Local Minister Gains Fame as a Writer of Books.

Written in answer to the proposition that the modern church is a fraud and built on hypocrisy, that was advanced by Harold Bell Wright in his "The Calling of Dan Matthews," a Nebraska minister presents to the world "The Victory of Alan Rutledge."

The book of Bell Harold Wright tells of the entering into the church of a young man, Dan Matthews, and his struggles against the falsity he finds there. Finally he withdraws in disgust and goes into other fields, proclaiming the true Christian and will not ally himself with the evil forces to be found in the church of today. The interesting part of the book is that it purports to be the experience of Harold Bell Wright himself in the ministry, and his withdrawal. The scene is laid in a small town of the west, Clar-and his Scotch wife. He attended McGee college in Londonderry, and came to America in 1889, still a college student. He was seven years in business in Kalamazoo, Mich., and later finished his theological education in McCormick seminary, Chicago, winning a fellowship there and going to Edinburgh university a year.

He began the ministry in Malvern, Ia., in 1900, also serving at Fairfield, and came to Nebraska, to Cedar Bluffs, in 1906, taking his present church at Wayne in the spring of 1910. He tells how the idea of writing his views of the church life first came to him on a hint from Henry Kleser, manager of the book department of Bennett's store in Omaha. The "Victory of Alan Rutledge" is not his first book, a short history of the conditions of life in Ireland having been put out by him a short time ago.

"My next book, if this one is successful, ion, in , away from the usual scenes of New York and the east, and is a tale of poor people. It was a popular book, having a circulation of over 200,000.

Rev. Alexander Corkey, a Presbyterian minister of Wayne, Neb., took great exception to the principles advanced by Wright, and has written an answer that the critics say will far eclipse the first book in making the people of the country think. In his book, also a novel with a love story, he shows the opposite of the case, and it is also the story, fictional somewhat, of his own life.

The book is essentially of the middle west, the scene being in Cedar Bluffs, Neb., where Rev. Corkey was before he went to Wayne last spring. Nebraska and Iowa characters figure prominently, among them being W. J. Bryan. A Wahoo auctioneer, just as he is in life, is also placed in the book. As Mr. Corkey himself expressed it, the book is a real story of the real middle west.

Alexander Corkey was born in Ireland in 1871 near Londonderry, the son of an Irish minister, Rev. Joseph Corkey, as it appears to be from the reports of the critics, will be on the race question. I consider that one of the vital questions of the day and one that is little understood.

"My idea is that the negro should be educated as highly as possible, when he will not wish to mix with the white man in marriage, but will be a self-respecting citizen and a credit to this country. Have the good white men of the country combine with the good colored men and working against these bad influences of the two races which we see at present they will in the course of time settle the question. The negro does not want to amalgamate with the white man, but he wants a square deal from him."

Speaking on the liquor question, Rev. Corkey said, "It is the business of the church to create public sentiment about such a thing and not to try to form laws on it. The time for argument on the subject and its good and bad points is past. The thing for the church to do is to create the proper sentiment against and the laws will follow."—Omaha Bee

Christian Scientists Would Let the Ball Player Die.

Neligh city authorities are having a lively time over the sickness of Earl Pickrel. The young man is with his grandparents and they are christian science believers and will not allow the patient to have a nurse nor a doctor. The following from the Norfolk News is the latest phase of affairs since the authorities quarantined the home and tried to force a nurse and physician upon the foolish grandparents.

Mr. Pickrel contracted the disease at Wayne, where he has been making his home during the baseball season, and where his roommate died of typhoid fever a short time ago. Earl was reared in a christian science home and knew their ways and teachings, but upon being taken sick he requested that Dr. Chamberlin be his physician. What can be obtained from the bedside of the young man is that he is somewhat improved, but at any event he is not out of danger.

When the nurse, upon her arrival here late last night, was taken to the Housh home by Officer Nichols, she was given rough treatment.

She was finally admitted when she declared that she came by authority of the state board of health. In attempting to take the temperature of the sick man, one of the bystanders in the room tore the thermometer from the typhoid victim's mouth and broke the mercury tube.

The nurse remained only an hour. She declared that never in all her experience as a nurse has she heard such vile language as was employed in the sick room last night. She returned to Omaha today.

The nurse also declared that quarantine was violated at the home.

The city authorities are now in conference as to what steps to take. The sick man is very popular here and feeling is becoming intense.

David Elson Passes Away.

Last Thursday the Democrat stated that our good, old friend, David Elson, was growing weaker, and Friday evening about five o'clock he passed away where there is no strife nor trouble; no north, no south, and the boys in blue and the boys in gray are all robed in a mantle of charity.

David Elson was born near Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 25, 1845, making him nearly sixty-five years old at the time of his death. When a small child his parents moved to Marion county Ia. In February, 1862, he enlisted in Co. K, 15th Iowa Volunteers, in the infantry and served until March, 1865, when he was honorably discharged, being soldier but only a boy from seventeen until twenty years of age. He was married Sept. 8, 1869, to Miss Sarah McKinney, who with six children survive him. In 1902 the family moved to Missouri and three years ago to Wayne, Neb. Ten children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Elson, those living being Miss Lucy Elson of Cleveland, Ohio, who came here to attend her father's funeral; Geo. E. Elson, Mrs. Mattie Cozad, Thos. Elson, of Wayne; Mrs. Grace Kirby whose home is in Minneapolis; Mrs. Viola Hartman of Carroll, Neb. Deceased also leaves four brothers and two sisters; R. T. Elson of Sawtelle, Cal.; Mrs. Lucy Allen, Edgar Neb.; Jas. Elson, Smith Center, Kans.; John Elson Smith Center, Kans.; Mrs. Eliza Visonheler, Long Mont, Col.; Grant Elson, Cedar Bluffs, Kans.

The funeral was held Sunday afternoon from the M. E. church, Rev. Gosst preaching the funeral address and the ceremonies being under the care of the G. A. R.

Mr. Elson was a man of wide experience in the sum total of life and a philosopher in his way. Although a survivor of the war and a republican, he was distinctly an insurgent, and not a believer that his party, like the King, could do no harm. He enjoyed a wide acquaintance and his death, although expected for months past, will be greatly regretted by his friends. Peace to his ashes.

It takes Experience to Make Favorite Stoves and Ranges

Over Sixty Years of It

It takes the most complete stove and range plant in the world—this is a recognized fact.

It takes the very best of materials and manufacturing methods.

It takes the most expert workmen—every man is a specialist in his line.

It takes originality and initiative—the makers of Favorites have set the styles. Others follow as close as they can.

It takes special machinery. There are many machines in the Favorite Stove and Range plant that are to be found in no other factory of its kind in the world.

It costs more to make patterns because the very best of material is used, and the highest-priced pattern makers are employed.

It takes expert skill and constant endeavor to keep Favorites in the lead—and there's where the makers have always kept them.

Come and see our Favorites, and when you have learned how good they are, and have compared them with other makes, they will be your Favorites too.

STALEY UNDERWEAR POINTERS

THIS is our twelfth season selling STALEY fine wool underwear in Wayne, and our 32d year of selling this famous make of underwear. You may think that we have advertised this line of underwear enough in Wayne, but as there are some newcomers in the county each year, and there are yet a few men in Wayne county who do not wear the STALEY underwear, we are going to keep right on advertising this underwear until every man in Wayne county wears it. We have yet to find a single man (or a married man, either) who has worn STALEY underwear, who is willing to wear any other kind. That alone should convince any one that STALEY underwear is superior to any other make. There are many things about men that we do not understand, and one of them is that a majority of the men of Wayne county who do not wear STALEY underwear know that they need it and should wear it, but because they are trading at some store where they do not sell STALEY they think they have to do without it. We cannot understand why they fail to come here to get what they ought to have. If STALEY underwear was high-priced and they could not afford to wear it, they would have a good excuse for not buying it. But STALEY underwear is made for the poor as well as the rich, and every person can afford to wear it and enjoy good health and be comfortable. Ask anyone wearing STALEY wool underwear how he likes it and he will recommend it. Ask any doctor if you should wear STALEY underwear and he will recommend it. Come in and ask us to show you STALEY wool underwear. look at it, feel of it, and you will understand why so many wear it, and you will be ready to buy it.

Why It Is Better

The wool used to make the STALEY underwear is pulled (not sheared) which leaves the ends of the fibers smooth, not blunt and sharp as other wool underwear is. Then the wool is put through a process of cleaning that takes out all the foreign matter, such as grease, impurities, sand-burs and chaff. It is thoroughly cleansed; then it is carded and spun into yarn and knit into garments. These garments are put into great vats of hot soapsuds and are thoroughly shrunk. That is why the STALEY wool underwear does not scratch and irritate the skin, and worn by men and even women in Wayne who never found any other wool underwear that they could wear.

Why You Should Wear It

The best medical authority in the world concedes that wool underwear is the only underwear fit to wear. We give the names of more than fifty patients suffering with rheumatism who have been cured by wearing STALEY all wool underwear. This is the only factory in America that makes an exclusive line of high-grade wool underwear which is sold direct to the retailer and cannot be bought from a jobber. Wool woven and made into undergarments by the STALEY method absorbs the perspiration, thereby preventing the wearer from suffering through sudden changes in the weather. Now, don't wait until you get a bad case of pneumonia before you are converted into the STALEY family. $6 worth of STALEY is cheaper and is worth more than $25 worth of medicine.

Why It Is Comfortable

It is made to fit, not stretched to cover; the seams are all sewed with double over-stitch, which makes a smooth seam that will never rip. This seam is found only in the STALEY underwear, and you will always feel comfortable with STALEY underwear on. Keep yourself warm in STALEY underwear this winter and you will always wear it.

A FINE ASSORTMENT. STALEY underwear is made in fifty different kinds. We can please the rich and poor alike. We can fit any person, it matters not what his shape or size may be, big or little, short or tall, lean or fat, at the same price as the regular sizes. We have it in all colors and can please the most particular man, and we guarantee satisfaction to the wearer.

A Timely Warning

WE have sold thousands of suits of STALEY underwear in the twelve years that we have been in Wayne, and no man who was a wearer of STALEY underwear has asked for a divorce, and only two men have died in the twelve years who had on STALEY underwear. There has been no man in jail with STALEY underwear on excepting the sheriff. Now, you and your family need the protection that STALEY underwear gives you.

It is a remarkable fact that every man to whom we sell STALEY underwear becomes possessed of a desire to tell his friends, and it is a fact that no man who comes to us on a recommendation leaves the store without making a selection from our large stock of STALEY.

Ask your doctor what kind of underwear he wears and he will tell you "STALEY." Now, if it is good enough for him it is good enough for you, and this is just the time of year to buy new underwear, as your old, left-over garments do not have the proper warmth in them.

To The Ladies

The last two seasons there has been a great many ladies come and ask for underwear as good as their husbands wear, and a great many have bought the STALEY union suits which are perfect fitters, and in STALEY fine wool union suits you get more weight than you do in fine wool of the ladies' underwear.

BY DAD

Did you ever notice how the average young fellow swells up just before he is going to be married? He puts on his glad rags with immaculate precision and scarcely notices that there is anyone else alive on the street. It looks foolish in later years and these later years come very fast.

Now they'll get that long delayed saloon at Carroll, by dad.

After all, the worst defeat was suffered by the Omaha Bee's Rosewater and Edgar Howard. There is no "coming back" for these gentlemen. They are DEAD.

Bixby says: "The other night we dreamed we let our hair grow until it was as long as Edgar Howard's. It was a nightmare." You probably had hold of the mare's tail, Bix, and holding on for your political life.

About twenty years ago we walked down one of Wayne streets, feeling as though we could jump a five-foot fence at every step. We met an old man, over eighty his years weighing heavily upon his bent shoulders and leather-wrinkled face. No, by dad, we'd never get old like that; it didn't seem possible that such could be the case; and here we are, half way over and going so fast that the autos and air-ships are slow in comparison.

Editor Edgar Howard should now get a hair-cut and change his name to Howhard.

An Iowa traveling man killed himself because he had three wives. Don't blame him, do you?

A good many Nebraska voters were in much the same frame of mind as was that Missouri father. At the instance of the teacher his little boy asked his father what was the capitol of the United States and reported at school the next day: "Pa, I loved that he didn't know what war the capitol of the United States and that he didn't give a damn." While the anecdote and the language are ancient, the conditions warrant the sentiment.

Before election every campaign would ask "how does it look?" After election every mean cuss asks "how does it feel?"

A number of men were seated in front of an Omaha hotel, Henry Klopplng being one of the number, when a newsboy came along selling the Bee. One man said he couldn't read, and the boy asked him if he couldn't smell. "Course I can smell," replied the jobber. "Then you want a Bee," replied the newsy, "It's all for smell."

And Crippen also escaped until Nov. 23. But the latter date will see him go out.

The fact that apples are high is not likely to affect the price of cider to any great extent.

Those beans were beans alright.

Doesn't it beat all what cute little remarks Wayne kids get off? It seems to be born in them. Still this writer lays no claim to having had any general influence. The other evening a little four-year-old, after repeating her regular evening prayer added this to it: "And oh, Jesus, we have got the chiggers; and oh, Jesus, how they itch." There should be answer to that prayer.

The republicans who come from Iowa to Nebraska to do business will find conditions a little different in this state from Iowa. In Iowa, you know, a democratic paper is not patronized by republican merchants, to any great extent, but that theory in Wayne county simply means that the merchant who is so narrow-minded will do precious little business and he will soon want to return to Iowa.

There were twenty-one base ball fatalities during the season of 1910, according to the Chicago Tribune's record. That will make foot ball get a hntle on if it wins out.

The contribution for Billy Sunday at Newcastle, Pa., reached the neat sum of $12,500. Billy will be able to purchase a flying machine after he gets through at Waterloo, Iowa.

The price of wheat continues to decline, but it seems no one has informed the millers of the fact.

The advice you get during the last few days of a campaign will bear careful diagnosis—or it may be expensive.

Katherine Lustig of Vienna, who lived to be 112 years old, according to her friends, attributed her long life to drinking a glass of beer with each meal. But Katherine finally dropped dead, a victim of her bad habit, on the 113th anniversary of her earthly usefulness. Now, just think of what a lovely mother-in-law Katherine would have made but for her bad habits.

A good many democrats voted for Crabtree for state superintendent of Prasher Ludden. Of all the disgusting features of the election of 1910 the preachers did the dirtiest. A number of them at David City signed a statement that they had "investigated" the charge that Chester H. Aldrich had broken a leg in a house of ill-fame; that he had been attorney in that salacious divorce trial in New York; that he had drank to much booze, gambled, owned racing horses, etc., to all of which charges these preachers gave Chester a clean bill of health, and that there was no foundation for such reports about their reformed or converted candidate. On the other hand no charge against Jim Dahlman was too vile and libelous for the preachers to circulate against the Omaha man. They, without any investigation, were preached from the pulpit and house-tops. Is it any wonder that people would rather go to a picture show than attend church?

The corn show catches the crowd.

Geo. Farran was in town Saturday fixing up election trimmings. Looks rather peculiar but George was uneasy as to his re-election when he might as well never have stopped picking corn to vote for himself.

Isn't it about time to pay up that subscription account to the Democrat?

Petitions to close up and petitions to run the Crystal moving picture show have been presented to Wayne people for signatures the past week. The church people say "if you won't go to church you shall not go to the picture show," and the patrons of the show ask the city dads to keep hands off and let the show run. It's not a matter of very material importance, but it does afford a great opportunity for a big row. The Crystal apparently gives the best show for the money, and it is probable that few who attend Sunday evenings would go to church if deprived of their amusement. It would appear that a little moral suasion would accomplish more than force, or that the pictures could be seen at an hour when the churches are stilled. The Democrat man is sorry to say that we belong to the wicked, ignorant class who like the picture show the best. Many reels are equal a trip through foreign lands; beautiful, magnificent scenery; splendid exhibits of fruits and flowers; instructive lessons in manufacturing arts, and a fool comedy between times. When you go to church—well, we won't go into the subject; you know what the Democrat usually catches.

What an awful blow for little Vic and long haired Edgar!

Phillip Kohl certainly can appreciate the handsome majority he got in Wayne county.

There were a few democrats in Wayne county who voted for McLeod, but those who pretended to be for Kohl were the traitors.

Fred. Volpp for governor in 1912, is already announced by his Wayne friends. Better let the preachers use an x-ray on you first, Fred, and tell us what they find on the interior. You know what they found in little Jim Dahlman.

The election this year has eliminated a great bunch of politicians from future service as candidates at least: Bryan, Burckett, Shallenberger, Boyd, Howard, Rosewater, Metcalfe and others. A few good men in the lot but the bitterness they stirred up in 1910 will live a long time after they are physically dead.

"Ham" Mitchell phoned the Democrat from Wakefield last night that the stand-patters down there were in the same abject condition as Hiawatha was when he killed his squaw: "silent; motionless; unconscious." "Ham" says: "I went up town to see Shumway and Crane; they refused to talk; couldn't breathe, were afraid to walk on their own legs. Shoop is going to quit printing the Republican and teach his ancestors how to suck eggs."

Said Prof. Durrin to Pat Coleman the other day: "Pat, I'm awful glad I was not born in Ireland." "So are the Irish!" spat out Pat, without blinking an eyelash.

Well, it was one election when no one had to eat crow, anyway.

Nov. 23 means a big Thanksgiving ball at the Wayne opera house.

Well, it did snow a little the day after.

Everybody is satisfied except the stand-patter and he doesn't deserve to be and never will be.

One redeeming feature. The price of corn got away down before the country went democratic.

Take in the swell Thanksgiving dance at the opera house the evening of Nov. 23

Book Reviews.

We have had blank sheets prepared with outline for a brief review of books and hereafter the pupils in the sixth and seventh grades will be required to read and review three books each year and the pupils in the eighth grade five books each year. They may review as many more as they have time for but these will be required for promotion. The reviews after being carefully looked over by the teacher and O. K'd. by her will be sent to the county superintendent for his approval. When a pupil has reviewed five books he will be entitled to a library certificate issued by the county superintendent. Each eighth grader who receives a diploma of graduation this year must hold one of these certificates. Then if a pupil takes a book from the library he will have some purpose in doing so. The pupil who is quicker than the others in preparing a lesson

The Teacher's Boarding Place.

That the other states are meeting some of the same difficulties that Nebraska has is indicated by the following article written by F. G. Blair State Superintendent of Illinois and copied from the School News: "I have been employed in a country district but can find no place to board. What shall I do?" This is the complaint of a woman teacher and her question are coming up from many other districts in the State. What a change from the time when every home in the district must open its doors in turn as the teacher boarded around in this recent condition complained of where every home in the district closes its doors in turn as the teacher applies! While

There is no cause for alarm, such complaints show a growing difficulty in the way of rural school improvement.

Much of a teacher's success depends upon the convenience and comfort of her boarding place. It would be too bad to find that the disagreeable ways and manners of certain teachers had caused the best homes to close their doors. But the real causes lie in another direction and are social and economic. Some homes refuse to take the teacher because her presence breaks into the home life; others because the sum she can afford to pay does not cover the added expense. The first objection can hardly be removed, the second can. Teachers must be paid a living wage and in turn they must be willing to pay a liberal price for good accommodations. In helping to make these adjustments, in assisting the teacher to secure a convenient and comfortable boarding place, the directors will be rendering a real service to the cause of rural school education.—F. G. BLAIR, State Superintendent of Public Instruction of Illinois.

Teddy and Taft Put in Cold-Storage. STANDPATTERS ARE STUPEFIED

A Democratic House and Great Gains in the Senate.

We feel sorry for the democrats and progressive republicans who have died the past few years—because they probably won't get the election returns for 1910. It is the greatest awakening of the people since B. C. A great lumbering lot of old caribuncles, two-faced statesmen and tools for the big interests have been removed from the United States senate. The house of congress is democratic and will spoil any job that Taft's Ballingers may concoct over night. In fact the whole job put up on the country by Teddy in 1908 is coming home to roost, but the great lion killer has turned ostrich and hid in the sand. Get a daily paper for the returns. It is so strong you wouldn't believe it to read it in the Democrat.

Corn Show Big Success.

The Second Annual Wayne County Corn Show is a hummer. Over three hundred exhibits are now placed in the opera house and the place looks like a state fair. The awards will be made Friday night. Tonight, Thursday F. E. Moses speaks on "Alfalfa Culture," E. W. Stang on "The Potato Crop," R. R. Smith, "Rotation of Crops," W. H. Gildersleeve, "The Feed Lot." No such display of vegetables and grains has ever before been made in Wayne county. The Show is well worth seeing.

Nebraska Legislature Democratic.

Along with other good news is the story of the ballots as regards the state legislature, which will be safely democratic in both branches. It is also very probable that a majority of the elect will be opposed to county option and that Bro. Aldrich will never be tempted to veto a county option bill.

A card from Judge Welch to his sister, Mrs. Fred Philleo, states that Mrs. Welch was operated on yesterday by Mayo Bros. and her case was found not all of a serious nature, which will be good news to the lady's Wayne friends. Judge Welch will come home Saturday.

Wayne friends will deeply sympathize with Mr. and Mrs. Art Anker in the death of their babe, born Nov. 9th and died the 10th. The funeral is being held in Wayne today.

Now, what kind of a job do you suppose President Taft can find that will be small enough to fit Boyd's case?

Wonder what the preachers think of Candidate Aldrich losing his home county nearly 600 votes to Jas. Dahlman, and that after the David City preachers had white-washed him with religious fervor. "What do you think of New York 65,000 majority democratic? Indiana, Ohio, Connecticut, Wisconsin, Oregon and even Texas, by dad.

The opera house was full to overflowing Saturday night to see the Savidge Bros' play. The show was very satisfactory.

Ed. Ellis was a Sunday passenger to Sioux City.

Rev. Karpenstein tells the Democrat that he made many visits to the Dornberger home during their illness, and did everything he could to lessen their wants and grief. That when appealed to for aid, commissioner Jas. Stanton came to Wayne and provided for their needs at county expense. This was just before the death of Mrs. Dornberger. Rev. Karpenstein says that some of the relatives of the Dornbergers were well able to provide for the destitute family and should have done so. These relatives do not live in Wayne, however. BARTELS BY A SCRATCH.

Election is over and it was the best we—democrats—ever have had. Dahlman was defeated, but he is a better man today than his victor. With Hitchcock, Latta, Kohl and Bartels our cup of cold water—runneth over. Hitchcock is elected by some twenty-odd thousands, thanks to Howard and Bartley.

On the face of the returns to date it looks like over ten thousand majority for Congressman Latta. Apparently no one voted for Boyd except Sam Davies and Doc Williams.

For state senator Phil Kohl got 358 the best of it in Wayne, 330 in Pierce, and Chas. McLeod carried Stanton by 19 and lost Madison by 20.

Henry Bartels lost Wayne county by 107, but was saved by Stanton county giving him 131 majority, which was the best thing that happened as some of Henry's neighbors who had money up on Prince, gave him a dirty turn at the 11th hour.

A. R. Davis, county attorney; Farran for commissioner over Strate by 400; Guy Strickland, surveyor and J. J. Williams for coroner.

Workmen lodge, also states that the order furnished supplies for the family. Mr. Fox, who lives near them, states that no one helped them in their dire need, and Dr. Naffiger's story, who attended them without much promise of payment, can be relied upon as a basis for this paper's criticism of last week.

E. W. Cullen and Geo. Mannion were Sunday morning worshippers from Winnsdale.

Fred Kay was in town Saturday from Leslie precinct.

Mrs. Chas. Welch is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Chas. Madden.

Nick Hansen helped Will Fisher pull beets for three weeks in western Nebraska. Just a fair crop was harvested.

J. G. Mines has a good front, about the nearest in town or fine as Hansen's front will not be casting pearls before swine.

Mac Miller has been laid up at his home the past week or two, old rheumatism getting a longer hold on him than before.

Henry Ley is having tiling laid in the gutter of the street fronting his residence and will try and stop the continual washing away of the soil and fill the ditch up instead of having it grow deeper.

Frank Griffith went to Omaha Sunday to pick up a bunch of cattle.

Fred Hassman was in Wakefield Sunday.

C. R. Munson, our old friend of the booze-fighting fame, was first on the final drawing for a claim in the Standing Rock agency, that is he drew first choice for the remainder of the homesteads. Columbus lives at Aberdeen, S. D., and is in the real estate business.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Kimball were Sunday visitors from Wakefield.

Mrs. Bird Palmer arrived home last Friday from LaMore, N. D. Miss Palmer expected to teach up there but after seeing the conditions she was very willing to return home. The school she was to have was two miles from the nearest house, a Bohemian, and the previous teacher had lived in the school house. Miss Palmer also visited with her sister, Mrs. Fred Lewis.

Well, the republicans nominated Dahlman and the democrats defeated him.

Well, we are not to have prohibition in Nebraska for twenty years at least—by the terms of Aldrich's election.

A number of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Skeen met them at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Feather. The company composed the ladies aid society of the Presbyterian church and neighbors of the Skeen families. Mrs. Skeen was presented with a silver fork as a token of the esteem in which she is held by the donors. Mr. and Mrs. Skeen left yesterday for the west.

Yesterday morning we asked Mrs. E. Cunningham at the depot if any of her folks were going away. The Omaha Bee had just been put in her hands, and staring at the headlines she vigorously replied: "It's good by Jim!" Well, as between the two men we'd just as soon claim Jim as "our folks."

Hitchcock Thanks Voters.

To My Friends in Nebraska: From the bottom of my heart I thank the best of personal and political friends in Nebraska who united to give me such a magnificent majority for United States senator. I prize that majority as much because it is a vote of confidence and vindication as because it assures me a seat in the senate of the United States.

I realize full well that this result was only brought about by the sympathy and support of active and enthusiastic men in all counties of the state. Many of these men I know personally. Many others I know only by reputation and correspondence. I thank you all in this public way because I shall not be able to thank many individually.

I think also the many newspapers of the state which have supported me so vigorously and so effectively. I include in this not only the democratic, populist and independent press which with few exceptions ably fought my battles, but I include also a number of progressive republican papers which likewise advocated my election.

I feel impelled also to acknowledge the considerate treatment which I received from such important papers as the Omaha Daily News, the Lincoln Star and the four City Tribune. Though business competitors of my newspaper and opposed to my party in politics they accorded to me treatment which was both just and generous. I particularly thank my neighbors in Douglas county for a vote which apparently disregarded all party lines to express good will and confidence.

My one regret of the campaign is that Mayor Dahlman and some others on the ticket with me were not successful.

I deeply appreciate the responsibility as well as the high honor of being United States senator. I shall to meet that responsibility and shall do my best to merit this honor.

To those who have supported me as well as to the electorate at large, I pledge myself again to stand in the senate of the United States for the interests of the people without regard to party, class or creed.

Bad Boys and Beans Make a Sorry Combination.

Judging from the present outlook a bunch of Wayne young men have bit off enough hallowe'en sport to keep them decent the rest of the spook days they have ahead of them. When the case of the State vs. Clifford Powers, Louis Moran, Art Shuitheis, Chester Foster, Harry Delaboid and Hugo Payne was called before Judge Britton Monday morning the court made short work of the matter of hearing P. G. James story about the beans. What the defendants expected get by going into court on a cut and dried proposition when $2.50 each for the beans would have settled the whole matter, is difficult to conjecture. What they did get was a fine of $24 each and one hour in jail. Judge Britton says that is the least he could do for the boys under the statute, or rather the best he could do for them. Five others who were implicated in the bean party paid James the $2.50 each for their sport, and escaped prosecution so far, but boys who are now in the bean soup say all suffer the same fate. An appeal was taken to the district court, so the beans have no more than been put to soak as yet. Before they are properly baked we'll hear a lot more about them. The jury will take a whack at it in January and it may get to the supreme court before it is aired out.

Tony Was Tough.

Tony, or Neno, the ball player who helped put the Wayne team on the map the past season, is a bold, bad stick-up man, and with a trio of Omaha toughs now confesses to some eight or ten hold-ups. While Tony was known here as Neno his right name is Pasha. His picture appeared in last Saturday's World-Herald but it did not look enough like him to prove his identity. However, the Norfolk News of Tuesday had an account of his stick-up depredations. The News said:

"Tony Neno, the star shortstop on the 1909 Norfolk baseball team, is behind the bars of the Omaha city jail and will receive a sentence for many robberies and hold-ups. Neno's real name is Pasha and he has confessed to having been associated with Frank (Mink) Trummer, who was at one time scheduled to come to Norfolk to fight Kid Jensen. Pasha had tried out on the Omaha Western League team but failed. He played with Roy Boyce on the Columbus state team and had also played with Wayne. It is alleged by Pasha that Trummer held out on the spoils of the hold-ups and that this caused dissension in the ranks, resulting in the confession. Pasha always held the revolver in the hold-ups, while Trummer did the searching."

Tony was a vicious sort of a fellow at least that was the opinion the Democrat formed of him. He won't play ball with Wayne next summer but will retire from such active sport.

Burkett! You fellows who lost on Dahlman can take the sting all out by thinking of poor President Taft. If Dahlman had only stayed in Omaha it would have been a clean sweep.

Mr. Corkey opened his address with several appropriate funny stories and then very eloquently impressed upon his audience the fact that an individual or a nation may become just what it will; that in order for a nation to be truly great and its influence lasting, it must be strong physically, mentally, morally, and in piety. Mr. Corkey was most heartily applauded by all.

Democrats have reason to be glad they are alive at this stage of American history. It looks as though the people would be able to put the clamps on the interests and the big business thieves. The signal defeat of Senator Burkett in Nebraska is only an example of what is happening all over the country. It means an era of political honesty, a safe and economical administration of the nation's resources, and better than all that a bit in the slate for Taft, for Roosevelt, for Cannon and Aldrich, and least but not last, a setting for that slippery gentleman known as Elmer J. Burkett, whose lying about his record laid him away among the half-baked and the wooden-faced.

"The Work That's Different"

Pile Bros. Reach Their Destination.

Rochester, New York, Nov. 1, 1910.

My dear Goldie:—
This is the first opportunity I have had since reaching Rochester to write you a description of our trip from Chicago.

We spent several very pleasant weeks in Chicago during which time we saw one of the base-ball games in the World's Series. Jack Coombs, the Athletic's pitcher, was a very good friend of mine in college, and through his kindness Jim and I had two splendid seats at the game. As luck would have it, Coombs pitched and won the game we saw. We would have liked to remain in Chicago to see the rest of the games, but we concluded we had best continue our journey while the weather conditions were so favorable.

The start from Chicago was made on Saturday afternoon, October 22nd, at about two o'clock with South Bend, Indiana, as the objective point for the night. The run from Chicago to South Chicago was uneventful, but just as we were leaving the latter place, our troubles began. We had just reached the outskirts of the town when we discovered one of our tires was punctured. It took some time to repair the damage, but we finally succeeded in getting everything ready for a fresh start. Everything went very smoothly until we were leaving Valparaiso when we discovered another puncture, this time caused by a tack we had picked up some where. We retraced our way to Valparaiso where we had everything fixed up and after a quick supper, continued on our way. Strange to say, the two cases mentioned above were the only tire troubles we had during the entire trip from Wayne to Rochester. By the time we left Valparaiso, darkness had overtaken us, but we kept on until we reached LaPorte, the town of Guinness fame, where we stayed all night. Early the next morning, we pulled out of this place and rode until the fore part of the afternoon when we arrived at Hicksville, Ohio, my mother's old home. Here we met mother and the three of us spent Sunday and Monday visiting relatives and old friends. Jim and I left Hicksville about nine o'clock Tuesday morning and the trip from here to Rochester was the worst part of the journey we had yet encountered. While the weather was comparatively fair, the roads were in rather bad condition through Ohio and we could not make as good time as we did through Iowa and Illinois. During the day, we passed through the oil section of Ohio and saw many oil wells in action. We also passed through Fremont, Ohio, and saw former President Hayes' old home. This day's run took us to Bellevue, a town of about 6,000 inhabitants where we remained for the night.

The next day's run was uneventful except for the poor roads over which we traveled. We passed through Cleveland about noon and stopped at Erie, Pennsylvania, for the night. On this trip, we passed the home of another of our ex-President's at Mentor, where James B. Garfield lived. On retiring at Erie, I instructed the hotel clerk to call us at 5:30 in the morning as we desired to get an early start in hope that we would reach Rochester the same evening. When we arose, I thought the clerk might have made a mistake as it looked more like the middle of the night than in the morning I looked at my watch and found it was only 4:30. I was just about to give the clerk a curtain lecture for depriving us of an hour's sleep, when Jim reminded me that we were now travelling on eastern time which is an hour earlier than the time we have in Nebraska. You may be sure I immediately turned my watch ahead an hour in order to make certain that we should not be caught this way a second time.

We had plenty of time to get everything ready for an early start and at about eight o'clock we made our departure in a hard rain storm. We thought, perhaps, we would get out of range of the storm, but instead of that, the rain seemed to increase in volume as we proceeded on our way. Before this, we thought we that we had struck some bad roads, but they were nothing compared to what we went through on this day's trip. Several times we were on the point of stopping until the weather improved, but each time we determined we would go a little further before giving up. We kept going until we reached Buffalo about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. On our way into the city, we passed the Statler Hotel and we made up our minds that here was a good time and place to stop. No doubt we made a very sorry looking appearance, both of us covered with mud from head to foot. It is only about 100 miles from Erie to Buffalo, so it can easily be seen that no speed jags were broken by us during this part of the trip. At no time during the day were we over two miles from Lake Erie, while, during the last fifteen miles, we traveled along the Lake Road which is right along the shore. I imagine this would be a most delightful trip to take in settled summer weather, but we were in no position to appreciate the beautiful scenery. Our only thought was to get some where before we were both completely exhausted.

We spent about eighteen hours in Buffalo and the most of that time was spent in sleep, except for the time it took us to wash the Pennsylvania and New York mud off of ourselves and the machine. By the time we were ready to leave Buffalo about 11 o'clock Friday morning, the day promised to be fair and we anticipated a very pleasant trip for the remaining 75 miles between Buffalo and Rochester. But the weather seems to change as quickly here as in our own state and before we had gone 10, miles we ran into a veritable blizzard. We traveled through snow storms until we reached Batavia where we had lunch. We left there at 2:30 and arrived here about 4 o'clock. The last part of this trip was made in a heavy rain storm, but the roads were so much better than anything else we had seen in the state that we did not mind a little thing like a rain storm.

Thus ended our overland trip from Wayne to Rochester, a distance of approximately 1500 miles and leading through seven different states. As I said in my previous letter, I do not know of a more pleasant or attractive method of travelling than by automobile, although the trip would probably be more enjoyable at a different time of the year. Others, no doubt, could have written you a better account of this journey than I have done, but if I have written anything that might prove of interest to yourself and the Democrat readers, I shall feel amply repaid for the little effort I have made in writing this letter. With best wishes from the Pile family to your many readers, I remain, Sincerely yours, FRED M. PILE

Evangelistic Meetings at the Presbyterian Church.

Rev. James Sloane Corkey, accompanied by his wife and daughter, arrived in Wayne on Tuesday morning to begin a series of revival services in the Presbyterian church. He is conducting meetings every night, and the outlook for a very successful campaign is very bright. The members of the church are faithfully supporting the evangelistic effort, as was manifest in the services last Sunday, morning and evening. The Evangelist is being supported by Mrs. Emily Collins, of Keokuk, Iowa, who was present at the Sunday services and made a very favorable impression with her leadership in singing.

These special religious services will be continued for two weeks. There are afternoon meetings at 3:00 o'clock each day, and arrangements are being made for children's meetings every day at 4 o'clock.

The choir will be supported by a chorus, led by Mrs. Collins. On Monday and Tuesday evenings Prof. Lewis, of the Normal College, led the singing as Mrs. Collins has been suffering from a severe cold, and was compelled to rest up for a day or two.

Rev. James S. Corkey is a brother of the pastor of the Presbyterian church, and is himself pastor of the important church of Winterset, Iowa. He was President of the Iowa Sunday School Association for several years, and is well known as a Chautauqua speaker, having addressed over one hundred Chautauqua audiences this past summer.

The public is heartily invited to be present at all the services in connection with this effort to advance the cause of right living.

Election is over but the results of the dirty campaign are not. The ministers who 'investigated' Chester H. Aldrich should now have their inning. The following from the Lincoln Star is interesting reading even at this date:

Some time ago the Star reproduced from the New York Examiner of nine years ago an illustrated report of the sensational manner in which a millionaire divorce case came to an abrupt termination in a court at Brooklyn. That story involved C. H. Aldrich, the republican candidate for governor in this state, in an unpleasant manner, as it indicated that the divorce case failed so abruptly because a Nebraska woman whose deposition had been offered in behalf of the woman who was applying for the divorce was produced in the New York ready to testify, and did tell the court that the deposition was perjured, and that she had been induced to make it with the promise of money, in David City, Neb., by C. H. Aldrich, who was an attorney for the applicant for the divorce.

Soon after that story appeared in the Star, although in the nine years since its original publication in New York, he had never undertaken to disprove it, Mr. Aldrich, through the State Journal and the Star, published a statement seeming to deny the entire story which the New York paper had printed in such a sensational way.

Especially did he deny that he was attorney for the woman in whose behalf the alleged perjured testimony was secured, offering as proof of that denial the fact that he had never been admitted to practice law in the courts of New York.

Recently four ministers down at David City have published a statement purporting to deny the agency of Mr. Aldrich in the procurement of that perjured testimony.

Supplementing its original publication of that story, the Star presents today the story told, and sworn to by the woman who claimed that she had been hired to blast the reputation of an innocent old man in order that his younger wife might be able to cast him off through the divorce courts.

It is related at David City that, when that divorce case was summarily dropped because of the disclosures that the testimony was perjured, a lawyer who was employed by the intended victim told Chester H. Aldrich his estimate of the act.

"If you had come to my barn and stolen my horse," this lawyer is represented as having said to Mr. Aldrich, "I should probably have prosecuted you, but if you had done to me what you did to old Doc Campbell, I wouldn't prosecute you, I would just kill you."

This was, of course, strong language; stronger than the law would justify. But it is an indication of that lawyer's conception of the enormity of Mr. Aldrich's alleged offense.

The affidavit of the woman who, through the sting of conscience, was moved to confess her perjury and save the ruin of the intended victim, will throw some seeming light upon the denial of Mr. Aldrich that he was an attorney in the case.
