss Cauley, tells the Democrat that no settlement was made, and that an action to recover the same amount of damages has been instituted in Holt county, Mike Harrington securing service on gay and gamey Phillip when the latter went out there to try and compromise the difficulty. It rather looks as though our good friend had put his foot in it, and his game leg at that, and if Mary succeeds in pulling it for one hundred and twenty thousand bucks it will make the owner of it almost wish he had died four or five years ago when he was not expected to live. The plaintiff in her petition alleged that at various times the defendant asked her and promised to marry her, from 1906 to 1908, and that she was damaged in the above sum.

The proposition of a settlement may have been proposed for the sole purpose of getting Sullivan into Holt county, and it isn't likely his defense will be any more effective for having to go away from home to make it.

STATE FILES BRIEF IN TELEPHONE CASE

Takes Another Step to Prevent Merger of Bell Company With Independents

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 27.—The brief of the state against the American Telegraph & Telephone Company, an alleged trust, has been received from the printer and will shortly be filed in court...

Planned to Accomplish Their Base End While His Majesty Was Visiting Military School Near Capital.

Tokio, Sept. 23.—A sensation was created by the publication this afternoon of the alleged details of a plot among his own subjects to assassinate Emperor Mutsuhito.

The starting story appeared in the Shinbun, which states that the plotters, who are now under arrest, certainly will be sentenced to death after trials before a special secret court.

It is understood that a rigorous censorship had prevented the publication of so much of the details of the conspiracy until this evening, when the Hochi Shinbun assumed responsibility for the alarming announcement.

The papers' assertions are not without a show of authority. There are now in jail in this city, a number of persons who are alleged to be active in the "allied socialist" movement, and some of whom may be considered to be the real plotters.

BOYS IN BLUE IN MARTIAL PARADE

Ideal September Day Favors Veterans as They March Through Atlantic City

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 23.—Once again, the "Boys in Blue" passed in review of the thousands in chief. With steps not so sprightly as of yore, but with the same old spirit, they marched the broad avenues of this city by the sea today and were acclaimed by great crowds of people who came to see the big feature of the 44th annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic.

The spectacle was a stirring one. Every building along the parade route was literally hidden beneath the draped national colors and the sidewalks were massed with people whose interest did not wane until the last of the parade had passed.

The route was a comparatively short one, it having been deemed unwise to subject the old soldiers to any more fatigue than was necessary. Only a few minutes of the parade were seen.

MILWAUKEE PRESENTS TESTIMONY ON RATES

Advance Would Greatly Increase That Road's Income Says Commerce Expert.

Chicago, Sept. 23.—At the railway rate hearing today the presentation of evidence of the Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad company began under the direction of Burton Hanson, general solicitor of the road, with William Willis, the company's commerce expert on the witness stand.

Mr. Willis presented a table indicating that if the proposed advances were allowed to go into effect the Milwaukee road's income would be increased in far greater measure than that estimated by other roads so far. He estimated the rate advance would increase the road's income by $1,350,000. Of this he said, $113,934 would come from coarse grains; $122,748 on wheat; $28,213 on dressed meats; and $20,974 on soft coal.

Alleged manipulation of a railroad's income to cover up a financial loss found its income was inquired into by attorneys for shippers. General Manager W. L. Park had told the commission he would not allow a proper rate to be set for freight transportation but which rendered a fair return for services to the shipper, and which, after paying a reasonable dividend on the capital stock, would cover all operating and maintenance expenses, and would also give the company a yearly surplus of $6,000,000 or $7,000,000 to make the investment attractive to people with money and give the company credit.

"No," was the reply. "I would use it for bettering the road. For instance, I would develop a part of it to new depots, etc."

"But," asked Mr. Atwood, "when that depot was built you would consider it a part of the actual property of the road, and the investment would be for additional capitalization, wouldn't you?"

"Of course." "When you have later had capitalized it, you would say you ought to be entitled to a reasonable dividend upon that capitalization?"

"Yes, sir." "The simple fact is, you think you ought to be entitled to charge shippers enough to bring in sufficient earnings that you can devote a part to new capitalization and get a big return on it. The simple fact is, you think you ought to be entitled to charge shippers a fair tariff for the shipper?"

MOTHER AND HER CHILDREN URGING PARDON OF WALSH

Deny That Any Element of Moral Turpitude Was Involved in Crime Which He Committed

Washington, Sept. 27.—A petition to the president of the United States for the pardon of John R. Walsh, former president of the Federal National Bank from the Federal National Bank, worth, Kan., was filed at the department of justice today by Attorney George Buckingham, of Chicago, on behalf of Mrs. M. J. Walsh, Richard W. Walsh and John W. Walsh, respectively the wife and sons of the prisoner.

Accompanying the application for pardon were thousands of letters from individuals in Chicago and throughout the middle west urging President Taft to grant the petition. The file of these letters comprises 25 bound volumes. Besides the letters from friends and business associates, there were letters from all the officers and directors of the Walsh banks which were in banks' stockholders and other persons who found Walsh guilty of misappropriating funds of his banks.

History of the Conviction.

In 1911 Walsh was found guilty of a violation of the Federal States banking laws in having made excessive loans to railroads in which he was interested and in December, 1909, he was sentenced to five years in Leavenworth prison.

Walsh is 73 years old, and the main motive in the appeal to President Taft is that the prisoner is failing health. He is reported to suffer from acute heart disease and physicians affirm in the petition that he is likely to die at any moment.

As set forth in the petition the grounds on which the pardon is asked are as follows:

"That the crime for which he was found guilty does not involve moral turpitude and that none of the acts on which conviction was based were done for or resulted in any profit to himself.

"That the depositors in all the banks with which he was connected were paid in full and immediately.

"That the loss of nearly all his own large personal fortune, caused by the forced liquidation of his banks and institutions, is equivalent to a financial many times in excess of any unjustly imposed, and is in itself a most severe punishment already suffered.

"That this man is a patriotic citizen and position, together with the humiliation of a conviction and imprisonment, is a punishment already suffered in excess of the usual.

"That the petitioner, during the four years' struggle to save his personal name, as well as to save loss to parties interested, has, with his advanced age, and the serious nature of his health, that a continued imprisonment is likely to result fatally.

END OF JOY RIDE IS WATERY GRAVE

Part of Six, Out for Big Celebration, Meet Death Suddenly in New Orleans Canal

New Orleans, La., Sept. 27.—Bodies of two of the men killed in the automobile accident have been identified as W. R. Freeman, aged 35, of New York, and Thomas Beutler, aged 43, of New York. The other four bodies, which have been recovered, have not been identified.

New Orleans, Sept. 27.—Six persons are believed to have been drowned when a large touring car returning from West End, a lake resort, to New Orleans this morning ran off the road, crashed through a fence and fell into a canal. Three of the bodies have been recovered, those of John Freeman, of New York city, Thomas Beutler and an unidentified woman. Freeman was traveling salesman for a New York company.

The car left West End shortly before daylight and is believed to have had six or seven occupants. Witnesses at the West End restaurant said the car was driven by Beutler, an automobile dealer, former proprietor of the Oak hotel in New Orleans. He had two women and three or four children in the car. A workman passing along the shore road, which connects New Orleans with West End, and which runs parallel with the levee, saw the car crash and plunge into the canal. He saw the spot and made out the figure of one man attempting to swim ashore, but before he could reach the bank the car had disappeared.

Apparatus belonging to a wrecking company was taken to the canal. The car will be hoisted and divers sent down in an effort to recover the other bodies.

BRADSTREET AND DUN REPORT ON BUSINESS

Trade Over Country Generally Considered, Is Indicated to Be Below Normal.

New York, Sept. 27.—Bradstreet's Saturday said: "Trade and industrial reports here still irregular and general characterization is difficult. Fair activity in some lines and some centers is indicated, but general conservatism are widely in evidence and reflected in small but frequent rather than large or confident buying. One really favorable underlying feature, not thoroughly appreciated at present, is the apparent absence of large stocks of goods in primary or secondary hands, born apparently of uncertainty as to future demand and of the belief that the far distant buying is not either advisable or necessary. This, with the favorable crop outlook, will make easier the liquidation of existing stocks and other distributing causes are removed."

Reports from leading industries are of repression in operations. Basic pig iron, however, and there are reports of willingness to order more ahead. Some finished lines show a slightly larger volume of business booked, but railway buying is still conspicuous by its absence. The leather trade shows a leather trade some sole leather tanners are operating much below capacity and eastern shoe manufacturers report conservatism marked in buying. The woolen goods center reports shoe factories running to capacity. In textile lines curtailment is still in evidence. Staple lines meet with fairly active demand.

"Jobs and manufacturers' stocks are reported lighter than usual. Some makes of ginghams and fancy cottons for next spring, for which prices have been advanced, are reported to be in the woolen goods trade political agitation is claimed to be holding back future demand."

"Business failures in the United States for the week ending September 23, 1910, against 210 last week, 171 in the like week of 1909, 287 in 1908, 166 in 1907, and 125 in 1906.

"Business failures in Canada for the week ending September 23, 1910, against 155 in the like week of 1909, 137 in the like week of 1908, and 125 in the like week of 1907.

"R. G. Dun & Co's weekly review of trade today says: "With crops aggregating large quantities and value in spite of the reduced yield, the market for agricultural products is becoming so intense and uncertain as to make enterprise timid, and with the railroads and shippers engaged in a dispute over rates, the business outlook is not very bright. There are, however, in some important directions, while at the same time there are streaks of progressiveness and activity."

"The steel market has centered chiefly in predictions of an early general reduction of prices on finished steel productions which have been freely discussed, and the effect has been to bring about a general feeling of conservatism from well informed sources. The wire trade reflects considerable activity, but demand for rails is not brisk in the Pittsburgh district."

"In the dry goods market the improvements noted in silks and ribbons is continued and a few mills are running full and overtime. In woolens and wools demand is generally in moderate demand."

"Footwear conditions show a slight improvement, but the actual volume of trade continues moderate."

SIX WRECK VICTIMS REMAIN UNIDENTIFIED

Impossible, It Is Feared, to Establish Who Half a Dozen of Dead Are.

Clayton, Kan., Sept. 27.—Six dead bodies, bruised and twisted into shapeless forms, were found yesterday by officials of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad resumed their work of reconstruction following the wreck two miles east of Clayton, Kan., yesterday, which killed six persons and 11 injured. All the identified dead were residents of Kansas.

It is unlikely that the task can be completed until the bodies are searched yesterday and every clod which might lead to identification was carefully followed up. For this reason it will not be made up until the remaining victims are traced through inquiries received from relatives.

In some instances steam which arose in clouds from the engine as it plunged into the water, raised the bodies, which increased the difficulty of identification. Survivors say the bodies were filled with steam, and that it was impossible to breathe as they were crawling along the floor of the coaches. Inquiry into the reason why no warning was given when the long stretch of track was washed away was instituted by the railroad officials.

DENEEN PRAISES TAFT IN SPEECH AT ILLINOIS MEET

Says That Indications of Corruption in State Government Are Too Plain to Ignore.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 26.—The republican convention, which met here today, adopted a platform approved by the admissions of President Taft and Governor Deneen. The tariff plank follows the lines laid down in the president's campaign letter to Chairman McKinley, and the republican congressional committee. The proceedings were harmonious. Speaker Cannon, in a vigorous speech declared that the time has come when the republican faith whether or not failure be the result.

The platform commends President Taft and Governor Deneen as agents of the people, have caused to be taken other step to the principles and policies which have dominated and controlled the government of the United States for a progressive half century of civilized life. The great historic organization that destroyed slavery, preserved the union, restored order, extended the national domain, established a sound financial system and developed the industries and resources of that country has never been a negative force, but has met all problems with courage and wisdom."

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 26.—Governor Deneen, as temporary chairman, opened the republican state convention here today with a keynote address in which he discussed the tariff along the lines laid down by President Taft in his campaign letter to the republican congressional committee.

Speaker Cannon found a seat with the Vermillion county delegation, but was sought out and brought to the platform.

Governor Deneen was enthusiastically applauded. He declared that 18 months have passed since the beginning of the national administration, and that the republican party in the enactment of legislation in redemptive of the pledges of the 1903 platform, such as tariff revision, the amendment of the interstate commerce law, passage of the law for the conservation of the public lands from entry, and to protect water power sites and conserve natural resources; passage of the law for the conservation of the public lands from entry, and to protect water power sites and conserve natural resources; passage of the law for the conservation of the public lands from entry, and to protect water power sites and conserve natural resources.

"The achievements, said the governor, entitle the party to a vote of confidence by the American people."

"Discussing the recent airing of alleged corruption in the legislature, the governor said: "The confessions of four members of the legislature and the indictment of two others, indicates the existence of an extensive system of graft, in which the republican party of Illinois must not merely denounce, but must correct by acting as a whole in harmony with the views of our party as expressed in its constitution."

PERUVIAN AVIATOR IN A DARING FEAT FLIES OVER ALPS

Waits for Favorable Weather, Seizes First Opportunity, and Makes Trip With Success.

Demodossola, Italy, Sept. 25.—In lighting her Chavez, the Peruvian aviator, flew beneath his machine. He was injured and his monoplane was destroyed. Chavez's injuries proved to be more serious than was at first thought. At the hospital to which he was removed the physicians found that both of the aviator's legs were broken and that the left thigh was fractured. Other parts of the body revealed bad contusions. The general condition of the aviator, however, is not considered grave.

Milan, Italy, Sept. 25.—George Chavez the Peruvian aviator, flew from Italy, Switzerland, over the Simplon pass and arrived at Demodossola on the Italian side of the Alps at 2:29 o'clock this afternoon. Chavez crossed the Simplon pass at 1:48 p. m., and thus accomplished what has been regarded as one of the most daring feats proposed for the aviator. He was nearly thirty hours in the air, and the weather along the route, where strong winds are the rule. This morning both sides of the Alps reported clear weather, but the top of the Simplon pass was obscured by heavy fog.

Forced to Set High.

Chavez determined to make the attempt and rose to a height estimated at nearly 7,000 feet. It was known that the altitude was high for him to attain nearly this altitude in clear weather. The summit of which rises 6,582 feet.

He maintained apparently this altitude for at least an hour and followed over the road built by Napoleon in 1800 over the Simplon pass. He accomplished the feat which brought him over the top of the Simplon and then descended to the Italian side of the Alps.

Arriving at Demodossola he had left the hardest part of his journey behind him. He escaped the high peaks of the Alps and the jumble of rock crags on the side of the summit. The remaining distance to the city offers less difficulty, but takes the aviator over Lake Maggiore and a succession of plains to the goal.

Flight is 75 Miles.

The distance from Brig, Switzerland, to Milan is 75 miles and the prize was for the aviator who should make the flight in the shortest time. Chavez flew 900 feet above sea level at the head of the Rhone valley near Brig, Switzerland. In addition to reaching a height that would bring him over the Alps, Chavez had to descend to a height of 900 feet above sea level at the head of the Rhone valley near Brig, Switzerland. In addition to reaching a height that would bring him over the Alps, Chavez had to descend to a height of 900 feet above sea level at the head of the Rhone valley near Brig, Switzerland.

Aviation experts had predicted freely the only alternative to a successful flight over the Alps was the death of the aviator.

Signal fires along the Napoleon road marked the way as far as Demodossola. The aviator was guided by these signals, which were indicated by flags and buoys anchored on Lake Maggiore. The summit of the pass at Monsera was illuminated with oxyhydrogen lights, and a captive balloon showed the finish line at the aerodrome here.

Big Crowd Sees End.

As the aviator was seen slowly descending a great crowd gathered. Slowly and gracefully he neared the surface of the lake, and as he neared the ground, when a gust of wind caught and overturned the monoplane. It fell heavily, carrying the aviator beneath it. Chavez was pinned under the motor and was fatally injured. The death of the aviator.

Among the victims of the wreck was Miss Pearl Saylor, a daughter of Mrs. Clara Saylor of Bluffton, and a sister of Banker J. E. Saylor of Watseka, Ill., who was shot and killed by Dr. W. E. Miller a year or so ago. For the crime, which attracted widespread interest, Dr. Miller and Mrs. Saylor now are serving prison sentences.

GOUGH POLICE RAID TENDERLOIN DISTRICT

Many Famous Resorts Are "Pulled" and Jail Is Full of Those Caught.

New York, Sept. 24.—A police descent on the tenderloin in the early hours today was followed by one of the most spectacular raids in years of alleged illegal resorts. Plain clothes men swarmed through the district and arrested many persons. The police pulled down many of the resorts and the jail was full of those caught.

The activities of the official force caused intense excitement in the tenderloin, crowds following the raiders about and writing the names of the resorts on their hands. Raymond F. Fick, commissioner of accounts, whose investigation of tenderloin conditions was brought about Acting Mayor Mitchell's order to raid the district, was following the course of the police and seeking evidence for the grand jury probing of gambling and vice conditions in the district.

THIRTY-NINE DIE IN AN INTERURBAN WRECK IN INDIANA

Officers Will Give No Explanation of Cause of Accident, but Probe Is Going On.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Sept. 24.—Thirty-nine dead is the toll exacted by the opening of the interurban disaster yesterday, so far as the check of today shows. The officials of the company refuse to give an opinion as to where the responsibility lies. The results of the "special" train, which was speeding south from Fort Wayne, empty, knowing the "local" was 10 or more minutes late, it is said, took chances on making a list of the injured.

The injured in the hospital in Fort Wayne are: Mrs. W. D. Burgan, Bluffton; Miss Margaret Tribolet, Bluffton; S. A. Brown, Bluffton; C. E. Brown, Bluffton; Warren, Ind.; E. F. Corkwell, motor-man "special" train; A. Ellensburger, Earne, Ind.

All of the persons in the hospital on the platforms. The crash was without warning. Running at its highest speed the empty "special" sped out from the woods on a curve and plunged into the "local" which was running at high speed.

When he said that no braver troops were ever marshaled for conflict than the southern soldiers, and that the men ever made greater sacrifices for what they believed to be right than their former foes, the commander was applauded.

Here's a story given President Taft illustrating the game of bluff ascribed as being played by one prominently in the public eye at present:

A former governor of Idaho was playing euchre with Isaac Issacson. "If I was playing poker," says Issacson, "I'd bet $10 on this hand."

"Well," says the governor, "if you will give me a queen I'll bet you $100 on my hand."

Issacson gave the governor a queen, meantime smiling patronizingly on the four kings which he held. When the betting was over Issacson laid down his four kings and reached for the money.

"Softly" admonished the governor, revealing four aces and pocketing the stakes. Issacson gazed sorrowfully at the statesman, then asked:

"Say, governor, I don't mind the money, but I wish you would tell me what in hell you wanted of that queen?"

According to June Conger's story the bad weather did not interfere with the Sioux City grafters grafting fair visitors. June said he went into a barber shop for a shave Saturday morning, and having a dull, brown feeling at the back of his neck he allowed the artist to touch up the temporary defect of nature with a little vibratory tonic. Upon its completion he was handed a check which he was too polite to examine and having only a quarter in change he flashed a fiver on the cashier with the nonchalant air of a man long accustomed to keeping a touring car in repair. The cold, unfeeling, heady barber very absent-mindedly stuck the tag on a spindle and then handed June—a lemon—$2.10 in change. June says it also took his breath away for a moment, but that with returning consciousness he burst out laughing, he was so thunder-struck at the boldness of the steal.

The editor of the Norfolk News, a Taft-Cannon organ, laments because he has not web-feet. The Almighty never figured that a standpater would need web-feet to make him float.

Everything wicked in Omaha is now charged to Dahlman and the brewers.

One subscriber wants to know if he will not hereafter get an automobile with his Democrat.

If the girls only knew that every man admires a lady who wears a common-sense appearing head gear, and that all the boys make fan of the bunch of hair "rats" and tubs of idiosyncrasy, the dear things would all go bareheaded first.

A communication from Hoskins gives a graphic description of some nasty combats that took place in that burg last Saturday night, and requests that the scrappers get their names in the papers. We are sorry to be compelled to leave all such affairs to the Headlight for illumination, for the Democrat has plenty of troubles of its own, by dad.

Mr. Theo. Roosevelt says he has been forced back into politics. Taking all the chances there are coming the editor of this little country sheet says that Teddy should be assigned to the liar's club or else sit up and prove who put the jackscrew under him.

There's a perfume from the kitchen, there's a pungent, wondrous scent, with the spice of Araby, the blest, and other odors blend. It drifts upon the breezes that are dancing by the door, and, oh, we sit and sniff them, and we long to sniff some more. And many people passing also sniff them all the while, and they trip along the crossings with a newer, sweeter smile, because mother—well, she's making catsup in the good old fashioned way, and the breezes bear the perfume of a bygone yesterday.

Bryant on Dahlman.

Everybody knows Wilbur F. Bryant of Hartington—or ought to know him. Here's Wilbur's breezy impressions of Dahlman, as seen at Lincoln and communicated to the Hartington News: Lincoln, Nebraska, Sept. 19, 1910.

Editor Cedar County News: The political situation appears to the writer as follows: The election of Dahlman is almost universally conceded. I said almost, because I have seen only one man to dispute it; he was Attorney General Thompson. He says that Dahlman got 27,000 votes at the primary; that he must get a hundred thousand at the election; and that he cannot get to exceed 55,000. The late Edward Everett Hale once said, "Positive lies, comparative—ned lies, superlative statistics." This would be my reply to the attorney general's figures. I have formed my opinion that he will be elected from certain phenomenon which I have never known to fail. There is a certain institution which wants large appropriations and they can always smell victory or defeat for any man with a power which is stronger than second sight; and they say that Dahlman will be elected. Strange to say that there are several preachers supporting him. The reason they give is, that up to three years ago Aldrich played cards and drank whiskey, at which time he joined the church; and they are afraid that he is playing possum; and they think that he should tarry in Jerico till his beard is grown. The real reason is that there is a chaplain to be appointed at the penitentiary. These men are all candidates and they want to be on the side of the winner. There is an old proverb among sailors, that when rats leave a ship it is about to sink.

Wilbur F. Bryant.

Almost a Circus Train.

When the Omaha and South Omaha business men come here in October, they will travel in a solid steel train of Pullman cars having on board an electric lighting outfit, moving picture show, Omaha military band, fifteen thousand sheep bells to "ring for Omaha" and give away many tons of advertising matter and souvenirs, a press bureau, corps of stenographers and the whole connected by a telephone system of forty instruments.

That makes almost a circus train. And there will be a free street parade without elephants. The Omaha business men want to do things in order and not in a haphazard way. When they arrive at the depot they will not break ranks and scatter, but march behind their band up from the depot to the main street and principal intersection. From there they go to the stores, banks, grain elevators and places of business they desire to visit.

As many elevators in northeastern Nebraska are owned by Omaha grain companies, the grainmen will be much in evidence. The entire party will be very strong on the investigate and display of farm products, live stock and other resources of the country visit; it will be of much interest to the business men.

Wherever the party spends an evening a moving picture show will be given in the open air, showing scenes in Nebraska and of business life in Omaha, besides a large number of standard films.

If you are interested in a HOME we want you to write us.

There are a few free Government homesteads left but they have been picked over and are quite a ways from town. We have several fine, cheap, relinquishments, both in Dakota and Nebraska.

Over 600 hundred homesteads have been taken here in the last two years so you can see that this is to be a genuine farming country in the very near future. We raise Oats, 25 to 50 bu.; Wheat, 20 to 30 bu.; Rye, 30 to 50 bu.; Speltz, 30 to 40 bu.; Corn, 25 to 45 bu.; and Flax, 10 to 20 bu. Our Alfalfa is second to none in quality and yield. Small Fruit of all kinds yields enormously. We also raise large fruit. Potatoes yield from 150 to 300 bu. per acre. We do not irrigate and although this has been a dry year we have raised some fair crops. The average rainfall for the past five years, this year excepted, is 26 inches. Write us, we will be glad to give you all the information at our command.

The Anonymous Letter Writer.

Here's a good story from the pen of Edgar Howard of the Columbus Telegram, that is worth a thousand poems by Walt Mason:

It has been said that Hell is too good a place for some people. My ramblings in geography have been limited, and I am unable to endorse the statement. But it must be that most any spot on this old globe is too good for the man or the woman who writes anonymous letters. I receive many of them. They do not annoy me, probably because I have become so used to them. But an anonymous letter does distress the average man or woman. Only yesterday I witnessed the sad effects of the work of some female criminal who had written an unsigned letter to a young married man in Columbus. The writer said she addressed the young man from the standpoint of a friend, and in order to show her friendship she told the young man that people were talking about him because he failed to buy decent clothes for his wife. There were tears in the eyes of the young man when he showed me that letter. He said that he had received the writing a week ago, and that every day since then he was tortured with the thought that people were discussing unfavorably the clothing worn by his wife. He has been married only three years, and is paying forty per cent of his salary every month into the building association, in order that he and his wife may own the little home in which they live. He said he tried to be just as liberal as he could in the matter of buying nice things for his wife, but he did not dare neglect making the monthly payments on his home. Do you know what I told the young man? Did I tell him to try to discover the criminal woman who had written the anonymous letter? Did I tell him to cherish animosity toward her? Not at all. I told him to go home and show that letter to his wife, and then take it up in the most conspicuous place on the parlor wall, so that the pretended friend who wrote it might be distressed by the failure of her plan to breed trouble. I knew that if his wife was a good woman she would instantly say: "That's alright, Jim; my clothes are decent, and they are as expensive as people in our circumstances should buy. Don't pay any attention to that letter." And I knew that such talk as that would make Jim so happy that he would instantly dismiss all the troubles which the bad letter had carried to him. Jim followed my advice, and when he came to see me this morning his face was a picture of happiness. He said it required lots of courage to show the letter to his wife, but he finally did it, telling her the distress it had caused him. Instead of bursting into tears, his good little wife gave a hearty laugh, and told him she was perfectly satisfied with her clothes, and didn't intend to buy any better ones until after the mortgage was lifted from their home. Jim wanted to tack the letter on the wall as I had suggested but his wife had a better suggestion. She proposed that Jim should hold the sheet of paper between his thumb and forefinger while she touched it with a lighted match, and they both agreed that when the fire got so close to Jim's fingers that he must drop the remnant of the sheet they should forget that anybody had ever been so cruel as to write such a letter. I do not wish any sorrow to any heart. I hope the misguided woman who wrote the anonymous letter to Jim may not read this story of her own failure.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Wayne's famous trio, Messrs Burckler, Mabbott and Bohnert, went to Coleridge Tuesday to help make music for a ball tournament.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Weber were called to Florence Tuesday afternoon owing to the death of his mother which occurred that morning.

Walter Miller was a Tuesday passenger to Sioux City.

Miss Anna Criss has gone to Emerson to take a position made vacant by a friend of hers getting married.

John Heeren goes out to Perkins county next week to look after his land in that part of the state.

A sensational article the Democrat clipped from a daily paper last week in regard to Frank Vincent being a fugitive and embezzler of lodge funds from Lead, S. D., did not refer to Frank Vincent the musician whose mother, widow of Wm. Vincent, resides in Wayne.

The Frank Vincent from Wayne is living at Long Beach, Cal., and is interested in musical circles.

Rev. Gorst preached his first sermon in Wayne last Sunday, Rev. Kirkpatrick preaching to his new congregation at Norfolk. Monday Rev. Gorst went to Omaha to pack up his household goods and ship them to Wayne, while Rev. Kirkpatrick is being mutilated in the same manner to change to Norfolk. No wonder these Methodist parsons have no fear whatever as to the hereafter.

County Superintendent W. E. Miller of Cedar county has been having a regular Roosevelt of a time according to the Hartington papers. The democrats, by whose grace Mr. Miller holds office, held a "meeting of investigation" last week at which it was charged that the schoolmaster went to the home of his mother, called her hard names, and when his sister interposed he kicked her out of doors. Mr. Miller denied the charges, though he admitted some semblance of the affair because members of his family had abused his wife. He refused to resign his office as that would in part be a confession of guilt. The sister left after the trouble, for California. W. E. Miller was one of the brightest graduates of the Nebraska Normal College and was prominently mentioned as a candidate for state superintendent previous to the primary election. His friends in Wayne will need uncontradicted evidence before they will believe him guilty of such atrocious conduct.

Mrs. Stanton and Mrs. Collins of Carroll were shopping in town Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Driscoll of Hartington spent the past week with Mr. Geary and sisters.

Compulsory Education.

From Wayne County Teacher:

All parents who have children between the ages of 7 and 15 ought to get them in school NOW. The law requires them to attend two-thirds of the entire time school is in session and in most districts this is between five and six months. Irregularity of attendance is a violation of this law and I have directed the teachers to report all such cases. Negligent parents are responsible for irregularity and non-attendance in most cases. It is necessary to send but one notice to parents or guardians who are keeping their children out of school and if the children are not sent within one week of the time the notice was received, then the complaint is to be filed in the county court. The fine for violating the compulsory education law is not less than five dollars nor more than twenty-five for the first offense.

Following is a list of weeds which it would be well for each teacher to study with her pupils at this time. They are all described in bulletin No. 18 which Superintendent Bishop sent out to the Boys' and Girls' Club during August. A very good picture of each is also given in the bulletin.

Redroot Pigweed, an annual with a pinkish root; grows from two to four feet high; leaves ovate and heavily veined; pale green flowers in bunches.

Greater Ragweed, and in connection with this the Smaller Ragweed. Both are annuals and found in low ground and waste places, the smaller ragweed being very common in corn fields; the large one grows from four to eight feet tall and the small one scarcely ever exceeds four; the stems are rough and the leaves divided.

Smart weed, scarcely needs description.

Crab-Grass, found in lawns, from six inches to three feet high; the seeds are born in spikes hence the name "Finger Grass."

Fox Tail and Knot Grass, both too common to need description.

There are many others, but it is well not to undertake too many in one season. See to it that all the pupils know the plants studied. Then the plants may be pressed and mounted for the school herbarium. If there are no blank sheets for the mounting in any school a post card will bring them from this office.

Wayne County Corn Show.

On November 9, 10 and 11 will be held the annual Wayne county corn show and domestic science contest. There will be a great many prizes offered, some of them being for the following entries:

Best ten ears of yellow corn.

Best dozen potatoes.

Best work apron.

Best hand-made apron.

Best row of button and button-holes (6 buttons.)

Best patch with matched design.

Best loaf of white bread.

Best pan of corn bread.

Best cookies.

Best dressed doll.

Detailed information will be sent to each teacher later and we hope to get a goodly number to enter the contest.

An Open Letter.

MY DEAR TEACHERS:—

To all, greetings and best wishes. You are now fairly started for this year's work. We trust that the mistakes will be fewer and the good accomplished much more, than in any former year. Whether this hope will be realized depends upon you. A little better classification, a little more attention to methods, a little thing here, and there to make the school house and grounds more sanitary will insure better schools. On the other hand, a very little "what's-the-use" will hinder for another year the forward movement in certain districts.

Above all things let the school work be the most important thing from Monday morning 'till Friday night. The teacher who has no planning to do outside of school hours, who "runs about" on school nights instead of getting the needed rest in order to be fresh and strong for the next day's work, is the most detrimental factor in school progress.

We want you to feel free to write or call upon us at any time to help you with your difficulties. We intend to visit all rural schools before the fall vacation but do not wait to ask us for help if you need it.

Quarterly examination lists will be sent to each teacher as in the past year.

Emerson Meeting

On October 8th, the Northeast Nebraska Teachers' Association will meet in Emerson. This is one of the best and most profitable meetings of the year. Owing to the time of the year the weather is usually good and a large crowd is always in attendance. Every teacher in Wayne county should attend this meeting. It will not be possible for very many of our rural teachers to attend the State Association in November owing to the distance from Lincoln and the expense of the trip, but Emerson is so conveniently near that from any part of the counties included in the district, teachers can go in the morning and return in the evening, taking in the whole session at very little expense. Remember that the county superintendent wants to see every teacher in Wayne county at this meeting. Following is a complete program:

Use every effort to keep the children in school regularly. Make the work so interesting that they will want to come to school regularly. A teacher is not always responsible for poor attendance; occasionally she is, so we urge you to do your part.

Let us take for our motto this year, "Better Schools Inside and Out." We know of no corps of teachers to whom we would rather trust this to be accomplished than the earnest, enthusiastic teachers of Wayne county.

Yours for better schools,
ELSIE LITTELL.

(From the Wayne County Teacher)

We copy some eighth grade brilliants from the Normal Instructor, which are truly remarkable:

"Benjamin Franklin's reputation for wisdom is well sustained by the following quotation purported to be original with 'Benge Man', as spelled by the applicant for an eighth grade diploma.

"A little drop of powder,
A little drop of paint,
Makes a lady's freckles
Look as if they ain't."

These quotations are claimed by eighth grade students to be from the Bible:

"If you want a thing done, do it yourself."

"You shall never steal."

"Silently one by one in the infinite meadows of Heaven blossomed the lovely stars, the forget-me-nots of the angels."

"Now I lay me down to sleep,
I pray the Lord my soul to keep."

"Boys flying kites haul in their white winged birds.
You can't do that way when you're flying words."

Why are the answers to questions in physiology always so funny?

1. The abdomens are the little things in the air and everywhere.

2. The abdomen is the kidneys, the stomach, the lungs, the liver and all the other vessels between the diaphragm and the thigh.

3. Molars are things that grow on the body.

4. The capillaries are things put into the waste matter and empties into the gastric juice.

5. Recreation is when a man dies and is born again either in heaven or on earth. It is necessary because if anyone has sinned he must be created or born again."

Poor youngster! Words are not always the signs of ideas.

Here is an extract from an essay on Roosevelt: "I call him a powerful honest man and we sincerely hope he will not be assassinated by the tigers in Africa."

"Accent is a certain distress placed on a syllable of a word."

"One rule for spelling is to be sure to spell all the words right."

"Fertilizer makes the soil nice and palatable."

Reflections on the above:—

The guessing habit seems to be quite prevalent in the eighth grade classes. Are any of these absurd blunders due to indistinct articulation on the part of the teacher?

Teaching should be more definite. Teachers should make sure that pupils understand.

The world of words has many paths for the youthful explorer. New ideas crowd thick and fast. Let us guide the little minds carefully, thoroughly, patiently.

We were children once.

How shall we be careful and thorough and also interesting?

Is it true that we are teaching, or trying to teach, too many things?"

Des Moines, Iowa, woman made her self a hobble skirt, and the first time she ventured out she fell and cut her head open and a doctor took several stitches in it. Now what was the use wasting the wire? There was no brains there to get away.

In the Third congressional district two years ago Judge Boyd was turned down and supplanted by Congressman Latta. Judge Boyd, who had served one term, deserved victory two years ago, and it may be expected that indorsement will be given this year.—Wayne Herald.

Yes, the indorsement "may be expected," that is if you feel that you are losing your mind.

A Barnum man leaned from a car step to spit and fell and was killed. This should be a warning to every man to spit in the aisle.

There are now three things that are sure—taxes, fall hats, and death.

A Passaic county, N. J., jailer who was formerly a baseball umpire, was badly beaten up by a convict the other day. Retribution does not always come swiftly, but it's coming to certain.

If the present rate of growth is kept up we wonder what one of those first prize plowing match grub baskets will look like ten years hence. The women will have to put the junk in the hay racks.

Some speculator with an eye to business could make a nice thing by buying up the hats the girls are now wearing and selling them out to farmers to be used as feed bunks next spring.

Election is five weeks from next Tuesday, after which you can begin to think about buying 'em early.

A Minneapolis editor says that the conservation congress was only a "political squabble." No news in that statement.

Casper Whitney, the author, has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in a New York federal court. He lists his liabilities at $36,157 and his assets at $75. Of the liabilities $29,000 represents borrowed money, and the whole amount of the assets is deposited in a bank. There are a lot of people who would like to be put next to Whitney's system of borrowing.

A dispatch was printed in Tuesday's papers stating that Taft would run again if it is the party's desire. The noise made by the party since that time, shouting for Taft to run again, has been simply deafening.

The Maine is going to be raised—so is the Maine democratic vote.

The political atmosphere seems to be full of sentiment that it is time to "turn the rascals out."

Says the Decorah, Iowa, Republican: Shortly after the death of Senator Allison an effort was begun to erect a monument to his memory. It was to cost $30,000. After two years of newspaper publicity only $3,000 have been subscribed—and that largely by school children, who would bring their pennies to commemorate the virtues of Satan's half-brother if the teachers would but ask it. The failure of the Allison monument illustrates the ingratitude of politicians. While the old gentleman was living and had the offices to give out the herd of sycophants was at his heels with loud praise and promise of allegiance. His death ended his office-giving days and with them apparently also ended the gratitude of his followers. It is some time since a more striking illustration of the ingratitude of men has been brought so prominently before the Iowa public.

A farm journal note says "hogs often get crooked legs for lack of exercise." The two-legged variety sometimes get the same sort of deformity trying to carry off everything in sight.

A laugh can hardly be called the center of gravity, although it comes pretty near being with Judge Britton and Ed. Ellis who laugh with their stomachs.

Five clergymen officiated at a wedding in Houston, Texas, the other day. One lawyer will be enough to untie the knot. What?

In this day and age a man doesn't have to leave very much when he dies in order to work up a good game of "grab." This is shown by proceedings in our local courts. If some of those now departed can look down or up and see what is going on they must have a gnawing desire to come back and spend it all.

The "dream frock" is the latest. If paying for them only turns out to be a dream it will be all right with us.

Judge Britton who returned Tuesday from Omaha, says the democrats claim Douglas county for Dahlman by fifteen thousand majority, and the republicans concede that he will have ten thousand. Judge Britton heard one of the leading republicans of the state, a gentleman who was once chairman of the Nebraska delegation to the republican national convention, make the unqualified statement that: "I can tell you that James C. Dahlman is an able man than either George C. Sheldon or Ashton A. Shallenberger."

Edgar Howard's Version.

Columbus Telegram: I am still ready to fight for William J. Bryan or Richard Metcalf, but my love for those two friends will not lead me to endorse their inconsistent conduct in supporting the candidate of the national brewer's association for United States senator, while refusing to support Dahlman for governor, simply because Dahlman has the support of the Nebraska brewers. When it comes to making a choice in that direction I am for the Nebraska brewers every time as against the national brewery association. Stand up for Nebraska! Jim Dahlman is ten times entitled to the support of Mr. Bryan and Mr. Metcalf where the other fellow is entitled only once to their allegiance. They could support Jim Dahlman and not be ashamed. They cannot support the other fellow without a sense of shame.

Elmer Closson was down from Sholes Tuesday on business matters and got into a little argument with Chas. Stultheis on politics. Mr. Closson stated he would vote for a democrat before he would a progressive republican, and Mr. Stultheis was equally emphatic in stating he would vote for a democrat before he would a standpatter. This puts Burkett in a most unenviable position, providing Closson classes the senator as a progressive, and Stultheis, we know, figures Burkett as a standpatter. Say, the election of Hitchcock would be unanimous. The chances are, though, that Burkett is standpat enough for the most vigorous supporter of warty old Joe Cannon.

Grand Golden Wedding

Over Two Hundred Guests Attend the Agler Half-Century Jubilee.

GOLDEN GIFTS—A BIG SPREAD.

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Agler was one of the biggest, most enjoyable social affairs that has ever taken place in Wayne county. Probably there is no couple in the county, among the early pioneers, whom people would rather pay homage than W. P. Agler and his most worthy better half. Nearly every invited guest was present, over two hundred in all, and the banquet board groaned beneath its load of substantial delicacies. A remarkable feature of the event was the presence of Mrs. D. W. Britton as bridesmaid and James Harmon as groomsman, the same couple who "stood up" with the bride and groom fifty years ago at Mendota, Ill. The court room of Wayne county's first court house at old Laporte was used for a banquet hall, and after the ceremony, at which pioneer Judge Britton officiated, the tables accommodated 60 at a time until all were happily satisfied as to the wants of the "inner man." Many were the gifts brought to this grand old couple by admiring and steadfast friends, one being a purse of one hundred dollars in gold.

Mr. and Mrs. Agler came to Wayne county in 1870 and have resided on their farm, which adjoins or includes the old town site of Laporte.

The Democrat this week installed a Golding job press, something seldom found in a country office and very few of them in use in the city shops for the reason that they cost just twice the price of the ordinary makes. The new press is especially adapted for printing half-tone cuts and turning out the very finest of commercial printing. Let us turn out your next job on this splendid piece of mechanical ingenuity.

Of General Interest.

(From the Wayne County Teacher.)
Supt. W. L. Stephens, Supt. J. H. Kemp, Mr. Reese Solomon and Miss Marie Gault have been secured as instructors for the Wayne county institute next year. Superintendents Stephens and Kemp are well known to the teachers of Wayne county. Mr. Solomon has had charge of the music in the Norfolk schools for a number of years. Miss Marie Gault is connected with the the Wyoming State Normal at Laramie. She will have the primary work.

The school house in district No. 26 has been greatly improved by the enlarging of the school room and the painting of the entire building. The school room is now large enough to accommodate the pupils in the district.

When visiting the school in district No. 8 we found one class making relief maps, another keeping a weather chart and still a third with a language lesson on birds. This is a real live school and one well worth your time to visit if you have a day off.

If library books are purchased in the beginning of the year the teacher and pupils have the benefit of them during the year. Last year many districts waited until school was closed and then, to comply with the law, hurriedly bought the books. An outline will be furnished to teachers a little later and each pupil in the seventh and eighth grade will be required to review two or three books during the year. All the schools in Wayne county are now in session. We were barely able to secure enough teachers and are even then a little more fortunate than neighboring counties. Both Dixon and Pierce counties still have schools without teachers.

Better not have the school house walls decorated at all than to have them covered with gaudy, unbecoming calendar pictures. A ten cent Perry Picture with a five cent mat is a good decoration. Some beautiful posters can be made by cutting out the pictures suitable for children from the covers of large magazines and mounting them upon heavy black paper. These can be left a short time and then others substituted.

I am compelled to mention the matter of keeping the little folks busy, and in doing so I do it with the full realization that it is a hard proposition with a full program. Under the average conditions I can see how a beginner, must out of necessity, be idle occasionally, but I cannot understand why these little folks should sit in some schools for hours at a time without a thing to do. It seems almost criminal to treat them in this manner. From among these will come the "bad boy," the "lazy, indifferent scholar." Is it a wonder?—The Teacher, Oct., 1908.

Be sure to use the uniform text book list in buying new books. There is practically uniformity in Wayne county at the present time. If you have no list one will be sent to you upon request.

It is the duty of the teacher and school officers to see that the district property is cared for. A child should be made to realize the necessity of taking care of public property, not so much for the value of the property which he may destroy as for the civic principle involved. A system of fines seems to work well in most districts.

Teachers will report at the end of the first month, and each month thereafter, the name and address of any parent or guardian who has children of school age and under fifteen years old who are not attending school.

A teacher who stands with her back to the school for five or ten minutes is simply inviting the school to misbehave. If the recitation seat is placed in such a manner that this seems necessary have it changed.

Not all teachers have secured Reading Circle books. There is a supply of all three books at the office and all who have not gotten them should call and get them soon.

At the organization of the Wayne County Teachers' Association, Superintendent Kemp of Wayne was elected president; Miss Alice Wadsworth of Winside, vice-president and Miss Brown of Winside secretary. These officers, with the county superintendent, constitute the program committee for the coming year.

The Winside school is well organized under the leadership of Supt. F. E. Bicknell. There is almost no question but that it will be made an accredited school this year, its pupils making twenty four points for graduation. The school board are also considering a movement to put in another teacher and handle twelve grades.

Do the children in your district leave the school grounds at intermissions? Do they call out disrespectfully to passers-by? Do they stretch their necks to see what is going on outside the school house? We have driven up to school houses where they did all these things. Perhaps they never had the advantages offered them in the course of study relative to morals and manners.

The State Teachers' Association will be held in Lincoln November 23, 24 and 25, this year. The program has been arranged and will be spoken of more fully in the next issue.

A few preliminary reports have come to the office not properly filled out. The only excuse a teacher can offer for not filling out the "month of course" is that she has not familiarized herself with the course of study. In such instances our conclusion is that the course is not being followed. These reports will go with us on our round of visits this fall.

The row of young trees in district No. 23, which was planted last year on the school grounds, is growing very nicely.

School will begin in Hoskins next Monday. The school is a month late in starting owing to the addition to and repair of the old school house. Hoskins will now have a four room building which will accommodate all the pupils of the district. Hitherto it has been necessary to use the church for the High-School grades.

We have noticed in visiting the schools of the county that not all teachers have been as careful of public property as they should have been. Carelessness in handling the box of maps that lower and raise on rollers has resulted in many a torn map. We noticed one broken drinking fountain, the water evidently having been left during the night and breaking the jar by freezing. Window blinds have been lowered in front of an open window and left to whip themselves to pieces in the wind. A teacher owes it to her district to put the apparatus in as good shape as possible and then see that it is taken care of. No wonder that a school board hesitates to furnish more things in a district where what they have is not taken care of or is "stuck away" and never used.

Teachers are often bothered during the fall by agents who want to take school time to make their sales. While it is a good thing for each teacher, and we wish that each might have a set of reference books, we do not think it is the proper thing to allow an agent to show his wares during school hours. That time is the children's.

We are running a school district map of Wayne county as a supplement this month. No doubt teachers and school officers will find good use for it.

HARRINGTON SELLS BIG STORE

Vic Senter and F. E. Gamble Buy the Business—Take Possession After the Holidays.

Dan Harrington made a deal two or three weeks ago with Vic Senter and F. E. Gamble whereby the latter gentlemen are to come into possession of the clothing store about Jan. 1, 1911. The transfer was so far in the future that it was deemed advisable to keep the matter a "secret," but it leaked out in some manner and caused the parties directly concerned so much annoyance that a public announcement of the sale was deemed advisable. Mr. Harrington has been in the business nearly a quarter of a century, and although it was never more profitable than at the present time, believes he has made enough to quit the clothing business and will probably go west and take up something more congenial and an out-door occupation. The Democrat doesn't know where a more worthy or promising successor in this business could be found than in the person of Vic Senter, and of course Dr. Gamble will make good when he gets accustomed to feeling cloths instead of osteopathing lame backs.

May Dornberger Passes Away.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Dornberger, after a most grievous illness of ten days, when everything possible was done to save her life, died Monday evening at seven o'clock. Sunday the little girl was much worse and Monday morning Dr. Sibley was again summoned from Sioux City and again operated on the child, the first operation being a week previous, but the efforts of the physician were unavailing. The funeral services were held yesterday afternoon from the German Lutheran church, conducted by Rev. Karpenstein. The bereaved have the sympathy of the community in the loss of their young est member.

Rev. Ringer writes from St. Joe, Mo., that Rev. L. P. Ludden, D. D. of Lincoln, Neb., will preach in the St. Pauls Lutheran church next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and in the evening at 7:30 o'clock.

One of the most delightful, informal affairs of the year in Wayne, was the reception tendered the College and High School teachers at the Methodist church last Friday evening.

Although the weather was exceedingly disagreeable, with one exception all responded to the invitation, the M. E. congregation and many others also being present. After an hour spent in introductions Prof. Conn of the State Normal and Prof. Kemp of the Public school each gave an interesting talk. A ladies' quartette composed of Mesdames Blair, Johnson, Phillips and Green, and a male quartette in which were Messrs Johnson, Fleetwood, Beckenhauer and Forrest Hughes gave some splendid music. Ice cream and cake were served in the dining room and at a late hour the party ended.

Rev. and Mrs. Corkey give a reception to the members of the church and congregation at the Manse this evening. A special invitation has been tendered to the teachers of the city and college.

Old friends of Claud Hunter will be pleased to hear that he was married to Miss Marguerite Irene Norris at Sauk Centre, Minn., recently. The young couple will be at home to their friends at Akely, Minn., after November 1st. Claud has a flourishing furniture business and his Wayne friends congratulate him on this his latest enterprise.

Sioux City Journal: Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wells announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Ellen Wells, to Mr. Louis A. Fanske, of Wayne, Neb. The wedding will take place October 12.

About twenty-five ladies, at the invitation of Mrs. Dan Harrington, met with her last Friday afternoon and sewed carpet rags for a silk rug. A very pleasant afternoon was spent, the ladies taking plenty of time for visiting around the cozy hearth which contrasted pleasantly with the dark, rainy day outdoors. The little Misses Natalie Harrington, Alice Blair and Ruth Kingland assisted in serving refreshments.

Does it pay to give trading stamps? Drop in and see the beautiful display of premiums at Ahern's that are given free for stamps, and then think it over. The stamps cost nothing; all you have to do is concentrate your buying of dry goods, groceries and shoes at Ahern's, and you'll soon have a book full which you can exchange for one of the hundreds of useful premiums that are offered.

The Fall Opening of Ahern's Ready-to-Wear Department last Friday and Saturday brought out a large attendance. The new ready-to-wear goods and Millinery stocks were at their best, and judging by the business being done a great many were taking advantage of this "first choice opportunity" to buy their winter wearing apparel.

As a souvenir of the occasion 500 beautiful roses were given away during the two days. The Ahern's Ready to Wear store is one of the finest stocked and best equipped departments of its kind in Northeast Nebraska. Complete and exceptionally fine stocks of ladies' suits, coats, skirts, dresses, shoes and millinery are displayed here and the store enjoys a large out of town as well as home patronage.

Mrs. Littell will sell her furniture at private sale. For information phone 156.

Madison county has or will let the contract for four miles of oiled roads extending south of Norfolk, and if the experiment is a success much more work of the kind will be done. The expense of this improvement comes out of the inheritance tax. Here in Wayne county this tax might amount to considerable, but previous to County Judge Britton's tenure of office the tax was not collected. All funds from the inheritance tax go to the road fund, and as the roads need "oiling" as well as the heirs to large fortunes, it is to be hoped the county dads will see that there is an equitable distribution of swollen fortunes.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Geo. Warner was a passenger to Omaha and St. Joe Tuesday on a goods buying trip for the German store.

Miss Merle Bluechel came up from West Point Sunday and visited Wayne relatives for a couple of days. Miss Bluechel is a vocalist of much talent and with her sister, Miss Christine Bluechel, delighted the audience at the Crystal theatre Sunday and Monday evenings with excellent duets.

Miss Evans, from Malvern, Io., who has been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Morris, returned to her home yesterday.

OCTOBER.

O. T. Roosevelt has come back to the West!

Of all the Rough Riders his luck was the best.

He rode from Dakota to San Juan Hill And he found him the Spaniards he wanted to kill.

Shouting, "Into 'em, Teddy, An' into 'em deep!"

And the men of Granada Went down in a heap.

He rested his broncho and fed him his fill, and then he rode yelling up Capitol Hill. He wasn't expecting or asking a thing, but he landed right in the political ring, shouting "Into 'em, Teddy, and into 'em plump!" and the poor politicians went down in a lump.

He watered his pinto and fed him some oats, And then he remounted and hunted for goats.

He found him some people who didn't agree With all of his notions, and gave a whoop-pee,

Yelling, "Into 'em, Teddy, An' into 'em hot!"

And he knocked them all into The pittoless bot.

He hobbled his charger and gave him some grass, and then he went after someone in his class. He put up a lion with blood in its eye, and he clapped on his spurs with a terrible cry, saying "Into 'em, Teddy, an' into 'em hard!" and the lion passed on to his final reward.

He breathed his good mustang and looked him around, But further adventure was not to be found.

So he pulled up his trousers and pulled down his vest, And slowly rode back to his olden-time West,

Shouting, "Back to 'em, Teddy, An' back to 'em proud!"

And they gathered about him And solemnly bowed.

He rode in his saddle, and rode on his head, and he put all the tenderest under the bed. He dashed to the East, and he dashed to the West, and he halted before them, expanding his chest, saying, "Three cheers for Teddy, the pride of the West!" and they took a great pleasure in doing the rest.

October is from the Latin octo, meaning eight, and it was formerly the eighth month of the year. This brought the football season around at a time when there was grave danger of being suffocated before the ball was even put into play, and there was a great deal of dissatisfaction at the old Greek and Roman universities. A change was frequently talked of, but it remained for Numa Pompilius, who was one of the early friends of education, to do anything about it. In 713 B. C. he moved October along to its present place in the calendar, and now the quarterback on a football team always says before snapping the ball,

Numa, Numa,
B. C.
Come seven,
One, three!

After which the rooters, who reached a very high state of proficiency in the latter days of Numa, recite,

Numa, Numa,
Boomalooma,
Come seven,
One, three,
B. C.,
Whoopie!
Siwash!

or whatever the name of the school is, as you may hear them doing any time this month by following the riot wagon when it passes.

Until the 23rd of the month, October will be under the influence of Libra, the Balance, which is the seventh sign of the zodiac. This will enable every body ridding for office to keep on the fence pretty well as to the real issues of the campaign, but when the sun passes out of that constellation on the following day they will begin dropping on one side or the other, and it will be easier to make out who the true friends of the people are. After the 23rd we will be influenced by Scorpio, the Scorpion, which is almost meaningless now, but in early times typified the manner in which the north wind stung the old Greeks, who were in the habit of going until very late in the season without having on any wear to speak of, either over or under.

A bit of Fall is as nice a thing As I know anything about— When the pumpkin pleis ripening, And the time is opportune for kraut. When the hunter get his trappings out,

Awakened by the time of year, And the farmer, furious without, And hot within, begins to shout, "Get ou-u-u-u-t of here!"

Get ou-u-u-u-t of here—you blanky-blank!"

Ab, that's the season of them all— When winter bangs upon the flank Of the wild goose pa-sting in the fall. When the plaintive quail begins to call Across the golden fields and sere, And the farmer, bursting from the tall With teapsand bounds, begins to bawl: "Get ou-u-u-u-t of here!"

The melancholy days will come, and the peasant will intone his drum upon the sad and drowsy wind in the solemn manner of his kind. The booming frog will sniff the breeze and fall to digging on his knees, and the buck-wheat cake will take a crack at this fool thing of coming back.

It may be Jeffries and his strain are never quite themselves again, but the pickled pig foot and the rest are always equal to the test. They never dissipate a bit, but spend the summer prime and fit, and let the frost succeed the dew, and they're there, you bet, as good as new.

The doughty oyster on his shell, the chitlin looking strong and well, and clear and resolute of eye, the hardy brands of winter pie. The apple butter, juice and flake, the same that mother used to make, and the crackling of our youthful lot the cock and captain of the pot.

The football season will revert, and the center rush will paw the dirt. He'll wake the natives with his roar, and bawl for victory and gore. The piled-up dying and the dead will mass against his butting head, and he'll spin the planet in his rage just like a squirrel in his cage.

Alas for those who calmly sit devising to denature it, and all the college renegades who think to temper it for the maids! The students and the teachers howl, and the rooters and the bleachers yowl, and damed be he who does not rise and kill somebody twice his size.

The aeroplanes will cruise the air above the old-time country fair, and the lucky winner will be he who wins the best two falls in three. The farmer in his limousine will tool around upon the green, and the hired man will seize the chance to wear his other pair of pants.

The softer weather will defy The blandishments of June, And the month will give us by, and by The offhunter's moon.

A chop will cost four bits a pound, And beef a buck a bite, And the wolf will wear a groove around The cabin every night.

The 418th anniversary of the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus will be celebrated on the night of the 14th by the seven Guggenheim brothers.

Mr. Roosevelt will be stage manager again this month. The villain will be the Demon Rum. Mr. Bryan will be the father of the stolen child, and Mr. Cannon, who made the password Hell last month, will change it to read Hell-p!

And then November will return With cold and chilly draft, And the wild goose going down the line With Winter biting aft.

Order the best coal from the Anchor Grain Company.

A Good Position.

Can be had by ambitious young men and ladies in the field of "Wireless" or Railway telegraphy. Since the 8-hour law became effective, and since the Wireless companies are establishing stations throughout the country there is a great shortage of telegraphers. Positions pay beginners from $70 to $90 per month, with good chance of advancement. The National Telegraph Institute operates six official institutes in America, under supervision of R. R. and Wireless Officials and places all graduates into positions. It will pay you to write them for full details at Davenport, Ia., Cincinnati, O., Portland, Ore., or Memphis, Tenn.
